“I heard a little. I heard that they took out the armies of Bashar’s kingdom and the awesome earth magicians pushed back the enemy. Were you with him?”

“Yes. Well, I participated ostensibly as a mercenary, not as a princess.”

“Why?”

According to the story, it seems that she hid her identity from the general soldiers and civilians. It seems that she had spoken to the commander and others, but ostensibly she joined the army as an escort for the White Rhinoceros Rigdalfa.

“As a princess, I can’t move about freely, so, you know, it’s not like.....”

“Selene was there.”

“Who is Selene?”

“Selene is a lady-in-waiting at the royal palace, she is the same tribe as me. She is less powerful in combat than I am, but she is skilled in the art of illusion, and her stature is similar to that of a young lady, so she serves as a shadow warrior. And we can disguise things like race with magic tools.”

Could it be that shadowy figure we just said hello to? I wondered what happened to Selene, but when Mea came out here, she(Mea) was sure that she(Selene) has changed from a shadow warrior to herself(Princess Mea).

“Selene plays the role of..... that’s...um....that is...”

“Selene plays a graceful, fragile, and lady-like, the so called princess, partly by order of His Majesty the King. Honestly, no matter how much we keep up, it was impossible for the real lady to perform that way. They’ll know for sure that she was replaced.”

I see. I don’t think Mea can do the ladylike thing. And when Mea and Selene are replaced, many nobles and generals will find out that the person they were trying so hard to please and protect with their lives was an imposter. Although it’s not surprising that a princess of a great nation would use a shadow warrior.

“For sure you will be able to see the difference between the young lady and Selene.”

“Umu”

Considering the temperament of the Beast Nation, I think a friendly and lively type like Mea would be appreciated. But I’m sure there are many of them who adore the graceful, fragile and lady-like daughter type.

I certainly don’t like being compared to. It would break my heart if it were me.

However, the question remains.

『Why are you letting the shadow warrior play such a character again?』

Why is the girl, Selene, the shadow warrior, acting so unreasonable in the first place? As long as that shadow warrior plays as Mea-ish character that is lively, it's all good, right?

At present, Mea's reputation seems to be a graceful and ladylike, low-combat shelter girl. When the real Mea comes out in the future, will she not get bash by the Beastman country's residence? Because a fragile beauty is suddenly a battle-crazed, energetic girl.

Mea nods in agreement with my question.

“Does Master think so too? It's strange isn't it? Isn't a shadow warrior supposed to be more like the person they are impersonating?”

She seems to think so too. But Quina answered my question without a care in the world.

“It's His Majesty's hobby.”

『Eh? Hobby?』

“Yes. He said he would love to see everyone's reaction when they figure out that the young lady is the real princess after making everyone thought that Selene is the princess.”

“Gununu(riled up sfx). That damn father...!”

Speaking of beast king-ish, it is beast king-ish alright..... I feel sorry for the guys that are being pushed around.

“And then there's the rest of it, which could be meant to be an insinuation or a tease to the young lady.”

“Are you kidding me?”

“Well, I think he enjoys watching the young lady who is depressed and embarrassed to see Selene, who looks just like her, behaving in a ladylike manner.”

“What a bad hobby! That old man!”

“And if the impression is so different, you’ll be less worried about your daughter’s identity being lost in peacetime.”

Aaah, so that’s how it is. Unlike normal shadow warriors, Mea’s shadow warrior is out there acting as an adventurer. Rather, the aim seemed to be to prevent Mea’s true identity from being exposed by guiding her image into a different type.

I guess it’s also true that it seems to be interesting as the Beast King said.

『I understand that you participated in the fight by hiding your identity, but how did you feel about the fight itself?』

“Even if you ask me about that..... To be honest, we barely do any fight.”

“We just scattered the devastated enemies.”

When Mea and the others arrived at the battlefield, it was apparently already at the time when the Beast Nation’s army was about to push back the Bashar Kingdom’s invading army and start a chase.

It is said that Mea and her men have joined the pursuit force and have marched deep into Bashar’s territory.

“It was a condition of our joining the army that we would provide an escort for the general in command.”

『Come to think of it, you said something like that earlier.』

“Well, it wasn’t really escorting the general but more like to never leave the general’s side.”

So that’s it. Rather than letting the princess act on her own and endanger herself, the general’s aim is to put her on his side in the name of an escort.

“.....I went to the Magnolia family.”

Speaking of Magnolia, that’s the place that Myrellia was talking about. It was a request to rescue a child named Romeo from the Magnolia family, from the lord of that house.

As expected, Mea and the others must have been curious about those words.

“With the Beast Nation Army marching across the border, the Magnolia territory in question was already in our sphere of influence.”

『You said crossing the border, but didn’t they have defensive fortifications and forts on the other side?』

“Of course, it does exist. But those facilities were in complete disarray as the devastated allied forces poured into them.”

Just when they think there’s no way they can lose, they suffer a huge defeat and their troops are running away in a disorderly fashion, that’s resulting in chaos at their rear.

Even if they tried to contain them, the entire army would try to enter the fort, and there could be enemy spies mixed in. Moreover, if the Beast Nation was chasing after them from behind, it would be difficult to judge.

“To be frank, the defense facility wasn’t working properly.”

『Did you mean you just pass it by?』

“Lysias?”

“Um. Court magician Lysias Laurensia. The most powerful earth magician in our country, and the descendant of the royal blood of Laurencia that was renowned for the tragedy of Laurencia. Speaking of the Great Wall Lysias, he’s also famous on the continent of Krom, right?”

Laurencia? Did you just say Laurencia?

Chapter 378.1 - The Missing Romeo (I)

Editor Makoto

Laurencia? Did you just say Laurencia?

『Hey, what does that person got to do with Linford?』

“Linford? As I recall, he was the evil sorcerer who summoned Myrellia.....”

“Hmm. Linford Laurencia”

“I see... Did you say that his surname is Laurencia?”

『Yeah, He was an old monster over hundred years old.』

“Hundred years old? I believe Lysias should be over 40. So Lysias probably isn’t his child.”

Then, his grandchildren maybe?

『This Lysias guy isn’t an evil sorcerer, is he?』

“Of course”

“Rather, I’ve heard that Lysias hates evil sorcerers.”

In the first place, we don’t even know if it is a direct blood relationship. It is possible that the Laurencia family has split over the years, and not all the descendants of evil sorcerers will be evil sorcerers. If the story about Lysias hating Linford is true, it's more likely that Linford has done something to him.

It's unlikely that the Beast Kings will miss the evil sorcerer, and there doesn't seem to be any problems with this guy named Lysias.

"Lysias's earth magic is unrivaled in siege battles. With him, no matter how many fort there is, it's nothing to him."

"Do you mean that he is attacking the fort with earth magic?"

"Well, that's possible, but the most secure way you can do is dig a hole for a way to advance. Normally, they'd be fortified with magical tools and other equipment to guard the basement, but they were confused at the time. Lysias who was digging underground was not noticed or interfered with in any way by the enemy. "

I see, so they're going to build an underground tunnel and send soldiers through it. I'm sure there was something called tunnel warfare in Japan. I'm not sure how much of that is genuine and how much of it is fiction, but I'm sure that the method of going underground and crossing the ramparts is very effective.

"Thanks to Lysias and the others, it was easy to get to the Magnolias' house."

"There were no soldiers on patrol to deal with the Beastman's armies, and it was safe to say that there were no guards in Magnolia territory."

"Then, did you manage to get Romeo under your protection?"

"No, I couldn't"

Mea shook her head, her expression darkening slightly.

What do you mean? You have been to the Magnolias' house, haven't you? Did he resist? Or was there never a kid like that in the first place? It is also highly possible that they were evacuated when the war began.

But the answer from Mea and the others was none of those things.

“He had already been taken by someone else.”

“Yes, Apparently, a man who was over two meters tall, with scars all over his body, and was as ferocious as an ogre took him.”

I only have two people in mind. No, Asurasu was with us the whole time. And it's not like he is covered in scars all over.

If so, there is only one candidate.

“Xellos Reed?”

“Does Fran think so too? Apparently, Xellos Reed attacked the Magnolia family and kidnapped Romeo.”

Xellos Reed was Myrellia's partner, but he should have betrayed her in her last moments, right? Why did he take Romeo.....? Is he doing this out of spite against Myrellia? Or is there a different reason?

『What is the reason.....?』

“Don't know”

『Guess so』

“Can't you follow him with Urushi's nose?”

“Woof”

As expected even Urushi can't do that. Even if you try to trace it back from the Magnolia family, Xellos Reed will be moving around as well, and after a few days the smell will disappear.

“I see..... I'm afraid it's a dead end.”

“Now then, let’s put the prize money on the line. It’s already been arranged, but if we announce it again, it will be just annoying to other people.”

“You are right”

It would be better to leave it to Mea and the others to take care of the prize money. Seems like we didn’t really have a choice. It’s a pretty bad aftertaste, but the story about a boy named Romeo ends here.

“Hmm.....”

I’m sure Fran is wondering about what to do too. But I know there is nothing more we can do about it.

『Well it can’t be helped. If we run into Xellos Reed in the future, we’ll ask him out. Well, I don’t think he will speak honestly though.』

“Mn!”

I really don’t want to meet a monster like that for the second time. But I’ve already met him twice. Barbora, and now this..... they say that what happens twice might happen three times as well, and so we can’t let our guard down.

“Blow him away and get the full story.”

It seems that there won’t be any leeway for negotiations. Well, I don’t think negotiations are going to work with Xellos Reed, so it will end up being a battle.

『We have to be stronger to prepare if that were to happen.』

“Hmm”

Fran nodded with a look of determination on her face.

“Now, Master, I’m here to take care of Master Kiara.”

Chapter 378 - The Missing Romeo

(I) Part 2

Having finished our meeting in the open air, Mea and I entered the capital. Although I was worried that I would have to queue again, there was a person of royal blood with us. Taking advantage of her privileges, we immediately got into the city.

We were met by Mia, who was Kiara's personal servant. She returned to the capital before anyone else, apparently to report the sad news. Around the same time, she began to prepare for Kiara's funeral.

I placed Kiara's dead body, which I had previously hidden in the Dimensional Storage, in a coffin prepared by Mia. Fran and Mea, looking at her again, could not hold back their tears.

But not a single muscle twitched on Mia and Quina's faces. But not because they did not grieve. It is just that the court maids should not show their sadness outwardly. Real professionals in their field.

The funeral plan I heard later was very different from what I had imagined. That is, I, of course, imagined something like a Buddhist funeral, or a European funeral that I saw in the movies.

But the local view of life and death was completely different from the world where I come from. So, of course, the funeral ceremony was unlike anything I had seen before. Moreover, this is the funeral of the half-beast people.

For a start, there seems to be an emphasis on the very moment of death. After all, this is the moment when the soul is separated from the body and ascends to heaven. Unlike on Earth, the existence of souls here is a generally accepted fact, so praying for the happiness of the deceased in the afterlife is especially important.

Therefore, in a sense, the very moment of passing away is a funeral. After that, only the body remains, which is considered an empty vessel, devoid of a soul. Of course, this does not mean that he is thrown at random, however, the body itself is not given great importance.

So, as a sign of respect for the deceased, his body is simply protected from turning into undead. After all, a strong adventurer makes a correspondingly strong undead.

Therefore, if the body of the deceased can be carried away, it is carried away, and if this is problematic, the body is simply burned and buried. It looks like bones are not being harvested either. It is necessary to make sure that no one else identifies the deceased.

If the deceased can be carried away with him, then a ritual of protection from turning into undead is performed over him, after which he is buried. However, the main thing at the funeral is not the deceased, but the living.

At a time when the Earth is sometimes said figuratively that the family says goodbye to the deceased, this is exactly what happens in this world at funerals. At the funeral, those present can see the deceased in a coffin, accept the fact of his death, and receive the support of others to come to terms with the loss.

But there are no funeral gifts or wreaths. Indeed, they cannot be carried away to the afterlife. And prayers for happiness in the afterlife and other ceremonies are conducted not by some monks, but by family and friends. Yes, there is not a single priest at a funeral in this world, this is another important difference from the Earth analogue.

- The funeral of Mrs. Kiara will take place in four days. The day after the return of the Beast King.

- What? Have you contacted your father?

- Yes. Since the magic device for remote communication does not work between continents, and there is a chance that the conversation might be overheard in Bashar, I used the Adventurer's Guild Mail Falcon. He replied that he would return immediately.

Wouldn't it be too quick to return from another continent in just three days? They will have to march without rest. However, when your country is at war, this is not surprising.

They tried to start it exactly when the king is not in the country. Although this alone did not create any particular problems. Still, the military power significantly exceeds that of the Bashar kingdom.

- Madam Fran, what are your plans? If you want to, you can get a job on the same fast ship, which will sail the King of Beasts. According to my plan, His Majesty will first disembark at the port of Graysir, and then return to Balbora during the day.

- Can I ask for something?

- I understand.

Fran agreed to Mia's proposal. But these words only worried me more.

- Hey stop. Would you like to attend Kiara's funeral? I asked.

- Hmm? There is nothing wrong with that.

Yes exactly. I still can't get out of my head thinking from my own world. Since Fran was with Kiara in her last minutes of life, there is no point in attending the funeral a second time. While I thought it was amazing how easily she was able to come to terms with her loss, for half-beasts, it seems that it was in the order of things.

But neither Mea nor Quina reacted at all to Fran's words that she would not be present at Kiara's funeral. Although, Mea, upon hearing that Fran was going to sail, immediately became sad.

- Well, Fran. Maybe you will stay a little longer?

- Sorry. I made a promise to someone.

“We are obliged to take part in the auction in the Kingdom of Cranzer,” I said.

- That's how ... Then you really need to hurry. That's the problem.

- Madam. Didn't you think that if you get so upset it will make Fran worry again during the trip?

- Yes you are right.

- Besides, there are still a few days.

- Right! During this time, we can play enough!

Quina is just a master manipulator. In an instant, Mea's tension was dispelled. It seems that she has already decided for sure that Fran and Mea should maintain a relationship ...

- Yeah. Let's play enough.

Fran was also eager. After all, this is her first close friend. I hope these three days will be filled with good memories.

Chapter 379: Royal Bathing and Royal Meal

Incredible!

“Yes, truly,” I said.

- Ha ha ha! That's the same! That's the same!

It was the first day of our stay at the royal palace.

First of all, we were shown the personal bath of the royal family. Although I had seen enough luxurious baths before, this one was on a different level.

Of course, everything was in marble. A beautiful lion statue served as a hot water tap. Huge magical chandeliers hung from the ceiling, and episodes of someone's heroic deeds were painted on the walls. And the fact that these paintings were redrawn every three months only added to their greatness.

A wide pool served as a bath, around which grew deciduous trees of an unknown species, of a huge size. Probably each of them was over 100 years old. There were more than ten trees in total, and the size of them would fit as a shimboku from jinja temples in my native Japan.

From what I heard, they were very valuable magical plants. The fruits from these trees appear to have a healing effect.

Although I had the feeling that this was a very dubious waste of money, it was probably all done in order to show the greatness of the country to the foreign envoys.

Although I do not think that the king created these luxurious baths only for this purpose. Maybe, with his general love of provocative things, such bathing suits are quite in his style?

- First, you need to wash off all the dirt!

- Yeah.

We washed ourselves in a slightly different place. Even the soap and other personal care products here were of the highest quality. Mea quickly talked about their custom of taking a bath.

Although I thought there would be no shortage of maids at the royal baths, the only maid among us was Quina. It seems that half-beasts do not favor strangers when taking a bath, and even the royal family is limited to just one servant.

- Let me rub your back. Go here.

- Yeah.

Oh, what a beauty, this is how the bonds of friendship are strengthened. I could not help but be moved by the care with which Fran and Mea helped each other during the wash. And they rubbed the backs of each other, and helped with the hair, lovely. And Fran Mea treated as a friend, as an equal to herself.

- Right, right! - I rejoiced.

So I continued to watch them.

- Now it's Teacher's turn.

- ABOUT! Then I'll help too! Do not remain in debt to the Teacher!

Fran was not at all shy, and Mea didn't seem to be too worried about me. No, I certainly told her that I used to be human. But since I'm a sword now, it doesn't matter anymore.

And I myself, looking at Fran, did not feel a shadow of embarrassment. Perhaps this is because she was like an unmarried daughter to me.

Fran began rubbing me with a soft sponge of incomparable quality. Mea didn't seem to be worried about me rusting. I am a magic sword after all, and I have my self-repair, so there was nothing to worry about.

Nevertheless, Quina, of course, did not stand aside. Quina, wrapped in a towel like a tank top, hurried to pick me up from Fran and Mea.

- Quina, what are you doing?

- Yeah.

- Come on, wait a minute. How long have I said that a noble lady should know what shame is? He may be akin to family to Fran, but to you, madam, he is completely alien.

- But what's wrong with that? This is the Teacher.

- Certainly nothing good. Anyway, Master, let's do it this way.

Before I could guess what was on her mind, she wrapped a cloth around her eyes on my wolf emblem. Looks like she intended to make sure I didn't stare at anyone. Hmm, by the way, no one has figured out if these eyes can see.

In fact, my entire body had vision, so this manipulation did not particularly change anything.

Well, what to do ... To be honest or not? I think it's worth keeping silent so that Quina will be calmer ... But I'm afraid to blab it in the future.

I should be honest.

- This, one of my skills, "special vision" allows me to see everything around me, so does it make sense to cover this part?

- That it is true?

- Yes.

- So, you saw the mistress in such an inappropriate form from all sides?

- Yes.

- Here's how.

Hmm? Is she angry? What is Quina's anger like?

“Do you know what responsibility you would have had to bear if you were an ordinary man who saw the bare skin of an unmarried woman from the royal family?

A responsibility? Does this mean, "I am responsible for ensuring your happiness"? Scary!

“Although the Teacher is a very extraordinary character, you cannot marry anyone off to a sword.

Well, of course! After all, if you think about it, Mea is from the royal family. Of course, she should be strict about who she is naked in front of. But it seems that she herself is not fully aware of this.

- He's just a sword, it's okay! Really, Fran?

- Yeah.

- Eh. Master, I beg you, don't look if possible.

- Okay, I understand you.

So, until we left the baths, I looked at the painted ceiling. However, this did not mean that I wanted so much, just Quina reacted to every movement of my gaze. Cold sweat seemed to creep from her gaze, even though I was a sword.

Probably the effect of her skills "Recognize Presence", "Interrogation", "Recognize Magic", "Control Magic", and her title "Assassin Killer" helped to capture even the slightest movement of my magical energy. I would not want to become her enemy.

Therefore, to the smallest detail, I remembered the image of the heroic deed, which was captured on the ceiling.

After the swim, a banquet took place. No, it's better to just call it dinner. In Mea's room, without much manners, everyone ate their food as they always did.

And now the worry was not about Fran, but about Mea herself. Since she had been an ordinary adventurer for a long time, such a meal was more to her liking.

Fran, who hadn't eaten anything but my concoction for a long time, looked very pleased. Of course, the royal chefs prepared very tasty dishes.

At the Niku Matsuri (Meat Festival), their cooking would have gained a lot of points. I mean, all of their dishes are meat, meat, and more meat. I don't mean just that there was a lot of meat in the dishes.

All the food was in one way or another with meat. So there was pork in beef, poultry in a composition with lizard meat, and stuff like that. And meat salads, and meat soups. Fran and Mea ate the dishes one after the other, and I even worried that they would not get heartburn.

Although they are half beasts, and a carnivorous type. As I briefly overheard from Quina, she prefers vegetables herself. Apparently, because she is of the herbivorous type, half-beast-tapirs.

It's hard to be a chef in a land of half-beasts, however. Tastes differ so much among different nations. However, in general, they remain human, so that under normal conditions they are able to eat meat, vegetables, and fish. The common people do not seem to be so picky.

Only aristocrats can afford to be picky.

Chapter 380. New profession

It was the second day of our stay in the capital Bestia. The day was spent on sightseeing in the capital and sparring with Mea.

And we sparred, not sparing the training ground of the palace, everything turned out to be covered with craters in the end. I thought about how to fix the site with earth magic, but due to its special coating, which has the property of magical isolation, it did not work out very well to fix it.

- Ha ha! As I thought, sparring with Fran is breathtaking!

- Uh-huh!

But they were both happy with the sparring results.

Although we initially planned to just practice using the skills, Mea quickly warmed up and started fighting in earnest. Showering us with flame magic and other skills, she didn't really hold back. If Quina hadn't stopped her, she would have caused even more damage to the palace.

Though the proficiency improved in the end. Especially the progress was noticeable with respect to "Ways of manipulating the body." We also became better at resisting fire attacks, thank God we got the skill to resist burns.

The most important event of the second day is a visit to the capital's temple. Finally, after a long time, you can change your profession.

If you think about it, we have seen a lot during all this time. To be honest, it completely flew out of my head until Mea told me about it. It is quite possible that new professions have appeared.

The last time we checked this was before the Martial Arts Tournament. Then we could not choose anything but the swordsman-magician. Now, finally, remembering again about professions, I realized how useful the profession of a swordsman-magician was.

The professional skill of the profession, "Combining Magic", given Fran's relatively poor success in magic, perfectly helped her to close one of her weaknesses. Given her specialization in physical attacks, and the prospect of improving her magical side through this profession without leaving her weaknesses, this was the obvious choice.

So, given how we grew up after these many battles, there was a high chance that we could choose a more advanced profession. It doesn't hurt to check.

After donating money to the temple, we entered the career change room. By touching the stone slab that was there, we were able to find out if a change of profession was possible. According to the rules of the temple, except for cleaning, entry into this room was prohibited, so that it maintained perfect privacy.

Perhaps you can peep into it with the help of magic or magical devices, but it is unlikely that anyone would want to do this. After all, it was a temple. Who would like to receive divine punishment in the crown for inappropriate behavior?

“And we have a great choice here,” I said.

- Yeah.

At first glance, there were almost 50 professions. I don't know if this is the norm, but there were definitely a lot of them.

- By touching each profession, you can see its comprehensive description. And all for a donation of 3000 gold.

So, among the professions, 5 positions attracted my attention.

The first was the profession that we noticed for a long time - "Lord of the Sword". Apparently, thanks to our growth in the process of battles, now this option was available to us. It included Increase Strength, Enhance Sword Art, and Enhance Sword Mastery, as well as the Transformation into the God of Swords professional skill. In general, this profession allowed you to take your sword skills to the limit.

As far as I remember, the Beast King's profession is "Lord of the Spear." Apparently, this is something in the same spirit. That is, with this profession, the adventurer can reach S rank. I would say that this profession is at the top of our list of choices. But there was another interesting profession.

This is the "Holy Warrior". For some reason, this profession, which gives preference to auras skills, seemed very interesting to me. She also gave Empower Crush Evil, a specialized skill against evil spirits that I had already used, and the professional skill was Holy Armor. Although I could not find out the details of the professional skill, it was clear from the name that it was also directed against evil spirits.

Considering that in the future we may meet Zelsried or some worse evil, it would be nice to have a strong ability against her.

- The profession "Warrior-archmage" also looks interesting, which would help you develop more versatile. It looks like it makes it possible to reduce the cost of energy to release a burst of spells.

Although she had no professional skill, Fran would be able to use the burst of spells.

- This profession, "Heavenly Ninja", looks cool.

- Maybe yes. In addition to "Higher Agility", it would help make up for the lack of sensory and stealth skills. In addition, her professional skill is Perception of Time and Space. It looks like it makes it possible to react even to teleportation.

Since Fran is the type of warrior who rely on speed, for us now, who do not have sufficient defensive skills, the opportunity to close the gaps in sensory and stealth skills looks tempting.

- So, the last candidate is "Demon Slayer".

- Yeah.

This profession complemented us in the aspects of "Increasing all stats", "Increasing the effects of suppression skills", "Martial art", "Martial prowess", "Magic". This profession looks very balanced. Probably, the transition to this profession is equally valid for both warriors and magicians. It was a profession that evenly lifts you up in all aspects.

- So, we have the Lord of the Sword, the Holy Warrior, the Warrior-Archmage, the Heavenly Ninja and the Demon Slayer to choose from. Which do you choose, Fran?

- Lord of the sword!

It was not hard to guess. The Lord of the Sword is the most obvious choice. Fran still loves fencing more than magic.

- So there will be "Lord of the Sword".

- Yeah.

Then Fran chose the profession of "Lord of the Sword". At the same moment, white light enveloped her entire body. A powerful stream of magic radiated from her. However, there was not a single unpleasant sensation. The magic that enveloped her gave only pleasant warmth.

- Oooh ...

- Are you okay?

- Yeah. The strength in me is seething.

Using the assessment, I was convinced that the profession had really changed to "Lord of the Sword." The stats have also increased. The Professional Skill "Becoming a God of Swords" is also learned.

Of course, there were also disadvantages. The magical energy has slightly decreased, and the former professional skill ("Magic Connection") was forgotten. In exchange for his dramatically increased swordsmanship, Fran's own magic abilities undoubtedly lost their former strength.

Let's assume that Fran and I now have a clear line of roles. Fran is now fully in charge of the physical aspect, and I am in charge of the magical one.

- Hmm, I would like to know what it is - "Transformation into the God of Swords" ...

Becoming a God of Swords: Grants the user the power of a God of Swords.

Even after the assessment, I could not understand what kind of power is given by "Transformation into the God of Swords". Are all the skills in which the word "God" appears like this?

Then we have someone who could explain everything in more detail. This is Mea. After all, her father, the King of Beasts, Rigdis, possesses the Transform into Spear God skill. Chance is high that she knows about it.

If in the process everyone finds out that Fran has changed her profession to "Lord of the Sword", then hardly anyone will mind. Fran first of all promised to tell Mea about her choice of a new profession. In fact, Mea had changed her profession even before Fran, so she agreed to discuss new professions with each other.

When we left the room for the change of profession, Mea met us in a very nervous state.

- Fran! What, found a good profession?

- Yeah. That was incredible.

- Ltd! Nice to hear! Anyway, let's go back to the palace first!

Of course, nobody wanted to talk here. There were many outsiders here.

Returning to the palace, they immediately revealed their new professions to each other. The moment of sharing secrets, it seems, was to some extent sacred for them. The joy of both girls knew no bounds. Well, not surprisingly, they were both warriors to the core.

“The new step in my profession is called the Incinerating Knight.

- Sounds great.

- And then! Now the control of fire has become even better, and the knight's abilities have dramatically increased. The profession is just for me!

It was a profession one step higher than her previous one, "Knight of the Flame". It seems that there were also steps even higher than the Incinerating Knight.

Mea's face was beaming with joy. But Quina, with her invariably cold tone, broke off her joy somewhat.

“But I have to warn you.

- Warn? I asked.

“You might be attracted to the word "Incinerate", but it doesn't matter how high your attack power is when your power control can't keep up. As a result, you only increased the danger of a spontaneous explosion.

Hmm, this profession worries me very much. Given that Mea hadn't taken control of her flame very seriously before, now what, is it going to get worse?

- Young lady, I ask you to treat your actions with even greater caution from now on.

- I ... I know!

Chapter 381 - Royal Profession

Mea, after Quina's argument about her lack of control over her flame, tried to quickly change the subject by feverishly addressing Fran.

- Yes, Fran, what profession have you chosen?

Fran answered the question in her usual unconcerned tone.

- Mm. Lord of the sword.

Mea's reaction to Fran's response was unexpected. Her surprise was so strong, she spat out the tea already that she was about to swallow it. So, why go straight to Fran's face?

While Mea was recovering from shock, I had to wipe Fran's face with a handkerchief.

- Once again, what kind of profession?

- Lord of the sword.

- So I heard correctly!

- It can't be, a profession of the royal rank ...

Not only on Mea's face, but on Quina's, surprise could be read.

- What is the profession of the royal rank? I asked.

- Among martial professions, this is the highest level. In addition to professions in the branch of the warrior such as "Lord of the Sword", "Lord of the Spear", and so on, in the branch of the magician there are "Lord of Flame", "Lord of Storms", and further down the list.

- With the exception of my father, I saw with my own eyes only two other owners of this profession ...

It looks like this profession is more advanced than we thought. So, "Profession of the Royal Rank" ...

- Since you are the "Lord of the Sword", did you learn to "Transform into the God of Swords"?

- Yeah.

I knew she knew something about this. So it's such a strong skill that even mentioning it generates an instant reaction? From Mea's eyes, she was extremely serious.

- Listen carefully. Be extremely careful when using it. Especially the first time. Make sure no one is around.

- Is this such a dangerous skill? I asked.

- Yes, dangerous. If it gets out of control, it will hurt both you and your comrades.

From what Mea said, this is not only a strong but also a dangerous skill ...

- Using familiar terms, this skill falls into the category of "self-reinforcement". However, due to its extreme strength, it will be extremely difficult to control it. And my father also failed in trying to control him.

- Failure?

- His Majesty, when he used "Transformation into the God of Spears" for the first time was in a group of comrades. He killed them all.

So, this part with the murder of comrades is already alarming. What kind of skill is this?

- Can you tell us what skills like "Transformation into the God of Swords" and "Transformation into the God of Spears" are like?

Here's how. Although their names are similar, can their effect be radically different? Although there is a great chance that they work in the same way, you need to listen to exactly how "Becoming a God of Copies" works.

- The skill "Transformation into the God of Spears", while strengthening the user, endows his spear with a Divine element.

- A divine element? - I was surprised.

- Yes. Although I also do not know the details on this score, among the many elements that exist in this world, the Divine element occupies a dominant position.

Divine element. So he must be somehow connected with God? By the way, I heard that although there is immunity to the flame, there can be no immunity to the Divine flame.

- If your weapon is endowed with a Divine element, then you can chop the intangible, kill evil spirits that even the "Crush of Evil" does not take, and slugs that are immune to physical damage can be cut in half.

So this element ignores immunity to any elements? It's just an exceptional ability. We can say that in this way you can defeat any opponent with a sword.

“But ignoring resistance is not the main strength of the Divine Element. Remember what I said recently? This element dominates all others. That is, no matter what element you fight against, the enemy will receive such damage as if you attacked him with an element for which he has a weakness. The damage will be huge.

Does this mean that he not only ignores resistance, but also constantly exploits the enemy's weakness?

“It looks like my father, when he killed his comrades, used the Transformation into the God of Spears "without preliminary verification. Probably, in that situation, this skill was the last hope. After that, the father stabbed the dragon to death with one beautiful throw. But along with him, this throw took all his comrades.

The power of "Transformation into the God of Spears" was so great that the Beast King pierced the dragon with one throw of a spear, simultaneously simply annihilating half of the bodies of his comrades. The mental trauma caused by that event has not gone anywhere to this day. Now the Beast King never uses the Spear God Transformation if there are comrades or subordinates nearby. Which is not surprising.

“At that time, my father used an orichalcum spear. It seems like he could kill a demonic beast with a danger level B in an instant. I can't even imagine what effect "Transformation into the God of Swords" will have on Master. It is possible that even the earth itself around will not withstand such power.

Hmm. Perhaps, even if you try to restrain yourself, casualties on the side are still likely.

- Yes, you still need to monitor the strength. This skill puts an extremely heavy load on the weapon itself. Even the orichalcum spear crumbled to dust after three seconds of exposure.

That's how it is ... I guess this is quite normal. When you strengthen something through force, then, of course, it will exert a strong load.

“It's dangerous to use this skill for any length of time,” I said.

- Yes. You two, Master, this means that you need to be doubly careful. However, it also exerts a rather strong burden on the owner. Even with a strong desire, it will hardly be possible to use this skill for a long time.

In general, it is best to use it only when there is a question of life and death. With all this, you will have to try to apply it at least once.

- Where can you experience it? I asked.

- Yeah.

Well, here's another skill like "Unleash Potential" and "Magnificent Flash of Lightning" that painfully hits you ...

Moreover, in our case, we learned the skill by skipping intermediate steps. Therefore, we have not reached the level of body control and skills required for such strength. Compared to someone who received it gradually, the burden on us must be especially strong. As a result, the body will be at its limit.

But despite this, I am still pleased that Fran is getting stronger with me. Is there a case where a new skill can be used in conjunction with Magnificent Lightning Flash?

- We need to test it as soon as possible.

Chapter 382 - The Descent of the Power of the God of Swords

After talking with Mea, we got down to business.

After leaving the city walls, we went to test the newly acquired ability "Transformation into the God of Swords." Although we have scheduled another sparring with Mea this afternoon, it looks like it will have to be rescheduled.

Although Mea asked if she could attend the Convert to Sword God check instead of canceled sparring, of course, no one knew what might have happened. So Quina was against it.

But Mea continued to resist, and Quina had to use her crown grip on her. No doubt that would have pacified anyone. I would say that such a reception has a place on the battlefield. Although I was not able to discern all the movements exactly, it seems to have consisted of a leg grab that had already shown itself in combat and some sort of suffocation.

In general, having somehow shaken off Mea, we immediately went to the plain not far from the capital. I didn't feel anybody's presence in the area. Not only me, but also the Urusi did not find a single soul.

- Is Fran ready? I asked.

- Yeah. Master, are you brave too?

- Yes. I started self-repairing and instant regeneration to the full.

This should somehow resist the loss of strength. I think that for a few seconds I will definitely be enough ... In any case, we planned to activate the skill for only a few seconds.

- Let's go.

- Forward! Come on!

- Activation of the form of the God of swords.

- Ooooooooooooooooooooooooooooo!

What is it! I felt an incredible strength awakening in me. Right, waking up. In contrast to how it usually happens, the power seemed to rise from somewhere inside me, and did not flow into me from Fran.

The feeling was as if I was suddenly caught in the rain. But that was not all. It became surprisingly difficult to control myself, and I could not stabilize in any way. While I would not say that I am not yet seasoned enough or experienced enough in the use of power, but since this is the first time I am accepting power from someone else, I was not sure if I could handle it.

However, there was a feeling that this power was mine. She was ready to overwhelm not only Fran, but me as well. If the two of us can manage her, then, probably, we will be capable of anything.

There was not a shadow of evil in this power. On the contrary, it felt like the power of Divine support. I have only seen something like this in my life. I remember that Kiara's dying attack, "Claw of the God of Black Lightning" felt like this.

However, unlike Kiara back then, this power was significantly more savage and brutal. I tried my best to pacify this power raging in my blade. Does the Beast King somehow manage to control this power? Truly, I don't seem to have seen all the S-grade adventurers are capable of yet.

Fran paused the skill the next moment. At the same time, the power swirling in my blade disappeared. As I thought, you cannot be prepared for this.

- Fran, are you okay?

- Uh-huh ...

Despite her answer, I saw beads of sweat beading on Fran's forehead. Her shoulders heaved up and down strongly, and her condition was unmistakably tired. In the next moment, we were seized by an incredible breakdown.

We gave all our strength to control this skill, and it was worth stopping its action, as we were completely deprived of these powers. It will be difficult to get used to this.

“Fran, can you... can't you again?

- Sorry.

“Don't worry, it's not your fault.

Just a few seconds of using Transformation to God of Swords lowered Fran's magical energy to zero. For just one application. We didn't fight, didn't even move, and still so exhausted. As Mea said, it's unlikely to use this skill for long periods of time. Even the Beast King is limited to 10 seconds.

- Teacher, how are you?

- I think our safe limit is now 5 seconds.

During the "Transformation into the God of Swords" incredible power awakened in me. And it looks like a Divine element. However, my toughness was depleting at an amazing rate.

This thing is probably even more dangerous than Unleashing potential. In just one second, the strength has decreased by more than a thousand. And not even a single blow was made, Fran just held me in her arms. In ten seconds, I will surely turn into a heap of scrap metal.

- Let's rest a little and try again. Let's try to hit this time?

- Uh-huh!

An hour has passed.

Fran, having regained her strength with potions, again prepared to activate the Transformation into the God of Swords.

“Actually, I don’t know how much longer I can take,” I said.

- Are you all right?

“I’ll survive a few seconds.

Fran looked at me with a worried face. But she had reason to worry. The damage that "Transformation into the God of Swords" inflicted on me could not be immediately restored with the skill of instant regeneration. Just like before Aristeia repaired me, I could only recover gradually.

Apparently Becoming a God of Swords overloads the weapon so seriously. In addition, it seemed to me that one of the reasons for such difficulties was the Divine element and its dominance over other elements. Perhaps this can be compared to how the regeneration slows down in slug monsters under the influence of fire. It took me an hour to fully recover.

In battle, you must use the Transformation to the God of Swords with extreme caution. I do not want to return to Aristeia again in the same killed state.

- So, ready?

- Uh-huh!

This time we strike. Previously, I used earth magic to create five boulders 10 meters in diameter.

- Go?

- Come on!

- Becoming a God of Swords!

Go, go, go! Again! This feeling! Wild power has awakened in my blade, and swirls like a cruel whirlpool.

- Fran! Let me take over the taming of power! I myself will fully focus on controlling it!

- Uh-huh!

Fran, nodding slightly to me, stepped forward. And at that moment, something changed dramatically. Hmm? What? Is it really Fran? Outwardly, she remained the same, but seemed to have turned into a different person, a terribly strange feeling. Without further ado, I looked up at Fran. However, her gaze was directed forward.

Taking a step forward, Fran swung me downward, chopping the cobblestone into two even halves. And she repeated it five times.

And that's all. Nothing fancy, a standard forward slash.

However, during this blow, I felt something like cold. Although I shouldn't have felt it, being a sword, I felt like a chill ran down my spine.

I felt such goosebumps watching the ideal movements of a genius player in some sports manga, when his comrades celebrate how perfectly he honed the basics. Something like that. I don't know if this can be called what I just felt.

I have mastered the Royal Sword Art. In a battle with a fighter of a higher level, I can lose to him in combat experience, status numbers, in skills. But where I will definitely prevail is in pure sword technique.

But seeing Fran's movements now, I realized that I would lose to her. It was painfully obvious. Isn't the "Royal Sword Art" and the "Sacred Sword Art" that came before - not the highest level?

Seeing Fran's movements gave me exactly that impression. Until now, I had relied entirely on my sword art, but now I felt like I couldn't do anything.

Even though I own the Royal Art of Sword, the gap between us was clearly felt. If I were a normal swordsman, I would have no idea how you can strike so quickly and accurately. But, I ... we knew that.

Something sleeping inside Fran helped her make this simple but ingenious blow. It also pointed the way on the harsh path of the God of Swords, on the path of endless training and endless improvement of sword techniques.

After Fran scattered "Becoming the God of Swords" and the Divine element was removed, I could feel the old Fran again.

Without a word, Fran stood stunned in one place. Her breathing was ragged, and she looked at me in her hand, not even paying attention to the cobblestones that were cut so smoothly, as if they were made of butter, and cut them with a hot knife.

- What ... Now it was ...

"I don't know," I said.

Those exciting seconds now seemed like a dream. But judging by our general surprise and fatigue, these few seconds actually happened.

This is what self-empowerment is along with weapon empowerment. In words, this skill sounds simple. But the actual degree of amplification is truly extraordinary. Without strengthening her body, and surpassing even the "Royal" swordsmanship, without any skills, she cut these cobblestones.

- Is this skill a gift from the God of Swords? Incredible.

- Uh-huh ...

Is this a strong skill? Undoubtedly. But we didn't feel a drop of joy. Only one regret. I even felt ashamed that I had thought so much about my possession of the sword.

- We will train more.

- Uh-huh!

Suddenly I understood. Could it be that the skill "Transformation into the God of Swords" is designed to teach a lesson to those who are too proud to receive "Royal Sword Mastery" and to show the difference between them and God himself?

Chapter 383 - Fran and Dress

It has been some time since we experienced Becoming the God of Swords. Although it was already nightfall, Prime Minister Raymond met us on our way to the castle.

We, having not yet recovered from the shock of the test of "Transformation into the God of Swords," little by little began to regain our former fighting spirit. Especially Fran, whose mood, in general, easily changed from depressed to full of enthusiasm.

- We need to train even more! she declared solemnly.

True, from this phrase, the morale was more likely to decrease even more than to increase. This surprised Raymond a little.

- Something happened?

- M?

- Oh, okay. It's good if everything is in order. In fact, I have a request for you, Princess of Black Lightning.

- Request?

- Yes. Regarding the thank you banquet tonight.

True, if you think about it, the celebration of victory will not be limited to a simple party. Since the King of Beasts himself is returning, it is necessary to prepare for this appropriately.

It seems that the generals, having disbanded the troops that previously held the defenses on the border with the Bashar kingdom, are already on their way to the capital. To celebrate their triumph, the palace was about to organize a simple banquet.

Although I doubted whether disbanding the troops was the right decision, it turned out that fresh troops had already been sent to the border of the Bashar kingdom so as not to stop the pressure. That's what matters, then.

- Well, what about the banquet?

Are we offered to join? But this does not sound like a request. Are we being asked to ensure the food ingredients are safe?

Seeing Fran's questioning expression, Raymond hastened to clarify the situation. Moreover, he really said that he wanted to invite Fran to the banquet.

- No, the point is that there is a very specific reason for this.

- Which one?

- You are undoubtedly invited to a banquet, but this does not mean that you can come there just like that.

- What does it mean?

- This appearance is no good, you are required to attend the banquet properly dressed. That is, in a dress.

- Dress? What for?

“Well, frankly speaking, this is for Lady Nimei.

Raymond finally told Fran the true nature of the request. Apparently, he wants Nimea to be at the banquet in a dress. However, even after promising to attend the banquet as the representative of the Beast King, she still stubbornly refused to wear a dress.

She probably wanted to thank the generals not as a princess, but as an adventurer, as a warrior.

So that's Fran's way out.

“Maybe if her friend, the Princess of the Black Lightning, comes in a dress, then Her Highness will also grant it.

Clear. Undoubtedly, Mea is always happy when she finds common features between herself and Fran, including her preferences in fashion. Probably, she will not refuse to go in a dress with Fran.

- Okay, how do you imagine it? Of course it's not free.

Raymond offered what seemed reasonable to us. In addition, this event was not overly formal, and more should have resembled the drinking bout of a group of generals. That is, you don't really need to worry about manners. Moreover, you can eat as much as you like.

- Yeah. I realized.

- Agree? On a dress?

- Nothing wrong.

Fran quickly agreed, however. Probably tempted by free food. So Fran doesn't pay much attention to clothes. Therefore, she does not have both her favorite clothes and the hated clothes. What rags, what dress - all the same.

Although she would undoubtedly choose comfortable clothes that are easier to move in. But, for the opportunity to eat up to the dump, just wearing an uncomfortable dress a little seemed to her a small price. And yet, isn't it forbidden to take weapons with you? If I'm around, then certainly there shouldn't be any problems.

- So you are willing to come as I ask?

- Yeah.

- Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

True, we do not have a dress ... But it seems that he understood this even before we had time to say it out loud. So he offered to lend us the dress that Mea wore a few years ago.

Raymond muttered, examining Fran's chest and ass as if nothing had happened. Although Mea is slightly taller than Fran in stature, the rest of the dimensions are practically the same. After yesterday's episode in the baths, I'm sure of that.

Frankly, they are both punt. I even feel a little sorry for them when they stand next to such a sex bomb as Quina.

So, wait, what am I talking about, Mea is still 15. Maybe there is still hope? Probably should be?

- Mea, live and be strong ...

- M?

- Oh, nothing, nothing. Anyway, can you try on a dress?

So Mia helped Fran get dressed in Mea's old dress. And she was just shivering to the face.

- What a cute ...

It is something! That's what I understand, my Fran! This beautiful, blue and white dress went incredibly well for her! While her regular Lolita armor dress was cute too, this classic floor-length dress looked good too! Like a real princess!

She wore a cute tiara on her head, and her hair was pulled back in a high bun. Sexy from all sides! Her usual hairstyle is of course cute too.

In addition, she received a discreet makeup. I thought that it would not suit her, but he was surprisingly not conspicuous. It seems that special persistent cosmetics and semi-beast perfume were used.

Even while eating, your makeup shouldn't be damaged. Half-beasts are much less restrained than humans, so that some kind of makeup is never between them and food. The girl in charge of makeup, from somewhere in a smooth motion, took out sweets and meat.

- A little awkward to move.

- Well, it's a dress. But it suits you, right? - I said.

- Truth?

So, we must not miss the opportunity to compliment her. It seems that my interest in girls is gradually returning.

- No, I would say to the spitting image of Snow White.

- Snow White?

- Yes. A famous princess from my world. The evil witch poisoned her with a poisoned apple.

- And she didn't even figure out that it was poisoned?

- No, in my world few people can identify poison by smell, except perhaps the most talented.

Maybe a specially trained person can understand.

- From the poison she fell into a long sleep, from which, fortunately, she was awakened by the kiss of the prince.

- A kiss that cures poison? Is it such a special skill?

And really, if you think about it, why did the prince's kiss awaken her? I have read this book for a long time. In addition, the original piece was an order of magnitude darker. Yes, exactly, like on TV I saw how the original was taken apart. I can't remember all the details, but it seems like the prince turned out to be some kind of pervert who is turned on by corpses.

- Yes. I don't fully understand it either.

- Hmm.

It would be better to tell about Cinderella. Although no, maybe there is also some gloomy original.

Chapter 384 - Grateful Banquet

When we came to the thanksgiving evening, it exceeded our expectations. I mean, at one point, I even thought Raymond's words about it being like a banquet were just a ruse to make it easier to lure Fran.

- So it really turned out to be a banquet ... - I said.

Fran left my words without comment.

And there was a good reason for that, she for both cheeks absorbed all the variety of dishes that rose in front of her. Although stop, I must say about who was present here besides Fran.

These were the guests of honor, the royal family, and the heads of the clans. Fran, introducing herself to the guests, immediately attracted an avalanche of compliments about her beauty.

After that, they did not hesitate to talk to Mea and Fran, showing off their feats of arms.

Well, there's nothing to be done, youth. And a beautiful outfit was still not only for Fran, but also for Mea. Contrasting with Fran's blue and white dress à la Snow White, Mea's dress was white and red.

Its design was quite bold, with bare shoulders. Considering Mea's childish figure, her appearance was not sexy, but her sweetness more than made up for this shortcoming.

By the way, at that moment I was in the form of a golden choker around Fran's neck. Although I thought it would bring back bad memories of the slave collar, she didn't really want to make any drama out of it. So the choker shape turned out to be a simple and successful solution for me.

Although it was not forbidden to bring weapons, and I could not invent anything, but I could not allow Fran to destroy her cute image by carrying me on her back. I wonder if I look sophisticated enough? Additionally, I decorated myself with small gold rings.

Since being on the neck, I could immediately close with a barrier both the head and the heart of Fran, the choice of this form really turned out to be very competent. Thanks to the work that Aristeia had done on me, I was now able to sustain the transformation for much longer. If it doesn't come to battles, then I'm probably enough for a few hours or something. If the party is really small, then I will stay in choker shape until the very end.

Although the eyes of many of the young guys were still fixed on Fran and Mea, almost all of them left after a short conversation. And the reason is simple - realizing that their interlocutor is stronger, and even evolved, everyone tried to disperse as soon as possible. Love is love, and lunch is on schedule.

Although I could usually understand this from afar, it seems that none of the young people dared to approach us with obscene intentions. The senior officers watched them all, smiling. Perhaps they were amused to look at the troubles of the young.

When the conversations ended, the tables began to fill with a variety of dishes. All of these dishes were truly sumptuous.

And then Fran was in the spotlight. It might sound a little rude, but everyone thought Fran was an uncouth adventurer. But, meanwhile, she showed excellent manners. Although she could be respected, at least for her strength, no one could ever imagine that she was capable of such a thing.

Even Mea was surprised. Although she was taught court etiquette from an early age, even she thought that Fran hardly knew anything about it.

- Fran, this is amazing!

- Yes. Perhaps even prettier than the young lady.

- M, yeah ...

Apparently, Mea could eat without breaking any rules of etiquette.

- You can't lose to her.

- Hmm, you're right ...

Mea nodded in agreement at Queen's words. Of course, it was a shock for her that she could lose in the etiquette of Fran, who, firstly, is younger than her, and secondly - whatever you look at, simple and uncouth. I felt that Quina was looking at Fran with admiration.

The rest of the half-beasts were also amazed. Of course, in the Land of Half-Beasts, strong heroes are loved, so they did not look down on her before. But when Fran, in a cute dress, began to demonstrate excellent manners, not inferior even to Mea, they definitely began to look at her in a completely different way.

Considering that she was also a heroic person, the admiration with which she was looked at would have envied even the idol singers from my native Japan. Hey, old man, why did you blush like that ?! And you, kid, you are not looking at her well!

Well, what to do, Fran is too charming now. They can't help themselves but admire her. After all, to become Fran's partner, you have to be strong enough to be able to support her.

In my opinion, among all those present, only three fell under this description. Everyone else didn't have a chance.

The first is old General Barberam. It looks like he was one of the commanders during the defense. He was from one of the ten founding clans, the Purple Wind Elephant clan. His height exceeded 3 meters, I even at first took him for a representative of the giant race or something like that. In addition, this growth was complemented by his excellent commanding skills, and he was known as a hero warlord who had seen many battles.

And though now he looks like a gentle, smiling grandfather, in his youth he was a stern warrior known as the "Lord of Destruction."

Perhaps this would correspond to an "A" rank of an adventurer. At least stronger than Gododarf. Given all this, it's hard to believe that age has weakened him in any way. Although, of course, his physical strength is probably not at the same level as before, but he undoubtedly stands at the head of one of the strongest military forces in the country.

The next strongest was Ligdarf of the White Rhinoceros. He bears the title of the head of the clan. Since he is Gwendarf's father, this meant that he was the younger brother of Gododarf, our opponent in the Martial Arts Tournament.

Does this mean that after Gododarf left his place as head of the family for the service of the King of the Beasts, Ligdarf immediately took his place? It was hard to believe that he was as strong.

Although he was inferior to Gododarf in terms of physical strength, he possessed level 5 wind magic, and his magical energy and stamina were also quite high. Did Ligdarf act wiser by choosing diversified development? After all, the Genus of the White Rhino is obviously famous for its power, and, probably, would have respected someone strong and hardy more.

Naturally, he has evolved. In addition, as a weapon, he wore not a huge ax, like Gododarf, but a hexagonal two-handed mace. He was a big man with not frail muscles and a height of more than two meters, and his club was taller than the average person. Probably, on the battlefield, his figure swinging such a mace should not have a feeble influence on enemies.

But I didn't know what he would think when he found out that Fran had defeated his older brother. Although I think, since Gwendarf knows about it, then Ligdarf could not help but find out about it ... This man remained as calm as Quina, and there was no emotion on his face. Even after meeting him, I still did not understand whether he had sympathy or antipathy towards us.

Finally, our favorite is a man named Lucias Lawrence. The one who bore the name "Lawrence". He did not have many similarities with Linford, outwardly he was a very handsome man.

Given his high level of mastery of earth magic, he was undoubtedly a highly skilled magician. This fact is confirmed by the fact that he is a court magician.

Among his titles, I did not find a single "villainous", and among his skills there was not one associated with evil. As Mea said, he seems to be a really good person.

When we met him, we didn't have to guess what he thought about us. On the contrary, he was very polite and courteous, it was clear that he had sympathy for us. Okay, don't raise Fran, please!

As soon as Fran took part in the conversation between Mea and Lucias, the other men quickly went about their business.

But the quiet atmosphere lasted only until new dishes for the banquet were brought. From that moment on, the party turned into a battlefield. Bosses, subordinates, young and old alike began to hunt, fiercely fighting for the right to eat.

And if the first to be served full-fledged dishes with metered portions, then as an addition, they brought huge plates of dishes so that everyone was surely full. At least it seemed to me that this was the case. Or will they continue to bring food until the next banquet? In general, in the best traditions of half-beasts, all of them, without hesitation, simultaneously pounced on food.

And Fran and Mea came out victorious here. Pushing the hefty men in different directions, they broke into the very first row, collected freshly brought food, and carried them back to their places. Unable to offend little girls, hefty men could only leave the table in tears, seeing their favorite dishes disappear out of sight.

So where did we start ... Yes, Fran ate food by both cheeks.

- What is delicious? I asked.

- Uh-huh!

Just please don't stain your dress!

Chapter 385 - Offer from the Land of demi-humans

After this "competition of eaters" ended, Fran again called Prime Minister Raymond to him. He stood between two tables that were larger than the rest. There was a very serious atmosphere in the air.

- Thank you for participating in the thanksgiving evening.

- Yeah.

“Thanks to you, even Lady Nemea has grown in the eyes of her subjects.

Looks like Raymond has achieved his goal. Apparently, he really wanted to make Mea look like a real princess in public, in order to improve her public image.

Although combat power has always earned respect in the Land of Half-Beasts, in Raymond's opinion, it will be easier to appeal to the feeling of beautiful subjects.

- But it seems that now they love you even more ... In any case, my duty has been fulfilled.

Fran didn't really try. Maybe she's just too cute by nature?

“In addition, I would like to reiterate my gratitude to you for the support you have given us in this war. Thank you.

- Come on. I could not do otherwise.

- Haha. I only convey the words of His Majesty.

"The King of Beasts himself?"

- Not so long ago a letter fell into my hands. In it, His Majesty asked us not to let you go without a reward.

- Awards?

- Yes, as a war hero, it is unacceptable to leave you without a reward.

Is that really true? And this is despite the fact that Fran did not enter the battle at someone's request, but of her own free will. We had no reward in our thoughts. But since the name of the heroine who saved the whole country has already spread everywhere, apparently, it would be bad form to confine herself to only words of gratitude.

Oh, again I understand everything through the prism of my life on Earth. In the light novel about reincarnations, it often happened that the protagonist, who showed himself well, received a title of nobility for his efforts.

Of course, I would not mind if Fran gets the title, but something tells me that she herself is not going to become a noblewoman. There is little sense even from land holdings - she is not able to manage them. And even being an aristocrat, it is difficult to continue pursuing the craft of an adventurer.

- In our opinion, for invaluable assistance in the war, you should be entitled to the title of Baroness and hand over land holdings.

Yes, yes, I knew it! Things are bad, even if it's not what we want, rejection will surely ruin our relationship.

But when my thought processes began to search with might and main for a way out of this difficult situation, I heard something that I had never expected.

"But in a letter from His Majesty it was said that you probably would not be happy with any title. So he ordered us to refuse such offers.

Whoa! Well done, king!

- Yeah. I do not need him.

- You are not even attracted by the opportunity to welcome your land to the people of the Black Cat?

- Come on. The lord of Gringord said he would take good care of them. I cannot become a noblewoman, my high status will cause inconvenience to everyone around me. Therefore, I don't need a title.

- That's how, clear, clear.

Oh, how easily she parried it, I would also say something like that. Oh, how glad I am to see Fran growing up and growing above himself.

- Well, then let us tell you about your award ... Gvisa, I entrust it to you.

- Yes, with pleasure.

There and then a certain half-beast-dog appeared that had previously been waiting in the wings behind Raymond. Judging by the fact that Raymond pushed his chair to the side so he could sit down, one could guess about his significant position.

- I'm the finance minister, Gvisa.

Wow, even bigger than I thought! Yes, it looks serious. And it doesn't seem like he was accommodating. His face gave the impression of a wise, but completely unfriendly person. Interestingly, at least sometimes his facial expression changes? What's he going to tell us anyway?

- To begin with, I want to capture the points of view of both sides.

- Points of view?

- Yes. So, Mrs. Fran. In this war, you, having received neither an order from the leadership of our country, nor instructions from the leadership of the guild, entered the battle as a volunteer. Am I missing anything?

- Yeah.

- In this case, you are entitled to the same payment as any other volunteer, in accordance with the charter.

It seems that the Land of Half-Beasts has adopted a reward system for volunteers during wartime. So Fran's law is entitled to the same remuneration as any other local volunteer.

By the way, what do they do with those who helped without engaging in battle? Let us also fought with demonic beasts, but, for example, what about traveling healers who took care of the wounded on sleepless nights? Or merchants who provided free material support? They all contributed to the victory.

In addition, despite the fact that the princess herself witnessed this, their contribution to the victory is still not taken into account. Of course, no one forbade Fran to do what she did, but a lot of mercenaries and adventurers were on the defensive in strategically less important places, and they are unlikely to react with understanding to her initiative. Unhappy, they spread rumors that Fran's role in the war was deliberately exaggerated.

That is, if you thank Fran in a special way, it is unlikely that the other volunteers will accept it calmly. Or you will have to deal with the reward for each volunteer separately.

I mean, many of them worked hard for the victory, who would refuse a decent payoff?

- Yeah. I don't need special treatment.

Fran nodded back. Of course, we did not fight for the award from the very beginning, and as a result of the battles we have already received a lot of useful things. I think that we should not be judged on a par with those who really worked seriously to win.

Well, since we would not like to quarrel with the country, it is not worth giving up a small reward. While I was pondering this subject, Raymond continued his speech in an impatient tone.

- With all this, our country cannot neglect your merits. I hope you understand this.

It seemed that he had no patience anymore and wanted Fran to finally agree.

- Here's how. But, if we reduce Fran's achievements to the level of the rest, then we will no longer wait for volunteers.

They seem to realize that Fran's achievement stands out sharply from the rest. But due to laws and other circumstances, it seems that they could not deal with her in any special way.

- In general, there is a proposal. Fortunately, you have accompanied Lady Nimea all this time. So why don't we arrange everything so that you, on the orders of Lady Nimea, were holding back an entire army of Demon Beasts?

- In terms of?

Seeing the bewilderment on Fran's face, Gvisa explained what he meant.

- I'll explain. Firstly, if you accept this offer, then your achievement will partly become the achievement of Lady Nimea, this is his only drawback. Secondly, for our country, this option would be better in the context of foreign policy. That is, we will be able to introduce entry restrictions for countries hostile to us. At this point, you can no longer worry so much about the kingdom of Bashar.

- I realized.

- The advantage for you is that your feat, having become widespread, has the potential to have a positive effect on the status of the entire genus of the Black Cat.

This means that if Fran's feat is elevated to heroic proportions, it will simultaneously become the feat of Mea, who has been there all this time. Also, if the genus of the Black Cat spreads the story of Fran's feat throughout the country, then the attitude towards the genus of the Black Cat will improve.

“Plus, given that we're going to frame this as a special order from the princess, the rest of the volunteers shouldn't feel hurt. So we can reward you as we see fit.

Here it is. Indeed, if it was Nimea's order, then it might be a good excuse for a special reward. Probably, then the salvation of a member of the royal family can be added to the list of feats.

Although Fran fought for her fellow Black Cat comrades, the fact that she did it on Nimea's orders doesn't give her much trouble. On the contrary, now Fran's feat has spread to the scale of the country, and in the end it will benefit both Fran and the Black Cat family.

- Teacher? Fran turned to me.

- So, what should we do ... - I thought.

It probably depends on what the award is. Well, no matter what we choose, we ought to find out what they have prepared for us, and for us.

Chapter 386 - Medal or Rank

- So what if I accept your offer?

“In that case, we will award you with the gold medal of the animal claw.

- A medal?

- Yes. The Gold Medal of the Animal Claw is awarded to those who have accomplished particularly significant feats for the state. Medal of the highest rank. But for her feat, Mrs. Kiara received the same medal posthumously. If Fran receives this medal, she will become its first living owner in 300 years.

This award is more impressive than I thought. Apparently, the presentation of the medal to Kiara is similar to the presentation of posthumous medals to heroic personalities on Earth. Is it too stressful?

- This medal is not only a sign of honor in the country. The awarded will also be entitled to a certain amount. There is no upper limit for this award, so we can reward Ms. Fran as it should be.

It seems that since the time when this medal appeared, the exchange rate has changed more than once, and therefore the exact amount of the award has not been established.

- This time we have planned a reward of 10,000,000 gold.

- Yeah. Got it.

Stop, stop, stop, stop! Hey Fran? Have you listened to everything? That's 10 million! By earthly standards, that's over one hundred million yen! Maybe even now you will show at least a little emotion?

- Fran! He said "10 million"! I shouted.

- Yeah.

Hmm, incurable coldness. Now I feel like a fool to rejoice so much in the reward. Or are you helping me to understand my own shortcomings in this way? Eh, Fran. I would like you to remain the same pure and naive forever.

- Can you buy a whole grocery store for this? Fran asked me.

- A grocery store is definitely possible!

- Mmm, food aaa.

It is clear, she simply did not understand how large this amount is. Only one question remained - maybe I shouldn't have told her this?

- I did not expect anything less. And she didn't raise an eyebrow when she heard such a sum ...

You're wrong, she just cares exclusively about battles and food.

“Also, if possible, I would like some of my money to be given to help the people of the Black Cat.

- Hmm? That's it ... As His Majesty said, you are truly a selfless person.

Gvisa thought for a moment.

- Okay, let's figure it out.

- Yeah.

- Although I see that you are not against the medal, in fact, you have another choice.

- In terms of?

“The proposal I was talking about would be for the good of my country and Mrs. Nemea. Of course, you, Mrs. Fran, also do not remain empty-handed. But there is one organization besides my country that could offer you an award.

- Organization?

- Adventurer's Guild.

What we didn't expect to hear from Gvisa was this. But we didn't receive any instructions from them related to the war, and indeed, does the guild interfere in wars? I thought that their position was not to support any side, not to take part in the country's defense, and even more so not to issue any awards ...

- During this war, the guild did not achieve much. Although they themselves took part in hostilities as adventurers, but only in the role of ordinary volunteers. Without a doubt, in the event that their city was attacked, they would have helped in the defense and evacuation, but this, in fact, is the duty of all residents of the city.

The guild is a neutral organization, so there is nothing to do. Speaking of the lack of guild achievements, Raymond and Gvisa did not change their faces at all. So it was clear that this behavior of the guild seemed natural to them.

“However, at the same time, the top leadership of the guild was concerned about the current situation.

- Concerned?

- The way the kingdom of Bashar took control of many demonic beasts from the dungeon. After all, dungeons and demonic beasts are run by the Adventurer's Guild.

- Although the country is in second place for them, since no responsibility has been established for the guild before it, the guild reserves the right to act at its own discretion.

Hmm, that's what it is about. Still, this war was fought not only against people, from the north, hordes of animals from the dungeon invaded us like a tornado. No wonder the Adventurer's Guild has gone into action.

- It is not a fact that in the future the history of this passage will remain firmly in the people's memory. In this case, the guild will not be interesting to anyone. We, as the country's leadership, have no complaints about the adventurers taking part in this war. But the guild would probably like to eliminate unpleasant rumors in the future while improving their public image.

Yes, the guild took not the worst position in this war, but it realizes that better decisions could have been made. And then it turns out that Fran, who became famous as a hero, is an adventurer. If the directions for Fran's actions came from them, then they could take a piece of this glory.

“But the war is over, and all the demonic beasts are driven back. Now the guild has no tools left to influence the situation.

“Only Fran can lend a helping hand to the guild.

- In terms of?

Fran made a questioning expression in response to Gwisa's words.

- Yes. Well, the situation is almost the same as with our country's proposal. Only we asked to arrange everything as if Princess Nimea had issued a special order to fight the beasts, and in the case of the guild, it would be a special instruction from the guild.

So furnish it as a guild directive.

- The disadvantage of such a choice, first of all, is that the country would receive a much greater reward. And since the princess has nothing to do with it, you can also forget about the medal. In addition, the cash reward from the guild will be approximately 5 million gold. That is, even the monetary reward is much less.

We're talking about serious money here. It is not known what it will be like to negotiate with the guild. And even if everything goes smoothly, the disadvantage is a much smaller reward. Besides, rejecting an entire state's proposal will leave a bad impression.

- The advantage is that you get prospects to raise your rank, and improve your position in the guild. Sharing the glory of saving an entire country with an Adventurer's Guild is serious business. It will definitely pull up to rank B.

Here it is. Although we suffer financial losses, it is not often that there is an opportunity to raise the rank. Considering that the check becomes stricter with each rank, having risen from rank "C" to "B", we have the opportunity to jump over most adventurers and stand out from the crowd.

Moreover, we will get the favor of the guild. Since Fran is an adventurer, it can be said to be worth more than any money.

- We, as representatives of the country, give you a choice.

- Think hard.

As Raymond and Gvisa spoke these words, they were smiling. I think, as representatives of the country, they would like us to choose a medal, right? It seems that they are completely benevolent towards Fran, but still they are officials in the service of their country, what are the limits of their benevolence? No, that's not the point.

Maybe their politeness is just trying to get Fran to their side.

And all these explanations of the advantages and disadvantages were needed only to establish a connection with the interlocutor. Moreover, they offered an option that is not beneficial for themselves. Apparently, in this way Fran should feel a kinship with the country of the Half-Beasts. In addition, since the proposal was made not by someone, but by such a noble aristocrat as Gvisa, it is more difficult to reject him. Apparently, they decided that if he were an ordinary employee, Fran would not get the impression that the offer was better not rejected. Well thought out.

- Mentor?

“Fran, whatever you choose, I'll take it all.

- Good. I realized.

Well, it doesn't look like anyone was trying to trick us. On the contrary, there were normal negotiations. All options have their advantages. It would be better for me to trust what Fran herself desires.

- Since the decision is serious, I give you a night to think.

- Tomorrow morning you can report your decision ...

- No. Everything is fine. I choose a medal.

- Hmm? Are you sure?

Fran answered immediately. I myself did not expect. Actually, I thought she would choose the guild. Since she is definitely not of the character to desire a medal, it was easy to think that she would choose a promotion.

- The medal will be better. Like Kiara.

- Received. We will begin preparations immediately.

- Yeah.

What is the reason for this choice? So I thought they were just waiting all this time to present the medal to Fran.

- Well, let's try to contact the guild.

Of course, they seem to have already spoken to the guild. Thus, both proposals could be submitted. Since Gwisa was also tasked with handing over the guild proposal and negotiation, the Land of the Half-Beasts was definitely favored.

- Mrs. Fran, I heard that in battle you got a certain amount of trophies from demonic beasts, would you like to sell them in the guild?

- But I have no time.

It's already night, and tomorrow I have to hit the road. I think that even to just sell something, you have to go to another city. Although we have butchered many animals in Aristeia's mansion, there are still plenty of uncut ones.

“I think that since you turn down the guild's offer, it would be nice to do them a little favor and sell the materials to them. You have nothing against selling them, do you?”

- Yeah.

- Then I'll invite a man from the guild to the palace. I will also send cutters and evaluators. You can use the training ground of the palace for cutting. For my part, I promise to provide assistants. How about this?

I thought so, they were well prepared. Well, here it would be even indecent to refuse. I don't even know why they worked so hard. But, if they help us with cutting and selling, we will only be grateful.

“Let's accept this offer,” I said to Fran.

- Yeah. Got it. It will be better this way.

- Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Chapter 387 - Last Night in the Land of demi-humans

After we parted with Raymond, a man called us over. We found him at a bar adjacent to the officers' section of the palace, and took up questions.

- We need to talk a little.

- Hmm? With me? About what?

It was Lucias Lawrence. The earthmage is of the same lineage as the warlock Linford Lawrence, whom we fought in Barubor.

Although there was no one besides Lucias, Ligdarf, and the bartender, it is not known whether anyone else should have listened to our conversation. Noticing Fran's glance across the two of them, Lucias hurried to explain.

“Mister Ligdarf, my comrade in arms. I don't mind him hearing everything. The bartender also keeps secrets like a true professional.

That is, we will talk like that. Well, since he doesn't mind, then we don't need to worry.

- Have you heard the name "Linford Lawrence"? Where did you hear it? Have you met him?

- Yeah.

We knew about him, of course. Is he really his relative? In that case, you need to tell him how Linford died.

But before Fran opened her mouth, Lucias dropped his head in silence.

- Excuse me.

- What?

- All the evil that this man brought to people cannot be justified. Tell me how did you meet this villain?

We just mentioned the name, and he already reacted like this. It was clear that this was a difficult subject for Lucias. It seemed that he felt such guilt that he could not even raise his head.

“As his son, I am obliged to apologize for him.

Hmm? A son? So that's why there is such a difference in age between them. Is he human? If Lucias is really Linford's son, then he should have had a child that way at 60. If he is not an elf or something like that, then it sounds strange ...

Although no, this is completely impossible. And Fran, by the way, could not contain her surprise either.

- Hey Fran. We didn't even think that he had children, maybe it's not worth talking like that directly? I asked.

- No. We were the ones who killed Linford. Since he really is his son, we must tell you.

- I know that my apology is not enough ...

Oh, I got it. He decided that since Fran couldn't say a word, it meant she was angry.

- No no. I was just surprised that you are his son.

- And that's it.

“Besides, I have to apologize too.

- Apologize?

- Yeah. Linford is killed.

Fran told everything without hiding the tension in her voice. About how his father became our enemy. Fran talked about her fight with Linford, and then I supplemented her story about how other adventurers helped in defeating him. Everything from start to finish.

We didn't know how he would react. Although Lucias seemed to be ashamed of Linford himself, he was still his father. I don't think he would have given it as an offense ...

"So Linford is ... dead?"

Lucias asked again, not hiding his shock at what he heard, which was completely unsurprising.

- I ... I am very sorry to you.

- No no! Nothing to apologize for! You protected Barubora. There is not one bit of a bad thing in this!

- But ...

- On the contrary! On the contrary ... Apologize ...

- M?

"I chased Linford for years to send him to his grave with my own hands.

It seems that Lucias, as a child from a warlock family, endured harassment for many years for this reason. Therefore, over the years, his hatred of warlocks and evil spirits only intensified. When he spoke of Linford, I saw on his face the deepest hatred for him.

- I had to stop all that series of misfortunes that my father brought to people. But you did it instead of me. I don't have enough words to thank you ...

Lucias saluted us by kneeling down on one knee and raising his right fist in front of his face, placing it on the palm of his left hand. It looks like it was a gesture of the utmost respect.

Of course, I couldn't resist using Deception Control just in case, but I didn't find a trace of a lie. Both his hatred of Linford and his gratitude to Fran were true.

“Now my years of incessant worry have come to an end. Now I can visit my mother's grave with good news.

Tears welled in his eyes, and Lucias, after thanking us several more times, went to his private room with Ligdarf.

“I thank you for freeing my friend from his hardships.

- Yes, thank you.

It looks like he really endured a lot. It's good that we had the courage to tell you about Linford. No, only Fran had the courage, not me.

After that, it was time to speak with the Adventurer's Guild Representative who has completed all preparations for the sale of our trophies. We've put all the demonic beasts the guild hoped to see on the training ground. Of course, it was impossible to take out all of them, so we limited ourselves to selling about 150 copies.

Even the representative of the guild could not maintain a neutral expression from the sight of many animal corpses neatly laid out on the site. Seeing the strongest monsters killed with a single blow to the heart, and especially tough beasts with severely crippled skin or scales, seemed to give him a good idea of ??Fran's strength. Still, there were some very strong animals among them. However, given that people who specialize in cutting and evaluating usually sag in terms of combat power, this was not surprising.

- Well, let's finish this before the morning! Payment will also arrive at about the same time!

- Yeah.

However, it didn't take long before this fear turned into awe. So half-beast and good - that they respect strength. Undoubtedly, they see Fran as a real heroine.

- Let's go back to our room? - I said.

- Yeah.

Tomorrow morning we are heading to Graysier. If you don't go to bed now, Fran won't wake up in time. Although in which case, I can carry it using telekinesis.

Oddly enough, this time I fell asleep myself surprisingly quickly.

- Fran! I waited for you!

- Mea, what happened?

In the room Fran was waiting for Mea, already dressed for bed. When it comes to that, Mea wore a loose white nightgown. She was very, very good.

- And what happened? Nothing! This, here!

- M?

- But, here's the thing ...

Nothing was clear from Mea's words. Although no, I understood what she wanted to say.

- The Young Lady is trying to say that since this is the last night in the palace, she would like to sleep with Fran.

- I wanted to say it myself!

Ah, that's it. Tied to Fran as always.

- That's exactly what I wanted to say, let's sleep together!
- Yeah. Good. But maybe then Urusi will be with us too?
- Urusi?

Urusi barked questioningly.

From behind Fran peeped out Urushi, apparently responding to his nickname. On his face and without words it was possible to read: "Do you need something?" Judging by his slightly haggard face, he was given plenty of food at the thanksgiving evening.

"He did a great job today, so we'll sleep together. Good?"

- That's how it is. I'm not against. After all, Urusi and my comrade too!
- Won!

Urusi barked happily. It looks like his mood immediately improved.

So, on the last night in the Land of Half Beasts, Fran and Mea had their little bachelorette party. True, their conversations boiled down to the topics of battles with monsters, and the dangers they had to face during their adventures. But since they have fun together, I don't mind.

Chapter 388 - Medal Presentation Ceremony

On the morning of the last day in the Land of Half-Beasts, the medal ceremony took place.

Although there was no splendor inherent in ceremonies, everything took place in just one room of the palace. After reading Fran's merits to the few invited guests, the royal family presented her with a medal. Probably, everything about everything took 30 minutes. The new medal winners will have to be publicly announced during the triumphal parade.

In the blink of an eye, all the necessary people were gathered and all preparations were made for the presentation of the medal.

It seems that in the Land of the Beasts, they initially refrain from especially lavish ceremonies or meetings. So such simple and short ceremonies were not something out of the ordinary. In general, none of those present was surprised that the ceremony of awarding the highest medal in the country, the Gold Medal of the Animal Claw, looked so modest.

Incidentally, of the officers present at the thanksgiving banquet, there were the Barberam of the Elephant of the Purple Wind, Ligdarf, and Lucias. Although they seemed to have drunk quite a bit of alcohol last night, so not all of them were on their feet, but they all held up with dignity in terms of facial expressions. As expected of seasoned veterans.

Among the officials, Prime Minister Raymond and Finance Minister Gvisa were present. In addition, there were some of their subordinates. However, I do not know if Lucias, the court magician, can be called an officer.

Although there were not many people present, since there was a general and a prime minister among them, the people gathered here were surprisingly influential. In addition, the medal was presented by Mea, a member of the royal family.

- Fran is from the Black Cat clan. Thank you for your work.

- Yeah.

- In order to glorify your feat, we reward you with the Gold Medal of the Animal Claw. Accept her.

This is how the ceremony went - quickly, but solemnly. There were only two surprises.

First, Urusi also received a medal. It appears to have been a Familiar Special Merit Medal given to the hero's pets.

- Urusi, thank you for your work.

- Won!

- Yeah. Suits you.

- Uuuf!

Urusi did not hide his delight when Mea hung the medal around his neck. Urusi did a really good job. Then it will be necessary to reward him in his own way. Maybe make him a particularly spicy curry like he likes? He usually eats the same as Fran, so I limit the amount of spices. This time I'll make it so hot that Fran can't eat.

Once you can, in honor of the presentation of the medal. By the way, Fran has promised to support the people of the Black Cat. Looks like he's going to visit them soon.

In addition to ensuring equality and living conditions in the country for the people of the Black Cat, those who wish to start a military career will be awarded armor and weapons by the state, and will also send mentors for them in martial arts. In addition, Fran is entitled to an additional reward of 10 million gold. Yes, they did not stint on the award.

At the end of the ceremony, we will have to hit the road. Yesterday we managed to make some small purchases, and all the awards are now with us. All preparations for departure have been made. We planned to leave the capital immediately after the end of the ceremony.

Then, by nightfall, having arrived in the port city of Graysir, we will board the high-speed ship on which His Majesty sailed.

Usually the journey takes about ten days, but we can take a more direct route.

Previously, we traveled to the capital using a horned carriage, but taking the path right through the demonic barrier would only take us half a day.

“Let's say goodbye to Kiara and let's go,” I said.

- Yeah.

Finally, we spent a few minutes looking at the late Kiara. Without saying a word, without even shedding tears, they just stood silently in front of her.

But as Fran left, her face was just more enthusiastic than before. I don't know why, but it looks like Kiara influenced her so much.

- Well, that's all? I asked.

- Yeah. Everything is fine.

- Here's how.

- Come on, Teacher.

- Let's go!

At the exit from the room with Kiara's body, Fran was already waiting for Mea.

- Well, go!

- Yeah.

Looks like she saw Fran say goodbye to Kiara. But she said nothing more. With only a slight smile, she ordered us to hit the road.

We headed outside the capital. I didn't want to leave the palace. And then there may be a noise that a demonic beast has burst into the capital. So we decided to say goodbye to everyone on the plain near the capital.

- What is Fran, going?

- Yeah.

- Great, go ahead, Linda!

- Guooooooooo!

This time we skated not on Urusi, but on Linda. Linda's speed, of course, is second to none. Quina was on duty this time, so only Fran and Mea were flying on Linda. Therefore, the speed was even higher.

- Guooooooooon!

- Wow! How fast! - I was surprised.

- Uh-huh! Amazing.

With each flap of her wings, Linda picked up more and more speed. Even Fran, accustomed to riding the Urusi, could not contain her amazement as she flew in the sky. Although I myself flew at higher speeds, I never sat in the scabbard on Fran's back.

- Ha ha ha! Linda is not capable of that! Hey Linda! Show them!

- Guooooo!

It wasn't fast yet ?! In the next moment, Linda's entire body shone with a red light, and his speed began to skyrocket. Looking back, I saw that he had a trail of fire. He used the same ability in combat. It was like the Jet Shot from the school of fire magic.

Acceleration was not instantaneous, and although this ability was used to gradually gain speed, the end result was even faster than Rocket Shot.

This appears to be a unique skill related to flame control. One should also get skills in flame control. Even though I'm not that good at controlling flames, I think a skill from the same branch should be found.

In addition, with the skill of air flow control, he significantly reduced the air pressure. It's not that I didn't feel the wind at all, it could only be weak, like from a fan. Considering that we are flying high in the sky, you can ignore it.

- Look over there. A whole group of turtle kings.

- Oooh ...

In the place where Mea pointed, a whole group of turtles swam in the lake, resembling a small mountain from afar. First time I see turtles with a tree growing on their backs! A very colorful landscape.

- Look down. The famous all over the country Jade Lake.

- Beautyaa.

Now a lake appeared, the surface of which shimmered with the colors of jade. It seems that since its bottom is completely covered with stones of this color, the play of light on the surface caused such an effect.

Mea never tired of showing and telling us about each curiosity, one after another. Just like a real guide. Fran loved it too.

- Look! Now the fog will clear and the border mountain range will be visible!

- Oooh ... Awesome.

- High ...

In the place where Mea was pointing, a huge gray mountain range appeared. Although he should have been very far away, this only added to his amazing majesty. It seemed as if he was propping up thick clouds, which ultimately looked like a huge veil covering the ground.

This ridge was even higher than Everest. You will not see this on Earth.

- And we were at its foot ... - I said.

- Yeah.

Fran looked into the distance, at this ridge. It looks like she's been flooded with different memories. Both good and bad - there were many.

- By the way, Fran.

- Yes?

- Will you come back to us?

The right question. Of course, Fran has different memories of this country, and good ones are not in the majority. But, in recent days we managed to get so many good impressions.

- Of course.

- True?

- Yeah. After all, you live here, Mea.

Still, Fran never stops thinking positively. Although she has many bad memories and very few good ones, she has a dear friend here.

Even though Kiara died in this country, and we ourselves almost said goodbye to life, while her friend Mea is here, no barriers will stop Fran to meet her again.

- I will definitely, I will definitely come.

- Yes I will wait.

Chapter 389 - Lord of the Sword and Lord of the Spear

Our celestial excursion on horseback on Linda came to an end when we finally arrived at the port city of Graysir.

There was a large ship in the harbor, and there was a noticeable lively action around it.

“Looks like the Beast King has already arrived at port,” I said.

- Yeah.

The air was simply saturated with the sense of his presence. One could understand this without even seeing him personally. Continuing further into Graysir, we saw the Beast King talking to his subordinates in the harbor.

Suddenly we noticed someone approaching us.

- Hey! So you and Fran-chan, you stupid daughter!

“We haven't seen you for a long time, Father. Or should I say "Your foolishness."

- Ha ha ha ha! That Mea got stronger while I was gone?

- Haha. I am growing by leaps and bounds.

Between the King of Beasts and Mea, there was no particular atmosphere of father and daughter, but they seem to get along. Since His Majesty was heartily happy about Mea's successes, his rude words did not particularly affect her.

- Hmm ...

After a short conversation with Mea, the King turned his attention to Fran. He slowly examined her from head to toe, as if assessing.

Nobody expected his next action. Taking the spear from his back, he made a downward blow at lightning speed.

At the moment when I thought that the spear would cut Fran's head in two, she barely had time to dodge the blow. In fact, we can say that she was in the balance of death. From the pressure of the air, her bangs flew up, and her clothes fluttered like in the wind.

But Fran didn't end there. Dodging the blow, Fran grabbed me and counterattacked. The king barely had time to place the spear so as to block her slashing blow.

There was a loud sound of metal hitting metal.

My blade stopped a few millimeters from the Beast King's neck.

They were perfectly honed attacks, I even felt their desire to fight to the last. Although neither Fran nor the King used the arts of sword or spear, there was something in their movements, gaze, and maneuvers that made them feel serious. Probably, if such an attack were directed at Mea, then she would definitely lose her balance. So strongly in this attack a certain bloodlust was felt.

A powerful blow from one weapon to another responded with a shrill sound.

In the next moment, both opponents bounced off each other, and at the same time removed the weapon in place.

- This time I dodged, then.

- And you too.

Neither Fran nor the King showed any anger or confusion. Now it became clear that this exchange of blows was nothing more than a test.

Yes, an ordinary person would not have survived this, these were first-class blows. It would be impossible to defend against such attacks without possessing the weapon art of the "Lord" (King) level. That is, they made sure that both are at the same level of weapon proficiency.

- What are you doing ?!

Mea, not understanding the situation, looked at the two of them with a shocked expression on her face. Yes, Mea, apparently, did not understand the essence of this exchange of blows. Even for her, with the sacred art of the sword, good intuition, and powerful skills, from the outside it must have seemed as if her father and Fran wanted to kill each other. This, in general, serves as a confirmation that Mea has not yet reached such heights of skill.

- Ha ha ha ha! What are you, we just said hello! Right?

- Yeah.

- Say hello? Just? But ... What would you have done if she hadn't had time?

- Yes, everything is all right! As a last resort, I would just stop.

- M?

- Hey, hey, I'm completely serious.

- Since he owns the royal art of the spear, then you can be completely calm.

- So this is how it is...

It looks like he was planning on stopping the spear at the last moment if Fran hadn't had time to dodge. Maybe he would have stopped, but he certainly would have inflicted serious injury.

“In any case, does it mean you really acquired the Art of the Lord of the Sword? Moreover ... Transformation into the Lord of the sword.

- How do you know?

- Haha. Maybe you, young lady, are good at hiding your presence, but you are completely incapable of hiding your strength.

- Hide your power?

- Yes. Along with the ability to sense the presence of someone, there is also the power to read the level of power. In your case, I was convinced of this very accurately.

- Yeah.

- For example, when I first met you, face to face, you seemed to me very defenseless. After all, a warrior like you, even trusting me, would weaken your defense? Of course not. And it's easy to answer why. Even in this state, you would like to feel at least partially safe. Before I gave in to you. You should already know what I'm really capable of. And all this, together with how you keep your distance, means only one thing. That you still received the power with which you can avoid my spear. That is, nothing more than the Art of the Lord of the Sword. And for sure I was convinced of this after the greeting. So she became the Master of the Sword?

Wow, he sees right through us. As expected of the Beast King.

- Well, whether you are the Master of the Sword or not, you probably haven't met a person of a similar level yet ... You do not understand what an important role information plays in battle?

- Yeah. I see.

- So what is the conversation between two owners of professions of the royal rank ...

Mea, looking at her father and Fran, was now in awe. She apparently could not even fully understand the meaning of their words.

- And what should you do to seem weak?

- Everything is easy. You have to be more vigilant about the environment. But strength can only be hidden to a certain extent.

Here it is. The strong always looks relaxed, because he has nothing to fear. This means that someone who wants to appear weak should show concern and alertness.

“So the one who looks down on others and hopes for an easy victory is stupid. A cautious adversary may be stronger than it seems. I hope I put it right.

- Yeah.

- However, there are still many nuances. This is just the quickest and easiest way to appear weak. Only on weaklings will it work. But never on me! Maybe only if Fran-chan dresses even prettier.

I'm sorry, but no. But it's good that we now understand that there are many different ways to hide your true strength.

- Thank you.

- So, and I never returned the debt to you!

- Debt?

- What, you really don't understand? I'm not someone there, but the king of the country you saved. In general, you have to kneel in front of me.

- So, old fool, here you are already true ...

- I realized.

No matter how sincere, democratic, or close the king may seem, of course, he deserves the appropriate treatment. And I understand that too.

- But now let's do this ...

With these words, the King of Beasts took Fran by the hand and bowed deeply. This bow meant the maximum degree of his gratitude. Leaving his head completely unprotected for Fran, he also showed the highest degree of his respect for her.

“This time, I have to thank you for your support. You saved all of us.

And there was no doubt that the Beast King's words of gratitude sounded extremely sincere.

Chapter 390 - Departure and Parting

“By the way, I'd like you to take this.

The Beast King bowed his head to Fran for about a minute, then handed her a pouch. At first glance, it was an ordinary small, dirty pouch, but I sensed the magic in it.

- Item bag?

- Yes. You got some 10 million, right?

Some 10 million? What categories he thinks, however.

- Why skimp on the hero? It would be better to give one hundred million. But, even if I am the king, but I can not dispose of the treasury at random. If I start doing this, I will fall to the level of some dictator.

And he says surprisingly decent things. I thought he was one of those kings who preferred autocracy, but it turned out that he did not.

- Although, first of all, there are not so many civilian officials in our country. I would not want to harm them again.

The Beast King made a forced smile.

It seems that only military ranks were popular in the Land of Half-Beasts. It may seem that the "herbivorous" half-beasts are inclined to peaceful activities, but even among them there are many brave and daring. That is why the country is constantly experiencing a strong shortage of those wishing to become civilian officials.

And those possessing such outstanding qualities, who can be entrusted with the post of minister, can be counted on one hand. Therefore, in the Land of Half-Beasts, they are treated with special respect. In other countries, officers often look down on officials as weaklings, but in the Land of Half-Beasts, such an attitude is unthinkable.

“Our citizens love to eat well, so logistics is our top priority. So those officials who are involved in this area are especially highly respected.

- That's how it is.

- Oh, something I deviated from the topic. Well, although the country cannot give you anything more in gratitude, but no one will be against a gift personally from me. At least I'll feel better about that.

- What's in it?

- This is something like my pocket money, not so much, about 5 million gold. I still spent a lot on my trip. There was practically nothing left.

- Yeah.

Hmm. I no longer have the strength to be surprised. 5 million ... ha ha ha ha. Stop, is it true? 5 million? Together with the additional medal reward and the proceeds from the sale of trophies from demonic beasts, we have a total of over 20 million gold pieces.

And Fran, as always, did not raise an eyebrow! Why does she make me look like an idiot getting cock for no reason every time we get large sums?

But while we were talking, it was time to sail. Together with Loise and Gododarf, someone who looked like a captain appeared and came up to us.

“Madam Fran, I ask you to get ready to board the ship. We leave in 5 minutes.

- Good.

- Do you have luggage?

- Everything is fine. I gathered in my own way.

“That's how, then you are using Space-Time magic.

Having greeted the captain, we learned that we still have time to talk before sailing. And then that's it. This ship will take us away from the continent of Chrome, to the continent of Gilbard.

- Fran-chan, come back any time!

- Yeah.

- Thank you.

“You saved all of us.

After the King of Beasts spoke, Loise and Gododarf appeared next to him, kneeling and bowing their heads. Apparently the magic of teleportation.

- I would like to thank you for mentor Kiara.

- To thank?

- Yes. She died on the battlefield as she evolved fighting a powerful enemy. After all, this was exactly the dream of mentor Kiara. In addition, in your last moments of life, you took care of her, Mrs. Fran. The one she considered practically her granddaughter ... I envy such a death.

- I think so too. When I heard that the mentor came down with an illness, I immediately thought that she would not die so easily.

“It was you, Fran, who helped her up. If not for you, then, I think, the mentor Kiara would not have been able to evolve, or even fight anymore.

- Chin up! The death of your mentor is not your fault! She died the best possible death! Undoubtedly, she herself is grateful to you! I, as her student, have no doubt about it!

While it sounded a little harsh in my opinion, I knew it was all to cheer up Fran. And Fran knew it too. With a serious face, she nodded to the Beast King.

- Yeah.

- And one more piece of advice about "Turning into the God of swords." Don't drown in its power.

- I realized.

“Fine, then. This will be your guide. I think it will help you.

- Yeah.

- Let's spar the next time we meet.

It was clear that the Beast King himself did not find his Transform God of Spears skill easy to use. And it was a landmark that would help to conquer new heights after gaining "royal" skills. Apparently, he once felt the same as we do now.

- Fran ...

- Mea ...

Mea approached Fran one last time. Not knowing what else she could do, she took Fran's hands and raised them to chest level, and looked into her eyes with a sad look.

- We are parting.

- Yeah.

It was noticeable how not only Mea's eyes, but also Fran's eyes were moisturized. No, their eyes were already filling with tears. It's only a matter of time before they start to cry.

- If someone offends you, then call. Whatever I do ... Wherever you are, I will definitely rush.

- And me too.

- Yes.

- Yeah.

- This is not our last meeting. But I can't hold back my tears.

- Yeah.

- But I can't help ... with myself ...

- Yeah.

Tears rolled down Fran's cheeks and Mea wiped them gently. So, letting go of each other's hands, they parted. This was a sign of parting.

- Fran, look. The ship is already sailing.

There was the sound of a bell to sail, and Fran hurriedly ran up the ladder onto the fast ship. Once on deck, Fran still kept her eyes on Mea.

- Until!

- Thank you!

I guess she couldn't afford to cry the last time she saw her. Fran tried hard to smile. What a bitter smile. However, Mea did the same.

And even though both girls could not smile, they smiled for each other as much as they could.

“You helped me a lot,” I said.

- I have to tell you that, you helped us a lot. See you. Next time I'll show Linda's true strength.

- I'll gladly have a look.

- Well, Fran. See you!

- Uh-huh! See you later.

It is not by chance that this ship is called fast. As soon as the ship left the pier, it began to pick up speed surprisingly quickly. The earth was carried away from us faster and faster.

But Fran continued to wave her hand anyway. Even when she no longer saw anyone, and Graysir turned into a point on the horizon. She kept waving and waving.

- Bye everyone, bye-bye!

Chapter 391. City of Curry fans

I didn't want to say anything bad about this fast ship, only good.

First of all, we were treated like clients with no duties on the ship, and due to the speed of the ship, there was not a single instance of demonic beast attacks. A few days of idleness - and the continent of Gilbard appeared on the horizon.

Apparently, such ships are not popular due to their very high cost. Even using the most modern magic propeller, more than ten magic stones are consumed every day on the road. Moreover, this propeller is so large that it takes up more than half of the ship's hull, which is why the capacity suffers 5 times compared to a conventional ship of this size.

So it seems that they were only suitable for transporting high-ranking personalities and especially valuable goods, and could not replace ordinary transport ships in any way.

In general, there were no special incidents on the way, and in the end we again entered the land of Barubora.

- We were glad to serve you.

- Yeah. Thank you.

It seems that the captain of the ship really liked us. Perhaps because during the cruise, we shared with the whole team a demonic beast fish caught from the sea.

Plus, they seem to be very jealous of our ability to use the Spatial Repository. And this item pouch also proved to be surprisingly valuable. It has the capacity of a spatial storage facility with enormous storage capacity. This is an invaluable item for merchants.

- Well, where do we go first? Shall we show up at the Adventurer's Guild? I asked.

- Yeah. Probably need to find out something about Gallus.

- Right. Then you ought to look into the blacksmiths guild.

- Yeah. And then, to the shelter.

In addition, we have an acquaintance in Barubor, a former A-rank adventurer, a lord of threads, and now the owner of the Dragon Diner and also a chef in it - Fermus. It would be nice to say hello to Colbert and the three sales girls if they are in the guild. Although, I think that they are now carrying out assignments somewhere outside the city.

“I’d also go to the Lucille Trading Company. We need to stock up on spices.

- Yeah.

“How about a visit to Fermus at the Dragon Diner?

- Of course, let's go.

- I knew that you would not mind.

Not to be that Fran missed a chance to eat.

But first, we headed to the Adventurer's Guild. We did not spend enough time in Barubor to develop an affection for this city, and we were here not so long ago that we can say that we are bored. But all the same, it seemed as if we were returning to our native land. Maybe because there are many memories associated with this place?

We walked through residential quarters of the city, here and there, skipping buildings that we had not yet had time to repair. But there was something that caught my attention. Of course, it was not surprising that the adventurers knew Fran, but she also attracted the eyes of ordinary people suspiciously.

What, so prettier? Or was Urushi making a strong impression with his new scar on his face now?

But it was neither one nor the other.

- Hmm, are you that black-tailed girl?

- M?

- Exactly! The curry bread I ate back then was delicious! It seems like a dream!

Of course, I heard that curry began to be popular in Barubor, but by this point it seemed to have taken on a particularly large scale. It all started with that culinary competition when the curry bread gained its original fame. Since then, Lucille's company, to whom we sold the recipe, has made a name for itself by selling curry bread and curry paste.

Since the recipe was bought, there have been those who have tried to replicate the original flavor, so all the locals have already tried a variety of curries. Then it became known that curry was invented by a certain character named "Teacher".

"But ... I didn't invent curry!"

It looks like Colbert has found significant success. So among the people rumors spread about a black-tailed saleswoman, a student of "Curry Teacher", that is, about Fran.

Suddenly, many people remembered Fran's face at the culinary competition. So it's obvious why the "black-tailed girl" attracted the attention of people so much.

Not that she didn't like it, Fran was neutral about it, knowing that no one was going to harm her. From time to time we have met some curry fanatics making speeches like "Master's curry is the best curry in the world ..."

“And the name“ Teacher ”, however, became famous. I mean, it's curry. It looks like everyone's roof was blown off on this basis. ”

Eventually, establishments began to appear in front of us with hastily made signs saying "Curry." Looks like all the establishments on this street specialized in curries. Here and there the same word flaunted.

- And how do they manage to withstand such strong competition ...

- It's incredible! I'm like in a dream! Fran said.

- Won!

- Well, maybe it's a dream for you.

We will be completely late for the guild at this rate.

- Is that a curry barbecue? I asked.

- What a smell!

- Roar, roar!

Fran immediately bought five. It looked like a chicken skewer sprinkled with yellow curry powder.

- Khrum-Khrum-Khrum ...

- Khrum-Khrum-Khrum ...

- Well, how's the taste? I asked.

- So-so.

- Won.

That is, not terribly delicious. It probably looked like a regular fish sauce skewer flavored with the right spices. They did not experiment much, and cooked the way most liked.

In addition, due to the extreme popularity of curry, the price of spices skyrocketed, so they skimped on them.

- Three cups, please.

- Good!

- Soup next? I asked.

- Yeah.

- Won.

And this, too, apparently, was not so intense. I immediately felt Fran and Urusi's interest wither away. Although the smell was good, the taste did not live up to expectations.

But despite this, the smell still attracted them, and Fran persisted in ordering new dishes. Well, at least she began to limit portions to one.

- One.

- I beg!

- Ooh.

Everything, now there are no impressions at all! Fran's eyes were like those of a dead fish, the first time I see her like that. But the light in Fran's eyes did not go out even when she was in slavery! And Urusi, obviously, also did not receive what he hoped for.

- One.

- Here you are.

The last place was an open-air stand selling meat pies. Something tells me that again with curry flavor. But to Fran's surprise, they weren't curry pies.

Usually they put something like kima-curry in the manju that they sell on Earth, but here they were ordinary manju with meat. It looks like the meat itself was fried with curry powder. While it wasn't curry manju, it was still a dish from the same category.

While Fran was initially surprised at the inadequacy of expectations, her expression changed after the first bite. Whether it tasted good to her or not, it was immediately clear by the way she began to eat it. She bit the manju three times with a calm expression, as if upset, she suddenly ordered a whole bunch of such manju.

- 30 pieces please.

- Hmm? 30 pieces?

- Uh-huh!

The saleswoman was very surprised, but as soon as Fran handed her the money, she immediately started cooking.

- What, is it really tasty? - I was surprised.

- Yes! Master, cook next time too!

- Won! Won! Won!

Looks like they really liked it. This time the chefs tried to develop the recipe. Well, Fran will at least come to the guild in a good mood.

Who knows, maybe if she came in a bad mood, it would rain a bloody rain. This time, it seems, will do without it. Although it was close.

While Fran's name has become known to more people lately and the number of fools challenging her has decreased, the guild has undoubtedly only strengthened her image. Probably because from the very first days in the guild, conflicts arose constantly.

- Let's go to the guild soon.

In response to my words, there was only a contented chomp.

Chapter 392 - Romio's Location

Peeking into the eateries on the way, we finally arrived at the Adventurer's Guild. The atmosphere in the guild was calm, nothing of concern was happening.

Fran is still more famous than I expected.

Among the adventurers there are rumors about the incredible abilities of the girl nicknamed "Princess of Black Lightning", who easily defeated the adventurer of rank "A" and made the famous Colbert her henchman. And if you get in her way, the "curry teacher" student, you will no longer be allowed into the curry establishments.

Not all of these are lies, but they are still largely wrong. This is the effect of a "broken phone". Until this becomes a problem for us, we will not fix anything.

In the building, we met with the head of the guild, Gamudo, with whom we fought against Linford. But, we still didn't know where Gallus was.

"Since Fran-chan inquired about his whereabouts, I tried to find information about it in various sources, but failed.

- That's how ...

After that, we again exchanged information with informant Regus, who had previously investigated where Gallus could be. But it seems that he also did not have information on this matter.

- At least I can say that he did not return to Barubora.

Regus specialized in errands within the city, and his information network was quite serious. So since he says that Gallus did not return, then it is so.

In search of information about Gallus, we came to the blacksmiths guild, but even then no one had a single guess. For a second, I thought that we were just wasting our time ... But suddenly, I heard one very interesting thing.

“Although I thought that Gallus was taken by the Ashton noble family, something has recently begun to happen in the capital. Someone seems to be collecting various materials that the blacksmith might need.

This is actually pretty suspicious.

- And he does not collect it openly ... Several times he lied about his name, sent intermediaries instead of himself, and lied in our eyes.

Undoubtedly, we need to go to the opening of the auction in the capital. We can meet him there, and if not, then he may be associated with the strange activities of the Ashton family.

“It looks like we don't know where Gallus is. So let's go to the shelter, I said.

- Yeah.

Fran's grim expression softened. She probably liked the prospect of seeing the children from the orphanage.

At the entrance to the orphanage there was a doorkeeper who had not been here before. It looks like when Amanda became the boss here, she decided to put more effort into fighting crime.

The gatekeeper was a former adventurer, a half-beast man. And he recognized Fran too. Thanks to this, he let us through without any problems, and as soon as Fran went inside, the children immediately ran to her.

- Ooh, it's Fran!

- Sis Fran!

- And Urusi is here!

That's what I understand a warm welcome! The children, as if not at all noticing the terrible muzzle of Urusi, clung to his fluffy fur, laughing with delight. Urusi was also very happy, it was clear from the way he wagged his tail, lying imposingly on the floor. Children who managed to stroke his tail raised even louder cheers.

Although I thought that the enormous size of Urusi should definitely scare at least some of the children, it seems that no one was scared at all. What brave children are in this shelter. Of course, in this world, children probably should be bolder anyway.

Apparently, having heard the noise of children, one of the adults hastily ran out of the building. They had weapons in their hands, and their faces were extremely stern. Apparently, they decided that someone had attacked the children.

And I recognized their faces. One of the adults was Io-san, who is known as a great cook who can make a great soup from the worst vegetables. But there was someone else with her whom I didn't expect to see.

- Charlotte?

It was the dancer Charlotte who helped us in the fight with Linford.

- Fran-chan? Long time no see. And Urusi-chan is here too!

- Won!

From the conversation it became clear that Charlotte was one of the orphans who grew up in this orphanage. She was very grateful to Fran for making Amanda pay attention to the plight of the orphanage and save him.

- It's so good that it's you, Fran-chan ...

- And what happened?

- Actually...

There was a reason why Charlotte and Io came running so hurriedly for the voice of the children. The fact is that about two days ago, a criminal visited here, for whose head a solid reward was assigned.

- In general, although he was dressed differently, he cannot be confused with anyone. When we fought this unclean giant, I was able to get a close look at him.

- Zelsried ... Why is he here?

For some reason, Zelsried came to this orphanage. Looks like he said he wanted to transfer one boy to the orphanage who looked like he was three. Despite his appearance, he did not act like a cruel criminal with a bounty on his head, his expression was sincere.

- He said that this is the child of his deceased friend, whom he cannot raise on his own. That the children have nothing to do next to him. He was even going to pay to be taken ...

The child looked very tired, apparently, he had a very long journey behind him.

- What is the name of this child?

- As far as I remember, Romio.

I knew it was Romio! That is, Zelsried decided to fulfill the last wish of Murray, which he himself had betrayed before? Why would?

- Where is this child?

- No, the fact is that we did not accept him.

- Why?

It seems that the fact is that Charlotte was not at the orphanage then, and of the adults there was only a teacher, who is not here now. And when she tried to take Romio to her, he began to scream, cry and resist. She said there was nothing she could do. As was the case with Io-san, as soon as Zelsrid hugged him in turn, he immediately stopped crying and even smiled.

It seems that as soon as Zelsried tried to move away from him, he immediately began to cry loudly.

Then she told him that she could not take from a man a child who is so strongly attached to him. She suggested that Zelsried take some more care of him. And if he really can't take care of him, then let him come again.

As a result, not being able to attach Romio here, Zelsrid took the boy in his arms and left. It turns out that Charlotte bumped into him as he was leaving.

- To be honest, he seemed to me a completely different person. Such a calm atmosphere reigned around him that he could not be compared with what he was at our last meeting.

- What, Zelsrida then?

- Yes.

It is impossible to believe in it. Not only did Zelsrid bring Romio to Barubora to give him up to an orphanage, without showing his former cruel disposition, but even the boy himself became attached to him. All this was completely impossible to believe.

- But we could not leave it as it is ...

Although we reported it to the soldiers, they never caught it. Although I must say that ordinary soldiers and knights, even at the cost of their lives, could not even touch him with a finger.

- Zelsried ... What's on his mind?

- Maybe, although he betrayed Murray, he decided to make her such a farewell order, fulfilling her request? I said to Fran.

“But he ended up taking the child with him. What was he going to do with him? To sacrifice? Fran answered me.

Hmm. Did he take it with him simply because feelings awoke in him? Moreover, if the child himself became attached to him.

I looked at Fran. I remembered the time when we were just starting the journey after our first meeting. Perhaps Zelsried felt for Romio the same way I did for Fran then? Then I can understand why he decided not to take the child to an orphanage against his will.

Although this is just my imagination. Considering the worst could happen, maybe we should find out where Zelsried is now? While Fran’s safety comes first, I’m definitely worried about the exact position of that child.

Chapter 393 - Rumors of the Marquis family

At the shelter, Fran and Urushi ate their fill of Io-san's culinary masterpieces. After that, donating ingredients to the shelter, we moved on. Our next target was the Dragon Diner.

- Oh, Fran. Long time no see. ( Fermus)

- Yeah. Hello Fermus. (Fran)

An elderly gentleman came out to meet us, looking good as always. Seeing Fermus leaving the kitchen, one of the visitors raised an enthusiastic cry.

- Today you decided to come and eat with us? (visitor )

- Uh-huh!( fran)

- Ha ha ha. Since when you came last time, you did not find me, today I will show you everything that my cooking is capable of. What, this wolf is not with you?( Fermus)

- He's in the shadows.( Fran)

- If you don't mind, then let me cook for everyone. After all, you fought against evil spirits together. (Fermus)

- Won-won!(Urushi)

He already left , Fran didn't even have time to say anything. Well, since the last time they failed to eat at the Dragon Eatery, they probably wanted to eat this time.

- Well, what do you want to eat

- everything ( Fran )

- Haha. Understood

Fermus was not surprised, as if he already knew that Fran was big eater. Immediately he turned around and went into the kitchen. Last time we were able to taste only the food of his student, this same Fermus will cook for us.

The first thing that the female worker, whom we have seen before, brought in was dragon bone soup, one of the signature dishes. However, it was yellowish.

- New recipe, Dragon Bone Curry Soup

Apparently, he also decided to follow the curry fashion.

- What do you think? I asked.( master)

Fran said nothing, just continued to swallow the broth.

It looks very tasty.

- So what do you think?

- Gorgeous. A bit sour, but okay. (Fran)

- Won-won!!(Urushi)

- Really? I am Very glad to hear it from you!

Probably, the curry here was more like Thai than Indian. As expected from Fermus, he only had one hint to make such a curry.

With each new dish that was brought, Fran and Urushi were increasingly anticipating how delicious they would be. among 10 dishes were meat, the same that they had eaten before. After tasting a bite, Fran nodded, but suddenly thought.

- What? I asked. ( Master)

“It’s delicious, of course, but Fermus cooks better,” Fran told me.

- Eh ... its tasty ?

The voice belonged to a student of Fermus. It looks like he was cooking it. That's how, amazingly, she understood it from one taste. Fran praised the apprentice's cooking, saying it tasted better than the last time, not daring to say that the taste was inferior to Fermus's. Let him continue to work in the same spirit.

After that, Fran and Urushi tasted a variety of dishes, until finally they were full.

Our final destination awaited us at Barubor, the headquarters of the Lucille trading company.

As expected, it was a large company, and Fran realized this as soon as she entered the building. Or was it because she remembered coming here before?

The girl at the front desk stood up to bow politely to the guests. In addition, there was also a boy who looked like a local apprentice, who immediately hurried to her.

-long time no see , lady Fran. What bring you here today? (girl)

- Is Rengil here? (Fran)

- I will now check if he is in place, wait a little.(girl)

As soon as the girl left, the apprentice boy ran out after her. So she went to tell Rengil about Fran's visit.

- Come here. (girl )

The girl from the front desk invited us to sit down. Then, almost immediately, another employee came in in the uniform of a maid, with tea and cakes. The cups and saucers were decorated with beautiful paintings and the cakes were unusually decorated.

Considering that the other traders had simple cups, this should have been a gesture of good relations. Fran seemed a little unhappy that only sweets were brought to tea, recalling the past with nostalgia. Does it mean that steaks for tea in the Land of demi-humans seemed strange to me, or what?

“Fran, you’ve been eating recently, are you sure you’ll eat everything?” I asked. (master)

At first she ate in open shops, then in a shelter, and finally - in a "Dragon's Eatery" ... She should have overeat herself long ago.

- M? Of course.( Fran)

She gladly put the cake in her mouth, as if she had not eaten before, but put all the food in the Spatial Storage.

- Maybe you won't mock yourself like that? (Master)

- I always have a place for sweets.(Fran

I, of course, do not mind that Fran ate deliciously, but still ... Lately, I notice that she is becoming more and more insatiable. Although, given how much Fran moves, she doesn't have to worry about being overweight. But I'll have to think of something if I notice signs of excess weight in her.

While Fran was devouring the cakes, the girl had already returned and escorted us to Captain Rengil's room.

- you decided to return to Barubora?(Rengil)

- Yeah. I'm moving on soon, so I stopped by to say hello. (Fran)

- Oh ! I'm flattered.(Rengil)

- Also, I would like to buy spices.(Fran)

Although now the prices for spices are somewhat overpriced, we can still afford them now. Without further ado, we were given the right amount to buy.

- Well, if you are in the city, come visit again .(Rengil)

- Yeah.(Fran)

Since Captain Rengil knew Fran owned the Space Vault, he did not ask us any questions about transportation.

After that, we asked Rengil about Gallus and Zelsrid, but it seems he could not say anything.

However, we learned something else interesting about the Ashton family of marquis.

- This family is now in a difficult situation...(Rengil)

- Tough situation?(Fran)

-The Marquis Ashton received a guild accusation about his son, Serudio, who was an adventurer. As an A-rank adventurer, rumors began to swirl around him, and few people trusted him. Now that he has already lost his life, his numerous atrocities are surfaced. (Rengil)

Rank A Adventurer Serudio, we killed him in Urmu! For molesting Fran, trying to extort me from her, and for filthy offers to make Fran his concubine, he got what he deserved. Then we used the story of the Divine punishment that will befall the one who equips me, so that he himself, in fact, died from the curse of the sword in his stupidity.

However, Diaz, the head of the guild from Urmu, has already said something about the fact that he wants to solve the crimes committed by Serudio to the other heads of the guild. Apparently, he really did it. So the accused are the Marquis's family? Are they not afraid of anything?

- How can the guild afford to quarrel with the noble family of the Marquis?(Fran)

- Now they can. Still, thanks to the fact that the state helped the guild, the noble family seems to have paid all the compensation in full. (Rengil)

The guild had oral testimony from a respected A-rank adventurer, and evidence in the form of magical herbs. In addition, since the country did not want to spoil relations with the adventurer's guild, they decided to throw all the blame on Serudio.

Considering that they also have testimonies from Serudio's henchmen that the Ashton family ordered him to seek the Divine Swords, it was not without the usual scandal that lowered the trust in the family. The state itself is now watching them closely.

- Recently, their dark financial affairs have been revealed. Since our company also had to trade with the Marquis family, I can say that many times they did not pay their bills. (Rengil)

- I see

Rengil did not know that Fran was involved with Serudio's death. It looks like Diaz hasn't leaked unnecessary information. But it's hard to believe that with so many witnesses, Fran's involvement was so well hidden. I don't know if the Ashton family is aware of this.

If so, then they can not only hide where Gallus is, but also harbor a grudge against Fran. It would be better to be more attentive when meeting the Ashton family.

The next destination is Urmut, so I'll probably need to talk to Diaz.

Chapter 394 -Return to Urmut

After finishing our business in Barbra, our next destination before the capital was Ulmutt.

First of all, we went to the Demi-Human Country on behalf of Diaz, the Head of the Adventurers' Guild in Ulmutt.

Specifically, the assignment to find a missing adventurer from the Black Cat clan. That is, Kiara.

Although I earlier took the position that Fran's safety is paramount, after a personal meeting with Kiara, and watching her death with my own eyes, it was impossible not to report this to Diaz.

Since the Martial Arts Tournament has not yet faded from the memory of the locals, Fran found herself in the spotlight. As we walked along the streets of the city, people constantly looked back at her. If we had stopped, they would have surrounded us. In addition, almost all of them are adventurers.

It seemed that the adventurers who had arrived in town for the Martial Arts Tournament were still there.

“Why are you looking at that girl like that?” (Adventurer 1)

“Oh, you don't know?” (Adventurer 2)

“I don't.” (“Adventurer 1)

“That's the Black Lightning Princess!” (Adventurer 2)

“Only because you’re a beginner...” (Adventurer 2)

Here and there, people exchanged similar statements. There is nothing to be done, a beginner cannot just look at someone and understand the true power. For a long time nothing happened, but not far from the guild, a situation occurred.

These are probably adventurers who have sunk to the bottom, just waiting for a chance to cheat newcomers that are heading to the guild out of their hard earned rewards.

On the surface, they look like bandits more than they do adventurers. What are these fur vests for - Are they for protection? To keep warm? Especially those three, one with a skinhead and two with Mohawks, seemed particularly unfriendly.

Unfortunately for them, they are extremely weak, to the point it's trifling. It seems like they'll soon turn 40, but they haven't learnt anything... Apparently, not daring to face the dangers, they wasted away their days gambling and hunting weak animals in order to somehow live longer. In other words, these adventure seekers have neither willpower nor a vision of the future.

I wouldn't say that that's bad. A lot of people have become adventurers just to be able to earn a living. But if you bother others with your behaviour, then that's another story.

“Quickly, I said!” (Adventurer 4)

When the men began to surround us with practised movements, luring us into an alley right next to the guild. If we were any ordinary newcomer, we most likely would not have been able to go against the crowd of strong men, and would have complied.

“Ghe-he-he, in Ulmutt, it looks like there are plenty of small fries.”
(Adventurer 3)

“Come over here fast!” (Adventurer 4)

When Rumina, the Dungeon Master of the Ulmutt dungeon, helped Fran evolve, she used up her dungeon’s powers, and thanks to that the rating of the dungeon itself fell. Along with that, the rank of the monsters that emerge from there fell, and with this the extraction of trophies and materials from them.

As a result, the income of the guild and its adventurers fell, so to compensate for the losses, the guild began inviting newcomers to this place. ...And these idiots are waiting for them here, like some kind of prey.

“Hey girl! what took you so lo-- ugh!” (Adventurer 3)

“Oi you! Sto-- gah!” (Adventurer 4)

“HEY, yo-- gah!” (Adventurer 5)

It's good that Fran is in a good mood right now. She just decided to hit everyone at once. And all because she ate well before she came to town. If she had been in a bad mood, then she might have used me.

These men were already lying on the ground, spitting blood.

“You seem to have overdid it a little...” I said.

“Nn. A little.” (Fran)

Fran planned to let them get off with one or two broken bones, but it looks like she ended up breaking 4-5 ribs each, damaging internal organs at the same time. Apparently she got a little nervous and didn't hold back.

Although, it seems like the first one got a little bit more of a beating than the third. Perhaps the third one has a slightly better skill control. She wounded the first at 80% of his life, and the third at 70%.

She only planned for them to pass out, and not receive such injuries. A complete failure on her part. But I am the type of person who loves to praise more than scold.

“The third one survived it a little better than the others, right?” (Master)

“Nn. Be fine. Probably.” (Fran)

Instead of pointing out her flaws, it's best to praise her. And why do so many idiots still come at us? Although, if it happens it a hundred times more, it would be a good skill control training for Fran.

Oh well, let's let it be. Adventurers are everywhere. Rumours are scattered at the expense of time.

Apparently, having heard the noise outside, someone left the guild.

“Hey, what's all this noise?” (Elsa)

“Elsa?” (Master)

“Mm? Who's that? Fran! Long time no see!” (Elsa)

A sturdy man emerged from the building, who might have been called a macho if not for his permanent red Afro hairstyle and thick layer of makeup. And these tight clothes too.

It was B rank adventurer Baldy... Or rather, Elsa.

Despite the fact that he was a macho man with a feminine manner, his strength was really worth reckoning with. Considering that A Rank Adventurers and above are already considered superhuman heroes, Elsa easily towered above most adventurers.

In addition, despite her appearance, she was quite caring, and helped Fran often.

Not that it will atone for her perverted trans-bi-masochistic aura that she is spreading around her, though!

“I am soooo~ glad that we met again!” (Elsa)

“Nn. Diaz, is here?” (Fran)

“Yes, he’s in the building. But those guys on the ground, have they really done something to offend you?” (Elsa)

“Nn.” (Fran)

“Well, the fact that they can not understand who’s standing in front of them... it's nothing but their own fault! Okay. Eric, Kane. (Elsa)

“Yes!” (Eric)

“What?” (Kane)

“Can you throw these guys into the infirmary with the others for me? I have a conversation with Fran-chan.” (Elsa) --Note: Leaving in “chan” for character effect--

“Got it!” (Eric)

“Understood!” (Kane)

As always, the adventurers in this city obey Elsa without a second thought. However, I can understand why they do not want to contradict her. Under the gaze of onlookers, by order of Elsa, they took on these idiots and carried them away somewhere.

“So, you have some business with the guild head?” (Elsa)

“Nn.” (Fran)

“Heeee~~, of course, he’s always sitting in his office, but right now he’s talking with grandfather Aurel. Can you wait a bit? From what I hear, they haven't finished yet.” (Elsa)

“I need to talk to Aurel as well.” (Master)

“Mm? Is that so? Then I can ask if Fran can join.” (Elsa)

“Yes, please do.” (Master)

“Aha. All for the sake of Fran-chan!” (Elsa)

Before leaving, Elsa couldn’t resist giving Fran a wink. Ooooh, I haven't been thrown into such cold for a long time! I shuddered a little.

“What is it, Master?” Fran asked.

“Fran, you yourself did not feel anything just now?” (Master)

“Just now?” (Fran)

“Nevermind. Pay no attention.” (Master)

Oh, it's hard for me to bear Elsa.

Chapter 395 - Reaction to Story

It's been 10 minutes since Elsa left to tell Diaz and Aurel about Fran's arrival.

Finally, we went to the guild master's office. Inside, we found two elderly men drinking tea.

One of them looked like he resembled a nobleman; his grey hair, neatly combed back, as well as everything else about him, indicated that despite his age he didn't forget about his appearance.

The other person was a similarly grey-haired, sturdy elderly man.

From the way his large muscles showed through the haori, it was clear that he never stopped training. His gaze was piercing and heavy, just like a mafia leader.

“Oh, Fran! Long time no see.” (Diaz)

“Lady Fran, so you came to Ulmutt after all.” (Aurel)

Their smiles were completely different: Diaz had a radiant, warm smile, while Aurel of the White Dog race had more of a smug grin.

Both of them met Kiara when she was still living in Ulmutt, and so had decided to search for her when she went missing.

“Fran! It's so good that you are came back!” (???)

“Doll, is talking?” (Fran)

On the table where the two men were sitting, there was something that looked like a doll, no more than 20 centimetres in height. The doll had a human figure, but it was clearly crafted very skilfully, like the finest figurines from my home world.

And then a voice came from her. However, I had heard that voice before.

“This voice... Rumina?” (Fran)

“Yes. At the moment, she is inside this doll.” (Diaz)

Even though I thought that the Dungeon Lord was unable leave the dungeon, it seems like there are a few workarounds. On that note, the doll really did look like Rumina.

“What are you doing here?” (Fran)

“I’m discussing issues related to the management of the dungeon.”
(Rumina)

Why are all three of the city rulers, Diaz, Aurel and Rumina, present? And we arrived at such a surprisingly convenient moment. Nevertheless, we need to inform the people in this room about Kiara.

“What’s wrong?” (Rumina)

“Nn. I came to Diaz with a report on behalf of the guild.” (Fran)

“Oh, is that so?” (Diaz)

“Nn.” (Fran)

“Well, young lady, regarding the report...” (Aurel)

“Did you learn of Kiara’s whereabouts?” (Rumina)

“Yeah. I met her.” (Fran)

Aurel and Rumina immediately reacted with surprise to Fran's words,

“Oh!” (Rumina)

“Really?!” (Aurel)

“So what happened.” (Diaz)

Diaz got down to business when Fran’s face didn’t lighten up. Diaz and Aurel sensed this and corrected their sitting postures. Rumina, although in doll form, seems to have changed her expression to a more serious one.

Diaz could tell that Aurel didn’t intend to hide what the assignment relating to Kiara was about, and it seems that he didn’t mind that everyone present heard the report.

“Kiara was in the Beast-Kin Country.” (Fran)

“I see, as I expected.” (Diaz)

“How is she?” (Aurel)

“Is she alright? Did she evolve?” (Rumina)

“We met with Kiara in the Beast-Kin Country’s Capital...” (Fran)

Fran told them everything that happened after meeting Kiara, all of the events, battles, and struggles. Diaz, Aurel and Rumina listened very closely to what she was saying.

They couldn’t hide their happiness when Fran talked about when she met Kiara, the battles with the army of demonic beasts, and about how Kiara came to her aid.

Of course, she didn't say everything. There was a lot that was worth keeping secret; both about Alistair and myself. Surely, experienced people like Diaz and the others should have realized that Fran had something to hide. However, they shouldn’t doubt what Fran was saying.

Despite their emotions, they all listened attentively to what Fran was saying.

But when the report approached the event of trip to the dungeon, their faces immediately darkened. From Fran's tone alone, they knew that some kind of misfortune was about to happen.

By the time Fran finished the report with Kiara's death, none of them were remotely excited.

“Kiara...” (Diaz)

Diaz jumped from the couch with emotion, but immediately fell back on it, as if he lost all his energy, and sighed loudly with a blank look. He sat there, motionless. But it was evident that his hands were reddened to the very tips of his fingers from the strength with which he had been holding them together in front of him.

“I see... she hadn't changed at all... even up until the end...” (Aurel)

Aurel was in a similar state. Hanging his head, he wiped away his tears and sniffed. Nonetheless, he perfectly understood why everything happened like this. After all, he was just like her, a battle-obsessed warrior.

Rumina held on tighter than the others. However, for some reason, she seemed even happy.

“I see she managed to evolve. And as a Heavenly Black Tiger...” (Rumina)

Rumina probably understood Kiara better than anyone else. Instead of feeling sad about her death, she was glad that Kiara managed to spend her final years in happiness, achieving evolution, and emerging victorious from battle.

Soon, there was silence in the room, and then Aurel slowly raised his head and said:

“Young Lady... You said that Kiara smiled in the last moments of her life?” (Aurel)

“Nn.” (Fran)

“Then, in your opinion, was it a sincere smile?” (Aurel)

“Of course.” (Fran)

“I see... Then it's fine.” (Aurel)

It seems that he was having a hard time accepting the news of the death of his girlfriend, whom he had been searching for for many years. I heard Aurel whisper to himself over and over again.

“...Zelosried...”

Diaz muttered the word in a choked voice. Despite his restraint, I could understand all the rage he put into that word. Even though there was no emotion on his face, it made him look even more terrifying.

“Diaz, Kiara told me not to do stupid things trying to avenge her.” (Fran)

“I see. So revenge for her is stupidity. Is that how you watched the veteran's death? I would like to understand how you can be satisfied with the death of someone who is close to you...” (Diaz)

The head of the guild understood that not everyone wanted to leave it like this.

“But still, I... I cannot accept this news as calmly as you do. Perhaps this is because I am a human being, but as long as this dirty, low, hated enemy continues to live somewhere, I will not give up on my revenge.” (Diaz)

Diaz's words sounded subdued, but I saw a dark fire in his eyes. I don't know what he's going to do, but he will certainly never forget the name of Zelosried.

But realizing that he would be troubling Fran if he continued to say such things, he immediately changed his tone to a friendlier one.

“By the way, I thought that Kiara had a hard time in the Beast-Kin Country. So she still lived happily. This alone makes me quite happy.” (Diaz)

Even without a the Principle of Truth, I knew that this wasn't what he really thought, but I didn't want to point it out. After all, no matter what Fran says, Diaz will not be honest.

"Of course, it would be nice if she was alive, but... This is just the essence of time. It's not new to me to hear that one of my friends died, without me even knowing about it..." (Diaz)

"Gha-ha-ha-ha! You are right, Diaz. On the contrary, consider that Fran was present at the death of Kiara in our place. You should be grateful to her!" (Aurel)

"Perhaps you are right. Furthermore, she helped to show what it takes for the Black Cat-kin to evolve. We are all grateful to her for that." (Rumina)

While the three of them were ultimately unable to figure out how to respond to the news of Kiara's death, Fran was delighted.

Because Fran had both love and respect for Kiara. And she was glad that there was someone to tell her story to. It was new for Fran to tell such a long story, and her hands were even a bit tired from the many gestures she used to tell her story.

Chapter 396 - Again about Serudio

When Fran finally finished talking about Kiara, it was time for her to listen to Diaz . Aurel and Lumina immediately left the room.

“I would like to tell you something about a man named Serudio.(Diaz)

- By the way regarding, him, I completely forget about him. ( Master)

Sorry Diaz, Fran doesn't remember who is it. Even though she remembers some annoying nobleman to whom she handed me over, after which he died, she completely forgot both his name and face. However, this shows how insignificant he was for Fran.

- Have you ever met the Marquis Ashton?(Diaz)

- No.(Fran)

“But after leaving Urmut, we will head to the capital,” I said.

- I see. It's because of auction?(Diaz)

- Yeah.(Fran)

Fran told that since the blacksmith Gallus took on some top secret assignment from the Ashton family, he has gone.

- Yes, I heard that he went to Barubora. So the rumors about his disappearance are true.(Diaz)

“Looks like the Ashton family is collecting materials for blacksmithing,” I said.

- Oh, really? So the Ashton family really took Gallus? It looks extremely suspicious...(Diaz)

-We promised Gallus that we would meet in the capital. Given the circumstances we wont be able do that without running into the Marquis's family. Therefore, I would like to know exactly how the Serudio incident developed, in particular - what the Marquis's family might know about Fran. (Master)

- I see .(Diaz)

Apparently, the first thing that Diaz did after our "quarrel" with Serudio was to arrange for his subordinates to interrogate , extracting as much information from them as possible.

- However, I heard from them everything that I wanted to believe myself...(Diaz)

The words "that he himself wanted to believe" sounded very creepy. Although Fran did not notice this, in response to leading questions, he allowed himself to tell only that information convenient to him.

- However, last time it did not go so well...(Diaz)

- And what happened?(Master)

- Under the auspices of the Ashton family, a nobleman named Baron Holmes , this guy was another pain in the neck for us. He had the skill of seeing through lies and was given a very important job...(Diaz)

Hmm? I've heard it somewhere. A skill to see through lies?

- Have you heard of a man named Viscount Alsand? i believe You have been in Ares, so I wouldn't be surprised if you know him...(Diaz)

Exactly! The same Viscount from whom I took away the Deception Control. Auguste Alsand. Exactly, then his father is Viscount Holmes.

- This skill was a big problem for us. It's called "Managing Deception" and not only exposes a lie, it can make anyone believe a lie. Just think about what you can achieve using this skill wisely...(Diaz)

“Interrogations will be useless,” I said.

- Right. For example, if that viscount interfered in the testimony of Serudio's , subordinates they would simply lead us on the wrong track...(Diaz)

In fact, Auguste tried to used his skill in the same way on Fran, obviously plotting a fraud.

- True, at some point, Viscount Alsand simply took and lost his skill in discovering lies. Without that skill, he became a burden to his family and went under house arrest. The affairs of the family of Baron Holmes rolled downhill. Thanks to this, the Ashton family can no longer manipulate with truth and lies. .(Diaz)

But I took the Deception Control skill from Alsand only in retaliation for trying to deceive Fran. I never thought that this story will be bringed up one more time .

- Having magic herbs as evidence, he could not get out. Since Serudio had the title of viscount, responsibility for his crimes fell on the family of Viscounts Reseps. Although the marquis family did not have to be responsible for them, there are rules for the guild representatives. So all the guild leaders whom Serudio annoyed decided to do this. .(Diaz)

Diaz made an odd gesture, slapping his neck. And it didn't seem to mean "Getting punished ." Undoubtedly, it meant "Head off the shoulders."

In conversation, Diaz appeared to be a good-natured old man, , but he was also a seasoned guild manager. To those who encroached on his power, he knew no mercy.

“Speaking of Serudio’s death, I tried to hide Fran’s involvement as best I could. For those who were at the place of his death, Elsa-kun made a very serious conversation. However, it will still be difficult to hide everything completely .(Diaz)

- Its cant be helped (Master)

- that's why , various rumors had spread...(Diaz)

- Different rumors? I asked.

- Yes, that the cause of Serudio's death was either the magic sword of a certain adventurer, or I, or Forund-kun. . Although there is actually a rumor that he died from the sword of the Black Lightning Princess, you are too popular a person in this city. So, on the contrary, it would be strange if such a rumor did not exist. I don't think many people think that this rumor is true...(Diaz)

If you need to hide a something, put in the most noticeable place. It" fit to that situation.

“Moreover, since Serudio’s death, all subsequent interrogations and persecutions attract more attention. How much attention do you think Forund and I are, given our lively interrogation and other activities? .(Diaz)

- I see. And you and Forund are not worried about your safety? - I asked a question.

- Ha ha ha ha dont worry about us. we "A"rank adventur or who? Adventurers do have the potential to make an impact on an entire country. Whoever challenges one of us will become an enemy to all of us. And the family of the Marquis will not make such a stupid thing .(Diaz)

- Well, if that's true ...(Master)

“But it will still be difficult to completely hide Fran-san's involvement in this. Be very careful while meeting with the Ashton family...(Diaz)

- Yeah. Got it...(Master)

After talking with Diaz, there was still the last place in Urmut where we should have collected information. yes, we must go to the dungeon where Rumina had returned. We were immediately transported there by the spatial gate. Since we informed her that we will pay her a visit , she was already to welcome us with open arms.

The first thing we talked about was Murray. Although we've talked enough about Kiara, there was another member of the Black Cat family that I should have tell to Rumina about.

However, rumina's reaction was not as violent as we expected. She hung her head down, nostalgia and regret mixed in hre expression . Perhaps all this time she thought that Murray would never return.

For Rumina, Mureria was a memory of 500 years ago. Moreover, sharing the same bloodline with her, Rumina knew those whose lives were destroyed by the Dark God.

- Its you ... Lady ... Mureria ...(Rumina )

I could not understand what feelings swirl in her heart, but for a while Rumina remained silent.

After that, while Fran and Urushi were drinking tea with steaks, Lumina and I, who had already calmed down, moved to a separate room. Since I could not sit at the chair opposite Lumina, I lied down on the table.

- I apologize. There is something I would like to hear...(Rumina )

"Something Fran shouldn't hear?"(Master)

“Mm, Its not the case , but ...(Rumina )

I told her what I heard from Murray during that meeting with her in the dungeon. After that, I told that I was a follower of the Goddess of Chaos, and at the same time I have no connection with the Lord of the dungeon.

- Rumina, did it happen that you could not tell Fran about how to evolve? Could it be that you could only speak in my presence?(Master)

- Oh, I understand.(Master)

“So maybe it's even easier for you to talk when Fran is gone. So can I talk to you alone for now?(Master)

- I have nothing against it . So what would you like to hear?.(Rumina )

- What does it mean to be a follower of the Goddess of Chaos?(Master)

I talked to both the Goddess of Chaos and Murray, but I never understood it. Although I do understand a thing or two about those associated with her.

- How to tell who the followers are ... Followers of God are those whom God created with his own hand, and those who received some kind of power from God...(Rumina )

- And which of these cases is mine (Master)

“Hmm... Of course, I don't know, but most likely the follower of the Goddess of Chaos must have something to do with the dungeon...(Rumina )

- Do you think so?(Master)

- Unlike other Gods, the Goddess of Chaos does not show up herself in this world in any way outside the dungeons. The magic of the Goddess of Chaos is intended for the Lords of the dungeon exclusively for managing the dungeon, so until now there has not been such a thing that the Goddess of Chaos created some kind of living creature. As far as I know, the followers of the Goddess of Chaos are those monsters that are under the control of the Dungeon Lord...(Rumina )

So, am I one of them? After all, I probably am not the Lord of the dungeon. So, when I was created, the power of the dungeon was transferred to me? Besides, could that mysterious soul that is sealed inside me be a follower of the Goddess of Chaos?

- In the end, I have no obtain any useful information (Master)

I am deeply sorry , but here another and final chapter for today , once again without editing .

Chapter 397 - queue

Chapter 397 -queue

it was the morning of the second day since we left Urmut.

- it's the capital?(Fran

- it should be . I don't think there are any other cities of such magnitude, I replied.

- its Huge.(Fran)

From the back of Urushi, gracefully running in the sky, the surface of a giant city became visible. Barubora, of course, was also a large city, but could not be compared with the large-scale greatness of the capital. City was even larger than the, capital of the beastmen country.

Even the fortress walls were of unprecedented size. They were twice as tall as the trees from the forest surrounding the capital. More than 50 meters in height . Probably, there are such demonic beasts in this world that only this size can ensure the safety of the city.

In addition, these walls did not look rough and utilitarian, the walls and towers with spiers were beautifully finished, which only enhanced the impression of the city view. As befits a capital, she combined pomp and reliability in her image.

The capital was located southeast of Aressa, which was in the northern part of the country, and northeast of Urmut, which was in the southern part of the country. That is, slightly east of the geographic center of the country. It seems that at the time of the founding of the Kingdom of Cranzer, the center of the country was here, but over the long years of its existence, the territory of the country has grown, and the capital ended up being east of the center.

I heard that about 200 years ago they wanted to move the capital closer to the sea, but considering the cost of money and ore for this project, this venture was abandoned. Well, yes, I can imagine how much money is needed to rebuild such a capital.

“Come on, let's go down there,” I said.

- Woow!(Urushi )

- Nn.(Fran)

As always, having reached the outskirts of the capital, we went to the entrance gate. A long queue immediately appeared on the way to the capital. Although there was also a long line at the entrance to Urmut, this one was much longer.

Although Diaz warned us about it before we left Urmut, its actual scale exceeded my expectations. All because the visitors to the auction arrived. If the line lined up straight, it would stretch so far from the capital that people at the end of it would have to fight off demonic beasts somewhere in the woods. Therefore, people lined up along the walls.

The area was patrolled by soldiers and knights, in addition to guards, who also looked after the order in the queue.

- It's hard, but it's cant be helped. We will obediently wait, ”I said.

- Nn.(Fran)

We went to the very end of the line. Having descended to the ground, we could not see its end at all.

Although in line, in Urmut I saw many people who traded with each other in line, but here the scale was different. The liveliness of trade in this line would be comparable, probably, to the market in some small village.

There were kiosks and ordinary shops in the open air. These benches may be easy to build, but is it really worth it? Since the line was moving slowly, everyone had enough time to properly examine all the goods.

Many of them were selling what looked like good old ekiben (packed breakfasts usually sold at train stations) from my native Japan. Although, probably, there is something completely different inside, to which I am not used.

It looks like there will be something to do in the queue.

- I see the end, over there.(Fran)

- What aa big line , - I said.

It seems that at least 3 thousand people are lined up here. Since there are separate gates for the townspeople and the aristocracy, where preliminary registration is required, this is especially surprising. So almost all people in this queue either visit the capital for the first time, or come here less often than once a year. That is, these are the participants in the auction.

I was already beginning to worry if we could meet Gallus in time. Okay, we'll think about the details when we get to the capital.

“This is going to take a long time, so let's relax,” I said.

- Nn.(Fran

- Wow!(Urushi )

This time, Urushi was next to us. even though I thought it was worth ordering him to hide in the shadows, there were enough other people with demonic beasts. Demonic wolves stood in line with the owners, and there were even huge horses under 3 meters, harnessed to a large trade cart.

With all this in mind, there is nothing wrong with leaving Urusi with us. Of course, in his gigantic form, he would panic in line. In general, it was worthwhile to clearly show everyone around that we have a familiar.

With Urusi, some small fry won't dare to cling to us, and even Fran will be comfortable sitting on it.

“Well, let's play game of words,” Fran suggested.

- Oh, you haven't played for a long time, have you?(Master)

- woof -woof!(Urushi )

For some reason, she really liked the game we played in line at Urmut. Since we have plenty of time, why not play around until Fran gets bored.

We spent two hours like this. We still haven't made much progress in the line .

By this point, she was already tired of the word games, so now she was playing with Urushi in reverse. Fran, for obvious reasons, moved the pieces behind Urusi.

By this point, many people in line have acquired board games that they bought in stores. Great business comes out, so skillfully exploit people's position.

By the way, before the reverse, Fran and Urushi had time to play tic-tac-toe, but by the hundredth game they were bored to death.

While we waited, we were not only playing games. We had tea breaks, snacks, and even made friends with the merchants who stood behind and in front of us in line.

Before us stood a dried fruit merchant, Rab-san, who was 31 years old. Having bought dried grapes and apple chips from him for a snack, we managed friends with him.

Behind us stood the aromatic wood merchant, Menan-san, who was 41 years old. Unlike Rab, he had a wagon. It was an open wagon pulled by a donkey.

In order to cook bloated meat later, we bought some aromatic wood, and have talk. Looking at the game in Reversi Fran and Urushi, they both had a good conversation.

“ no, young lady. Not this wrong You need do it like this (.Rab)

- But then he will do it .(Rab)
- Definitely. If he does so, then do such turn .(Rab)
- Nn, I get it.(Fran)

In the same vein as Rab-san discussed the game with Fran, Menan-san talked with Urushi.

- Hey, Urushi. make this turn...(Rab)
- woof-woof?(Urushi )
- You will soon be pushing to the coner . But if you keep doing turns like this, you can always slip away.(Urushi )
- Woof woof ...(Urushi )

This uncle with a serious face discusses moves in reverse with a wolf. Crazy picture. But since it was not a mystery to anyone that among the demonic beasts there are many who are comparable in intelligence to humans, Menan-san did not feel discomfort about this. He spoke to Urushi very seriously.

- Ooh. (passerby )
- Indeed...(passerby )

Every now and then all sorts of suspicious persons passed by us slowly. They didn't do much, they just looked at Fran strangely and went back and forth. Do they think that we do not notice it?

Moreover, almost all of these strange passers-by were half-beasts. Probably, news about the Princess of Black Lightning is already well known among the half-beasts in this line.

Although we used the "Conceal Evolution" skill, so even the beastmens shouldn't know that Fran evolved, but ... Most likely, since there were many who saw the evolved Fran at the martial arts tournament in Urmut, it was already impossible to stop the spread of rumors that the Princess Black Lightning Princess has evolved.

So Fran, a girl from the Black Cat clan, with a wolf familiar, easily gave herself away as the very Princess of Black Lightning. Perhaps there were those who had already seen Fran alive in Urmu. So these glances from the - beastsmen seemed to be only intended to make sure Fran was exactly the Princess of Black Lightning. I felt no malice, nothing but respect. Even here her fans.

- Don't you notice? I asked.

- What?(Fran )

It seems that having visited the Beastmen's country , she is already accustomed to increased attention from passers-by. So Fran was completely didn't mind then . Then I'll leave it as it is. I can't say this directly, so there is not much choice.

t/n edited version will be later on

Chapter 398 - lost in the streets

We have been fourth hours in the line at the entrance to the capital. We were finally able to get to the capital.

Unlike Urmur or Bestia, we have not had any conflicts with other adventurers, which is already a plus.

Having passed the check at the entrance and parting with the merchants, we first went to the Adventurer's Guild. The fact is that the head of the adventurers guild in Barubor, Gamudo, told us to show the letter of recommendation to the guild master first.

Since this place exist for more than a thousand years old, many buildings in the capital looked very ancient. We had not yet reached the main street with shops and other establishments, and walked along an alley, both sides of which were lined with blackened stone buildings. Although I don't think they have never been rebuilt in a thousand years, they were definitely one or two hundred years old.

Plus, the alleys were narrow. It was practically a maze. Apparently, these were private and apartment buildings, built without observing the urban layout.

The reason I have immersed myself in these reflections is that we are now truly lost.

“Oh, since we didn't know the shortcut for sure, we had to stay on the avenue,” I said.

- Maybe we will jump?(Fran)

- No, in the capital we should not draw attention . Let's look a little more for the way on main street.

- Got it.

The surroundings of the fortress walls looked more neat. But the part of the city where we were located was very ancient, the buildings around us referred to those times when the capital was expanding most vigorously.

There were buildings that looked like apartment buildings, with a a lot of narrow alleys stretching between them. Many of the apartment buildings had shops on the ground floor, so the voices of inviting merchants echoed in the narrow alleys.

From time to time we passed underground passages and tunnels piercing through buildings. Fran and Urusi were in a good mood.

If this place is deserted, like some ghost town, you like it or not, you will feel anxiety and fear. But the place where we were was hardly quiet.

Cheap taverns and public canteens, and other suspicious establishments came across every corner, and we walked among the tipsy townspeople, flirtatious-looking women, and whatever you look at, not very decent-looking men. From everywhere came menacing male voices, now charming female voices.

This place was definitely not very good for living, but at the same time it felt a kind of chaos and ardor.

Surprisingly, Fran liked that. She probably had nothing against such a lively atmosphere. Despite the fact that we were lost, she walked briskly and in high spirits.

And she completely ignored the evaluating glances directed in our direction and the feeling of someone's presence behind our back. Given his clumsy attempts to hide his presence, he was not our enemy.

After many unsuccessful attempts to hide from our skill of presence recognition, he finally felt the real power of Fran, and fell behind. Simply put, our annoying pursuer once again turned out to be a small fry.

“Hmm, I can't get out of here,” I said.

Due to the fact that everything around was densely built up with four and five-story buildings , we could not even see the landmark in the form of a royal palace or a large temple, so we got lost. Although Fran has the skill “Sense of Direction” , and she should have roughly understood where to go, but ... Considering how many dead ends and unexpected turns there were in this place, it was not particularly useful.

“We need to learn the way,” Fran said.

- Well, we have no choice . (Master )

The only question is, whom to ask ... Anyone in one of the establishments nearby?

While I was thinking about it, Fran suddenly turned 180 degrees. After that, she went to the diametrically opposite side from where we were going before.

- Fran, what are you doing?(Master)

- I know the way.(Fran)

I didn't even have time to ask who she was going to find out from.

- Excuse me, how do I get into the Adventurer's Guild?(Fran)

- How the hell did you notice me?(Men)

The voice belonged to a young man who had followed Fran's trail for almost half an hour. Probably one of the locals. Although he was surprised to be noticed, did he really hope to go unnoticed?

I don't think he was following Fran, or anything like that. If the goal was surveillance, then he would carefully hide his presence, and moved on his heels very carefully. So he didn't even follow Fran. Apparently, therefore, Fran's instincts did not find him hostile. Or at least not considered an enemy worthy of attention.

“I want to join the Adventurer's Guild. (Fran)

- Huh? Guild?(Men)

I thought the young man would answer in a rude manner but , he remained surprisingly calm. Although Fran looked weak at first glance, the sword on her back and her good ability to recognize presence hinted at her strength. Besides, she had a wolf with her.

Perhaps instead of robbing us, he decided to try to pull a coin or two from us safely.

- Of course, it's not hard for me to tell , but what do you have ...

- Hey, wait !(Men 2)

With a vile expression on his face, the young man was already ready to demand payment for information, when someone interrupted him in mid-sentence. This voice belonged to a grown man with a piercing gaze.

He set off after us about the same time that the young man followed us. From the way he stalked us, I can tell that he is pretty good at it. He was comparable to the exploration adventurers, and his fighting power was appropriate.

It seems that Fran also realized that this man should not be underestimated. However, his gaze did not intersect with Fran, but was directed at the young man.

- Kalk-san, what are you doing?(men)

- Don't mess with this girl.(Kalk)

- What is it? I just wanted to sell her information, that's all.(men)

Unsurprisingly, the young man made a displeased face upon hearing such words from the man he named Kalk. Perhaps he thought that he wanted to take "game" from him.

“Anyway, don't mess with her. (Kalk)

- Hmm? What are you talking about?.(men)

- Its not your business ! Get out of here, quickly!(Kalk)

- Understand!(men)

Kalc's serious expression and menacing voice forced the young man to leave Fran. Before leaving, he glanced at Fran again, but was immediately kicked by Calc.

The young man flew to the wall and fell on the ground with a crash. He didn't seem to expect such a thrust from him, and looked up at Calc with a face full of fear.

- I told you in an amicable way - disappear.(Kalk)

- Iii ... Sorry!( men )

Having finally received a portion of his suppression skill from Calc, he stumbled and ran away. After that, Kalk stopped and bowed his head low in front of us.

- I apologize. He's just a fool who has no idea about the difference between his and your strength. Will you be generous enough to forgive him?(Kalk)

- Nn? (Fran)

“Oh no, I didn't mean to make you angry. Anyway, you wanted to find way to the Adventurer's Guild?(Kalk)

- Yeah. Will you show the way? (Fran)

- Yes. Follow me.(Kalk)

It looks like he decided to show us the way with his own hand.

- Maybe you just tell us how to get through?(Master)

- No, I must be your guide. Such fools who want to stick their nose in your affairs, like this one, are countless. It's scary to imagine what will become of this area if someone starts a fight with you ... Kalk

Kalk muttered those words, not hiding his fear. It seems like Kalk is good at the art of assessing the real strength of other people. This ability is granted to him by a magical vision called the "Eye of Weakness." This is a magical eye that unmistakably recognizes those who are stronger than him. Moreover, it allows you to find out exactly what the gap between your strength and the strength of the target is. Apparently, in his opinion, Fran is just some incredible monster.

What would have happened if that gopnik started a fight with her? The destruction would be enormous. It seems that this is what he fears most.

Whatever the reason, Kalc did not lie when he said he was going to deceive us himself. He seems to have a good understanding of these places, so we should rely on him.

- I see. Let's go.( Kalc)

- Please this way (Master )

Chapter 399 Aunt Steria

Following Kalc, we soon found ourselves on the main street. Without becoming to lead us further to places where he has no comrades, he bowed deeply to Fran for the last time and left. Looks like he was afraid of Fran.

As soon as we went out to the main street, after 10 minutes of walking the sign of the Adventurers Guild appeared.

-Finally we arrived . But the building, however, is not that big .(Master)

“ its smaller than in Balbor. (Fran)

Judging by the size of the capital, I was expecting to see the corresponding size of the guild building. But, , it was almost half as much. well, of course it was larger than in Alessa and Ulmut, but nevertheless I imagined it larger.

-Well, in any case, let's go.(Master)

- Nn... (Fran)

As much as the guild lose in size to Balbor, there was no doubt that this was the capital guild. The atmosphere inside was pretty heavy.

Although the building was made up of huge, rough-hewn boulders, the interior was decorated with huge embroidered tapestries with the guild emblem, scarlet carpets, and the wood of the reception desk had taken on a beautiful hue over the years. Everything around looked elegant and graceful. A good description of the atmosphere of the guild would be that the weight of the story was felt in this place.

Rather than the luxury resort style of the Balbor Guild, the guild was more like an old high society hotel.

The racks seem to have been split depending on the purpose. There was no guide here, as in the Balbor guild, but all the necessary information was clearly written on the board.

First of all, we decided to line up to the stand for ranks C and D. Behind it was a huge man like a bear.

Glancing at Fran, he said:

- Girl, what is your rank?( adventurer)

- Hmm? C. (Fran )

- I see.(adventurer)

Fran took out her adventurer card, which seemed to convince the man. He did not assume that it was a lie or a fake. This is rather not because he was able to feel the real power of Fran, but because he did not want to burden himself with unnecessary trouble, believing that the staff would certainly be able to distinguish a fake from the original. Besides, I think he could at least feel that Fran is not weak.

However, there were also those whom Fran could not convince. Nearby there was a line for ranks F and G. It seemed that for them, dreaming of this cherished middle rank, it was unpleasant to see such a little girl in line . There were especially many talks about this among the F rank adventurers, who recently left the rookie category. It was clear from them that they were ready to enter into a fight with Fran.

And then came the understanding voice of a strong-looking aunt, standing next to the counter for ranks A and B. Even as a compliment, I could not say that in her youth she was a beauty.

It may sound rude , but I was surprised that such a large guild could not find a pretty girl to work at the counter.

However, after looking closely, it became clear why she was entrusted with such a position. She was very strong. As strong as all those outraged F-rank adventurers, and could have dealt with them all easily. She may have been an adventurer herself before. Considering the peculiarities of high-ranking adventurers, I had no doubt that strong people were chosen first of all for the role of service personnel.

- Girl, you, by any chance, are not that Princess of Black Lightning, which one there are so many rumors? (aunt )

- Nn.

Apparently, hearing the name "Princess of Black Lightning", the crowd of adventurers began to rustle. Well, well, almost none of them believed it.

-I see , then, you can come here.

- What, really I can? (Fran )

- Yes, you are only 12 years old, and already in rank C. In addition, you also became the star of the Martial Arts Tournament, defeating the former adventurer of rank A, and even the current rank A. You are strong , no doubt. So, I have nothing against you getting in this line here .

- Nn.

Apparently, this woman was treated in a special way in the capital's guild. When Fran confirmed her pseudonym, and this aunt willingly believed her, the adventurers around did not mind. Maybe they still had doubts, but the atmosphere was such that no one wanted to contradict this woman.

- Welcome. Steria

- Nn. My name is Fran, a C rank adventurer.(Fran

- My name is Steria. (Steria)

- Aunt Steria. (Fran)

Hey hey, be careful with what you call people!

-What is, Mentor? (Fran)

- no , its nothing. Just thought it would be nice to bake some cookies just in case. (Master)

-?

We spoke to Steria about the case. To begin with, Fran passed on a letter of introduction from Gamudo, the head of the Balbor Guild.

- I want to take part in the auction. Here's a letter of recommendation.
(Fran)

- Hm? Can I tale a look ? (Steria)

- Nn.(Fran)

Steria opened the letter and confirmed its contents. It looks like he wrote that he would like Fran to provide maximum assistance in everything.

And it also seems that the seal next to the signature was there for a reason. I felt the magic emanating from her before, but now Steria herself brought some kind of crystal from this seal.

- Yes, this is the original. A letter from Mr. Gamudo himself, incredible.
(Steria)

- Do you know Gamudo? (Fran)

- Why do you call Mister Gamudo so familiarly ... Listen, he's the same Gamudo, that known as dragon slayer!( Steria)

- I know.(Fran)

- You don't know anything! In my time, it was the legendary team: Dragon Slayer, Lord Gamudo; Dragon Hunter, Mr. Fermus; Dragon Crusher, Mr. Diaz; Captive of dragons, Mr. Eyvas. (Steria)

Steria spoke so quickly that we barely heard anything. But it seems that when she was a rookie there was a team of A-rank adventurers with Gamudo in the lineup, and she respected them a lot.

They rode around the world like a party of dragon slayers . We have already seen the power of Gamudo and Fermus, but now it turned out that my assessment of Diaz was also true. Considering that they had another comrade who was not equal to them, I could easily believe that such a party could hunt dragons. Although, of course, everything depends on the type and level of threat of a particular dragon.

However, this party split up 5 years after its formation. Diaz first took over as the head of the guild in Ulmut, and was forced to leave the party. Then there were disagreements between the magician Avas and the rest of the team, and it seems that these feuds caused the collapse.

I have a feeling that I already heard the name of Avas when after the Martial Arts Tournament Fran tried to lure the guild of magicians. Yes, "Guild of Avas Mages". Although they say that this guild is something like an underground organization, but from the name it is clear that its creator is this very Avas.

Perhaps the reason Fermus is so surprisingly familiar with this organization is that it was founded by his former comrade. And Diaz, therefore, harbors such hostility towards the Mages Guild because Avas was the cause of discord in the team.

It looks like Avas is a mage specializing in ice magic and poison magic. Not that I wanted to meet him, but if we happen to meet him, then we must bear in mind these two schools of magic.

- Oh. ... Something we are a little carried away by this topic.(Steria)

She said that we were carried away, although only she HAS spoke. Fran didn't say anything besides "uh-huh". Although, it seemed she was glad that she spoke out. Steria gathered her courage again.

- In general, I do not have the authority to do as I want , so we need to call the boss. Can you sit down here on a chair and wait?)Steria)

- Nn. Fine.

When Steria left her place, the adventurers did not take their eyes off from Fran. But they seemed to remotely sense her power, so they didn't say anything. Well, until they start bothering us, let them watch as long as they want.

-So, would you mind a tea break? (Master)

-Nn (Fran)

Fran took tea and a snack from the Spatial Vault.

Hmm? I said "tea break" right? (Master)

-Nn (Fran)

No, of course she got the tea. Black tea, to be exact. But why is the table bursting with food? Although no, everything is clear. It seems that this is how she envisions a snack for tea.

I have nothing against pancakes, cookies and pies. It looks like these fritters, along with curry, were Fran's favorite treats. Since we are talking about an appetizer for black tea, then it will not do without mitarashi dango and daifuku. And, of course, a steak, as a tribute to the traditions of the half-beast people.

Also, how about curry, fried rice and boiled rice? Sounds like a full meal, huh? Something too much rice dishes.

- Yummy. (Fran)

-Fran, will you eat some salad? (Master)

- Nn. i will . Fran

We should teach her to eat in a balanced way.

Chapter 400 - Eliante

It's been 10 minutes since Steria left for a guild master

- Khrum-Khrum-Khrum ... (Fran) t/n eating sounds

- Ummm ... Of course, I may not understand something, but How this place turn into a dining room? (Master)

- Khrum-Khrum-Khrum ... (Fran)

A woman came up to the table where Fran was having so called the tea break. She was a woman of a who look like cold beauty, with an intelligent look. Her blue hair was styled into a tall hairstyle to complete her strong woman image. The first thing I thought about when I saw her was "A secretary from some big company."

She looked at Fran somewhat shocked, and there was not a shadow of a smile on her face. It was the opposite , it seemed that she was very unhappy. She was that the type of person whose smile does not look natural, but rather scary .

Although on surface she looked in her 20- years old, but it was clear from her eyes that she was not human. Her sclera were black and her pupils were green. Exactly the same distinctive features that were in that half-insect alchemist that we met in Balbor, Eugene. Only Eugene had antennae, and this woman did not.

It must be because Eugene belonged to the family of semi-insect bees, and this woman was something else.

Since she was not a purebred person, we could not just by eye determine her real age by her appearance. After all, Eugene, although he looked 40 years old, was actually almost 60. Given this, I would not be surprised if this woman was about forty years old.

No doubt she knew how to fight. She was also an influential person. Since Fran was focused on food and the woman showed no hostility, Fran did not notice her until she got close enough.

- Nn? What are you? (Fran)

So it was the guild master. The next moment, the woman sat down in a chair, facing Fran. When she reached out to grab the cookies, Fran didn't stop her.

However, she watched the guild master closely until she touched the cookie, because if she chose curry or pancakes as her target without showing her true level of power, Fran would see it as a threat. Considering that she still has little control over her skills, if she had used "Royal Suggestion" here, then she would probably have caused a rustle. I would have had to calm Fran down as strong as I could.

- Khrum-Khrum-Khrum. ... my name is ...

- Well, no need to talk with full mouth .(Guild master

- Nn.

I did not expect such a kind tone from her. Maybe she has such a scary expression by nature? Finally finishing with her food, Fran introduced herself to the woman again.

- My name is Fran, i am C rank adventurer.(Fran)

“I am the head of the Capital Adventurers Guild, Eliane.(Eliane)

- Khrum-Khrum-Khrum.(Fran)

- Actually, I was hoping that we would talk in my office ...(Eliane)

The guild master inviting us to her office ? And she is easy-going.

But it seems that they simply did not have enough people.

- At this time, the guild staff is busy preparing for the auction, so there are no free hands at all. Steria cannot go anywhere, because she may need to deal with a high-ranking client.(Eliane)

Eliante said this while looking at Fran's meal.

- even though I also have no free time ...(Eliane)

Sorry. I am already finishing (Fran)

- Oh, okay. You don't have to rush ... (Eliane)

- Khrum-Khrum-Khrum ... (Fran)

She Is that really kind? Although her Face is still the same scary , but maybe she really has it by nature . Leaning relaxed on her elbows, Eliante ate the cookies, and now she seemed even softer than before.

passed 20 minutes .

- So, let's continue the conversation.

We have moved to Eliante's office. Well, there was a mess. This is not what I expected from Eliante, the "strong woman". Piles of documents were everywhere, clothes were scattered here and there.

It takes incredible power to move around this room. Perhaps this is already the standart for her, and she has lost sensitivity to the state of her office.

- Yeah. I would like to participate in an auction.(Fran)

- as the seller? Buyer? Or maybe both?(Eliane)

- I want to take part in the weapon auction.(Fran)

I see ... I don't think you will find better equipment than the one you are wearing now. Although there are no problems with this. (Eliane)

- Also, I would like to buy magic stones.

- And there is no problem with that. It looks like there is something like a separate auction for magic stones. Do you know how an auction works? (Eliane)

- I do not know.(Fran)

Eliante immediately began to tell Fran about this.

First of all , there are many types of auctions, each specializing in a different kind of item. Nothing other than weapons and armor can be exhibited at an arms auction, and all armor and weapons must be displayed on it.

It seems that this is because there are also dangerous items at the auction, such as the cursed or with unknown abilities. Indeed, if an invaluable demonic sword with a dangerous ability gets there, then the entire capital may be thrown into chaos. Both sellers and buyers are closely monitored.

In addition, after going through managers and appraisers, almost all items can be sold at the appropriate auction.

An exception is for items brought in on the day of the auction, for which there is a separate auction. However, the check here is quite strict, and if the item looks even a little suspicious, then it will not be accepted. So, especially high-level magic artifacts and other items that are difficult to evaluate are practically not exhibited there.

- To participate, you must go through many rigorous to find.

- Find?.(Fran)

- Yes. Identity identification, criminal history, and everything like that. Weapons, armor, and magic stones can be especially easily associated with crimes. But it is relatively easy for adventurers to qualify for participation. That is, it should not be difficult for us to issue an identity card for you to participate in all auctions on behalf of the guild.(Eliane)

- So it is possible?(Fran)

- If something happens, then the responsibility will be on Gamudo, who wrote the letter of recommendation.(Eliane)

This means that our inappropriate behavior can bring problems to Gamudo.

“Besides, without even counting all these recommendations from Gamudo, I would like to forge a good relationship with you.(Eliane)

As she said this, Eliante smiled slyly. However, it was more like she was plotting something, but such grin of some tomboy confessing to a prank.

- Haha. But there are not many women among the high-ranking adventurers. Not to mention a talent like yours. Not that there are none at all, but definitely the adventurer's world is inhabited by men. Almost all guild masters are men. When I decided to become the head of the capital's guild, such a loud noise arose from all sorts of folks . But I shut them all up. (Eliane)

That is, she would like to make friends with women who share the same job as her. Indeed, the vast majority of high-level adventure seekers are male. Dzyan, King of Beasts, Arslars, Forund, Colbert. Guild master and former high-level adventurers are all male too: Krimt, Gamudo, Diaz, Fermus.

Among women of high rank, I can only remember Amanda and Eliante. Mea and Kiara, if they were adventurers, would not have pulled up to a high rank. Elsa ... In general, I will consider a man.

“Because of this idiot Serudio, the number of female guild master has decreased significantly, and therefore I accept any active adventurer like you with open arms.(Eliane)

Diaz talked about female guild leaders that, under the influence of "seduction" Serudio gave him unfair assistance and were expelled.

- If you have any problems in the capital, always come to me for advice.
(Eliane)

- Nn I understand.

Although she was calculating, there was no doubt that she was genuinely worried about Fran. These words cannot be lies.

- I would not want such a promising adventurer to be troubled by any problems. The capital is still full of aristocratic fools. The time will come when the Marquis Ashton and Baron Holmes will pay for their crimes on the block ...

What a horror! She also spoke the name of the Marquis of Ashton. Probably, he managed to annoy the guild of adventurers. I used Deception Control, but the words were just as true. So she really wants their heads to separate from their bodies?

- Understand ? If there is even a tiny problem, come. Got it?

Yes, she herself emphasizes this. Maybe she is familiar with the rumors about Fran? Well, I can't say that we haven't had any problems yet. And her tone was quite serious.

If something happens in the capital, then we should not hesitate to rely on her.

Chapter 401 - Types of Slaves

Chapter 401. Types of Slaves

Eliante finished telling Fran about the auction.

- Are you interested just in armor, weapons and magic stones?(Eliante )
- What other types of auctions are there? (Fran)
- Hmm ... You might be interested in an auction of materials from demonic beasts, a cooking auction, or an auction of magical artifacts?(Eliante)
- A cooking auction? (Fran)

I thought she would react to it. It seems that in such a short time Eliante began to understand something about Fran. Smiling a little tightly, she nodded.

- Yes. Mostly ingredients are sold there. they just not only the edible parts of demonic beasts, but also ghost mushrooms, magical vegetables, and other wonderful ingredients. Basically, they selling rare ingredients that are poorly present on the mass market. (Eliante)

- Nn, I get it. (Fran)

“Besides, I can exhibit recipes and culinary secrets there.

That is, in fact, everything related to cooking is exhibited there. If you have time, you should take part in it

- Nevertheless, the dishes itself is hardly shown there .(Eliante)
- Its fine.(Fran)
- Hmm? Do you cook yourself?.(Eliante)
- Nn.(Fran)

- Oh really? ... We are so similar.(Eliante)

Eliante muttered those words, visibly nervous. She probably didn't really know how to cook. Given the state of the room, she couldn't even handle the laundry and cleaning.

Apparently, there was an auction of art objects, and a real estate auction, and an auction of clothing and jewelry. But Fran didn't react at all. But it wasn't even the cooking auction that she reacted most strongly ...

- Slave auction?(Fran)

- Yes. The auction deals only with those who were enslaved for serious crimes, are you interested?(Eliante)

- No!(Fran)

- Why do you suddenly have such a frightened face?(Eliante)

- Nevermind.!(Fran)

Of course, for Fran, the topic of the slave trade is still heavy. She was not going to take part in either the shady or legal trade in slaves.

She seems to have an aversion to more than just the illegal slave trade. To begin with, I must say that there are many different types of slaves. As already mentioned, there are three main types: those who have fallen into slavery for debts, for light, and for serious crimes.

As the name implies, those who are unable to pay off their debts become debt slaves. In addition, it seems that those who are in a particularly difficult life situation can sell themselves into slavery.

When I first heard how debt slaves were treated, I even wondered if this could be called slavery. In fact, they are called slaves only because they are subject to the magic of enslavement, but their rights are surprisingly well protected.

The master pays the slaves a salary, and is obliged to provide them with food, clothing, and a roof over their heads, abuse is not allowed.

Compulsion to sexual services and coercion to participate in a crime are severely punished. Not only the slave, but also the master is bound by the magic of the contract, so he cannot break these rules either. I have the impression that this is like involuntary labor from one of the offers of the labor exchange from my native Japan, only you are also provided with food, clothing, and accommodation.

At best, the person is released after one month, and no discrimination against debt slaves is allowed. In some cases, a useful skill can be learned in the workplace, so it seems that a lot of people consider becoming a debt slave not a worse fate. Hmm, just like a labor exchange.

But starting with those who have fallen into slavery for minor crimes, the attitude towards them sharply deteriorates. Unlike debt slaves, whose position is more likely due to some kind of social security, in this case they became slaves as punishment for something. Of course, cruel treatment is still prohibited to them, their rights are significantly less than that of debt slaves. They seem to be used exclusively as bodyguards and for heavy physical labor.

Sounds like involuntary 3K labor (Note. In Japan, this means "Hard, dirty, dangerous work"). However, for hard work they are eventually released, so in general human rights apply to them.

So, the last are those enslaved for grave crimes, and their fate is truly terrible. For a start, those sentenced to death go there, and the goal is the most cruel exploitation of their labor. They practically do not count as people.

It seems that these slaves who fall into different categories. Some are also used to provide sexual services, while others are used as detachments. In fact, I was interested in the local slavery system before, and we had already heard something about it in the Adventurer's Guild before, but since Fran could not bear this conversation, I did not manage to fully learn about the system then. So I didn't know any particular details.

Of course, Fran's illegal slavery is much worse. It already fully meets my idea of ??slavery.

In fact, both debt slaves and criminals slaves are bound by a contract of their own accord. For starters, a slave contract is not activated without mutual consent. Even those convicted of a serious crime, in fact, also voluntarily choose between execution with public torture and slavery.

However, illegal slavery is different. They fall into slavery not of their own free will, but by force. The way they get around the slave agreement limitation when making a contract is more vile than you might imagine. That being said, this is a very simple way.

The stolen person is tortured for a long time, and when he agrees to the "black" contract, then he is also required to ask for forgiveness. Such a contract does not guarantee even those few rights that those convicted of serious crimes have, and the slave completely obeys all the orders of the drafter of the contract.

Although, of course, the extreme punishment is imposed for the illegal sale of slaves, there are still those who are engaged in this. And all because of the interest in illegal slaves on the part of criminal organizations, and the stupid aristocracy.

But Fran, was in illegal slavery, so it is not surprising that she is so negative about the slave trade. Sensing the unsettling atmosphere, Eliante changed the subject.

"This is perhaps the familiar auction for you?" Only trained familiars are displayed there. You seem to have walked with the wolf? Is it interesting for you? Oh, or isn't the familiar with you today?(Eliante)

- Urushi by my side.(Fran)

- Woof!(Urushi)

- This is ... The Wolf of Darkness? I really didn't expect them to be tamed. Does he use shadow dipping? Not the best bodyguard, of course. And even this size ...(Eliante)

- Urusha may get smaller...(Fran)

-Woof !(Urushi)

- Oh, and such unique individuals exist.(Eliante)

It seems that the head of the guild Eliante did not know that Urushi was hiding in the shadows. Sure, he's used to it now, but he's usually pretty cowardly.

After that, while we were receiving the auction participant ID, Eliante asked us where we were going to stay.

- Fran, have you decided where you will spend the night today?.(Eliante)

- Not yet.(Fran)

- Then, can I offer you a good place? This hotel is used by high-profile adventure seekers...(Eliante)

Looks like she could show us a place to stay a night . True, there was only one question.

"Can we sleep there with the familiar?"(Fran)

“Yes, familiars are allowed in this hotel. If Urushi stays that size, then there is no problem.(Eliante)

I see , great. Since the auction of weapons and armor will take place in two weeks, until that time we will be able to see the capital. We need learn more information

Chapter 402 - Going to the auction

It was our second day in the Capital.

We were standing in front of a large building. It looks like it was the building of the capital's leading theater.

Although Eliante, for us, created a list of the 10 best attractions of the Capital, suggested that we visit this theater, we politely declined.

Even under the most favorable conditions, Fran was unable to carefully look at the theatrical performance, not to mention the fact that it seemed to be some kind of snotty romantic performance, and even about love between young mens.

Since the title of the production was "The Sword of the Purple Rose", I thought it would be something about fighting. I thought that if it was a colorful production with a lot of action scenes, Fran could well have seen it, so in general terms we learned from Eliante the duration and content of the production.

She said that the main theme of the movie is love, although all the characters are men. What kind of romantic movie is this? And the "sword" in the title is that a dirty euphemism ?!

She was so carried away by her story that, without noticing it, she completely went into the jungle of her hobbies. Fran probably only understood 20 percent of what she said.

Eliante probably loved the aesthetic side of this kind of operas and theatrical productions. When she talked about the beauty of the actors, she was already heavy breathtaking. It's even creepy how local noble women go crazy about this production.

Indeed, when we are talking about cultural things , is it not worthwhile to understand in advance where to draw the line between simple decline and decay?

I'm a bit of an otaku too, though. It's not that I can't understand such a culture. But how can you advise such an innocent girl? At least I would not want Fran to recommend that.

When she asked with excitement in her voice about other attractions, out of 10 places 5 turned out to be something in the same spirit.

This is the palace garden, which was used as a stage where Eliante's favorite performances were played, and the cemetery of one princely family, whose lineage was interrupted due to the homosexuality of one of its heads, and the house in which the author of popular plays about same-sex love was born, and that's it. like that.

But in the other half of the list were places such as the Great Temple and the hill from which the royal palace is clearly visible - in general, thanks to her for recommending at least some normal places.

I was especially pleased with the giant building of the royal palace, which by its appearance told the rest of the city "The right to sunlight? What is it?" Although no one is allowed to live next to the palace except the high nobility, there is a corner where aristocrats of lower rank live. This place is the worst of all, as it is in the shadow of the royal palace all day. Nevertheless, it is a great honor to live near the palace, so there are still a lot of people do so. One of the soldiers-patrolmen told us all this, not hiding his disdain for the aristocratic vanity.

Well, let's finally come in(Master)

- Nn.(Fran

At the entrance of the hall, we presented a certificate of what they did for us in the guild. At first glance, it looked like a simple metal plate, from the engraved pattern on which one could understand the rank.

The certificate that was given to us was the 5th step, the second from the top in terms of the degree of admission. It allowed you to participate in all auctions, but it forbade you to take places specially prepared for large merchants, guild leaders, and so on.

As expected, it looks like noble visitor rooms are also not allowed.

(Auction of weapons and armor is open today, tomorrow, and the day after tomorrow - three days)

- How many weapons.(Fran)

Fran was flipping through the catalog we bought earlier while exploring the city.

This catalog has been on sale for over a week, so it's no surprise that usually the bidders arrived at the time when the items of interest were being displayed.

Spending the whole day at the auction from morning to evening, not being sure whether the product you are interested in will be displayed here is not the most efficient waste of time.

But in our case, there were no special products that we had our eye on. Our goal was to visit the weapons and armor auction. So we were still in the dark about what kind of items are being auctioned.

Of course, this does not mean that we did not look into the catalog at all. Gallus wrote in his letter about the scabbard that he puts up for the auction of weapons and armor. And his words sounded somehow suspicious.

I thought he was going to somehow contact us when this scabbard is put up for sale, but ...

The only problem is that there were several scabbards among the goods, and the time of their putting up for sale was very different. We tried to find the signature of the manufacturer of each of the scabbards or the name of the seller, but there was not a word about this in the catalog.

Apparently, we will have to come to terms with the fact that we will not find out. There that we decided to come to the auction in the morning.

We are of course entitled to special reserved seats, but (Master)

- What to do?(Fran)

-Hmm (Teacher

I don't know how Gallus was going to contact us, but if he is here, it's not a fact that he will be able to go to special places. So it was better to take the usual place.

The question was whether Fran could sit in one place all this time.

-Can you handle it(Master

- Uh-huh!(Fran)

I don't know if her enthusiasm will last for a long time ...

3 hours passed.

-Hey Fran, don't sleep. You'll draw unnecessary attention(Master)

-... yeah.(Fran

(We may be kicked out)

- ... yeah.( Fran)

Its useless. Its cant be helped , I will support her with telekinesis. I certainly understand her. Different weapons and armor appeared again and again, one after another. In addition, these were not only enchanted items, for example, they sold a collection of one hundred ordinary swords, that is, there were many simple things.

Having somehow endured all this boredom, in the afternoon they began to display special goods. As for those products that were registered after the catalog was printed, no matter how unique and striking they are, it is not a fact that they will agree to put them up for sale.

In fact, the first thing that was exposed was an ordinary long sword. It was said that the engraving on its blade was done in a way that did not affect durability.

However, when I saw the next item, I involuntarily exclaimed.

Huh? ... Hey Fran! Master

- ... mmmm?(Fran)

I lightly shook Fran with telekinesis. We had to get ready to place a bet. Although a bet can be made at a special place using a magic device, it cannot be done at a regular place. As we were told before the start of the auction, for the bid you need to show the sign with your fingers.

- And here is the scabbard for the long sword! Thanks to the parts of the demonic beasts that were used in the manufacture, they are not only durable, but also able to adapt the size to your needs!

The auctioneer brought a sword scabbard and put it on the stand. The scabbard was made of brown leather. But when the words were said that they were fascinated by the adjustment of the size, a noise arose in the hall.

In this world, people find valuable the ability of the scabbard to adapt to the size of the sword. It's not the cheapest thing, but for an expensive scabbard put up for auction, being enchanted with resizing magic was a matter of course.

Without it, no matter how wonderful the scabbard is, it will always be limited to only one type of sword.

But that was not important for us. For some reason, it seemed to me that this scabbard was very similar to the scabbard by Gallus, in which I was sitting now. And the default size is the same. This scabbard is made exactly for me.

Finally, the auctioneer's voice, drowning out the voices of all the other participants, loudly announced the signature on the scabbard.

- The creator of the scabbard is unknown! Signed - The Mentor's Scabbard!
The starting price is 10 thousand gold!(auctioneer)

Fran! We have to win the bid! (Master)

- Nn!

Chapter 403: Master Scabbard

We tried to win the bid for the scabbard. but it was easy to win the bid. It's even surprising because it was too easy.

After all by not having size adjustment makes it not popular. It seems for the our opponent reason was they could re-use the monster material. But they immediately withdrew when they saw we had the bid.

The winning bid is 30.000 Goldes. I didn't know the market price, but it wasn't a super luxury item. The material used is not so expensive, and isn't it was only the scabbard alone?

However, it is quite conspicuous. In the first place, it is out of place for a child like Fran to be in a weapon auction, and i can feel a lot of gaze.

Isn't this looking bad? for Gallus to took such a roundabout way mean that he could not make direct contact. Perhaps he was still under Marquis Ashtner surveillance or is still in captivity.

No, since he was able to put up the bid, he must not be in captivity? However, i dont think he is in a state where he can casually go in and out.

In the worst case, for Fran won the bid for the scabbard made by Gallus in this auction has immediately revealed to Marquis Ashtner. And when they found out it was the Black Lightning Princess involved in Serdio's death? They will keep an eye on us i think.

『For the time being, lets win the bid after this』

『It's for distraction』

I don't think they can be deceived by only this...Honestly there is something interesting, and we can pretend that we were impulsive to win the scabbard.

So, we decided to win the bid for windbreak bracelet that appeared second in the afternoon. It was an item that softens the wind when riding a horse. It would be useful when we ride Urushi.

However, it seems to be a surprisingly popular item, and it has compete with a considerable number of competitor. But we have to show that we are serious, so we can't fall back. In the end, it cost us 470.000 Goldes. We are quite rich now, after all wasteful spending is moody.

『So, let's receive our winning bid, and return to our inn』

(Nn)

If you can immediately pay for the winning bid, you can receive it from that point. But, it's a hassle to carry around a lot of money, so it's usually a form of paying at a latter date.

Some fairly strong adventurer can be seen near the winning bid delivery counter, which is watching as a security guard. It seems the security guard are pretty good at it. Well, this is a big auction after all. Seeing Fran coming, he immediately increased his vigilance, which shows his high ability.

Among adventurers, if they are at rank G to E, they won't sense Fran's ability at all. Those who often try to pick a fight with us are usually around this rank.

When it comes to rank D and C, they maybe can sense something, even if they cannot see through Fran abilities. In addition, there were many cautious adventurers that is capable to some extent, and a few were actively trying to not get involved with Fran.

If they are ranked B or higher, by just only looking at Fran, they can already sense her strength, and almost no one trying to pick a fight. Well, we may be spotted by battle junkie instead.

Considering that, these security guards ability was about rank C it seems. And it also depends on their sensing ability, so it's not certain.

「Hey」

When Fran called out to the staff at the delivery counter, the guards tension reached it's peak. On the contrary, the staff who did not have any fighting prowess seemed to think she was a lost child. She replies to Fran with a carefree look.

You can see that the guards are irritated by the staff carelessness.

「Yes, what can i do for you? This is the delivery counter for winning bid, so please ask the person in charge at the entrance for guidance」

「Came to pick up the winning bid」

「That's! I beg your pardon. Then, can you show me your participation card」

「Nn」

When Fran gives the participation card, she holds it over a crystal. That crystal probably is a magic tool, and it seems, to hold various information.

The rest was easy. Pay the money normally and receive the goods. Most expensive items are carried to their residences for crime prevention, and it seems that not many people pay and receive at the counter. They usually assume that they will hand over cheaper items at this counter.

The person in charge was pulling his face when he saw 500.000 Goldes piled up on the counter casually

『Well, first let's go back to our inn』

(Nn)

We can't expect any contact from Gallus, and is there any message hidden in this scabbard? When we returned to the inn room we examined the scabbard that we won on the bid.

『There's no different part...』

「Nn」

『Do you want to compare it a little?』

We compared our winning bid scabbard with my original scabbard side by side

「.....the same?」

Yes, as Fran says, they looked exactly the same. It seems that the size, the making, and the color are exactly the same.

「woof?」

Urushi tried to sniff, but it seems he can't get anything from it.

We carefully compare the details. Lifting hitting, sensing magical power, and so on.

『.....I can't get anything』

「Nnn」

But when i casually look inside the scabbard. That's where i noticed. The scabbard looked exactly the same, but it actually has only one difference.

It's inside the scabbard. And it was just a single part. The thread used to sew the inside of the tip of the scabbard was a red thread. The part of my scabbard that i originally had was made of white thread. To be honest, no matter how much i looked at it, i couldn't find any other difference other than there.

『For the time being, lets untie the thread』

「Nn」

『I-if you do it too hard like that it wi-...! I-i will do it my self!』

「Nn? Got it」

Instead of letting Fran forcefully pulling the thread, I'll take care of the thread my self. It was sewn tightly without any gap, but i managed to do it after a few minutes.

『Ooh, can the leather inside the scabbard turned over a little?』

「woof」

『Oh, hey!, dont push me!』

I searched inside the scabbard while calming Fran and Urushi who are curious and tried to take a look too. But i couldn't find any message which i expected.

『Hmm...there's nothing in it...Wait, something is written in the flipped place』

「What is written?」

『E-to, this scabbard, to be used by the strongest sword, wish for it to the God of Wisdom』

Is this some kind of cipher?

「Master want to use it?」

「The strongest sword is definitely Master! that's the only thing about it」

『That's why you want me to use it? No. Wait. God of Wisdom? not the God of Blacksmith but Wisdom? Maybe it's about an intelligence weapon?』

As Fran says, this is without a doubt must be a message for me to use it. However, it doesn't mean for me to actually using it. It should contain more ciphers that only us know about it.

As i were thinking about the meaning of the cipher. Fran immediately put me in the scabbard right away. The front part of the scabbard is partially destroyed so it is more comfortable to get in.

The unraveled tip was a little stiff, and a little metal hits the base of the blade. I didn't know how it looked, but it seems that the metal fittings that fasten the back strap are slightly larger than my previous scabbard. So, even Gallus make a mistake like this.

No, wait. Will a blacksmith like Gallus make such a mistake? In other words, is this on purpose?

『Fran, take a look at the metal fittings』

「Nn!」

When i examined it, i found that the metal on the back side of the metal fittings was slightly different from my previous scabbard. A yellowish soft metal is used. It's just glued together and might peel off if you put some effort to peel it.

I carefully peel off the joints of the metal fittings. And then, some characters were written on the inside of the metal. It can't be, is it really meant for me.

Chapter 404: Meaning of the Message

We reconfirm the text hidden in the bid winning scabbard.

『A mansion with a war maiden glared at by a scorpion lion.....』

I'm sorry Gallus, i disassembled the scabbard as much as possible to see if there were any other hidden cipher. I loosen all the parts that could be loosen, and tried to remove all the parts that could be removed...but, no more hidden ciphers left were found.

In other words, are you trapped in the mansion in this ciphers?

『Fran, can you understand what it means?』

「Nn!」

『Eh? Seriously!?!』

「Find a mansion with a valkyrie glared at by a manticore! If it's a demon beast, we can find it with Urushi's nose」

Yeah, it's not like i didn't know. As Fran says, the scorpion lion is a Manticore. The war maiden is definitely Valkyrie. We have fought both in the Beastman Country. Well, i don't think it points to the real thing. In the first place, there is no reason for such a high-ranked demon beast is in the royal capital. It's going to be a big fuss. When it comes to that, i think that was a metaphor...

If it's a hint to get us looking for it, it's likely to be surprisingly easy to understand. No, why did he make it a cipher in the first place?

『That may be true...but why did he entrust us with such a roundabout cipher』

It should be fine if he write more specific, maybe about the mansion of Marquis Asthner or more concretely. Or maybe this is already specific?

Are manticore and valkyrie really somewhere in the royal capital? No, it shouldn't be. When it comes to it, maybe it's a statue or a painting of a scorpion lion. Or is it a home ornament?

Maybe when he were confined somewhere, on the outside he can see a valkyrie glared at by a scorpion lion. Or an noble mansion with such anecdotes?

Note: They sometimes changes between using "sasori shishi" (scorpion lion) and "mantikoa" (manticore). "sen'otome" (war maiden) and "baarukiri-" (valkyrie)

If that's the case, this may not be a cipher or metaphor, but simply a hint of where he were being confined.

『For the time being, lets look for a war maiden who were glared at by a scorpion lion』

「Nn!」

『If we go near Gallus, he might get caught in Urushi's nose, can we count on you?』

「woof!」

On the night of the day when we received hint from Gallus.

We came to the Adventurer's Guild. To talk to guild master Eliante, our only acquaintance in the royal capital. It's easier to move after gathering information first rather than blindly looking for a scorpion lion without any information.

「Welcome. do you need something?」

When we sent to the officem Eliante was looking tired while being burried in a pile of documents. It's not a lie when she said she wasn't free the other day. She call us out without raising her face, maybe she know it was Fran without even looking.

「I have something to ask」

「Something to ask?」

「Nn, looking for a war maiden glared at by a scorpion lion」

「Huh?」

So Eliante looked at us for the first time. There is confused expression on that face.

「Scorpion lion and...what is it the other thing?」

「What do you mean? I don't think there's anyone in the royal capital who has manticore」

Eliante tilt her head at Fran's word that it seems doesn't make sense. It would be quick if i could speak, but it's impossible. But somehow, i managed to get Fran to explain it over time. Of course, without bringing up Gallus name.

Eliante was irritated at first, but she managed to listen to the end.

「In other words, there is an acquaintance you were looking for in that mansion. And you are worried because you can't get in touch with him?」

「Nn」

「But isn't it just a hint.....」

「Don't know?」

「I'm sorry, i'll let you know if i can find anything」

「Onegai」

It can not be helped. Lets steadily look for him at the royal capital...But, Eliante was strangely hostile to the Marquis Asthner. Maybe we can work together?

「Hey, does Eliante dislike Marquis Asthner?」

「Suddenly asking that, but yeah...if you ask me if i don't like them, I hate them」

「What would you do if I could make a blow to Marquis Ashtner?」

「Hoho? If there is really such a way to do that, I'll definitely cooperate, right?」

It seems what she said is true that she dislike Marquis Ashtner. For going that far, is it okay to declare you hate them?

「Even if they becomes hostile?」

「Hmmh. At this stage. how much do you think they're abusing their power under their political hat. I'm against them, it's like they're already hostile to begin with」

It seems to be a deeper problem than we thought. The Adventurer's Guild is not under national control, but it can't be independent and ignored the ruler of each region. Especially in the royal capital where the power of aristocrats is strong.

「If you really can blow that idiot of marquis.....No, it's enough to be able to harass them! I'll help you with anything!」

Said Eliante venting her excess stress with a Bang of her fist on the table.

「Ah! it's not like it」

The momentum destroyed the pile of documents. Is it our fault? No, it destroyed it self.

However, if that is the case, it wouldn't be a problem to talk about our own purpose.

Therefore, it's very likely that Gallus was confined by Marquis Ashtner. We told Eliante that this was a message from Gallus. Then she squints her black eyes and grins a ferocious smile. **

「In other words, if we can find a place that matches this riddled sentence, we might uncover the wrongdoing of Marquis Ashtner, right?」

「Nn」

「I get it, I'll do my best to help. You can also find that place from here as well. And of course, all information about Fran will be hidden so rest assured.」

All right, with this we now have the Adventurer's Guild on our back. We'll get far more information than we can look for alone.

Later, Eliante was able to tell us some mansion locations associated with Marquis Ashtner. First of all, Let's go to check there.

「Thank you」

「Not a problem」

「Then, i'm going」

As Fran, who was about to leave the room and thanked her, Eliante remembered something.

「Oh yes, one piece of advice i want you to listen」

「Recently, the security in the royal capital is not good. Many people are gathering because of the auction, including bandits, murderer, and criminal organisation」

The rich are gathering for the auctions, and cause of it, criminals are increasing.

「I understand. I'll crush them when i find it」

「Nnn?」

Eliante denied Fran's words. with her head down.

「If you go on rampage, the damage will be enormous. If you're not good at it, it's better to overlook them」

I see, she said someting similar to Kalk, the guy we met in the back alley. In the case for Eliante, she has information about Fran too, and she knows that Fran has her battle junkie like personality. So i think she is worried.

「As long as you understand」

「I'll blow them away without destroying the surroundings」

「You don't have to blow them away! Can you seize them more peacefully?」

「Really?」

「Nn」

She looked at Fran with a lot of doubt

「...can i count on you?」

「Nn」

「Can I really really count on you?」

I'll be more careful too. I'm sorry if this only increased the work of Eliante who is looks tired already.

Chapter 405: KALK

After getting Eliante's help in the guild, we pretend to be sightseeing and looked at places around the Adventurer's Guild. First of all, I thought about looking on nearby place

But this aristocrat district was a favorite place where noble tends to gather. And we stand out too much. So, we are going to sneak around at night. We have night vision skill so darkness wouldn't be a problem.

『Stone statue, bronze statue. Banner in a painting. engraving on a relief. There's a lot of possibilities』

「Nn」

『Urushi, if you can smells something related to Gallus, please tell us. It was the smell that sticking to yesterday's scabbard, remember that? 』

「woof woof!」

All that's left is to search by foot.

However, even after we kept walking since morning, we can't find what we were looking for. In the first place, in this vast royal capital, relying only on a sentence of a scorpion lion that we don't even know its shape is impossible.

『If it like this, it's going to take a long time』

(Ask someone who seems to know?)

『Even if we asked Eliante, she doesn't seems to know right』

(How about Kalk?)

Kalk. We certainly had an acquaintance other than Eliante. No, he's not really an acquaintance, we only have met once after all. He has a face of a thug, and it seems he's familiar with the back alley of the royal capital.

But i can't trust him, he too seems scared of Fran, and probably would help if asked. However, he can also pretend to help us while leaking our information elsewhere.

I don't know how Gallus put the scabbard up for auction. In some cases, it's possible that Marquis Ashtner already knows that we won the scabbard.

That alone is still suspicious. But what if Fran, who won the scabbard, finds what she looking for? The ciphered message of a mansion with a war maiden guarded by a scorpion lion and the one who own such a mansion. It certainly will lead us to Gallus.

If that happens, it will become trouble some. It will be clear that the Marquis are our enemy.

But, Kalk's information network is certainly attractive. So i made up a plan.

『Well, I'll just make a strong Doppelganger and make contact』

Without asking Fran, I make up my doppelganger to be a dubious looking man in plain clothing.

『Yosh, isn't it looks good enough』

It's so-so in terms of its ability. Although far from reaching Fran, he can at least use swordsmanship and have an average status of about 200. His ability is on par with mid-level adventurer. With Urushi's nose, it will be easy to find Kalk.

Urushi then hides in the shadow of my doppelganger, and Fran followed him while erasing her presence. I was also able to talk to Fran while moving my doppelganger with split thinking.

(woof woof)

『This way』

We followed Urushi's instructions and passed through back alley. And then we arrived at a bar with a tattered appearance that it's doubtful whether it is open for business. If i haven't sensed the presence of person inside it, i would have thought it was an abandoned building.

I push open the swing door, with just a little push the hinges started to make a creaking noise, and then i steps into the bar. Their gaze turned at me all at once with their unscrupulous gaze as if they were appraising me.

And then their expression immediately changed into a mockery. Because what i look like now is a middle-aged man with a dull face dressed in plain clothes. and i doesn't seems to ever trained and is unlikely to have special skill such as magic. These are enough conditions to be looked down.

Well, it seems the person I'm looking for has a rather keen eye on me. I approached the table where Kalk sits while slips through the men trying to trip me with their feet.

「Yo, are you Kalk-san?」

「Tsk, what do you want me to do」

Kalk frowns upon seeing me. But he doesn't try to escape

「Don't be so cold to me. Someone told me that you can help me」

「.....where did you came from. stop your unnecessary pretense」

There is no one else with me, but he seems to be thinking various thing.

「Oi, don't do anything」

Kalk's words weren't for me, it was for his subordinate behind me that thought i was a nuisance and trying to get rid of me. Considering his man strength, he knows his man isn't enough to beat me.

His man was surprised when he understood the meaning of his word. After all, he thinks he is stronger than me. However, he seemed to be well educated as his subordinate and did not complain. The reason is he know Kalk's eye are highly reliable.

「So you are a magician」

Kalk's face becomes even more bitter. Probably because my doubtfulness has increased. His man was surprised at the sudden disappearance of Kalk's voice. But when Kalk's restrained him, he promptly sat back on his chair.

「With this they won't hear our voice」

「So what do you want me to do?」

It seems that he will at least listens quietly. Good

「There is a place I'm looking for. It's a mansion with a war maiden guarded by a scorpion lion. Do you know? 」

「Is it a cipher or something? I would like to meet someone who can understand it already by only that」

「That's true, so please look for it. Also, secretly」

「Oioi...」

「This is a deposit. If you find it, I'll give you three times of this」

「Hou」

I casually put 50.000 Goldes in front of Kalk. The color of his eyes changed in front of the large amount of money.

「Tomorrow night, I'll come here again」

「That's, will be tough」

「That's why it's this amount」

「...Don't expect too much from me」

「I expect much from you, see you later」

「O-oi...」

I grinned at Kalk while erasing doppelganger Infront of him. He seen his client disappear like a smoke dispersing into thin air giving an eerie feel.

『Yoshi, with this i managed to get Kalk's help. Hopefully, we'll get information tomorrow night』

「Nn」

『That being said, we'll continue to search on our own』

「I know」

「woof!」

Author note:

I received a review!

Moreover, he is from Korea.

The charm of cat ears has nothing to do with borders.

Chapter 406: Thieves Guild

The next night after we asked Eliante and Kalk to find the mansion.

『In the end, we couldn't find it on our own』

「Nn」

We also looked around the noble district at night. However, even though there were stone statues of dragon, reliefs of lion, and angels like statue made of bronze. We couldn't find anything that matched the cipher.

It seems that Eliante couldn't get any remarkable information either, so she will continue her search.

We couldn't find it on our own or in the Adventurer's Guild intelligence network. So now we are relying on our last hope, Kalk.

(will he get any clue?)

『Well, even if it doesn't exist, at least we can narrow down our search range, right?』

With Kalk's information network, we can find out about downtown and entertainment districts to some extent. So, even if Kalk couldn't get any useful information, we can exclude this area from our search range.

『then, let's go』

「Nn」

I used my doppelganger skill to create my body split. According to Urushi's nose, Kalk is already inside the bar.

I push open the cracking door and step into the bar. As expected, at once all of their gaze turned to me. Perhaps, because they know i was talking with Kalk yesterday, so no one seems underestimating me now.

Oh yeah, yesterday i dissolved my doppelganger into thin air. Seeing that, they may consider me as an eerie person.

Today, no one trying to trip me with their feet, and no one is ridiculing me either. Rather, they don't want to get involved with me, so they opened my way.

『Yo, it's been yesterday』

「so you came huh? have you prepared the money? 」

『is it mean, you have found it?』

「yea」

That's amazing! Even an organization like adventurer's guild couldn't get any clue. It seems we can't underestimate on Kalk information networks.

『Then, this is it』

「Are you really going to pay before hearing the information first? 」

『Oh, I'm good at spotting lies, and you are not stupid enough to try to steal away this money, are you?』

「hmmf」

It is unlikely for Kalk to try escape and steal the money. Either in the sense of him losing his credibility and he also knows he can't escape from me.

Kalk snorts in an unamusing way, he probably doesn't like being insulted because they have to put themselves in the line.

『——Silence, can you tell me right away?』

『A paper? what's about these number?』

「It's the address of the mansion you are looking for. It's in the center of the noble district. It's the villa of Count Olmes behind the mansion of marquis Ashtner. Opposite the mansion of Count Bailleys」

『Ormes...』

「It used to be the residence of Viscount Lesseps, but it seems that he was crushed by a scandal. Do you know? it's the concubine of marquis Ashtner」

Viscount of lesseps is, Serdio. The connection with Marquis Ashtner is perfect

「In front of Count Olme's villa, there is a stone statue of Manticore that faces the garden of the villa, and the garden is decorated with a stone statue of a war maiden...What do you think?」

It seems this information would be a hit.

『It's perfect. it saved me from looking for it』

「Even though I was forced to accept it, business is business. I'll do it perfectly」

『You have my gratitude』

As i thanked Kalk, i dissolved my doppelganger. The paper has been secretly handed over to Urushi in the shadow. No, wait. Kalk's information network may be helpful again. For the time being, i have to tell him in advance. We'll be bothering Kalk again.

『I'll come again when i have another thing to ask』

「Never come again」

『I'll make a best of you』

「Oi——」

I grinned lightly at Kalk who had an annoying look on his face while dissolving my doppelganger

(Master, how is it?)

『I never thought i could get the information this good』

(Then?)

『Ou, I know where the mansion is located. However, even if i was told the address, i don't know where the exact location is』

I was told it was behind Marquis Ashtner's mansion, but i don't even know where it is.

『You finally returned, Urushi』

Urushi has returned to Fran's shadow, we looks at the paper given by Kalk, but we still can't understand it.

(Then, ask Eliante)

『You're right, that's the fastest way』

(Nn)

We decided to go straight to the Adventurer's Guild. It's still in the evening, i hope she's still be there...

「Oh, Fran. What's wrong? 」

It seems it was an unnecessary worry. Eliante, who looked exhausted due to excessive work, welcomed Fran with a weak voice.

「Sorry, but i haven't received any information yet」

「Nn. That's okay, got information on my hand」

「Eh? did you find it on your own? 」

「Wrong, talked to an information broker」

「What do you mean by information broker? I also asked information broker among our adventurers. So you are saying you procured information faster than us?」

[TLN: I tried to make Fran's dialogue to be as short as possible and sounds monotone, it's like that in the raw. wdyt?]

Eliante stopped her works and turned her gaze to us. She seems to have been very surprised.

「Nn. Talked at the bar」

「By any chance, do you make a contact with the Thieves Guilds?」

From the shock, Eliante's eyes sharply narrowed. Did you just call it the Thieves Guild now?

「Nn? Thieves Guild?」

「You didn't know? They are like an underground organization that active in this royal capital」

「Don't know」

「Then, how did you find that bar? you won't find it if you randomly go inside any bar to look for information broker」

Apparently, from Eliante's aura, the Adventurer's Guild and the Thieves Guild are not in good terms. We should keep quiet about this.

However, we can't tell her about me, so we told her that Urushi remembered the smell of the person we met in the back alley and went to see that person again, relying on his nose.

「I see...If it's in the commercial district, is there someone you know?」

「Nn」

「I see, I'll believe you. But you shouldn't get involved with them as much as possible」

According to Eliante, the Thieves Guild has been acquiesced as an evil organization. In a big city like the royal capital, various people and criminals are wriggling behind it. The royal capital would be in a mess if they were simply left unchecked. Only the Thieves Guild could control those criminals to some extent.

Of course, acquiescence does not allow them everything and be overlooked. If the Thieves Guild goes too far, the country will crack them down. It seems that they are good at determining their limit line. Cause even if the soldiers are not deployed, bounty will be given to members of the Thieves Guild.

In that case, it was natural for them to be incompatible with the adventurer's guild to which those bounty hunters belong. I wonder will they get retaliation for catching a member of the Thieves guild, but that doesn't seem to be a problem. It seems they know that the Thieves Guild will also be crushed if they mess with the Adventurer's Guild. Besides, in their world, it seemed the one who get captured were often said to be idiots.

「Well, in the end, it's a group of criminals, their reserve, and their collaborator. It's not going to be a problem if you are not good with them. But be careful?」

「Nn. Understand」

Fran did not come into direct contact with Kalk, so that wouldn't be a problem.

Rather than that, the location of the address is more important now. Fran tells Eliante the address and the information that it is the villa of Count Olmes, behind the mansion of Marquis Ashtner.

Apparently Eliante knows the place. With just that address, she seems to be able to point the place to some extent, it seems Marquis Ashtner's Mansion are famous. She drew a map on the spot.

「Nn. Thanks」

「...you know, you are prohibited to make an enemy of noble. After confirming the location, immediately come back at once. Never try to infiltrate alone」

As expected, we couldn't suddenly infiltrate into Count's mansion alone. We'll just check the location first. However, Eliante looks uneasy.

「Do you really understand?」

「Nn」

「...Aah, you are worrying」

Fumu, should we ask what rumours Eliante has heard? It seems that she thinks Fran was a wild kid that tends to rampage.

「It's fine, won't do anything stupid」

Author Note:

The short story drawn by Maruyama-sensei published in the January issue of Monthly Birz is the best. Fran is so cute.

Moreover, the pancakes that appear on it look delicious!

I went to eat pancakes unintentionally. A man alone...

But it was really delicious hahaha.....

Chapter 407: Reunion in an Unexpected Place

As we left the Adventurer's Guild, we immediately went to Count Olmes's villa. We erased our presence and look at the mansion from a distance.

(Master, that's its)

『I see, so that's a scorpion lion』

Fran is pointing to the gate pillar of the mansion in front of Count Olmes's villa. Certainly, it was the mansion of Count Bailleys.

As expected, the gate of the residence of an aristocrat is quite large. The gate pillar alone was over 10 meters high. And a majestic statue of a manticore set up on the top was staring at the street as if protecting the gate.

If we follow that statue line of sight, it certainly seemed to be facing the villa of Count Olmes. And then, it would be perfect if there was a valkyrie in front of that line of sight.

We can't look inside because of the high wall. I thought we can sneak in a little bit, but it's too risky so i hesitated. This is because i could already feel the magic barriers even from the outside. Moreover, its strength is mid rank. And it seems, Count Olmes's villa has stronger barrier than Marquis Ashtner.

Fran was really eager to go. I stopped her with all of my might. No way, are your talk with Eliante before was a lie.....That was close.

『...Let's take a look from the sky. I'm going for a while. So, don't move a step from there will you?』

「Nn」

Fortunately, it's night. Even if i make some flashy move, i won't stand out. Even more so if it's just me.

I moved to the sky by teleporting. I teleported a little higher because i have to take a great care to not touch the barriers of the mansion. I can feel the barrier magical power, it seems to have covered the mansion in a spherical shape.

While i were stationary in the sky. I turned my gaze to the garden of Count Olmes's villa. I utilize all my skills to observe every corner of the garden, and i found it.

『There! It's the statue of a war maiden』

There was a stone statue of a war maiden installed on the center of a fountain. Dressed in armor, and have the appearance of a maiden, there's no doubt about it. It also coincides with the line of sight of the stone statue of manticore.

I have confirmed it, and i teleported to Fran again

『I'm back』

「Okaeri, how was it?」

『It's a bingo, this is the right place』

「Great」

But it is not possible to tell what's going on inside the mansion just by looking at it from above. Of course, i can't even confirm where Gallus was.

『There's not much can be seen from the outside, but there are quite a few people inside』

「Nn」

By sensing the presence, it was clear that there were too many guards. Moreover, most of the guard are facing inward rather than outside, as if they were guarding to prevent something to escape.

『Urushi, can you smell him?』

(whimper...)

『No good huh』

(woof)

It seems the mansion also has a wind-type barrier. This may be blocking the sound and smell.

(What will we do?)

『I hope i could locate where Gallus was confined』

We decided to walk around the Count's residence to find any clues. I can sense considerable number of guards are patrolling the mansion. But they shouldn't be aware of us yet.

However, when we were walking around, Urushi reacted to something. He is eagerly sniffing around our surroundings.

『Is it Gallus?』

「woof」

He is shaking his head, maybe it's something different.

(woof!)

Urushi started walking to lead us. What's more is he seems to be reminding us to erase our presence with dark magic. We didn't mind our magic consumption, and we used our magic and skills and went into covert mode. We are confident that even if we pass in front of ordinary people, they won't notice us.

We followed Urushi while keeping our distance from Count Olmes's villa. From there go through a back alley and follow the route around the main street that runs in front of Marquis Ashtner mansion.

(woof)

Then, just before the exit of the back alley. Urushi suddenly stopped. Urushi slowly puts his head out and looks at the street. We also followed Urushi and slowly looked into the main street.

(woof!)

Urushi is staring across the street as seen from the alley we were lurking. There was an entrance to an alley slightly closer to Marquis Ashtner mansion. There was a vagrant wearing a large rag cloth. It's not uncommon for a big city like the royal capital. In fact, we've seen a lot of them.

But it was unusual for one to be in the noble district, but it's in a blind spot in that place. it's possible that patrolling guards may not even notice it.

However, after watching for a while, I noticed the strangeness of the vagrant.

『I can't feel his presence』

「Nn. That magical power is strange」

『...Are he used a skill to hide his presence』

It seems to be not your everyday vagrant. He is quite a talented person. At the very least, the covert skill of his can be comparable with C rank adventurers.

『From there...maybe he's monitoring Marquis Ashtner residence』

The vagrant's line of sight is facing the front gate of Marquis Ashtner residence.

Even so, Urushi can notice this vagrant from such a distance. Did he feel the faintness and unnaturalness? When I was wondering so, the vagrant turned around. He goes into the back alley. Did he notice us?

For the time being, we decided to follow after him while erasing our presence. We didn't take the alley where the vagrant went in.

We used the alley next to it, and following him along while maintaining a certain distance. Even if we lose sight of him, we can still find him with Urushi's nose.

And because of it, we were able to trail around without being noticed by the vagrant. We continued to trail him through the alleys of this noble district.

Perhaps he didn't think he were being watched; he took off his robe he was wearing from his head. It seems he stopped pretending to be a vagrant.

From under it, a surprisingly firm body emerges. He clearly has a trained muscle and appearance of a warrior honed in combat. I felt that the man's ability was about C rank scout, but it seems that was a mistake. Obviously, scouts are not his main job, but the poise of those who live with battle.

But, his face was familiar. Why is he here?

(Colbert?)

『Yeah, without a doubt』

(woof!)

He is a B ranked adventurer who helped our stalls in Barbra, and we confronted him as a strong opponent in the fighting tournament. A fighter who crushes a demon beast with his fist. He is the Iron Claw Colbert.

Probably Urushi reacted because he remembered Colbert's smell. And also, because we fought together hand-in-hand against Linford.

(What now? Call him?)

Although he is not a stranger, doesn't mean we are always an ally now. We should be careful while we didn't know who hired him as an adventurer. I don't think he would personally watch over Marquis Ashtner unless he has his own circumstance.

Chapter 408: Two Half-Dragonmen

Colbert walks ahead of us. He was wary of the surroundings, but he wasn't hesitant with his steps. He seems to have a clear destination.

We decided not to call out and continue to follow him.

If Colbert goes into a noble mansion or some kind of facility, we will ask Eliante or Kalk what kind of place it is. If he went into an inn, we'll remember the place, and plan to meet again under the guise of chance. The rest is to pull out the information well. That's where it's difficult.

(Noble town?)

『That is so in that direction...』

Colbert didn't leave the noble district, but came to the northern section of the noble district. This area is under the shadow of the royal castle, so there's not much light during the day, and only lower-class aristocrats live in this area.

In the middle of it, Colbert enters a park with a lot of trees. There are other parks in the royal capital, but the park in the noble district is truly gorgeous. This is probably because it plays a role as a garden to be seen from the outside, not as a place for relaxation as in the commoner district, but only for the scenery.

However, perhaps because it is in a place where there is less light during the day, it is dull and gloomy. No flowers are in bloom, and the trees are too dense. At night, it looks like a haunted place. If you didn't know anything, it wouldn't be strange to mistake it for a cemetery.

『What is his objective?』

(Meet someone?)

There is no straight road in the park, and if you're in a hurry, you shouldn't use it. It seems his purpose isn't just to going through it. As Fran expected, are he really going to meet someone?

If so, i would like to know the identity of the other party. We will let Urushi remember the smell, so we can tail it later.

We decided to follow Colbert and infiltrate the park. Colbert was walking straight in the park for a while, but he suddenly stopped his steps.

He watched his surroundings, without much movement. We also stopped at a distance and were observing Colbert...

『Ah!』

(Hmhmh)

(woof!)

Colbert suddenly started running at full speed. Did he notice us? Moreover, while we were surprised, a new presence appeared somewhere at slightly distant place.

At the same time as the presence appeared, something was thrown toward us. It seems when he attacks, his camouflage decreased, and we can feel it.

I don't know what was thrown, but i instantly teleported above to avoid the attack with dimension shift and used physical attack nullification in a hurry.

Shyuu— (sfx)

We teleported about 20 meters above the park and looked down. We could see a green smoke fill the area around our spot before. It seems the think thrown at us was an item that generate gas. It was obviously a poison.

He seems to be puzzled because our presence suddenly disappears. His ability as a covert is considerably high, but he seems to have little experience in combat, because you shouldn't let your presence leaked every time you act.

It seems he was an acquaintance of Colbert, so it maybe bad to kill him.

『We'll hit him with lightning magic and then teleported behind him』

(understood)

『Urushi, hides and wait』

(woof!)

『Make sure you didn't kill him』

(Nn)

I and Fran fired stun bold in a row toward the spot where we spotted his presence. A small figure emerges illuminated by pale lightning in the dark night.

We teleported, aiming at his back. It seems he took some damage, but he can still move. However, he was blown away by the lightning bolt.

「——」

We have wind barriers as well as resistance to abnormal conditions, but Fran took a deep breath and hold her breath just before teleporting. Maybe it was just her instinct. If it's a super strong poison that even these two couldn't prevent, i don't think it's enough with just holding your breath. It's better to take care of your eyes and skin.

Fran, whose mouth was inflated like a squirrel, tried to hit the figure with me still in the scabbard, but when she was in the middle of it, she retreated swiftly.

It can't be helped. In the place where Fran stood earlier, a jet-black spear created with dark magic was stabbed the ground. It seems we have 2 opponents.

The new enemy who attacked Fran were overwhelmingly stronger than the previous one. In the first place, his presence is quite thin even at this close. He seems to have the appropriate covert skills and magic.

「Th-that saved me」

The one we engaged before called out to the dark magic user. He looks pretty young, and as the appraisal says, he is 17 years old. And she was a girl.

She is a beauty who looks courageous, with her light blue hair tied up in a ponytail that seems to reach her back if she unties it. She is wearing black leather equipment like a kunoichi that appears in American Comics. It doesn't just help her to blend in the dark, but it seems it has the ability to help blocking her presence in all of her equipment.

(Note: Kunoichi is a term for ninjas, but for female)

She holds her knife in her hand, and looks at me with a stern look.

At her young age, her combat prowess is quite high. But more than that, her ability as a scout is considerably high. Moreover, she seems to know how to handle poison and the type who can still fight with her hand tied.

Her name is Velmeria Bailleys. It seems by her name; she is related to count Bailleys.

The dark magic user was Frederick. He is 35 years old, but his calm aura makes him look older. He is a handsome guy with black hair. His equipment is also black ninja-like leather equipment.

Not only he has high-level skills such as sword sacred art and dark magic, but he also has a wide range of resistance skills such as Mental Resistance:

Lv 8, Fame Resistance: Lv 5, and Storm Resistance: Lv 4. In addition, he possessed multiple unique skill such as Evil Lure.

However, his status is quite low compared to his skill. Even so, his status was about 100 on average, so he is not a small fish.

I've seen the opposite before. It was a noble whose level has been carried only by power levelling and medicine. However, this is my first time seeing a low status despite having higher skill level.

If you look only at his skills, he is certainly ranked B or higher. However, his status is about rank D. Maybe, he's not on his peak condition so he seemed to be weak.

Their race is also worrisome. Velmeria is a half-water dragonmen. Well, it seems there is a race called dragonmen, and i wonder if she is a half of them. The problem is Frederick's race. He was a half-evil dragonmen. I can't feel any evil, but is it a race related to evil people?

Even with the same half-dragon races, Velmeria looks almost like human. However, Frederick apparently has thicker Ryuujin blood in him.

He has reptile-like split eyes, and his right arm is covered with black scales. His left arm is covered with a gauntlet so i don't know if it has scales too. No, it seems that is not an arm with gauntlet, but a metal artificial hand.

「Be careful. This girl has immense skill」

「Yeah. I know. But how did she escape the poisonous gas and turn to attack me? 」

「Maybe it's space-time magic, that's the only think to explain her movement」

「Space-time magic user...what a troublesome one」

This would be troublesome. Frederick's declining status doesn't mean that he lost his experience and insight. As evidence, he found us out to be able to use space-time magic. It's multiple times easier to do with someone who just have their strong status.

『Fran. Frederick seems to be a cunning type, longer battle with him may be troublesome. Let's end this at once』

Chapter 409: Velmeria and Colbert

In order to incapacitate Velmeria and Frederick, we decided to use lightning magic.

「Haa!」

『Eat this!』

The lightning magic Thunder Chain we invoked is a technique to bind and paralyze our opponent with a chain of lightning to deprives them of their freedom. The range was not so wide but it compensated for its shortcomings by using multiple activations released to our opponent.

If it is a magic below intermediate level, the Fran now can activate 2 shots instantly and i can activate 3 shots. But if i took it seriously, I was able to fire more than 5 shots.

「Gaah!」

「Hggh!」

Seven streak Thunder chain rampages like a snake, Velmeria are surely intertwined by Thunder chains one after another and fell limply on the spot.

However, Frederick is stubborn, he slashed the chain of lightning that came towards him with a sword imbued with magic. It seems to be an application of magic release skill.

『Not bad. But I will try to push harder too』

From 10 thunder chains i planned to shot, it cut it off until the 7th shots, it seems this number couldn't be blocked completely by Frederick. Thunder chain wrapped around his body, and depriving Frederick of his consciousness.

Thunder chain was a magic that focuses on paralyzing rather than power. Firing in rapid succession cost me unusual amount of mana. It was also difficult to hold back against Velmeria whose resistance are not very high. But that was what exactly I was aiming for.

We cast magic as an insurance on the two who fall side by side on the ground. Restraining their body with earth magic, the ground changed like an ivy and wraps around their legs and body and tied up.

Still, I'm not relieved. Frederick in particular has dark magic. The chances of him escaping to the shadows are not zero.

『Urushi, on guard with your dark magic』

(woof)

The use of Urushi's dark magic can even attack enemy in the shadows.

『Well, lets start questioning them』

「Nn」

Let's start with Velmeria, I don't think Frederick will answer us obediently. So, we separated Velmeria from Frederick.

Fran knelt beside Velmeria and tapped her cheeks, where she normally would kick and hit her body. That's good, don't always be so rough.

I think she's still paralyzed by thunder magic, but the impression is absolutely different between us fighting for self-defence and using violence after capture. She is a noble daughter who may be acquainted with Colbert after all. So, we must not hurt her.

「Ugh...」

「Woke up?」

「Kuh...what is this...」

As soon as she woke up, there was a black cat girl in front of her, and she was detained for some reason. Of course, she's confused.

However, she probably remembered the situation before. She glares at Fran and shouts.

「What did you do to me!」

「I was the one who should asking」

「Is my subordinate safe?!」

「Leave the trifling stuff, answer my question」

Fran activated intimidation skill; it must have break Velmeria's heart. Swallowed by the intimidation of Fran, her body quivered. There is fear in her face.

「Kuh...who are you...」

However, Velmeria said back with a determined expression. She must have accepted the calamity that was about to fall on herself. Although she is a little immature, she has her pride as a full-fledged warrior.

However, the miserable future that Velmeria imagined will never come to her.

『Fran, did you aware of it?』

「Nn」

There was a presence slowly approaching from behind us. He seems to be wary of us, but i didn't feel any hostility or malice.

「Yo. It's been a while. Could you release that lady? miss Fran」

It was Colbert who showed up. He seems to have been a companion with the assailant. Well, i thought so considering his good timing.

He raises his hands lightly and slowly approached Fran, there were no sign of sudden attack for the time being. It was supposed to be a proof that he has no hostility.

「Colberd-dono! Is she your acquaintance!?!」

「We are not really an acquaintance」

「So, she must be a spy of Marquis Ashtner?」

「Fran is? It's impossible」

「How did you know」

「This girl is the Black Lightning Princess. Do you understand what i mean?」

After Velmeria heard Colbert's words, she opens her eyes and raises a surprised voice.

「Re-rally? Speaking of Black Lightning Princess, isn't she is the adventurer who caused the death of Serdio Receps!」

She knows that much huh

「I'm sorry miss Fran. She told me there was someone following me. I left it to her because she said she would detain him.....but i didn't expect it was you」

Colbert are equipped with a magic tool called Wind Jewel; it seems to be an item that can pick up the voice of other party in a distant place through the wind. However, it seems to be a disposable item, the jewels are in a damaged state. She must have contacted him with this.

「Then why did you followed Colbert!?!」

「Cause suspicious appearance, and being sneaky」

「Ugh...」

Velmeria frowns. She admits Colbert was looks suspicious and being sneaky. And Fran isn't lying, right? If he was dressed normally, she would have call him out with out tailing him.

「These guys, who?」

「Ah, how to say this, these guys are the subordinate of my employer, for the time being, they are my current colleague」

Given Velmeria's surname, is their employer was Count Bailleys?

「But, i didn't think miss Fran was in the royal capital. I asked Gamudo's man, they said you went to the Beastman Country. What was your purpose of coming to the royal capita? for auction?」

「Various things huh. And it seems miss Fran has become even stronger again」

「Nn」

「Honestly, the me right now can't win against you」

「Wha-!」

Velmeria was surprised at Colbert's declaration. From her point of view, it was unbelievable for strong person like Colbert admitted he would lose without fighting.

「They weren't trying to kill you. So, could you release them?」

「What are you raiding? Is it related to monitoring Marquis Ashtner?」

「Huft, you have seen that much huh? i never thought this would happen」

Colbert sighs as he gives up. Fran has an overwhelming advantage in here. In the first place, there are hostages. He also knows that Urushi is lurking somewhere and don't even know when Urushi will attack the hostages. On the contrary, it becomes pressure.

And then, when it comes to Frans against Colbert, Fran will win. Colbert has grown since that martial arts tournament, but we are a lot stronger. Well, it wouldn't be an easy win.

He apparently chooses to reveal the facts obediently rather than trying to bargain. Colbert talks about their situation.

「I was certainly monitoring Marquis Ashtner. My objective is to lure the spies that serve under Marquis Ashtner」

In other words, Colbert dared to act suspiciously so Velmeria and the others can follow the one who was tailing Colbert and catch him. So that was their plan huh, but Fran was the one who caught in their operation instead, not the spy of Marquis Ashtner.

Yeah, it was an unfortunate accident. Let's go along with that.

「Then, hostile with Marquis Ashtner?」

「Yeah, that's right」

It's not a lie. Maybe Colbert didn't know the information about Gallus? We decided to reveal our situation to Colbert to some extent.

「My acquaintance may have been captured by Marquis Ashtner, and was looking for his whereabouts」

「What? So that's why you were there?」

「Nn, and happened to meet Colbert」

「Huft...of all things...But, so that's why」

Colbert thinks for a few seconds.

「Do you got any information?」

「...Let's leave this place for the time being. If we talk too long, people will come here soon, and I want to hear more about it」

「Understood」

Colbert is right, so we decided to follow him for the time being. Release the restraint of the earth magic from Velmeria and the other one. It seems Velmeria will do something about Frederick.

「Then, where are we going?」

「About that...Miss Fran. Would you like to meet my employer?」

Chapter 410: Count Sidre Bailleys

Colbert said he wanted us to meet his employer, so we decided to follow him. He says he will tell us what information he knows, and he is also interested in that person.

Along the way, we asked Colbert about his employer

「Your employer, who is him?」

「My employer's name is Count Bailleys. He is the leader of the Knight of the West Gate, one of the four Knights of the royal capital」

I've heard the name, but it's bigger than what i imagined. What's more, he isn't employed under the Count Bailleys, but the person himself. According to Colbert we were a rare and reliable person among the nobles.

Velmeria snorts in complains while listening to the conversation between the two.

「Hmph」

It seems that Velmeria hasn't completely trusted Fran yet. As she walks forward, she occasionally turns her gaze at us. Still, she didn't object and complain at Colbert's decision.

I don't know about Frederick; he is quietly walk next to her with his poker face.

We walked for more than 10 minutes in this noble's district.

Ah, by the way, we are not just simply walking. Everyone is using their covert skills and Frederick used dark magic to erase our presence.

We proceed through the noble's district like that, and arrive at a small mansion. It looks like a typical lower-class noble's mansion with no soldiers at the gate.

「Yea, this way」

Velmeria enters the mansion through the back gate instead of using front gate, it must be an insurance.

There are indeed soldiers in the mansion, and when he sees Velmeria, he quietly bows his head. The soldier was pretty strong. It's a pity to compare but they are stronger than the corrupt knights of Allesa, whose deputy leader was Alsand. Can't he become a knight because he is a commoner?

When i thought so, the soldier we met next were just as strong as the one before. I involuntarily appraised them, but everyone can at least use martial art, and their status are quite high.

This seems to be the average of the soldiers here. But they were stronger than the patrol soldiers we met in the royal capital.

Fran seems to have noticed that too, and she's looking at the soldiers in the sideways.

「What happened, miss Fran?」

「Soldier is strong」

「Well, it's a little special here, because they are all fighters」

Their lord was a leader of the knights, they may have been trained by him to be a good soldier.

Velmeria goes up the stairs and lead Fran into a room. It seems to be a drawing room. It wasn't flashy, but the interior was calming.

「Wait here」

「Nn」

At the same time, a female servant brings us a tea. Velmeria is still wary of us, but she seems to treat her as a guest.

『But, there is still surveillance huh』

(1 person in the attic, 1 person in the next room)

『Don't do reckless things, it's a nobleman's mansion』

(Nn)

Partly because we didn't notice Frederick, we are paying close attention to the surroundings. Skills, magic, and Urushi's nose are all mobilized. If we still can't find him with this, I think he was already in a rank S class powerhouse.

「Zuzu」

On the sofa in the drawing room with a peephole, we spend time drinking tea while paying attention to the surveillance and killing time. As expected, i need to refrain from serving large amount of food from dimensional storage in this noble mansion.

Because it's strange to suddenly serving curry here. For the time being i only allow kushiage here.

What? You want us to stop eating? Hahahaha, it's impossible.

After waiting for about 10 minutes, Vermelia returned to the drawing room where the delicious smell of kushiage remained. She is accompanied by a man of about 50 years old. However, he didn't look like an elderly person, though not very much.

He wears well-tailored, loose-fitting robe-like clothes, but he can't hide his trained body underneath. The bodybuilder also has a deep blue tint, he is clearly a high-ranking warrior. If his clothes weren't for noble, he would only look like a high-ranking adventurer

「.....You seems to be relaxed」

The man speaks with a low-pitched baritone voice. If i had met him on earth, i would have recommended him to be a voice actor.

「Nn? Who?」

「You! This person is——」

「It's fine. You should pay respect to the strong, especially not in a public place like this」

Velmeria raises her anger at Fran's words, but then controls her with an uplifting attitude.

「I'm Count Sidre Bailleys, and the current employer of Colbert's and these two lords」

Was this man the Count of Bailleys? He seems to be strong enough to be entrusted as the head of the Knight Order of the royal capital. He has frank personality; he smiles and asks Fran for a handshake.

「Adventurer Fran」

「I know. I wanted to talk to you once at least. With that Black Lightning Princess」

「Do you know me?」

「Ah, of course, I was watching the martial art tournament. The battle where you won against this Colbert and the battle that defeated the Dragon Hunter Fermus. Fufufu, I'm excited, it was truly wonderful」

So, he watches the martial arts tournament huh. Then it's natural for him to know Fran. His eyes are shining like a boy listening to an adventure story.

「I couldn't exchange words at that time, but I'll never forget you, Besides, you are His Majesty the Beast King favourite after all」

「Do you know the beast king?」

「Yea, I fought side by side with him. At that time, His Majesty the Beast King was still a B Rank adventurer and he was my subordinate」

「Was the beast king in this country?」

「At that time, I was traveling around the world as adventurer, and during my stay in the beastman kingdom, a skirmish with the Kingdom of Raidos took place, and I participated in the battle as a mercenary to earn travel expenses」

So, he participated in that war to earn travel expenses huh. As expected of the Beast King. Well, in the Beastman Kingdom, it's normal for adventurers to participate in the war, and it maybe a good source of extra income.

「The Beastman Kingdom at that time was in difficult situation due to the naval blockade of the Raidos Kingdom. So, the war is meant to return the grudge. At that time, I was the organizer of the mercenary unit, and that person was assigned to my direct unit」

Count Bailleys laughs at the fact that he was immediately pulled out from his position. The beast king at that time hid the fact that he was a royalty, so he only thinks that he was only a cheeky and interesting young adventurer.

However, it seems the Beast King and the Count still have a relationship. No, it may be said that it is a friendship that transcends position and age. After all, when the Beast King comes to the royal capital of Kranzel Kingdom, he always stays at the residence of Count Bailleys.

The Beast King who come to the royal capital after the martial arts tournament, naturally stayed at the Count Bailleys residence and asked him to take care of Fran when she come to the royal capital.

「It's his Majesty the Beast King request. I can't help but wonder, but I didn't expect to have this kind of encounter...」

Everything was true. Rather, there is no single lie. Does he trust us so much? Anyway, it seems we can consider this Count as an ally.

「Take care of me」

「Umu! Take care of me too」

Chapter 411: Investigations

「Oops, It seems i talked too long, I was excited to see the Black Lightning Princess in front of me. Please take a seat」

「Nn」

Prompted by the Count, Fran sits down on the sofa again. The Count sits in front of us, with Colbert to the right and Velmeria and Frederick to the left of the Count.

「Well, it seems to have been an unfortunate encounter, but I'm not going to blame it」

That's good to hear. We slammed our thunder magic into Velmeria, the daughter of the Count. If we were blamed for that, we would have a lot of trouble.

「But if possible, I would like to know what's your purpose for? We are investigating Marquis Ashtner, and it's almost over. If you make a flashy move there, what we've been secretly doing so far will be wasted」

Count Bailleys said he was investigating the treason of Marquis Ashtner at the behest of the kingdom. In particular he was suspected of his own research and search of magic swords, and illegal manufacturing and smuggling of narcotics.

「It's all because of Black Lightning Princess——Fran, we can uncover a part of Serdio Receps sins」

They haven't able to grab Marquis Ashtner tail until now, but it seems that various things have begun to appear in the wake of Serdio's death.

「It seems that he run out of his luck up until now. Serves him right」

Count Bailleys said so and laughed with joy. He is completely hostile to Marquis Ashtner huh.

「I heard from Colbert that your acquaintance may have been captured by Marquis Ashtner」

「Nn」

「Can i know his name?」

(what to do?)

Well, with the help of the Count, we might be able to get information about Gallus.

Besides, when it comes to the investigation by the order of the country, if we do something wrong and get in the way, there is a possibility that we could be criminals.

『Fran, we'd better talk about Gallus here』

(Nn, understand)

In the first place, as long as we can find Gallus, it doesn't have to be on our own. Fran would want to rescue Gallus on her own, but I'm okay if Count Bailleys rescued Gallus from Marquis Ashtner.

「Looking for Gallus the blacksmith」

「Gallus...Maybe the Kranzel Kingdom Honorary Blacksmiths, Gallus?」

「That's him」

「...Surely a while ago, Marquis Ashtner had invite Gallus under the pretext of a public project...Frederick?」

「Sir, According to the investigation, Marquis Ashtner requested it should have been for repairing magic tools of the Great Barrier」

The Great Barrier is a magical tool that creates a huge barrier that covers the town developed by Marquis Ashtner. It is not completed yet, but it is said that it has been put to practical use.

It seems that this is also one of the factors that Marquis Ashtner is suspected for treason against the kingdom. In other word. It is thought that they intended to use it as a trump card when it comes to a fight with the country.

Although the information is handed over at the request of the country, the doubt seems to remain.

「At first, it is a secret of the Marquis, so we don't know where and how long the work was done」

「So, the repairs already done, right?」

「Yes, about Gallus, he has already been released」

In other words, he means that he has been released but they are still confining him?

「Gallus is likely to have been confined in Count Olmes's villa」

「Huh? Is that true?」

「Nn. A mansion with a war maiden glared at by a scorpion lion. That is where Gallus is」

「I see, that's certainly the mansion」

It seems he understood immediately because his mansion was related.

「How did you get that information?」

「Gallus told me」

If it's him, it wouldn't be a problem to tell him. We tell them that there's a letter secretly written on the scabbard exhibited by Gallus, and what written on it was "a mansion with a war maiden glared at by a scorpion lion."

Bailleys seems to have believed us by showing him the actual scabbard.

「So that's how...can you give me one day? we're going to investigate it」

「Can you get anything on one day?」

「I've spent a lot of time keeping my hands around Marquis Ashtner. I'm going to do my best to find out」

It seems that he has taken a long time to prepare. That's why he wants to avoid Fran from ruining his effort.

「If he's detaining the kingdom's honorary blacksmith, Gallus, he can be charged with a clear national treason」

(Master, what to do?)

『Hmm, I'm sure it's bad to rush it』

I don't even know where he's being confined in the mansion. Moreover, if we do something to the noble's mansion, it becomes a big crime. So, it would be less dangerous to have Count Bailleys investigate.

「If Gallus-shi is confined, it must be related to the research of magic sword, if so, we can investigate by the route they used to procuring the supplies necessary for blacksmithing from somewhere」

He seems to be quite confident. This seemed to be worth for a one day waiting.

「I understand, will wait 1 day」

「That's helpful, I will send you a messenger tomorrow night」

「Nn」

But what can we do until tomorrow? is there anything we can do to help?

「Do you need helps with the investigation?」

「Rather, adding an unfamiliar person might confuses the field. If you won't do anything——No, can you spend your day normally?」

「Umu, I'm talking about the scabbard, I don't know how much Marquis Ashtner knows. At worst, he may be monitoring Fran. Ah, but in here you are safe. This mansion is our base for investigation, cause I'm paying really close attention to it. But, i won't know in your daily life. There's a possibility that there's a watchful eye in the inn or in the town」

「In that case, it would be more deceptive to the other side to go sightseeing. It's fine to participate in the auction, right?」

Well, he does have a point. And to tell the truth, i was really grateful for his word. After all, magic stone auction will be held tomorrow. In this situation, i was hesitant to participate. But if he asks us to keep it normal, I can't help but do that, right?

「Nn, then tomorrow I'll be normal」

「Do that please, Ah, I'll be putting surveillance over you, so please don't attack them」

「Surveillance? over me?」

「No, I'm trying to keep an eye on the spies which is monitoring Fran. I don't know how much information Marquis Ashtner has about Fran. But if it done well, I might be able to grab the tail of the other person」

So, Fran become a decoy huh? Well, we don't really care, there is no harm here. We have to talk with telepathy as much as possible, otherwise, when Fran is alone, she will be thought as a loner with a lot of monologues.

Chapter 412: Street Murderer

After we promised to cooperate with Count Bailleys, in the night of royal capital, we walked towards our inn.

As expected, there are many people at night in the royal capital. Especially around the red-light district, it will be more crowded than during the day. On our first day, we got into this place and got lost, but now I have grasped the way to some extent, so no problem.

「Nom Nom」

「Munch munch」

There were many food stalls aimed at drunk people in red-light district, Fran and Urushi enjoyed buying and eating as usual. However, they don't have much taste variation huh.

The royal capital is a landlocked city. So, it seems the seasonings are more expensive than Barbra. Neither spices nor salt can be used in large quantities due to high transportation costs. Therefore, most of the seasonings here are based on miso produced around here.

That's why we are doing research in this red-light district, but it seems we unexpectedly won't get bored of it. Fran and Urushi were even aiming at a stall with miso-based seasoning in the middle.

But when a child like Fran walks in the red-light district at night. She really stands out, so today we used our covert skills. With this, a thug level won't even notice Fran, so it shouldn't develop into destruction of the red-light district to the ash, like what Kalk was worried about. But if something happens, it can't be helped right?

Well, we'll be close to our inn soon, and it's unlikely for something to happen. After this, if we go through underground passage there, we will reach our inn in a straight line.

Fran descends to a slope leading to a dim underground passage. As expected, there are no food stalls here. Rather, the traffic suddenly disappeared, and I felt the noise of the red-light district was strangely far away. I thought it was because we simply went underground.....

(...Master)

(I felt something strange)

『What? something strange?』

(Nn)

What does she mean? I didn't feel anything.

『What exactly is strange?』

(...it's just felt strange)

『E-to, did you feel unpleasant?』

(Nn! unpleasant!)

So that mean, she felt unpleasant sensation? Moreover, only Fran?

『Is it magic?』

(Nn...?)

It seems that Fran hasn't grasped the true nature of that sensation.

『But, why i can't feel it...?』

I don't fully open my detection skills on a daily basis, but if it was a magical anomaly in our surrounding, I should feel a sense of discomfort. But why i hasn't feel it?

『How about you Urushi?』

(woof!)

It seems that Urushi also felt it.

『...Let's get away from here for the time being』

I don't know what Fran and Urushi felt, but it's better to stay away from here. If the two feel something is wrong, we can't ignore it.

But it seems that we were a little late.

「Master」

Strong killing intent and intimidation. A man was approaching us from the front without even trying to hide his hostility toward Fran. Is that a magic sword in his hand? A strange magical power is released from the long sword held by the man.

It's not just magic. He was also in a strange appearance. But no matter how you look at it, the sword was half destroyed. After all, the blade broke in the middle, and the remaining part was also deeply cracked. The handle has a sabre-like hand cover, but the surface is engraved with a face of a man with a look of agony.

『He seems to be a skilled ones, don't let your guard down』

He has Sword Skill: Lv 4 and Sword Technique: Lv 2, he even has intimidation, covert skill, and flame magic. Maybe he's an adventurer, he's certainly on rank C or above.

The man's name is Hamuls, I've never met him. Maybe he's the street murderer? Or is he going to defeat Fran and make a name for himself?

(Note: Street Murderer [Tsuji Giri: killing passerby to test a new sword], and also, any better suggestion for ハムルス (ha mu ru su)? Hamurus, Hammuls, Hammulus, Hamrus...)

As I continued the appraisal, I noticed the condition i had never seen before. Fanaticism? If you look only at the letter, does it mean a fanatic or something like that? This is my first time seeing it.

In any case, even though it's a strong enemy, Fran didn't lose in terms of both status and skills. The only thing that bothers me is the ability of the magic sword. Even though it's broken, it still emits strong magical power. Moreover, whether it was originally a high-ranking magic sword, it was not possible to appraise it.

(Understand)

『Urushi waits in the shadow in case of emergency』

(woof!)

Well, anyway, I wonder what this feeling is. When i look at Hamuls, it makes me feel uncomfortable. It feels like when my chest is rustling or my stomach is stuffy.

In a single word, disgust? Anyway, it's not physically, but I couldn't help feeling unpleasant about this man. I wonder what this feeling is.

『Fran, when you look at him, do you feel unpleasant?』

(It's not unpleasant, more concerned about how strong he is)

『Urushi?』

(woof)

Apparently, it's only me who felt it now, opposite from a short while ago.

『Uhhh』

It was probably since I felt terrible disgust for Serdio that i thought others so badly. No, it's far worse than that time. But, did I hate this Hamuls-like face? But he's just your average looking man, they're everywhere.....

Fran readied herself to pull me out anytime and called out to Hamuls as he approached.

Hamuls didn't answer anything to Fran, and proceeds to walk silently. The distance between the two was already less than 10 meters.

「If you get any closer, I'll consider you as enemy」

As expected, Hamuls moves forward without answering anything. He wields the sword as it is. He's clearly hostile.

After confirming his action, Fran moved, run with her body as low as if crawling on the ground. The aim is his foot, we intend to deprive him of his mobility and neutralize him.

As the result of continuing our training to control our skill since the integration of skills, the strengthening of physical ability has worked. The enhanced agility was already been considerable. To be frank, even if we just slashed at this speed, we can already beat an ordinary opponent.

However, Fran is on alert. Immediately before the slash, she puts in a feint with her eyes and pretends to aim at his neck. Hamuls got caught of her feint and moved to guard his neck with his sword.

It seems that he soon realized Fran's aim, but it's too late. It was already impossible to prevent this attack.

Yes, it seemed impossible—

Clank!

「Ugh」

The magic sword that Hamuls held is protruding and slashed to the ground. Seriously, it seems to do better than I expected. Besides, the magic sword is also unusual.

Currently, I have consumed about 500 magical powers and have greatly increased my attack power. If it's a mass-produced sword that's sold all over the place, we should be able to cut it along his legs. We should be more careful with this magic sword.

And there's one more thing I noticed. I did feel uncomfortable about Hamuls, but I seemed to be even more disgusted with that magic sword. The moment we exchange our slash, I thought I'd get goosebumps. There's sign of magical power emitted from that sword, it seemed to arouse my disgust.

Is this a familial disgust? But I have never had such a feeling with other magic swords and swords.

『Uhhh...』

(Master, what's wrong?)

『No, nothing. It's just that his magic sword is strangely irritating』

(Is that, Master's enemy?)

『No, how to put this...But I'm sure i don't like it』

(Understand, Master's enemy is my enemy)

Oops, it seems that Fran is fired up. But, I'm sure i don't like that sword. I want to destroy it here if possible.

「Nn」

Either way, he's the one who's been slashing, if he doesn't want to speak up, that's fine. I will slash both the user and the sword as it is.

I put more magical power into my blade and fully opened my skill. It's still not at fine control, but it was possible to use it with the determination to waste magical powers. This could be an overkill, but it doesn't matter if you're against this opponent.

Now, I just wanted to bury that magic sword as soon as possible.

「Hyaa!」

Chapter 413: Hamuls

Shiing! Sclank!

A high-pitched metallic sound is heard in the underpass when our blades collide with each other.

There is a girl and a man who manipulate the swords and slashed each other. Fran and Hamuls.

Thanks to the reticence of the two of them, the only sound echoing in underpass was the high-pitched sound of me and my opponent's magic swords clashing each other.

We're overwhelmingly advantageous in this battle, but Hamuls sometimes manages to evade Fran's attack with strange movements. No, it seems, it is the magic swords that makes the strange movements.

「Sha!」

Gaiin!

(Note: there's a lot of sfx that i don't know how to translate it in English properly!!)

It's so now, Hamuls was completely caught in the illusion of Fran created by my illusion magic.

Hamuls thrusts out his magic swords to attack Fran's illusion. Moreover, because he used his sword skills, his body will be slow to react.

And at the moment he slashed the illusion, a deadly blow by Fran who went around behind him was released. Hamuls was completely lost sight of Fran. Moreover, his body is still stiff from activating sword skills before.

He is supposed to be a dead body now. Fran's sword technique was supposed to cut through Hamuls's body. However, Hamuls arm moves quickly, preventing me from being slammed into his back with his magic swords protruding over his shoulder. No matter how you look at it, Hamuls doesn't see Fran's slash. It was as if the sword had moved on its own in order to prevent our attack.

Does he have auto guard skills? But there is no such thing in Hamuls's skill, so it must be the ability of that magic sword.

Even so, Hamuls's expression doesn't even change

「—Fire Javelin」

Still, his mouth moves smoothly only when chanting magic. It's creepy to see that only the mouth moved so quick.

And, without making a voice again, he slashed. Isn't he's completely unconscious? Is he being manipulated by someone?

Fran and Hamuls face each other quietly. Then, suddenly Hamuls jumped up, at the same time his magical power also increases.

Hamuls's muscles began to swell, making a creaking noise. Moreover, his status rises up sharply. It's abrupt, is it a sudden power-up development? His appearance looks like a human being becomes an evil person as we have seen in Barbra, but i don't feel any evil from him.

However, when facing Hamuls, I felt my disgust just become stronger. Heck, what happened to me...

I can see that the magical power is so dense that it be visualized around the magic sword. It deployed a blade formed by magical power. It's an image of Aura Blade, a sword technique that attacks with a magical blade, instead of its own blade huh.

「Haa!」

Fran attacked Hamuls, who was still convulsing. That behaviour that doesn't wait for his transformation to complete will be an advantage for us. However, the sword moves again. Hamuls is still standing on the same spot, but the sword moves automatically. There's no doubt that sword has an Auto Guard ability

However, Fran was calm. While keeping our distance she readied me on her hips.

If it can prevent our normal attack, we simply need to aim at a place where is it physically impossible to reach. Specifically, the diagonal line of his right hand holding the magic sword. The left ankle.

We deal a blow of god speed with sword drawing technique. The sword tried to respond to it, but it wasn't long enough because it was broken, and can't guard it on time.

I was swung by Fran and cut Hamuls's leg off easily. Losing the support of his left foot, Hamuls falls to the ground. Well, this guy is just like before, with his white eye and still convulsing.

However, something amazing happens in front of us. The cross section of Hamuls's wound swelled, and it began to regenerate with at tremendous momentum. His ankle returns to normal in only two seconds.

In a hurry, I tried to appraise him again. Now he suddenly had Regeneration, Muscle Enlargement, and Martial arts were added to the skills of Hamuls.

It's not that strange to have more skills afterwards. When Fran evolved, her skills would increase, even the Evil Person had evil arts after their first change.

However, what is the reason of the sudden powers up and increased skills while still remaining as a human?

When I continued the appraisal with that in mind, I noticed a surprising fact. The state of Hamuls was him using Potential Release.

His life force continued to decrease while his status was greatly increasing. Certainly, it is the side effect of using potential release. Is this also the ability of that magic sword?

「Fuh! Shii! 」

Hamuls stood up from lying on the ground as if jumping with the power of his spine, and attacked Fran with an expressionless expression like deadpan face as usual.

With a terrible continuous attack. Hamuls, whose using potential release, seems to be aiming end this battle quickly. But continuous attacks tend to be in an unreasonable position. In other words, Hamuls now is full of gaps and opening from our point of view.

It is not so difficult for Fran, who has gained a lot of experience in one-on-one fighting, it's not difficult to make use of that opening. She launches an attack and slashes Hamuls.

Several fatal slashes caught Hamuls. However, the wound is immediately regenerated due to the abnormal regenerative power. It seems, due to using potential release, that mere regeneration skills have been raised to the same level of effectiveness as instant regeneration.

For such opponents, long distance magic attack is more effective, but it is also difficult to use in the town and in this underground passage. Fran could even be charged with a crime if she let it collapse.

「Next one will be more faster!」

Well, Fran seems to be enjoying the fight against this abnormal Hamuls, that's relieving.

Fran sped up even further and attacked Hamuls with 3D movements using walls, ceilings, and aerial jumps. Hamuls's whole body is scratched but it immediately closes. The magic sword doesn't only prevent attacks on vital points, in the meantime, it even strikes back.

It is an attack that take advantage of his abnormal regenerative power. Moreover, his attack method was abnormal.

「Kuh」

『Dorya!』

His arm, which was in a state of being bent at an impossible angle, continued to attack. I can hear a painful cracking sound. Is it possible to do such an unreasonable attack?

Hamuls's abnormal attack continues

Zobbu!

He thrust his sword into his belly. Blood started dripping and Hamuls vomited blood. Then, the magic sword that penetrated Hamuls's body approached Fran, who were slashing behind him.

「Muu!」

Fran was surprised, but thanks to Hamuls's warning in advance when he did something, she avoided it by a hairbreadth.

Even though he has the ability to regenerate, he's too bold. And is Hamuls rally come up with such a surprising tactic, who is clearly lost his reasoning?

Hamuls, with a hole in his chest started to closing, and advances his steps with a hollow expression that seems to not have emotion or intelligence at all.

As expected, something is strange here.

Chapter 414: Magic Sword Struggle

Fran continues to fight fiercely with Hamuls, but his luck is about to run out.

Fran, who had become accustomed to Hamul's bizarre movements, can completely see his attack, while his vitality continued to diminish due to the potential release.

However, even though he has been cornered, Hamul's still expressionless as before.

『As expected, that sword is strange』

(Nn)

Actually, while fighting, we tried several times to destroy Hamul's magic sword. However, all of it have failed.

For example, when we aimed at the sword itself with fire attribute sword technique and vibration fangs, Hamul became a shield as if to protect the sword.

Next, we tried to paralyze him with thunder magic so he will let go of the sword, but no matter what, he didn't let go of his sword.

There was a doubt i had all this time.

Is there a person who manipulates Hamul who has lost his reasoning? If so, where are he and how are he manipulating him? Is he hiding somewhere and manipulating him with magic? Or is he has been put in something like a suggestion in advance?

Or is it that sword who manipulate him?

That's right, my doubt was that. Isn't that a sword similar to me? Whether it is an intelligence weapon or not, it seems that the sword is manipulating Hamuls. Moreover, as we have seen Hamuls move to protect the magic sword, it seems that it has some intelligence.

On the contrary, there seems to be emotions such as impatience and anger. This is also only my guess after seeing Hamuls's movement.

Immediately after he fired a slash with the magic sword, his attack intensified as if to take a distance to be vigilant or retaliate.

Although, an Intelligence weapon is a legendary existence, but that doesn't mean that I'm the only one.....

No, our battle is our priority now. Hamuls vitality will soon run out, with that said, there would be no more resistance.

Even if the magic sword itself has a will, if you look at our battle so far, you can see that it cannot act autonomously or not even able to move alone. It is already cornered this much. If it really can move, it's strange to not launch a surprise attack with only the sword.

It seems that it realizes that his limit is approaching, and go on its final offense as the magic power of the sword increased even further. The magical blade swelled like a large snake and attacked.

「Muh!」

Even if Fran avoided it, it seems it will stretch forever and chase her relentlessly. But this is an opportunity. It only focused on chasing Fran.

『Urushi! Do it!』

「Grrraa!」

It was a surprise attack by Urushi we had preserved so far. He jumps out of the shadow of Hamuls and reach out his hand holding the sword. His hand was bitten by Urushi and Hamuls let go of his sword.

The magic sword loses its support and falls to the ground, disturbing the attack of the magic blade. The ceiling of the underpass has been severely scooped out, but let's pretend we never saw it.

「Master!」

『Oh!』

We won't miss this opportunity! Fran, approached him at once with my transfer and unleashes an air sword technique with all her strength.

「Haaaa!」

Gyaiiin!

The magic sword collided violently with me with an echoing high-pitched metallic sound.

「Gnuu!」

We were going to split it in half with this blow, I have put sufficient magical power and activated our skills.

However, Fran's attack, which was swung down from above, only managed to chipped some of the blade that had already broken and had been shortened. Well, it seems we can defeat him with straightforward manner!

Immediately after that, Fran tightened her expression at once and jumped out of the place.

『 q ● s / . , o x 4 q ◇ n 7 @ ———! 』

The presence of the magic sword suddenly increased, and something like an indescribable scream echoes in the underpass.

『Gaa! What now!』

「So noisy」

Moreover, it's not just a mere scream. It was as if the screams were being hit directly against our brain, like a telepathic skill. Fran holds her head and frowns.

The source was the magic sword. Is it felt hurt and angry? It looks similar like me...Its possibility as my kind has finally increased.

However, its resistance will be only up to this point. Hamuls's vitality, who has been abused, has finally reached its limit.

Doshaa

Hamuls collapses on the spot like a doll with a broken thread. As if the fierce battle until now was a lie.

「...Dead?」

『Yea』

There is no need to appraise him as his vitality can't be felt from his body. His heart was also stopped beating. He loses his skills effect and his muscles shrink.

I used dimensional storage to confirm whether he died or not, and i was able to get it done without any problems. After all, Hamuls is dead.

All that's left is his magic sword. I tried to appraising it again, I wonder if there will be any change after we managed to damage the blade. Then, the result of the appraisal looked different from the previous one. It seems that appraisal has become more effective because its ability has declined due to the damage.

『...I was only barely able to reveal its name huh』

Name: c % s :● h j / n ■ P

However, the characters were garbled and i couldn't reveal its ability. If I can find out its true name, we can at least find the source of the magic sword.

Wait? Someone who couldn't be appraised in the past should not have been able to simply see it. The same is true for swords. Only the part that can be identified such as the name is displayed, and the impossible part simply cannot be seen. But i never heard of garbled characters.

I thought that the name was garbled as a result of this magic sword blocking the appraisal...but, isn't this its real name? No, did it mean that the original name was originally there, but as a result of its severe damage to the blade, the name has become strange?

「Master?」

『Oops, it's nothing』

Well, I don't care anymore. This thing is going to be destroyed here.

『Fran, I'm going to destroy this guy』

「Nn」

This time at full throttle, we paid no mind about our surroundings, Fran swings me while concentrating her mind. It was just after that.

『W-wha!』

「Muh」

Tremendous amount of light and magical power was emitted from the magic sword.

Chapter 415: How to use Magical Release

Immediately after Fran swung me, a tremendous amount of light and magical power was emitted from the magic sword. It released magical power from its whole body. It's not just a blinding light, it's an omnidirectional attack with considerable offensive power.

『Cheh!』

Although it was prevented by my barrier, the entire underpass were shaking. The release of magical power soon subsided, but the figure of the magic sword was no longer there.

Not only it attacked us with the release of magical power, but it also makes use of that moment to move.

「It fled?」

『I won't let it get away』

The magic sword flies toward the entrance of the underpass at a tremendous speed. Its speed is comparable to my full-powered catapult.

Using transfer is—a no. At that speed, we wouldn't be on time right after we transferred.

I think it's bad to destroy this underpass by trying to unleash magic of great firepower. In the end, we shot Fire Javelin in a row. More than 20 flame spears reach out the magic sword.

However, the magic sword avoided everything with a sharp movement
While flying at high speed, it twists its body and creates a rotating trajectory like a barrel roll.

And the magic sword that avoided all of our attack run out without killing its momentum.

『We'll chase it!』

「Nn」

When we followed it in a hurry, the sight of pandemonium and scream was spreading outside.

「Uwaaa!」

「I-it hurts, it hurts!」

「He-help me...」

「Bl-blood is...!」

Near the entrance of the underpass, more than 10 people were bleeding and collapsed, some of them have broken arms and are dying.

Not only that, we can even hear screams from far away.

『Tha-that bastard...It attacked anything in its way!』

「...heal them!」

『Aa! Urushi chases that magic sword!』

(woof!)

We abandoned the chase and healed those victims with recovery magic. It seems this is the aim of that magic sword.

It's definitely has intelligent. Otherwise it wouldn't come up with such a nasty way to stop is. It means that sword was really a kind of me.

「I hate that sword」

『Me too』

「Will absolutely beat it」

『The next time we meet, we'll settle this』

「Nn! won't let go next time!」

『Ou!』

Even so, the movement of that magic sword at that time of escaping was like my catapult.

However, the principle is completely different. Apparently, that magic sword blew out compressed magical power to gain propulsion.

As the name suggests, my psychic catapult first explode kinetic energy and shoots my self, then steers with psychic. While that magic swords way of flying is like a rocket that constantly spouts magical power. It was a method that could be called an engine system.

Perhaps this is the cause of Hamuls abnormal movement that ignored Hamul's physical limits during battle.

Previously, the insect-type demon beast, Disaster Ballbug we fought in Ullmut dungeon, used his magical power release skill to rapidly accelerate and change direction, it seemed to be the same principle.

Anyway, it must take tremendous amount of magical power to produce that speed. At least, it should have been impossible to continue using it for a long time.

In addition, even if it has acceleration force, it will not be able to make small turns. Aside from attacking a non-moving opponent, it's pretty hard to hit someone who moves around at high speed like Fran. If dodged, both Hamuls and the magic sword will be defenceless during that time. That seems to be its weak point.

After the rescue of the citizen was over, we went back to the underpass for the time being. Then Fran shouted in a small voice.

「Aa」

「The unpleasant atmosphere disappeared」

『Did you mean the unpleasant feeling when we entered the underpass?』

「Nn」

As expected, it must have been related to that magic sword. But I have no idea, is it related to the disgust I had for that magic sword? It seems that Fran and Urushi didn't feel the same feelings as I did for the magic sword and Hamuls.

『I don't know』

「Nn」

For the time being, what should we do with Hamuls's body? Should we hand it over to the guard station? I don't think he'll be treated as a murdered, but he's likely to be detained.

When I was wondering what to do after this, I felt someone's presence entering the underpass. Moreover, many people come from both entrances. It seems that ordinary citizens have come down to the underpass.

But, when I thought about it, it was unnatural for no one came in when we fought fiercely.

Besides, it's unlikely that no one coming into this underpass in this entertainment district for that much time.

Did the underpass have any abilities to prevent people from entering in the first place? So, it's a type of barrier that only affect peoples. With that in mind, it's understandable for me to not felt the strange unpleasant feeling as I'm not a living thing.

When I was thinking on the spot, I felt a presence that I knew come down to the underpass from the opposite side of that magic sword's escape.

「Fran, are you all right?」

「Black Lightning Princess, are you safe?」

「Velmeria. Frederick」

It was the two who we had just parted earlier.

Chapter 416: The Magic Swords

Identity

Shortly after our battle with Hamuls ended.

Velmeria and others came down to the underpass. She rushes to Fran with a worried look. So, the escorts sent to Fran was Velmeria huh.

「I'm terribly sorry. Even though he said i must be wary of any enemies coming into contact with Fran...」

Apparently, my guess about a barrier to prevent people to enter the underpass was correct. According to Frederick's analysis, it seems that this underpass would be hard to recognized unless you have certain or higher status.

Moreover, it seems to be considerably higher cause even Velmeria and others couldn't break in.

Because of that, Velmeria and Frederick lost sight of Fran and stuck around. They seem to not recognize we had entered the underpass because of the high-level barrier.

Both of them are quite dispirited. In the end, they can't grasp our opponent identity.

「Attacked by street murderer」

「Street murderer...Did he escape?」

「Defeated it. I can take it out」

「Ah, you were a space-time magic user right, does it mean, you killed him?」

「Nn」

Velmeria thinks on Fran nods.

「Even so, I don't think a mere street murderer can put up such barrier」

Surely, but I don't know if it was just a mere street murderer.

「He had strange sword」

「Sword?」

「Nn, it was a magic sword」

Fran asks Velmeria and others about the magic sword that Hamuls had. However, it was not possible to identify the true identity of the magic sword by only that.

However, we tell them that the sword seems to be manipulating Hamuls and also greatly improved his ability, and about how it escaped by moving alone.

「Impossible...It can manipulate people? is there really such a magic sword」

「Well, you are right...I don't have any proof, but if it's an undead sword, it might be possible」

Frederick seems to have a guess.

「Undead Sword?」

「Ah, it's a sword which a soul have moved in」

Frederick explained to us, it is a weapon that has become a host for ghost, and the user will be possessed by the ghost and be manipulated. In addition, those who are being manipulated may be strengthened by the ghost's ability. Certainly, it matches the characteristic of that magic sword.

But, if it's an undead sword, it wouldn't be a magic sword anymore but a kind of demon beast from ghost system.

「However, undead sword is not such a strong demon beast. Their threat level is only F. If you are slightly stronger than average person, you wouldn't be manipulated by it.」

「Nn? But, felt great magical power from it」

「That was strange, I've never heard of an undead sword that emits magical power so strong that would makes Black Lightning Princess felt it. Maybe it's a unique individual or a higher-ranking species」

Even though it was a unique individual, is the original small fish demon beast was strong?

「I have to report this to his excellency and search for it. Also, in order to find out the identity of the street murderer, I would like to ask you a few question」

「We have a room as our base on this side. Let's go there before the guards come in this turmoil. It would be a lot of trouble if you get detained」

With the guidance of Velmeria, we moved to a small room prepared in the apartment house in this entertainment district. We took Hamuls's corpse out of the dimensional storage and show him to Velmeria and others.

It seems that Hamuls was not just a mere street murderer.

「Eh...? Hamuls!」

「...without a doubt」

It seems they knew each other. After confirming it, Velmeria rushes to Fran.

「Fran! What do you mean by this!」

「I fought because he attacked, Then, he couldn't stand the strengthening of that magic sword and it killed him」

「There is certainly no external wound」

It's good for Frederick to remain calm. Velmeria seems to have noticed that she was too restless when she saw her subordinates' attitude.

「I'm sorry Fran, that was my bad」

「Acquaintance?」

「He's no more than a colleague! He was missing during infiltration in Marquis Ashtner ranks」

It's smells fishy. In other words, is the source of that undead sword is Marquis Ashtner? Or by any chance, they are not researching for magic sword but for an undead sword? Isn't it impossible?

「But it's certainly unusual. There's no precedent for an undead sword that can control a warrior like Hamuls」

Velmeria gently touches Hamuls's face, she seems to be trying to close Hamuls's eyes which remains open. However, her hand suddenly stopped.

「This is...?」

「Velmeria, what's wrong?」

「Frederick, take a looks at Hamuls's eyes」

「Eyes?」

「I see. This colour...」

And like that, the two begin to examine Hamuls's body. they examined his eyes, his gums, and smells. Further, Velmeria apologized at Hamuls and she lightly scratched her fingertips and checked his blood colour.

「Yea. on Hamuls's body...it's showing symptoms of being a drug addict」

「His body is pretty tattered. I think he was given a large quantity of drugs in a short period of time」

Speaking of drugs, I recalled Serdio. His party member was also a servant of Marquis Ashtner and he was also insane.

Did it mean, he was captured by Marquis Ashtner during the infiltration, administered drugs, and used as a host for the undead sword? It means, when you lose your sanity with the drugs, even a strong person wouldn't be able to resist the control of an undead sword.

Even so, the appraisal didn't tell us he was a drug addict, right? Serdio had the title of a drug addict. No, are constant addict and being drugged different? Apparently, the addict isn't listed as a title. Does Hamuls's state, Fanaticism represent for being drugged? Drugs addiction and fanaticism...I can't really connect it together.

The most important thing for us than that now was how much Marquis Ashtner involved in this attack, and what he knew.

Does Marquis Ashtner known that Fran was looking for Gallus and that attack was a warning for us? Did he think we were related to Count Baileys? Or is Marquis Ashtner not involved in this attack at all?

Well, I don't think the last one is possible...Now, how should we move in the future huh.

「Fran, are you injured」

「Nn? no」

「Although he was being manipulated, but you didn't suffer a single wound against a warrior like Hamuls...You are really strong」

It was a compliment, but her tone was dark. Rather than blaming Fran, she has a colour of self-mockery.

「If it as strong as you, my father too...」

「Nn?」

「No, it's nothing」

The expression of Velmeria shaking her head after saying that is still dull. And Frederick stared quietly at such Velmeria.

And then, Urushi returned, but the chase seems to have failed. He looks disheartened. However, something that flies in the sky was hard to track by smell only, so it can't be helped.

Even so, where on earth did that conspicuous magic sword disappear?

Chapter 417: Magic Stone Auction

The day after Hamuls attack.

After we consulted with Velmeria, we came to the auction site as planned. Velmeria asked us to take part in the auction, they judged that spending time normally will not interfere with Count Bailleys operation.

What we are aiming for today is magic stones.

『Our first target is the Goblin King's magic stone』

「Nn」

In most auctions, the name of the demon beast that own their magic stone is known by prior appraisal.

But, i don't really know about the skill used. Well, it's meaningless information for ordinary people. Even my appraisal with Heavenly Eye skill doesn't reveal the skill sealed in a magic stone.

Maybe there is a special skill that can analyse it, but I have never heard of it. It would be convenient if I could get my hand on it.

Therefore, what we are aiming today is a magic stone with a threat level of C or higher, or it was a magic stone of a humanoid demon beast. After all, humanoid monster is dexterous, and they are likely will learn new skill by training. Until now, goblins, orcs, demons, and other humanoid demon beasts often possessed many skills.

There's a good magic stone of a devil that will be exhibited at the end of the morning session. But there will be many people aiming for it, it will be a tough battle.

No, I have 20 million Goldes on hand, and I have no problem to just drop it all, but I don't want to suddenly putting dozen times of the market price. If I ignored the market price, other participants and auction organizers may glared at us. Worst of all, the chance of us being too conspicuous and being noticed by Marquis Ashtner wouldn't be zero.

So, we will give up if the price went up too much.

「Shall we go then?」

「Nn」

『Fran, Listen quietly to what Codart says today』

(I know)

Actually, we are not alone today.

To keep a low profile, we had a representative prepared by adventurer's guild. If a child like Fran make a bid on an expensive magic stone, we will stand out, and if we win a number of bids, they will definitely look for our identity.

When we consulted with Eliante who was really concerned about us, she introduced us to some adventurers who are familiar with the auction.

Codart is a rank E adventurer, he has an appraisal skill and was originally working as an auctioneer. But he has been longing to be an adventurer for many years, he has an interesting career by becoming an adventurer by equipping himself with the money he has saved.

Therefore, he was also a late-blooming adventurer who was already 35 years old, he's not young anymore. But still, he had climbed to rank E. He seems to be having fun doing things like getting rid of small fry and doing chores in this royal capital.

He also admired a strong adventurer, and so he shows tremendous polite attitude toward Fran. He seems to have a deep respect for Fran, who has a nickname for herself at young age.

Eliante seems to have introduced Codart to us with that in mind.

「Then, it's good for us to win the bid for the items on this list, right?」

「Onegai」

While sitting next to him, the bid will be made by Codart. The items to bid in advance are decided by looking at the catalogue. We decided an upper limit after consulting with Codart. We planned to have Codart win a bid within that limit.

If an item on our list exceeded our upper limit, Fran will secretly call him out with wind magic and tell him how much to exceed.

If something else we want comes out, we will make a successful bid by ourself. It's rather strange to come to an auction site and not bid on anything.

It seems there are several products that are not listed in the catalogue exhibited today, and a mysterious magic stone that even an expert could not appraise are exhibited, so we are aiming for it.

「Are you sure you want a special seat?」

「Nn」

Because you are allowed to eat and drink over there. We take a seat in the special seat corner with Codart, and we'll just leave the rest to him.

Normally, in such a case, a representative should be paid a percentage of the difference between the prepared upper limit amount and the winning bid amount, but Codart put a fairly low price for us.

Instead, he suggested that Fran would go out for training with him once, that's why we hired Codart on that condition.

We just trained with Codart early this morning. To be honest, it's a little late to become an adventurer at the age of 30. However, he is very serious and has some guts. So, if he continues with his training, he will be able to go a little higher.

Today, I was teaching him the feeling of using martial arts, we showed how Fran unleashed her martial arts and letting him receive it with a stance while holding sword, and Codart was pretty impressed with it.

It seems that he was glad that an adventurer who was far stronger than him gave him a serious guidance. No matter how many times he was sent rolling by Fran, he seems to be smiling happily.

「Then, leave the rest to me」

「Nn」

1 hour later.

「I managed to win the goblin king」

「Munch munch」

「Next is the devil's magic stone that appears early in the afternoon huh」

「Munch munch」

While listening to Codart's words, Fran continues to ate the rice balls in her hands. I thought it would be bad to serve a strong-smelling food, so I told Fran to only eat rice balls and sandwiches.

By the way, today onigiri ingredients are tuna mayo made from grilled tuna and spicy seaweed similar to kelp.

Even so, I never thought that goblin king magic stones would be so expensive.

The Auctioneer explained at the beginning of the bid that 「It is a magic stone of the goblin king who able to use life magic endlessly to heal himself, this is the magic stone of the goblin who has tormented the adventurer! 」 I ended up giving instruction to Codart to push for it.

The winning bid amount is 2 million Goldes. It is more than four times the market price of a goblin king magic stone.

Apparently, some magic stone mania was competing for it.

Which ever the world is, there are collectors in every world, and it seems that there are magic stone mania who collect everything in the world of magic stones. What they want is a rare magic stone. Or a magic stone with a beautiful shape.

Magic stone shape are varying and most of it have a distorted shape. However, there are rarely magic stone that are well shaped like a cut gemstone.

Magic stones cannot be polished. No, it can be polished, but if it is damaged, its magical power will be greatly lost. Then, its value will decrease and even lost. For that reason, a naturally beautiful shaped magic stones are extremely rare. Therefore, it is said that the price of high-ranked demon beast stones with beautiful shape tends to rise.

I don't think magical powers matter if you just use it as decoration or collection, but a magic stones collector doesn't seem to think so. They preferred a powerful magic stone and have beautiful shapes. That was exactly the magic stone of this goblin king.

The magic stones that are put up for auction are like a collection of gems, so it seems that the winning bid cannot be estimated from the rank alone. I was told about that by Codart in advance, but i realized once again the difficulty of an auction.

『The devil's magic stone is in the afternoon...I wonder how it will goes』

Chapter 418: Master's Value

At the end of the morning session of the magic stone auction.

It is a bargain time where items that just brought in on the day and items that cannot be appraised are exhibited.

「The next one is this! A mysterious magic stone that even if an expert appraised it, everything will come out as unknown! The adventurer who brought this in, got it after seizing a thief's hideout, so there is no information regarding the demon beast that was the owner of this magic stone at all!」

It was a small magic stone. However, it has a good shape, and it seems that it was exhibited with the expectation that it would be more valuable as a jewel than a magic stone.

「Starting from ten thousands Goldes!」

Bid is coming in, but it's not that popular. The only problem here is that we don't know the exhibitor name. However, I was willing to make a successful bid for it and asked Fran to bid.

3 minutes passed while continued to competing for it. We succeeded in winning the mysterious magic stone for 120 thousand goldes.

(Got it)

『Oh, sankyu. Now we have the evil goblin general magic stone on our hand』

Yes, the mysterious magic stone is a high-ranking species of goblin, an evil goblin, it was also a general one. The evil species are more wicked, so even if they appraised it, the result will be unknown. I guess no one knew it.

However, in my case, thanks to my heavenly eye skill, I can reveal only the name. The evil magic stone doesn't help the mysterious soul in me to recover, so I'm sorry for this time. But if it's a general rank one, we can expect a few numbers of skills.

After that, Codart made another successful bid for magic stone. He got 7 out of the 8 we were aiming for from the beginning. The only bid that failed was the magic stone from a fairy species called Ketsey.

(TLN: ケットシー Kettoshii)

It is a demon beast with a threat level of C, but it's quite small. Furthermore, its colour and shape are high grade, its price has risen more than 10 times the market price. We expected special skills from it, but it can't be helped now.

We managed to get the devil's magic stone that I wanted the most, I am really grateful to Codart. We spent more than ten million goldes in a day. Well, money is meant to be used.

We parted with Codart in front of the auction site and head towards our inn.

『Well well! Let's go back to our inn and absorb it!』

「Nn」

『Iyahoo!』

Haah, my tension goes up. After all, even the cheapest one was a threat level of D, except for the evil stones. We also got 3 threat levels C, Moreover, the devil's magic stone is a Count class. In other words, it has the same threat level of B as the devil we defeated in Allesa.

There are not many opportunities to be able to absorb such high-quality magic stones at once. I want to absorb it real quick!

When i were singing along, I felt that someone was running up from behind. He stopped for a moment, but soon increased his vigilance. It turned out that the other party was a complete amateur.

He didn't erase his presence, and on the contrary, his running steps could be heard echoing. He's less than a small fry adventurer. It seems he must be a completely ordinary person.

It was an elderly man who run up. He is literary a civilian with well-tailored and loose-fitting clothes. The flesh of his belly is shaking every time he moves.

「Can i have a bit of your time?」

「Nn?」

「Yeah you! There's a story i want you to listen! There's no loss in this! Would you like to listen about it?」

(Master?)

『Well, if only a little』

I really want to go back to our inn ASAP!

「Nn, if only a little」

「Ooh! Then please come with me, this way」

What a carriage he had prepared. I'm ready for anything. But, is he a fool? Without even giving us his name, he suddenly asked us to get on the carriage. I would like to meet a fool who would get on a carriage like that.

No, i think he's underestimating this child, Fran. In other words, it seems that he hasn't investigated Fran's identity. What on earth are he going to do? I can only guess he's a scammer.

When I appraised the man, more or less, he's a nobleman, and a baron.

「Your name?」

「Oh, sorry it's a bit late. My name is Beckert」

(TLN: ベッケルト Bekkeruto)

The nobleman is humbly giving his name without his family name. he's just getting more suspicious.

「Well, it will be a long story」

「Here is fine」

We shouldn't follow a suspicious person.

「Then, I'll go home」

「Oh! W-wait! You'll regret it!」

「...Are you threatening me?」

「No-no way! I-i didn't mean it! Wa-wait a second! Oi! Come out!」

When Fran returns her heels, the man calls out into the carriage in a hurry. Then, two strong looking men come down from inside. I already know from the presence, but obviously he was going to threaten or attack Fran in the carriage, right?

However, Fran refused to ride in the carriage, so he instructed them to come out to intimidate her.

Two men stand around Fran. He is sliding the sword on his waist and frowning as if showing he is angry. It seems that he is accustomed to this kind of works.

They are not a big deal in terms of ability. They are using fake muscles and weapons that are only a fashion. It's funny that their acting skills are higher than their swordsmanship. A mere guard under Count Bailleys we meet last night can handle them by himself.

「So, you are talking?」

「Wha? Oh that's right」

Beckert was surprised at Fran who wasn't scared at all. However, he remembered his purpose and he began to talk about why he wants to talk with Fran while holding down his voice.

「Actually. My lord wanted the sword you are carrying」

「I can't reveal that...but if you give away your sword. I'll pay you 50 million goldes. How about it, it's a good deal isn't it?」

Chapter 419: Not For Sale!

「If you give me your sword, I will pay you 50 million goldes. That's good deal, right? now will give me your sword?」

He never expects his offer would be turned down, and he offers his hand. Can he give it here? 50 million goldes is a lot of money. Perhaps he thinks with this amount, any ordinary people can play and live for the rest of their lives. But is there anyone in this world would believes this stinky man will pay as much as 50 million goldes in a post-payment?

He is looking down on Fran, or are he making a fool of her? Or do we look like we're in trouble with money?

「Won't sell swords」

Look! I believed her!

「Wha? What did you say?」

「Won't sell swords」

「Hahaha! stop joking」

「Not joking」

「It's 50 million you know? I don't think there's such a good deal out there? It's an amount that ordinary adventurers can't even earn in their whole lifetime you know?」

Beckert looks astonished. Now it's clear that this guy doesn't know anything about Fran. Is these trio an idiot?

If she knew Fran was that Black Lightning Princess, he would have had different response. Fran completely loses her interest in Beckert, turn back her heels and starts walking. Well, of course the two thugs won't let us escape.

「Wait a minute」

「Don't be too cheeky」

While grinning, they stepped out to stand in front of Fran——.

「Ghaa...!」

「Bufu...!」

They stopped moving.

Because I choked both their necks with telekinetic. They must be felt their neck is grabbed by a huge hand and being lifted a bit huh.

The two fluttered their legs in struggle to escape. However, these guys couldn't escape from it and lost consciousness almost at the same time.

「Wha? What did you just do?」

「I'm not doing anything though?」

With that said, Fran glared at Beckert. He got that gaze and felt like he was being told that he was next.

He dropped his jaw while dripping cold sweat.

「Kuh...i understand! Let's make it 60 million! this should be enough!」

「Then 100 million!! How about 100 million!!」

That was a lie. No, it's even a lie when he said 50 million.

I thought about selling me to find out who his lord was, but i don't want to leave Fran when that mysterious magic sword hasn't been discovered yet.

Besides, there is a possibility that my magical power will be sealed when transporting me. Although i have the seal nullification skill, but there is no guarantee it will always worked. I didn't feel the need to gamble here.

「? Are you deaf? won't sell. It's not something that can be replaced with money」

「Wa-wait a minute」

He's persistent. However, Fran has lost interest in Beckert. She turns her back on Beckert, who is screaming with an impatient expression.

「Thi-this brat...get on with it...I'm telling you I'd buy that filthy sword! You are just a mere commoner, hand over that sword at once! Or I'll take it by force!」

This guy true self has come up. However, he's a pathetic guy.

「...Oi」

「Huh...! Wh-what...!」

「Is it filthy? Did you just say master is filthy?」

「Hi, hiiiiii!」

「And you are going to rob me? Did you just say that?」

He stepped through Fran's land mine. I'm loved by Fran. The future in which Beckert, who said he would take me over by force from Fran and could safely return to his lord disappeared at that moment.

Fran activated Lord Intimidation skill on Beckert and breaks his heart. Moreover, because she is in deep anger, she was able to concentrate Lord Intimidation on Beckert without spreading it around her. Isn't this the first time she have succeeded in controlling it?

Instead of involving her surroundings, she succeeded in controlling it thanks to her anger...Well, it really is like how Fran is.

「A, A...Aah...」

Ah, this bastard Beckert, did he leak? Black stains spread on the lower body of his clothes.

Ah, Fran, you're fine with getting this close with him?

「...Fun」

「Gegagagaga!」

However, Fran didn't seem to care about Beckert's ugliness, and when she stood in front of him, she gently reached out. She clasps her hand when reaching out to the fallen Beckert. It looks like they're shaking hands, but of course it's not a handshake.

「Abababa!」

Fran, who boast super-grip strength that cannot be imagined for her appearance, she holds his hand with all her might, and crushed his hand and deformed it like a rubber glove with no content in it. Beckert was screaming, and his mouth were letting out foam.

The moment she releases his hand, Beckert collapses on the spot. There is nothing left as his hands which had been squeezed.

『What should we do with this guy?』

(listen about his lord)

『What are you going to do after hearing it?』

(Of course, I'll beat him)

Well, you are right. But i don't really want you to do it. The other party is an aristocrat, and I hope it won't be a trouble for us later...

Aaah! So troublesome! I want to return to our inn soon! Why don't we just throw him away as it is?

As if i was worrying about Beckert's treatment, there was a new presence approaching us. It's Frederick, he dared to leak his presence as if to inform us about his existence.

「Black Lightning Princess. I'll pick up and handle these guys here」

Fran is eager to interrogate this guy and have his lord take account for him. But it's a waste of time to spend by interrogating Beckert. Fredericks would be better at cross-examination in the first place.

『No, Fran. You do as what Frederick says. Absolutely』

(Is that so?)

『Yea』

「I understand, I'll leave it to you」

「I'm going to find out the background relationship here」

Beckert should be left to Frederick. We came to the right place.

『Then, this has been resolved, let's go back to our inn!』

(Master)

(Did you just push it to Frederick because you want to go back early?)

『No no no, that's not true right?』

(...let's return to the inn)

『Yea Yea! It's magic stone absorption time! Hiyaaha!』

Fran looks a little dumbfounded, but she doesn't mind, right?

『Fufufu, It's finally the time!』

「Ne—」

『Well well, Fran-san. Please line up the magic stones!』

「...Nn」

Huh? Why does Fran show such an eye? Whatever. Rather than that, the magic stone has lined up in front of me now.

『Then, i ta da- ki ma- su! Hyahahaha—! Magic is flowing in! Oh—! Good—! goood—! unbearable! Hmmmh—! Pa?Ra?Di?Se...』

「...Woof」

Not only Fran, even Urushi's eyes too? Why?

『Ohoo—!』

「...Nn」

「...woff」

Chapter 420: Marquis Ashtner's Conspiracy

Chapter 420: Marquis Ashtner's Conspiracy

10 minutes after I absorbed the magic stones.

『Aah...I'm sorry』

「Why apologizing? Master didn't do anything wrong」

「Woof」

『Then why are you looking at me like that!』

I got a lot of magic stones points and skills in exchange for my dignity as a guardian.

I got 1420 magic stones value in total. 11 new skills and even 2 unique skills.

But there's no skill that can help me manage Fran's eyes.

However, there were a number of skills that looks interesting. And with our new Life magic, it completes the 6 types of combined attributes, it is: Thunder Magic, Life Magic, Dust Magic, Tree Magic, Molten Iron Magic, and Ice & Snow magic.

I was expecting to get few, but I was only able to get one new title. The name is 『Attribute Master』 .

Magician had the ability to control magical power and increase the processing power during casting. It doesn't work for me, but it will help Fran to use magic in the future.

In addition, it seems that she now can choose Magic Expert job. From the name, you can tell that it is a high-ranking magician.

Other skills that are unlikely to be useful are singing, dancing, woodworking, and carpentry. It was all basic skill.

Skill that seems to be useful are normal skills such as corruption nullification, overweight, ghost dispel, and animal knowledge. Unique skills we had obtained were predatory absorption and cannibalism.

Corruption nullification, as the name implies, is a resistance skill that nullifies corruption attack. Corruption is an attribute that rots flesh if it is a living thing, or corrodes it if it is an inorganic substance. It's a resistance skill that can be used for both me and Fran.

It seems that overweight is an upward compatibility skill for weight increase that we already have. It is a skill that increase the weight of yourself and your equipment. If you use it at the right time when attacking, you will be able to increase your power.

Ghost dispel is a skill similar to purification magic that can defeat a weak undead or scare strong opponents. And animal knowledge is as its name isn't it. Well, it wouldn't hurt to have it.

As for the unique skills I'm interested in, Predatory Absorption is a skill that increases the experience and other values gained from eating. Some of the skills that Urushi possesses seem to have been gained through the effects of this skill, so I'm sure it will be useful in a humble way.

And cannibalism. Hmmm. This is the only one that's subtle. It's a skill that allows you to kill your own kind and absorb some of their power. It's also a skill that Zelos Reed possesses. The reason why he became so strong so rapidly is probably because he used this skill to absorb the power of evil people.

But what about me? Is my kind a divine sword or an intelligence weapon? And besides, even if i was told to kill them. The opponent is a weapon, so does destroying it mean I've killed it? To be honest, it was a skill that seemed extremely unlikely to be used.

Well, let's just equip it and consider ourselves lucky if it activates. Oh, and by the way, the magic tool and the magic sword were not recognized as being of the same family. I bought a magic weapon at the Armor shop near the inn and have already experimented with it.

As a result, the expensive magic weapon was only destroyed in vain.

I absorbed a large number of other skills, but most of them have apparently been integrated into higher-level skills. No, it's better considering my processing power. I've been trying so hard to increase the number of skills I have. I'm not used to it yet.

After that, I was testing the effects of my new skills in the courtyard of the inn, and night was quickly approaching. Count Bailleys said he would find out where Gallus was in a day, but now I wondered what had happened.

「Master」

『Yeah, looks like he's here』

There was a familiar presence near the entrance of the inn. It seems that he dared to give a big presence to let us know that he had visited here.

The owners of the presence leave the inn and come to the courtyard where we are.

There is no doubt that it was them. Fran told Velmeria to sit on the bench after soundproofing the area with wind magic.

Velmeria is looking at Fran's magic as impressed.

「The flow of your magic invocation, I'm impressed with it. What's more is that, you are staying at this inn where you can't stay without a letter of introduction」

「Nn. When showed Eliante's letter of introduction. They let me stay here normally」

「From a guild master? Are you on good terms?」

「So so」

「Hmm, so so huh...」

Rather than being wary of Fran, Velmeria seemed to be uncomfortable with Fran's type. She didn't know how to handle Fran, who had no expression and spoke in an unpredictable way.

「We-well that's fine. But more importantly, I have a few things to report.」

「Nn」

「First of all, about the magic sword you saw. I've looked into a lot of things」

It was the one who had manipulated his friends to death. Velmeria and the others must have a great deal of interest in that magic sword. When we parted, I asked them about its characteristics in detail and left. Apparently, they had been searching for it earlier today.

「First of all, there was an eyewitness testimony. People who Fran healed, naturally saw it, but of course, they couldn't trace it afterwards. It seems that it suddenly disappeared into a residential area. Its current whereabouts are still unknown...」

It is a mysterious flying object that moves through the night sky while spewing out magic power. I think it stands out like a sore thumb. Well, it's not that big, and once it hides itself, it's will be hard to find.

「There is a high possibility that it is an undead sword, so we have mobilized adventurers who can use the undead search skill, but we have yet to find it.」

「It's regrettable」

「We also collected information on the magic sword, hoping to get some information from its shape. However, this too has ended as a wasted effort. There was information that Marquis Ashtner has been collecting magic swords for several years, so we thought that they might be included in the sales records..... Apparently, that's not the line either.」

Well, we have no clue after all.

「Next, I have information about the man who came into contact with you today. His name is Baron Beckert Huth. He was a subordinate of Marquis Ashtner.」

「Marquis Ashtner? What is his purpose?」

He is related to Marquis Ashtner too? Well, his name comes up everywhere.

「It seems that the Marquis himself had ordered him to obtain your magic sword by any means necessary. But the way he gave the order was to obtain a magic sword with a wolf design, which is in the possession of a strong black cat tribe girl swordsman...」

It was a messed up and ambiguous way of giving orders. For example, if they knew about Gallus's scabbard and wanted to reduce his strength and harass him, the order should have been to take the adventurer Fran's magic sword.

「I can't tell if the Marquis really knows Fran. Maybe he just half-heard a rumour about you and wanted the magic sword you possess」

In other words, the order had nothing to do with Gallus-related matters, but was aimed at the holder of the magic sword? I've heard that the Marquis house is collecting magic swords around the world.

「We're tightening things up even more at the moment, so I'll let you know if we find out any new information」

「Okay」

It seems like all the bad things are the conspiracy Marquis Ashtner. What's more, there are still reports about that Marquis house to come after this.

「Then, finally, i would like to tell you the information about Master Gallus.」

「Nn」

「The information you provided to us has been confirmed. It seems that Master Gallus was indeed confined at Count Olmes's residence.」

Chapter 421: Velmeria's Circumstances

Chapter 421: Velmeria's Circumstances

「It seems that Master Gallus was indeed confined at the Count Olmes' residence. I'm sure of it, since someone from our side witnessed it. However—」

「The report came from a person who had infiltrated as a gardener, so we did not know where he was in the mansion. Furthermore, we don't even know if he is still in the Count's mansion」

Well, normally he's likely to be confined in a hidden room, a basement, or something like that. However, it seems that he just happened to witness his existence when he was taken out to the hall on the first floor for some reason.

「He said it was just the other day」

Fran nodded at Velmeria's words. But immediately, as if in a panic, Velmeria continued her words.

「We are now preparing to conduct an on-site search of Count Olmes's residence under the authority of the Count Bailleys! Please don't do anything rash!」

Unknowingly, she felt the fighting spirit rising from Fran and thought that she might have to go in alone.

In fact, I think that was exactly Fran's intention. However, I was against the idea of Fran running into the Count's mansion alone. Even though he was doing bad things, he was still a nobleman.

It would definitely make us look like the bad guy. Unless we are prepared to rescue Gallus and flee the country, But I have no intention in doing so. I also don't know if I can really rescue Gallus for sure.

「It's difficult to gain access to the Marquis Ashtner's residence, but if it's in the name of investigating Count Olmes, I'm sure we can get the permission. Absolutely. Within the next few days, we will definitely make our move. I'll ask if Fran can join us then, so until then, Please don't do anything rash.」

Velmeria glared at Fran as if begging

『Fran, you should just nod at this point. The more details they can give us about Gallus's whereabouts, the better chance we have of rescuing him.』

「Nn. Okay」

「Oh, thank you very much」

Velmeria feels relieved and strokes her chest.

As for Fran, she seems to be a little dissatisfied, but I'll let her bear with it a little longer. However, it seems that once she got motivated, her battle switch will be turned on. Her body is still leaking with fighting spirit.

Frederick must have sensed this, because he's about to open his mouth, which had been closed up to this point.

「Velmeria, why don't you have Black Lightning Princess train you」

「Eh? Frederick? What are you talking about」

「There is a lot to be gained from practicing with a stronger opponents. Besides, doesn't Black Lightning Princess also want to exercise her body?」

「Nn!」

Fran, of all people, is the most enthusiastic about Frédéric's proposal. She is already getting up from the bench and pulling me out.

「Velmeria, I'm on it」

「...understood」

Velmeria too, must have heard Frederick's words and realized that Fran's excitement should be dissipated here. She nodded obediently at Fran's invitation.

No, not only that, but Velmeria also seems to be on board. I guess that means she is also a battle junkie.

「You doesn't want to pull it out?」

「Yes, this is my stance」

「Got it」

Velmeria faced Fran with nothing in her hands, seemingly empty-handed. But that doesn't mean that she is good at fighting with her bare hands.

Based on her appraisal, she can use martial arts, but she is more skilled in using dagger, dark arts, and throwing. He must be good at assassin-like combat combined with muffling her presence.

Well, I won't tell Fran. It would be more fun for Fran, and it would be a good training for her. Now, I wonder how well Fran will cope with her first strike?

Frederick used a technique to envelop the surroundings in darkness to prevent the two from being seen from the outside, which was also the signal for the mock battle to begin.

It was Velmeria who strike first. However, i think that is the right decision. Because there's no point in waiting for Fran, who is lightly armed and has a surprisingly effective strategy to attack her.

Even if her opponent is stronger than herself, she may be able to defeat her with a strike to a vital point using dark arts.

Even though I don't have dark arts skill, but i can tell that Velmeria was throwing out something familiar. Apparently, she threw something like an arrowhead that she had prepared under her sleeve.

She suppressed her killing intent and presence as well without any motion. But I was a little too impatient. I was thinking too much about launching an attack before she got close to Fran.

If she were an ordinary C rank adventurer, she might have been able to cause some agitation. With hope it can give her some damage. However, it didn't work on Fran. At this distance, Fran could still see and react to it.

Fran dodged the arrowhead thrown by Velmeria by simply tilting her head lightly. She then stepped in at once and kicked Velmeria's solar plexus with a front kick.

「Shhi」

「Gafuuh...!」

「Hyee」

『Hou』

She's been taking it easy on her, but she's still sent flying backwards from that kick. She has taken some damage, but not enough to stop her from moving. You can't underestimate her strength. With more battle experience, she will become stronger.

「Like hell i would let this end like this! Haaa!」

「Mmh!」

「Shhh!」

Velmeria held up a dagger in both hands and danced directly at Fran. She fired a smoke screen shortly before and throw a net-like object at her. She must have gotten serious.

Fran used wind magic to blow away the smoke and nets, but by then, Velmeria was already right beside her. Seeing her, I change my view of her. I thought she was an assassin type aiming for a surprise attack, but her skill with dagger was quite high.

Moreover, she's somewhat tricky. she compensated for the lightness of her body and the low attack power of a daggers with centrifugal force. While spinning around like a wheel, he slammed both of his daggers into Fran. In addition, almost all of the blows were aimed at vital points.

『I see, if she can get it done, she can turn the tide with a single blow』

Her teacher must have prepared her for a fight that even she could win against stronger opponent. I myself think the best thing to do is to run away from an opponent you can't beat, but there are certain situations where you can't run away from and certain situations where you shouldn't run away from.

However, she was still inexperienced. Her attacks were repelled by me, and she was often blown away by jus a kicks and fists. However, her will to fight did not fade from Velmeria's face. With her light blue ponytail swinging wildly, she came towards Fran. It's proof that her mind has been trained well.

I wonder if it is Frederick who is teaching Velmeria how to fight? Speaking of Frederick, he was watching over Velmeria with a very kind expression. He looks like a father or a brother.

I don't really understand the relationship between these two either. Velmeria, who has the surname of Bailleys, and Frederick, who talks to her in a way that he seems to be treated as Velmeria's subordinates...

They are both from half-dragonmen races, and I'm sure there is some reason for that. But I'm not sure if it's the right thing to ask. I don't want to poke my head into the muddy side of a noble.

But some people just simply couldn't read the air.

「Ne, what relationship does Velmeria and Frederick has? Is it just because you are both half-dragonmen?」

That was Fran-san. She casually asked it during the break. Then, Velmeria answered surprisingly easily. Apparently, it wasn't like it's a secret as I thought it was.

「It's hard to say what kind of relationship we have, but isn't it more like a guardianship? I heard that he was originally a guard in my mother's service, but when my father took me in, he came to this country with me.」

「Then, your mother is not in this country?」

「Yeah. father is——My ChichiUe is the Earl of Bailleys, whom Fran met the other day. What i know is that he met my mother when he was sent to the continent of Gordisia.」

(Note: You know what 父上 Chichiue is right? Chichi Ue = Literally "father above," it's very honorific and respectful way to address a father)

The continent of Gordisia was supposed to be a place where most part of it were covered by a magical beast so huge that it swallowed the continent. As I recall, I've also heard that there was a dragonmen's empire.

「I was told that my mother was the caretaker of my father」

There, the Count and Velmeria's mother became family, and Velmeria was born. However, the Count had to return to his country after his dispatch period was over, and that's when he took her in.

Certainly, the Count already had a wife and children, but as a nobleman, that was not a problem.

「Your mother is still in Gordisia?」

「Yeah. My mother has something to do there, so she can't leave Gordisia continent.」

「Lonely?」

「Well, what do you think? I have very little memory of her, and I don't think I want to meet her that badly.....Well, even if I could meet her, do you think i would like to meet her?」

She seems to be pretty easy going. Maybe that's how it is if you were separated at an early age and grew up without seeing each other.

It was Frederick who had a rather painful face. He looked at Velmeria, who shrugged her shoulders, and sadly lowered her eyes.

Maybe he's feeling sorry for Velmeria, who has no memory of her mother.

Chapter 422: Midnight Raid

The night of our mock battle with Velmeria.

「Master!」

「Woof!」

「Ceh! Fran, barrier」

「Nn!」

Fran and Urushi jumped up from their fluffy beds in the inn, and I immediately activate the transfer. In order to get away from this place as much as possible. Fran is already putting up barriers as fast as she can.

Booom!

Immediately after we moved to a dozen meters above the courtyard, there was a huge explosion from the room where Fran was staying. It had been struck with flame magic.

『Even though there's another guest, they're crazy!』

『Ah! I can feel it even from here. It's that magic sword』

In the middle of the courtyard, the person who did it stood quietly. He had a blank expression on his face which I couldn't tell what he was thinking and a half-destroyed longsword in his right hand. There is no doubt about it, that was the sword with a face of a man with an expression of agony engraved on the hand cover.

More than that, the disgust rising from within me tells me. It's him.

『Are Velmeria and Frederick safe?』

Velmeria and the others were supposed to have taken a room next door, but i couldn't feel their presence. Is it because they sensed an enemy attack and disappeared, or is it because they lost their lives and have no more presence of them? I think it's the former.....

『Urushi, check the safety of the two!』

「Woof!」

We weal deal with him

「——」

The man is looking at us with an expressionless face.

『First, i want to block his escape route...』

The only thing I can think of that might work is the Great Wall skill. But I can't use it in this small courtyard. If we covered all four sides with the huge wall made by that technique, we would only have a space of about four and a half tatami mats. If we made it thinner, it wouldn't be strong enough and he could easily escape.

I also thought about surrounding the entire inn, but then the people in the inn would not be able to escape. In the end, we had to be careful not to let him escape huh.

「Nn! Leave it to me! Haaaa!」

Fran offsets the flame magic released by that magic sword again by releasing flame magic in the same way. She ran down the street towards the man below her.

「Awakening——」

The awakened Fran kicked the sky to accelerate and slashed at him with all her might. However, the man used his magic sword to fend off the blow, he's pretty skilled.

I appraised the man during our attack. His sword skills are at level 5, higher than Hamuls. He has various strong skills such as Herculean Strength, Physical strengthening, and Rapid regeneration. He was clearly stronger than Hamuls.

And also, he is in the same state of Fanaticism and Potential Release as Hamuls. But there's something interesting.

Hamuls would have had the skills of regeneration, muscle hypertrophy, and martial arts added when he is using Potential Release. However, the man in front of me - Gordon - has none of those skills. Regeneration may have been integrated since he has rapid regeneration, but what about the other two?

Weren't those three skills given to him by the sword? I wonder if it was a skill gained from using potential release, a skill that bloom from his dormant talents?

Well, let's think about it later after we destroyed that magic sword.

『If possible, I want to capture Gordon alive』

「Nn」

If we can talk to him, we can find out if Marquis Ashtner is behind this. We'll destroy the magic sword without letting it escape and capture Gordon without killing him.

『Since he has rapid regeneration, it's okay to hurt him a little...』

As long as he was in a state of potential release, he would soon die if we didn't do anything. We had to destroy the sword and return him to his normal state before that happened.

「Haa!」

Fran's target was Gordon's wrist. The first step is to separate Gordon from the magic sword, and then hit the magic sword with a great firepower.

But that doesn't work. Gordon took advantage of his rapid regeneration and forcibly attacked her. However, Fran, who has a superior skill with the sword, did not miss the flaw in Gordon's attack. She used a feint to hit his neck and aimed at Gordon's wrists

However, Gordon reacted to it as well. But he didn't evade it, or that he repelled the thrust. Gordon dared to expose himself in front of Fran's thrust.

「Tsh!」

We pierced Gordon's solar plexus deeply. Gordon then let go of his magic sword and grabbed onto my hilt with both hands. His grab is powerful because of his Herculean Strength and Physical Strengthening skills.

I tried to get out from his grab, but Gordon had tightened every muscle in his body to hold me in place so that I couldn't escape. If I tried to escape seriously, I could shake him loose, but if I went crazy in this state, I might kill Gordon.

「Get your filthy hands off my master!」

「Haa!」

「Aaah!」

Fran grabbed my hilt and kicked Gordon in the face. The sound of Gordon's legs and ribs snapping echoed through the air. But that didn't freak Gordon out. On the contrary, she was blown away by the magic power released by the magic sword that had fallen at Gordon's feet, she's forced to let her hand go from my hilt.

「Kuh! Master!」

Thank God. She's okay. But what Gordon did after that was beyond our expectations. He showed his back and ran away from Fran.

『This bastard!...He wasn't after Fran, but his aim was me alone!』

「Stop!」

Fran was about to chase after him when she saw the magic sword standing in the way. It's trying to split me and Fran up!

『Like hell, i would let you!』

I used telekinesis to entangle Gordon's leg, and then used wind magic to break Gordon's legs as he dropped to one knee. But he still wouldn't let me go.

Should I just hold Gordon here and leave the magic sword to Fran?

『But, she can't take on a magic sword without a weapon...』

As I watched, I saw that Fran was parrying the attack of that magic sword that had plunged in at high speed with her fist that had concentrated barrier. No matter how fast it was, it would not be able to catch Fran in such a straight line of attack. Fran's fist was a little bit damaged, but she was still able to deflect its trajectory significantly.

It was just after that.

Kiiinnn!

『Obey me!』

An inorganic, high-pitched voice that sounded as if it had been synthesized by a machine rang in my head.

I can understand it with my senses, that Fran's resistance skills have been activated, something must have been played. She used to leave everything up to her skills, but now that she has trained herself to manipulate the flow of her magic, she now can understand which resistance skill has been activated.

It's mental resistance and dominance nullification.

She seems to be fine. There's nothing wrong with her. But I'm pretty sure it has used some sort of mind control ability on me. Looking at Hamuls and Gordon, there is no doubt that they have the ability to manipulate people. There was a good chance that he would be able to exert that effect on the person he slashed.

I guess the reason I could hear her voice too was because I was connected to Fran.

「So noisy」

『Fran, don't let it cut you! It has mind control powers!』

「Okay」

The sword on the ground jerks away. Is it just me, or does it seem surprised that it couldn't dominate Fran?

Chapter 423: Disgust

I wanted to go back to Fran as soon as possible. My resistance skills are preventing it from taking control, but I don't want to get hit by it again.

For the time being, I decided to restrain Gordon with earth magic. I'm not sure if it can hold him long enough, but it's better than just leaving him alone.

Gordon's figure was covered in ivy made of earth and swallowed him. After make sure of it, I transferred back to Fran's hand.

『Fran, I'm back』

『Are you okay?』

「Nn!」

When I transferred back to Fran's side, she greeted me with a hug. It must have been very painful for her to have me taken away forcefully, even just for a few seconds.

「Unforgivable...!」

The magic sword looks as if it's not sure whether to run away or to attack Fran again. From the way it acted, it really seemed to have emotions. Fran slashed at the magic sword, throwing her killing intent.

「Haaa! Brilliant Lightning Rush!」

She closed the distance at god speed and swung me down. However, that magic sword had jumped back just before that.

『I won't let you go away!』

No, this time it was different. The magic sword distanced itself from us and shot magic to Fran. But it wasn't aimed at Fran. It blew away the rock cage in which Gordon was trapped. It was a bit harsh, but it managed to set Gordon free.

I guess that magic sword isn't good at acting alone for a long time. It needs a wielder to continue the battle.

The magic sword flies towards Gordon.

『I won't let you!』

「Haaa!」

We used wind magic to blow Gordon away even more and knock him out of position. After that, we transferred and slashed at the magic sword. Immediately after the transfer, I tried to use telekinetic to block the magic sword's movement, and Fran will attack it with Sword King technique. I had planned to do that, but...

『It detected our transfer!』

The magic sword accelerated rapidly and was already out of our sight. It seems that it has excellent sensing ability. Gordon, who had just gotten up, rushed in. He was not doesn't hold the magic sword, and he had no hands.

But this guy has no martial arts or fighting skills, so what is he going to do? As I was thinking that, he came straight at me. Although his movements were not that sharp, if we get caught, we would suffer a great deal of damage due to his physical strength.

However, Fran and I both hesitated to attack this guy. He already had very little vitality left in him. If we attacked him now, we might end up killing him.

Fran quickly jumped back and dodged Gordon's attack.

But, at that moment

Booom!

Gordon's torso made a dull sound and exploded from the inside. No, it's not that. Before i knew it, the magic sword had moved behind Gordon and rushed from his back.

It seems that when the magic sword hit Gordon's body, it dared to curl magic blade around itself to make it look like a hammer, so that it would not penetrate Gordon's body, but make his body burst. But, no matter how fast he can regenerate, if his upper body was destroyed, he would die instantly.

『This bastard! It killed its own wielder!』

My anger rises up after witnessing it.

『As a magic sword, I can't forgive what it have done!』

Its very existence was disgusting.

The magic sword attacked with its magic blade while blindly scattered Gordon's flesh and blood. Its shape transformed once again, and the blade branched out into multiple pieces, each blade coming at Fran from multiple direction.

We were wary of its mental control and used transfer to keep our distance. The magic sword did not give a chase. Rather, it seemed to have anticipated our escape. Without slowing down at all, it flew towards the inn, passing by our side at super high speed.

『It got me!』

「Is it trying to escape?」

『No, it wasn't!』

There was a figure at the destination where the magic sword flew.

「Run away!」

「Kuh!」

「Velmeria!」

It was Velmeria and Frederick, who had been rescued by Urushi. They were hiding in the inn, watching over our fight. However, the magic sword seemed to have aware of them.

I'm not sure if she heard Fran's warning, but she turned on her heel in panic, but it was too late. Just as she was about to be cut by the magic sword, Frederick, who was standing next to her, push her away. The blade of the magic sword, which seemed to pierce through Vermelia's body, had cut deep into Frederick's arm.

「Gaah!」

「Frederick! How is your condition?」

「I-I'm fine! but what is this voice? If you want me to obey you, then show me what you've got!」

So that's it, it was planning to take control of Frederick and make him it's new wielders! But it seems that it failed. Frederick has mental resistance. It must have prevented the magic sword from taking control of him.

But Velmeria didn't have that kind of skill. We have to settle this before she was attacked.

『Let's jump』

「Nn!」

We had already confirmed that it can detect when transfer will be used.

The magic sword releases magical power to Fran who appears in the room after transfer, but the attack is transmitted by our dimension shift.

Fran swung me out against the magic sword, which was shaking in surprise.

「...Sword King Technique - Heaven Judgement」

『Giyaaaaa!』

The blade of that magic sword that had already been broken were cut down even further with the flash of sword released by Fran. The magic sword then lets out a high-pitched scream.

It was obviously damaged, but an eerie magical power that swirled within it had not yet dispersed. Does it mean, we have to destroy its core-like part in order to defeat it?

One more shot! I was about to shout that, but I couldn't raise my voice.

『Urgh...!』

「Master」

『Kuuuuaaa!』

I screamed a moan while feeling a huge force flowing into me. Apparently, Cannibalism had been triggered.

It wasn't like I felt being overwhelmed by taking too much power, or it was going out of control. But, the magical power from that sword flowing into me made me feel so disgusted that i couldn't think of anything else.

I'm sorry to use a little dirty representation, but it was like having a mixture of filth, garbage, and crappie juice smeared all over my body. Anyway, I couldn't help but feel sick. If I had been in a human body, I would have been screaming and rolling around.

『Uuuwaaaaaaa!』

「Master!」

There was no way that magic sword would miss such opportunity, it accelerated at once to escape from the room.

「Urushi! After it!」

『Guurghhhh!』

Chapter 424: Intelligent Weapon

『Sorry Fran. I'm fine now』

(really?)

『Yeah』

While I was screaming, the magic sword escaped me again. I hope Urushi brings back some information for us.....

But I don't know why cannibalism was triggered. It's supposed to be an ability to absorb power if you kill someone of your own kind.....

We're inorganic, we're already lifeless. In other words, because we're lifeless, attacking us and damaging us will trigger it? Or is it judged that cutting some part of us counted as killing? Or is there some other reason?

Either way, it's going to be dangerous if I don't deactivate cannibalism when we fight that magic sword in the future. I don't want to have to go through that feeling again.

However, absorbing its power means that I will be strengthened while the magic sword will be weakened. If that's the case, it might be better to put up with the disgust and use cannibalism. Hmmm...

「Fran, are you okay?」

「Nn?」

「It seemed that your movement suddenly slowed down...」

「That sword had the power to control the mind of the person it slashed. Doesn't it affect you?」

Velmeria and Frederick asked worriedly. Frederick had already healed his wounds with a potion that Velmeria had, but his face was slightly frowned. Even though his mental resistance prevented it, Frederick was still affected by the domination skill. I'm sure he understands the horror of it.

They knew Fran might be already manipulated; we couldn't win the fight. Hence, they were looking at Fran with caution.

「I got resistance skill, so I'm fine」

「Is that so」

「I'm glad」

Apparently, they understood that she wasn't lying. The two are relieved and stroked their chests.

After that, we decided to rescue the people at the inn. Some part of the inn was still burning by that explosion. We had to do something about this.

Leaving the firefighting to Velmeria, who is good at water magic, we searched for people who are late to escape. Surprisingly, there were only a few people were injured and unable to move.

Because it was originally a high-class inn, there were only a few guests. Furthermore, it was an inn for adventurers of rank C or higher, and half of them had escaped on their own.

Of course, there were some ordinary rich guests, but they had their own guards, and they had already evacuated with their help.

In the end, we rescued only one of the employees who had failed to escape. The young man had already been led out of the inn after we healed his wounds.

「Let's go back to courtyard」

「Nn」

「We need to secure Gordon's body.」

With all this commotion, the soldiers would be here soon. Of course, if they saw Gordon's body, they would suspect that it was related to the case because of its unnaturalness. His body would be confiscated.

『We need to get his body before they do.』

「Nn」

When we returned to the courtyard, Frederick was already examining the body. The upper half of the body had been destroyed, but the head was still there, and there was a chance that there might be a clue to the identity of the magic sword.

「Got something?」

「More or less」

Hou? That's not something to be overlooked.

「Tell me」

「First of all, this man's identity is undoubtedly that of Gordon, a servant of Count Bailleys」

「Same as Hamuls?」

「Yeah, he went missing during reconnaissance」

Gordon was apparently a colleague of Frederick. There was a hint of mourning on his face, but there also seemed to be a slightly reluctant look in his eyes.

「Gordon was not in charge of the actual operations, like us and Hamuls, but was in charge of surveillance」

「Of course he was trained, but his fighting ability wasn't that high. I'm sure he shouldn't be able to go against Fran head-on even for a short time」

I guess that means, when he used potential release, his ability had been raised to the fullest. However, there was still a point where he felt something strange.

「Gordon was fighting with a sword, wasn't he?」

「Nn」

「But...Gordon was a spearman, and I'm pretty sure his sword skills weren't that great.」

Potential Release is a state in which one's original abilities increase. In the case of physical enhancement skills such as regeneration and muscle hypertrophy, i can think of it as an awakening of a dormant talent due to potential release.

But how is it possible that only his skill in swordsmanship would increase? Even though he originally possessed low-level sword techniques, it seems strange that it would be strengthened to the point of turning into sword saint techniques. In addition, the spear technique, which was at a higher level, did not seem to have changed.

「And so is his fire magic. Gordon was only able to use basic earth magic, and no fire magic at all.」

「But, he was using flame magic」

「Yeah, I saw it too」

Sword Saint Technique and Flame Magic..... Both of these skills shouldn't be so easy to get. That is unless you have the ability like me.

「So, it's that sword ability?」

「...I don't know. But, is there such a sword that can manipulate its wielder and give them multiple new skills...? Now I've seen it this close, I'm pretty sure it's not from a dead soul」

Frederick also understood that it was not an undead sword, but a magic sword. This was confirmed by the fact that my cannibalism was triggered.

On the contrary, it was more likely to be an intelligent weapon.

「I heard voices when it cut me.」

「Me too. "Obey me" That's what it said.」

「Nn. That sword, has its own mind」

「Huh! You meant, it's an i-intelligent weapon! No, but it sure sounded like one」

Frederick is surprised with his eyes wide open. An Intelligent Weapon is said to be of legendary things. It's only natural to be surprised when it exists in a place like this while spreading destruction.

But that didn't seem to be the only surprise for Frederick.

「No way...I didn't think there's another one exist outside of Gordisia...」

「In the continent of Gordisia, exist a single intelligent sword」

According to Frederick, it was the beloved sword of Trismegistus, the tragic hero of Gordisia. It is said that Trismegistus, a genius alchemist, used all of his knowledge and painstakingly created it.

As a result of divine punishment, he was destined to fight forever until the Abyss Eaters he created were destroyed.

Maybe, Trismegistus was the one who created me?

He doesn't seem to be a divine blacksmith, but if he has the original discarded divine sword or something like that, there's a chance, right? After all, he is a genius alchemist who almost destroyed the world.

『Gordisia Continent huh...』

Chapter 425: Familial Disgust

「And this, this is likely to be a clue」

「The piece of that magic sword」

What Fran took out was the blade of the magic sword that she had cut off. There would be a chance to get closer to its real identity. Thanks to the fact that most of the magic power had been drained out from it, its already felt much less disgusting.

『...Hmm. the material is...I think it's similar with my blade』

I have blacksmithing skills, so I can tell some things apart to some extent. At least it's not iron. I don't know exactly what this metal is, but the closest I can come to it is the metal used for myself.

As I recall, it was a metal called Orichalcos, which could only be used by a divine blacksmith. However, since only divine blacksmiths can handle it, I can't tell if it's something special with my normal blacksmithing skills.

Even that Gallus didn't understand the material of my sword. Still, I could tell that the metals that made up my sword and this were very similar.

But that would make the story more complicated. After all, there will be possibility for that magic sword to be a divine sword.

Well, compared to Gaia that Asurasu showed me, I only felt a much weaker magical power, and I think it's more likely that it's less than divine magic sword made by a divine blacksmith using Orichalcos.

When I think about it, it makes sense that I was able to activate cannibalism. An intelligence weapon made by a divine blacksmith, made of the same material. It wouldn't be strange to say that we are the same kind. It seems to be more likely related to a divine blacksmith rather than Trismegistus.

「I'd like to examine it. Can you leave it with me?」

(Master?)

「I'll make sure to return it to you when the investigation is complete. It's Fran's loot after all」

Well, we can't investigate any further on our own even if we had it, and if you want to lend it to him, that's fine.

『I think it's a good idea.』

「Nn. Understood」

While Fran and Frederick were talking in front of Gordon's body, Urushi returned.

「Woof!」

「Urushi, welcome back. you got something?」

「Woof!」

Oh, Urushi looks so confident. Apparently, the chase went well.

「...Marquis Ashtner's residence?」

「Woof!」

Urushi nodded at Fran's question. Seriously? Fran had only mentioned Marquis of Ashtner randomly, but actually it was the correct answer.

「Really?」

「Woof woof!」

When Fran asked back suspiciously, Urushi desperately appealed for her to believe him. It seems that he has really escaped to Marquis Ashtner's mansion.

Last time, it took the trouble to cut off its sign in the residential area and was wary for anyone to not follow it...But this time, it was so easy to find where its destination is.

No, because it was damaged by Fran's Sword King technique, it didn't have enough time to scatter its pursuers. And I'm sure I've absorbed some of its power too.

Incidentally, as a result of cannibalism, my magic power and durability increased by 50 each. It may seem subtle, but if I can completely absorb the power of a magic sword, I can expect a considerable strengthening.

「Did that wolf find out where that magic sword ran off to?」

「Nn. Marquis Ashtner residence」

「Really?」

「Nn. He is trustworthy」

「Gau Gau!」

When Fran suspected him, he reacted with a 「please believe me」 kind of whining, but when he looks at Frederick, he looks at him like saying

「What? You didn't believe my words?」 That's how he reacted and shot a glare at Frederick.

Even in his dog-sized state, he is powerful enough, but Frederick is not flinching at all. As expected of him.

「Don't glare at him」

Fran smacked Urushi on the head and warned him. Then, Urushi looked back at Fran with a look like saying 「it's because of him」

However, Fran ignored Urushi and proceeded with her story.

「I'm going to Marquis Ashtner」

「No, wait a moment」

「whine...」

Yeah, hang in there, Urushi.

「Even if you force your way in here, when you can't find any evidence of guilt, you'll just end up being pursued. It will take a long time to start the investigation again. Be cautious」

「Muh...」

「Gau!」

Urushi glared at Frederick again. Now he looks like saying 「Bastard, what did you said to neesan huh」 maybe?

Fran hit him on the head again, and Urushi looked away from Frederick with an attitude of 「Damn. I'll let you off the hook this time」 he said. I've never seen this boy looks so much like a thug.

In the end, there was a possibility that we would be attacked again if we stayed here for too long, and after putting out the fire with Velmeria, we decided to move on. The place we were aiming for was their hideout in the noble district where we first met Count Bailleys.

When I mentioned that the magic sword had disappeared to the Marquis Ashtner's mansion on the way, Velmeria nodded her head in agreement.

「It seems that he were involved, after all. That's one more reason for us to search Marquis Ashtner's residence」

「Assuming what that wolf say was real. We'll have to back him up」

「Gau!」

Urushi responded to Frederick's words, groaning like saying 「Are you saying I'm lying! Haah?」 No, he's usually a bit more of a cute guy, but he gets strangely worked up over Frederick.

Is its familial disgust? Well, he have a similar skill composition and are rivalling Frederick, who seems to be a threat to his position. He's a wolf, after all, and he's probably concerned about his position in the group.

『Familial disgust huh.....』

I wonder if the disgust I feel for that magic sword is the same thing.

It is a magic sword with great power and can act independently with its own will. In addition, it can give its user skills and other abilities to strengthen it to an unbelievable degree.

Of course, this information was not confirmed yet, but at present, it was highly likely that it was an intelligent weapon with powers similar to mine.

We are alike, too much alike.

I was angry at it for its methods. But Hamuls had died because he had been in potential release for too long. It could have happened to any of us. Both I and that magic sword are dangerous swords that can bring death to the wielder. I hate to admit it, but.....

『Hmm』

『No, nothing...I just wondered why that magic sword and I are so much alike』

(Not alike)

『No, we don't look alike, but our abilities are pretty similar, right?』

However, Fran denied my words with an unprecedentedly strong voice.

(Not alike! it killed its own wielder!)

『But it's the same for us, if we overuse your potential release, you will lose your lives. The only difference is whether or not we stopped in the middle. Well, I know It killed Gordon』

(Not alike! It killed its own wielder. Master is always thinking of me. Completely different)

『...is that so?』

(Nn! that thing is a bad sword. Master is a good sword)

To be honest, I don't think there's that much of a difference between that magic sword and me. The only difference is our stance towards the wielder.

But if Fran says it's different, then it must be different. That's what I'm going to think from now on. (

Just thinking about it like that, I found that the haze in my mind cleared up. I'm a lucky guy...

『...Thanks』

「Nn!」

Chapter 426: Velmeria's Tears

Chapter 426: Velmeria's Tears

After repelling the attack of the magic sword, we had retreated to a mansion in the noble district. This is the mansion where we first met Count Bailleys.

In fact, I wanted to report to Count Bailleys on various matters and discuss our future moves with Frederick and the others.....

『Fran, get up』

「Unya...」

『Come on, we have to discuss our future moves with the count』

「Nyumu〜...」

Last night, Fran was so sleepy that we couldn't talk at all. Count Bailleys went out of his way to greet her, but she was asleep while standing.

I was really glad that the Count was the tolerant type. He smiled and forgave her. However, as expected, I couldn't keep him waiting again today.

『Come on, get up』

「Mu〜...」

『Hai, I'll wipe your face』

「Muyu—」

『We need to fix your bed hair, so don't move a bit.』

「Uaa〜」

What a 15 minutes exchange.

「Good morning, Master」

『Ou, good morning』

Fran managed to wake up, and the next thing she do is rubbing her stomach and looking sad.

「...I'm hungry」

『Hai hai. In the meantime, you can put this in your stomach.』

Last night, after the battle, she slept without eating. Well, I predicted that she would be starving in the morning. I took out some snacks such as rice balls and sandwiches and laid them out in front of Fran.

The mansion would have prepared breakfast for her, but they would not be able to handle Fran's appetite. It would be better to fill her stomach first.

『Urushi too』

「Munch Munch」

15 minutes later.

「oof oof!」

「Munch munch」

Fran and Urushi were having their second breakfast in the dining room of Count Bailey's residence.

「What do you mean!」

「——.....」

A loud angry voice was coming from upstairs. It was Velmeria's voice. She seemed to be arguing with someone, but I couldn't hear the other person's voice. Velmeria must have yelled very loudly.

「Excuse me!」

Bam, A sound of a door being roughly closed can be heard along with Velmeria's voice. Then, I heard the sound of someone running down the stairs.

As expected, it was Velmeria running into the dining room with a flushed face.

「Velmeria?」

「Fran...」

「No, nothing...excuse me」

When she comes face to face with Fran, Velmeria stopped for a moment. However, she quickly turns her head and leaves the place in a hurry.

(Velmeria, crying)

『Yea』

What on earth had happened? With tears welling up in the corners of her bloodshot eyes and her teeth clenched, Velmeria's figure seemed fragile, as if she was about to collapse on the spot.

That Fran stopped eating and wondered if she should go after Velmeria. That's how weak she was.

However, Fran could not go after Velmeria. She was called by a new person entering the dining room.

「Fran, Sidre-sama called you」

「Velmeria, what's wrong?」

「...don't mind her」

「I'm concerned」

「...I can't talk about it」

As long as the tight-lipped Frederick couldn't tell me, he wouldn't tell me even if I persisted.

『Fran, we're not going to get anywhere by arguing here. Let's just go to the Count's place.』

「...understood」

Frederick guided Fran in, looking somewhat relieved. And in the office where she was guided in, Count Bailleys with a tired-looking face was sitting on a sofa.

「So you've come, Black Lightning Princess. I would like to discuss our future plans immediately, do you mind?」

「Nn」

「First of all, thank you for all the information. Thanks to you, I was able to get permission to enter Count Olmes' villa without any problems. Even if it's owned by a marquis family, they can't object with the decisions of the royal family」

The villa belonging to Count Olmes is now the property of the Marquis Ashtner, but I guess they can't resist if it's in the name of investigating a case.

No, in the past, he might have defied us. However, his power has declined due to his repeated blunders, so now, he can no longer resist. He must have lost his ability to manipulate from behind the scenes.

「We haven't received permission to enter the Marquis' residence yet, but if the investigation of the villa produces evidence, we should be able to use it as a reason to investigate the main residence.」

「Nn. What should i do?」

「I need your help in raiding the Olmes residence tonight. What do you think?」

Today? That was crazy fast. Fran seemed to think so too, and was surprised.

「To night? so quick」

「The longer we wait, the more likely for them to notice. What's wrong with that?」

「Unn. That's fine」

「I see. In the meantime, you'll be treated as a collaborator hired from the outside, just like Colbert. You'll be working under Colbert's direction in the field, is that okay?」

「Nn」

「I'm grateful」

Seeing Fran nodding, for some reason Count Bailleys looked relieved. Was he worried that Fran might not be able to wait and go off on her own?

「I know you're capable, but in this case, Colbert knows how to do it better than you do.」

I can understand from his words. Count Bailleys had seen the match in which Fran had defeated Colbert. That's why he was worried that Fran might say that she was uncomfortable following the instructions of an opponent who was weaker than her.

Knock Knock

「It's Colbert」

The man who appeared there at the right moment was Colbert himself. But there was a hint of confusion on his face.

「Ahh, excuse me. I passed miss Velmeria back there, but is something wrong?」

Oh, good one Colbert. You just asked the question we were afraid to ask!

「...It's not a big deal, but. I told her I'd remove her from the investigation of Count Olmes' residence tonight, but she wasn't happy about it.」

「You're going to remove Miss Velmeria? Why? I'm sure she's quite skilled. At least she's a better scout than I am.」

「This was a pretense. she has gotten a little better at it, but she's still immature. and she's not as strong as you guys」

If we compare our fighting prowess only, that would be true. However, as Colbert said, the true value of Velmeria lies in her scouting skills. Rather, I'm sure she is suitable for searching inside the villa. I think the Count does not understand that.....

Is there some other reason?

「Velmeria, crying」

「.....I know. But it's not the kind of place where you can take inexperienced people.」

The Count replies to Fran's words in a weak tone. But it's a lie. It seems that Colbert has figured it out. He stares at the Count with sharp eyes.

「Count. I understand that Miss Velmeria is cute, but she's an adult now. You can't keep her away from danger forever, can you?」

「...ugh」

He was simply being overprotective while saying all the right things. The look of dismay on the Count's face showed that Colbert's point was right on the spot.

I guess even if you're an outstanding warrior, a parent will always be a parent aren't they.

「Isn't that why you're teaming her up with Frederick, so that she can get some experience?」

「A-anyway! I'm not taking Velmeria with me on this raid!」

Colbert shook his head in dismay at his words, and Frederick slumped his shoulders in disappointment.

「Thi-this is my final decision!」

Chapter 427: The Dragonmen Now

Fran and Colbert are kicked out of the room by the Count, who says the conversation is over. Colbert sighs in exasperation.

「Haah. Frederick, you don't want to go after miss Velmeria?」

「She's in her room, so it's better to leave her alone for now. If we talk to her now, she'll just get more stubborn」

「As expected, but you should play your role as her teacher, you know」

I guess Frederick played the role of Velmeria's teacher. That must be why they have such an easy relationship.

But there was one to worry about. Count Baileys was overprotective. He was more worried than overprotective, though.

But if that's the case, why are he raising her as a warrior or a covert agent? If he were really worried about her, he could raise her as young ladies of high society. I'm sure there are many noble girls who don't know anything about fighting and spend all day learning.

Even if she was the child of a concubine, she seemed to recognize that she would be carrying the family name, and she should be able to get a good education.

When Fran asked that question, Frederick and Colbert answer it.

「There are various circumstances.....」

「Well, we can't stand and talk here. Let's go downstairs and have a cup of tea and talk.」

As Colbert suggested, we were told about Count Bailleys and Velmeria's situation while drinking tea in the dining room.

First of all, to answer the question of why he taught Velmeria fighting skills and raised her as a warrior, he said that it was simply because it was his family tradition.

「Count Bailleys came from a renowned military family. Men and women alike are educated to be knights and join the military. Even if they are the children of concubines, they are not given special treatment」

「Rather, it's because she's from a concubine, isn't it? If he treated only Miss Velmeria like that, we'll be talking about how much he loves his concubine more than his real wife」

「That's right. Because in the end, the one who would be hurt the most by that would be Velmeria. So Sidre-sama trained Velmeria with a cold heart」

「Well, it's bad enough when that wife stares at you. I've met her a few times, and she's an awful person. I guess she thinks adventurers are just relatives of bandits. She looks at us as if we were insects. And yet, she had the good looks to make up for it. That's what we call a noble's wife.」

I see, for Velmeria, who lives far away from her mother at Count Bailey's residence, it's important to be on good terms with his real wife.

「Well, I guess that's why she don't blame her for being a concubine's child. A concubine is a natural part of being a nobleman, and if you behave like a concubine's child would, she won't be worried about anything」

It seems that if she avoids putting her selves on the short end of the stick, they have to be rather strict. At the very least, he's not allowing preferential treatment to his wife's children. No matter what.

But then another question arose.

「...Isn't Velmeria a knight?」

It is said that Count Bailleys' families are educated to become knights. However, Velmeria is being raised as a covert agent. Even a concubine's child would become a knight if she was the daughter of a Count.....

However, this wasn't an usual story of a concubinage. Rather, the bottleneck was her race.

「Race? Half-dragonmen?」

「Oh. In the Kingdom of Kranzel, not only half-dragonmen like us, but dragonmen themselves are not allowed to obtain a special status. This naturally includes being knighted and holding important positions in public organizations.」

「Because dragonmen are considered as a symbol of abomination」

「Abominable species? They hate you?」

「Fufu, I wonder」

Frederick chuckled at Fran's blunt words. However, perhaps it was because that words came from Fran, a black cat kin who had been oppressed for many years. He didn't seem to be offended and told her how dragonmn were treated in various countries.

「Trismegistus, who caused the tragedy of Gordisia, was the king of the Dragon Men. That was the biggest cause.」

「But, not all dragonmen are bad」

「No. It was Trismegistus who was judged by the gods, but the dragonmen enthusiastically supported and encouraged the king, with the vile delusion that he would conquer the world and make it prosper under the superior race, dragonmen」

I had thought that Trismegistus personally was the only bad guy, but apparently that was not the case. It seems that the entire dragonmen race welcomed his ambition and research.

「And as the result of the arrogance and greed of the dragonmen race, was that incident that nearly destroyed the world. The nations that were suffering from dragonmen race invasion began to eliminate the dragonmen race because they had been punished by God. On the surface, they look at us as a sinful race that had been punished by the gods, but behind the scenes, they were probably afraid of us, the dragonmen, a race with strong ambitions and aspirations.」

「Well, the dragomen race is powerful as a species. They were probably the eyesore of human's eye. Even now, they are feared along with Insect-kin and High Elves」

I can understand why the dragonmen are so strong. After all, they are dragons. But what about the insect-kin and High Elves? Are they as strong as the dragonmen? I'm not sure what to make of that.

「Don't you know the story little miss? The deadly dragonmen. The crazy insect-kin. The most powerful high elf. You must have heard of that, right?」

The dragonmen are a race with enough military power to control an entire continent, and yet they cause misery for themselves and those around them.

Although there are individual differences among the insect-kin, those of the warrior class are said to be born with overwhelming abilities. Their combat power is at least at the level of rank C adventurers. In addition, their loyalty to their country is high, and their values are different from those of humans, so they are sometimes seen as crazy by humans. For this reason, the insect-kin are said to be crowned the craziest.

「I've met an insect-kin before. They look like normal people」

Eliante was also from insect-kin, but she looks normal by all mean. But apparently that's because she only has half racial blood in her.

「Ah, she must be half-insect kin.....A pure-blood insect kin or their higher species are quite different」

Insect-people are born as a noble species or leader class. The battle type specializing in combat, or a leader to rule the civilian. But just because they were a child of noble species, doesn't mean they will become a noble, it's completely random and is strictly divided according to the species of the child born.

Among the four class of insect-kin, the noble class, the fighting class, and leader class are born with a strong sense of belonging and loyalty towards their country, and are said to be difficult to understand than the civilian class.

「When they are from a civilian class, they're just like any other normal person」

「Both in appearance and in ability.」

That's interesting. Could it be that the higher species look like a certain Rider? I'm interested. I'd like to go to the country of insect-kin someday. Well, if it's safe, that is.

And finally, there are the High Elves. Elves, because of their longevity, have a very laid-back personality. The older they get, the more relaxed they become, and by the time they are over 300 years old, they spend their whole day in sleeping.

However, sometimes there are individuals who show a curiosity and behaviour not like any typical elves, and continue to train themselves even as they age. These special elves evolve over the course of several hundred years by continuing to grow. That is the High Elves. There are only a few of them in the whole world, but all of them are said to have rank S level strength.

The elves, with their superior magical power, will continue to grow for hundreds of years. Their power must be overwhelming. Even though I've never seen it, I can imagine it.

「Oops, I'm getting off topic. Anyway, in the Kingdom of Kranzel, as long as you have dragonmen blood, you can't become a knight」

「However, as long as she was raised by Count Bailleys, he had to train Velmeria. As a result, she was raised as a covert agent.」

「And in the future, she'll be serving the sons of his wife and help Count Bailleys」

In other words, she can show that she can be useful to his wife, and she can also show that you she knows her place by being a covert agent under the knight.

「Nevertheless, she is the Count's only daughter. The truth is that he's very fond of Miss Velmeria. I'm sure he can't say it out loud to his wife, though.」

「Is that why, he remove her from dangerous mission?」

「Yea, that must be it」

「It seems that Miss Velmeria wasn't happy about it, though. They say you won't understand the heart of a parent, but in this case it's probably the other way around. He's obviously too overprotective.」

「...I know how you feel」

Chapter 428: Pseudo Fanatic Sword

After hearing a little bit about Count Bailleys' situation. We were waiting for Velmeria to settle down with a cup of tea.

「...Colbert. Acquaintance?」

「No, I don't know any of those guys who will sneak up on you while spreading their killing intent. Frederick? Is it the Count's men?」

「I don't think so. I'm going to Velmeria. You guys take care of them. Take some of them alive if you can.」

The source of this conversation was the mysterious presence that was trying to surround the house while emitting their killing intent.

In all likelihood, it was an enemy attack. What's more, if I may say so——

『Fran, it could be that magic sword』

(Really?)

『They've got that eerie magic mixed in with their magic』

Even from a distance, there was no mistaking the disgust that welled up inside me. It is the same kind of magic that the magic sword was emitting.

(Understood)

(But?)

However, there was a problem. For some reason, there were multiple sources of this sickening magic. Worst of all, there was the possibility that there was more than one of those magic swords.

(...Just crush everything)

『Well, you're right. When that magic sword comes out, I'll do everything i can』

(Okay)

Eliante, I'm sorry. But there might be some damage around here. But we can't leave that magic sword unchecked. We have to make sure we kill it when it appears.

「Is that okay? you can't make the first move to claim self-defence. Just keep that in mind」

So, we have to be passive. A few minutes later, Frederick left the room and headed downstairs to Velmeria.

Inside the mansion, the guards were on alert. The level of the soldiers in the house was high, and there was no one who hadn't noticed the mysterious presence that was narrowing their encirclement.

However, it seems that the attacker's first move was something beyond our imagination.

Guooooo!

「Su-suddenly they unleashed huge magic spell!」

Multiple magics had landed on the villa. The room we were in was unaffected, but through the window we could see tongues of red flame stretching out and turning the space orange. Perhaps someone had released an inferno burst from outside the premises.

In addition to that, it seems that wind magic and earth magic have torn holes in the villa. Colbert also looked surprised.

「How dare they make such a flashy moves in the noble district of the royal capital!」

「Do you know! We're in the king's lap! And if he causes a disturbance in this place full of nobles, he'd be sentenced with death! Even if he was a marquis!」

That's why the people in the villa didn't think they would cause such a conspicuous commotion. They were probably thinking that they would try to assassinate and subdue them in close combat after they entered the villa.

The fact that they had been betrayed made them realize that the air in the villa was shaking.

Was Marquis Ashtner running out of time, or was he were on the verge of ruin? Either way, it seemed that the enemy was simply straightforward.

「Miss, lets split up. I'll take the front gate, can i leave the back gate to you?」

「Nn」

「Yoshi, lets go」

I really wanted to head in the direction of the magic sword, but no matter how hard I tried, I couldn't locate its presence. Its not like that magic sword had disappeared, but there were several weak reactions of it.

『For the time being, let's check it with our eyes』

「Nn!」

『Urushi, look for suspicious guys around the premises』

「woof!」

And when Fran arrived at the back gate, the enemy had already made their way into the villa. There were two men in front of us. They looked like adventurers. However, both Fran and I were stunned at the sight of their strange appearance.

『Wha-what are they...』

「Sword, stuck」

『And that impaled sword...It looks like a magic sword』

What can I say? There were swords stuck deep in the backs of the men. From the center of the back of their neck, it looked as if a sword had been inserted in place of their spine. Along the spine, an estoc-like sword pierced through the body.

(Note: エストック esutokku - a variety of swords)

The men were both in that state. Moreover, the hand cover on their estoc was familiar. An engraving of a man in agony. It looked just like the hand cover attached to that half-destroyed magic sword.

The appraisal worked for this thing. Well, all I found out was the name. However, the name was not something that could be ignored.

『Pseudo Fanatic Sword』

「Fanatic sword? I've heard it somewhere」

『That's from the scroll that Rumina showed us in Ulmut』

(Note: ルミナ rumina, author-san was really kind to mention who she is which i actually forgot)

That scroll contained the list of the name of divine sword that Rumina, the dungeon master of Ulmut and a member of the Black Cat tribe, carried. Its been on that list.

『Sword of blind devotion, Fanatics』

「So, that's a divine sword?」

『Pseudo means it's not the real one. Maybe it's a duplicate or something...
Don't let your guard down!』

Yes, a pseudo. It's not real. But even if it was a pseudo, it was a divine sword. This finally smelled fishy.

「——」

「Here it comes!」

But then again, they're under mind control too! They have the same face as Hamuls and Gordon. They also have the same state of fanaticism and were using potential release. Their status is very high, and they have many skills. Not even the soldiers in the villa will be able to compete with them.

「Awakening! Brilliant Lightning Rush!」

But still, from the start, they are no match for Fran.

When we are facing both Hamuls and Gordon, we were too focused on wait-and-see and trapping approach. We were also too concerned about the damage to our surrounding. However, the current Fran was serious both in a good and bad way.

When she heard that the enemy had something to do with a divine sword, her switch must have been flipped.

The man on the right, who was about to unleash a sword technique, was sliced in half by Fran's void sword technique, which has closed the distance at lightning speed. The men were not even able to react to Fran's extreme speed.

(Note: 空気抜刀術 kūki battō-jutsu, vacuum air pulling sword technique, void sword drawing arts)

The sword is swung with a speed that doesn't even allow for a blink, then his body is shifted diagonally with a delay.

『Kuh』

「Master? What's wrong?」

『No, it's just triggered cannibalism』

The slash had cut down the pseudo fanatic sword as well. As a result, a sickening amount of magic power flowed into me. I had already experienced this once before, but the amount of magic I absorbed was much less than last time, so I only felt a little disgust, but it was still unpleasant.

The fact that I had absorbed so little power could be seen from my increased stats. In fact, the magic power I have only increased by 2.

「Nn! Haaa!」

The man swung his sword over his head, as if he had finally realized that his friends had been killed instantly. But by that time, Fran was already prepared.

Faster than the man's sword swung down, she unleashed void sword technique once again, cutting off both of the man's legs.

『Just lie down!』

I invoked my telekinesis on that guy...

『What?』

For a moment, the pseudo fanatic sword on the man's back seemed to glow, and I saw it suck the magic power out of him. And then my telekinesis is cancelled out.

『This guy——can manipulate magic huh!』

I tried to restrain it with earth magic, but that was counteracted as well. That pseudo fanatic sword was the user. No, parasite? The wearer? Whatever it was, it seemed to have the power to use the man's magic to counteract my magic and skills.

Seeing that my morphing and swordsmanship skills are still usable, it seems that the magic released to the outside world is being dissipated by that sword in some way.

In the meantime, the man's legs had finished regenerating at a tremendous rate. Abnormal regeneration and pain blocking made him a pseudo-immortal, and combined with the ability to cancel out magic power to blocks its opponent's attack. That was a nasty ability.

If we had run into them when I was weaker, we would have been in a pinch. But they're not much of a threat for us now.

Even though my magic and skills have been blocked, my swords skills have not diminished, and I am still in Fran's hands. That's enough for me.

「Haaa!」

The match is decided in an instant. No matter how good he is at regeneration and even if he feels no pain, if his hands and feet are cut off, there will be an opening. The regeneration process had already begun, but it would take at least ten seconds for the limbs that had been severed from their roots to be restored.

『Yosh, this is our chance!』

「Nn!」

Our target was the pseudo fanatic sword. Fran grabbed the hilt and attempted to pull the sword off the man's back.

「Muuuuu!」

『Hang in there!』

I would have joined in with telekinesis, but it would only be cancelled out. Naturally, I tried dimensional storage too, but I couldn't store the pseudo fanatic sword in this state, as it was treated as the man's equipment.

「Haaaaaaa!」

It had holding into his body quite tightly, but it could not resist Fran's strength. In about three seconds, the pseudo fanatic sword was pulled out of the man's body. I immediately tried to stow it away, and this time I was able to do so without any problem. At last, we got a clue.

「——」

But I couldn't be all that happy. The man whose sword had been pulled out of his back had died shortly after. It was going to be difficult to get any information from the attacker this time.

『Well, that simplifies the story.』

「Nn, cut them down」

When we pull out the pseudo fanatic sword, he will die, and if we leave him alone, he will die from his potential release. Then we can defeat him without thinking about capturing him.

『For the time being lets take down the assailant who broke into the premises』

Chapter 429: Reppeling the Assailants

「Haaa!」

『Ugh』

When Fran cut down the assailants along with their pseudo fanatic sword, the magic flowed into me. Cannibalism was triggered.

Of course. Our opponent seems to be another copy of the pseudo fanatic sword. In other words, they're a fellow discarded divine sword.

No, maybe I can even devour on a divine sword...But, I don't think i can destroy those superweapons.

(Master, are you okay?)

『I'm fine』

(Cannibalism, why not turn it off?)

『No.....even if it's only a little, I won't miss the opportunity to be strengthened without resorting to self-evolution. I'm going with this.』

(Understood, let's find our next prey)

『Ou!』

(But, don't push yourself)

『Yea, I know』

Dooon! Dogogoon!

From inside the mansion, I could hear sounds of destruction and people's screams scattering, probably due to magic attack. Considering that all the assailants were being manipulated and didn't raise their voices, it meant that all these screams were coming from the soldiers of the mansion.

「——」

「Shiii!」

All of the assailants were quite skilled. Almost all of them possessed sword saint skill, and they were in a state of potential release. In addition, they are also able to counteract our magic and skills.

In a small space, Fran's speed could not be fully utilized, and it was quite difficult to take them down with a single blow. It would be easier if she could use her magic to snipe from a distance, but it would only be dispelled.

And yet, the other side was freely unleashing their magic on us. It was quite troublesome.

「——Wind cutter」

「Haaa!」

We dodged the wind magic that woman unleashed, and Fran approached her at once. It was a purely a contest of once she got this close. After a few slashes, the assailant was defeated.

『She even have regenerative powers too huh』

「Nn. Annoying」

Because it was Fran, it was only annoying, but it would be hard on the soldiers. They can't say that they're strong because of their training, but they're still just a soldier.

「Guaa!」

『Fran!』

「Nn!」

A bloody soldier was blown through a nearby door. Fran quickly tried to cast a recovery spell on the soldier, but it didn't get invoked.

『It's useless! let's destroy that pseudo fanatic sword first!』

「Understood!」

I twisted and snatched the sword from the hands of the swordsman who had slashed the soldier, and kicked his jaw with full power. We killed him after smashing his heart and broke his neck. She struck me into his neck to crush the pseudo divine sword. It seems we can do it with just one slash.

(Note: author-san suddenly mentioned it as "pseudo divine sword 疑似神劍" instead of "pseudo fanatic sword 疑似狂信劍", but then he mentioned it again as pseudo fanatic sword.....)

『Yosh, as long as there's no pseudo fanatic sword nearby, we can use magic』

The soldier who was dying recovered in time. She tapped on his cheek to wakes him up.

「Ugh...you are...」

「Healed your wound, does it still hurt?」

「I'm really grateful...What about everyone in the dining room?」

「Leave it to me」

Leaving the soldier, whose wounds had healed but couldn't move because of too much blood loss, Fran entered the room from which he had popped out.

As the soldier had said, it seemed to be a dining hall for servants and soldiers. I saw several maids and soldiers lying down in the large room. I wondered if the carpet was red, or if the grey carpet was stained with blood!

「——」

「Hmm!」

Fran was about to slash the assailant, but the other party took an unexpected action. To her surprise, he thrust his blade at the maid who were unconscious at his feet. Clearly, he was taking her hostage.

I was surprised because I hadn't expected these assailants to behave in such an intelligent manner.

But even if these guys themselves are incapable of thinking, there is someone controlling them. I don't know how they do it, or to what extent they can give detailed orders, but at least they can make each assailant make detailed and precise action.

「——」

The attacker does nothing, but just keeps the blade on the maid's neck. This would be a waste of time. Maybe he is trying to buy some time until his friends arrive.

『Fran, I'll do it』

「Understood」

Fran nodded lightly at my words and casually pointed my tip at the assailants.

「——」

The assailant braced himself lightly, as if on alert. But to no avail.

『Doryaa!』

We're far apart. We were at opposite ends of the large dining hall. This is the reason why the magic power cancelling effect has not reached us.

Then there is only one thing to do.

I jump out with my telekinetic catapult and shatter the assailant's head and pseudo fanatic sword into pieces. It seems that even with his strengthening, he couldn't react to the telekinetic catapult at this distance!

Even if it can counteract the skill, it doesn't stop the acceleration I got in the first place. That was what i aiming for.

『I don't know what these guys are up to, let's go to Count Bailleys for the time being!』

「Understood」

After treating the maid who was still breathing among those who had collapsed in the room, we decided to leave her to the soldiers and head for the Count's escort on the second floor.

The Count himself was quite skilled, so I thought he would be okay, but the enemy was stronger than I thought. Perhaps even the Count might be in danger.

We close the distance and slashes down the assailants who is aiming for the upstairs, dodging their attacks with her three-dimensional movements using the walls and ceiling as footholds.

As we rushed into Count Bailleys' office, I found him on his knees with wounds all over his body. His dominant arm was bleeding and he was unable to hold his sword.

Moreover, the assailant is about to give chase. It looks like we came just in the nick of time.

『Oh no! We have to help him!』

「Nn! Haaa!」

She approached the closest man among the assailants surrounding the Count from behind and cut him in half from his right shoulder to his left side in a surprise attack.

She also tried to horizontally cleave the torso of the man on his left, turning clockwise on the spot, but it was dodged.

『He can dodge an attack from behind!』

If we wanted to focus on flow, we should have used the momentum from slashing the man on the right and slashed counter clockwise. It would have been the fastest way to attack. However, that would have been a frontal attack for the enemy.

That's why she dared to kill her momentum and slash at him from behind in a clockwise direction. However, the attacker avoided the slash by twisting himself while losing his balance.

Apparently, the five of them here——well, four of them now. It seems that these guys are the most skilled among the assailants. They had Sword Saint Skills on lv 5, moreover, their physical ability was high.

「It's Black Lightning Princess! we are saved!」

「Get back!」

「Tsk, if i had a potion, i can still fight」

The Count mumbled in frustration and stared at the water stain on the carpet at his feet. An empty potion bottle was lying near it.

Apparently, he had sprinkled a potion on his arm in an attempt to heal it, but the magic counteracting effect had turned it into mere water.

『Fran! All of these guys can use magic. It's going to be a tough fight while protecting the Count』

「Nn! end this at once! Sword Deification!」

It's been a long time since we used sword deification, not in training, but in actual combat. I could feel the power dwelling within me. At the same time, my blade creaked from the inside, and I knew that the countdown had begun.

In a long-term battlefield where the number of enemies is unknown, it's hard to use a skill that will shave me down, but I can't say that here.

Besides, even if it could only be used for a short period of time, the sword deification, which simply increased her skill and power in swordsmanship, went well with their ability to counteract magic power.

Fran stepped forward, wielding the atmosphere of a powerful person, making the adjective "overwhelming" seem cute. Despite the power rampaging within her and the presence she wore, her face was calm.

I don't know if these assailants had any feelings of fear, but they must have understood that Fran had turned into something dangerous. They all attacked at once.

「Shi」

「——」

「Fuu」

「——」

「Haa」

「——」

「Teei」

And then it's over.

I feel so empty. It had been settled so easily. Each of them possessed sword saint skills, had no fear of death, we had defeated an opponent who would not hesitate to use them self as bait for his friends with just four swings of sword. It was said that the sword deification would give me divine attributes, but such a thing wouldn't have been necessary.

Each slash was as powerful as a Sword King technique. But when i thought about it, was it natural? The Sword King Technique is the ultimate slashing technique. The perfect slash that will blow everything, that is what a sword king technique is.

What if she truly mastered the sword and every slash, she made was perfect? Wouldn't even a casual slash be as good as the sword king technique? No, it may be that the sword king technique is a technique required for reproducing such slashes.

The swords god didn't really move Fran's body, but this is already above the realm the swords king technique.

Well, that's why the burden on us is so great. After we released the sword deification, we exhaled deeply and confirmed each other's safety.

(Master, are you okay?)

『I don't really know...Every time I sliced one of them, my endurance went down so much, I didn't feel so good. How about you, Fran?』

(Tired)

The reduced durability doesn't recover at all, and Fran wears out very fast. It was still a difficult skill to use in actual combat.

Chapter 430: Raid's Outcome

Chapter 430: Raid's Outcome

「Fuh...」

『We won』

Fran, who had released her sword god transformation, recovered the Count who was on one knee. Apparently, even though he was in a daze, he had seen the scene where Fran had defeated the assailants. Rather, he was so surprised by that scene that he lost consciousness for a moment.

Immediately after he recovered, he stared at Fran. The look on his face was not one of questioning, but one of pure admiration and surprise.

「Oi Oi Oi! What the hell was that?」

「Nn?」

「I don't know what happened, but I know something incredible happened!」

Apparently, thanks to the Count's dazed state, our sword god transformation has not been discovered by him.

「As expected of Black Lightning Princes...The one that His Majesty the Beast King favourite. No, more than that now is——」

「Guh!」

Interrupting the Count's words, Fran holds me up.

「There's more!」

There was still signs of battle in the house. The sound of broken windows and magical explosions echoed in the air.

「——」

「Count, go down」

「I can still fight! Damn, are you guys safe!」

10 minutes later

She had repelled the assailants twice and was finally on her way to rescue the others. The aftereffects of the sword god transformation had degraded her fighting strength, but she had managed to win because there was only one opponent and we were two.

「This room!」

「Nn」

We went to Velmeria's room. There was no sign of a battle from inside, but there was also no sign of Velmeria and the others.

「Are you safe!」

「Hey! Frederick」

The room was in a horrible mess. The remains of beds and bookshelves were scattered around, and there were deep scars on the walls and ceiling. Two dead bodies of the assailants were among them. And Frederick was lying on the floor.

His body was bleeding profusely, and he had a sword stuck in his stomach and back. The swords were blocking his way, so he was lying on his side in a slightly distorted position.

『Greater Heal!』

「Hang on there」

It seems that we make it just in time. The recovery spell worked. Fran hurriedly approached Frederick and pulled the sword out of his body at once. Oh, it's just a normal sword. It's not a pseudo fanatic sword.

「Gaaah!」

The intense pain from the sword being pulled out awakens Frederick, but it's hard for him to recover when it's still stuck in him. Sorry, but I can't deny that Fran was a little rough.

We used more recovery magic and succeeded in rescuing Frederick. However, Frederick, who must have lost his strength due to the loss of blood, forced himself to stand up and headed for the window.

「Don't, take a rest」

「Velmeria...! was kidnapped!」

「What! What do you mean?」

「Even though I'm with her...it's inexcusable」

To my surprise, one of the attackers had knocked Velmeria unconscious and escaped through the window. I thought their goal was to kill the Count, but were we wrong? No, they failed to do that, so they switched their goal? At any rate, it seemed that it would be difficult to track them down, since Velmeria had been taken more than ten minutes ago.

『If Urushi returns... No, maybe Urushi would have noticed it in the first place. Let's wait for him』

「...N」

I don't think we can catch up with them even if we recklessly chase them. Besides, there are still enemies left.

「...First let's eliminate the enemy around the premises」

「Your Excellency! But...」

「I will not leave my men to die in vain for the sake of my daughter!」

「Sh*t! It's just like before...」

Half an Hour after we saved Frederick.

They had caused great damage to the soldiers in the villa, but we managed to defeat the assailants.

There were 25 assailants in total. The Count had more than forty victims, including his servants. There were probably about fifteen injured. Not a single person was unharmed. It seemed that the reason for the increase in damage was that the first magic attack had burned down the soldiers' quarters next to the house.

Colbert is also among the injured. He, too, was on the verge of death, but was able to survive. Had it been a little later, he would have lost his left leg. I'm glad we were able to take care of him in time.

「...It seems I need to train my martial arts further...」

Even Dimitris style martial arts techniques were blocked by the effects of the pseudo fanatic sword, but he defeated three of them by himself, which is amazing. Colbert looks frustrated. Seeing the changed appearance of his colleagues make his feelings even stronger. He gritted his teeth and endured the rage.

「...Who in the world, would do such a thing!...」

Marquis Ashtner is the most suspicious one, but there is no evidence. I think we should just punch him in the face, but as long as we tried move our soldiers around the capital, we can't afford to be vague about the evidence. I'm not sure what to make of it, but I'm sure they are planning to revolt.

When Frederick and Colbert examined some of them, they found that they had been given large doses of narcotics, just like Hamuls and Gordon.

The narcotics is said to have the effect of stimulating the mind of the person who ingests it and depriving them of their ability to think, as well as making it easier for them to be influenced with magic. Therefore, it is said to be very useful for brainwashing using magic.

「This guy...」

Colbert, who was checking the body of the fifth assailants, suddenly tilted his head. Then he stared at the face of the assailants. That's the swordsman that Fran defeated first, isn't it?

「Miss Fran, do you recognize this guy?」

「Nn. defeated him」

「No, not about it...Oh yes! He is an adventurer!」

It seems that he was a rank C adventurer. So, they were manipulating high-ranking adventurers. There were a few other adventurers that Colbert recognized. All of them were rank C or rank B adventurers, as Colbert remembered.

Colbert, too, is tilting his head in front of the mysterious sword that was stuck in the attacker.

「What the hell is this sword...you know it Frederick?」

「Fran, do you still have that thing?」

「Nn」

「It's from the magic sword that attacked the inn. You'll never mistake this unpleasant looking hand cover for anything else」

Frederick explained to Colbert the similarities between the magic sword that seems to have been controlling Gordon with the magic sword that was stuck in the assailants this time.

「So you're saying that this magic sword has its own will and was controlling these guys?」

「That's a possibility.....It's hard to tell because the magic sword I saw at the inn was half destroyed, but I think it was a long sword, and it can freely move itself」

「A sword that can move on its own? But this sword doesn't seem to be moving」

「I guess that means they're not exactly the same thing. Its power feels so much weaker」

As we were talking, there was a sign of Urushi returns to the residence.
Now we will be able to track down Velmeria.

「Urushi is back」

「Is that so!」

It was Frederick, the one who shout a cheer when he heard those words, not the Count.

Chapter 431: Signal to Counterattack

「Whimper」

「wuff...」

Urushi came back with wounds all over his body. He is healing himself with regeneration, but even so, the wounds must have been much deeper than before. It seems that there were assailants outside as well. He tried to chase after Velmeria, but the assailants seemed to have prevented him from doing so.

Urushi's method of fighting is to use a variety of skills to toy with his opponent. When his dark magic and skills were blocked by the pseudo fanatic sword, it seemed that his fighting style was quite limited.

In particular, it becomes difficult to evade and do surprise attack when he can't use shadow diving and shadow crossing. That alone would reduce Urushi's strength by half.

The fact that we were in the middle of the city in broad daylight was also a problem.

If Urushi, her follower, makes a scene, Fran will be charged with a crime. So, I've taught him to not run amok in the town and grow back to his original size...

Because of this, he was forced to go head-to-head with the assailant in his small size, and ended up grinding away at each other until the other party destroyed itself by using potential release.

「Urushi, can you follow Velmeria's smells?」

「Woof! woof woof!」

Urushi pointed her nose at the attacker's pseudo fanatic sword and complained about something.

『Could it be, that they escaped to the same place as the magic sword?』

「Woof!」

「Marquis Ashtner's mansion?」

「woof!」

It seemed that he had already tracked them.

「We'll be right behind you!」

Fran said this with great enthusiasm, but it was none other than Urushi who stopped her.

「Grrrr! woof woof!」

He bites Fran's sleeve, desperately pleading for something. He was apparently trying to discourage her.

「whimpering!」

Then, Urushi points to the pseudo fanatic sword again.

『Could it be that there was a sign of pseudo fanatic sword in the Marquis' mansion?』

「woof!」

He was sure of it. Moreover, Urushi must have felt that their number was enough to stop Fran. When the Count heard this, he questioned Urushi with a stern face.

「Could it be, that Marquis Ashtner's mansion has a large number of people with these mysterious swords stuck in them?」

「Woof!」

「That is unbelievable...」

But Colbert didn't quite get it.

Colbert had a good point. However, Count Bailleys

「...We don't have enough strength」

「What are you talking about! These assailants are all drugged! Maybe they can't be controlled otherwise. On the contrary, if you leave them alone, even Miss Velmeria!」

「I know that!」

「We are preparing our force to attack Count Olmes' residence!」

「They're just making preparations secretly in several bases. They haven't finished those preparation yet!」

「Then we'll go on our own!」

「It's useless, I can't allow it!」

Count Bailleys may actually feel the same way as Colbert. It was painfully obvious that his words were the exact opposite of what he really felt.

「But why?」

「Don't underestimate the enemy's strength. In light of this raid, I expect more frightening possibilities」

「It is no wonder that the location of our base has been discovered this time. They must have gotten the information from those who were captured. But he's sending that much force to kill me? Depending on how he does it, that's enough force to turn the capital into a sea of fire. And all we get out of it is only one person, Velmeria? Even if he had succeeded in assassinating me, it would only bring the Count's family down by one notch」

I thought that the inspection scheduled for this evening could be postponed, but the Count has many excellent people under his command. He said that the mission would not be cancelled just because the Lord was dead.

「Rather, they will be motivated to avenge me. Some of the commanders are knighthood holders, so there's no problem in transferring command」

Besides, even if the inspection was prolonged in this way, the suspicion of the Ashtner Marquis would only increase. In the not too distant future, a thorough investigation will be led by the royal family.

「It was too much of a force to be used up just to buy some time...」

「I see. But maybe that's how cornered they are, you know?」

「That's true, but there's another possibility.」

「It's possible that he didn't mind for such force being used up」

He must have immediately understood the meaning of Count Bailleys' words. Both Colbert and Frederick looked at him in surprise.

「In other words, they have a lot more stronger force in their mansion?」

「Yeah. The chance is high. The signs that the Black Lightning Princess's followers have sensed must be more than we can imagine.」

Colbert mutters in frustration. But it is so. We don't know how many of these pseudo fanatic swords there are. If they can mass produce it, it would not be surprising if there were dozens of them.

「...They are skilled swordsman who has the ability to cancel out magic and is not afraid of death. This means that you'll be dealing with a legion made up of these mad swordsmen」

Our force here is Fran, Colbert, Frederick, the Count, and a few surviving soldiers. At most, there would be a few dozen more knights.

However, the ability of the pseudo fanatic sword is too troublesome. It cancels out skills and magic, and the other side can use it as they please. No matter how you look at it, it's reckless.

There was also a high possibility that the pseudo fanatic sword had something to do with the fact that so many secret agents had been captured. Could their skills have been sealed off without their knowledge, blocking their ability to hide or block their presence? With that in mind, there was a possibility that it would be difficult to rescue her by sneaking in.

「Damn it. What the hell is that sword!」

「It's a pseudo fanatic sword」

「Black Lightning Princess! Do you know something?」

「Appraised it, but, only got its name」

「SO you can use appraisal huh...Pseudo—what was it?」

「Pseudo fanatic sword」

「Are you saying that it was the fanatic sword, but only a fake?」

「Nn. Fanatics Sword is a divine sword that was destroyed a long time ago. The Swords of Blind Devotion. Fanatics」

We didn't know much about it, but we pretended that we had heard about it from an acquaintance and told everyone about the ability that Alistair had taught us and I could see the astonished expressions on their faces.

However, he seemed to shudder more at the fact that it could be a dead copy of the divine sword than at its ability.

「Pseudo Divine Sword, you said...Ashtner has reached this far...」

「Oioioi. Isn't this sound bad」

「What if, he has a real divine sword with him?」

A divine sword is a super weapon mentioned in mythology. And now, it might be in the hands of our enemy. I can understand their tragic expressions.

I'm glad they trusted Fran, and didn't say that her word was a lie, but you've lowered their fighting spirit.

「From what I've heard, the Fanatics must have been destroyed」

「So, is it possible that they only got Fanatics manufacturing method?...」

「However, by just having a lot of those sword is worrisome!」

Just after Colbert shouted out in frustration. There was a sign that someone was coming into the house. However, it was not hostile. In the first place, he hadn't even tried to eliminate his presence.

「E-excuse me! I-is there anyone!」

「Th-this is bad...」

Count Bailleys shouted out who and what he was, and the men began to identify their affiliation. It was a patrol soldier. The one leading them was a knight. Come to think of it, after making so much noise in the noble town, they came too late.

However, according to their story, the attack was not limited to this residence only. This house and several other houses and homes were attacked at the same time, causing a lot of damage. They said that nearby station was also attacked.

It seems that the commander who was in charge of the soldiers in this area had died, so the handover didn't go well, and the new commander had finally dispatched the soldiers.

Count Bailleys told him about the attack and asked him to send personnel to treat the injured and so on.

As the soldiers rush out, they looked grim. I thought they were worried about the magnitude of the situation, having heard that other places had also been attacked, but apparently that wasn't the only reason.

「.....It seems that those who had been secretly preparing to investigate Count Olmes' villa have been attacked」

To my surprise, the mansions and private houses that were attacked were the hiding places prepared by Count Bailleys. It must mean that not only the information about this mansion, but all the information had been leaked.

「.....We need to assess the damage. But we're definitely short handed」

Frederick questioned in the dark tone to Count Bailleys.

「So you're saying you're going to sit tight until we have enough strength?」

「I didn't say that. I can't leave a rebel with that much power unchecked. If they start a rebellion in the capital, our prestige will be greatly damaged.

No, it can already be called a rebellion. We have to prevent the Marquis from running amok any further. Even if we have to be a little reckless」 Count Bailleys then gave a flurry of instructions to his surviving subordinates.

「I'm heading to the royal castle. This is very confusing. I'll have to explain what's going on. I'm sure we can get help from the other Knights. Frederick, you contact the inspection team of the Olmes villa! Tell them to rescue the survivors and give those who can fight two hours to finish their preparations! Tell them we'll avenge their friends. That should inspire them!」

「Yes, sir」

「After that, I'll put you in charge of the reconnaissance unit. Infiltrate in time for the battle on the surface. I'll authorize operation into the Marquis Ashtner's residence as well as Count Olmes'」

「Ha!」

「The fact that he went to the trouble of kidnapping Velmeria means that he doesn't intend to kill her right away. For now, just bear with me」

「...Yes」

When he had finished giving all the instructions, he finally turned to Fran and Colbert.

「Colbert, Black Lightning Princess. I need you both to connect me to the Adventurers' Guild」

「A connection?」

「Yes, I would like you to ask Eliante to send a force. Of course, I'm not trying to requisition you. I will hire them properly」

「I see. So, you're saying we should supplement our strength with adventurers!」

「Yeah. It can be any adventurer who is willing to help. No upper limit. I'll double the asking price. But make sure you explain to them that this is a dangerous mission. I don't want to scare them off on the way」

Double the market price. That's a lot of money. Colbert is also impressed. If we use adventurers, there is a risk that information will leak out, but for now, I guess they are prioritizing replenishing their forces first.

「No upper limit? What if we have to hire hundreds of people?」

「We have plenty of work to do, and the more forces we have, the better off we are. It's a small price to pay to have a better chance of rescuing my daughter safely」

「Heh. I see」

「The operation starts in three hours. I'll leave all the negotiating to you」

「All right, sir. We'll go to the guild!」

「Nn!」

「So far we've been completely fallen behind, but now it's our turn to fight back!」

Chapter 432: Legacy Inheritance

Fran and the others were asked by Count Bailleys to set foot into the Adventurers' Guild, they seem to be busy today. There were several parties lined up in the lanes for high-ranked adventurers.

The town was in an uproar because of the commotion in the noble district, but the adventurers were as usual. I wondered if they had decided that it was none of their business.

In fact, some commoners were just talking anxiously in the traffic.

Fran was about to rush to the reception desk at once, but Colbert stopped her.

「It will take even more time. Besides, if we make a scene here, the adventurers will feel bad about us. We'll just line up like normal」

「...Understood」

While we were lined up in the lane, Colbert made small talk with Fran, perhaps to calm her down.

「What did you do after the fighting tournament, Miss Fran?」

「Nn? went to the Beast Kingdom on the continent of Krome」

「Hou? A request for a ship's escort? I've had a few of those myself, you know?」

He said that when he goes there on a ship escort request, he never goes outside the port town and comes back. So, he had been there a few times, but he is not very familiar with it.

「That's why i don't know the details」

「I went to a black cat kin village there」

「Then, did you also went to the royal capital?」

「Nn」

「Heh! How as it? Did you find any good food or interesting places?」

「There's a lot」

Fran talked to a curious Colbert about the food and scenery of the beast country. There are many stories that can't be told, but fortunately, Colbert's interest is focused on the climate.

Colbert, who enjoys cooking, was particularly interested in the cuisine of the Beast Country. When I gave him some recipes through Fran, he was very happy.

He was also impressed by what has we seen of the beast country from the back of Urushi.

「That sounds interesting. I want to go to the Beast Country too. Delicious food, and scenery I've never seen before. That's the best part of traveling, right?」

「Nn!」

These two are actually get along. It has been so since we first met in Barbra. It seems that they share the same wavelength, or perhaps they are of similar mental age, or perhaps they are moved by similar things.

After Fran finished talking about the beast country, she now asked Colbert a question. Actually, there's something I've been wondering about too. But I'm not sure if I should ask Colbert. It's a delicate matter.

But Fran put the question to him easily.

「Was Colbert excommunicated?」

「Guh...」

Yeah, I was actually kind of expecting Fran to ask this question without reading the air.

Colbert used to be a member of a martial arts school called Dimitris style. I don't know the details, but it is said that there is a test to receive initiation approval in the Dimitris style.

The idea is to become a rank A adventurer while your powers are sealed by a special magical device. I think it's going to be insanely difficult. I mean, he is going to get the same level of power as a rank A adventurer with his abilities sealed. If he really put his mind to it, he'll be a Rank S class.

I'm not sure every one of them will achieve it.

The seal can be lifted by the person himself in case of emergency. Originally, this was only allowed in emergencies, such as helping others or when one's life was in imminent danger, and if you lifted the seal for personal gain, you would be excommunicated.

However, Colbert broke the seal at the martial arts tournament. In order to win against Fran. It was a complete selfish use.

If the rumours are true, it would be strange if he hadn't been excommunicated.....

「How was it?」

「.....I」

「Nn?」

「I was excommunicated!」

Oh, so he was seriously excommunicated? Colbert's expression, which had been so happy until now, changed drastically, and his shoulders slumped with a gloomy expression. Could this guy be crying?

「Ugh. Well, I was prepared for that. I knew I'd be excommunicated...」

「What happens when you are excommunicated?」

「What do you mean? Well, I'm excommunicated, so I can't use Dimitris style martial arts anymore」

Being excommunicated does not mean that the training he have done so far will be gone. His skills should remain, and if he practices on his own, it will be possible to raise Dimitris style martial arts level.

No, I can't actually see the Dimitrius style martial art when I appraised him, but isn't it just because it's in a sealed state?

Or did he made up his mind to seal his martial arts skills with magic tools in order to be righteous in front of his master, Dimitris?

Or maybe there's some kind of secret that can only be passed on by Dimitris himself? No, I don't think it mean that it can't be used.

「All martial arts school that are recognized by God, including the Dimitris style school, has special skills that are inherited only by the founder and his legitimate successors. The name of this skill is 『Legacy Inheritance』 (1). It is a skill that can only be used by the head of the school can use in this world 」

「The skill has only one effect. The only effect of the skill is to erase the martial arts and martial arts skills of those who belong to that school. In case of Dimitris's, it will be 『Legacy Inheritance?Dimitris Style』 , it will have the effect of erasing the Demetrius style from the target's possession」

「Is that what they used on Colbert?」

「It's natural, because I was excommunicated」

As expected of a different world. If you are excommunicated, the skill itself will be erased.

「So Colbert is weaker now?」

「Well, you're right. No, the seal status has been lifted, so the status has increased, but the skills...」

It seemed that the reason he hadn't used the Dimitris style during the attack had nothing to do with the magic cancelling effect, but simply because he had lost his skills.

「I can't bring myself to join another school, so I'll just keep working on my martial arts skills and martial arts technique」

「Good luck」

「Ou!」

At Fran's encouragement, Colbert smiles back with a good face.

As a matter of fact, I was thinking a little bit about the possibility of him to held a grudge. There was no doubt that the fight with Fran was part of the reason. I guess its human psychology that makes us want to complain.

However, Colbert does not seem to have any hard feelings for Fran. Colbert is a good guy, isn't he? Perhaps the reason why Fran is so fond of him is because she is sensitive to that.

「Well, I'll be strong enough to beat miss Fran some day」

「Nn. Looking forward for it」

「Heheh, you can count on me」

Chapter 433: Swamp of Works

We spent five minutes waiting in line at the Adventurer's Guild counter. It was finally Fran and Colbert's turn.

[Oh, Black Lightning Princess and Iron Claw, what's up?]

[I have something to do with Guild Master, is she available? It's an urgent matter]

[well, she's here... but I don't know if she can't meet you now]

Stellia looks at Fran with indescribable eyes. What's wrong?

[Well she's in the office. Why don't you go there by yourself? You already know where it is, don't you?]

[Can we go without permission?]

[Even if I tried to call her myself, she'd probably reject me in her current state. Is your business so important?]

[Nn]

[If that's the case, you'd better take the matter up with her directly. Just don't irritate her too much, because there's a lot at stake here]

IS she in a pinch? Oh, are you mean she's busy managing the auctions?]

Idiot! idiot Iron claw! It's not that simple! Don't do anything to make her angry, okay? You'll get us all in trouble too!]

[O-o okay, okay]

It seems that Eliante has been overwhelmed with work. The last time we came here, she seemed to be overwhelmed with paperwork, but I guess it's getting worse.

At Stellia's request, we were allowed to enter Guild Master's office. There, I found Eliante buried under a pile of papers, moaning.

Her eyes look dead. Seeing Eliante like that reminded me of the time when I was still an office worker on Earth. She has the same face as I did that day when I missed the last train of the day and stayed up all night making documents for the end of the fiscal year, only to find out that the documents I had used as a basis were from last year and I was in despair.

[Uh- Who...?]

[Gu-guild Master? Are you okay?]

[Colbert? What do you want? As you can see I don't have time for idle chat, right?]

[Well, I'm here to report something.....He-hey miss Fran, you want to talk to Guild Master too, right?]

Oh, this guy! He got spooked by Eliante's presence and threw her to Fran!

[Fran...?]

Eliantel's eyes turned to Fran. Immediately after that, her expression changed drastically. Her eyes snapped open and he stood up vigorously on the spot.

[Fran! Fran you...! you said I can count on you!]

She slammed her hand on the desk and shouted. Her bloodshot eyes were scary.

[Nn?]

[I asked you not to make a scene like that!]

Oh no. This time, she broke down crying on the spot. Her emotions seem unstable now!

No, I know exactly how she feel. But she soon will realize that crying won't lessen her works. Well, Eliante doesn't seem to have reached that point yet.

[Not making a scene]

[Yeah, we didn't making any trouble ourselves]

We was involved in the incident, though. Maybe Eliante has information that Fran was at the scene.

[The first is the underpass! There was something going on in the underpass! There were a lot of people hurt, it was a big mess!]

[Nn. Attacked in the underpass]

[I knew it! Then what about the inn? What about the incident in the inn you were supposed to stay in burned in flames? What about it?]

[That too, I got attacked, just like the one in the underpass]

[Aah! I knew it, you are related in it!]

It's related, but Fran is the victim. It's not like she willingly caused the trouble, though.

[By any chance, are you related with the incident in a park in the noble's district too? The plants are dying, and there's a commotion about this too!]

[Nn. Got attacked too]

[I knew it! Why are they attacking you! Because of you, my work is doubled! Stacked with that 3 cases too!]

That's unreasonable. I don't know why we are being attacked too. Well, I don't think the current Eliante is capable of making a sane decision right now, and I think she's just directing her anger indiscriminately. People who are stuck in the swamp of work, usually don't have any normal thinking ability left.

[The number of urgent requests is doubling, we're getting a lot of protests against adventurers, and why should we be the one to be offended about something that has nothing to do with the Adventurers Guild? If its a problem about the royal capital, complain to the Knights!]

Eliante shouts while half-crying.

[So, what on earth does the walking troublemaker, Black Lightning Princess want?]

[We were attacked in the noble's district]

[A-Again! another one! Whyy~!]

Ah, She is already started crying completely. She must have imagined a future with even more work. Colbert also felt that we couldn't go on like this, so he opened his mouth again.

[Ah, you know. There's been quite a lot of damage there. I'd like to hire some adventurers to replenish our forces, if you don't mind?]

[Was there that big of a battle happen?]

[Aaah, actually——]

Colbert gave a brief explanation of what had happened. Then Eliante's expression tightened. As expected, she was indeed the guild master, even if she was in a temper.

[In other words, Count Bailleys' villa was attacked by that idiot Ashtner. So, in order to fight back at them, you're going to use the investigation of Count Olmes' villa as an excuse to beat up that idiot Ashtner as well?]

[Well, yeah. That's what my Lords are after. Ostensibly, it's an on-site investigation into Count Olmes' residence. However, it will surely become a battle with

Marquis Ashtner]

[And while we're at it, we'll also rescue Master Gallus and Count Bailleys' daughter...]

[I'm sure you have your own feelings about Marquis Ashtner as well. He thinks adventurers are nothing more than disposable tools. I once had to pay them a commission for a job that He didn't want to pay]

[Of course! How many adventurers do you think have suffered because of them... Serdio Rezepts too has ruined our reputation... So we've finally reached the end of that fucking Marquis huh?]

Eliante show a dark smile on her face. She must be imagining for Marquis Ashtner being captured.

[A-ah, So what do you say? I'd like to make a secret request to the adventurers]

[Hmm. That's fine, but how many people would you take? Is it fine to set up something against a marquis family? And if we can't gather them openly, you'll just have to talk to the high rankers in secret]

[I know. That's why the request reward is high. And also——Miss Fran]

Under Colbert's gaze, Fran takes out the bodies of the swordsmen who attacked the Count's mansion, who were thought to be adventurers. Seeing this, Eliante's reaction was swift.

[That is! That's our missing adventurers!]

[He was a part of the assailants]

[It seems that the Marquis Ashtner have the tools to brainwash and manipulate people. In addition to these guys, some of Count Bailleys' men also became a part of the assailants too.]

[...Would you like to hear more about it? About this sword and the details of our opponent...]

It seems that Eliante has decided to listen to us. She had already agreed with Colbert to hand over the adventurer's body here.

The guilds would certainly cooperate if they knew that the adventurers under their command were being captured and manipulated. In some cases, some of their higher-ups might even accept the request for the purpose of revenge.

After listening to Colbert's story, Eliante has an angry look on her face.

[Fine with me... I'll let that Ashtner know who he sold the fight to! By when should I gather the adventurers?]

[In two hours, I will pick them up here]

[All right, then. I'll gather our forces before then. Count Bailleys is famous for his fondness for adventurers, and if I mention his name, I'm sure we'll attract a certain number of people]

[I'll be counting on you]

[Well, you can count on me]

[It's my pleasure]

Fran and Colbert shook hands with Eliante and were about to leave the room. However, Eliante called out to them.

[Wait a minute, you need a fighting force, right? I have an idea]

Chapter 434: The Top Brass

Eliante said that she had an idea for more forces. When Colbert urged him to go on, Eliante called her men and told them to bring someone with them.

In less than five minutes, the guild member returned with a person. He got a short stature.

[Hey hey, did you called for me. What can I do for you?]

[Fran, Colbert. This man is Faize. He's an adventurer and a member of the Thieves' Guild.]

[What?]

Colbert stares at Faize with a surprised look in his eyes. Faize's eyes widened too as his identity was easily exposed.

[...Eliante-sama, if you expose me so easily, you may got various problems aren't Cha?]

[SO noisy, 11m in a hurry right now, Shut up]

It was a little better, but Eliante's bad mood was still there. A murderous glare hit him, and Faize sighed and fell silent. Looks like he is having a hard time.

As Eliante explained, Faize seems to be a watchdog for the adventurer's guild's watcher and link to the bandit's guild.

Even though there is an unspoken rule not to openly get involved with each other, it is impossible to have no relations at all when they are active in the capital.

So, it seems that there are several personnel who belong to both guilds, like Faize, and at least one of them is stationed at the guild. It seems that only the adventurer's guild's top brass knows who they are, though.

[It's urgent. Tell the top brass to gather. Tell them that there may be a disturbance in the royal capital. Anyway, they might already have a general idea of what's going on, so they'll know]

[.....Understood. Are they the ones who are going to bring us together?]

[That kid there, she is Fran the Black Lightning Princess, You've heard of her, right?]

[Hou? She is.....I understand. If it's her, the top brass won't say no.]

What does he mean? Does it mean that Fran's name is known to the Thieves' Guild? We've also met Kalk, maybe that's how they got the message.

[Then, let's make the arrangements right away]

He could tell from Eliantels attitude that it really was an emergency. Faize bowed and swiftly left the room.

[Guild master, can we trust the Thieves' Guild]

[I don't trust them. But I'm sure they can help us this time. Royal capital is a place they can't afford to lose]

Eliante nodded with certainty in her voice. Well, if she's like that, I guess she's sure.

[But the way you explained it earlier, it sounded as if Miss Fran was the only one going to the Thieves' Guild]

[Because I can't leave this place.]

[No, you have me here, right?]

[Colbert. I have a few places I'd like you to visit. Hopefully we can add some more strength to our forces]

[What?]

[The mercenary group "Tentacles and Shells". Do you know them? It's a small, elite group of mercenaries made up of half-insect kin]

[No, I don't know. But a mercenary in the royal capital? That's unusual]

Apparently, most of the ordinary mercenary groups are located near the borders as they cross the battlefield. This is probably because most of the battles take place along the border.

That's why it's very rare to find the main unit in an inland area like the royal capital, a place that is not involved in warfare. Normally, there are only a few liaison officers and logistical support personnel at the base.

[An acquaintance of mine leads that group, so if you have a letter of introduction, you should be able to at least meet the executives. The rest is up to you to negotiate. They have a rule about not taking children into battle, so Colbert should be better at negotiating than Fran]

[Thank you for that! In other words, I'll take the mercenaries, and the young lady will take the thieves' guild]

[Yeah]

As long as Eliante is busy gathering adventurers, it can't be helped..... She want Fran to negotiate with the Thieves' guild? Isn't it impossible for her. Is this really the right time to split up again?

After that we moved ahead of the others to the first floor of the guild. Colbert had Eliante to write a letter of introduction for him.

"Fran, don't let your guard down, okay? You're dealing with the Thieves' Guild."

(Of course)

However, whether or not they would be able to send out a force, the Thieves' Guild would probably have people infiltrating various laces to gather information, and there was a possibility that they would have some useful information. There was a loud commotion going on, and if they were not careful, there was a possibility that both the Marquis and Count families had ears somewhere.

"Urushi, stay hidden."

(Woof!)

After that, Faize come back in about five minutes.

[Sorry to keep you waiting. This way, please.]

[Nn]

He led Fran to a building that looked familiar. To my surprise, it was the same tavern where I had brought my request to Kalk. But instead of going through the front entrance, we went in through the back door, which was hidden from the street.

[We'll use the back door]

[Okay]

The watchmen looked at Fran, but said nothing in particular. It was probably because she was Faizels guest. After a quick word with the man, Faize and us walked further into the room and were ushered into a small private room. However, there was no one in the room.

[Here?]

[Wait a minute]

I wondered what he was going to do, but then he pulled the string by the entrance. To my surprise, the wall opened to the left and right, revealing a hidden staircase.

[Wow-]

Fran's eyes light up at this. Wow, a hidden passage is a roman, right?

Faize led the way down the stairs to a rather large basement, with an ornate round table in the middle of the room, big enough for about ten people.

There were three men and a woman sitting there. They were not necessarily our allies yet, so I felt free to appraise them. Although each of them had low combat power, they had an interesting skill set.

The scarred, bald-headed man sitting in the middle was a typical bandit in appearance and skills. He had a skill set similar to that of a scout adventurer. He also had the charisma and command abilities to be the leader of the bandits. However, the moment he saw Fran, he grabbed his cheeks pull into a big smile.

The handsome man in his early thirties sitting to his right was a complete marriage fraudster. He had acting skills and skills that might be useful for lying and threatening. He also has the skill of attracting the opposite sex and the title of woman killer. He looks a little like that Serdiols bastard. In addition, he seems to be able to use some magic.

The bewitching beauty on the left seemed to be the head of the prostitutes. In addition to her skills for cajoling men, she had a lot of skills related to poisons. A prostitute who knows a lot about poison. She's scary!

[Well then, I'll leave her with you]

[Ou. Good work]

Faize bowed to the three of them and left the room.

[Oh, I'm Fist]

[I am Honest]

[I'm pink]

They all were using fake names. No, they were criminals, so that was to be expected. The man in the middle was Fist. The con man is Honest. The prostitute is Pink.

Fist greeted us in a shaky voice, sweating profusely. He must have sensed Fran's ability and was terrified. I could see his eyes checking the walls and floor.

At first glance, it looks like there are no guards, but there are more than ten people around this room. There are hidden doors all over the place, and they must have a guard hiding in one of it.

It seems that Fist thought about how he could use the guards to get rid of Fran. Then he realized that it was useless. On the contrary, he seemed to have regained his composure.

[Adventurer, Fran]

[O, ou. Actually, we have some business with you. In fact, I was going to contact you even if this hadn't happened. Well, please have a seat]

Chapter 435: The Thieves' Guild and Gallus

Chapter 435: The Thieves' Guild and Gallus

Did the Thieves' Guild have their eyes on Fran from the start?

「What do you mean?」

「Please wait, let's have a little talk, shall we?」

「Don't have time for idle chitchat」

「So, it's fine if it's not wasting your time, right? Oi, Honest」

「Huh? Me, out of the blue?」

Honest's eyes widen lightly when Fist asks him to talk. Apparently, he was surprised. And he is suspicious.

「I can't handle this, it's too much for me」

「.....Is it okay? Don't ever antagonize her. Unless you want to die. It's the first time for my danger sense has responded so much since I faced the Hundred Swords」 (1)

I see. Normally, the strong Fist would have threatened the other party, and the con man Honest would have taken advantage of the situation. However, it seems that Fist instantly realized Fran's strength and gave up trying to intimidate her with force.

「A-ah, miss, I'll have some tea prepared for you for now, so please have a seat」

「Don't need it, don't have much time」

「No no, A good negotiation is never complete without a good cup of tea.」

「I said, i have no time to waste」

「Ha-, haha. Is that so. No, I would really like to get close to someone as beautiful and capable as you」

Honest smiles as he brushes his hair lightly. He is emitting a glitter beam. If I were on Earth, He could have been the number one host of a show. But Fran's expression didn't show any change.

「Don't you heard what I said?」

Perhaps Honest is their trump card against women. It's true that a smile from this handsome man would make most women swoon, and the negotiations would go in the Thieves Guild's favour.

But it was a shame. My Fran is not interested in handsome men! In the first place, there is no way that roundabout negotiations will work. We are in a hurry, especially now. The fact that the other party is not an ally is also a big factor. The more vigilant we are, the more severe their response is likely to be.

I guess this is where the doppelganger comes in. If she said that I came in through transfer magic, it will be a good excuse for my sudden appearance.

「Wa- please wait!」

The moment Honest called out to us, an uncomfortable feeling hit me as if I had static electricity in my brain. I remembered this. It's exactly the same as when Solas the thief we caught in Ulmut's dungeon used his forced affinity on us.

Maybe he used the attract opposite sex skill. (2) It's a skill that attracts the attention of the opposite sex.

Fran can't notice it before, but now that she had become more skilled, she could feel it clearly. Her eyes narrowed.

She kicks the round table with a thump and flies off, landing right in front of Honest, who is still in a lightly raised position to stop Fran. The round table creaked as she dared, perhaps to scare Honest.

And then she sticks me directly at his neck. Honest was rendered speechless by the cold eyes looking down at him from above. It was the two people on either side of him who spoke up instead.

「St-stop it young lady! What the hell is wrong with you!」

「...Is it appropriate to use your skills during negotiations?」

「!」

Perhaps he didn't think that his use of the skill would be discovered, but Honest's face turned pale. However, Honest showed a strange pride here. I think it's best to apologize quietly, but for a guy like them, they can't afford to be licked at the negotiation table.

「How dare you draw your sword here! You'll regret it!」

「...Hou?」

Ah, this guy has done it. Even though Fist told him not to antagonize her, she was still somewhat underestimated because of Fran's appearance. Or maybe he felt ridiculed for being shunned by the young Fran, or maybe he was frustrated that his appearance didn't pass through at all.

In an attempt to regain control of the conversation, He uttered a hostile line.

Immediately after that, Fran glared at Honest. She hadn't used her skills to intimidate him yet. But she was already on the verge of recognizing this guy as enemies. Depending on what he said next, he would lose his head.

I could sense that the guards behind the wall were also getting nervous. They may not be able to sense Fran's strength through the wall, but they must have heard Fist's words and understood that the other party was overwhelmingly strong. Even so, if they ordered to fight, they have to attack Fran. It's the sorrow of a lackey.

I think this is bad. The negotiations are about to be a complete fail. No, I wasn't even in the negotiations. Maybe I should have come out from the beginning.

「Calm down!」

「Bubbeh——?」

What a surprise, Fist punched Honest in the face from the side to shut him up. Honest was blown up in a cone-shaped heap and crashed into the wall and become immobile. His chest is rising and falling, so he's probably not dead, but his commercial face(3) is in pretty bad shape.

Fist went straight down on his hands and knees and apologized desperately. Now all he had to do was lower his head and he would be in a perfect dogeza position.

「P-please wait! That was his bad! It was just his usual bad habit came out! We never think to be hostile with you! I'm sorry! So, please take a seat!」

Fist and Honest seemed to be of equal rank, but is that okay? Pink also seemed surprised by the sudden situation.

「Wha-what are you doing Fist? You don't want to get in trouble with Honest's group later, right?」

「Shut up! It's better than getting us all killed in here! I knew it when I saw her. The rumours are true!」

I guess He decided that it was better to have trouble with Honest later on than to have Fran go on a rampage. But still, killing everyone is.....I don't know what kind of rumours you've heard, but he seemed to be quite afraid of Fran.

「This is why, I was against making a pimp who has no ability other than his skill to run things as a top brass! Aaah! Damn it!」

「.....I didn't think you'd be that distraught...Haah. It's no use. The men are useless, so I'll do the talking. Just a little more patience, okay?」

Pink smiled and spoke to her, even though she must have known from Fist's attitude that Fran was dangerous. Fran, too, must have felt a pent-up when she saw Honest's devastation. I nodded my head.

「...Understood」

「I appreciate it」

Pink sits down in her chair again. Fran gets down from the round table, but remains standing. Pink is supposed to be in complete control of Fran, but she doesn't show any fear. I'm pretty sure it's this Pink who has the most grit out of all the top brass.

「Well then, let me be frank with you. Master Gallus is no longer at Count Olmes' residence.」

「Fufu, You're finally interested. Well, Master Gallus and us have a bit of a history」

She lightly explains why Pink has connected Fran to Gallus and has given her this information.

Apparently, the Thieves' Guild originally owed Gallus a debt of gratitude.

「A long time ago, a summoning magic tool brought to the royal capital by a rebel nearly went out of control. At that time, a large number of magical beasts with a threat level of D were almost unleashed in the capital」

Apparently, it was Gallus who was present at the scene and stopped the summoning by destroying the magic tools.

「We are doubted as the one who has summoned the magical beast in the royal capital, we wouldn't be able to say the opposite. The whole organization would have been crushed」

Because of this, the Thieves' Guild was greatly indebted to Gallus. And when they found out that Gallus was confined by Marquis Ashtner, they tried to contact him.

「Someone from the Thieves' Guild is with the Marquis?」

Even the elite of Count Bailleys was captured? However, it's the Thieves' Guild. It seems that they already have their hand on them from long ago.

「Our ears and eyes are everywhere, and they don't know that they were working for the Thieves Guild. They diligently work like usual and occasionally sell information for a little extra money. That's all. So even if they are crushed, they won't be able to reach us」

「And with their help, it's easy to sneak in. No, we don't need their guide, just a little bit of diligence in my rounds would be enough」

This is how the Thieves' Guild came into contact with Gallus and asked him to sell the sword scabbard he had secretly made while being confined at multiple auctions.

「We have a debt, so I couldn't refuse. In addition to the scabbard, I got a few other well-made weapons from him as well」

What a surprise, the item labelled as Master's scabbard was apparently sold in several auctions. They were selling them in multiple auctions to make sure everything was in order. Well, if someone bought it and didn't know anything about it, they wouldn't have noticed the code right away. And even if they did, they wouldn't know what it meant.

I thought he could use someone from the Thieves Guild to give Fran his message, but then he wouldn't know if she can be trusted or not. That's why he took such a roundabout way.

And it seems that Fran was the only one who actively bid on that scabbard. The Thieves' Guild must have been monitoring all the scabbards closely.

I wonder how he could make so many scabbards while being confined? I thought so, but apparently Gallus was given a workshop of his own to keep his arms from becoming dull, and he could make armor as he pleased.

「So Gallus is safe?」

「I'm not so sure about that. According to the reports from the personnel who have been in regular contact with Master Gallus, it seems that a small amount of magic drugs has been mixed into his food, and recently it has started to affect him a little. It's hard to say that he's safe, because sometimes he can't even speak」

「I also heard that sometimes they make him hold a strange magical sword that was broke from its middle. Then, regardless of his will, his body would move and he would be forced to work as a blacksmith. To be honest, I thought he was hallucinating because of the magic potion. I did some research on that magic sword, but I couldn't find out what it was」

He is probably using a magic drug to make him susceptible to mental control and is manipulating him with that half-broken magic sword. Circumstantial evidence suggests that the broken sword is most likely the Sword of Blind Devotion, Fanatics, but it's not confirmed yet.

However, when skill and knowledge are required, as in the case of Gallus, the amount of magic drugs administered must be adjusted to preserve his consciousness and reasoning. A craftsman's skill is not just limited to his technique.

「And just the other day, I heard that he was transferred to a certain place」

「A certain place?」

「I think he's in the basement of the former Viscount Alsand's mansion, which is now uninhabited, but I'm not sure」

「Viscount Alsand?」

『He's the foolish noble, the owner of Principal of Falsehood』 (4)

I remember a guy like that. His father Count Olmes' mansion is being used by Marquis Ashtner. It wouldn't be surprising if Viscount Alsand's mansion is also being used.

「So what does it mean?」

「First of all, we have confirmed that Master Gallus has been taken out of the room where he has been under house arrest. Marquis Ashtner's residence, Count Ormes' residence, and Count Ormes' villa. The ears of the Thieves' Guild have entered there, but no sign of Master Gallus has been confirmed」

「Nn」

「Which means there's a good chance he's been moved to somewhere else」

「Is that the underground?」

「Oh. we've confirmed there's a large space and a large amount of what appears to be human presence」

「Enemy troops?」

「Maybe」

It might be a base for making pseudo fanatic swords. If so, there would be a significant number of forces there.

「But they don't know how to get into that underground space. No matter how hard I search, I can't find a way in or out of that underground space」

Are they using teleport magic to go in and out, or is there a hidden passage that is well concealed?

「How did you find out that such a place existed?」

「Fufu, A rat can go anywhere」

As expected of the Thieves' Guild. They even have spies in such a secret base!

「I'm sorry about that. Because rats can't count」

It seems about the rats mentioned earlier was not a metaphorical expression, but really meant that they were using rats. It seems that no matter how secret the underground space is, there are air holes that rats can enter.

「But if we pieced together the information, we could make a guess. Probably no more than a hundred」

Chapter 436: Military Strength

「But if we pieced together the information, we could make a guess. Probably no more than a hundred」

「That is——」

The Thieves' Guild has apparently identified several mercenary groups that were hired by Marquis Ashtner in the last few years and are supposed to have been wiped out.

「It's not often that a mercenary group is wiped out. This country hasn't had a major war in years. So where are all the mercenaries that were wiped out?」

Until now, He was suspected with rituals involving human sacrifice and the like. However, today's commotion in the noble district brought to light the fact that a corps was controlled by a pseudo fanatic sword. Moreover, it seems that the members of the mercenary corps who were treated as annihilated were mixed among the brainwashed soldiers who attacked the soldiers' camp and destroyed themselves.

I'm sure of it. The Thieves' Guild is aware that there are more than 80 people in their ranks. If we add the missing adventurers to that number, we can expect about a hundred people.

「Be careful. It's going to be pretty hard to rescue Master Gallus; you know?」

「Why would you give me that information?」

The Thieves Guild is not on the side of justice, and I don't understand why they would go out of their way to support Fran and Count Baileys. I'm not saying this was a bad thing, but isn't there an option to join forces with Marquis Ashtner and suck the sweet juice out of it?

「Well, we can't afford to lose this royal capital. the Thieves' Guild has been protecting and nurturing the dark side of the city, just as the Adventurers' Guild has been protecting and nurturing the dungeons as hunting grounds. Just as the adventurer's guild protects and utilizes dungeons as hunting grounds」

Over a long period of time, the thieves must have established their own rules and created a place for themselves among the nobility and ordinary citizens.

As Pink said earlier, dungeons and magical places for the adventurer's guild. For the blacksmith guild, it's workshops and mines. And the royal capital is for the thieves' guild.

「If we lose this place, we can't move to another city. There are already indigenous people there, you know. No, it won't really matter for the top brass. But what about the people underneath? Pickpockets, burglars. Whores and male prostitutes. Many of them would have no choice but to become debt slaves」

I don't know how many members there are in the royal capital, but I do know that it's impossible for everyone to get a new job.

「I've always been a little suspicious, but Marquis Ashtner these days are completely crazy. I don't even think they can negotiate. That's no good」

「I'm sure he was ambitious to begin with, but.....In the last few years I can't help but think he's gone crazy. There is a chance that the royal capital could become a sea of fire」

In other words, Marquis Ashtner are unlikely to be their business partners, who seems to be out of control, and wanted him to leave as soon as possible before their precious royal capital becomes a battlefield.

「No, some fighting will have to be done now. But now, it can't be limited to just the noble district anymore」

As expected of the Thieves' Guild, they are formidable.

Apparently, the Thieves' Guild had been following Fran's movements in order to teach her about Gallus. They were planning to make contact with her at some point. In other words, even if they hadn't been contacted by Face (1), they would have approached Fran as soon as possible. In the process, they also recognized Marquis Ashtner abnormality.

「We may not be able to move our forces openly, but we can support you in other ways. We're not looking for a reward. Let's have a joint front. What do you think?」

『Fran, she isn't lying. I don't trust them completely, but I think we can cooperate』

「Nn. I'll tell the count」

「You don't have much time, do you? I'll send one of my men to bring thee info to the Count, okay?」

「Understood」

A small, elderly man with a smooth head arrived in about five minutes. His eyebrows, beard and moustache were long and white.

With his staff and robes, he must be a magician. But with his bent back, he didn't look like he could fight. Well, that's only from his appearance.

Even before I appraise him, I could sense the magic within him, and Fran and I were both ready for any fight. We would react to this old man's attack at any time and maintain a good distance to counterattack.

It wasn't just the strength of his magic. From the old man, I could sense the kind of intensity that is peculiar to the strong. To put it bluntly, he might be the strongest person I've ever met in royal capital. We can't underestimate the Thieves' Guild.

「Huh? You can understand my abilities at first glance? As expected of the nicknamed ones isn't it? You're not like the rest of them」

He hit the floor with the cane in his hand and mumbled something. He seems to be a dour old man. His eyes, which sometimes peek out from under his white eyebrows, are sharp, and he doesn't seem like a very nice old man.

「Strongest person in the Thieves' Guild」

「Eihwaz」 (2)

He is 73 years old, and because of that, his strength and agility stats are low, but he is a very high-level magician, with level 3 storm magic, level 2 ocean magic, level 6 ice and snow magic, and level 5 death poison magic (3). He even uses earth magic and auxiliary magic. No, wait. Eihwaz? That sounds familiar. Fran seemed to remember it too.

「Friends of Diaz?」

「You know Diaz?」

「Nn. know both Fermus and Gamudo too」

「I see. I'm Eihwaz, the Dragon Binder. I've been in a party with them for a while」

When she asked him about his past friends, he didn't even smile. Maybe they don't get along with each other, or maybe that's just the way he is. At any rate, he has been wearing a scowl ever since he appeared.

「And a weird secret society」

「A secret society? Oh, you mean the magician guild?」

「Nn. They were annoying」

「I'm sorry about that. But I've already left. I'm sure they're doing whatever they want with it now. Well, I'm not interested anymore」

『Fran, he's not lying』

Apparently, he's the type of person who doesn't care about anything except what he's interested in. I want to shout him to properly clean up his mess!

「Why a former A rank adventurer in the thieves' guild?」

「That old man was originally a thieves hunter」

It seems that he had appeared in the capital a few years ago and had been attacking the members of the Thieves' Guild and taking them away. And the reason for this was for human experimentation.

「I used to buy crime slaves, but that's expensive and I can't always buy them. But I can't just use innocent people as test subjects. Then it hit me. That's right, let's hunt the thieves」

It's a disaster of the worst kind for the thieves. But for the general public, it's a blessing. And yet, the reason why I don't respect him at all is probably because he is acting completely to satisfy his own needs.

「I used to hunt the thieves around for a while」

However, the number of thieves gradually began to decrease. It seems that this was the result of information circulating among the thieves that it was dangerous to work in the Kingdom of Kranzel because Eihwaz was hunting them down too much.

After that, Eihwaz came to the conclusion that there were thieves in the city, not bandits or pirates. It seems that he started to target the members of the Thieves' Guild. But the Thieves' Guild didn't happy about that.

As a result, they negotiate with Eihwaz and hire him as a guard for the Thieves' Guild in exchange for offering him a crime slave and traitor.

「All I have to do is defeat the occasional enemy and I can get as many lab rats as I want. It's an easy job」

Fran is frowning. She must have felt uncomfortable with Eihwaz. No, it's impossible to be nice to this guy.

「Oh, and just so you know, I didn't kill the test subjects. I just take a little peek of their inside, and then I let them go after they've recovered properly. Well, I do sell off the crime slaves again. Would you like to know what kind of experiments I do?」

「...Not really」

We are in a hurry right now. Besides, Fran doesn't really seem to be interested. Eihwaz frowns in frustration as Fran shows no interest at him.

「Hmph」

「Haah. He's a difficult old man to deal with, but he's a good fighter」

「...The enemy has the ability to counteract and block magic」

「What? Is that true?」

「Nn」

「Kukukuh. very interesting」

「No, Eihwaz. No matter how strong you are, wouldn't it be dangerous if you can't use magic are you?」

Pink asked that question, but it didn't stop Eihwaz from laughing. The advice she had given him had only aroused the old man's curiosity.

「Kukukuh. I don't care. If it kills me, it's because I'm weak. I was more interested in the sword. It may help me in my research」

I was worried about whether this old man would be useful with his magic blocked, but his motivation seemed to be at its maximum.

「Eihwazorth. Don't overdo it, okay?」

「I'll take care of it. Well, it depends on the other party. Kukukuh」

When he smiled like that, Eihwazorth's face was distorted with lust, and he had the expression of an evil person. He was no more trustworthy than the Thieves' Guild.

Chapter 437: Eihwaz Ways of doing Things

She had intended to take Eihwaz with her to Count Bailleys' mansion, but Face burst into the basement, gasping for breath.

「Face, what's wrong?」

「It seems that the Knight Order has already begun to enter the Olmes' residence」

What! There should be more than an hour on the schedule!

「It seems that the King ordered the knights directly」

Naturally, the King seemed to have taken this incident as a serious matter. After receiving an explanation from Count Bailleys, the king decided on the spot to summon Marquis Ashtner immediately. A messenger was dispatched.

It is said that the Marquis did not even show up to deal with the matter, although he said that he would be charged with treason if he did not comply. It seems that the housekeeper, who was spilling excuses, was captured and the knights were sent out to battle.

The fact that it has taken only an hour so far shows the strength of the King's sense of crisis. Also, his trust in Count Bailleys and his strong distrust of Marquis Ashtner seems to have contributed to the speed of his decision.

No, they can't even go into battle if they are not ready in the first place. Could it be that Count Bailleys had read this far? Marquis Ashtner's intelligence is not to be underestimated, and it's possible that he already knows about the Count's announcement to go out in three hours. If that's the case, they dared to say three hours later and attack before that time to take advantage of the situation. It's not an impossible story.

I remember the conversation Fran and the Count had before we left.

「If you are too slow, the Knights might just go off on their own, you know?」

「Nan」

「When it comes to that, move as you wish. You'll be better off that way. But don't forget to cooperate with the knights, okay?」

That's the conversation. Could that have been what you had in mind all this time?

「Count Bailleys is in charge, and he's leading the charge in the square in front of the royal castle」

The Thieves' Guild is also amazing for being able to grasp so much information in such a short time. They may not be able to match the Adventurer's Guild in terms of combat, but they have an overwhelmingly superior information network.

「It seems that fierce battles has already begun in the noble district」

It is said that swordsmen controlled by pseudo fanatic swords have emerged from Marquis Ashtner's mansion, Count Olmes' mansion and his villa, and are fighting fiercely against the Knights.

「They came out. It appears the Knights are inferior」

I knew it would happen. They are adventurers and mercenaries who are in a state of potential release with a pseudo fanatic sword. They are much stronger than knights and have higher regeneration abilities. If both magic and skills are cancelled out, it will be hard for them.

「About 20 adventurers from the Adventurer's Guild rushed out to support us. They are all mid-level adventurers and above, but we'll see how much of a force they are.....」

「No. The guild master is still gathering other adventurers, and knights are gathering from all over the capital, so we won't be inferior any more than we are now」

If that's the case, where should we head to? Or should we take advantage of the opportunity and head to the rescue of Gallus and Velmeria?

Besides, I'm curious about something.

「Hey, did the enemy come out from the Viscount mansion with an underground space?」

「Did you mean Viscount Alsand's residence? Yes, they sent a knight to the house, but it was empty」

『Hmm. I suspect the opposite』

(Nn)

Besides, if there were no enemies, wouldn't this be a good chance to explore the underground facility? The Thieves' Guild seemed to think so.

「...Young miss. Why don't you leave the fighting to the knights and adventurers and go to Viscount Alsand's residence? We are also curious about the whereabouts of Master Gallus. I'm sure you'll be happy to hear that」

「Understood」

That's what we want too. Leaving the fight to the Count and the Guild, we decided to head straight for Viscount Alsand's mansion.

Although he was an old man, he was a former rank A. He was able to keep up with Fran as she ran along with Face. He didn't seem to be out of breath as he listened to Fran talk about the pseudo fanatic sword.

A lanky old man with a bent back who runs lightly is odd to look at. It reminded me of the urban legend of the Turbo old hag. The people we pass from time to time roll their eyes at us.

The former Viscount Alsand's residence was located at the edge of the southern section of the noble district. Since it was out of the way from Marquis Ashtner's residence and Count Olmes' residence, it seemed that no battle had occurred in this vicinity yet.

From afar, I can hear explosions that seem to be the result of magic, and the battle cry of knights.

「This is the former Viscount Alsand's residence」

The garden of the mansion, which had been abandoned for more than a month now, was gradually growing weeds and was starting to look a little rough. In the courtyard that Face led us to, the flowers in the flower beds and other areas were withered and wilted.

It seems that Viscount Alsand has ostensibly returned to his domain to recuperate from his illness. However, stories are spreading that he lost his skill to detect lies and was rude to the royal family, and many nobles and people in the underworld know the truth.

「Well, it was the Thieves' Guild that spread the rumour.」

There were many thieves who had been framed by Count Olmes and his son, and who had been blamed for the crimes of the Count and his faction. They were looking for an opportunity to retaliate one day.

「As a result, Viscount Alsand is now pushed into a corner of the estate」

「Hmmh」

Fran, don't seem interested at all. I'm pretty sure it's our fault that he's in that state, but whatever. He got what he deserved. Now we have to find the underground.

「There seems to be a space just below this」

「But you didn't know how to get in? You don't even have a guess?」

「Yes. The man who is using the rats also has no idea how they could have gotten in. There was a hole or a crack somewhere, and the rats just happened to find their way in.」

「That rats user. I never meet one, but what kind of ability that he has?」

「Umm, I think it's——」

The rats user is said to be able to sense where the rats are, slightly peek into their memories, and even read their surface thoughts. However, the intelligence of the rats themselves is not very high, so they can't hear the details of the story.

「What a useful story. If we use magic to destroy this area, we can destroy the underground passage as well, don't you think?」

「No, please don't do that. It might even kill Master Gallus」

「Is that so. It's a pain in the ass」

We had to do something about this before Eihwaz does something stupid.

『Hmmm...Certainly there's a large space. I also felt multiple vitalities... And this discomfort. There's definitely a pseudo fanatic sword in there』

(Nn)

However, I don't know the exact number. I don't think there are more than a hundred of them, probably because they devoted their forces to fought the Knights, but there are probably ten or twenty. If we can get closer, we can go to... Maybe we can sneak up on them while digging a hole with earth magic?

It's possible to get inside using teleport, but it's too dangerous to have to deal with countless soldiers controlled by that pseudo fanatic sword.

『No, if we can teleport and immediately attack them before they can make a move and greatly reducing the enemy's strength.....』

While I was pondering like that, Eihwaz suddenly started chanting his magic. Then he dug a huge hole with earth magic.

「Wha. Eihwaz-san! What did you!」

「There's no point in sneaking around here, is there? If that's the case, why don't we just find that underground space?」

I looked into the hole and saw that it was incredibly deep. Moreover, I could see a pale light leaking out from its depths. Maybe it reached the mysterious underground space.

I did think about digging a hole with earth magic, didn't I? But if I do it in such a spectacular way, we'll be found out for sure!

「It's reaching it huh. Hmm, it looks like there was a barrier against earth magic, but it wasn't at a level that strong enough to prevent my magic」

Looking annoyingly calm, Eihwaz threw something into the hole. More than one. It looked like a bottle, but what the hell was it?

Fran asks Eihwaz, who has now started plugging the hole with earth magic.

「What was that?」

「It's a special drugs. It's made to vaporize and spread all at once」

Drugs? is it poison? Oh come on, there may be Gallus! Fran glared at Eihwaz as she put her hands on me.

「It's not just the enemy in there!」

「Kukukuh. Don't stare at me like that. Don't worry, none of these drugs can kill. They are a numbing drugs that causes intense pain in the skin, a corroding drug that only works on metal when it comes in contact with air, and a drug that stimulates the magic centers of living things, causing them to lose their magic rapidly」

「The numbing drugs may cause pain, but it doesn't actually reduce life, and it only gives numbness to the limbs. It will not kill you due to magic power depletion. The metal corrosion drugs have no effect on the human body. A dwarf with a high tolerance to the drugs will not die. However, it may be effective against the soldier that controlled by a sword that you told me about along the way」

Even though the first two used magic in the production process, the finished product itself was apparently not a magic drug. Hence, there was a high possibility that the magic counteracting effect of the pseudo fanatic sword would not be able to counteract it. The magic power depletion drugs were a magic drug, but it also seemed to be intentional.

「If you want to prevent all three of these drugs, you will need to use the magic counteracting and potential release states that you mentioned. We can wear them out even before the battle, so they won't go to waste」

「.....」

『Well, what's done is done. Let's wait for the result instead of blaming Eihwaz now』

(Nn...)

『More importantly, don't let your guard down. Because in the worst-case scenario, we could be dealing with dozens of pseudo-zealotry swords!』

Chapter 438: The Drug's Effects

Chapter 438: The Drug's Effects

It's been more than ten minutes since Eihwaz had gone ahead and scattered the drugs in the basement without permission. Fran and the others were checking the inside of the house. We wanted to see if there were any hidden passages leading to the basement.

We don't need hidden passages when we can use earth magic and teleport magic to get inside. However, Face's suggestion was that it would be better to find a regular route for later use.

However, even after Fran and I searched for hidden passages with our detection and sensing skills, but no suspicious places existed. If this is the case, it seems the passage wasn't from the Viscount's residence.

On the way back to the courtyard from the villa, we sensed the movement of magical power. I knew this magic. As we rushed out into the courtyard, we saw that Eihwaz had just dug another hole with his earth magic.

「Eihwaz!」

When Fran runs up to him, Eihwaz asks her back, looking as if he doesn't understand why she is angry with him.

「Didn't i said to not do anything」

「Aah, I remember you saying something like that before we split up. Well, I wasn't interested, so I didn't feel like to remember it」

「Muh...」

Face had suggested that we split up and explore the area, and he had warned Eihwaz not to take any action. I had even confirmed that he wasn't lying in his response with the Principal of Falsehoods! He hadn't lied when he said he wouldn't make a move without asking at that time. I'm sure about it but.....

No, it was certainly not a lie. However, he soon forgot about the promise he had made, and simply acted on his interest. We had underestimated Eihwaz's freewheeling nature too much.

「It doesn't matter. Let's go. Don't worry about the drugs. They should be wearing off by now」

「Ah!」

「Wha, Eihwaz-san!」

When Eihwaz used his wind magic to make his body float, he went straight down into the pit. He really is an old man who acts according to his own curiosity.

(Master! After him!

For a moment, I thought about pushing it all to Eihwaz, but then I recalled that it might be dangerous if Gallus was in the underground base. I wondered how far Eihwaz would go to take Gallus' safety into account. After all, he threw poison into the pit without hesitation.

「Eihwaz, wait!」

「Ah, wait! M-me too——」

Oh, I forgot about Face. No, we might as well leave the less combat-ready Face behind. We don't know what kind of situation we'll be in.

We sliding down the almost vertical hole in one fell swoop, and killed the momentum with a leap in the air to land.

I don't know what's going on with Eihwaz's drugs, so I wear a wind barrier, but I don't feel like it's filled with poison. I guess Eihwaz was right, the effect had already worn off.

「...A building」

『Yeah, I'm pretty sure this is the underground base』

It was a solid structure, as if we were inside some kind of fort.

『You never know where they're going to come from. Don't let your guard down』

「Nn」

For the time being, we decided to follow Eihwaz.

There was little vitality in the vicinity, but the magic of the pseudo fanatic sword could still be felt faintly. They must have noticed Eihwaz and Fran's intrusion and are removing their presence.

We kept going for about fifteen meters before I caught up with Eihwaz. He had stopped at the end of the aisle, in what looked like a large hall.

「Young miss, look at this」

「...Stairs?」

What Eihwaz was looking at was a staircase for climbing. However, the stairs had hit the ceiling and had no use for it. Had they filled the hole to isolate the underground facility here?

But it wasn't. When Eihwaz lightly channelled his magic, the stairs glowed for a moment.

「I knew it. It's a kind of magic tool」

It seems if you channel magic powers, a staircase will extend to the ground. I guess this is how they go in and out. No matter how hard we searched, we couldn't find the entrance or exit.

When they return from outside, they need to have the stairs appear from inside, the possibility of being attacked from outside is low. Well, it was forcefully invaded by Eihwaz

「We'll have to look into this later. Let's go to the other side」

「...Nn」

Fran nodded, although she was somewhat unhappy. She didn't like being led by Eihwaz, but she did recognize him somewhat when she saw how much insight he had into magic tools. For the time being, she didn't complain and started running ahead of Eihwaz.

But soon I notice the magic lurking ahead of us.

『Fran! Over there, behind the door! There's a magical power of the Pseudo-Rabid Sword! Maybe there's two of it』

(Nn? Understood!)

Apparently, Fran can't sense it. I may be aware of it in part because I feel the disgust more strongly than the magic.

「Eihwaz」

「Hmm? Did you feel something?」

「Nn」

When Fran called out to him, Eihwaz stopped and began to pay attention to his surroundings. The accuracy of his judgment was good, as expected of a former rank A adventurer.

「Behind that door there」

「Hou?」

Fran pointed to a door in the middle of the passage. She doesn't seem to know that someone is hiding in there, not even Eihwaz. But he doesn't release his guards. He honestly acknowledged that Fran's sensing ability was better than his.

「Is it the enemy?」

「I don't know. But there's two of them」

「...It seems that even I can't sense it. Let's make the initiative」

「Nn!」

Then Fran kicked down the door and rushed inside. First, she slashes one of them with her Sword technique! Worst case scenario, we'll use Eihwaz as a shield and finish him off with the telekinetic catapult after I get some distance. He's maybe an old magician, but he can at least buy us some time.

When Fran stepped into the room, the first thing she saw was a pile of black powder. A large amount of black powder is scattered on the floor and shelves.

It was probably an armory. However, the metal corroding potion thrown in by Eihwaz had corroded everything and it looked like nothing but a pile of black powder. There were only a few traces of leather armor, leather shields, and a leather belt that had been wrapped around the handle.

There are still two men inside. A pseudo fanatic sword was stuck in their necks. However, my plan to use the Eihwaz as a shield was never put into action. Because the enemy was already dead when we stepped inside.

「...Nn?」

『Looks like it's dead to me』

「Eei」

Just to be sure, we tried to cut the sword stuck in his back, but it still didn't move. Since the cannibalism was activated, there was no doubt that this was a pseudo fanatic sword.

Eihwaz, who came into the room later, approached the corpse with a euphoric look on his face.

「He's dead, isn't he?」

An appraisal showed that he had lost all of his magic as well as his life force. It seems that Eihwaz's drugs did more than I expected. I don't know if it was the magic depletion drugs or the counteracting effect of the pseudo fanatic sword, but it must have used up all the magic.

The sword's magic is weak because it can no longer absorb magic power from its host.

「I figured it would be easier to fight if their magic power was somewhat reduced.....The enemy seems to be more stupid than I imagined. No, as long as their mind is being manipulated, it doesn't have that much accurate judgment left. Or is the sword's ability automatically activated by some conditions? But——」

Eihwaz is mumbling something as he inspects the body. He seems to be considering various things. But now is not the time to relax.

For the time being, I decided to store the corpse in a hurry.

「Tsk. It can't be helped. But I'll be sure to check it later」

「Oi, are you listening? You definitely going to give me the body later right?」

「...」

「Oi, little girl」

Is Fran having trouble talking to Eihwaz? She ignored him completely. In response, Eihwaz is shouting at her. This guy doesn't listen to others, but gets angry when he's ignored. He's got a really good personality.

「Is it okay? I'm gonna dissect it, you know?」

Chapter 439: Cunning Battle

Dissect, dissect, Eihwaz was annoying so she gave him the corpse to silence him. Fran's response was 「If you want it so bad, I'll give it to you」 And Eihwaz was overjoyed.

He took the body that was handed to him as he ran with ease and tucked it into his own item bag.

「Kukukuh. I've got a good sample. This will help me advance my research again」

To be able to made Fran shocked, Eihwaz can't be underestimated.

As we drove on, the road ahead became brighter. There seems to be a hall ahead. I can feel the reaction of a large number of weak pseudo fanatic swords. It seems that the same tragedy happened there as in the armory earlier.

『So this place is full of dead bodies too?』

「Wiped out?」

『No, a few of them are still alive』

Even from here, I could feel the life force of several people.

『Stay alert』

(Nn)

When we stepped into the hall, I found it to be a slightly brighter room, similar in construction to the hall where the magic tool stairs had been installed. Originally, it was probably going to be a fierce battle with a large number of pseudo fanatic swords.....

Among the twenty or so corpses lying in the hall, four swordsmen stood. They were the ones who had poison resistance, etc., and the ones who had prevented the drugs with wind magic. But again, their magic power was already greatly reduced. Now is our chance!

『Fran! do pre-emptive strike!』

「Nn!」

The moment she saw me, Fran threw me into the air. Accelerated by the telekinetic catapult, I destroyed the head of the woman in front of me, along with her pseudo fanatic sword.

『Yosh! 3 more!』

I tried to use telekinesis to get back to Fran, but failed. It seems that the magic cancelling effect is already in effect.

But there's a way to do it.

「Woof!」

Urushi ran at me at once, bit my hilt and threw me to Fran. As it was, Urushi rushed at the nearest swordsman.

『One more time!』

「Nn! Haaaa!」

Due to the large size of the hall, the magic cancelling effect had not reached the entrance area. This meant that it was possible to telekinetic catapult again.

As if replaying the scene from earlier, the telekinetic catapult shattered the head of the swordsman who was fighting Urushi and the pseudo fanatic sword. Instantly, Urushi lifts me up and hands me to Fran.

I was going to finish the rest. I thought so, but I was interrupted by Eihwaz.

「Come on. Leave one for me」

「Muh」

I was thinking of ignoring him, but if I despise Eihwaz here, he might go off the rails later. With that in mind, it would be better to give him a chance.

Besides, while I was hesitating, one of the swordsmen came close to us. I need to get some distance again to use the telekinetic catapult.

『It's no use. We'll take care of this one, and let Eihwaz take care of the other one』

「Nn. Urushi, return!」

If we were not careful, Eihwaz could attack us all. Fran called Urushi back and cut off the dwarf who was running towards her. It was a blow aimed at his neck, but he seemed to be a defensive specialist and put up a strong barrier to block the attack.

For that reason, he is not very good at attacking. Fran dodges the counter-attack of his big sword with ease. Would it be easier to wait for him to self-destruct?

As Eihwaz watched, he stepped toward the remaining large man. His face was full of motivation.

「Fumu. Black Lightning Princess doesn't need any help. Then I'll take this one...Poison Fog」

「Oh! Is that the magic cancelling? You really did dispel the poisonous mist I created with my magic! Very interesting」

Old man, Sorry to burst your bubble but are you okay? If he can't block magic, you're at a huge disadvantage. However, Eihwaz's expression remained joyful.

Unfazed by the large man who approached him at once, he threw several bottles from his pocket. He must have an items bag or something inside his robe.

The moment the big man reaped the bottle, a tremendous explosion sounded. At the same time, smoke and flames rose up.

Fran kept her distance from the dwarf, holding her cat ears with her hand. It was such an explosive sound.

「Fumu fumu. They can't cancel out phenomena caused by chemical reactions that are not borne by magic after all」

After interrupting his fellow, Fran, Eihwaz himself laughed happily and unleashed more magic. It is an AOE magic that freezes a wide area. But the big man's pseudo fanatic sword cancelled it out. He was able to frighten him for a moment, but he wasn't able to beat him.

「Umu umu」

He nodded a couple of times, as if he had already factored it in, and unleashed his magic again. This time, he threw a bottle of drugs at the same time.

Of course, the magic was cancelled out, and the broken bottle that hit the ground had no effect but only spread the liquid inside to the surroundings.

It looked like he was wasting his time, but it seemed that Eihwaz was getting excited. He swiftly began to blabber out his thoughts.

「I see, I see. It seems that the magic cancel can't specify the target so delicately. It's not like he can specify a specific area? The poison fog that I had just use, and the magic that I had just use, he didn't able to erase the effects of it on the places far away from me. And a potion turned into mere water.....」

After only a few tries, he was uncovering the effects of the magic counteract. It was frustrating, but amazingly insightful.

Still, lacking a decisive move, Eihwaz was not able to defeat his opponent. The big man slashed at him again. Eihwaz dodged the attack. That's right. This old man is not incapable of close combat. He had mastered the skills of hand-to-hand fighting and dodging. He may be inferior in status, but his combat experience is vast.

Eihwaz evaded the big man's attack with a flick of his wrist and took out five drugs bottles again. He then dropped the bottles at his feet. Naturally, the bottles broke and smoke spewed out from inside.

The smoke that seemed to envelop Eihwaz and the large man was completely dissipated in less than a second. The whole thing must have been a magic potion.

It was supposed to be a dire strait when his self-destruct attack was cancelled out.....Eihwaz's smile was the same as at first. But now, it even seemed to be deepening.

With a look of heartfelt enjoyment on his face, Eihwaz thrusts his arm out toward the large man and speaks.

「——Eternal Coffin!」

What happened immediately after that was beyond our imagination.

『Eh?』

「Nn? How?」

To my surprise, Eihwaz's magic was not cancelled out, and he freeze the big man.

No, So that's how. The potion that created the smoke that he used beforehand. He made the big man use up all of his magic power by daring him to cancel it out. And then, by making it impossible for him to use the magic cancel, he was able to activate his magic in a relaxed manner.

『Fran, after I saw that, I think I have an easy way to beat these guys』

(Really?)

『Yeah. After I casted my spell on him. Then, unleash Void Sword Technique on him』

(Understood)

They use their own magic to counteract it. I should have known that, but I didn't realize that I could take advantage of that phenomenon. That was my mistake.

『Here we go! Try to cancel this!』

I activate 10 magic shots simultaneously, and everything is cancelled out as intended.

「Haaa!」

Then, Fran's Void Sword Technique sliced away the dwarf's head and pseudo fanatic sword, which had used up all of its magic power. If you think about it, it was a simple matter. With the amount of magic power I had, even if it was a little inefficient, I should have just let him use up all of his magic by pushing him with my magic.

If there were dozens of opponents, it would be a different story, but if there were only a few, it would be easy to deplete their magic before my power ran out.

『Haah. I can't help but be dismayed by my own dullness. Well, let's find Gallus now. Reflection will come later』

「Nn」

「Hey, you don't mind if I take this big guy, do you?」

Chapter 440: Heroes and Maiden

At the end of the hall, there was a place where a huge door had been sitting—or so it seemed, but only the remains of the door were scattered about. It was the work of the metal corroding potion that Eihwaz had used.

No matter how huge and airtight the door was, if it was a metal door, it would be ripped apart by the metal corroding potion, and that's how the other potion got in. Once again, it was a horrible potion.

Fran and Eihwaz stepped over the wreckage of the door and continued on. What lay ahead was a prison. A sturdy-looking metal grate was set into it.

The swordsman on guard was still alive, but one-on-one he was no match for us, who knew how to deal with him. He was killed instantly.

「Gallus!」

Immediately after stepping into the room, Fran started to run. Yes, there was Gallus lying in the prison. After appraising him, it seems that he is only unconscious.

「Hmm?」

Fran grabbed the bars and put a lot of pressure on them, but it wouldn't budge off. Apparently, it was a special metal and had not been corroded by the metal corrosion potion.

「It's probably a magical steel alloy. That potion doesn't work well on magic metals」

「...Shii!」

However, this level of grating would not be a problem if it were not for the magic cancel. Fran easily sliced through the bars and stepped into the prison.

「Gallus? Are you okay?」

She shook Gallus lightly, but he didn't respond.

「——Grea—ter—He—al! How was it?」 (1)

『It's no good, he's not waking up』

It must be the effects of the narcotics. I don't think it was Eihwaz's potion. Maybe.

『In the meantime, let's get Gallus out of here』

「Nn. Urushi」

「woof!」

Fran straps the unconscious Gallus to Urushi's back. The burden on Gallus would be less if we moved while supporting him with telekinesis.

『What happened to Eihwaz?』

「Nn?」

Eihwaz was crouching in front of the jail. He seemed to be examining the corpse of the watchmen.

「Hohoho. So, he's inserting the sword into his back from here. Looks like it runs down the back of his spine. It's durability is...I see. It's not as powerful as a magic sword. Did they build it with this use in mind from the beginning? And about this technique? This is——」

He was dripping a mysterious liquid on the sword and checking the condition of the corpse. On the contrary, he was piercing some kind of needle-like tool into its eyeballs and cutting its wrists to draw blood.

「Eihwaz, back to top」

「Hmm. I see. Well, there doesn't seem to be anything here anymore. So, is the dwarves safe?」

「But, can't wake him up」

「Hmmm. Let's have a look」

With the corpse firmly tucked away, Eihwaz approached Gallus on Urushi's back. Fran was not sure if she should stop him or not. But in the end, she decided to let him examine Gallus.

「I see, I see.....」

Eihwaz is flipping through Gallus' mouth and eye lids, checking the flow of his magic.

「It must be the narcotics. He is mentally drained, and it's affecting his body」

「Will get cured?」

「From the looks of it, the contamination is quite advanced, but it hasn't reached the worst of it. With time, healing won't be a problem」

「Is that so. How can I treat him?」

「It could be a high level healing magic or detoxification with alchemy. Narcotics have a strong impact, but there are several medicines to deal with them. If you want, I can treat him for you? A dwarf affected with a narcotic is a very rare specimen」

Nonono, there's no way in hell I'm leaving him with Eihwaz! It's like throwing a roll of raw meat in front of a starving wolf. He would never get away from it. I could only imagine a future where Gallus would be dissected.

「No need」

「Hmm, is that so?」

「Nn」

「Wa-wait. I'm saying that I'll cure him right away, right?」

「It's fine」

「Muh...」

Fran seemed to have thought the same thing as me, and rejected Eihwaz's words.

『With that said, what should we do now』

I'd like to take him to a safe place and ask for medical treatment, but where should I take him? The noble district is in the middle of a battle.....

『Fran, let's go to the Adventurer's Guild. It's far enough away from the noble district. They might have a fighting force and someone who can heal him』

「Go to the Adventurer's Guild」

「Hmm. It's not a bad decision. In your point, you can't just leave it in the hands of the thieves' guild」

Surprisingly, Eihwaz agrees with her. I thought he would insist that we leave it with the Thieves' Guild.

「Leave the dwarf to them and let's go to another battlefield. I'd like to observe them in action」

Was his matter of interest simply in the pseudo fanatic sword?

What's more surprising is that he doesn't want to go on his own. With his personality, I'm afraid he's going to leave Fran and go off on his own. No, I'm afraid to unleash Eihwaz alone, so it's better if he stays within my sight, though.

「The world's rarest thing, an evolved black cat kin...Its true value is not to be missed」

This guy was curious about Fran too! The way he looked at Fran held the same curiosity that he had for Gallus and the pseudo fanatic sword. It was the way he looked at his precious experiment.

『Fran, never let Eihwaz get to you, okay?』

(Of course)

Well, Fran has been keeping a wary eye on Eihwaz since a long time, and I'm sure she's fine. Maybe she has a wild intuition and senses the look that Eihwaz is giving to her.

After Fran and Eihwaz got out of the hole they had plunged into as it was, they picked up Face, who was getting anxious, and hurried to the Adventurer's Guild on their feet.

The commotion already seemed to be spreading, and people were looking anxious in the civilian and downtown areas. In fact, some travellers and vendors seemed to be hurrying to the gates to escape from the royal capital.

「This is a bad. If the battle drags on, it could cause panic as people try to escape from the royal capital」

It was no wonder that Face was muttering anxiously. The battle seemed to be getting more intense, with loud explosions echoing in rapid succession and mysterious lights emanating from the noble district.

「No one in here?」

When we arrived at the Adventurer's Guild, it was surprisingly deserted. Other than the receptionist, there was no one around. The first person to notice Fran was Stellia, who was still picking at her cookies in her spare time.

「Oh, isn't it the Black Lightning Princess? what's up?」

「What happened to the adventurers?」

「The guild sent out an urgent request for security. All the people who have time to spare are out of town」

It seems that the guild is also working properly.

「I want you to take care of Gallus」

「Gallus...by any chance, the Honorary Blacksmith, Gallus?」

「Nn」

Fran told her that narcotics was keeping him from awake, and he needed medical treatment, and that in some cases the enemy might come to take him back. Then Steria raised her eyebrows and frowned. With no adventurers around, she must be wondering if she can keep him.

「What are you mulling over? Get on quickly」

「Haa? Who the hell are you?」

「I'm a former adventurer named Eihwaz」

The change in Stellia's face when she was told this by Eihwaz was dramatic. Her scornful expression changed, and she looked like a maiden in love. No, she's just an old lady.

「Ei-Eihwaz-sama? A-are you by any chance, Eihwaz the dragon binder?」

「That's right. This is the guild card I used to use」

「I-I'll take a look!」

Steria picked up Eihwaz's guild card with a slightly trembling hand. Then, with a serious face, she checked it for authenticity.

「I-it's the real one! It's the real Eihwaz! I-it's a honor to meet you!」

「Umu」

It's a class change from being a pouty old lady to an idol chaser. Stellia is staring at Eihwaz with sparkling eyes. The tone of her voice is probably a step higher.

The other receptionists stared in amazement at her transformation.

「So, can you take care of this dwarf and treat him?」

「Ye-yes! Of course!」

I guess she really admire him. Instead of being offended by Eihwaz's big attitude, she nodded happily, and her cheeks dyed red.

But, is it okay if it was this easy?

「Are you okay? The enemy might come here」

「I'm fine! Just leave it to me! I'm still a former rank B adventurer! Besides, I'll summon all the high-ranked adventurers who didn't respond to this call as soon as I can! I'll also call for a healer and an alchemist right away!」

Do the adventurers who didn't respond to the call would listen to her?

「Fufun. How many years do you think I've been in this guild? I at least have three or four adventurer's weakness. I didn't want to work for the noble, but for Eihwaz-sama, that's a different story!」

It seems that Aunt Steria was more powerful in the shadows than I had imagined. Well, I guess I can leave this one to her.

Besides, come to think of it, he's a blacksmith with the potential to make something as crazy as a pseudo fanatic sword. It might be a bad idea to leave him in this country. Mainly in terms of Gallus' freedom. If King Kranzel had big ambitions, he would not have the option of freeing Gallus. I can only imagine a future where he is forced into slavery and then forced to engage in the mass production of pseudo fanatic swords.

In this respect, the adventurer's guild can be a strong voice for the country. However, let's make a push. Fran takes out a million golds on the counter and tells Stellia.

「Then I'll make the request. I want you to take care of Gallus and keep him safe. And no one but us. In particular, do not hand him over to the country or anyone else. This will cover your expenses」

「Let's add my name to the list. I don't want to be ripped off by the state」

「Is there a reason for this? Well, that's okay. If Eihwaz-sama asks me to do something. I'll do it, no matter what! And the rewards are plenty」

It was a request made directly to the guild by an adventurer. The guild's reputation would be at stake if they lost Gallus. I'm sure they will protect him.

「Also, I'm leaving my follower. Urushi, if anything happens to him, take Gallus and run away」

「Woof」

Worst case scenario, Urushi should be able to protect Gallus.

「Well then, we'd better get going」

「Nn」

Our goal is to get to the square in front of the royal castle. I've heard that Count Bailleys is there.

Note:

(1) ——グレーターヒール gure-ta-hi-ru, i don't know why the use of spacing is, for intonation maybe.

(2) That was the longest Fran's line that i can remember lol...

Chapter 441: Battle in front of the Royal Castle

When we stepped into the noble district, we were immediately confronted by men with pseudo fanatic swords stuck in them. However, as long as they were far enough, my telekinetic catapult would kill them instantly.

I had to give some of them away, though, because Eihwaz claimed them.

「Fuhaha. I still have some things to try」

He slurped down the potion he had taken out of his pocket. It seemed to be a body enhancing potion. He jumped into his opponent's bosom at once and began to fight with the swordsman.

「I see I see! Drugs and skill with body strengthening effect can be used——In other words, magic counteracting does not work for things that act in the body!」

He threw the medicine he had taken out at the enemy who was charging at him. At the same time, he plunged into the enemy with his fists clenched.

He's good. If he dodges the potion, he'll probably fall prey to Eihwaz's physical strengthened fist. If he wants to get rid of the potion, he needs to consumes magic power to activate magic cancel to cancel out the potion's effect and his magic would be drained Either way, Eihwaz had the advantage.

He then uses his ice magic to freeze the enemy, who has used up all of his magic by cleaving the medicine with his sword, he wins without a scratch.

It seems that Eihwaz true essence was the use of his magic, close combat and potion together. If we have to fight him, he is a very nasty opponent with no noticeable gaps.

Fran seemed to have thought the same thing, and was observing Eihwaz's battle with an eye as if looking for a weakness.

『Aside from magic and hand-to-hand combat technique, drugs is completely unknown to us...』

(Nn. Strong)

After a few battles, Fran and Eihwaz reached the square in front of the royal castle.

The plaza in front of the royal castle was made quite large in order to accommodate a military parade. However, there was a fierce battle going on there, more than I had imagined.

There were about 100 enemies. Among them, there were probably about 40 with pseudo fanatic swords stuck in them. Along with them, an ogre-like magical beast about two meters tall was running rampant.

When I appraised it, it came up as a Flesh Greater Golem (1). Apparently, it was a golem made from a corpse. It was also quite strong. Its agility was low, but it was sturdy and had regeneration ability. It would be quite a nuisance while being protected by the Pseudo Fanatic Sword's magic counteracting power. At least a few knights should not be able to resist it.

In contrast, there were probably about 200 knights. If you include those who had already fallen, there were probably more than 500. There were also adventurers in the crowd.

There's Colbert too. There's even an appearance of Eliante. I didn't expect her to be here. The two of them are still moving exceptionally well. However, there were five people who were showing comparable work.

Maybe the five of them were in the same party. They wore armor of the same design and fought in tandem. Maybe they were the half-insect kin.

『I think that's the mercenary group Eliante was talking about. I believe it was called Antennae and Shells (2) or something like that.....』

Well, it was just as the name implied. Some of them have antennae growing out of their heads, while others have parts of their bodies covered with hard shells.

The species are hardy shrimps, locusts, clams, dragonfly, and fanged ants (3). However, it seems that they are still struggling due to their inability to use skills and magic. Even so, they fought in tandem and seemed to have killed more than ten flesh golems, which was impressive.

(Master, there's the count)

『In the meantime, lets join him』

「Nn!」

Fran ran across the battlefield at once and cut down the swordsmen infested by the pseudo fanatic swords around Count Bailleys and the others.

The knights were stunned to see their struggling opponent defeated so easily. But when the Count saw that it was Fran who had appeared, he nodded approvingly.

「As expected of the Black Lightning Princess! How did you do that? You looked different from the time of the battle at the mansion」

So, Fran tells them what to do. The Count, however, has a difficult look on his face. If you think about it, it wasn't so easy to fire off a bunch of magic to drain the magic power, or to throw a bunch of magic potions.

「Lets collect all the potions we can find or go to...Anyway, I've heard good things about you. Can you help me eradicate this square first?」

「Nn. But, are the other place is fine?」

Enemies must have appeared from the Marquis Ashtner's and Count Ormes' mansions.....

「...They should be fine. Rank A adventurers are heading there」

「Heading there?」

「We've had a lot of adventurers come through here for the auction. Eliante talked me about it」

Is that so? If you're a high-ranking adventurer, you're probably interested in the auction. The auction has already ended, but I'm sure there are many adventurers still left in royal capital.

「What about Velmeria?」

「We haven't found her yet. Forget about my daughter for now. Think only of defeating the enemy. The safety of royal capital is more important」

After all, he was probably saying these words to himself as well. The Count told Fran with an expression as if he was holding something back.

「Don't worry. The adventurers will rescue her. She should be fine」

『Fran. Since we can't find her, all we can do now is reduce the enemy's strength』

「...All right. I'll take care of the enemy here for now」

「Well then, let's go, shall we? The flesh walls are just to attract our attention. It will be easy to be done with later. Let's ignore the meat wall and reduce the number of swordsmen first」

「Understood」

Then Fran and the others ran out into the battlefield.

「Awakening——」

We don't even know what kind of battle we'll have after this. Let's save Black Lightning Rush for later. But it seems for this battlefield, awakening alone was enough.

Although it was a melee, it was easy to distinguish friend from foe by using the pseudo fanatic sword as a marker. All we have to do is sneak up from their blind spot and strike the pseudo fanatic sword with all our might.

In some cases, barriers or other factors may prevent that attack from being determined, in that case, simply switch to a magic saturated attack.

「Eh? Why a child here——what!」

「What? A black shadow!」

The knights are surprised to see Fran suddenly appear and easily bury a powerful enemy. However, Fran ignores them and runs on the battlefield.

Boooom!

An explosion and a knight's scream. Apparently Eihwaz is hustling too.

「Haaa!」

From the middle of the battle, not only Colbert and Eliante, but also the mercenaries came to the aid of Fran. They dared to move flamboyantly to attract the attention of the enemy. This made the job even easier.

It took us less than fifteen minutes to clean up the pseudo fanatic sword holders. Then, against the last enemy, I tried to unleash a controlled amount of Kanna Kamui. I wanted to find out how much magic that sword could still counteract to.

『Hmm, It should be as strong as Thor Hammer (4) or something huh』

「Nn」

It seemed that a magic of Kanna Kamui class could not be counteracted as expected. Although the power of the thunder was considerably reduced, the thunderbolt annihilated the enemy along with the pseudo fanatic sword, leaving a huge crater in the square in front of the royal castle.

『That was a bit overkill』

「It's better than being cancelled out」

Chapter 442: In the End, There's Him Here

Chapter 442: In the End, There's Him Here

I thought it was better than being cancelled out, so I used it, but I think Kanna Kamui was a bit too much.

A hole about five meters in diameter was drilled in the square in front of the royal castle, and the surrounding knights and flesh golems were reaped by the impact.

It was much less powerful, but it has saved their life. If it had been as powerful as it was, it would have been quite a disaster. No, it may have been a bad idea to open a hole in front of the royal castle in the first place.

I can feel the knights' eyes on us. I wonder if they are angry with me for blowing a hole in front of the royal castle. However, it seems that they don't have time to talk to Fran as they are soon engaged in a battle with the flesh golem.

Eihwaz was staring at Fran, but he was quickly attacked by a flesh golem and moved to deal with that. It may be troublesome later huh.

『We'll do the golem too』

「Nn!」

After clearing out the pseudo fanatic sword wielder, we moved on to clearing out the flesh golem.

While they were certainly strong, they were no match for us at this level. Once again, I had enough time to observe the battles of the other adventurers and mercenaries.

Colbert has become like a normal fighter. It seems that the cost of losing the Dimitris style was great. His attack power seems to have dropped drastically, and he has been dealing damage to the Flesh Golem with a series of attacks.

However, now that he was no longer in a sealed state, his body movement itself would have improved. The loss of the Dimitris style must have led to more rigorous training. He probably has talent to begin with, and he will grow even more in the future.

Eliante was not what she appeared to be at all, she was a super power fighter. As if she was taking the stress of her job out on the fight, she was swinging a huge sword that was bigger than her with one hand and slamming it into the flesh golem.

「Ahahahahahahahaha! Horahorahorahoraa!」

I thought she didn't have antennae for a half-insect kin, but it seems she had hidden them in her hair. From between her untied purple hair grew a rather thick antennae that at first glance appeared to be long horns.

She appears to be a half-spider. She wraps threads sprayed from the palm of her hand around the golem, blocking its movement. It's like an American spider-man ability. Eliante ran into it and slammed her big sword into it, and the loud laughter that she kept raising gave her a great sense of being a mad warrior.

The five members of the mercenary group are strong individually, but they are also highly coordinated. It's enough to change the image you had of mercenaries.

『So there's such a strong mercenary huh』

(Nn)

That's natural, but it can't be helped because I hadn't encountered them before. If you think about it, the strongest mercenaries are probably on the battlefield, and conversely, it's no surprise that the mercenaries we usually meet of aren't a big deal.

The hot-blooded-looking man who had just slammed his fist into the flesh golem in front of Fran seemed to be the leader. He's giving orders to everyone. Hard shrimp? Maybe he's a lobster or lobster-type half-insect kin.

A red, slippery shell covered his face and the middle of his right hand. The shell around his fist in particular had a huge, aggressive form, like a hammer with spikes. He was fighting by swinging his fist. He was also using water magic to overwhelm a flesh golem that was equivalent to several knights by himself.

The legs of these half-insect kin locusts are very thick. The upper body is slender and beautiful, but only the legs have an unusual volume, as if they were cut out of a large tree and attached.

On his lower body, he's wearing a pair of dowdy pants like a bonton to accommodate the change, and now his bloated legs are squeezed tightly inside the bonton.

However, it seemed that his leg strength was even more tremendous than I had imagined. When the boy (1) kicked the golem with his foot, the huge body of the golem, which must have weighed well over a ton, floated. His movements were as fluid as Tae Kwon Do or Capoeira, and he seemed to specialize in attacking with the power of his legs.

The female spear woman was moving in a strange way. The thin wings on her back were not designed for flight, but she seemed to be using them to make sudden movements. In addition, her slender body was swaying and moving in an unusually tricky manner. The sleepy, half-eyed expression on her face made it difficult for even us to predict her movements. It may not mean much against flesh golems, but it will be very effective against humans.

The fanged ant half-insect kin are similar to a human in appearance, with the only differences being her antennae and eyes. It is a beautiful, innocent-looking girl of about 160 centimetres, who doesn't look particularly strong. However, her power is far from human. I've never seen a dual axe wielder before. In addition, she seems to be able to spit venom from her mouth. She attacks the golem's single eye with the venom precisely. It's a fighter with a few tricks up her sleeve, so it seems that the half-insect kin are not to be underestimated.

I'm not sure what it is, but it's a race of half-insect kin called clams. It seems to be a shellfish...I'm not sure if it's the same thing. I guess bugs even include that kind of species. He is a big man who seems to be a simple man. He's got a gentle but powerful air about him. It seems that he is not a warrior, but a magician who uses illusion. However, as he was of shellfish, the shell covering his shoulders and back seemed to have a high level of defense. He was able to catch the huge fist of the Flesh Golem with a curled-up stance. It was a strange way to be a tank and a magician.

Beside them, Fran was overkilling flesh golems with all of her skills and magic, as if to relieve the frustration of being forced to fight so inconveniently with her magic and skills blocked.

「Haaa!」

She slices off the golem's limbs, burns it with magic, and finally slices off its torso and head with sheaths of wind (2). I guess it feels good to be able to use all her strength without limitations.

「Oi! We can't lose to that beastman girl!」

「Well, we are getting high rewards after all! To get that reward we need to work hard!」

「Ou!」

It seems that the Insect Rangers (3) have gotten motivated. Since they are bugs, they seem to be more like modified humans, but there are five of them. What about the Antenna Squadron: Koukakuger? (4)

While we were fighting like that, there was a huge magical reaction in the middle of the square. At the same time, purple smoke covered the square with tremendous force.

『Fran, don't ever breath that smoke! My danger detection is ringing loudly!』

(Nn!)

It was clearly a poisonous fog. I hurriedly protected Fran with wind barriers and the like. The nearby insect kin rangers instantly gathered, and I could see them defending against the poisonous fog with wind barriers of the dragonfly and water barriers of the hard shrimp.

Then, after the poisonous fog clears, the flesh golems, knights, and adventurers appear lying in the square, convulsing. The old man's loud laughter echoed through the air.

「Fuhahahaha. I seem the paralysis poison is effective against flesh golems because it's made from human flesh」

It seemed that Eihwaz had unleashed a deadly poisonous spell on friend and foe alike.

「Don't worry. It's paralytic poison. I'll give antidote for it later. For now, whoever's still alive, destroy the flesh soldiers」

「That old man, even his ally too...」

「Guildmaster! The golem should be our priority right now」

I hope Eliante and Colbert were okay. Eliante was about to slash at Eihwaz, but Colbert was holding him back.

Well, it actually didn't do much damage to human, and it would be better to destroy the flesh golems as Eihwaz said.

The mercenaries follow his words, even though they are angry. But they are a reasonable one, I'm sure. In a way, it's a battle strategy that can only be done because Eihwaz doesn't even think of people as people.

「It's just going to take a lot of time if I didn't do this, isn't it?」

There was only one person who nodded in agreement with Eihwaz's words.

「I see」

Wha, Fran? Did he just impress you? You can't do that! Don't you ever imitate him!

Chapter 443: End of Battle in the Square

The battle has ended due to Eihwaz's outburst, and now relief is being provided by those who were safe. The paralysis has been lifted long ago, but some of them were wounded before that.

However, only Eihwaz rushed to Fran's rescue.

「Little girl! That's some serious magic!」

She asked Fran a question with a glint in his eye. But there was no hint of jealousy or a sense of defeat in his eyes. What was there was an intense curiosity and inquisitiveness.

「I didn't expect it, you are extremely good at thunder magic!」

「Nn」

「I-i never thought I could control that thing on my own.....Are you assisted by some kind of magic tool?」

「Secret」

「No」

「Kuh. Then how does it feel? How much magic is used? How hard is it to control? For example, How much is it consumed compared to other magic?」

Fran dodges Eihwaz's constant barrage of questions, answering them lazily. No, Fran is serious, but she only answers with 「a lot」 or 「really a lot」

For the theoretical Eihwaz, he didn't understand it at all. Eventually, he gave up.

「But still, what does it mean? Is this really a rank C...? Are the eyes of the guild that blind...? No, maybe it's because she's a child? By the way? which guild do you affiliate with?」

「Affiliate?」

「Are you traveling around? So, do you know the name of Klimut or Amanda? Or you are related to Allesa?」

「Know both, become adventurer in Allesa」

「I see」

Eihwaz seems convinced.

「What does that mean?」

「Amanda and Klimut are both negative about sending children into battlefield. They're really powerful in this country. If their backing is visible, not many people will be willing to raise your rank」

I guess they are not keeping Fran from ranking up. But, if a child is registered in Alessa and has information that she is close to Amanda, a normal guild master might not think of taking advantage of her badly.

「If you rise above rank B, the nobles will get annoying. I quit being an adventurer because of that」

To the extent that this very picture of insolence is annoying for him?

「Are noble, that annoying?」

「Hmm. Their intelligence network is foolproof. Their messenger will come out of nowhere when he hears that you've risen to Rank B. Some are low and some are high-handed, but they all have one thing in common: they want you to be under them. No matter how many times you say no, they won't give up」

「Even if I say no?」

「I guess they have special ears that can only hear what's inconvenient」

Is this what they said with disliking people similar to oneself? I'm starting to think they're like Eihwaz huh?

「No matter which town I went to, or even out from the country. There are nobles in everywhere. Especially since I've made a name for myself as a dragon slayer.....The more powerful you are, the more likely for you to be recruited」

「I have no desire to serve a nobleman」

「They won't care what you want. They're noblemen, remember? They never expect to be rejected. So, if you do, they'll resent you. Hmmph, that's ridiculous」

He was fed up with having to deal with nobles every day like that, so he quit being an adventurer. There was a way for him to become a guild master like Gamudo and Diaz, but he turned it down.

「That would leave no time for my experiment」

Other than that, it seems that the norm is to associate with nobles in moderation, receive support in moderation, and be shielded by other nobles, like Amanda and Forrund.

But I don't think Eihwaz is capable of that. And I don't think Fran can either. I can imagine a future where She'd blow it up and get in trouble. Maybe it's okay to leave things as they are until Fran grows up a bit more.

Anyway, was Klimut really that influential? He was strong, sure, but he didn't seem to be a top rank A adventurer. As a guild master, does he get a pass because he's been working for many years?

When Fran mentioned the question, Eihwaz snickered.

「Fun. How can you look at a high-ranking spirit user with mere status? It's like having dozens of transparent, covert magical beasts at your disposal」

I don't really know what a spirits is. I've only seen a spirits used by Klimut once. Eihwaz said that by using spirits that are difficult to detect, it is possible to fight in a variety of ways. He said that Klimut was a particularly skilled spiritualist.

「In the first place, do you know what his second names are? It's Calamity, Klimut the Calamity. A destructive force that brings destruction and misfortune to friend and foe alike. Kukukuh. Well, that second names are not true, but.....Still, his ability is outstanding even among Rank A. No, he's retired now and used to be Rank A, right? Anyway, depending on how he fights, he could probably go toe-to-toe with S ranker」

I-i didn't know he were such a great adventurer. Maybe spirit magic is even worse than I thought. When I think about it, we can find a dungeon on the Plains of the Demon Wolf, a grade A magical area, and Raidos Kingdom. Alessa is surrounded by troubles on all sides. It might be that you have to be pretty good to be the guild master of Allesa.

「Well, I don't really care with that story」

With that, Eihwaz looks at Fran.

「Hmm? Would you like to be dissected by me? I'll give you a million. I can guarantee your life!」

「Doesn't want」

「2 Million! How about 2 million? Just for a second I'll open up your head and observe the magic transmission in your brain!」

「Can't do」

「B-by all means?」

「Nn」

While we were having this conversation, Count Bailleys came running up to us.

「Black Lightning Princess. It's safe here now. I want you to head to Marquis Ashtner's residence with the adventurers. Can you please move?」

「Understood」

「I'm coming too!」

「No, I'll have you join the magician corps」

Eihwaz shouted without pause, but Count Bailleys did not agree.

「We do not have enough mages. I'll need you to instruct the mages on how to deal with the swordsmen, and then we'll head to Count Olmes' residence」

「You have a court magician right! No, wait. Is now the time for it huh?」

「That's right. Ashtner was probably aiming for a time when royal capital's troop strength would be reduced」

It seems that half of the knights and magician have been dispatched to a magical land near the royal capital. The magical land itself is not that dangerous, as it is said to be a class C area. However, once every four years, a large outbreak of locust-shaped magical beasts occurs. In order to exterminate the locusts, the strength of the royal capital would be reduced by half.

Marquis Ashtner naturally knew about it, of course, and he must have timed his rebellion to coincide with that period.

「As a reward, I'll try to lift the bounty that has been placed on you!」

「A bounty?」

「Umu. So much for being a free man, right? I'm sure there's a bounty or two on your head」

「I see」

I thought about it at the same time as Fran did.

「Fun. I don't really care about it, and I don't mind if you didn't lift it. But, well.....When you're done with this, you'll send me the materials you've confiscated. And I'll take a sample, okay?」

「...We'll do everything we can to accommodate you.」

「Kukuh. So be it, I'll take care of the magicians」

「Please don't do anything rash」

「I know」

「.....You don't seem to understand. That's why I had to remind you」

Count Bailleys exhaled lightly as he looked at the square where the rescue still continued.

It seems that Bailleys is aware of Eihwaz character. He probably doesn't want to use him, but there is no way to avoid using such a talented person in this situation. In the end, the only thing he can do is to fish for profit and nail him.

「I beg you, please」

「Kukuh. I know I know」

You're not going to comply with this, are you?

Chapter 444: Marquis' Residence

Chapter 444: Marquis' Residence

After Count Bailleys sorted the force, Fran was among the adventurers led by Eliante.

「Then, we are going too」

「I rely on you, Eliante」

「I know. Then come with me, Black Lightning Princess」

「Nn」

At the command of Eliante, the guild master, all the adventurers rush out at once. The core of the group was Fran, Eliante, and Colbert, but the other 20 were probably all rank D or higher.

On the way, he gives us information about the rank A adventurer who was sent to Marquis Ashtner's residence.

「The one who was sent to Marquis Residence was 『Sword of the West Wind』」

「Sword of the West Wind? Is that a party?」

「You didn't know? A small, elite party led by a rank A adventurer, 『Zephyrd of the Skywall』」

When Fran said she didn't know the name, the adventurers around her looked at her with astonishment and dismay. They must be a very famous adventurer party.

The adventurers around us are telling her more details as we go. It seems that Sword of the West Wind is a very powerful party, made up of rank B adventurers except for Zephyrd.

It is said that Zephyrd's individual abilities are inferior to Forrund and Amanda. However, as a party, Zephyrd is the best in the country and is said to be more stable than Forrund and the others who are solo.

「And they are usually famous among people with common sense」

「Nn? What do you mean?」

It didn't make sense at first, but now that it's been explained, I can understand it better. It's hard to say that high-ranking adventurers are sensible people no matter how you look at it. Among them, by having common sense will make them stand out.

「Forrund, Amanda, Eihwaz, and also, Fran. You're not exactly a person with common sense, right?」

「Nn?」

Fran is tilting her head, but I had to nod mine. Well, I'd like to tell Eliante to put her own name in there. I guess it just goes to show that no one really knows who themselves is.

『I'm looking forward to meet them』

(Nn)

Maintaining a fairly high speed while conversing like this, the group arrived at Marquis Ashtner's residence. There was still a fierce battle going on there.

「I can't see Zephyrd and the others around? It's no use. We'll take this place in one fell swoop——」

「Hold on. Leave it to me!」

「Eh? Wa——」

Fran interrupted Eliante's words and accelerated alone.

『The first thing we need to do is disable the pseudo fanatic sword』

「Nn!」

I think I'll imitate from Eihwaz ways here. No, As expected, I can't spread poison magic around like him.

The first thing I did was to try to shoot one magic shot, but it was cancelled just as I intended. After all, they don't just see my magic and cancel it out, but they are constantly activating their magic cancelling power.

『Yosh, we can do this!』

「Nn」

The magic I use was a magic that does not harm our allies when activated. It was healing magic. By putting in an excessive amount of magic power, the range is increased.

As I thought, I couldn't cover all of the vast garden that couldn't be called a garden anymore, but if we used it while moving around, we could cover a lot of ground.

We continued to run around the battlefield at high speed, activating our ranged healing magic. And we make sure that most of the enemies in the vicinity have used up their magic.

There may be a few who are safe, but with our strength, a few of them are not a problem.

『The ones in this garden have already lost their magic!』

「Eliante! You can use your magic and skills now!」

「Eh?」

When Fran used magic to show them in front of the bewildered Eliante, their actions were quick.

At Eliante's command, the adventurers headed towards the enemy at once. Together with the surviving knights, they annihilated the swordsmen who had been parasitized by the pseudo fanatic sword.

However, Fran's expression did not clear up. There was a reason why we were in such a hurry to get rid of the pseudo fanatic sword.

(Master, any presence inside the mansion?)

『There is!』

There was a strange presence emanating from inside the house. But Eliante and the others didn't seem to notice it. Fran couldn't sense it either. It must be the same kind of mysterious disgust that only I can sense.

The next moment, however, Eliante and the others changed their complexion. A powerful magic power was emitted from inside the house. It was enough pressure to make Fran change her complexion too. The adventurers and knights seemed to have noticed this as well.

It was right after that.

BOOOOOOOOM!

With a tremendous roar, something bursts through the wall of the mansion.

「Guh.....!」

It was a man with scars all over his body. His green hair and masculine face peeked out from between his shattered full face. It wasn't just his helmet. The metal armor he wore had holes in it, as if it had melted in places, and a lot of blood was pouring out.

Seeing the man, Eliante raises her voice.

「Zephyrd!」

How, this half-dead man was a rank A adventurer!

It is true that his abilities are tremendous. He seems to be a warrior who specializes in shields, and has a level 7 shield saint skill (3). In addition to that, he has a wide range of skills that increase his defense, such as barrier and body strengthening.

His attack power is low, but with this man, he can defend against most attacks. A rank A adventurer who specializes in defense is about to die? What the hell was he fighting?

「Gu-guild master...huh...?」

「Greater Heal!」

In a flash, Fran healed him with magic. However, one shot was not enough to make him fully recovered. After that, she used several shots of Greater Heal and managed to recover Zephyrd.

「...That guy is, a monster」

「That guy?」

「Everyone was, killed by him! It's coming!」

Is it frustration, fear, or despair? Zephyrd's face twisted into a scream. There was none of the dignity of a rank A adventurer in his voice.

「It's Marquis Ashtner!」

From: <https://todstl.blogspot.com/2021/01/tenken-444.html>

Chapter 445: Marquis Ashtner

Rank A adventurer, Zephyrd, screamed.

「It's Marquis Ashtner!」

Then, a figure slowly emerged from the large hole in the wall of the mansion that had been blown open by Zephyrd.

So, this guy is Marquis Ashtner. He wears magic armor and cloak made of orichalcon, it was so gorgeous and gilded as much as possible. You could probably have enough fund to build a small fort with just the armor.

He was a skinny, bald, and unhealthy-looking old man.

His skin has lost all moisture and looks like the trunk of a cracked old tree. His eye sockets are deeply sunken, and underneath are dark circles that look as if they were painted with black ink. He has no beard, let alone hair. This makes him look more like a fake.

Despite of his lackluster appearance, his back was straight and his figure radiated a strange sense of intimidation.

His appearance is fearsome, as if a vicious spirit has taken over a mummy and is moving it. If this were a Hollywood movie set in Egypt, he would certainly be the boss.

Eliante mutters in disbelief as she stares at the old man.

「Is, Is that, that Marquis Ashtner? It 's not at the level of sudden change anymore」

「Cause, that guy, When we met a few years ago, he was a lot fatter」

Apparently, his appearance has changed quite a bit. No, it seems that it is not only his appearance that has changed.

「In the first place, that magic power.....Is impossible」

「Nn?」

「Cuz that guy, He was supposed to be a liberal aristocrat who had hardly ever been on the battlefield.....I'm intimidated by magic like that...」

I see, she means he shouldn't be this strong. However, the current Marquis Ashtner has gained tremendous strength. It was clear from the appraisal.

To put it bluntly, he was stronger than a rank A adventurer. He was as strong as the Beast King. His skills were especially amazing. Sword Saint Skill: Lv. 10 is probably the highest level of our enemies this far.

Is the high status due to his extra skill of superhuman? As the name suggests, he really is a superhuman.

Moreover, the composition of his skills is strange. While there were high-level skills such as sword saint skill, flame magic, and magic steal, there were no lower-level skills that were prerequisites for them. It was as if he was suddenly given only those skills in one day.

It's like my skill sharing with Fran.

The Marquis opens his mouth in front of us, who shudder at his strength.

「——Kihihihhi, I got a lot of small fry here...」

His expression was completely unchanging, but the atmosphere of his words sounded like a lowly thug. To begin with, it was strange that he could talk, unlike the others who were controlled by pseudo fanatic swords.

More to the point, Marquis Ashtner did not have a pseudo fanatic sword stuck in him. And yet, he didn't have that half-broken demon sword in his hand either.

But since his state had become fanaticism, it was certain that he was being manipulated.

「So, you are Ashtner?」

「I wonder?」

I got the impression that something inside Ashtner was using his mouth to speak. No, maybe it was definitely something other than Ashtner.

「Well, why don't you just die anyway?」

「Kuhahaha! Volcanic Gazer!」

Hearing Eliante's instructions, the adventurers tried to gather around Eliante, but it was a moment too late.

As if in response to Marquis Ashtner's words, a tremendous amount of bright red lava spewed out, breaking the ground of the Marquis' residence.

Magma rose up like a fountain from the deep fissures in the earth that had been created in every direction. The super-heated magma turned into a tsunami that swallowed the adventurers and knights in the garden. We quickly set up wind barrier around the area, but it couldn't protect everyone.

A few adventurers and knights were swallowed by the lava and disappeared without even being able to scream. After the magic ended, the lava vanished as if it had been an illusion. Not a single human corpse was left in its wake. It seemed that they had completely turned into charcoal and disappeared.

A few remnants of magic armor were all that remained of their existence.

「This is dangerous.....If he fires a bunch of magic, we can't do anything to block it off...! All adventurers of rank C or lower except Fran evacuate immediately! Evacuate the surrounding residents!」

They must have realized that the small fry would only slow them down. Eliante instructed the adventurers.

「You're not getting away!」

The Marquis readied himself to pursue the fleeing adventurers.

『Fran, I'll cover the adventurer's retreat! Go at once! If we do wait and see approach here, we'll only be killed!』

「Nn! Awakening! Brilliant Lightning Rush!」

He must have noticed the presence emanating from the awakened Fran. Marquis Ashtner stopped his pursuit of the adventurer and turned his gaze to Fran. But our preparations are already over.

『Superhuman or whatever he is, you can't ignore us right? Kuraaaaa!』

「Thor Hammer!」

My release of Kanna Kamui and Fran's Thor Hammer intertwine and rain down on Marquis Ashtner. No matter how strong he is, he won't be able to handle the speed of lightning. This speed and the high hit rate are the strengths of thunderbolt magic.

「Oaaaaaaaaaaaaa!」

The white lightning, we released hit the Marquis directly. However, to our surprise, the Marquis had clothed his sword, which he had pulled out of the item bag at his waist, with magic power and was receiving our magic. For several seconds, the Marquis resisted the extreme magic that poured down on him incessantly. In the end, the Marquis could not endure and his figure was swallowed by the lightning, but it is still an opponent that cannot be measured by common sense.

『Fran, Lets go!』

「Nn!」

I don't think we could have defeated it with just that. Just before the lightning struck its body, I saw that he had put up a barrier. Besides, he has high resistant to magic.

Defying the shock and blast generated by Kanna Kamui, Fran ran toward it's center.

『I knew it, there's still a presence! Its definitely Ashtner!』

「Nn! Haaaa!」

Fran unleash Sheaths of Wind to the presence. However, her attack was caught by Marquis Ashtner's sword.

Giiiiinn!

My blade clashed with his sword, and a high-pitched sound echoed.

『Tsk! Is that sword specially made too huh?』

I was going to cut the whole sword! It seems, the name of the sword was Pseudo Fanatic Sword, but the shape was a longsword. Its appearance was not that of an Estoc-type pseudo fanatic sword, but more like the half-destroyed magic sword.

「Kihihihi! That's hurt you know!」

「Muh!」

As expected of the holder of highest level of sword saint skill. His sword handling was on par with Fran's. He must have taken quite a bit of damage from Kanna Kamui, but the instant regeneration had healed his wounds.

But, that's not all.

「I'm losing my power...?」

『It must be his Life steal and Magic Steal!』

Due to the higher skill level of the other side, we were losing the battle of attrition. We were clearly at a disadvantage in endurance battle.

「Haaaa!」

「Nice work, little girl! I haven't felt pain in hundreds of years!」

Chapter 446: Talkative Fanatic Swords

The Marquis's mansion burns up. With that as the background, Marquis Ashtner, who was engaged in a fierce slugfest with Fran, laughed vulgarly, still wearing the same expressionless face.

「Nice work, little girl! I haven't felt pain in hundreds of years!」

First pain in hundreds of years? I knew it, this wasn't Marquis Ashtner himself.

「What are you?」

「Well, I wonder? We'd love to know too. What are we?」

It sounded like he was trying to smoke me out, but strangely enough, I didn't feel that he was trying to hide it. He seemed to be serious about it.

「Was it 100 years, or Was it 500 years, or even 1000 years? I'm not sure anymore. But I vaguely remember that I was about to be destroyed by the Holy Order!」

Holy Order? I remember it! It's one of the divine swords that Alistair taught me about! Holy Order, the Spirit Sword - Holy Order. It's said to have been made to be used against Fanatics.

This is already clear. Fanatics are behind this incident. No, on the contrary, it seems that something inside the Marquis was Fanatics it self.

However, a question remains. The Marquis is holding a pseudo fanatic sword. Is it a fake or does he have a real one hidden somewhere?

But still, Fanatics was an Intelligence weapon the same as me...If that's the case, then it's possible for Marquis to be a puppet and the mastermind is Fanatics.

「Haaa!」

「Kuh!」

Naturally, the high-speed sword fights continued even during the conversation. The sword fights were so fierce that Colbert and Eliante could not intervene.

Marquis Ashtner, who has the Sword Saint Skill: Lv. 10, and Fran, who has not yet perfected the Sword King Skill. As a result, the two of them were almost evenly matched in their sword skills.

「.....Are you Fanatics」

「Fanatics? Come to think of it, do we have a name like that...? Hey, are we Fanatics?」

「I'm the one asking you」

「Kuhahaha! You're right!」

In the first place. We? Why "we" and not "me"?

「Why "we"?」

「Aah. We are. One in many. All in one. We're all of us! Ha ha ha! Even in your sword, there's us!」

What? They're inside me?

「What do you mean?」

「It doesn't even have an ego, it's just a fragment separated from us, but it's still us! That magic sword of yours, does it have the power to absorb magic power?」

Could it be that he was referring to the power of the pseudo fanatic sword that I absorbed through cannibalism? Maybe the pseudo fanatic sword was imbued with a small amount of the magic power from Fanatics.

As I recall, the Fanatics' ability is to take in the consciousness and memories of the person they cut and identify them with themselves. If that's the case, it wouldn't be surprising if he had more than one consciousness.

I'm gonna be okay, right?

「That's it! Give me that sword! It's made of Orichalcos isn't it? It might heal our wounds!」

「I refuse!」

「Kahahaha! Even so, you're pretty good, aren't you? I never thought you'd go this far with this special body!」

The topic has changed again. It was either too manic, or too talkative, or just talk too much.

As I slammed my sword into the Marquis, Fran asked a question. The Marquis, who had caught me with his sword, replied with a cool face in the midst of the tremendous shockwaves rolling around us.

「This is a special body that has been adjusted over nearly 40 years!」

「40 years? Adjustment?」

「That's right. The only way to create a body with transcendent power is to slowly modify it with drugs and our abilities over time! Goddamn it! In the past, I could create as many strong troops as I wanted! Now I can only give them a few skills they're suited for!」

So, not only can Fanatics integrate the powers of others, but they can also give them? If they can give skills and experience as they please, then they could mass produce the most fearsome soldiers.

What if this legion of soldiers was as powerful as Marquis Ashtner were to work in perfect coordination under the Fanatics' consciousness? Moreover, given the Fanatics' capabilities, they could be replenished at any time. It would be terribly dangerous.

「I've experimented with his sons, his vassal's sons, and all kinds of random people I've captured in this town!」

Could that be Serdio or Auguste? I let Fran ask.

「Serdio? Auguste?」

「Ooh? You know them? In the end, I couldn't recover the mental manipulation skills and unique skills I gave them! Unlike swordsmanship and magic, which can be replenished as much as I want, those skills are very valuable!」

So, the skills that Serdio and Auguste had been given to them by Fanatics.

「On that note, this guy's has been modified for 40 years! Most of the skills we have can be transferred! Hyahahahaha!」

The Marquis laughs loudly. He talks a lot, doesn't he? It seems he can't stop talking even during battle. Thanks to him, I can get a lot of useful information, but it's difficult to know how much to watch. In addition to the Steal skills used by the Marquis, Fran's life and magic power are gradually diminishing due to the wear caused by the Brilliant Lightning Rush, even though it looks like an even fight.

Somewhere along the line, we had to stop gathering information and start pushing at once.

However, it was Marquis Ashtner who made the first move. He may have realized that this fight would get nowhere, or he may have grown tired of talking. The Marquis distanced himself from Fran.

「For Example, we could do something like this! Magma Wall! Earth Shooter! and, Sword Sonic!」

The Marquis shoots out a huge rock at the wall of lava that has been created and the bursting lava rained down on Fran like a spray. In addition, the shock waves created by the sword saint skills fly after her.

If we try to dodge the bullets and shockwaves of earth magic, we will be damaged by the rain of lava. If we try to catch them with barriers, our movements will slow down. If we try to completely avoid a wide range of attacks, our movements will become monotonous.

I guess they want to take advantage of that.

But we are also looking for an opening. We'll use this attack against them.

「Earth Wall!」

Blinding him with an earth wall——.

「Haaaa!」

「Kihihhi! You used teleport huh!」

「Tsk!」

He's as perceptive as a monster! A slash from behind was easily deflected! But I've already factored this in!

『Fran! I'm all set!』

「Nn! Haaaa!」

Fran slashed at him again, nailing the Marquis in place. The Marquis, who doesn't mind a prolonged battle, gladly responded to the slash. Without knowing what its aim is.

「I'm fine with it! Another slashing match huh?」

「Wrong」

『Eat this!』

There, I unleashed Kanna Kamui again, it rained down on him. And it was a converged and more powerful version.

「Wha, Even if you are in this too?」

「Won't let you go!」

「Damn!」

He can't afford to be in the middle of a slashing match with Fran. Fran has a thunderbolt nullification. I just need to use my Dimension Shift for a moment and pass it off.

「Haaa!」

「Little Girl!!!」

Chapter 447: An Expert and an Amateur

A pillar of white lightning swallowed Fran and the Marquis, piercing the sky and earth with a roar.

When the huge amount of dust settled, there was a crater about five meters in diameter and Marquis Ashtner were groaning on one knee in the middle of it.

Unlike Fran and her equipment, which is protected by her thunderbolt nullification, the Marquis's orichalcon magic armor is half-melted and smoke is rising from his whole body.

The reason why the crater is smaller than I imagined is because the Marquis quickly created a wall with magma magic to reduce the power. In that time, Fran cut off his left arm. Well, half of it has already almost regenerated.

「Gogaah.....」

However, I think he knows that by getting down on one knee, he is showing the biggest opening. He turned his ghostly eyes toward us. He was ready for any move Fran might make.

Fran moved away slightly to avoid the lava barrier, but she took the opportunity and prepared for a follow-up attack.

She let the black lightning rack up and stepped in at once. With that momentum, she struck Marquis Ashtner with a slash from above.

「There's an opening!」

「Guooooooooo!」

Gagiiiiiii!

A moment of fierce clash.

Marquis Ashtner is far superior in terms of strength, but he is in the disadvantageous position of being on one knee and wielding his sword with one hand. On the other hand, Fran swung me from above while keeping her speed. In addition, the black lightning that flowed through my sword was damaging his arm.

As a result, the swords of the two sides were locked against each other, and both sides stopped moving. However, this was exactly what Fran were aiming for.

She didn't make eye contact, nor did she give any signal. But Fran seemed sure of it.

There was no way Eliante and the others would miss this opportunity.

「Dieeeeeee!」

「Sonic Blow!」

「Spiral Bash!」

In the face of the overwhelming power of Fran and the Marquis, Eliante and the others realized that they could not do anything about it, so they gathered their strength, looking for an opening.

Their attacks attacked the Marquis at once. Eliante's great sword, clothed in Ki, swung down at super high speed, Colbert and Zephyrd's mid-range attacks pierced him from both sides.

In particular, Eliante's blow was as powerful as Fran's serious Sheaths of Wind.

The Marquis——They are indeed strong (1). They have superhuman-level bodies and overwhelming skills. In addition, the way they fought, they were able to handle those skills perfectly. This is why his sword saint skill were able to clash each other evenly with her sword king skill.

But when it came to battle tactics, there seemed to be a breakdown. The Marquis is literary a civilian from the beginning, and the Fanatics-like beings who control his body are not considered to be professionals in combat. We can overwhelm him with our abilities in a head-on fight, but in subtle tactics, we're losing to him.

Zephyrd and his party member have been destroyed because they had confronted him head-on with a straightforward attack. In the first place, they were not expecting an opponent that would launch a series of attacks that would break Zephyrd's shield.

Moreover, he had the conceit of a strong man. He was clearly trying to get a handle on us. Eliante and the others didn't even seem to be paying attention. The fact that he drives the existence around him out of his consciousness was also amateurish.

「Guaaaa!」

Marquis Ashtner is blown away by the attacks of three people. Even so, he managed to keep Eliante's sword out of the way, which was impressive.

「GugaGAga...Small fry gaah! You're getting carried away!」

His speech is a little slurred, probably due to the broken bones in his neck. However, he glared at Eliante and the others who were standing around him with eyes laced with killing intent, intimidating them.

「I'm gonna kill you!」

I knew it, you're still an amateur. While you're talking about killing them, you should be taking action. My brother in Pro-sh○t (2) said something similar!

And Fran is a pro at that, you know?

「First, I'll mess this area with magma——」

As he turned his killing intent to Eliante and the others, his attention was diverted from Fran for a moment. It was only for a moment, but it was our chance.

It was more than enough of an opening for us. Fran, who showed superhuman reflexes, started preparing the moment the Marquis showed an opening. It is the preparation for unleashing the sword king technique.

She is not yet at the stage where she can unleash the sword king technique anytime, anywhere. She still needed to make a preliminary movement to swing the sword over her heads, and a comfortable posture to swing it out. In addition, she needed time to knead her magic power. She would need a few moments to prepare for this.

No, if the opponent was a small fish, there would be no problem. A moment of this magnitude could not be called a gap. However, if the opponent was an equal match for Fran, it was a fatal moment.

However, thanks to the gap Ashtner had shown us, we had time to get ready. Almost as soon as Fran finishes her preparations, I teleported her body.

From my teleport, Fran uses me to unleash the Sword King Technique - Heaven Judgement. If we don't count the self-destructive effects such as Sword God Transformation and Potential Release, this is probably the strongest blow we can unleash right now.

「——Heaven Judgement」

「Guu, Aaa.....!」

The Marquis reacted to this as well, his crisis detection and his sword saint skill gave him an insight. In addition, he sensed the presence of a spatial magic through his presence detection. That's what we are aiming for.

Thanks to the fact that the Marquis had quickly slipped his pseudo fanatic sword between himself and me, I was able to attack the sword and the Marquis with a single blow.

I was swung out by Fran, who easily cut off the pseudo fanatic sword and instantly pierced through Marquis Ashtner's right shoulder and his left side. There was no response, as if I had sliced through a mass of air.

However, right after that, the tip of the pseudo fanatic sword that was broke from its middle fell. Then, a line was drawn on Marquis Ashtner's body, and black blood spurted out from it at once.

「Li-Little, Girl.....」

Chapter 448: Superhumanization + Potential Release

Marquis Ashtner fell into a puddle of blood as his body was split upside down. Beside him, the tip of a pseudo fanatic sword that had also been severed fell.

I braced myself, thinking that the cannibalism would be triggered, but the freakiness didn't strike me yet. In other words, the fanatics parasitizing inside Marquis Ashtner must not be dead yet.

Isn't the pseudo fanatic sword his main body? If that's the case, doesn't that mean we have to stop the Marquis from breathing in order to defeat him?

「Nn! Haaaa!」

The stiffness caused by the release of the sword king technique has ended and Fran began to move again. Next, she unleashed Sheaths of Wind. It was aimed at Marquis's head. The Marquis's lower body could be seen growing out in a flash due to instant regeneration, but this attack was faster.

「You piece of shiiiiit!」

「Hmph!」

『Tsk!』

What a surprise, Marquis Ashtner put up a powerful barrier to block Fran's attack. He must have focused the barrier on a single point. She slashed his head deeply, but it wasn't enough to sever it.

No, normally a cut to the brain would kill someone instantly, but the current Marquis with his enhanced vitality still can't be defeated by this.

But even so, isn't it a little strange? It seems too strong for a barrier that was put up on the spur of the moment. I appraised the Marquis Ashtner again and found out why the barrier had suddenly increased in strength.

What a surprise, he had entered a state of Potential Release. The superhumanization skill had made him stronger, and now he had released his potential. His status was unquestionably rank S.

It would have been nice to be able to take away superhuman skills and such with a skill taker, but it was still impossible to use due to the fact that it was used to turn Asurasu (1) into a mad demon.

「You bitch, I'll kill you here! And I'll take that magic sword too!」

The Marquis tries to stand up while shouting it.

「This body will die here, but it doesn't matter as long as I have that magic sword and that little girl!」

Apparently, they can enter a state potential release, but they can't deactivate it. It's no wonder they haven't been used this much. Unlike other disposable bodies, they took 40 years to prepare. They must have regretted it.

『Don't give him a chance to stand!』

「Haaa!」

I tried to stop the Marquis from moving by unleashing a series of mid-level thunderbolt magic, but it had little effect. It is likely that his magic resistance itself has been strengthened.

『Tsk! A light attack won't do any good anymore!』

The Marquis who stood up concentrated a barrier on his left arm and thrusts it out against Fran, who was about slashes at him. The back fists of the Marquis and I collide.

A moment ago, Marquis Ashtner's arm would have been wounded. But now, the Marquis' power was overwhelming. My blade was easily flicked above and a pseudo fanatic sword was thrust into Fran's vacant torso. The shortened blade is covered with magic power to compensate for its lost length.

「Diieee!」

「Ghaah...!」

Thanks to the fact that she had twisted around at the last second, she had avoided being pierced through her heart, but the pseudo fanatic sword had pierced her abdomen deeply. The tip of the blade protruded from Fran's back.

In that state, I could sense Marquis Ashtner's hand getting stronger. I hurriedly made a short distance teleport.

「Oraa!」

It was just in time. Marquis Ashtner had swung his sword, which was still stuck in Fran's body, with all his might and was about to forcibly rip out her heart.

The pseudo fanatic sword wielded by the Marquis was cutting the sky in vain.

『Fran! I'll heal you now!』

「Nn...!」

「Hiyahahaha!」

Too fast! The next thing I know, he was right next to her. Now I know what it's like to fight Fran!

When she received the pseudo fanatic sword that strikes me, it alone reduces my endurance value significantly and blows Fran right out to the sky.

She must have been blown over ten meters. In addition, the Marquis had already moved to where Fran jumped and was waiting for her.

「Kuh!」

She leapt into the air, kicked her feet to get into position, and then accelerated to slash at the Marquis herself. This is the only way to escape from the situation.

The Marquis' eyes widened a little, as if he didn't expect Fran to attack him. Marquis Ashtner's sword was raised in a panic to intercept Fran and clashed again—but it didn't. Just before that, I teleported Fran.

In the blink of an eye, Marquis Ashtner had been outmaneuvered twice and was completely out of position. Her second sword king technique of the day was released on him.

「Haaaaaaa!」

「Hyahaaaaa!」

However, there was a gap between them that could not be bridged by a little trickery. The Marquis had even reacted to the God Speed of a Sword King technique and dodged it.

I was going to smash his brain, but I only managed to slice off the Marquis' left arm, while the Marquis' left leg, swung up in the opposite direction, pierced Fran's right side.

I activated my telekinesis to reduce the power, but Fran still spat blood and blew over 20 meters. As her body slammed into the ground again and again, she managed to break through the wall of the Marquis' residence and somehow stopping.

「Kuh...Gefuh...」

『Use regeneration!』

Fran writhes around, spitting blood and gastric juices back into her mouth. Not only were her internal organs in bad shape, but the rest of her body was in bad shape as well. She is bruised all over from the impact of her continuous bouncing on the ground, and she has some deep cuts. Both of her legs are probably broken as well.

It was amazing that she didn't let go of me in this state. Her eyes weren't dead either. After recovering her legs through regeneration, Fran stood up dazedly, fighting off the pain. She still intends to fight.

But I couldn't agree more. I was able to heal her wounds, but at this rate, she would definitely lose. In addition to the overwhelming difference in ability, Marquis Ashtner's latent ability has been released, increasing the power of his life steal and magic steal. Even now, Fran's power was being sucked out of her at a fairly rapid rate.

In this state, I can sense a large heat source coming towards the room where Fran is. If it can't be decided with my sword, we'll have to use magic! While using magic to prevent the tsunami of lava from avalanching into the room, I suggested to Fran that we make a tactical retreat.

『Let's get out of here! and get some distance!』

He doesn't have space and time magic. If we keep our distance, he'll just destroy himself! But Fran didn't nod her head.

(No! Eliante and the others are going to be killed!)

『But, if this goes on like this, Fran will——』

(There's something I haven't tried yet! If that doesn't work, let's run away!)

『Something you haven't tried?』

(Nn!)

Chapter 449: Brilliant Lightning Rush+????

(There's something I haven't tried yet! If that doesn't work, let's run away!

『Something you haven't tried?』

(Nn!)

「Kuhahaha! Diieee!」

「Kuh!」

With a determined look on her face, Fran managed to catch the swing of the Marquis, who had pursued her under the cover of magma magic. The impact was so strong that makes Fran frowned.

「Shaaa!」

「Guh!」

Marquis Ashtner slammed his left fist into her, taking advantage of her inability to kill the momentum. Fran flew backwards as fast as she could, but the fist dug into her cheek. It seems that she tried to twist her neck to further reduce the force of the blow, but there was no way she could completely fend off the attack of an opponent who boasted the strength of a monster.

Fran's cheeks were instantly swollen. But it's a good thing that the Marquis doesn't have any hand-to-hand fighting skills. She didn't have to be wrenched or let the impact penetrate.

However, the current Marquis was not so naive as to take a wait-and-see approach here. The fact that he was prepared to kill Fran by self-destructing probably made him feel less insulted by us.

「Volcanic Gazer!」

We could see the magma rising in a much wider area than the magic the Marquis had unleashed at the beginning. It seems to have doubled in power and range.

Not only the Marquis' residence, but also the surrounding mansions are involved.

I don't know what he's planning to do, but they'd better hurry or he'll push them away! This magic didn't kill Eliante and the others in the first place, right?

Honestly, I don't know which one I want more. I don't think I want her to be dead, but I thought that if she was, Fran might be more inclined to run away.

I know it sounds horrible, but that's what true intention.

When I searched the safety of Eliante and the others, It seems that the three of them are still alive and working together. If that's the case, they can probably prevent the magic.

I was a bit relieved.

While dispersing waves of lava with wind magic, Fran set me up. Her eyes are not dead. She's going to do something. What are you going to do? Do you want to bet it all on the combination of Brilliant Lightning Rush and Sword God Transformation?

But I had a bad feeling about this. For some reason, I knew I had to stop Fran. Had my crisis detection done its job?

『Wait, Fran—What happen to your body——』

But before I could stop her, Fran muttered in a strong voice.

「Potential Release!」

『Wha! Aa! Stop!』

Right now, you're still using Brilliant Lightning Rush, and your powers are being robbed by his skills!

An enormous amount of magic power swirled around Fran, radiating a tremendous presence. It was on a level comparable to that of Marquis Ashtner.

It can be said that her status are doubled. Her agility is over 1000, and her other stats are all over 800. Can they be enhanced this much? No, when I think about it, Fran is still a child. It would not be surprising if the latent ability that lies dormant within her is even more powerful.

The air around us vibrated violently as the magic power released by Marquis Ashtner and the magic power released by Fran collided.

『Aaah! Understood!』

I can't do anything about it anymore. The potential release that Fran had used could only be deactivated by her. So, there was no choice but to decide the fight before the destruction came.

I was tempted to ignore Fran's wishes and run away with teleport already, but I couldn't despise her determination.

「Haaaa!」

With her potential release, Fran has acquired a power that rivals that of Marquis Ashtner, and she unleashes slashes with a speed that even I can't see.

Fast! But not messy. It's just a mere slash, but it would exceed the sheaths of wind. Not just rank C or D, even a Colbert-class adventurer might not be able to react and be slashed one-sidedly.

「Thi-this is...!」

The Marquis was astonished when he saw Fran's sudden increase in speed. But even so, the current Marquis had the ability to react.

「Aaaaaa!」

「This brat!」

But while Fran had been outmatched earlier, this time they were evenly matched. Neither one of them was blown away, and both were in a tight competition.

A fierce battle that lasted less than a few tenths of a second.

At that moment, as if to shrug off the Marquis's efforts to push back, Fran teleported a short distance away.

Of course, I'm the one who made the teleport. But there were no instructions from Fran. But I knew exactly what Fran was feeling and how she wanted to move.

It seems that the potential release has strengthened the bond between me and Fran. To put it another way, Fran is perfectly capable of using me as her own sword.

『The image of me being an extension of Fran's arm flows in. Is this the feeling of being used as a sword by the wielder? .....』

I was being treated as a sword. But I didn't hate it at all. In fact, I even felt a sense of fulfillment.

「What?」

「Fuh!」

The moment he put in the effort to blow Fran away, she has teleported, and the Marquis' movements stopped for a moment. It's not as if the current Marquis was going to lose his stance, but he didn't have enough energy left to completely dodge Fran's slash behind him.

「Shii! Haa!」

While repeating the ultra-short distance teleport and the high-speed movement by Brilliant Lightning Rush in succession, Fran continues to attack the Marquis in succession.

It was the final onslaught that burned Fran's life. However, it was not enough to defeat the Marquis. Seeing Fran's life force weaken rapidly, he must have realized that this attack would not last long. The Marquis continued to handle Fran's attacks while showing a look of impatience.

There's not much life left in her. No matter how he looked at her, everything will be used up.

The Marquis grinned, as if convinced of his own victory.

Without knowing that this was Fran's aim.

Fran had been inducing the Marquis to breathe while cutting herself down by continuing to attack at a certain speed and timing. Then, she suddenly made a move to disrupt that timing.

The Marquis held up his pseudo fanatic sword in a slightly unreasonable position in order to guard against the horizontal cleave blow that was fired from right beside him. However, the impact did not come at the timing the Marquis had predicted.

「Black Thunder Roll!」

Just before the attack was received by the pseudo fanatic sword, Fran's body turned into a single strand of black lightning and moved to the opposite side as fast as instant teleportation.

Thanks to the potential release, she is now able to use the Black Thunder Roll, which she could not use before.

Oddly enough. This was very similar to the attack Kiara had made on Zelos Reed. Even though I wasn't watching, I felt something hot and unfeeling when I saw Fran perform a similar attack.

『Gooo! Fraaan!』

「Haaaaaaaaa!」

Chapter 450: Trade-off

『Gooo! Fraaan!』

「Haaaaaaaaa!」

What's released from the Black thunder Roll is the Sword King technique - Heaven Judgement.

It seems that the benefits from using potential release were not only limited to the black thunder roll, the enhanced status, and the improved coordination with me. What's more, it was now possible to perform the sword king technique from an unprepared stance, something that was impossible before.

A cut-up released from an impossible posture after using Black Thunder Roll. That cut-up was released as a Sword king technique.

But the cost was great. A deafening buzzing and bumping sound were coming from within Fran. All the muscles in her body were tearing due to the tremendous burden to her young body, mixed with the sound of something hard cracking. It seems not only her muscles, but her bones were also broken.

But Fran endured all the pain. She gritted her teeth and swing me out.

It's an attack that can be called a god speed, but Fran's ability to unleash it has been greatly increased by her potential release. It is her fastest attack today. There is no way to dodge it.

However, the opponent was also a monster outside of the norm. As soon as he realized he couldn't dodge, he gave up trying to avoid it.

Then, he switched to prepare for a trade-off.

The Marquis concentrated all of his barriers on his side just before the Sword King Technique hit him. Of course, there was no way he could prevent the Sword king technique, it would have only delayed the direct hit by a few tenths of a second or less.

However, in the current fight between Fran and the Marquis, that time could be a major factor in determining victory or defeat.

As the Marquis was being torn apart by me, he used the moment he had to thrust out his sword. It's a full thrust with everything he has left in him. It's a great way to make sure you're getting the most out of your money. You can see that not only the magic power but even the life force is poured into the sword.

And Fran, who was in the midst of performing the sword king technique, had no time to dodge this thrust.

『Kuh....』

It would be dangerous for Fran to take this thrust now that she has so little vitality left!

Teleport, telekinesis, and Potential Release. There is a way to prevent this attack. But only if we can do it in time. The attack was so fast that none of my skills would be able to activate in time. The sword is closing in on me even as I think about this in my thoughts that have been stretched out by space-time magic.

I'm already trying to activate the teleport, but I still can't make in time. It's too fast.

『Aaaaaaa!』

「AA——」

Marquis Ashtner, who was convinced that we were going to trade-off a blow with each other, had a dazed look of pleasure in his eyes.

Quickly!

O Teleport, please activate faster!!

Faster Faster Faster Faster——.

But I can't help at all, and the Marquis' thrust is sucked into Fran's torso.

Shiiiiit———?

「Wha?」

「Nn?」

It's not just me. Marquis Ashtner and Fran were also surprised. The Marquis must have felt the cut on Fran. And Fran is still feeling the impact of the cut.

Yet, for some reason, the wounds that were supposed to have been inflicted did not exist. Since there were no wounds, naturally there was no damage.

What's going on? No, no. That's not what's important right now. We should make the most of this opportunity. Of course, Fran would know that.

She had already sprung into action. She swung me up high and shouted.

「Haaaaa! Black Lightning God Claws!」 (1)

It seems that not only was the Black Thunder Roll available, but another Black Thunder technique was also available. I can feel the black lightning clinging to my sword blade.

Kiara created the sword of black lightning with this technique, but it is probably originally a technique to converge black lightning on the equipped weapon.

And this magic power. It had that holy feeling that I got when we use sword god transformation. It's not just a matter of gathering and solidifying black lightning, but it also seems to add a divine attribute.

「Thaaaaaaaaa!」

「Giiih!」

Marquis Ashtner, who was sliced into pieces by the sword king technique, is already dying. It was surprisingly easy to cut through the Marquis' body. At the same time, the black lightning scorches his body, and his entire body is carbonized.

But I didn't have time to look at the scene calmly.

「Gyaaaaaaaa!」

『Ugoooooh....! Th-this is...』

Immediately after the Marquis' desperate scream rang out, a tremendous amount of magic power flowed into me. At the same time, I felt an unbearable nausea.

『Uugh, Ugheeh! GuAghah...!』

Of course, I couldn't vomit, so I just had to endure the discomfort swirling inside. Because I still had a little bit of the feeling I had when I was human, I knew what it felt like to throw up and feel better after that. Therefore, I didn't think it would be this hard to endure.

『Guuh....』

But we're in a battle now. What happened to the Marquis?

I hurriedly looked around and saw Marquis Ashtner lying on the ground. There was no sign of regeneration, and he didn't move a muscle.

Did we win....? Apparently, we won. The last attack that she unleashed ended the life of the Marquis, and also stopped the Fanatics that were nesting within it.

(Master?)

『I'm fine. More than that, your potential release....』

(Already deactivated)

I see. that's Good....No, not good!

If I look closely, I can see that she has very little life force left. And she has almost no magic power.

Her complexion was at its worst, and her eyes were suspiciously unfocused to begin with.

「...Gohho...」

『Fran.....!』

Fran fell down coughing up blood! Are her internal organs damaged from repeated overexertion of her movements? She probably can't recover on her own due to her lack of magic power.

I still have a little bit of magic left in me. No, I've only recovered what I absorbed from the pseudo fanatic sword through cannibalism.

I put off my own recovery and used a healing spell on Fran. It was only a single mid-heal, but it would have saved her from dying. All at once, Fran's complexion improved and her ragged breathing became a little better.

『Fran...that was really dangerous!』

『No but! If Ashtner's attack hadn't failed for some reason, you might have been dead!』

This was all due to the fact that she had used her potential release to force a decisive battle.

『Sure, it might have been necessary to win! But there could have been another way!』

「....Sorry」

『Don't make me worry.....I beg you』

「I'm sorry」

『Fran would be worried about me if she knew I might break, right?』

「Nn」

『It's the same for me. I thought Fran might die. I might going crazy』

「Nn....」

At first, Fran was indifferent, but gradually, a hint of remorse appeared on her face. She understood that I was really worried about her.

『....Do you understand now?』

「Nn. Won't use potential release anymore」

That's what she promised me. Fran is a girl who keeps her word once she says it. From now on, she will really refrain from using it without asking. I guess that's a bit of a relief.

『I hope you do understand. So, do you feel anything strange?』

The potential release skill come at a cost to use. For me, it's the magic stone value. So, what is it for Fran? I tried to appraise Fran, but I couldn't figure it out.

「Nn....?」

『You didn't know?』

「Nn」

Even Fran herself didn't seem to understand the cost. Is there something hidden? If it was a visible cost, i might have been possible to heal it.....

『You really don't get it, do you?』

「I'm Sorry」

『No, I'm not blaming you. But you know what? If you notice anything out of the ordinary, you tell me right away, okay?』

「Understood」

Chapter 451: Zephyrd of the Skywall

Fran escapes from the burning Marquis' mansion with a staggering gait.

It's no longer in original shape due to the fierce battle between the two of us. The debris and furnishings are scattered at our feet.

『You'd better drink this potion for the time being』

「Nn.....」

As she walked, she drank five high-grade potions I had given her and finally recovered about 20% of her life force and magic power. The potions didn't work so well. Could it be that her recovery power is decreasing due to potential release? Or is it because She has overworked her body too much?

Anyway, she was still in a dangerous state. Perhaps it was the accumulated fatigue, but her movements were dull.

Besides, my condition was pretty bad too. While not as bad as when I was in sword god transformation, my durability was greatly reduced and I was slow to recover from it. It was probably due to the divine attributes of the Black Lightning God Claw.

Maybe those who use divine attributes, besides Fran, are using their weapons as disposable. In fact, the Beast King said that he broke an orichalcon spear with his Spear King Technique.

No. Could it be that the divine attributes were affecting Fran as well? There was a possibility that this might be the reason for her slow recovery.

(Master, are you okay? You were screaming a while ago)

However, it seemed that Fran was worried about her partner as well. She asked in a caring voice.

『It was from the cannibalism, but I'll be fine』

(Really?)

『Yeah, the discomfort has subsided. Besides, that was a huge harvest』

Up until now, the pseudo-fanatic sword only increased my magic power and durability value by one even if it was destroyed and cannibalized. However, when i take the alter ego of the Fanatics that had possessed Marquis Ashtner, my magic power and durability increased by 300.

Although I didn't receive any self-evolution points, I was enhanced as much as a rank-up. I'm really glad I put up with the discomfort from cannibalism.

As I continued to the garden, I saw Eliante and Colbert holding Zephyrd, who was sitting leaning against the rubble.

「Fran! Did you defeat it?」

「Nn」

Fran nodded and found Zephyrd smiling wryly.

「Is that so. You defeated him huh」

There was no hint of bitterness in Zephyrd's tone. However, he was bleeding profusely from his stomach, and his face was white beyond blueish. This is a dangerous situation. I don't know how he can keep a calm face and smile like this.

『Fran, use recovery magic』

「Nn. I'll heal you now」

However, even after the light of Fran's recovery magic enveloped Zephyrd's body, there was no change in his dying condition.

The wounds did not heal, and his vitality did not recover.

「Hmmh?」

「Even Fran's heal didn't work huh....」

「It won't heal?」

「Even the potion doesn't work!」

You mean a condition that completely nullifies recovery? That's wound is really bad, right!

「This is——」

「I was hit by a stray debris」

Colbert was about to say something, but Zephyrd interrupted him with strong words. Don't you want Fran to know the reason for your wound? But Eliante remonstrated with him.

「You should tell her. She's maybe a child, but Fran is a full-fledged adventurer」

「But...No, you are right」

「I understand that you doesn't want her to be the one to blame for your own death. I think she's someone you can talk to, you know?」

I could already tell from Eliante and Colbert, Zephyrd himself was about to die. No, they can't move him in this state, and if recovery magic and potions don't work, I don't think there's any way to save him.....

What bothered me more was the word that the cause of the problem was Fran.

「What happened?」

「There is a technique in the shield saint technique that allows you to transfer the damage that befalls your friends to yourself. That's what Zephyrd used」

「....From me?」

「Zephyrd wants to help at least....He said that since the Marquise's mansion was destroyed in your battle and he can now see you, he can use his skills」

I had a guess. It was the last thrust that Marquis Ashtner had made in an attempt to counterattack. It was as if the attack, which had indeed pierced Fran, had been nullified as if it had never happened.

I have a physical attack nullification, but I didn't have time to activate it on the spur of the moment. In the future, I will actively use it, even if it is a bit risky, but I didn't have it on at the time. I didn't have time to think about it and returned to the battle before I could figure out what was going on, but it was definitely a strange phenomenon.

So, you're saying that was because of Zephyrd?

However, I know that there is a technique in the shield saint technique. I had suffered a lot when I fought Valkyrie in the Beast Kingdom. If it was a shield saint technique that could transfer even a life-threatening attack, it certainly could explain the phenomenon.

「Black Lightning Princess, thanks to you, I was able to avenge my friends. I thank you....Gobuh」

Zephyrd bowed his head in a quiet manner that did not seem dying. Still, the large amount of blood that he spat out at the end told us about his condition.

But neither Eliante nor Colbert would stop him from speaking. They know he can't be saved, so they want to let him talk as he pleases.

「Even if it was a little, do i be a help for you?」

「So much. If you hadn't saved me, I'd be dead by now」

「Is that so, I have one last piece of advice」

「Nn」

「You used some kind of powerful skill that have great backlash on you right?」

Zephyrd spun his words with the last of his strength. It seems that the recovery disabling condition that Zephyrd has fallen into should have originally fallen on Fran. However, Zephyrd seemed to have taken care of it.

He is highly skilled in the shield saint technique, and he understands that it is a backlash or compensation for some special technique that Fran used.

『In all likelihood, it's the price of Fran's potential release』

「Nn.....」

The price and some of the damage had been took over by Zephyrd. That was why Fran was only weakened. If it hadn't been for Zephyrd's help? Fran would have surely lost her life. We could call him a lifesaver.

「If you know what I mean, you should be careful....Gobuh....」

「I'm a rank A adventurer. I'm sure my friends on the other side will laugh at me if I show my disgraceful appearance at the end of my life」

To be able to stay calm while his life continues to flow out of him is truly a tremendous mental strength. I admire him from the bottom of my heart.

Also, the man's smile of satisfaction while accepting his own death was similar to Kiara's last moments. It must have been the same for Fran. With a somber expression, she tried to bow to Zephyrd. However, it was Zephyrd who interrupted her.

「I'm sorry. It's because of me——」

「Wrong! Gobuh...that's not true. Rather, you're the reason I was able to have a peace on my mind. I can only thank you」

Zephyrd grinned at that. It was Eliante who took over the words.

「That's right. You are in no way responsible for Zephyrd's death. Maybe it was because he was protecting Fran. But it was still Zephyrd's responsibility and Zephyrd's achievement. In fact, you should be proud to send off your friends who did a great job against that monster」

「That's right. Litt-....Fran. You played a big part in this, but we did our best, and so did Zephyrd's. That's the result. And whatever happens, it's our responsibility. Thank us, but don't apologize」

「.....Nn」

They said so, and Fran seemed to agree.

(If it were the other way around, I wouldn't want to be apologized to either)

『Is that so』

She stopped her apologetic look and looked straight into Zephyrd's eyes.

「Thank you very much」

「Fufu.....Me-..too...In the end, i did a good job」

Those were the last words of the rank A adventurer, Zephyrd of the Skywall. We only talked for a little while, but he was a good man. If we had met him earlier, he might have been able to get along with Fran.

『Thank you very much』

「....?」

I wondered if he heard my words as he closed his eyes with a smile on his face.

Chapter 452: Mercenaries and Adventurers

After witnessing the death of Zephyrd, Fran was unable to move. Fatigue and drowsiness seemed to have kicked in. Thanks to the adrenaline that had been pumping her, she had been able to forget her fatigue during the battle.

However, now that the tension of the battle had settled down, the fatigue was outweighing the excitement. She was too tired, and her body needed to rest. She was rubbing her eyes constantly.

「Munyaa.....」

『Are you okay, Fran?』

『Whoa』

「Su—.....」

She had completely fallen asleep. I hurriedly caught her collapsing body with my telekinesis and gently laid her down on the ground. She's sleeping with a cute face.

『Hmm. What to do now...』

The battle was not over yet. From the direction of the royal castle, I could feel a tremendous magic power. The distance was too far to get a complete grasp of it, but it seemed that there was a being that radiated as much magic as the Marquis Ashtner in his potential release state. Moreover, I could feel more than one of them.

The occasional rumbling of the earth and the slight shaking of the ground were probably not unrelated. The fierce battle is still going on.

『If it's like this, I'm rather glad that Fran fell asleep』

It would be suicide to fight a strong enemy in her current state. However, Fran would still challenge them to a fight. In order to protect the capital.

『Even so, I didn't realize that the price of Fran's potential release was that she would be incapable of recovery...』

How long it will last is also a question. If it's only for a few hours, she might be able to manage to use it. That is, if she uses it only for a moment and kill the enemy instantly, she won't be driven to the brink of death.

However, the fact that she can't win without using the potential release means that the strength of the enemy is at a considerable level. I don't think it can be killed instantly.

And if they fought for a long time, Fran wouldn't be able to get away with anything. If she couldn't recover in such a condition, the probability of her death would increase.

A few minutes of inability to recover would be fine, but a few days would be quite dangerous. I don't think it would be for a lifetime, but it was possible that the effects could last for months.

I can't even try it carelessly. After all, potential release was dangerous. If the user body would never be able to recover when she used it, she would have to be prepared to risk her life when using it.

Because I'm a special kind of inorganic being with a will, I'm sure the cost of the magic stone value is something that can be recovered.

If it had went on like that, Fran might have died. No, if it hadn't been for Zephyrd, she would have died. Just thinking about it brings up some strange feelings. It makes me want to scream out meaningless words and scratch my head. I hate myself for my inadequacy and helplessness, and I can't help but feel bitter.

I don't want to go through something like that for a second time. To do so, I must become stronger.

As I was making up my mind to do so on Fran's back, Colbert saw her sleeping on the ground and rushed over to her.

「Fran? Oi, are you okay?」

「Shu—...Shu—...」

「Don't do that, Colbert. She's too tired to stay awake, right?」

「A, aah. You are right. But, even so.....」

「No. In her state, I can't think of her as the adventurer who defeated that monster」

「Well, you're right」

Eliante and Colbert stare at Fran as she sleeps, her face innocent sleepy face.

Colbert looked delicate. He realized once again the difference in power between him and the others. He still looks like a child. It must be complicated in many ways.

But then he remembered that now was not the time for this. He tightened his expression and stared in the direction where he could feel a great presence of magic.

「So, what should we do now?」

「First, let's take Fran and Zephyrd to the guilds」

「Okay」

Eliante carries Fran on his back, and Colbert carefully carries Zephyrd's body as they move. I'm glad Eliante didn't try to take me off Fran.

「There's been too much damage.....」

「Yeah, it is」

Eliante's muttering was probably directed more at the human casualties than the physical damages.

In the battle at the Marquis' mansion alone, nearly 30 adventurers of medium rank or higher were killed, and the life of Zephyrd, a rank A adventurer, was also lost. Fran, who she can rely on for strength, is still unconscious. Moreover, the battle in the royal capital is still ongoing.

「Young master Zephyrd is just like this...」

「That's what being an adventurer is all about. You never know when or where you'll die. Compared to that, Zephyrd looks quite content」

「He had avenged the death of his companion for 30 years」

It seems that Zephyrd and his party had been working together for 30 years. It seems that they were more like family than friends.

「Maybe it wasn't such a bad end for Zephyrd」

「You said it's not bad.....But it's always good for all of us to survive」

「I hope everyone can survive. But it was impossible against that monster. You know that. Besides, it's hard to lose your friends while you survive on your own」

「Aah...Is that so, guild master...I'm sorry」

Colbert, overheard Eliante's murmur, and bowed his head in fear.

「...Even if only one person had been saved here, he would have eventually lost the will to live, and would have lost his life prematurely by repeating his recklessness」

「...But you're still alive.....」

Eliante smiles sadly as she says that.

「It's hard when I lose my friends, but it's painful afterwards. After retreating for my life. I was eating tasteless barley porridge in a fort full of wounded soldiers, I suddenly burst into tears and couldn't stop.....After all, the lack of that noisy conversation during dinner, I finally realized that everyone was gone」

「...But you're still getting back on your feet. Even Zephyrd's might.....」

「Maybe. But in our case, we weren't wiped out, some of us survived. We were able to lick each other's wounds. If it weren't for them, I wouldn't be alive today. I really appreciate it」

「I've always wondered. Why did you go from being a mercenary to an adventurer? Couldn't you have continued as a mercenary with your surviving comrades?」

So Eliante used to be a member of a mercenary group that was nearly wiped out? After that, she apparently turned into an adventurer. That's how she made it to be a Guild Master, as expected, she's no ordinary person.

「In fact, your comrades are still working as mercenaries aren't they? They helped me this time too」

「A solo adventurer can carry the whole load by themselves, right?」

「Is that so?」

「That's what I thought.....Well, what I've learned is that as long as you're alive, you can't break ties with people, and you'll end up carrying a lot of things on your back」

「.....Even now, do you still feel like you want to die?」

「Well, I don't know. But I do sometimes dream about it. I wonder what would have happened if I hadn't retreated that day, but had launched a suicide attack with my friends against the Crimson Knights Order of the Kingdom of Raidos.....」

While listening to the conversation between the two of them, I also kept a vigilant eye on my surroundings. On the way, I saw many knights and adventurers in the town working together to evacuate people. Not only that, but there were also alchemists carrying large quantities of magic potions. Count Bailleys' instructions must have been properly conveyed.

Some of the enemies had pseudo fanatic swords stuck in them, but Eliante and Colbert worked together to defeat them. However, it was when the Adventurer's Guild came into view.

What is it? Something with tremendous magical power has appeared all over the royal capital. The number of them might be close to a hundred. The mysterious presence could be sensed even in our immediate vicinity.

Boooom!

Immediately after that, a tremendous fire erupts from the depths of the alley, and the knights are blown away in their cruel forms.

「Tsk. Colbert, I'll leave Fran to you!」

「Okay!」

Following the carbonized knights was a swordsman who was controlled by a pseudo fanatic sword. However, something was wrong. The magic power I can sense from it is too great.

And I shuddered as I appraised its state.

『Divine Swords Release...?』

What a surprise, the status of the pseudo fanatic sword showed that it was a divine sword release. However, the host's ability was poor. But he was as strong as Marquis Ashtner before his potential release.

I know it won't last long. After all, his vitality continues to decline at tremendous rate. It won't last more than three minutes.

「AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!」

And as if to confirm my fears, the swordsman began to indiscriminately unleash sword skill and magic. It didn't even seem like he had a purpose anymore. He just seemed to be trying to spread destruction until his life was over.

『What should I do...! No, if I didn't protect Eliante, Fran will be sad! Damn it!』

Chapter 453: Side: Count Bailleys

What the hell is going on?

「GHaaaaaa!」

「Gyaaaa!」

「Hiiiigghh!」

My daughter——my beloved daughter, Velmeria, was laying waste to the knights. For some reason, her whole body was covered with light blue scales, and she looked almost like her ancestor like Frederick, but that was definitely Velmeria.

Whenever the transformed girl waved her arms, huge water bombs shot out and shattered the bodies of the knights, and when she swung her magic sword, which was broken in half, shock waves were released and cut up many adventurers.

「Don't fall back! Continue the attack!」

「Damn it! Why i can't hit it!」

「Why I can't see that attack coming!」

At my command, my men unleash their attacks, but none of our attacks hit. All of them were either evaded or shot down. Even if it did hit her, the power was greatly reduced, and the slightest of wounds were healed by instant regeneration.

The girl was now is an enemy of the royal capital. I must order my men to defeat her. But I can't defeat her. I wouldn't be pleased about that.....No, is that really my daughter in the first place?

「Fucking lowly insects! Don't mess with me!」

She looks like my daughter, Velmeria. But what's inside is something completely different, isn't it? It doesn't just mean that she is getting stronger.

「Hyahahahaha! Diee Diee!」

What is that? What came out of my daughter's mouth was a high-pitched, grating voice that didn't sound like a man or a woman. Clearly, something different from my daughter was moving her body. That was all I could think.

「Sigh, General! Wh-what should we do...!」

It was one of the platoon leaders of the knights who asked for instructions with clinging eyes. The second-in-command was originally waiting at this location, but he had already lost his life in the attack by Velmeria.

His words probably had two meanings: Are we going to continue fighting at the cost of further sacrifice and Is it okay to attack my daughter?

But my answer remains the same.

「Keep up the attack! We have the royal castle behind us! If we run now, it may turn to the king and the people!」

The people and the king. I must not spare my daughter's life in the face of my mission to protect them both.

「Ha, Haha!」

「The adventurers, knights, and magician who have scattered to various places will surely come running! Until then, endure!」

「Is it not possible ask for help from the royal castle?」

As the platoon leader said this, he looked up at the royal castle behind him.

The most elite of the guards must still be in the royal castle. The best knights are gathered from each knight order. The commander in chief of that group is known to be the strongest in this country. He is said to be as strong as the Hundred Swords and the Hariti.

However, there was no way that we could ask them to go into battle. Their mission was to protect the king. Their place is the place where the king sits. If there was only one enemy, there was no way that they would leave the king's side when the enemy was in full force, as they were this time.

In the first place, they are the shields, and it was our job to defeat the enemy and protect the people. That is the enemy we must deal with.

「Starg. Can you see it?」

「Yes sir...Not all of it...But it's unbelievable」

「It's that bad huh?」

「I'm sorry master, but your daughter is truly a monster right now」

Starg, one of the knights serving our Bailleys family, mutters with a pale face. He has high combat power and possesses a high-level appraisal, so I always kept him by my side as my guard. It seems that this Starg took his time and managed to finish checking the abilities of Velmeria.....

Starg, a veteran knight, is frightened? Starg, who bravely fired his bow even when standing in front of a sub-dragon?

「First of all, I couldn't appraise that broken sword. It must be a very high-ranked magic sword」

「Is that so.....」

Could that be the sword of blind devotion - fanatics that the Black Lightning Princess was talking about?

「Also, I cannot measure your daughter's ability at present. The value is probably over 1000. With my appraisal, even i could appraise Lord Zephyrd of the Skywall」

「So, in terms of ability values, she's more than a rank A adventurer.....」

「The skills are also enormous. It has nearly 100 high level skills such as Sword King Skill, Sword Saint Technique: Lv8, Ocean Magic: Lv8, Instant Regeneration: Lv8. He also possesses several unique and extra skills, and to my eyes, all I can see are Sword King Technique, Divine Dragon Transformation, Fire Absorption, Herculean strength, Swift steps, Chantless magic, Magic Control, and Spirit Control, but I'm sure there are more!」

The rest of the skills seemed to be in line with the high-ranking rare skills. If it hadn't been for the words of my trusted Starg, I would have laughed it off.

「What is that.....? How is it possible for a person to become that strong in such a short period of time?.....」

「Her state are fanaticism and Divine Dragon Transformation. Either one of these could be the cause of your daughter's condition.....」

Divine Dragon Transformation! I remember hearing about it. I believe it appeared in the mythology of the dragon people, as told by Tiranalaria, the mother of Velmeria.

It is the name of a super being that has evolved from the dragon man, and is positioned like a high elf for elves. The conditions for their evolution are not known, and only a few have been confirmed in the last 10,000 years, but it is said that they definitely exist.

And legend has it that they fought the High Elves head on and ended up going toe-to-toe.

What a nightmare. Not only did my daughter turn into an enemy, but her fighting strength is such that even rank A adventurers are hazy? If she really was at High Elf level, it would not be surprising if she had rank S level strength.

However, as long as the opponent had the devil's card, the fanatic sword, it was no surprise that anything could happen.

「Oi! Sent a messenger immediately!」

「Whe-where to send?」

「To the royal castle! Tell the king to evacuate immediately!」

「U-understood!」

I understood that this was not an opponent I could win against. Even if I add multiple rank A adventurer-level forces, there is a possibility that we won't be able to win. The five rank-A adventurers currently in the capital that I know of are Zephyrd the SkyWall, Forrund the Hundred Swords, Fran the Black Lightning Princess, Eihwaz the Dragon Binder, and Ruga Mufuru, the captain of the Royal Guard. They are the ones who can be called upon and gathered at the same time.

Even if you are in the royal castle protected by barriers, you are not safe. Let the king escape, then save as many people as possible. After that, leave everything to the strong.

All we can do is being left behind and earn more time.

「We'll keep her here as long as we can. Put your life on it」

「Yes sir!」

The only saving grace is that the morale of my men is high. They responded to my orders with motivated faces, even when I was telling them to die.

It would be a shame to let these men die here, but it can't be helped.

I selected the youngest soldiers I could find and sent them out as messengers to various parts of the royal capital. The purpose of this is to convey my message that the enemy is formidable and that we need more than one rank A to win. This way, my fellow generals will be able to take over after I am gone.

「I will come out too」

「Ha!」

「If only Master Demitris were here...」

The platoon leader's murmur was overheard.

「Master Demitris huh」

The only Rank S adventurer based on the continent of Zilberd, Demitris the Immovable. He is a martial artist who can kill a hundred enemies in an instant without taking a single step.

It is said that he still continues his training by traveling around the magical regions of the continent while using his own dojo in a small country in the south as a base.

He may be a difficult old man to deal with, but he is definitely a good man and has been helping people in many countries. He would be the most reliable person in such a case, but we had no information where he was currently.

「Don't mind with what's not here」

「I'm sorry, sir」

「No, it's fine. I had thought about it too. But we can't rely on Demitris, who we don't know where he is. We'll take care of this!」

「Ha!」

He scolded his subordinates and himself, and was about to go out to the front.

「I'm sorry I'm not the old man Demitris, but am I not good enough for you?」

「Huh?」

What the hell is going on? I didn't feel any sign of him at all! But there was a large demon man standing behind me, looking very relaxed. I could tell just by looking at him. He was no ordinary person. That was exactly the feeling I had when I met His Majesty the Beast King.

The big man pulls out a huge sword from his back. This sword is not just a magic sword either. The overwhelming magical power contained within it almost pressured me.

「I'll help you. Orraaa! Gravity Blows!」

The big man swung his sword down on the spot, and Velmeria, who was far above, suddenly began to fall. It was as if she was being drawn to the earth by an invisible force.

Then my daughter's body slammed into the earth with great force.

「Guaaaaah!」

Today, for the first time, I think that was the only damage was dealt to Velmeria today. Who the hell is this guy!

「Now, how long can I keep this up.....?」

Chapter 454: Side: Ashwrath (I)

「The continent of Gilberd huh. It's been a long time since I've been there」

「You are a big guy! Are you from the demon tribe?」

「Ou, perhaps」

「Are you on a business on this continent?」

「No, it's not like a business.....」

It was on a whim that I crossed over from the continent of Krome to the continent of Gilberd.

「Well. I guess I just followed my intuition」

「Haah, intuition?」

I have a unique skill called 『Imbecility』, which is a skill that strengthens your intuition and instincts. With this skill, I could tell if the other person's words were a lie or not. I could somehow tell if they were speaking from the heart or not. Sometimes I am wrong, but many times this skill has saved my life.

My intuition was telling me that I should go to the continent of Gilberd. It was originally triggered by the words of an evil person named Murellia.

The last thing she said to me was that she wanted me to save a boy named Romio. I couldn't feel any lie in those words. It must have come from the bottom of her heart.

And then the man I fought afterwards, Zelos Reed. He was a vicious man, but I could also feel his deep sadness. I didn't know why at the time, but.....

Later, when I heard that Zelos Reed had kidnapped Romio, it became clear. Ostensibly, it looked like Zelos Reed had betrayed Murellia, but I guess that was just for show. I don't even know why he did it.....

With that in mind, it seemed only natural that Zelos Reed would act to fulfil Murellia's last wish.

I can also predict the destination that Zelos Reed will take Romeo to. The results of a survey of orphanages around the country had been compiled to determine where Murellia would leave Romeo.

Among them, an orphanage in the big city of Barbra was apparently being checked out as a promising place to leave the child. This is what I've heard from Miss Mea and the others, so I'm sure it's true.

It's not like there's anything in it for me to go after. I'm not sure if I want to save Romio or if I want to have a rematch with Zelos Reed. But I felt that I should see it through. And the next thing I knew, I was on a ship bound for the continent of Gilberd.

「But I didn't realize it was a vain attempt.....」

Once I got off the ship and started asking around, I quickly found out the location of the orphanage. It seemed to be a very famous place in Barbra. Recently, a rank A adventurer had taken shelter at the orphanage, and the name seemed to have spread even further.

I asked the strangely low-key woman who came out to respond about Romio, and to my surprise, she said he wasn't at this location.

「Zelos Reed took him, huh?」

It didn't end up here.....

「I had a bad feeling」

It felt like a small fish bone was stuck in my throat. Maybe I should leave it alone, but I couldn't help wondering. Where did Romio and Zelos Reed go?

Besides, it would be boring to cross the continent and come up empty. At the very least, I wanted to see Zelos Reed and Romio at least once.

「So where should i go to next...?」

Zelos Reed is a criminal who is wanted all over the world. It must be difficult for such a man to continue raising a child. If he has to keep running away from his pursuers, he won't be able to settle down.

But there is a place where even such a person can live without worrying about his pursuers. A place where criminals from all over the world flee for their lives. It is harsher than any other place in the world, but if you are as strong as Zelos Reed, you will have no problem in that place.

「A place where all of your past is forgiven if you are a capable warrior.
The continent of Gordisia」

On the continent of Gordisia, as long as you join the allied forces and meet your daily quotas, your past criminal record is considered irrelevant. Losing a capable warrior for trivial reasons is a great loss in that hellish place.

Undoubtedly, Zelos Reed would have aimed for the continent of Gordisia.

「So the best thing to do would be to cross the continent of Gilberd and take a ship at a port town on the eastern coast」

On the way, I stopped at the royal capital of the Kingdom of Kranzel. It was indeed the royal capital of a great country, and it boasted a tremendous grandeur. It wasn't often in my long life that I had seen such a large wall.

To begin with, there are only a few places in this world where you can build a city of this royal capital level. This is because it is difficult to build a large city in a place that does not have the conditions for the generation powerful demonic beasts, is ecologically stable, and does not have bad transportation or water.

It is especially difficult to find a place where there are no strong magical beasts in the vicinity. It's impossible to build a city in a place where large magical beasts such as dragons and giants frequently appear, and even if you could, it wouldn't last long.

In that sense, the royal capital of Kranzel is a wonderful achievement. Most of the demonic beasts in the vicinity are of medium size or smaller, and it is not difficult to defeat them if you have a sufficient number of adventurers and knights.

It's hard even for a big country to have strong people. It's fine as long as you happen to have a strong people by chance, but for a country to last for hundreds of years. Considering this, a system that can always provide a certain level of defense with numbers and tools is more reliable.

I thought it would be very developed inside.....

「But I didn't expect to get caught up in the turmoil here」

I was in the middle of gathering information on Zelos Reed at the tavern. But I didn't get any information on him though. But apparently Fran and his master were in the royal capital. When I was about to meet them, I saw that there was a large-scale battle going on all over the capital.

I don't know if it's a civil war or a coup d'état, but people are fighting each other. Could it be that they were invulnerable to external enemies but vulnerable to internal disturbances?

But even so, there's still a lot of noise. While I was thinking about it, I was attacked too. They were weird guys with swords stuck in their backs. They were pretty strong. If these guys are on the rampage, the royal capital might be in a quite dangerous state.

I heard from the adventurer's guild that the Marquis had staged a coup d'état. The people with swords stuck in their backs seemed to be his army. The guild master and others seemed to be leading an elite group of people to various places for support.

「I can't just ignore this huh」

I don't know if it's fortunate or unfortunate for the people of this city that I'm here, but.....I want to make sure that Miss Fran is safe.

For the time being, I'm going to head for the royal castle where there are people related to the Knight Order. I'll go there and get some information, and if necessary, I can destroy the Marquis. Thanks to Fran and the others who held him down, there should still be enough time for her to run away. I'm sure I can help.

However, it seems that thinking was too sweet. In front of the royal castle, a girl with tremendous power was overrunning the knights. She's a dragon kin, but her magic power is comparable to mine. It's not as if she has a purpose, but it hasn't led to large-scale destruction, but if she's serious, even this royal capital should be cleared in less than half an hour.

I'll have to do it myself. If I leave her alone, it'll be a disaster for Miss Fran and Master. I called out to the pompous men who were talking about old man Demitris and gave them a bite, but it didn't do much damage. If I don't get serious, I'm the one who's going to get hit.

「Now, how long can I keep this up.....?」

The problem was that if I went out of control, there would be more damage. I had to get it over with before that happened.

「Oi! Get these people out of the area. They'll be involved into the fight」

「Yo-you are...?」

「I'm an adventurers, Ashwrath. You can call me a comrade in arms」

「Y-you are...Oi! All hands retreat! Use the royal castle to escape immediately! Hurry up and evacuate the residents」

「Ha!」

Apparently, he knows who I am. The knight who seemed to be the most important one moved immediately. This would make the fight a little easier.

「You, have you ever heard of the adventurer known as the Black Lightning Princess?」

「Do you know Fran, Ashwrath-dono?」

「Yeah, where she is now?」

「They're searching Marquess Ashtner's mansion」

「Is that far from here?」

「more or less」

It's good then. She's less likely to get involved.

「There's nothing to regret! Divine Sword Release!」

Chapter 454: Side: Ashwrath (II)

「There's nothing to regret! Divine Sword Release!」

With my words, the divine sword in my hand transformed its appearance into something vicious. The gate that had been holding back the tremendous power was opened.

「Gravity Prison!」

「Ghaaa!」

The magic resistance is so high that restraining magic is almost useless. So, it will be a slugfest.

「Oiiii! Youu!」

I was surprised. From the looks of it, she looks like she's completely out of control, but I didn't know she could speak in this state. However, what came out of the girl's mouth was a croaky, man-like voice.

Oh well. If it can buy time to get the others out of the way, I'll join her for a chat.

「That's a divine sword, isn't it? It's not the fake one that that little black cat kid had! It's a real divine sword, right?」

「The kid from the Black Cat tribe? Is that Fran by any chance?」

「With that divine sword.....we're.....」

「Oi!」

「If we take in that divine sword.....」

Just because she could talk didn't mean she was sane. Whenever the girl screamed, the broken sword in her hand began to emit a vicious magic. Apparently, the sword was controlling the girl?

「What are you?」

「I don't know! I wish I did! But I know! If we can get that divine sword, we'll be able to regain our original form! So, give me that divine sword!」

Her swords turned on me. But it's a good thing, too. This makes it easier to fight.

「It's time to get serious, huh?」

Almost all signs of people have disappeared from the area. It seems that there are still people inside the castle though..... It is true that I can fight more comfortably in the noble districts than in the commoner districts. It wouldn't hurt my heart even if I crush their house.

「Give me that sword!」

「Die, you bastard!」

I was in top gear from the start. It was probably the same for the other side. They unleashed a series of attacks that could turn even a large mansion into a ruin with a single blow. In just a few tens of seconds, the square was in a cruel state. The cobblestones were completely bald, and there were many large holes in the ground.

But even a fight like this is just a check and balance for us. From time to time, we would find an opening and hit him with an even bigger move, but it would not be enough.

Even though her arms were torn off, her legs crushed, and her bodies punctured, they instantly regenerated her wounds and slammed her weapons into me.

「How come I can't control you?」

「Ahh? You want to control me?」

Apparently, he was using some kind of ability on me that would allow her to control her enemies. But I don't think that's possible. I've always been under the influence of the Abominable Madness. Unless he had more control than that skill, he wouldn't be able to control my mind.

「Tsk!」

The girl shows a slight expression of impatience. At first glance, we seem to be evenly matched, but she knows she is at a disadvantage. She realizes that the stalemate will not last long.

「Oraaa!」

「Gugha!」

We are evenly matched in ability. But they have slightly better regeneration. I was the better tactician. And the difference in weapons was obvious. I had the divine sword. The other side was a broken magic sword.

I start to get the better of the fight. If they wanted to beat me, they should have flown through the air and cut me down from a distance. However, perhaps they were too determined to take my divine sword, so he challenged me to a close to mid-range battle.

No, they must have been confident in his sword skills. In fact, if it was a normal slashing match, the other side was far superior. They had to slash me ten times before I could hit him once. And maybe he needed to cut me with his sword to control me.

However, the attack power of the weapons in her hand was too different. Gaia's attack, which was on a divine attribute by putting magic power into it, had gutted the girl's life force with a single blow.

Of course, I'm pretty much cornered myself. It's been a while since I've fought a rank A magic being like Lich.

「Gughaa!」

「You can't escape! Kiss of the Earth!」

In the next moment, the vast area was crushed at once. A super-gravity was being applied to a radius of about 200 meters. This was not earth magic, but Gaia's ability. The girl who was about to take off crashed and was plunged into the ground.

Before I knew it, the area around the castle had become a vacant lot and half of the castle had collapsed, but it was to protect the capital. I guess it can't be helped.

「Kiss of the Earth!」

Next to the surface point. The gravitational cage that stretched as if contracting towards the girl from all directions had captured her body perfectly. It's one of Gaia's special moves that crushes even the sturdiest earth dragons.....It's commendable that they're able to endure it, but there's no escaping her now unless they use teleport magic.

Just before she was about to stop the blow there.

「Divine Sword Release!」

「Tsk!」

With the girl's cry, the precept of gravity bursts forth from within. But still, a divine sword release? Was that magical sword a divine sword? No, the way it's broken, is it the same discarded divine sword as Master's?

Thanks to my relation with Alistair, I've heard a bit about the Divine Sword. There are six discarded divine swords that I know of.

The cherubim, meltdowns, and judgments that were ordered by God to be discarded have no chance of existing in this world. Even if they still have their outer bodies like masters, they would not have their original abilities.

So, is it more likely to be the Holy Order, Fanatics, or Eldorado, which were just destroyed by accident or in a battle between divine swords?

「God damn it! It's over! Why isn't everything working! It's been 40 years! Forty years we've been preparing for this!」

「Like I'd know!」

「A pseudo fanatics sword made by cutting and melting our swords, and a lineage of dragon maidens who can handle our most powerful skill, "Divine Dragon Transformation"! Why did a guy like you appear at time like this! Don't joke with meee!」

She was cornered and lost her temper. The sword was ranting and raving in an unseemly manner. Yes, the sword was talking.

The sword, which had been transformed by the Divine Sword Release, retained the broken part of the blade, but the hand cover had been enlarged to resemble a gauntlet covering the elbow. Numerous human masks were drawn on the surface of the gauntlet, giving it a strange air.

Then there is a sculpture of a man who has become so huge that he is almost as big as a human head, and he is screaming like a real person. The way its mouth and eyes move are no different from a human's.

「Did you orchestrate this coup d'état?」

「Hyahahaha! That's right! We caused it with Ashtner! But it had already failed!」

「What is your goal?」

「The divine sword of Philias, Diabolos! We're going to seize the capital and the king with our abilities, unite all the armies, and invade Philias at once! And we were going to take the divine sword!」

「.....To fix you?」

「That's right! If only we had a divine sword made with Oricalchos..... Besides, Diabolos was made by Dionysus, just like us! It's supposed to be highly compatible with us!」

I finally understand. This is the end of the fanatic sword Fanatics. It was destroyed by the Holy Order and lost its original ability, but it must have escaped without disappearing.

They are only trying to fix themselves, so they created this mess. Well, I guess they doesn't care how many people die.

The surprise was that it has a will, but it was less shocking thanks to the fact that I had met with master.

「If only you weren't here.....Even if I have to die here, you're the only one I'll kill here! Not only that! The people in this royal capital will go with you! You'll all die!」

Is this the effect of the divine sword release? His sword blade begins to crumble into sand as if it is weathering. The Fanatics will soon collapse from that. Well, he showed his power as a divine sword in an incomplete state, that can't be helped.

「I'm gonna destroy you, and then I'm gonna end all of this!」

「I'll kill you right here for interfering with me!」

Chapter 455: Self-Destruct

A swordsman who burns down his surroundings with flame magic. And it wasn't just a simple flame magic. He had activated multiple techniques to create large explosions at the same time without chanting.

More than ten shots of magic that could destroy several houses with one shot went off at the same time, blowing the surrounding houses to smithereens.

People who failed to escape were engulfed in flames and screaming.

「That guy...!」

Eliante jumped out of the way to stop the swordsman. At this rate, she would sacrifice herself to stop the man in order to buy time to let the civilians escape. Looking at Eliante's tragic face, I knew that she was prepared to not win.

「Stop it!」

「Ghaaa!」

「Guuoh!」

However, the swordsman now, for some reason, had gained a more strength from the pseudo fanatic sword being in the divine sword release. Even if Eliante had risked her life, it would have been difficult to even stall for time.

The shockwave from the sword he had fired had flung her nearly ten meters and she was groaning. The blade of the greatsword in her hand is split in half, but I guess that's what saved her from being blown away.

In addition, flame magic was mercilessly applied to it. Countless flaming bullets rained down on Eliante with no place to escape.

『Tsk!』

I jumped out of the way as quickly as I could and used telekinesis to blast away the flame magic.

「Eh? What...?」

Eliante is surprised to see a sword that moves on its own. Well, I have no choice!

I used my doppelganger to get in front of Eliante and the others. It would look suspicious, but I couldn't let them know I was an Intelligence Weapon!

I pretend as if I've just been teleported and grabbed my handle.

『I'm not some suspicious guy. I'm an acquaintance of Fran's』

「Aren't you the Curry Master!」

Apparently, Colbert remembered me, even though he had only met me once before. Hearing Colbert's words, the suspicion faded from Eliante's face.

『If you didn't fight him properly, he'll kill you instantly! You know that right!』

「But, even so...!」

『I'll face him! Even if i look like this, I'm still Fran's master. I can at least buy you some time! But you have to make sure Fran gets away! I beg you!』

「Ah, wha——」

I saw the swordsman's eyes turn to look at me. There was no time for more questions and answers. I didn't wait for Eliante and the others to reply, and ran toward the swordsman.

I don't want Eliante and the others to hesitate because of me——

As expected of an adventurer. She made a quick decision and began to retreat.

『Well, the problem is, will he stick with me until he kills himself?』

Red rays of light rained down on me. It must have been the simultaneous activation of about twenty flare blasts that converge and shoot out flames.

The stone building behind me melted into mush, filled with holes, and finally exploded.

But I hadn't taken any damage. I had used the little magic power I had recovered to activate the Dimension Shift.

Then, winds began to swirl around me, quickly growing into a giant tornado. It must be storm magic. It gets thicker and bigger, engulfing the surrounding debris.

I jumped up and exposed myself in the air by teleporting and jumping in the air. If I don't, the damage to the town is going to be bad. From his point of view, I was full of opening.

There was no expression on the swordsman's face, and I couldn't tell if he was surprised that I was okay or not. However, I'm sure that the point of the attack was directed at me. A spell was fired at me.

A huge pillar of fire, fused and amplified by the simultaneous release of Inferno Burst, engulfed my figure. It was the same type of attack that Announcer-san had unleashed against the Lich, yet it was several times more powerful.

But even that vicious attack couldn't hit me who is using the Dimension Shift. My magic power is decreasing, I knew that I could hold out for a few more minutes.

『Shii!』

I'll also counterattack to draw his attention to me. I unleashed a lower level thunderbolt spell. I don't think it will work, but it was flashy and eye-catching.

Sure enough, the swordsman strikes back at me. This time, red fireballs surrounded me, and then they all expanded and exploded at once. With the simultaneous activation of the Flare Explode, a flower of flames bloomed in the sky.

『It won't work on me!』

Boooooom!

My counterattack was followed by more counterattacks.

I knew he was out of control and his ability to think has declined. If he still had the ability to make good decisions, he would ignore my lack of effective attacks and attack his surroundings.

His ability is on par with a rank A adventurer. But his head was an idiot. He was an easy opponent for me to deal with.

『I'm going to keep his eyes on me and let him keep wasting his time!』

Since I can use space-time magic, I've been able to do something about it. But I wonder how much damage has been done elsewhere.....

And about three minutes later.

When I started to worry about my remaining magic power, his life force finally hit the bottom. It was a really long three minutes.

The reason for this was that his attack was more violent than I had expected, and I had used a lot of magic to spend on dimension shift. If he hadn't died ten seconds later, I would have tried to attack him.

And it was at that moment when the swordsman's life force ran out.

Boooooooooooooomm!

『Uwooh!』

Suddenly, there was a huge explosion. A violent blast whips the rubble of the houses far up into the sky.

I thought that he had unleashed some kind of flame magic, but that was not the case. It was not a flame, but an explosion caused by a large amount of magic power released.

It seemed that with the death of the swordsman, the magic power of the pseudo fanatic sword that had been raging within him lost control and overflowed all at once.

From above, I could see that a huge crater had been created. More than forty houses had been destroyed, and the surrounding area was heavily damaged. If the furniture that scattered due to the shock wave was counted, the damage would reach hundreds of houses.

But shortly after I descended to the ground, a series of explosions echoed through the royal capital. When I looked over there, I could see the released magic power rising up like a pillar.

It seems that even outside of this place, controlled swordsmen are falling down, leaving behind a huge explosion. The sound of explosions continued to echo intermittently, and we could see more than fifty pillars of magic power rising up. There are many explosions in the noble districts, but there are also explosions in the residential and commercial districts.

The area that is particularly intense is near the royal castle. In particular, the magic explosions are concentrated in the vicinity where the tremendous magic power is colliding with each other.

Is their goal being to destroy the royal capital?

『I hope Fran is safe!』

Chapter 456: Rank S that Appeared

As the massive explosion of the pseudo fanatic sword continued to cause great damage in the royal capital, I was searching for any sign of Fran.

We have a magical connection that allows us to sense each other's presence even when we are quite far away. Relying on this connection, I used the long-distance teleport.

「Wh-who is it!」

The one who was surprised by my sudden appearance was Stellia, the receptionist at the Adventurer's Guild. She was wearing bright red full-body armor, it's perhaps her equipment from her active days, and she was holding a huge mace.

Maybe, it's bigger than it was when she was active, but thanks to the size-adjusting magic, it seems to be equipped without any problem. It seems, magical equipment was like a living thing in many ways.

『I'm the master of Fran, the Black Lightning Princess. I'm not an enemy!』

「Hee...」

I'm quite suspicious. My body performance was at its lowest. I can't even move my mouth, so I has to use telekinetic, and my status is so low that it's hard to believe for someone like me to be Fran's master.

Furthermore, my doppelganger was dressed very poorly. Because I had created it into human form on the spur of the moment, I hadn't bothered to dress it. Because of this, my doppelganger was dressed only in shabby clothes, like a slave's.

It's pretty hard to believe for someone like me to be Fran's master huh.

「That little girls' master? Hmm...you don't even look like a human tho...」

Huh, I didn't know Eihwaz was here too. Unlike Stellia, there's no hostility in his gaze. Instead, his eyes are those who looks at their Guinea pig though. He seems to intuitively understand that my body is different from that of a normal human. As expected of the mad scientist who likes to dissect things.

「Everyone, we will evacuate to the city outskirts! Hurry up!」

「I'll carry Master Gallus. You take care of Fran」

「woof!」

Eliante and Colbert appeared from the back. Colbert was carrying Gallus on his back, and Fran was strapped to the back of Urushi.

「Oh, Master Curry! So you're safe!」

Colbert notices me and rushes over to me, please stop with that Master curry!. however, it seems ease the suspicious glares from Stellia.

『A,aah. I see you're fine too』

「Yes. But the crisis isn't over yet. We're still evacuating the royal capital」

Eliante shared with me the information that Eihwaz and the others had brought. It seems that Velmeria is being controlled by the broken magic sword and is untouchable.

He said that Forrund was also there, but both of them almost died. She was so strong that makes Eihwaz had no idea what he can do, and showed Forrund her overwhelming power when he saw her.

In my mind, these two people are at the top of the list of people I don't want to fight. To put it bluntly, they're probably better than us. I can't imagine them losing. But even with the two of them working together, they were kicked to the curb in less than ten minutes.

In the end, he said, Forrund pursued Velmeria and Eihwaz came back to the guild to report the scale of the enemy. However, it seems that Eihwaz was able to contact Forrund through the use of a familiars, and he understood the situation right up until a few minute ago.

「Well, it seems that something happened to Forrund, and the familiars has died. It can't be helped」

『What happened?』

「That little dragon girl named Velmeria and a rank S adventurer started a fight. Looks like the Hundred Swords got caught up in it」

『A rank S adventurer? Was there such a guy in this country?』

As I recall, there was a rank S adventurer named Demitris in the Gilberd Continent. A genius martial artist who is the master of Colbert and the founder of the Dimitris style.

However, he said that it was not Demitris who appeared in the royal capital.

「It's not the immovable Demitris. It was my first time to saw him, but the one who started the fight with the little girl were also causing friendly fire. That was from Hundred Swords, then it must be true」

『Friendly fire! Ashwrath was here huh!』

「Do you know him?」

『Yea. So, he's fighting Velmeria?』

「That's right」

Isn't it pretty bad for Ashwrath to fight with Velmeria, who can easily managed two rank A adventurers? The damage to the surrounding area will be horrendous.

Well, if Ashwrath hadn't come, the royal capital would have been destroyed by Velmeria by now.....

But there is a problem that cannot be ignored.

『Is Ashwrath...still sane?』

「Hou? What do you mean?」

『I can't explain it in detail, but Ashwrath was dangerous, he will going out of control the more they fight. It doesn't matter if you're friend or foe, When Ashwrath is out of control. He's really dangerous!』

No, you know that, don't you? That's why Eliante and the others are trying to escape in a hurry.

But will it save us? If Ashwrath were to go on rampage, the damage would not only be the capital but also the surrounding areas. Unlike that underground dungeon, he should be able to wield his power here without any restrictions. Will Eliante and the others be able to escape?

The best thing to do would be for all of us to get out of here, and for Ashwrath to defeat Velmeria early so he doesn't go out of control. It would be great if he could also save Velmeria's life.

The worst thing that can happen is that Ashwrath will go out of control during the battle with Velmeria, and the battle between the two causes great damage to the royal capital and its people. In some cases, Fran's and Eliante's live are also in danger.

What should I do? The easiest thing for me to do would be to get out of royal capital right now with just Fran and Urushi. Even with the rest of my magic power, I should be able to get pretty far away using teleport.

But if Fran woke up and found out that she was the only one who survived, abandoning Eliante, Gallus and the others.....She'll be sad, she'll be devastated. Fran might not be able to forgive herself.

『If that's the case, I guess the least damaging method would be to take down Velmeria as soon as possible and prevent Ashwrath from running amok』

I'm not sure how far i can fight that monsters without Fran.....It can even be said that I only have half the number of moves and half the power now. The only way I can beat her now is only with stealth.

No, in this case, stealth is important. It's impossible to attack her from the front anyway. If that's the case, the best thing to do would be to sneak up on the battle, and strike an effective blow at Velmeria, and give Ashwrath support.

『Understood. Then, I'll go』

「Wa-, it's dangerous, even for you!」

『I'll be fine. I'm just gonna check on her. I leave Fran with you』

「Woof!」

I'm anxious to leave Fran's side, but I have no choice.

『It's in front of the castle huh』

I can still feel the huge magic power. I heard that the Count and the others have already evacuated the area, but Forrund must still be there. He seems to have been caught up in some unforeseen situation, but that man would not die so easily.

In some cases, we might even be able to fight together.

Chapter 457: Battle Between the Transcenders

The ridiculously large magic power in the town is already gone. The pseudo fanatic swords must have all self-destructed. All that's left is Velmeria.

I tried to approach the square in front of the royal castle to check the current situation in Velmeria, but it was impossible. After all, the place was already in a state of hell.

I mean, how big was the square in front of the royal castle?

Originally, there was supposed to be a beautiful square with neatly laid cobblestones.....But now, it's only a bare ground, with lots of craters and bumps stretches on and on.

No, some of it is so flat it looks as if it's been graded with a road roller. I've seen this before in Beastman country. It's definitely the work of Ashwrath.

The surrounding mansions and the royal castle, which was supposed to have been protected by strong barriers, had completely collapsed, and I couldn't tell where the square was from where I was. Moreover, the destruction was still ongoing.

Boooaaam!

Boooooom!

Ashwrath wields Gaia in its released state, spreading destruction. As soon as a large area is crushed by gravity, a huge rock projectile shoots toward the sky. And then they fall to the ground, spreading a great deal of damage. Even now, a nobleman's mansion was destroyed in front of me.

I thought he might have already gone on rampage, but I couldn't see any sign of it even from a distance. I couldn't see the blood-red, ominous and disastrous aura that had enveloped Ashwrath when the mad demonization was activated. It must mean that the opponent is strong enough that he has to fight without worrying about damage to the surrounding area.

In contrast, Velmeria - is that really Velmeria? She is moving at high speed, and I can barely make out her figure the moment she stops moving slightly, but her appearance has been transformed too much.

Her light blue hair was still remained, but her entire body was covered with hard scales. The arms were also enlarged and knotted, clearly out of the human category. Moreover, she had huge wings on her back. If they were the same kind of wings as a dragon's, it would be able fly at high speed with magic power.

While Ashwrath fights mainly with earth magic, Velmeria unleashes a wide variety of magic. I don't know why she doesn't fly, but she was firing a series of magic while running around on the ground.

Then, Velmeria manifested a pseudo sun.

It was just like the sun that had fallen to the earth, scorching the air and vaporizing the land. Even from a distance, a tremendous heat was beating down on me. It was so hot that my body would disappear in an instant.

The remnants of the stone pillar rolling beside me were bubbling and starting to melt and crumble. I could feel my endurance dwindling even though there should still be some distance between us, and I hurried to get away from it.

The magic contained in it would easily surpass even my Kanna Kamui that I unleash with all my might. I'm not sure if it's a flame magic or not. No, the current Velmeria might be able to do this with a Lv. 8 or 9 skill.

Either way, it's a destructive magic that's impossible for me to do.

Ashwrath popped out of the miniature sun. Smoke billowed from his entire body, and parts of his arms and face were burned off, but his life was intact. I can't imagine how he could escape from that thing without losing his life.

Ashwrath turned to face the pseudo-sun, leaping with gravity manipulation. Immediately afterwards, Ashwrath sidestepped Gaia, and the pseudo-sun contracted all at once, easily disappearing. The super gravity must have cancelled out the pseudo-sun.

In its wake was a beautiful spherical hole. The size of the hole was several times the diameter of the pseudo-sun, no less than fifty meters. It seemed to have vaporized not only the area it had touched, but also the surrounding land, making it disappear.

Then, Ashwrath launched a counterattack.

In the place where the pseudo-sun was, a small black sphere is now created. It was really a small sphere, about 30 centimeters in diameter. However, something strange happened immediately afterwards.

The surrounding rubble and earth began to gather towards the sphere with tremendous force. Apparently, the super gravity was pulling the surroundings together.

『That's dangerous!』

I was also pulled slightly. I used my teleport again and moved away from the scene. In terms of impact, it's more than Velmeria's flame magic.

In the meantime, the sphere continued to expand and grow to a huge size as it was covered with the earth and debris that seemed to have belonged to the royal castle. The unceasing earth tremors were probably caused by the distortion of the earth over a wide area, not just in this vicinity.

『And Velmeria is.....』

There she is! Right underneath a huge rock floating in the air. She was crawling on all fours on the ground, trying to hold on. However, she was caught up in the debris that was being pulled toward the rock lump one after another, and her body finally separated from the ground.

The new debris immediately covered Velmeria, who had been slammed into the rock, and swallowed her up inside. The pressure would be tremendous due to the super-gravity and the weight of the rock mass that had been pulled in.

I thought this was going to be a victory for Ashwrath, but.....

Booooooooooom!

A small mountain-like mass of rocks floating in the air exploded from within. The rocks of various sizes that burst apart poured into the surrounding area. The range of the explosion must have reached the entire noble district.

Although they were small, they were still rocks that had been compressed and compacted together. The roofs and walls of the houses would be pierced with ease, and people would be seriously injured at the very least if they were hit. The nearby area was already in a hellish state to begin with, so it was a little late for that.

Although they may not have been attacking each other in turn, Velmeria next unleashed her water magic. A huge water snake with eight heads was created and attacked Ashwrath.

The head of the water snake alone was nearly ten meters long, but it was blown away by one swing of Gaia's sword. However, that was not the end of Velmeria's attack.

The eight-headed water serpent restricted Ashwrath's movement, and then she unleashed her main attack. It was a technique that I was familiar with. No, I don't know if I can say that it's the same as the one I use but.....

『Kanna Kamui huh...!』

It was the same sense of defeat that I felt in the battle with Murellia. But at that time, it was a sense of defeat with hope that I would catch up with her someday.

However, when I saw Kanna Kamui released by Velmeria, what I felt was a sense of emptiness that I could never catch up with her. I can't even picture the vision of catching up. I don't even know if I can call it a defeat in the first place. From the very beginning, there was an overwhelming difference that was not even able to be called as a match.

It is denser and more powerful polar thunderbolt than the convergence-type Kanna Kamui used by Murellia, but it is several times thicker.

A huge pillar of lightning pierced the earth and caused a huge explosion. It was so powerful that the blast even hit me right where I was.

I see, so that's an extreme magic. This is what extreme magic is all about. It is a magic that exceeds the limits of human being, capable of destroying an army with just one blow. This must be the true power of Kanna Kamui.

I'm sure I've been unorthodox in my own way, but the battle in front of me was unorthodox even from my perspective. They unleashed a wide range of mass destruction attacks on each other, and still there was no sign for it to be settled any soon.

I can see some damage, but the regeneration ability is so high that it would be difficult to get to the point of taking each other's life if not for an instant kill.

But I can't just sit back and watch until the battle is over. I now has a reason to end this battle early, even if I has to be a little reckless.

『Aswrath's horns are started to emit a reddish light, aren't they?』

I could see the signs of an outburst from Ashwrath.

Chapter 458: Talks with Forrund

『I have to end this fight somehow, before Ashwrath gets out of control.....』

Actually, I was thinking that if we escaped outside of the royal capital, maybe there would be no damage..... After seeing the battle between the Transcenders, my wishful thinking was blown away.

There was no way we could let it run amok. The damage wouldn't be limited to just the royal capital if Ashwrath went out of control.

『Should i support Ashwrath...』

However, as I found out when I watched the two of them fight, both of her defenses and life force were too massive for a few attacks to take kill it.

Even if I managed to create an opening, I wasn't sure if that would be enough to help Ashwrath defeat Velmeria.

『When it comes to that—I have to aim for the Fanatics huh...』

The broken magic sword that Velmeria is holding. That is definitely the main body of the Fanatics. The moment I saw it, I immediately knew.

It's a divine sword. There's no need to appraise it. Is the announcer-san inside me secretly whispering to me?

The Fanatics were bizarre even from a distance, and its presence was no less than Gaia's in its liberated state.

『If I could just do something about it.....』

As I was thinking about that, I noticed something. The Fanatics were getting shorter. In the short time since I started observing the fierce battle between the two, the blade of the Fanatics had shortened.

If I take a close look, I can see its blade crumbling away as if it were weathering. It must be a reaction to the divine sword release. Because I'm often affected by skills with strong repercussions, I could be sure of that.

Do I have to do something? If the collapse continues at that rate, it won't be long before it destroys itself. But before that happens, there is a possibility that Ashwrath will start to run amok too.....No, it's too dangerous to bet on wishful thinking.

『I guess I'll have to take the risk and intervene huh』

If I hadn't seen Gaia before, all I would have been able to do was shudder at the thought of a battle between two divine swords. The idea of a battle between two superior divine swords gives me such awe.

『But, still——』

I have to do something.

『However, what should I do?』

I can't break into that fight without a plan.

As long as I can only expect to damage it with a full-blown blow, I will have to prepare a blow at the perfect time.

I can't use potential release. Because I can't stand it now.

I can use telekinetic catapult after teleporting? No, It won't work. Against a strong opponent, there is a high possibility that it can detect my teleport. In fact, some of the rank A opponents I've fought in the past have avoided it. I should assume that Velmeria will naturally react as well.

This is where the bad side of not having Fran came in. I would teleport, Fran would aim, and the two of us would attack. We were able to minimize the gap because we were able to divide our roles in this way.

『Then, do i have to use telekinesis to catch the opponent?』

If I can use telekinesis to block your opponent's movement, even for a moment, I may be able to hit them. At the same time, if I use the telekinesis with a guider, the possibility of missing an attack will be even lower. However, that would make it impossible for me to use telekinetic catapult.

『No, if only I could use magic together...Hmm?』

As i was worried, I felt the presence of a person somewhat far away. he seemed to be using his stealth skills, but his stealth must have wavered for a moment as he tried to dodge the huge debris that had fallen nearby. In terms of location, he was in the shadows of the rubble, about 20 meters away from me.

The owner of the presence was Forrund. I didn't think he'd be this close. He seemed to have immediately normalized his stealth skills, when I caught his presence.

Still, I'm pretty sure that Forrund had almost no stealth skills when I appraised him before.....His current stealth skill is quite good. It's not inferior to its higher ranks.

But I soon found out why. It was the sword that Forrund currently held in his right hand. It was probably a magic sword that Forrund had created with his extra skill, the love of the Sword God. It seems to have the ability to grant the wearer a stealth skill. In addition, the magic sword in his left hand has the same type of stealth ability.

When i think about it, that was amazing. It would be possible to handle any situation by creating a magic sword with the most appropriate ability for the situation. Moreover, Forrund can create more than 100 swords at the same time, right? That would be like suddenly having 100 more skills.

It's quite bad if he was our enemy. Well, I suppose it's the same for me and Fran's skill sharing.

Should I fight with Forrund here? But as long as I'm not using the doppelganger, it will reveal my true identity.

Forrund huh.....I don't mind revealing my true identity to this man. I've met him many times before, and I've never had a bad impression of him. He's usually very intimidating because he's often involved in combat, and he sometimes can be scary. However, he never once had any negative feelings towards Fran or me.

That's probably why Fran has a strange fondness for Forrund. Although they hadn't talked that much, it was clear that Fran liked Forrund.

No, this is an emergency. There was no time for hesitation. If fighting together would increase our chances of survival, then we should have fought together.

『Forrund...Can you hear me?』

(Hmm? What's this voice? Who are you?)

『Aah, I'm not an enemy. I'm the master of the Black Lightning Princess. I'm talking to you with telepathy』

(Is that so, then I'll believe you. I don't sense any malice in your words)

Somehow, he believed me so easily. No, I don't have time for useless thoughts right now, so I'll just be thankful.

『I have one favor to ask』

(What is it? Ask me anything)

『Velmeria-do you have a back-up plan that could take down the dragon girl?』

This made me think that if Forrund had a powerful special move, I could just cooperate——.

(No, I don't have the offensive power to finish that thing off. It's beyond the human realm)

(How about you?)

『There is, but.....Hey, that sword-shooting skill. What's the point of that thing if it's not your equipment or a sword under your control?』

(No, that's not the case. It's an ability originally created by my skills to control swords, but the effect is to manipulate swords within a certain range)

So, it's like a sword-only telekinesis. If so, maybe we can cooperate.

With Forrund's firing ability, I would be able to direct all of my telekinesis to restraint Velmeria.

Anyway, wasn't Forrund more of a quiet guy? I thought he was a man who always said only a few words. However, when I used telepathy, he talked normally. Maybe he's just not very talkative in general, but he's thinking a lot in his head. I felt a little closer to him when I thought about that.

『I need Forrund's help. Can you lend me your strength?』

(Yea, fine with me. What should I do?)

That's a quick decision. I can count on him.

『Let's meet up first. I'll go over there. Don't be surprised, okay?』

Chapter 459: Forrund and Strategy Planning

I teleported under Forrund.

「Huh?」

『Oops, don't be surprised——is that too much to ask huh? Well, I am Master, an Intelligence Weapon』

「...I see」

『Eh? Aaa...』

「Hmmh」

Is that all? Isn't it too early to be convinced? I'm ashamed of myself for saying 「Don't be surprised!」 with a smug look on my face.

『Ma, maybe you know other intelligence weapon besides me?』

『I-is that so huh...』

Anyway, aren't you talking too much differently than you did during telepathy?

『Uh, when you're connected via telepathy, you can talk with your mind. You're better off this way, right?』

(Is that so? I don't mind if you do)

『Everyone says you don't talk much, don't they?』

(A few often said me like that, but not everyone)

Yeah, maybe some people are too scared to point it out. Well, I hope we can cooperate well. Then I told Forrund about my plan.

What we need to do is simple. Accelerate with Forrund's abilities supported with my magic and skills. We'll use the Dimension Gate to try to surprise her. The target is the Fanatics equipped by Velmeria.

It would be best if we could destroy it, but what we are aiming for is to weaken it through cannibalism. It is a skill that absorbs part of the abilities of the person you kill, but this is not the case with Fanatics, I should destroy it.

It seems that the personality of the Fanatics is a kind of collective consciousness. their words and actions, as well as their ability to take the minds and memories of the people they kill and integrate them into themselves, would certainly confirm it.

And when my attack damages a part of their consciousness, a part of the collective consciousness dies and is absorbed by me through cannibalism. Even if I can't completely destroy the pseudo fanatic sword or the fanatics themselves, the cannibalism is still in effect, so this must be true.

If that's the case, I'll be able to weaken the Fanatics' abilities by inflicting a painful blow with my attack, and provide cover for Ashwrath. If I'm successful, I may be able to greatly speed up the Fanatics' self-destruction.

The only question is whether I can stand it or not. But now I had no choice but to do it. Cannibalism is the only way to ensure that I can damage the Fanatics.

In truth, it would be quicker if we could tell Ashwrath about our plan and get him to cooperate, but we needed to get closer to deliver the telepathy. But if I got any closer, Velmeria would notice me. I couldn't take that risk.

『The question is, can we do any damage in the first place? we're dealing with an opponent who hasn't been destroyed by Ashwrath's super attack. If i can't do any damage, it won't even trigger cannibalism』

(Then———what do you think?)

『But then———』

(Even so———)

『I mean———』

And with each other's input, we formulate a strategy.

(That would give us a chance)

『Are you sure you want to do it?』

(I don't care. As long as I'm the only one who can help to take him down, I'm all yours.

『.....I'm not going to sacrifice you, but I'm not going to go easy on you either, okay?』

(Of course. You don't have to worry about me)

To be honest, it's a lot of burden for Forrund, but it's a better idea than my plan.

『Also, a word of advice. If anyone but Fran equips me, they will die. I'm serious. If you just hold me in your hand, you'll be fine』

(Huh? Got it, I'll be careful)

『...Are you sure?』

(About what?)

『No. you are not afraid to just hold me?』

(If I don't equip you, it wouldn't be a problem, right? What does it matter?)

As expected of a rank A adventurer. He has great courage. I'm counting on him.

(I also have one piece of advice for you)

『Eh? What is it?』

(I have the ability to analyze and duplicate magic swords. In this case of you, master, I knew at first glance that it was impossible to duplicate you.....However, analysis will be possible to some extent. This is done automatically, so I have no control over it. In some cases, things like the Master's secrets might be revealed to me)

『I see』

However, as long as Forrund had the love of the Sword God, I was prepared for that. In fact, it would be a blessing just to not be able to duplicate me. In order to increase the odds of victory, there was no choice but to not borrow Forrund's power.

『Aah, if you figure out something, I'd appreciate it if you'd keep your mouth shut』

(Of course)

Forrund's words are trustworthy, even though I was not using the truth of falsehood. I wonder why it is? Is it because he is like a man without his backbone? (1)

『The aim is the moment when Ashwrath stops Velmeria from moving』

(Oh. Let's put all our energy into this one blow)

『I counting on you』

(That's my line. We need to stop that girl)

『Leave it to me. I'll give it my all』

(Umu)

First, Forrund created about ten new magic swords. The first is the invisible sniper's sword, which has a sniper function that increases the accuracy of long-range attacks, the second is a telekinetic sword, and the third has the ability to control the wind.

It seems that thanks to the love of the Sword God skill, he can use his ability to create a magic sword without holding it in his hand. He thrusts his magic swords up against the ground around him.

The last thing Forrund created was a magic sword with a short blade but a powerful presence. It was a jet-black sword breaker with a row of animal fang-like protrusion on its back.

If I didn't know that I was a discarded divine sword, I might have harboured a rivalry with it. That's how vicious its atmosphere is.

『Is that, your ace card?』

(Yeah, its name is 『Agito the Demon Wolf』 . It's a high-grade magic sword that was made by grinding the fangs of a Fenrir, the demon wolf that devour everything) (2)

『Fenrir...』

Seriously? When I heard that, I felt a sense of familiarity to that magical sword. I can't help but be curious about this sword. Is there really a Fenrir in me?

『Aah, no. Don't mind』

(Is that so? This magic sword has two abilities: one is to weaken the barrier of the person it touches. The other is the ability to absorb the durability of the armor it touches, making it more fragile. On the other hand, this magic sword is getting stronger and stronger)

That's pretty cool. If the sword had those two abilities, it would make something strong even stronger.

『Surely, if we have it, that would really help.....』

(I didn't expect it to be the Fanatics, but it should be effective against that sword too. I don't know how far I can go to reduce the durability of that thing, though)

『Still, I'm starting to see some hope』

(If so, then)

『Yeah, let's go』

Chapter 460: Cooperative Attack

Forrund, who had grabbed my hilt, staggered lightly as if he were dizzy.

He's not equipped me, why!

「Guh...」

『A-are you okay?』

(The amount of information from analyse was too much...For now, let's just focus on the attack)

『A, yeah』

Thank God. The goddess' curse had not fallen on him. What did he can see? Well, I'll ask him when the battle is over and we're both still alive.

Forrund quickly regained his stance and aimed me with his right eye. As Forrund's magical power enveloped my blade, my body left his hand and slowly floated into the air.

So, this is what happens when someone used telekinesis on me huh. It's a strange feeling.

Forrund pulls his right hand back and takes a stance as if to deliver a punch. I'm floating as the extension of his palm. his left hand was thrust forward as if to keep me steady and straight.

I also used my shapeshift skills to transform into a cone shape to reduce air resistance. I'm going to put all my strength into the tip of my sword.

「All sets」

『Okay』

Somehow, I started to understand him a little. I feel like we're on the same page. Is this another ability of the Love of the Sword God? It would not be surprising if he had the ability to communicate with the sword or something like that.

As I stared at Ashwrath's aura, which was growing redder, I suppressed my impatience and continued to observe Velmeria.

『Not yet...a little more...』

My current state, where I've built up my strength to the limit, must be a tremendous load. The blood vessels on his forehead swelled to the point of bursting, and I could hear his arms creaking. However, he clenched his teeth and endured the pain. I guess he's similar to Fran in this way too.

As I watched for the right moment, the moment finally came.

Ashwrath's attack knocked Velmeria to the ground. She got up instantly, but was held in place by super gravity.

『...Now!』

「Here I go, Master!」

At the moment I shouted, Forrund's magic power surged and exploded. I was shot out of Forrund's palm at super high speed.

『Uwooooooooooh!』

I opened the dimension gate over Velmeria. It wasn't directly above her, because I needed some distance to accelerate.

I simultaneously activated flame magic, wind magic, thunderbolt magic, and space-time magic to accelerate myself. The effect is enhanced as much as possible by controlling fire and wind magic.

In order to increase my speed and power as much as possible. I also used Gravity Pressure on myself to draw me into the target.

I also did not neglect to increase my attack power. In addition to Super Gravitation and Vibration Fangs, I used the Dark and Light attribute swords at the same time. Dark attribute was chosen because it attacked the opponent's spirit directly, increasing the activation rate of my cannibalism as much as possible.

As for light, it was a gamble. I can see that Velmeria has high resistance to the four basic attributes and the composite attribute. So, I thought that light, a rare attribute, would be better.

Not only that, but I was also able to copy the rapid acceleration by magic release that the Fanatics were using back then.

While being pushed out by the telekinesis of Forrund, I instantly gained an unbelievable amount of acceleration due to the multiple activation of his skills at the very limit of his control power. Normally, I would lose control and be blown away.

However, with the guidance of my telekinesis, i went straight

The tremendous recoil caused by the simultaneous use of magic and skills is quickly eroding my durability. However, this was to be expected. Forrund is risking his life, so I have to risk everything!

『Wraaaaaa!』

Velmeria's eyes are looking at me. She's clearly reacting. But she won't be able to intercept. Because Forrund was standing in front of her.

As soon as he shot me, he dove through the other dimension gate I had opened and attacked Velmeria. Because she was able to react to my sudden appearance in the sky, she was only a moment too late to respond to Forrund who had appeared behind the scenes.

Taking advantage of the opportunity, Forrund had succeeded in blocking Velmeria's movement. Forrund used the sword breaker in his hand to tightly secure the Fanatics.

Of course, with the power of Forrund alone, she would be easily shaken loose. However, it was the super-gravity of Ashwrath that held her to the earth. It was impossible to shake that off in an instant.

Not even Velmeria could shake off Forrund, who had challenged her with the determination to throw everything away.

「Gaah!」

「Won't let you escape!」

『UWOOOOOOOO!』

Then, I turned into a super-fast bullet and pierced the Fanatics, along with Forrund's arm and his magic sword. It was probably thanks to Agito the sword of demon wolf. The Fanatics, which had boasted such great defensive power, were shattered into pieces.

Forrund was blown away by my blow, spraying a lot of blood. Still, at the moment we crossed, Forrund was certainly smiling.

But I don't have the luxury of caring for him right now.

『Gyiiiiiiiiiiiiiiii—!』

Is it mine, or the Fanatics', or a combination of our screams?

I was screaming unconsciously at the tremendous torrent of magic power flowing into me.

Chapter 461: The Black Things that Devours Everything

『IiiiIIiiii——!』

Oh no, oh no, oh no, oh no!

What is this!

Unbelievable magic power is...!

Hot! Hot, hot! Something is burning inside of me! I'm burning, burning, and seemed to pop!

『GUhGHaaaaghaaaaaiiiii!』

It's disgusting! A strange feeling as if countless bugs were crawling around inside my head, inside my body, and all over my body.

『UwaaaaAaaaAaaa!』

Help! Help me!

I will break...!

『Gha, GHaah.....』

Gkiiiiin!

『?』

Suddenly, there's a sound like something cracking. What was it? what's cracking——.

It was right after that.

『UWAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA——!』

Black stuff overflows from deep inside me.

It hurts, it's hot, it's cold, it's painful. It's just that something black is covering and invading my insides. No, this is me too. It's an entity that makes up myself. I understood this intuitively.

『Devour it』

『Ghaaaa...!』

『Devour it』

『AAAAAghuh...?』

『Devour it, Devour it!』

『Ghuh...What is this? Ghaaa!』

Devour?

『Devour it! Devours everything!』

Devour what...? Everything...? You're a part of me, but you're not me. Who are you?

『Listen to my voice! Surrender yourself to me! Surrender yourself to me!』

A voice echoing directly in my mind. The image is black. An evil and terrifying thing is screaming inside me.

『Devour it! Devour the Heaven and earth, gods and demons, people and beast, devour them all, devour everything!』

What came through in his voice was an intense sense of hunger. The word "devour" means exactly what it sounds like. Its to eats flesh, slurps blood, swallows the earth, and even bites through the heavens. This black thing is capable of that.

『Ugh!』

What I felt in response was tremendous anger. My mind was filled with anger.

You can't just say whatever you want! You want to devour everything? And by people, you mean Fran too huh!

Don't mess with me! I won't allow anyone to kill Fran, even if it's me! If you're going to kill Fran, you'll have to kill me first, me! Oh, sh*t! I don't even understand it! I don't know what I'm talking about! My thoughts are all jumbled up!

『AAAAAAHH! You're so noisy! Shut the fuck up!』

Maybe because of my anger, but the pain and discomfort went away.

『Why don't you obey me! Obey me!』

『I said shut the fuck up!』

What? It did shut up? I guess i just have to command it to...

The lord of that voices—I could see that the black evil thing was clearly confused. Then, it rapidly lost its power. It didn't disappear, nor did it leave me, but I could feel it receding deep inside me.

Anyway...how did it work?

It was right after I thought that. I heard a high-pitched voice, different from the one I had just heard.

『Kehihihihi! It's funny to see what the guy who ate us was like!』

『You're next huh——』

I don't know why I know who they are. Maybe there's something that the discarded divine sword can communicate with each other.

『Fanatics huh?』

『Kihihihhihi! Now what? We are what we are! But you've got one hell of a thing going on here!』

Every time the Fanatics speak, their voice tone changes. It could be a man, a woman, an old man, or a child. But the fanatics were inside me. It seems that cannibalism was triggered and ate the Fanatics. I was in so much pain that I didn't even notice it.

However, this was the first time that I could feel so clearly the being I had absorbed through cannibalism. As soon as I became aware of it, a sick feeling came over me.

『Ughooh...!』

『Guhahahaha! You were originally a human! So pitiful!』

『Wha-what do you mean...?』

『Someday, you will definitely go crazy! The body of a sword, the mind of a man! There's no way you can stand it! One day, you will go mad! Just like we did!』

『I won't go crazy!』

『That's impossible! We're going to watch you from the inside. We're gonna watch you went crazy! And finally, you will kill your own wielder at the end!』

『Sh*t! You are so noisy!』

『Gyaha——gha! What the...!』

The Fanatics, who had been ranting and raving about the joke inside me, suddenly writhed in agony.

『Wha-what the hell is going on inside of you?』

Fanatics raise a frightened voice. It's Announcer-san who bites into that spirit. I can see that Announcer-san - or what's left of Cherubim - absorbs the Fanatics.

『Wha-what the hell is this! Why is there a being of our kind inside of you...! Stop it! Don't devour us! Stop! We're not going away! We won't going AWAAAAAAaaaaay————』

With that exclamation, the horrible feeling of disgust that had overtaken me completely disappeared. Just like that.

『.....It's finally over?』

There was no one to answer my mutter. I thought that maybe announcer-san would answer me, but no. However, I could feel its presence increase slightly. Perhaps, if I continue use cannibalism, Announcer-san might come back one day.

But my condition is pretty bad. The blade is completely shattered, and to the casual observer it would appear to have been broken. I'm not sure if I'm still under the influence of the divine attributes, but my regeneration is slow.

However, my durability value was slowly recovering. I guess I survived just in the nick of time.....

『No, rather than about me, what happened to Velmeria!』

Had her rampage stopped? I hurriedly checked my surroundings.

『Velmeria is——there she is!』

At some distance away, I saw Velmeria lying on the ground. Her body had returned to its original human-like form. I could see her chest rising and falling lightly. She seemed to be alive.

The super magic power emanating from her body had vanished and she was rather dying. Her right arm was blasted off, along with her fanatics, and the right half of her body was torn to shreds.

On the opposite side of Velmeria, I could also see Ashwrath lying on the ground.

『Oi, Ashwrath?』

「Shih, Master, huh?」

The words come back to me, albeit weakly.

『You're not out of control, are you?』

「It's thanks to you.....」

Apparently, the worst had been averted.

Chapter 462: Handling Ashwrath

『...Forrund is!』

Forrund was lying on the ground some distance away. I somehow managed to control my telekinesis as I flew low, occasionally scraping my hilt on the ground, and managed to get close to Forrund.

『This is...』

He makes it, but he's in bad shape. The area from the right clavicle to the right ribs was completely gouged out, exposing internal organs and bones. The left arm was also missing from the elbow up. The ground, which had been levelled by the fierce battle, was stained black by his massive blood loss.

「Uggh...」

But he was still alive. His remaining left lung was moving slightly, and I could hear his heartbeat faintly. I hurriedly continued to use recovery magic on Forrund which was about to be lost his life.

I was really glad that I had recovered my magic power from cannibalizing the Fanatics.

『Forrund! Forrund!』

He makes it huh? Forrund raised himself up on his own, still flooding with a lot of blood from the section of his shredded shoulder.

As it was, He immediately produced several magic swords. Then his arm started to regenerate slowly. He must have created magic swords of the recovery and regeneration type. Forrund ability to respond is still amazing.

『You're safe. Thank God』

(It's been a while since I've had a conversation with my dead friend)

Does that mean you almost went to the other side?

While I was recovering Forrund, Ashwrath, who was now able to stand up on his own, was checking on Velmeria's condition. Then he suddenly held up Gaia, still in the open.

『Ashwrath! She's not rampaging anymore! You don't have to kill her!』

「It's fine. Well, have a look」

I can't feel any killing intent. It seems that he is not trying to kill her. Ashwrath held Gaia above Velmeria.

「Smile of the Earth」

As Ashwrath muttered it, gentle magic power overflowed from Gaia and enveloped Velmeria. The dying Velmeria's complexion improved, and the wounds all over her body began to heal. Its recovery power was probably even greater than Greater Heal. It seemed that Gaia had not only the power to attack, but also the power to heal.

It also means that there's a powerful means of recovery for a rampaging Ashwrath right.

「...Ugh...」

「Miss, are you okay?」

「...i...where is this...?」

There was a possibility that the Fanatics would absorb her spirit and she would never regain consciousness, but apparently the worst had been avoided. The Fanatics seemed to have lost their original power due to the damage, and they might not even have the power to integrate other's spirit into their own.

If they could completely integrate their mind into their host, there would be no need for a magic drug to manipulate them. No, Gallus and the others were not supposed to wake up because of that magic drugs.....

「You don't remember anything huh. It's all right. Now go back to sleep」

「.....Shyu—.....」

Even if she survived, she must have been on the edge mentally and physically. She fell asleep again as if she had fainted.

『Hey, Ashwrath. Does your current recovery technique have any effect on healing the symptoms someone under a magic drugs effect?』

「Magic drugs? No, it one only heals wounds」

『Then how did Velmeria wake up? Isn't she suffering from the after-effects of the magic drugs?』

「Master, maybe it's because she haven't taken the magic drugs for long enough right? She had just been taken, hadn't she?」

Although a large amount of magic drugs was used to manipulate her mind, the aftereffects may have been small due to the short period of time it was administered. The amount of magic drugs that accumulated in her body was probably very small.

「.....Thanks for the help, you two」

I'm sure he meant what he said. Ashwrath is wounded to the bone. The wound itself has healed, but the drain on his magic and life force has not yet recovered. In addition, the demonization has progressed considerably. The mental exhaustion must be more than we can imagine.

「She was a bit of a strong opponent. I don't know what I would have done without you guys」

『That's our line. If it weren't for Ashwrath, the damage would have been much worse. Well, I wouldn't say the damage was small though.....』

It's a pretty extensive wasteland. Half of the noble's district is probably in this state. I'm sure that none of the remaining mansions are undamaged. In addition, there was no trace of the huge castle that had been standing there as the symbol of the country.

There are also the suicide bombings of pseudo fanatic swords in civilian areas and slums, and the damage done to this royal city must be unimaginably huge.

『Still, we were able to defeat the Fanatics, thanks to Ashwrath』

「Yeah」

「Well, I guess it's mutual then. However, I've gone a little overboard. I'd better get the hell out of here」

『Eh? Ashwrath?』

「I'll take the little girl, okay?」

『Wha-wait a moment! What do you mean?』

Sheathing Gaia, Ashwrath carries the still-unawake Velmeria on his shoulders. He means he's leaving like that? And with Velmeria with him?

But Forrund seemed to agree with him.

「It's for the good of this country」

I don't know what Forrund's words mean. For the good of the country?

「Well, if I do say so myself, this battle caused a lot of damage. I'm not saying that I'm not to blame. But, you see, if a country tries to capture me and bring me to the courts, it won't just end up being this country's problem」

Ashwrath and Forrund explain it to me. In other words, it seems that the existence of Ashwrath is too big for them.

Let's say they've captured Ashwrath for the destruction of the royal capital. And make him pay for his crime. But that's the hard part.

First of all, a death penalty is out of the question. If he were in a danger of dying, the mad demonization will just be triggered on its own and cause great damage again. He can't even kill himself.

They can't even enslave him. He will also be protected by mad demonization. Unless if Ashwrath is willing to serve on his own. But how can this country would use a monster that could go on a rampage at any moment?

If Ashwrath wanted to, he could probably do most of it. But it comes with a super-strong bomb with a time limit waiting until it explodes. If it explodes, it will wipe several cities off the map. And no one knows when the time limit will come. If there is a politician who wants to keep this in his country, he is either a fool or a madman.

Then send them to the enemy? That is also out of the question. They can't let Ashwrath get involved in a war. If they do that, the Adventurers' Guild will turn against them. If the guild, which takes the stance of not being involved in wars, were to use its rank S adventurers to a war, they would do whatever they could to destroy the country in order to save face. Otherwise, the organization pride itself would be tarnished.

No, it was a problem before that too. In the first place, it was difficult to unilaterally accuse Ashwrath of a crime.

This incident, in large part, was a coup d'état by Marquis Ashtner. Many adventurers have lost their lives, and the responsibility for overseeing them lies with the country. Depending on their point of view, Ashwrath's fight to stop Marquis Ashtner's trump card could be said to have saved the country.

If they charge Ashwrath with a crime, the Adventurers' Guild will come to his defense. If the country opposed it, a conflict would break out between the two. It was the country that would lose out.

Furthermore, the neighbouring countries would also react sensitively to the situation. After all, Ashwrath possessed a divine sword. It was not surprising for them to think, for the Kingdom of Kranzel wanted that divine sword.

Instead of reparations. Or to take it away after his death penalty. Whether it was feasible or not, just being told that that was what they were aiming for could have been a lead to diplomatic problem.

On the other hand, what if they put all the blame on Marquis Ashtner and hold up Ashwrath as the hero of the nation's salvation? That's too, will become another problem. There is a possibility that they might think that they are trying to get rank S adventurers into their country.

Rather, this was more of a problem. The fact that they were trying to possess a superweapon could be seen as having some kind of ulterior motives.

After all, Ashwrath was an untouchable existence that was beyond their own power no matter how they handle him. The smartest thing to do would be to stay uninvolved with him. Even the Beast King had left him alone.

The safest course of action for both the Kingdom of Kranzel and Ashwrath would be for Ashwrath to voluntarily leave the country and be exiled.

When a mass destroyer with the nickname of "Friendly Fire" were to roam the world as usual, I guess all countries will respond in a similar way.

If this were anyone other than Ashwrath, this would not be happening. They will be captured and enslaved. No, the normal route would be execution.

In other words, Velmeria was at high risk of becoming one. She was the Count's concubine's child, and she didn't have a lot of power. Moreover, she was the party responsible for the greatest act of destruction. She was not going to go unpunished.

To be honest, I have no ill feelings toward Velmeria. The residents of the royal capital would probably have a different opinion, but all I felt was pity. I think she was just caught in the middle of it, she was dealing with a marquis and a divine sword that had spent forty years preparing for this. I don't think they could have gotten away with it. If Ashwrath was willing to help her, then I was fine with that.

『Please take care of Velmeria』

「I guess this something i have to do. You can leave her to me. I won't let anything bad happen to her」

『I was hoping you'd go see Fran too though』

「That will be difficult. Well, Se you soon then」

When she wakes up, Fran must be disappointed.

『Where are you going?』

「I was originally planned to follow Zelos Reed to the continent of Gordisia. It's the perfect place to hide her daughter, and I'll be hunting demon beast on that continent for a while」

『Is Zelos Reed on the continent of Gordisia?』

「I'm just saying it's highly possible he might be there」

The continent of Gordisia is recruiting talented warriors to fight against the Rank S demonic beasts, and it seems that if you are strong enough, your past history wouldn't be an issue. It is said to be the last place criminals from all over the world flee to.

『I see』

「Then, I'm going? Master, Forrund, see you again」

「Yea」

『See ya』

Although he must not be in his top form, Ashwrath leaves with a firm steps. If it weren't for Velmeria on his shoulder, it would be a perfect picture.

He went to different direction from the gate, but.....Well, I guess he'll find a way.

『Forrund, what will you do now?』

「I'm going to guild master」

『I see. Then I'll go with you. I mean, I'd appreciate it if you could carry me. If i stay like this, I'll looks like a sword that flies and moves on its own』

「Yeah, understood」

His wound finally healed, but he's still dizzy, Forrund carried me on his back and started walking toward the main gate.

Chapter 463: The Images Forrund Saw

After sending Ashwrath off, I was moving along with Forrund on his back.

『Hey, It's about Ashwrath, but can't we just say that the country or something made the request in advance? That way, the country can say that they anticipated the coup and took countermeasures in advance? It would protect their prestige a little』

Fran actually did so in the beastman country. But Forrund shook his head.

(If it weren't for Ashwrath-dono, that might not be a problem. But when it comes to that man, it's a different story)

『Because he have a divine sword huh?』

(Rather, it is probably because he specializes in mass destruction. In the case of Ashwrath-dono, most of his anecdotes are about mass destruction and genocide. Of course, most of the stories were told on the battlefield, and many of the older anecdotes have been passed down as heroic tales.....)

The fact that he favored Ashwrath, who could destroy a country by himself, would be called ambitious in the first place. In peace times, they might not have cared so much. Other countries would have had the option of treating Ashwrath with diplomatic excuses.

However, the Kingdom of Kranzel, whose major cities, the Royal Capital and Barbra, were damaged one after the other, had suffered a major blow to its national power and prestige. In this situation, it was dangerous to do anything that would antagonize other countries. Especially with the ambitious kingdom of Raidos in the north, relations with other countries would be important.

(Of course, it is possible that the government's decision may be different. It's just that Ashwrath-dono has made that decision.....If he turn himself in, he may have a trouble with the government. But if he walks away without saying a word, nothing in particular will happen. The latter would be the safer option)

『Such a thing huh...』

(Yeah, it's a shame, though)

I never think what Ashwrath and Forrund have thought of? Besides, they've been doing this for decades. I'm sure that Ashwrath himself knows best what to do.

In the first place, I don't think that Ashwrath, who fought against a terrorist and stop them was guilty.

(No, even though it was an act of force majeure (1), he attacked the royal castle where the king resides and caused great damage to the noble town. How can he not be charged with a crime?)

I have a soft spot for Ashwrath, so my judgment may be a little bit on Ashwrath's side. Let's cool down a bit and try to put this into Japanese perspective.

One day, a defective super robot weapons owned by the Self-Defense Force was manipulated by a terrorist suddenly appears and starts wreaking havoc in Tokyo. They unleash beams and missiles, and if left unchecked, Japan will be in danger! Just then, the same type of Super Robot #2 appears. Super Robot #2 uses the same super weapons to defeat the terrorist robots. However, the area around the Tokyo Metropolitan Government was burnt to ashes, and hundreds of people lost their lives.....

Yeah, it's bad. If the pilot of No. 2 appeared on the side of justice, there would be many people throwing stones on him. The internet would go up in flames, and there would be far more people who would be against it than support for it.

No, I don't think I can use modern Japan as comparison in the first place. This is an aristocratic country, not a law-abiding country. After all, it might be better to just walk away and avoid the commotion. Well, Ashwrath has already left, so there's no point in thinking about it any more.....

『Haaah, let's change the mood and see my changes after cannibalism』

Then I checked my status and let out an involuntary squeal of surprise.

『Ugghhh?』

「Hmmm?」

『No, sorry. Don't mind me』

「Very well」

My ability had grown much more than I had imagined. To my surprise, my magic power had increased by 5000. That's almost 1.5 times more. My endurance value had also increased by more than 3000.

I had eaten the divine sword, even though it was nearly broken. Perhaps this much was natural. And it wasn't just the ability value that I gained from the cannibalism.

I had added a new skill to my skill set called Magic Power Supply. This is a skill that allows you to share your magic power with your user. Fran had always been able to draw out my magic power, but with this new skill, she would be able to reduce her losses and increase her efficiency significantly.

As I check my abilities in this way, I soon see a line of people being evacuated. The one leading the people in the hall is Count Baileys. I can also see Eliante and Colbert.

Fran's presence was already outside the city. It seems that Urushi has went exactly like what i told him to.

(Master, I'd like to report to the Count. Do you mind?)

『I think it's better that way too』

The evacuation of the people will proceed in vain if we do not inform them of what is going on. I don't know if there is no more danger in the city, but we should tell them that we have killed the Marquis and the Fanatics.

So Forrund approached the counts who were desperately trying to take command. Eliante was the first one to notice us. She called out to Forrund with an anxious expression. Count Bailleys soon approached as well.

「Forrund! So, you're safe!」

「Yeah」

「So what happened.....? I can't hear any battle anymore.....」

「It's over」

「Does this mean that Ashwrath-dono has won?」

「Yeah」

Oh, no. He can't make a proper report with Forrund's complexity to talk! Telepathy. I'm used to it with Fran, so leave this to me.

「Ashwrath has won. Marquis Ashtner has fallen. The swordsmen under his command blew themselves up and died」

『Oi, there's more to it than that. Report properly!』

(It can't be helped. I can't speak any more fluently than what I already do)

I guess it was hard for him to come up with long lines out of nowhere! But you have to do your best here.

「What happened to the girl who was fighting Ashwrath-dono?」

「Ashwrath defeated her」

「! Is-is that so.....」

「And Ashwrath is?」

Even if we were to tell the Count the truth, there are too many people's ears in this place. I'm sorry for the Count's shock at hearing of his daughter's death, but please bear with it for a little while longer.

「Forrund?」

Eliante and Colbert were looking at Forrund with puzzled expressions. After all, it seemed strange to see the normally quiet Forrund talking for so long.

Still, Forrund did his best and managed to convey the information we knew to the Count and the others. Based on this information, the Count and the others began to discuss the situation in the city and how to guide the evacuation in the future. I guess we can leave the rest to them.

『Then, Forrund. Let's head to Fran』

「Okay」

As Forrund turns himself around, Eliante rushes to keep him back.

「Hold on! Where are you going? I was hoping you could help me with this, if you don't mind」

Forrund shook his head and put his hand lightly on my back. Eliante must have seen me before. He is looking at me lightly.

「Return Fran's swords」

「That swords is...」

「He leave it to me」

「I-is...that so. Then it can't be helped」

「Yeah」

Eliante looked sad. Colbert was also drooping for some reason. Oh, did they think I'm dead? The way Forrund said it, it was like my last wish when i was about to die.

But before I could get him to correct it, Forrund had left the. Well, we'll have to correct him later.

On the road, I asked Forrund a question that had been bothering me.

『Hey, what kind of information about me were you able to analyze with the love of the Sword God skill?』

Then Forrund answer back with a difficult look.

(Normally, I'd be able to learn more about the maker and the sword's capabilities, but this time, I just saw a strange sight)

『A strange sight?』

(.....That was the scene where a man is led by someone and sealed inside a sword that emits an evil aura. The sword seemed to resemble Master's, but the details were a little different)

『Wha-What kind of sword was that?』

(The blade and other parts of the blade were very similar to Master's, but the design of the handle was different. I think it was a four-sided woman shape, not a wolf)

No doubt about it. It's the cherubim. I'm not sure what the aura of evil is, but it's a dangerous divine sword that the gods ordered to be destroyed. Maybe it has something to do with that. And the scene where the man is enclosed in it is.....

『Wh-what did the man look like?』

(Fumu...)

(He was a simple man with no distinctive features other than his black hair and black eyes. In fact, the fact that he was so plain might be a characteristic of him)

『I-is that so...』

My heart aches.....But I'm pretty sure it's me.

『Maybe that was me』

(Was Master originally a person?)

『Yeah. I was the human soul that is sealed inside this sword. Well, I'm not exactly sure who did this to me though』

If I talk to Forrund in detail, he might be able to tell me who else was involved in my making besides Elmera.

『What did it look like?』

(You don't remember?)

『Yeah, not at all. So, I need to know』

(I see. But I didn't see everything either. It's like I was looking through a haze, like a vision)

『I'm okay with that』

(Then. The first thing I saw was the three pillars)

『Three pillars? Not three persons?』

That's a pretty exaggerated word.

(This is what happens when a god or his family is involved with the sword I analyze, but the analysis doesn't work and I can only see strange sights)

『You think that's what happened when you touched me?』

(That's right. A disturbing image appeared in my mind, a god, or three people who seemed to be his family members, were having a conversation with Master)

『Do you know what they says?』

(I'm sorry. It's just, the Master was smiling)

Apparently, there was no sound in his vision. Still, it must be a big clue. I asked Forrund to explain as much as he could remember.

The location is unknown. The image seemed to be as if the characters were floating in the sky. There were three characters, but their faces were unknown. But they looked like women. Are they goddesses, or are they members of a female-formed deity?.....

I was brought in by one of them, and after some conversation, I was enclosed in the sword. To Forrund, it looked as if I had agreed to it of my own free will, as I smiled.

(Then a strange thing happened. One of the goddesses held up her hand, and a strange image appeared in the air, as if it had been pulled out of Master)

(I didn't see Master in that sight.....I'm looking up at an amazingly tall, rectangular tower of buildings in a neat row. Maybe the owner of that gaze is lying on the ground. But it looked like he was badly injured. Because when I moved my gaze, I could see his body and hands covered in blood)

Could that be a memory from when I died? Actually, that part is fuzzy. I remember being hit by a car, but then I found myself in a sword and.....

(I also saw a scene where he was staring at a woman in a beautiful dress on a bed, and another scene where he was walking hand in hand with a young woman)

No, maybe it's not my memory. I don't remember it at all.

(Then, in a strange square board, a naked woman and a man are glamorously——) (2)

『Wha-wait stop!』

How to explain it. It's that thing. No, but this is an important clue. I can't just cut it off because I was embarrassed.....

『I'm sorry, keep going』

「Okay」

Forrund describes a few other scenes that he saw. Apparently, they were a memory of a meal or a movie, or sad memories of being rejected by a woman. The rest of the memories seemed to be sexy - well, erotic.

I don't remember any of them at all. No. Did God take my memory away? Is that why I have no memory? But even Forrund doesn't know the details he says. Considering the fact that I was smiling as I was sealed in the sword, it seems I had convinced myself.....

If it was a memory from the time of my death, it may still have some meaning, but I don't see the point of taking away other memories as well.

(The rest, yes...I see a coat of arms)

『Coat of arms?』

(Yes, the gods have their own symbols, and the three women wore emblems representing those symbols)

Forrund saw that it was a symbol of three pillars: The Goddess of Chaos, the Goddess of the Silver Moon, and the Goddess of the Underworld.

『So you're saying that it was those three goddesses or their families that created me?』

(I think so)

Hmmm, I guess I'll have to find out more about these goddesses. I've heard of them by name, but I don't know much more about them.

(However, Master is a great sword)

『Why not? No, I'm a discarded divine sword, if I do say so myself, and I'm sure i was a great sword, but...』

(Even if it is a divine sword, it only has the power of one pillar. But if the will of three pillars is involved, then that's ridiculous isn't it? For what purpose was it created?)

『That's what I'd like to know too』

Chapter 464: Curry Upon Waking Up

Ten minutes after we leave the Count and Eliante.

With my guidance, Forrund had reached Fran. This is where the non-combatants of the Adventurer's Guild gather.

Fran and Gallus were lying on a blanket on the ground, and beside them, Eihwaz was sitting on a chair he had brought from somewhere. In his hand was a destroyed pseudo fanatic sword. He seemed to be observing them.

And that wasn't all. There was a bundle of documents in Eihwaz's hand. He seemed to be comparing the documents with the pseudo fanatic sword. I took a quick peek and saw a drawing of a pseudo fanatic sword. Could it be that he had taken some kind of research material from somewhere? I'd like to have a look at it later.

(Is here fine?)

『Yeah, Thanks for helping me』

Forrund put me next to Fran.

『Fran, Fran』

「.....Shu—Shuu—」

Still no good huh. She's sleeping with an innocent face. There is nothing wrong with her body, and she will wake up naturally when she recovers from fatigue.

Next to us, Forrund is explaining the situation to Eihwaz.

「Hmm? the Hundred Swords huh? Is it Over?」

「Yeah」

「Is that so. Then, what happened? Did the friendly fire win?」

「Yeah」

As expected from an elder wisdom. He let him answer with yes or no to his questions and get the exact information about what happened.

Stellia was also listening, but she didn't seem to have the guts to interfere in the conversation between Eihwaz and Forrund.

Well, I'll leave Forrund to deal with Eihwaz.

『Urushi, good job』

(woof!)

I also give a word of encouragement to Urushi, who is resting in the shadow of Fran. Then, Urushi let out a pitiful voice.

(Kuun)

Groowl!!!

Hmmm, he's just hungry huh. But, come to think of it, he hadn't eaten in a long time. It was no wonder that Urushi complained of hunger. It's a good thing he didn't pick up and eat anything on the ground or steal from the burning residence.

『Haah, it can't be helped then. Urushi, hide me from the eyes around us』

Urushi jumped out from Fran's shadow and quickly made a blind with his dark magic. In the meantime, I took out a bowl of very hot curry and served it to Urushi. He didn't take part in much of the battle this time, but he had done his best to protect Fran. I guess he needs a reward.

『Don't spill anything okay』

「What? Where the hell did that came out from? No, if it's dark magic, he can hide in the shadows.....」

Eihwaz is tilting his head, but he doesn't seem to be suspicious of him. Forrund must already know that I did something, but it's probably too late now.

「woof woof!」

As Urushi devours the extra large and extremely spicy curry makes his mouth all red, Fran, who is lying next to him, cringes.

First her nose moved a little, followed by her ears twitching. Then her eyes fluttered open.

「Muh...Curry smells...」

「Urushi...Curry...unfair...」

She just woke up.....Eh? Isn't the power of curry amazing? No, is Fran's eating behaviour that amazing? Well, I guess it's because she was stimulated by the aroma of her favorite food when she had recovered from fatigue.

「Master.....Curry...」

『Fran! There's another people here!』

(Nn. Curry)

『Yes yes, I'll give you too, here』

「Nn...Nom Nom」

I'm going to serve her a very large curry, pretending that Fran took it out. It's topped with pork cutlet and fried chicken. It doesn't matter if she's fully awake or not. This is really a piece of cake for Fran.

「Munch Munch」

「Oofu Oofu」

「Hey, What is it?」

Eihwaz is looking at Fran, who has just woken up from sleep and started to shovel in a mysterious dish with a spicy aroma. His eyes were curious. There was no way that the curiosity monster, Eihwaz, would not be interested in curry.

「Hmm? Is it delicious?」

「It's super delicious」

「Hohou」

Fran turns away lightly to hide her curry from Eihwaz's intense gaze.

『Fran, why don't you share one with Eihwaz?』

(Muh)

『Don't look so unhappy. This time you've been taken care by Eihwaz. Even after Fran went to bed』

「...Understood」

Still reluctant, Fran placed a small serving of curry in front of Eihwaz.

「Want some」

「Umu. With pleasure! Fumu Fumu?」

Eihwaz observed the curry he received with great interest, and after sniffing it lightly, he began to eat it immediately.

「Houhou! This is interesting! And It's delicious!」

He began to gobble up the food, but his tongue was apparently much more sensitive than I had imagined. No, He's good at handling medicine, so it was natural for him, right?

「The spices used are 8.....or 9 kinds? I'm guessing four kinds of vegetables in a broth made by boiling the bones of a pork-based demon beast」

He has completely guessed the material. If I'm not good enough, he might be able recreate it, right?

「Don't worry. I won't spread the recipe. But you don't mind if I make enough for my own consumption, do you?」

Well, if it's only that much then. Forrund is looking at Eihwaz with envy. I can't not serve it only to him in this situation. I gave him a large portion of it. After all, Fran also seems to have a good opinion of Forrund.

As everyone was eating the curry, I told her the story since Fran had fallen asleep.

(...Muuh)

(In the end, I was useless)

『That was inevitable. Besides, we're not directly gotten into the fight with Velmeria』

(But, Forrund fight alongside with Master)

Fran's mouth furrowed in sulk.

『That was.....only possible because of Forrund's special abilities.
Besides, that guy almost died too. It was a real gamble』

(...Master)

『What is it?』

(Is Forrund strong?)

『Ah, yeah』

(I see...)

Could this be that she's jealous? I'm sure there are a lot of emotions swirling around inside Fran. The disappointment of missing out on a battle with a powerful enemy. The disappointment of not being able to play a role in that fight. But more than that, she seemed to be jealous of the fact that Forrund and I had fought together.

The rest are, strangely uneasy.

(I'm still weak.....I couldn't fight to the end. Unlike Forrund.....)

Apparently, she is worried that people will compare her to Forrund. I understand that feeling. I'm also afraid that Fran will compare me to the divine sword.

『Forrund had abilities like my telekinesis, and he was a trustworthy guy.
That's for sure』

(Nn.....)

『But Fran is still the best for me. I can't tell you how many times I wished to had Fran on that fight. I realized how weak I am without you』

(Master is not weak!)

『Surely, I may be stronger than an ordinary sword. But with Fran, I can be even stronger. Because it's Fran who understands me the most, and who can bring out the best of me』

This is not a consolation or anything. It's just something I've thought about a lot.

『I'm going to get stronger and even stronger to become a sword worthy for you』

Fran's goal is to break the curse of the entire Black Cat tribe so that everyone can evolve and improve the status of the Black Cat tribe. In other words, it is to defeat the evil being of threat level S.

That meant, defeating an enemy that was more than just the transcendents I had just witnessed.

As it is now, it is just a dream. But I don't think Fran will ever give up. And I am confident that Fran will continue to grow and one day reach that level.

In order to continue to be worthy of being Fran's sword, I need to become even stronger than I already am. This time, by cannibalizing the Fanatics, I was able to greatly strengthen my magic power. The next step would be to learn the skills and how to use them.

『Fran, we're getting stronger. But there's still someone stronger than us, and there's a lot of people we can't beat if we keep doing what we're doing. Not me, and even not you can』

(Nn)

『So let's be stronger』

(Understood! So, go training?)

『That's right. I have magic stone value. Fran, has experience point. Let's train in order to get more than we have now. Fortunately, I know a good place』

(Where?)

『The place where it all began for me. The Plains of the Demon Wolf. We had to go there once anyway. So, let's do some training there』

(Nn! I'll get stronger and even stronger. Next time, I'll fight with Master until the very end!)

Well, that would be when the commotion in the royal capital have calmed down.

Chapter 466: Relief

By the time Fran had finished her curry, the talks between Eihwaz and Forrund had just come to an end.

「In other words, the fights brought down the Count's daughter, and the friendly fire had already left to avoid trouble」

「Yea」

「I see.....Well, the damage was only concentrated on the nobles district, and for a monsters of that level to fight, the damage was rather small, wasn't it?」

Oh, I see? It seems that Forrund is on the same opinion. He nodded at Eihwaz's words.

「There was a lot of damage」

「Hmm. If he were not careful, there will be more damage to the surrounding areas, including the royal capital. But the fact that only a part of the city was leveled, I'd say the damage was less than expected」

I see..... But even so, it was clear that the damage was enormous. There must have been some injured, and many people must have lost their property.

Eihwaz is the one who says these words out loud when he doesn't even know who's around to hear him.

「Huh. I wonder what's going to happen to the royal capital」

Stellia's expression was gloomy.

「Besides, if the Marquis were to revolt, there would be a great deal of confusion..... There's been quite a few injuries and deaths」

When Fran heard Stellia's words, she stood up.

(Master, let's go)

『Where to>』

You're not trying to go into training right now, are you? Even though you're awake, you're not fully recovered yet. If possible, I'd like you to rest a little longer.

(Helping the injured)

『Uuumm.....』

That would be hard work. It requires magic and physical strength. It's not a job for a sick person. But Fran is saying that she wants to help people on her own volition. I can't stop her.

『.....very well. Then let's go to Eliante first』

If there is a place where the wounded are being collected, we can go there. We must also hurry to rescue the injured who have not yet been found, but the guild and the knights will do their best on that.

However, there is one problem.

『What should we do about Gallus huh...』

(Bring him on Urushi's back)

『No, that's not going to happen』

The unconscious Gallus is quite weak. It will be difficult to take him around. So far, we've forced him to evacuate, but we can't force him any further.

「Muh...」

「I want to go help the injured. But I can't take Gallus with me」

「Master Gallus' body is in pretty bad shape. And I wonder what will happen to him in the future.....」

Stellia, who had been watching Gallus, sighed in annoyance. In fact, I wonder how much of a crime Gallus will be charged with? Even though he was manipulated by the power of a magic drugs and a divine sword, he also caused a lot of damage with the pseudo fanatic sword that he seems to have been involved in making.

Will there be excuses? Or will he be declared a felony? The law and political decisions will have a lot to do with it, and I have no idea.

「Regardless of what happens, your request is still valid, and even without it, I won't treat the current Master Gallus disrespectfully. Don't worry, the Adventurer's Guild will protect him well」

「She's right」

Forrund nodded along with her. So did Eihwaz.

「I think it would be a waste of time to punish him in the midst of all this chaos, would it? It would be better to ingratiate him and make him work for the country」

I see, does that make a point huh?

「And my employers have sent me to protect him. You can trust me. There's no one else who can cure the potion. Leave him to me」

『Fran, I don't trust Eihwaz, but I do trust Forrund and Stellia. Let's let the guild take care of Gallus』

「.....Understood」

Fran seemed convinced. She nodded slightly, staring at Eihwaz.

「Stellia, I'm counting on you」

「Yeah. Take care of everyone there too」

We then headed to Eliante and she showed us where the injured were being housed.

Apparently, there were several different locations. The first aid station for the injured we went to looked like a field hospital.

Parmachist, Magician, and alchemists are running around, desperately healing the injured. Everyone looks exhausted, but they seem to be doing their best by drinking magic recovery potions.

(Master, let's go)

『Yeah, well, we'll have to talk to whoever's in charge first』

(Okay)

If a child suddenly appeared and started using recovery magic, it would only confuse them. It was one of the court doctors who was giving instructions to everyone here.

They seems to be medical specialists with expertise in medicine, recovery magic and alchemy. It is said that all of them, except for the chief physician, go around to rescue the people by order of the king.

The woman who was showing me around called out to the busy court doctor man.

「Excuse me—」

「Hmm, is there any problem?」

「No, this girl here offered to help」

「Hou? You seem to be an adventurer. Can you use recovery magic?」

「Nn」

「That's good to hear! Because right now we need as many healers as possible! How much of the technique you can use?」

「I can make it up to the Greater Heal」

「What? So you're a healing magic user? Re-really?」

「Nn」

「Ooh! Wonderful!」

I was afraid that she would be rejected because he seemed to have a lot of pride, but he accepted us easily. But this is not the time to be worrying about pride now.

「Can you take a look at the most urgent patients first? I'll prepare as many mana potions as I can!」

「Understood」

Then, we flew around to the first aid stations inside and around the capital, healing patients. If it wasn't us, they would have run out of magic, but thanks to the harvest after cannibalizing the Fanatics, my magic power was greatly increased. Fran healed patients at a rate that amazed the court doctors around the city.

In the latter half of it, they were quite worried about us. Apparently, they thought she was overexerting herself by guzzling few mana potions.

If we include the people we rescued from the piles of rubble along the way, we must have healed over 500 people. Many of those who were healed stayed on to help at the relief station, and some even clasped their hands in worship when Fran came back again.

Apparently, she was recognized as a girl from the black cat tribe who devoted herself to healing people. However, she didn't have time to respond to them individually, and could only wave lightly.

And then, she was starting to get tired, but her motivation was still at its peak. She is happy to save everyone and to be thanked.

『Are you sure you don't want to take a little break?』

Chapter 466: Those Who Inherit the Will

It was midnight and Fran had finally returned to the guild.

Fran had planned to work a little harder, but the court physician had begged her to rest.

The emergency patients have been healed for now, and the first aid station can now be run by people other than Fran alone. Surely, Fran could take it easy now.

However, when Fran tried to enter the guild, three men stood in front of her.

I think, they were a small fry, they didn't even know how to hide their presence, but he seems to have some business with Fran.

「Oi! So, you're the rumoured black cat kin healer!」

The small fat man in the middle spoke to her in a haughty manner.

「You use recovery magic to heal the commoners, don't you?」

「Nn」

「Rejoice. I will welcome you as a vassal to my baronial family! From now on, you may use that power only for my benefit!」

Recruitment, No, an order huh? But, with his attitude, I don't think anyone would say 「I'll be your vassal!」 Well, he doesn't seem like a good nobleman.

「I heard you're treating the commoners for free now! If you come to me, you won't have to do that anymore! You can do business with nobles and merchants」

「You can only use your healing power on those I choose! There are many who would like to benefit from powerful healing magic. You can raise the price as high as you like. With the help of my family's backing, you'll have no shortage of business partners. Oh, and don't worry, I promise you'll get plenty in return」

「What about those who can't afford it?」

「I don't care about the poor. A few deaths of people who can't afford medical treatment won't affect the tax revenue either!」

Oh, he's such an idiot huh. He tried to get Fran with money. If he had gathered the information properly, he would have known that Fran was actually refusing to accept gifts from the patients.

More to the point, I can tell that he is a typical idiot noble, and with his haughty attitude, I can't tell if it's a recruitment or an order. I can see that even his guards have a dumbfounded look on their faces.

「Don't you want to continue to work in vain like you did today?」

Fran is quite angry, isn't she? I would have ignored him if he hadn't recruited her with just his slightly haughty manner. But she's tired, and she's not in the mood to be make fun off.

But Fran was furious with this guy for his comments about devaluing the weak.

(...Kill him)

『Wait! Wait wait! I understand your feelings, but you shouldn't kill him!』

(He says I saved them all for nothing. Everyone was so happy. Now I can help others too.....That's why!)

Oh, this is pretty bad. Fran is angry. I guess she feels like what she cares about were being tarnished.

At this rate, she might seriously cut him down. I have no choice but to use my telekinesis here.

「Oi」

「Muh? Colbert?」

「The nobleman there. This girl is currently employed by Count Bailleys. If you want to recruit her, you'll have to go through the Count, won't you?」

Oh, he's right, the contract has not been terminated yet. Formally, Fran was still being employed by the Count.

In this situation though, has become more than just a raid on the Marquis' house.

「What? Bailleys...?」

「That's right」

「Ha, haha. I'll take the responsibility for it」

「So, you will force yourself to recruit the girl? And ignore the Count?」

「Ugh.....」

The baron and his guards were visibly flustered. The Baron, who was incompetent by all accounts, and the Count, who was one of the country's most prominent warriors, although there was no telling what would happen in the future. It would be a no-win situation no matter how you look at it.

When the baron glanced at the two guards, the men shook their heads to the side with blue faces. They seem to know that they can't take her by force.

I don't think these guys can see what Colbert is capable of, but they probably knew about Colbert from the beginning.

In the end, the Baron run away and was not cut down by Fran.

「I was just in time huh」

「...Nn」

「What's the matter? You look unhappy」

「He got away」

「Oi oi, There are going to be a lot of guys like that coming out to you. If you beat them all up, you'll be on the wanted list in no time. Just ignore them」

Yeah. Tell her that!.

「Oh, I also have something to do. The Count has a message for you. I'm sorry for everything that's happened. The contract is considered complete at this point. However, you may mention Bailleys' name to refuse any recruitment from other nobles」

That's helpful. It'll keep them away while we were in the royal capital. Well, it would lose its effectiveness if Count Bailleys house was destroyed though.

「I'll go then? There's still a lot of work left for me to do」

「Nn」

「.....I'm sorry, about Master Curry」

Oh, that's right, I still haven't cleared up the misunderstanding. Colbert must think that I was dead after fighting Velmeria.

「He was a good man.....」

『Fran, Colbert is under the impression that I'm dead. You have to clear the misunderstanding』

「Master is not dead.」

When Fran said that, Colbert gave a confused look for a moment and then quickly nodded with a look of realization on his face.

「Yeah. You're right」

「Nn」

「As long as there's someone to carry on the will, that person hasn't die yet」

Aah. She didn't clear up the misunderstanding at all

But before I could get Fran to correct it again, Colbert had left.

「.....Colbert looks weird」

『Next time we meet him, we have to make sure to tell him properly』

Chapter 467: Letter from the North

After parting with Colbert, we were about to enter the guild.

「Ungh」

Fran pulled herself up and took a step to the side from in front of the door. Immediately after that, something flew out of the door with tremendous force.

It rolled along the ground and stopped in the middle of the road.

「Ugh...」

It was something, or rather, a person. An adventurer. And quite strong. I'd say he's at least a rank C. I appraise him, he's just unconscious. But I don't think he'll die.

「Ga, Gareth! Are you okay!」

The adventurer who blew up, Gareth, is followed by another man, this time a small fat man, who comes running out. I wonder if he's one of the fellow adventurers. What in the world is going on in the Adventurer's Guild?

「Muh, blood thirst?」

『Could it be an attack by the Marquis' remnants?』

「Nn. Let's go!」

『Be careful!』

Fran cautiously opened the door to the guild———.

「Look what you've done in this emergency, wasting our time with your nonsense! The theater's been destroyed, and we're all in despair! You should be thankful you're not dead!」

It seemed that Eliante was the one who was letting out the blood thirst. She was shaking his purple hair and glaring at the entrance of the guild with the expression of a madman.

「What happened?」

「Oh, Fran? I'm sorry. I kind of mistook you for those idiots.」

「The ones who just walked out?」

「That's right. They've wasted so much time!」

She's pretty angry, and her eyes glared fiercely.

「What happened?」

「Those guy———」

Still angry, Eliante quickly rambled on about what the men had just done.

From what I could summarize, the fat man's name was Desla. He seems to be the guild master of an inn town near the royal capital.

He came in himself, bringing adventurers and relief supplies with him. He's an enthusiastic guild master about his work.....

It seems that the guild master has always wanted to be the guild master of the royal capital. He also doesn't like the fact that Eliante, a woman, is in charge of such an important place.

As a result, he was always sarcastic when they met, but today it didn't end well. Desla was accusing Eliante of being responsible for the incident and pressuring her to step down from her position.

In addition, he went on and on about how 「It's not suitable for a woman」 and 「The adventurers are pitiful when a woman is their guild master」. To top it all off, he even threatened her with a rank C adventurer.

「Threatening Eliante?」

And a rank C? No, there are rank C's like Fran, but.....That guy was quite worthy for rank C no matter how you look at it, and he threatened Eliante with him?

「He thought that a woman from a mercenary background was no big deal? Well, I made him pay for it!」

So that's what happened to the man before huh.

「Guild Master, What should we do?」

A man under her command asks Eliante how she would like to treat them. But Eliante, finally feeling refreshed, dismisses the men with a light wave of her hand.

「Let's just leave the idiot who tried to confuse the situation by saying something stupid in this emergency situation alone. He may look like a big shot, but the rest of the Guild masters don't like him, and if we reported him, he'll be dismissed anyway」

「Very well」

Fran, who was not interested in the situation, didn't hear Eliante's words at all. Right now, Fran's interest was in Eliante's hair.

「Why is your hair color changing?」

Yes, Eliante's hair is usually blue, but it seems to change to purple in battle. And it's still purple even now.

「Oh, this? It's called "battle colors". I've inherited a little bit of it from my parents. It changes color when I'm in a hostile mood」

It seems that not all insect-kin are like that, but only some of them. Furthermore, there are large individual differences among half-insect kin, and even if they inherit the power of the same kind of insect, their abilities and appearance are said to differ greatly.

「 Sometimes they transform into combat form, sometimes they don't change their appearance at all 」

「 Like the mercenaries in the square? 」

「 You met them? Yes, that's right 」

The hard shrimp and the locusts are apparently the type that usually look more like humans, but transform when they want to show off their abilities. The dragonfly and clam are usually characterized as insect, but they don't transform any more. And the fanged ants are said to have a human-like appearance and do not transform at all.

「 Eliante's Friend? 」

「 .....Well, old friends, I guess 」

Actually, I've heard a bit of a story about them. It seems that she is a survivor of a mercenary group that was wiped out. It would be better if I didn't mention it too much.

『 Fran, in the meantime, you can dismiss my death theory 』

「 Eliante, Master is—— 」

「 Guild Master! A hawk has arrived! 」

As if to interrupt Fran's words, a man came down from the second floor of the guild and shouted. In his hand, he holds a letter. It's a little crumpled, as if he's excited. It seems to have been carried by a messenger hawk from elsewhere.

「 From where? 」

「From the northern border. The sender is——Allesa's Guild Master」

「! Maybe it's about Raidos?」

「Yes! A force believed to be a reconnaissance unit from the Kingdom of Raidos attempted to cross the border, and the Knights of Alessa went to intercept them」

Seriously? Isn't the timing too good? Could it be that the Fanatics were also connected to the Kingdom of Raidos?

「And then! What happened!」

「Y-yes. The knights were accompanied by rank B adventurer Jean Doobie, and they annihilated the forces of Raidos Kingdom!」

At that moment, the guild was filled with the admiration of the adventurers. And the cheers soon followed. Not a single adventurer seemed to think it was a lie.

No matter how well they work with the Knights, I don't think it's very likely that a rank B adventurer would be able to destroy a unit of the Raidos Kingdom by himself.

「Fuh. No wonder he killed them all!」

By the way, Jean was a disturbing nickname.

「Jean is amazing」

「He's a guy who's been granted a special rank of A in military battles. Even the main force that was supposed to be waiting after him can be buried single-handedly, so a reconnaissance unit is probably no match for him」

Apparently, that suspicious necromancer saved the Kingdom of Kranzel with a smirk.

「I'll take this report to the king! And you, tell to the citizens! We need at least one good news right now!」

When Eliante gave instructions to her men, she himself ran out of the guild.

『Hmmm. We lost our chance to clear up the misunderstanding again.....』

Chapter 468: The Fate of Crime and Punishment

Two days have passed since that fierce battle.

Although the capital was still in a state of unrest, it seemed that there were no more of the Marquis' men left. At the very least, there was no one who was organizing to revolt.

But it's not without conflict. A place to live, daily food, medicine. Everything was in short supply. It was impossible not to have trouble with this situation.

The most important thing is the living space. Tents were temporarily erected for the people who lost their homes, but there were not enough of them. One of the main reasons was that a small number of nobles occupied one tent. I thought they should be squeezed into the same tent, but apparently that's not the case.

Well, I understand that it would be rather torturous for commoners and nobles if they were forced into the same place. It would be better to just get a blanket and sleep on the side of the road.

However, it is said that even among nobles, if they don't differentiate the nobles based on their rank, it will be a problem. And it seems that noblemen are even more concerned with their prestige. A count and a baron cannot be given the same treatment. The fact that this was an emergency situation doesn't make them able to disregard it.

In the end, most of the commoners managed to get out of their tents as soon as they could, relying on their acquaintances for shelter.....Some of the nobles were so stupid that they started to complain about the tents that had been given to them and asked how they could stay in such a place.

Some nobles even tried to seize houses from commoners, using their power to their advantage, and skirmishes broke out. The rift between the commoners and the nobles only deepened.

Other than that, a strong dust cloud was also bothering the people. It was said to come from the wastelands of the former noble district, blown up by the wind. When we put up wind barrier in shelters and other places to prevent this, they were very pleased.

Well, the shortage of supplies will be alleviated somewhat as support should be sent from various places. It seems that we have already received food aid and more guards from neighbouring towns. From now on, supplies and manpower will be sent from all over the country.

Adventurers and soldiers have been sent out to clear away the rubble, and knights are working to maintain security.

The royal family also seemed to be safe, and they were conducting their affairs at a nobleman's villa in a residential area. I've often seen kings who stay behind in a castle on the verge of falling, saying, 「A king has a responsibility to protect his subjects!」 But unless he was as strong as the Beast King, that's a foolish idea. In all likelihood, it would be better for the country and its people if he escaped and quickly took charge of the reconstruction afterwards.

「Sorry I kept you waiting」

「I'm fine」

「Yeah」

We were currently visiting Count Bailleys. However, the Count's mansion has disappeared. He had taken up residence in a corner of the Knights' quarters.

I thought they would be dismissed or something, but apparently it was an emergency and they hadn't been told yet. That's where Fran and Forrund were called in.

「So, what do you want?」

「Yeah, I just thought I'd let you know how it went. I'd like to thank you all for all your help」

I have already told the Count that Velmeria is actually alive and that Ashwrath has taken her. His grief was great, but he understood that it was better than being dead. He said he would not go after him.

However, only Frederick, the half-dragon, had disappeared right after he heard about it. His allegiance was probably more to Velmeria than to the Count.

「I don't know where to start with.....As for Gallus-dono, he will not be blamed for this incident. But he will be under guard and surveillance for a while」

「Yeah. He had been manipulated and settled in a way that he was innocent. Well, we can't waste time punishing him in the middle of all this chaos」

「His Majesty the King, is a man who puts the interests of the nation first. Now that both national power and prestige have been damaged, any further damage will be impossible to be overlooked」

Well, there's the Kingdom of Raidos to the north, and there's no guarantee that the nobles won't betray the country this time. I'm sure they don't want to see their national power decline further in this state. But what does that have to do with Gallus?

「They say he's the closest being to a divine level blacksmith, and this time he's the blacksmith who actually touched the divine sword. It would be more beneficial to dismiss the charges and let him work for the country. Besides, there is the matter of the Adventurer's Guild」

Fran tilted her head, but Forrund seemed to get the idea.

「Gratitude」

「That's right. There are many adventurers in the royal capital who feel indebted to Gallus-dono. If we were to charge him with a crime, there would be many adventurers who would not find it amusing」

As was the case in Alessa, where we met Gallus, Gallus was traveling around the kingdom of Kranzel, selling his wares to adventurers at a discount. If he thought there was something worth seeing, he would make good equipment, even for lower-ranked adventurers.

It seems that many adventurers in the Kingdom of Kranzel are indebted to Gallus for his help when they were just starting out.

「This country is home to a large number of adventurers. The reason for this is that the country was originally able to attract adventurers who had been spirited away due to Raidos' misadventures, but it has since succeeded in settling them through policies that favor adventurers」

「Hee—」

「You doesn't know? It's rare to find a country with so many adventurers. In the first place, there are not many other countries that have five current rank A and more than ten former rank A. Well, the number has decreased.....」

We only know that the Kranzel Kingdom and the Beastman Kingdom Kings, were an adventurer himself, but it seems that there are very few countries where adventurers are treated so well. The taxes are especially low, making life easier for adventurers.

「Though, there's also the problem of how low the knights and soldiers level is. Well, that's okay」

I see. I guess there are many adventurers and not many opportunities for the knights to hunt magical beasts. Is that why it's so hard for the knights to raise their level?

Originally, the knights were mainly dealing with humans, but in this country, it seems that there is a clear distinction between the two.

「Anyway, in a country where adventurers have always had a strong presence, we will need to rely on them even more in the future. Inevitably, adventurers will become even more important」

In such a situation, they could never afford to spoil the adventurer's good mood. It was probably because of what Gallus had done so far that he had saved them.

Count Bailleys himself will not be punished too severely. Although he will be relieved of his position as Knight Commander, the Count's family will only be required to pay some money and provide some labor.

「I myself was prepared to have my territory taken away and to be placed in a camp.....」

They were unable to prevent the revolt and allowed mass destruction in the royal capital. Moreover, his daughter was the one who carried out the crime. As the leader of the knight order, he must think that he should take the responsibility.

However, the king's decision was different. He thought it would be more constructive to put all the blame on Marquis Ashtner and the Fanatics to calm the situation down quickly and let them work on the reconstruction afterwards, rather than causing more confusion by charging them with crimes or neglect of duty.

With the current shortage of manpower, I guess they avoided the folly of wasting their efforts on unnecessary things. This is monarch country, isn't it? To a certain extent, it can be controlled by the king.

If that was the case, wouldn't Velmeria be allowed to do the same? I thought so, but it wasn't that simple.

「My daughter has caused too much damage directly. What's more, she destroyed the royal castle. No matter how much she was being manipulated, it's not like she can be easily forgiven. And there were quite a few people who saw her」

Indeed, the damage caused by the self-destructing swordsmen and Velmeria was too great. In both monetary and human terms, Velmeria had gone too far.

「Eventually, the territories of the former Marquis Ashtner and his allies will be temporarily placed under the king direct control and will be redistributed」

In this way, they will be able to compensate the nobles for the losses they suffered this time.

「So, the two of you have actually received a summons from the king. You are requested to come to the mansion where he is holding his office today」

Huh? King? You mean the King?

「Don't you realize the influence you have?」

Originally, Forrund was the one who renowned as a hero, but it seems that Fran's fame has also grown as she has gone around healing people. Moreover, word quickly spread that Fran was the Black Lightning Princess who had won a prize in the Ulmut martial arts tournament.

Because of this, she is now as well known as Forrund in the capital.

We didn't know anything about it because we've been out clearing debris and stuff for the last two days where there no more people around. Even when we went out into the town, we were moving fast by teleporting and jumping in the air. There was almost no opportunity to be cheered on.

「And I heard that your master was helping Forrund?」

What's more, it seems that the story is spreading that Fran's master---that is me. gave up his life to save the capital. It was definitely the work of Eliante and Colbert. We've been too busy to clear up the misunderstanding, but I didn't expect this to happen.

「His Majesty said that he wanted to pay tribute to the heroes who saved the royal capital. Well, I guess he wants to show off his good relationship with the heroes to the people here」

Is there still politics involved huh?

「Aah. It's okay. His Majesty doesn't expect perfect courtesy from adventurers. In fact, the Adventurer's Guild wouldn't take kindly to the idea of offending you two heroes. I'm sure they know that, and you'll just have a little conversation」

Either way, there was no way we could refuse the king's invitation. If I had heard the information beforehand, we might have been able to escape, but being told face to face that he was inviting her would bad if we escaped. It was a bit of a hassle, but we had no choice but to accept.

Chapter 469: Audience • Front

Chapter 469: Audience?Front

A few hours after hearing from the Count that the king was calling for us. Fran and Forrund went to a mansion. This is the place where the king has taken refuge and is currently conducting his affairs.

As this was an emergency situation, we were told that we didn't have to wear formal wear, so the two of us were dressed as usual. However, since we were not allowed to carry weapons, I had transformed into a bracelet. This way, I wouldn't be taken away.

In terms of time, it was a little early for dinner, and I was grateful that we would only have to have a really brief conversation.

『Fran, use honorific to address the king, okay? I'm serious』

「Nn」

『And also, don't talk about unnecessary things. I don't know what would be considered disrespectful』

「I understand」

Apparently, Forrund is used to it, but as expected, this is Fran's first time. No, she has met the Beast King before, but I don't think that should be included in the category of kings. At the very least, he's not a normal king.

『Forrund, if she makes a mistake please give her a follow up! I beg you!』

(Leave it to me. The king of this country is not a fool. As long as you don't aim to be rude, you won't have a problem)

『Yeah, but—』

Because it's Fran, right? A girl who talks as she usually does to a nobleman on the first meeting? No matter how much I worried, I couldn't worry enough.

『Worst case scenario, we'll have to consider leaving the country』

「It's all right. I got it」

「Worrying excessively」

You guys, how can you be so calm...

But no matter how worried I was, the time for the audience would come. The attendant man who was leading Fran and Forrond stopped in front of a large door.

「The king awaits you ahead. Please do not be rude」

「Nn」

「Yea」

「.....Very well」

The old attendant gave us a look that said, 「will these guys be fine huh」 I agree with you!

『Fran, it's just like we practiced, okay?』

(Nn)

And when the door was opened from the inside, it was a simple audience room. Had it been renovated after the king had occupied the mansion?

A red carpet stretched straight out from the door, which must have come from somewhere, and there was even a throne at the end of it. Compared to the throne I had seen in the Beastman Kingdom, it looked rather plain, but it was big enough and luxurious enough to be called a throne.

On the throne sat a middle-aged man dressed in luxurious clothes that looked a bit out of place. It may be a simple type for daily use, but he really does have a crown on his head. I was a little impressed.

I'd say he's about 50 years old huh? His hairline is a bit receding, but his body is reasonably well trained. Well, not quite at a warrior level. At least he seems to be in decent shape. He doesn't seem to be a tyrant type.

In my mind, royalty in this world is the image of a strong man, but apparently this king is different. Well, the comparison is with the Beast King, who is a rank S adventurer, or the royalty of Philias, who possesses a divine sword.....

On either side of us were knights and noble-looking men. I could tell that half of the noblemen looked down on Fran and Forrund, or were bitter about it. But the other half were clearly welcoming Fran and Forrund.

Moreover, among the noblemen, the higher-ranking noblemen who wore more luxurious clothes seemed to have a greater tendency to do so. Many of them are smiling.

As expected, the knights guarding him were expressionless. Among the knights, there was a very strong man who was closest to the king.

His skin is as white as snow, and he has beautiful silver hair. He was only about six feet tall (180 cm), but his intimidating presence made him look bigger. In addition, the magic power he emitted was unbelievable.

I have heard that SPs intimidate their attackers by showing a stern appearance, and I guess this is just another form of intimidation. By showing his strength from the start, he's silently warning us not to do anything stupid. (1)

On the other hand, if the opponent is not able to sense this intimidation, it is probably not even worthy of caution.

『Even so, he has no gap huh.....』

He's probably at a rank A class. It's a pity that I can't appraise it since it's in front of the royalty.

As expected of the king's bodyguard. They are in a position to attack Fran and Forrund while protecting the king at any time without a moment's delay.

「Both of you, step forward」

At the attendant's words, Fran stepped forward alongside Forrund, bowed, and knelt. Okay, you're moving as what we have practiced beforehand.

The nobles were especially surprised by the elegance of Fran's manners. They probably didn't expect a little adventurer girl to bow so beautifully in accordance with the manners of the nobility. I could see their eyes widen.

Yes. The court etiquette that we got from Viscount Alsand is still exist. And then, Forrund made his speech.

「It is a great pleasure to have an audience with you」

Fran just nodded her head silently. The chamberlain said that was fine. I was wondering what was going to happen, but I think they can manage somehow huh?

「Raise your face」

「Yes」

「Yes」

At the king's words, Fran and Forrund raised their face.

「You've done a great job」

「Yes」

Well, it was a typical audience scene from here. The king said a few firm words, then Forrund and Fran nodded. This was repeated. At the end, the king gave another word of praise, and that was it.

There was almost no unnecessary conversation. It's so simple, it's almost feels disheartening.

『I was expecting him to bring it up to the point of taking you into the Kingdom of Kranzel, but he didn't said anything at all』

(Nn)

『I thought he might at least offer you a knighthood or a medal...』

In fact, she had discussed it with Eliante. It was obvious that if she refused the offer of a knighthood at the audience, it would cause a lot of trouble. So, if she was offered a knighthood, she planned to present the Order of the Golden Beast Fang Medal that she had received in the Beastman Kingdom.

It was not limited to this audience, though. Starting with the baron who was turned away by Colbert the other day, various noblemen have flocked to the audience. It seems that the purpose is to take in Fran, who is started to be called the cat-eared saint.

I thought that they should help with the reconstruction before they came to recruit her with their guards, but it seemed that they were miscellaneous nobles who hadn't been assigned any important work.

Well, judging from the dim-witted attitude they took when recruiting, I could tell he wouldn't be valued to any work. However, there were so many of them, and some of them did not back down even when she mentioned the Count's name, so we consulted Eliante about what to do. The conclusion was to use the medal.

Apparently, it was a more powerful medal than we had imagined. When we showed it to Eliante, she literally jumped up in surprise.

Since it is a medal of another country, it does not have a strong influence in the Kingdom of Kranzel, but the people who are shown it are likely to think that Fran has ties to the Beast Kingdom.

As a beastman, it was not strange at all that Fran belonged to the Beastman Kingdom, and the Beastman Kingdom and the Kingdom of Kranzel were friendly countries. It was at Eliante's opinion that they would not be so arrogant as to forcefully give Fran a title.

It's still can be treated as a string attached.....to the beastman country, it is a good place for Fran to live, and it's much better than being forced to give her a knighthood in another country. In fact, they might have given her the medal in anticipation of such a situation.

Well, it seems I was worrying too much. However, it was soon after Fran and Forrund had finished their audience.

「You two!」

The man who approached us was the chamberlain. I had a bad feeling about this. The words I didn't want to hear came out of his mouth.

「The king is waiting for you in the other room. This way, please」

Without saying a word, the chamberlain turns and walks away. He didn't think that Fran and Forrund would not follow him. No, we will follow him though.

『Fran, please still use the honorific』

Perhaps, you didn't get it, huh? Oh God! Please call out to her!

Chapter 470: Audience · Back

Chapter 470: Audience?Back

「This way」

「Yes」

「Nn」

Fran and Forrund sat down on the chairs that had been prepared for them, just as the chamberlain had told them to do.

What Fran and Forrund were taken to was a room that looked like a drawing room. The room was much smaller than the hall they had used for the audience, and was quite cozy.

But my nervousness was nothing compared to what I had just experienced before.

「You may make yourself comfortable. This is an informal meeting」

How can anyone really ease up when the king tells them to――

「Nn」

There she is! That's my girl! No, she's still hunched over, just a little out of position! We could still recover!

『Fran! Don't really take it for granted!』

『Uh, anyway, just keep your spine a little straighter here!』

(Understood)

Fuh, that was a close one. Look, she already got her back on straight! Don't stare at her like that, silver-haired knight! If a strong person like you stares at her like that, my Fran will be thrilled! It's not a good idea to get involved with this knight who looks very strong and seems to have a high rank.

「I am Wissola Bred Kranzel」 (1)

The king himself, whom we met in the audience hall. Isn't he too careless for this? I searched for any presence around us, but there was only the king, two knights, and a chamberlain in this room. I was under the impression that there was usually a hidden door or something and an escort waiting inside of them.

Fran also tilted her head, but it seems that the king saw through it.

「My daughter, what's wrong?」

「.....You don't bring more guards with you?」

「You mean that huh. My knights said it was unnecessary. He said that if he were to be serious, the other knights would be a burden to him」

As he said this, the king looked at Fran.

「You're not that strong in my eyes huh.....」

I can't be sure, but it seems that the king himself has appraisal skills. And it seems that the effect of the appraisal disguise makes her look like an ordinary adventurer.

However, the silver-haired knight beside him would not be able to be easily deceived.

「She's more than equal with me」

「If Ruga says so, I'm sure he's right. Let me introduce you. He's captain of the guard and knight of the King. Ruga Mufuru」

「Nice to meet you」

Ruga Mufuru bailed lightly, not taking his eyes off Fran and Forrund. He's not showing any gap.

「You are two of the most powerful people in our country. There's no harm in knowing each other's faces, right?」

The king put a strange emphasis on the "our country" part. I guess he wants to bring Fran and Forrund into the Kingdom of Kranzel.

He's very different from the Beast King. The Beast King was more like a high king, or a king with a majestic air. However, the man in front of me does not radiate any sense of intimidation. He's the politician type huh?

However, it was not like he did not have the dignity of a king. I haven't made a clear hierarchical relationship with him, but I naturally felt that he was the most superior person in this place. He had the presence of a king, or perhaps I should say that he was a born superior.

It's a good thing that he's not a fool, but I'm not going to let my guard down.

「Now, let's get down to business. We're running out of time」

Then the king gave some instructions to the chamberlain with a glance. Then the chamberlain brings out two small boxes, about 30 centimeters long. The boxes are placed in front of both Fran and Forrund.

Inside the box was what looked like a jewelled medallion.

「You are hereby granted the rank of first class baron. You may accept」

Uwaah, you've hit the nail on the head. We can't use a roundabout way of saying no or anything like that anymore. Is he doing it on purpose? Or is it just plain? I can't read his expression at all.

(Master?)

『Aah, wait a minute. Forrund, what do we do』

(...Hmm. Fran doesn't want to accept the title, does she?)

『It's obvious』

(Very well)

Then Forrund nodded lightly. Oh, how dependable!

「I'm grateful for this, but.....」

He shook his head as he said it.

「You want to refuse?」

「By all means. She's too」

「Nn. I have to refuse」

Wait a minute, Fran! Your words! Thanks to her court etiquette skills, her movements are fine, but her words is!

I panicked and made her rephrase it.

「I'm sorry. But I want to continue becoming adventurer」

「Even after I said that I'm giving it to you?」

The king frowned in displeasure. Ruga Mufuru also increased the intimidation he was emitting. Are we going to do this?

This situation would definitely make a weak-minded or power-hungry person nod their head. The room was filled with that much pressure. Ugh, my stomach hurts.

「I'm sorry」

With Forrund bowing with a short apology, Fran also bows her head.

Kuh, the silence feels heavy! The King is still looking at Fran and Forrund with a sullen look on his face.

「...Hmm. It's as you said huh, Ruga」

The king sniffs lightly and sinks down on the sofa with a bored look on his face.

「Yes sir. Because they are adventurers」

「It's correct to do this in a place without any lower ranked nobles. I can just see them making a scene」

Hmm? Apparently, the king and Ruga were expecting Fran and Forrund to decline.

「Too many people don't realize how much adventurers have contributed to their territories. These days, even the nobles of the great domains are becoming more and more incapable of caring for adventurers.....」

Apparently, the nobleman, who doesn't like adventurers, wanted to give Fran and Forrund a knighthood so they wouldn't antagonize them. Could it be that the sullen attitude is an act? However, he still maintains his uncomfortable expressions.

「As for Forrund of the Hundred Swords, he had turned it down several times in the past, so I knew it would happen again this time. But, Fran, the Black Lightning Princess? Why do you refuse? It's a title, remember? In addition, being a first-class baron is like being a count without a territory. You don't want to be bothered with running a fiefdom, right? A first-class baron has a nobleman's annual salary attached to it, but you do not have to run the estate. Are you sure you won't consider it once again?」

In other words, it's probably a title for adventurers. By giving her a nobleman's annual salary, she would be bound to the country as a war power in case of emergency. Since they are no longer adventurers, they can be used for war. In exchange, the adventurer gets the backing of the country and honor.

「What is it that you are dissatisfied with?」

However, Forrund's reply to the king's words was short.

「It's freedom」

「...Hmmm. That's a word I'm not familiar with. But aren't you interested in money and power? What about you, my daughter?」

「...I don't need such a thing」

「Such a thing huh...This is why an adventurers is.....! I had enough of this. Go away」

Have we offended the king? However, there was no sign that Ruga was going to do anything about it. After all, he probably already knew that he would be rejected. Even so, if he was refused, he would still be dissatisfied huh.

Then, as Fran and Forrund were leaving, a voice called out to them.

「Forget everything that happened in that room. And I will do the same too」

Does that mean you're not going to question the fact that he lost face? His anger didn't seem to subside yet, but he didn't want to antagonize her.

『Huh. We manage it somehow huh? To be honest, I was ready to flee this country』

(As I said the other day, the king is a man who puts the interests of the nation first. He won't make the mistake of antagonizing us. Of course, if he judged that it would be in his interest to retaliate against us for destroying his face, he would have ordered an attack without hesitation)

How's that working out for him? He was a scary opponent, in a different way than the Beast King.

『Well, I hope we made it through』

Chapter 471: Rank Up

After we managed to get through the audience with the king, we came to the adventurer's guild. In fact, we had been summoned by Eliante.

The Adventurer's Guild is incredibly densely populated. It may not like a crowded train, but it's about as dense as an elementary school playground during breaks.

In fact, the number of adventurers in the town has temporarily doubled due to the adventurers who came from neighboring towns to help out. In addition, many of them are sleeping and waking up in the corners of the guild floor because there are not enough places for them to sleep. The guild is crowded with these relief adventurers.

Fran was already famous among the adventurers in the royal capital, but some of the adventurers from other towns would still try to get involved with her.

To begin with, most of the adventurers sent to clear away the rubble in the royal capital are of low rank. Some were adventurers with special skills or magic, but about 80% of them were just starting out as manual laborers. In other words, they were all people who could not see through Fran's abilities.

Moreover, once they get to the royal capital, it is much harsher than they can imagine. Maybe they were just longing for the royal capital. But in reality, it was just a repetition of plain labor covered in dust.

It was no wonder that there were idiots who wanted to relieve their sorrows by picking on the girl.

But today, they don't seem to want to get involved. Well, I guess it's because yesterday and the day before, there was a guy who got involved with her and she give him a bit of flashy treatment.

Ah yeah, we can't afford to reduce our workforce now, so I made sure to recover them with recovery magic, okay? In addition, she threatened him that if he didn't work diligently, she would give him a bad time. I'm sure he's working up a good sweat by now.

Perhaps the word had spread, but there was no sign of any newcomers getting involved today. Rather, they gave her a look of fear.

「Stellia」

「Aah. Go right ahead!」

「Understood」

It seems that Stellia has been busy today, as they eliminated the high ranked adventurer's lane and added a new temporary low ranked adventurer's lane.

She certainly doesn't seem to have time to guide her.

By the way, there's also a line at Stellia's place. In terms of the image of adventurers, I think it's a line of the beautiful woman's place and a deserted scene at Stellia's place.....

「You guys! Get in line over here! You're so noisy! Do you want to be stripped off!」

I see. So that's how it is. The newcomers who were exposed to Stellia's intimidation skills were moving to Stellia's lane with blue faces. Well, good luck to everyone.

We continued through the crowded floor and entered Eliante's office.....

「It's endless.....I can't finish this work.....」

『Uwaaah—』

「Mountain of paper」

This is a miserable scene.

A mountain of papers had doubled in size since the other day, and Eliante at her desk surrounded by the pile, working like a ghost.

「Eliante?」

「Aah...You're here huh.....Wait a minute」

「Nn」

Five minutes later.

Eliante, who had calmed down a bit after a cup of tea, was presenting some papers to Fran.

「You've been promoted to Rank B. Here are your official promotion papers」

「Nn? Rank up? Why?」

That's very sudden. I'm sure we haven't contributed enough at all to move up in rank. Besides, she doesn't want to stand out and get tangled up with the nobles.

「You.....How much do you think you've done this time? You defeated a monster that wiped out Zephyrd's party, you healed hundreds of people, and you helped clear away the rubble.....I can't even begin to count your other minor accomplishments」

If she said it like that, I guess she's right. As long as Ashwrath's achievements are pretended to have never happened, the most meritorious adventurer is Forrund. After that, it will be Fran huh?

「I know you don't like trouble, and I know you've been reluctant to rank up. But, you know, all the reasons that have been holding you back from moving up have now been cleared up」

「Originally, I had no problem with your combat prowess. There was no doubt in my mind that you had the ability of an A ranker. In fact, I'd say that this commotion has confirmed it」

Eliante, the guild master was able to watch our fight with the Marquis. It's the most reliable way to confirm her ability. It's not a mock battle, but a real battle, and it proves that she can do it.

「And one of the problems was your lack of achievements. You have made a name for yourself in the royal capital, and you even received a medal from the Beast Nation」

I see. So at least she had got a good track record for a rank B.

「Then there was your attitude towards the nobles. You had managed through an audience this time, too, and it's proven that you have at least a minimum of courtesy」

Oh, I see. When she become a rank B, she will meet more nobles, so she must have said that she's worried of Fran, who is obviously not courteous. It's a rather valid opinion. However, by having had an audience with the king, the pinnacle of the nobility, that problem has been eliminated to some extent.

「I talked to a nobleman I knew, and he told me that you had perfect manners. I was surprised to hear that you were much more elegant than those lower-class nobles」

He must have been one of the noblemen who lined both sides of the room at the first audience.

「It looks like you were able to refuse the title from the King, right?」

「Nn. But the King was angry」

「The king wouldn't be that mad about it. No, he doesn't want to be taken as a fool by the adventurers, so he pretends to be angry.....? Well, he's not a straightforward guy, but he's not an emotionally driven one, so that's not a problem. He's not going to do anything stupid like making an enemy of you. You can trust him」

Was it an act, after all? Or perhaps he was just acting to show his dignity as a king. And yet, he didn't make Fran and Forrund uncomfortable any more than necessary. In other words, he showed them that he was dissatisfied, and then he made no questions about it.

He generously showed mercy to the adventurer who refused the king's extraordinary offer. That's how it works. For example, let's say that the king asks you to do something in the future. There is a high probability that he will think 「You turned down an offer of a title before, so you might as well accept this request」

『Hmmm, I was a bit down on him for allowing the Marquis to revolt, but he's indeed the king of a great nation』

But the other party is Fanatics. It may be more difficult for them to notice.

「Well, I'm not going to do anything rude to someone who has the medal of the Beast Kingdom. From now on, diplomatic relations with that country will be of utmost importance. It is said that Count Bailleys was punished lightly out of consideration for the Beast King」

「Is that so?」

「His relationship with the Beast King is well known. There are even rumors that he was relieved of his post as a lord in order to send him as an envoy to the Beast Kingdom」

Not only did they lighten the punishment, but they want to use it to further strengthen their relationship with the beast kingdom.

「The medal is also a factor for your rank up. The guild was reluctant to throw out a kid with no backing in front of the nobles, but now they know that she actually has tremendous backing」

There is no shortage of ability, she was able to show courtesy, and she has a great deal of backing. Indeed, I don't see any reason not to raise her to rank B.

「Honestly, if I don't rank you up, it's going to make me question the decency of the guild. I mean, the other guild masters are pushing me to make sure you rank up. That's why take your rank up!」

If we listen to Eliante's lines, she seems to be saying so, but her eyes are shaking with anxiety. In fact, Fran had the right to refuse this offer.

And Fran has her own reasons for refusing. The guild will not remember this well, but the fact that she won't get into trouble with the nobles is too big of an advantage. Even though she has the backing of the guild, she won't have zero contact from the nobility.

『Fran, what do you want?』

(Nn? Accept the rank up)

『Are you sure? Honestly, there will be a lot of trouble, you know? Stupid nobles, stupid adventurers...』

(If they're idiots, just blow them off)

『...I see』

I'll have to make sure she doesn't overdo it. But if Fran is willing, I have no problem with it. We'll thankfully rank up here.

Chapter 472: Gallus'

Determination

Chapter 472: Gallus' Determination

It's been a few days since the rank up. Fran had been summoned to the Adventurer's Guild again.

The adventurers make a lot of noise when they see Fran, but there are few malicious glances. Is that being an admiration or fear? The former are the newcomers who admire Fran, who is the youngest B rank adventurer. The latter are probably those who have been blown away by her or those who have witnessed the scene.

Anyway, it's nice not to get tangled up with the small fry. It seems that rank has a big impact on this.

Moreover, the number of recruitments from nobles has decreased drastically lately. This is because rumors have spread that she has the backing of the Beast King. Apparently, it was the king's words at the dinner that triggered the spread of this rumor. He must have dared to spread it.

Still, that doesn't mean we don't have any contact with any of them at all, though. It seems, those who think that they are special was everywhere huh. In the first place, there is no way for a nobleman who is in the royal capital and has not been given a good job can be competent.

When she intimidates them, they won't come back, so it's not that annoying. There was almost no hindrance to our work. Well, in the last few days, most of the work that Fran had to do was gone.

The treatment of the seriously injured patients was almost finished, and the rest could be left to the court doctors and magician. The removal of debris can be left to the adventurers who came to help. The Knights have regained their functions and are now in charge of maintaining the peace.

Still looking for work, Fran advised the Count to use earth magic to build temporary housing, but he refused.

The area outside the city walls is not a safe place to live, with magical beasts roaming about. The commoner's area is densely populated with houses, and there was not that much extensive damage. Therefore, there was no space to build temporary housing in the first place.

Even if it were to be built in the noble district, the temporary houses that cannot be moved would be a hindrance during the rebuilding process. It would be very labor intensive to demolish several temporary houses. A tent that can be moved quickly is better.

I've been thinking about this from a different perspective, but it's difficult to build temporary housing here. We don't have the technology to build prefabricated houses. If we stay here until the reconstruction, we can help, but we don't intend to stay that long.

In the end, Fran's major tasks were to help the injured and set up a wind barrier to prevent dust, but that was mostly done and she was completely out of ideas.

That's why she was able to answer the guild's call in the middle of the day. But it wasn't Eliante who called Fran, it was Forrund.

「I came」

「Yeah」

As usual, the two were able to understand each other. Forrund took her to a place that was not Eliante's office.

「In here」

The room looked like a private room in an inn. It seemed to be a room used to accommodate adventurers who had come to the capital on business from other adventurer guilds.

They have these rooms because they may not be able to use the lodge depending on the time of day, the nature of their work, or the time of year.

「Gallus' room?」

「Yeah」

Gallus was supposed to be lying low now. The Adventurer's Guild was still protecting him, although the government had decided not to impose any punishment. It was said that this was largely due to the cooperation of Eihwaz, who could cure magic drugs, and also as a result of the king's decision not to offend the Adventurers' Guild.

Well, as for us, we're going to let Gallus decide what to do after he wakes up.

When Forrund walked in, we found Eihwaz, Eliante, and Gallus waiting for him. Yes, Gallus had gotten himself out of bed and was here to greet Fran.

「Gallus, already awake?」

「I'm sorry for all the trouble I've caused you. Let me show you my gratitude. Thank you」

His face is still pale, but his tone is firm. I wonder if the after-effects of the magic drug are safe?

「Are you okay now?」

「Of course. I cured him, didn't I? I used the finest elixir I could find. Oh, don't worry about the price. The Guild and he himself have already agreed to pay for it. Besides, I've gotten some interesting data」

He grinned and laughed at her. It's not like he's hiding his embarrassment, but he's serious. He must have really conducted the experiment in parallel with the treatment. I'm not complaining, though, because it's cured him.

「Besides, I also have a deal with the country」

「Hmm. Why should I complain when I've made these weak magicians a little more useful?」

It seems that this old man had drugged the magician entrusted to him by Count Bailleys. The drugs increased their muscle strength and stamina and allowing them to work sleeplessly and without rest, and after its effects wore off, the users would suffer from hellish muscle pain and insomnia.

「That's why there are fewer mages available for reconstruction, you know? Isn't that obvious?」

「If we hadn't killed the enemy, more damage would have been done」

「You know that, and that's why the king said he'd wouldn't care with Gallus' treatment」

「I know what I'm doing」

「Rather than that, what to do about Gallus' future. That's why I asked Fran to come here to discuss it」

I see, more or less, it's because of Fran has issued a protection request.

It seems that Eliante and Eihwaz have already explained the whole situation to Gallus. Everything, including what he himself can't remember.

「What does Gallus want to do?」

「Umm.....」

When Fran asked him, Gallus grunted in distress. Even though he had been manipulated, he probably regretted having a hand in a major incident that shook the royal capital.

「I'll help you escape」

「The Thieves' Guild said they'd help us out」

「And the Adventurers' Guild too」

「Me too」

After all, it seems that the guilds are not optimistic about Gallus' situation. If he is taken into custody by the state, he may be forced to work on the divine sword in captivity.

But Gallus shook his head and refused Fran and the others' proposal.

「I'll stay in the royal capital. It may not be enough to atone for my sins, but I will help rebuild the royal capital」

「Umu」

Gallus understands everything. Still, he chose to entrust himself to the country. Once she saw the determined look on his face, she knew that it was impossible to reverse his decision.

「Is that so.....」

Fran muttered in disappointment.

「You did everything you could. I'm sorry」

「No. If Gallus had decided, so be it」

「Don't worry, I'll give some push on him from the guild!」

「I'm sure the Thieves' Guild won't stand idly either」

「Me too」

If all these guys are willing to back Gallus, will he be okay? I don't think he'll be under house arrest. At any rate, if they make enemies with these people, the country will be in trouble this time.

「I'm sorry」

At these words, Gallus bowed deeply.

However, even in this somber atmosphere, it is Eihwaz who can't read the air. After listening to Gallus's resolve, Eihwaz takes out something and starts asking Gallus questions.

「I'm not quite sure about this part——」

「Aah, that parts huh——」

「Hou. In other words——」

「That's right here——」

What Eihwaz took out was a document on the pseudo fanatic sword. It seemed that the Thieves' Guild had been holding it. He seemed to be looking at it and asking questions about the technical aspects.

The others, especially Eliante, seem to be quite curious and start asking more questions to Eihwaz, who asks Gallus questions.

「——that is why」

「So you can't mass-produce pseudo fanatic swords anymore?」

「In the first place, they were using the fanatic sword as a raw material」

The pseudo fanatic sword was apparently made by mixing pieces of the fanatic sword with the consciousness of the fanatics when it was made. Originally, it was said to be a magic tool that sucked the magic power of its surroundings and strengthened the user. Moreover, it was a failed product with unsteady abilities.

By mixing it with Fanatics and inhabited by its consciousness, he was able to strengthen and stabilize its abilities, making it a pseudo fanatic sword.

The ability to counteract magic is a product of the magic-absorbing ability of the tool.

The reason why it was stabbed in the back was because the original magic tool was a type of magic tool that was worn on the back in the first place, and the Fanatics' consciousness could not display its abilities to the fullest unless it was in the form of a sword, so it had to be in the form of a sword.

In other words, now that the sword of blind devotion-Fanatics had disappeared, the pseudo fanatic sword could no longer be made.

「Well, I don't know if the country will believe this story」

「It's not easy to forge that much of evidence. Besides, after a while, various information will be discovered in the Marquis's territory. If they look at them, they must be understood, no matter how foolish they are」

Chapter 473: The Great Spirits User

In addition, the materials collected by the Thieves Guild included the diaries of the family members and servants, which revealed how the Fanatics came to be in the hands of the Marquis and his plans. The Thieves' Guild, they must have done their best.

There were two things I was curious about. Hamuls as the street murderer, and why Velmeria was targeted.

As for the first, why did Hamuls attacked Fran, he was simply looking for a strong host. They discovered that I was made by orichalcos, and they were relentless in their pursuit. That's when they discovered Velmeria.

Apparently, Velmeria had a special bloodline among the dragonmen and had the potential to use a powerful skill called the Divine Dragon Transformation Skill. For this reason, the Fanatics kidnapped Velmeria.

「So, just before the Fanatics' plan was about to be executed, they got their hands on the most powerful host huh」

「Plan?」

「Kukkuh. That's a pretty big deal, you know?」

According to Eihwaz, the fanatic sword was discovered 40 years ago in the Marquis territory, in the basement of a 1000-years-old fort that had been turned into ruins during a survey to build a new facility.

It was presented to the Marquis by a person from the research team because it was imbued with magical power.....I'm sure the Fanatics' plans began at this time.

Moreover, the Fanatics' plan was not a simple one, such as limited to manipulating the Marquis to seize power.

「Haah, to team up with the Raidos Kingdom and to take over the Philias Kingdom?」

Even Eliante was surprised.

Even for the Fanatics, it is impossible to control all the people in a half-destroyed state. Hence, there were some people who were not controlled and just received orders, and some of their subordinates seemed to know what the Fanatics wanted.

「Or more accurately, It's going to get its hands on the divine sword Diabolos」

「They are the same kind, right?」

After they taken control of the country, they planned to invade the Philias Kingdom by taking control the military. It seems that they wanted to use Diabolos to repair itself.

I guess it wanted Gallus not just to have him create a pseudo fanatic sword, but also to be involved in its own restoration.

「Then the invasion from the Raidos Kingdom that is happening now is...」

「It must have been planned in advance」

「.....I have a bad feeling about this」

Eliante mutters to herself. Could it be some kind of insect sense? I'm a little scared when half-insect kin tell me that.

「We're not hiding the fact that the mass murderer Jean is in Alessa. In fact, I'm sure he's even actively spreading the word in order to intimidate them.

And yet, they attacked us.....」

「They have prepared for this in advance huh」

Isn't this situation pretty bad? No matter how strong Jean is, there is always a possibility that he will lose if they have taken countermeasures in advance. The other side is said to be a military superpower, so isn't the possibility of losing rather high?

「Wh, why are you so calm about it!」

「Hmmh. There will be disaster for that city」

「That's why I'm telling you this is bad! If that Klimut guy fought seriously.....」

Eihwaz too, called Klimut a calamity before.....Eliante also seems to be more afraid of Klimut than the Royal Army of Raidos.

「Hey, What do you mean?」

「You're already a B ranker, so it's fine huh.....Klimut's second name is Calamity. He is a spirits user who specializes in mass destruction, destroying friend and foe alike」

I see. So, it's a calamity because he attacks both friend and foe in a wide area. I guess it's a similar story to Ashwrath the Friendly Fire.

「But it's fake nickname, given over 50 years ago. Adventurers who didn't know any better started calling him that, and it stuck to him. Now, many adventurers believe the alias to be true.....No, Klimut is a trump card for the guild as well. We've never dared to correct that mistake」

「Mistake?」

「Well, technically, he stopped a weapon of mass destruction and saved a city」

A long time ago, there was a small country in the northern part of what is now the territory of the Kranzel Kingdom. It belonged to the Raidos Kingdom, which had long been an enemy of the Kranzel Kingdom.

However, that small country was sandwiched between two major powers and at the mercy of the political situations of both sides, it's unstable. The country and its people must always be prepared for war, not knowing when it will become a battlefield.

Even with a small national budget being squeezed by military expenses, the country was unable to increase its strength and had to continue receiving support from the Raidos Kingdom as a poor country.

The king of the time tried to break through this situation. He turned his attention to spirit magic as a low-cost means of warfare. He tried to develop spirit magic by inviting excellent spirit magicians.

However, spirit magic is very difficult to handle. There are only a few who have the talent, but it is extremely unstable. Even if the same spirits magician uses the same spirits magic, the effect will fluctuate drastically depending on the physical and mental condition of the practitioner and the mood of the spirits. Furthermore, spirits were fickle and had a different mental structure than people, and they sometimes did not understand commands accurately.

It was recognized by the adventurers and military, but it is too unstable. It is difficult to unless they are a high-level magician. That's how they feel about it.

Especially important is the part about its instability. They can easily go out of control. Even for Elves and the others that have accumulated thousands of years of study in spirit magic are said to have difficulty in trying to control it.

Then, that small country also made a big mistake. A few spirits user attempted to summon and use a higher-level spirit, whether it was a miracle or a nightmare, it was a great spirit that was summoned, and it easily got out of control.

There are different ranks of spirits: miscellaneous spirits, lower-grade spirits, middle-grade spirits, high-grade spirits, great spirits, and spirit's king, with great spirits having power equivalent to threat level A.

What if it gets out of control? The small country would be easily destroyed. In fact, at that time, the Great Spirit of the Wind, which had been rampaging for five days, had cleared more than half of the country, killing and injuring more than 50,000 people in total.

The person who quelled the Great Spirit at that time was Klimut, who was already the Guild master of Alessa. He himself did not take part in this experiment and only cleaned up the mess by himself, but from the onlooker it appeared as if he had summoned the Great Spirit.

What's more, he made a contract with the Great Spirit at that time, and the fact that the scene looked like he was giving orders to the summoned spirit accelerated the misunderstanding.

「In fact, He just managed to save the people of a small country from being wiped out. It's insane to go to the trouble of infiltrating a hostile country and attempting to make a contract with a great spirit with a low chance of success. Well, since he succeeded, he must be a genius as a spirits user」

「But, it had weakened Klimut greatly」

If he made a contract with a great being like the Great Spirit, he must have gotten stronger, right? That's why he was a rank S adventurer right.

「He are constantly on edge to hold down the great spirits that lie dormant within his bodies. The amount of magic power he can use is limited, and his life force is being drained away. On top of that, it seems that his body is also becoming weak」

「Originally, his fighting style was supposed to be using multiple spirits, but I'm told that's also difficult now」

In order to keep the Great Spirit sealed inside of him, his abilities have been weakened. Moreover, it's difficult to summon spirits because he's constantly devoting his control and other resources to it.

「But that doesn't mean he can't fight. If it comes to it, he can use the Great Spirit」

「Kukukuh. The great spirit of the wind that will blows everything from the ground huh」

「If that happens, there will be a lot of damage in the area. And Klimut won't be able to get away with it either. I heard that he used it once in the past in a battle with a dragon, but that time he had wandered between life and death」

So, neither the people around Klimut will be able to get away from it huh.

I wondered why they had such a person as the guild master of Alessa, but it seems that the Raidos Kingdom is an irreconcilable enemy of the adventurer's guild as well.

There were no adventurers in that country, and if there was an adventurer's guild member in the area they controlled, they would execute them all and confiscate their property.

In order to prevent such a country from moving south and weakening the Kranzel Kingdom, which favors adventurers, the guild has placed Klimut as a trump card.

「However, a trump card is something you save until the last minute. That's why we're putting Amanda and Jean in Alessa's so Klimut doesn't have to fight too much」

In other words, he's probably even more destructive than Amanda and Jean. Apparently, Klimut was even more awesome than I thought he was.

Chapter 474: Gallus and Equipment

Eihwaz and the others left, leaving Fran and Gallus alone in the room.

No, they were very thoughtful, as they knew there would be a lot for us to talk about. Only Eihwaz was still fussing about having something to talk about, but Forrund took him out.

After watching Fran put up a barrier to prevent eavesdropping, Gallus opened his mouth again. I'm sure Eihwaz or someone else will try to eavesdrop on us in ways we can't even imagine.

「Once again, thank you for your help. So, you found the scabbard huh?」

「NN」

『Because of its name and shape. I knew there was definitely something to it』

「I was worried you wouldn't notice it, you know?」

But that's not the main issue.

『No, but...There was always a chance we wouldn't make it to the royal capital, right?』

I don't know if we'll be able to keep our promise. We might have other things to do, and as adventurers, we might have lost our lives on the road.

But Gallus shook his head lightly and smiled.

「It's okay. I knew you guys would keep your word」

「Of course. I keep my promises to my friends」

「Ghahaha. Friends huh! Yeah, we are friends!」

「Nn」

Gallus was laughing as he said that, but his face soon became serious. No, I think he's a little bit down? I feel like I can see a bit of sorrow in his eyes. What's wrong with him?

「So, umm, can I ask you one question?」

「Nn?」

「That equipment, is it originally from my Black Cat series?」

So that's what he's looks down huh? I explained to Gallus how we had acquired this equipment. The repair function was deteriorating due to the continuous battle with strong enemies. It had been torn to shreds by the fierce fighting. A blacksmith we had met by chance had repaired it for her.

「You met a blacksmith by chance.....Is he a divine level blacksmith?」

I knew he'd noticed it huh. She makes the work of Gallus, the world's greatest blacksmith, even better, there are only a few people who can do that. The reason why Gallus was a bit down was probably because he was comparing his own work with Alistair's.

『Aah—.....』

What should I do. No, she has taken the liberty of improving Gallus' best work. Even though it was necessary for Fran to do so, I should apologize to Gallus with a goodwill.

『That's right. Alistair, a divine blacksmith, altered the armor that Gallus made for her. I'm sorry. We didn't ask for your permission first...』

『Ugh. Y-you will forgive us?』

「I don't care about it, but anyone who gets angry at the sight of this works are disqualified as a blacksmith!」

Gallus seemed to be seriously impressed. His eyes sparkled as he stared at Fran's Black Heavenly Tiger equipment.

「Modifying a named item and making it into something more powerful is.....Amazing」

『She's a divine blacksmith after all~』

「Damn it. If it weren't for this incident, I would have asked for an apprenticeship.....」

『An apprenticeship?』

For someone like Gallus, the honorary blacksmith of the Kranzel Kingdom? But come to think of it, the other party is a divine blacksmith. It wouldn't be strange for him wanted an apprenticeship huh?

She is supposed to be in the Belios Kingdom now, but I don't know how much information I can give him about Alistair.

『Umm. I'll let her know the next time we meet』

「Really!」

『Ah, yeah. But I don't know if she's going to agree to that, you know?』

「I know, I know. Just the possibility of making us acquainted is enough!」

Well, I'll just tell her about Gallus. After that, it's up to Alistair.

『Also, Alistair doesn't seem to want to be used by those in power...』

「I won't tell anyone! Don't worry!」

Gallus said he wouldn't tell anyone about it. We can rest assured.

「Can't you show it more to me?」

「Nn」

「Fumu fumu.....Is this look your thing, little girl?」

『No, Alistair made it look like this』

「I see.....So that person is really a woman huh?」

『Yeah』

「I see. I'm impressed with its perfect appearance. Maybe it's a woman thing」

But the first piece of armor she got from Gallus looked pretty girly, didn't it? That's what I thought, but I heard that that equipment was just made according to a client's wishes.

Apparently, it was the boyish black cat series that reflected Gallus's taste.

「Besides, a change in appearance is a small price to pay for the improvement of its ability. It's not every day I can see a piece of armor like this」

『Is that so?』

「Umu. Considering the original materials, this is on an incredible level. Even adventurers of rank B or higher don't have equipment of the same level as this」

It's just as I expected from a divine class blacksmith who modified it. I thought it would only improve its performance, but it seems it's worth more than I imagined.

「Besides, Master has gotten pretty awesome too」

『Eh? Is that so?』

「Umu. You're considerably strengthened, isn't it? Even with my god's eye, the information I can get from you were very little this time. It's a sign that you're stronger than the last time we met in Alessa」

『I'm sure my appearance hasn't changed though』

「The presence that emanates from within is completely different. When you're like me, you can see it clearly」

The old man Gallus is now snickering as he observes me. It's nice to be praised, but I feel nervous. I feel as if I'm being evaluated by a great appraiser.

「Are Master handled by Alistair-dono too?」

『Only on some parts, but there are various thing too』

「Is that so.....I won't ask for details. However, not only Fran, but Master also has grown a lot」

『I felt a little embarrassed』

This may be the first time that someone other than Fran has praised my growth. I think I'm a bit of a simple-minded guy, but I can't help but be happy about it.

『Th-thanks』

「That's my line. The best of the best swords, and the best armor made from my work. It was a feast for the eyes」

After that, we spent the rest of the day talking about various things with Gallus.

Chapter 475: The Five with Antennae and Shells

『It's probably the time for us to head to Alessa huh?』

「Nn」

A few days after the incident. Fran's job was already gone, and Gallus and the others had decided to move on. I think it's safe to say that we've almost finished our business in the capital.

As for me, I was thinking if we could stay a little longer.

「Finally, training」

Fran is motivated. Besides, I'm curious about what's going on in the north.

In the end, we decided to head to Alessa. I heard that we had to apply for permission from the guild before entering the Plains of the Demon Wolf.

There are no penalties for entering without permission, but if we have permission, we can get support from the guild in the worst-case scenario, and complete a request for investigations and such.

In particular, the Plains of the Demon Wolf is a Grade A magical area, so it's not easy to get permission to explore it solo unless you're a rank B adventurer or higher.

Come to think of it, I've heard a similar story about the Crystal Cage near Barbra. It seems that not only were they able to receive higher level requests due to their higher rank, but also the restrictions on exploring magical areas were lifted.

『We've already received our reward, so there's certainly no reason for us to stay in the royal capital any longer』

「Nn」

『For the time being, let's greet the guild』

「Okay」

In case you're wondering, we received bounties and special rewards from the guild and the country. But the amount we spent on Gallus' protection request and the auction. Also, considering the amount of money that Fran donated to rebuild the orphanage and relief center, we are completely in the red. Even so, we still have about five million goldes in our pocket.

Besides, it made Fran's reputation even stronger. Fran's reputation for not only saving people with her healing power, but also for investing large sums of money to help the weak, was now beginning to be known as the Black Cat Saint.

I've heard that Fran likes the Black Lightning Princess better because it makes her seems stronger. But in the royal capital, the name "saint" has become overwhelmingly more popular. Wherever she goes, she is called a saint.

Even now, on our way to the guild, she was being approached by many people. At that time, everyone would call her 「Saintess-sama」 or 「Saintess-san」 .

Well, Eliante will be begging her to stay in the royal capital. As long as Fran is here, the reputation of the Adventurer's Guild will remain high.

That state of affairs was no different in the guild. Right now, it's just the royal capital, but sooner or later, the name of the Black Cat Saints might spread to the surrounding towns. Although Fran would be unhappy about it.

「Stellia」

「Oya, what can I do for you today?」

「I'd like to speak to Eliante」

「Then you can go up yourself. If it's you, we won't have to worry」

「Nn」

It was a complete face pass already. It's not so much that her rank has risen, but that her trustworthiness in the capital has increased. Although it was highly possible that Stellia thought it was a hassle for her to act as guide for her.

『There's a sign of someone coming from Eliante's room. Maybe she has a visitor』

「Nn」

I guess we'll have to come back later huh? Well, for the time being, we'll just say hello and let her know that we'll be back later.

Fran knocks on the room door.

『Ooh. So, you're able to knock on the door now huh』

(Fufun)

I couldn't help but admire her, and Fran stuck out her smug little chest. No, it's not that big of deal. But for me, it was an event that made me feel that she had grown a lot. Because it's Fran, you know? She's knocking, right? Isn't that amazing?

「Who is it? Come in」

It didn't seem like an important guest. When Fran entered the office, she saw a group of familiar warriors chatting with Eliante. They were the half-insect kin mercenaries who had stood out during the incident.

「Ara, you've come at the right times. We were just talking about you」

「About me?」

「Yeah. These are old acquaintances of mine, members of the mercenary group Antennae and Shells」

「Hi, there. I'm Robin. I'm the sub-leader of Antennae and Shells」

The refreshing man who asked her to shake his hand is a half-insect kin of a hard shrimp. Unlike when he was in battle, his shell has disappeared, except for his eyes and antennae, he looks no different from a normal human. His ability is also much lower than in battle.

「I'm Hobbs」

「Effie...」

「I'm Anne!」

「My name is Shingen」

They introduce themselves in the order of locusts, dragonfly, fanged ants, and mirages clam.

Hobbs, in his boyish form, has a cool, rugged air about him. Like Robin, he has a human-like appearance.

Effie of the dragonfly looks like a rather quiet—or rather, shy type of woman. Anne the Fang Ant is a girl who seems to have a lot of energy. Shingen the mirages clam, as I felt about him before, is probably a gentle and powerful type.

「We usually active in the small nations to the south, but this time we happened to be working in the north. We were lucky enough to be in this city」

「Lucky?」

Isn't that the correct word for this is bad luck? You almost died, remember?

「It's luck. Thanks to it, we were in time for our friends in her predicament」

「Well, It was a good money too」

Robin seems to be a hot-blooded man, just like his image. Hobbs seems to be the oblique type.

「.....It was a good fight」

「It's been a while since I can rampage as much as I want」

The two women also seem to be the type to enjoy combat. They are happy to talk about fighting a pseudo fanatic sword wielder.

「I'm glad we all survived」

Shingen-kun. He looks like he's having a hard time, but hang in there!

「Eliante told me about you. She said she fought with you against a powerful enemy and saved her life. Thank you. Let me give you my gratitude」

「Wha, Robin! You're acting like a guardian!」

「She saved my friend's life. Isn't that a proper courtesy?」

「You're always so hot-blooded though!」

While saying that, Eliante's face looks not so happy. I guess there is a kind of bond that can only be shared between them.

「Th-then? What can I do for you?」

「Nn. Going to Allesa」

「Eh? You're leaving the royal capital?」

「Nn」

「Wha-wait a minute! I still have a lot of work for you to do!」

Eliante lamented, but Fran's resolve remained unchanged. It's a job that could be done by any other adventurer, and it's not like the nobles have completely stopped messing with us.

She must have understood that. Eliante nodded reluctantly with a pitiful look on her face.

「I understand then.....So, when do you leave?」

「Tomorrow」

「To-tomorrow? C-can you at least stay for another weeks——」

She was probably calculating in her head how to get Fran to complete the request before she left. But it was Robin, who had been listening to the conversation, who admonished Eliante, who was so shocked that he thought she might cling to her and stopped her.

「Eliante. Don't interfere with a warrior's departure」

「Uuh. You guys don't know how much work I do, so you can't say that!」

「We're going to stay in town for a while and take some jobs」

「Re-really? You sure about that?」

「Yeah」

「Yes, I heard that! I got your word! You won't get away with this!」

Hearing Eliante's words and actions, her friends gave her the same wry smile.

「Haah. You're the same as always huh」

「...Really」

「She never change huh——」

「You're right」

Eliante.....She is a deplorable person huh. She's a woman with a good appearance but her personality is pretty bad.....

Chapter 476: Departure from the Royal Capital

『Yo...』

『It's you again huh』

I'm wrapped up in a feeling as if I'm dreaming, even though I shouldn't need sleep. I don't know how many times I've got this, but I'm getting used to it. At least I've experienced this situation enough to not be distraught.

The place was the familiar white space. Standing there was a man I recognized. He was a stout man with silver hair, and was dressed in a kimono-like robe.

『Come to think of it, the Moon Festival was coming up huh』

I've heard that there's a big Moon Festival held every year in the royal capital, but now it's on an emergency. This year, it seems that only a simple ceremony will be held.

『Hey, who are you? Is the mysterious spirit inside me, is you? What are you? Are you Fenrir?』

『Sorry. I'll get back to you on that next time』

『Didn't you say you'd tell me the next time we met?』

『Whose fault do you think it is.....? Anyway, things have changed a bit. It's not safe to give you information about me. If I'm not careful, my memory will be.....』

『Anyway, for now, listen to me』

『...Okay』

Hearing the serious tone of the man's voice, I understood that it was some kind of urgent matter.

『But you look really tired, don't you?』

The man, however, looked a little different from when I had met him before. I'm sure he looked a little more domineering or spirited expression back then.....

The man in front of me now, was incredibly exhausted. He looked pale and had terrible dark circles under his eyes. Did he have hollow cheeks too?

『It's a lot of things. Including the fact that there's something unusual going on with you』

『What?』

『You know about it yourself, but you're in a bit of a--No, it's quite dangerous information』

『The, uh, mysterious voice huh?』

Something inside me were screaming at me to devour everything. Heaven and earth, gods and demons, people and beast, devour them all for nourishment, was it?

『That's not all』

『Is there anything else?』

『Too many of it. I just don't have the power to solve it right from here』

Then why did you bother to show up in here.

『Anyway, here's what I want you to do, come to the Plains of the Demon Wolf within 20 days』

『...Do I have to go to the altar? In 20 days?』

『That's right. Because in that period of time, the moon's magic is still powerful』

The moon's magic huh. I wonder if she's a member of the Silver Moon Goddess' family, since her power increases during the Moon Festival. I know he's not the goddess herself, because he's a man.

『So, at that time, I'm going to reveal myself. And a whole lot more things too』

『Ah, Wait——』

The man just says it and disappears.

And at the same time as the man's figure dissolves into the void, my vision became clearer. The white space disappears in an instant, and I'm back in our room at the inn.

Or rather, I'm not moving at all to begin with, and only my spirit is being called into that white space.

『Good grief! It's so one-sided, every time!』

Nevertheless, I've heard some important information this time.

『The Altar of the Plains of the Demon Wolf huh』

It was the place where I first woke up in this world. I knew there was a secret there. Not only for the sake of Fran's training, but also for myself, I now have a reason to go to the Plains of the Demon Wolf.

「.....Master?」

『Fran, did I wake you?』

「...Nn. Something weird」

『Actually——』

I told her everything that had just happened. I've already told Fran all about the mysterious voices and the Fanatics when I cannibalized the Fanatics.

She was pretty worried, but I appeased her by saying there was nothing to worry about it.....

「We have to get to the plains!」

Well, this is what's going to happen huh. After this, we planned to go and say hello to the head of the court physician, but I'm afraid she's going to ignore that too.

『Wait a minute, we still have 20 days. We can travel to Alessa in a few days, and the Plains of the Demon Wolf are not that big. There's no need to rush』

「But it's dangerous, right?」

『That's what he told me, but if it was a urgent matter of minutes and seconds, he would have said something more urgent. He'd say, Come to the altar right now』

So, I think we need to hurry, but we don't need to rush.

『Besides, it's better to say something to the higher ups first, right?』

「.....I undertand」

She managed to understand me. I thought so.....No, I didn't expect her to cut off the meal with the court physician so quickly. There were some important people here too, like the chief of the court physicians and the chamberlain, who praised Fran's achievements, but they were almost completely ignored.

Maybe the meal was about 30 minutes long? I never thought for that Fran, would leave her meal.....When asked why she was in a hurry, Fran told him that she had to go to Alessa, but for some strange reason, he was convinced.

Apparently, he had received a secret message from the adventurer's guild, and they thought she was heading to Alessa to help prepare for Raidos Kingdom's attack. Well, I didn't dare to clear up the misunderstanding because it was better to be misunderstood than to offend them.

「Master, we're going to Alessa!」

『Yes yes. I know』

Nothing will stop her anymore.

「Urushi, go for it!」

「Woof!」

With Urushi's legs, we would be able to reach Alessa in four days without straining ourselves. However, we didn't set off immediately. When Fran jumped onto Urushi's back in front of the main gate, a voice called out to her.

「You know.....Well. I just wanted to thank you for all your help. I really appreciate your help this time. On behalf of the adventurers on the royal capital, I would like to say our gratitude for you. Thank you very much」

Then Eliante bowed deeply, and the others too, one after another, shook Fran's hand and bowed their heads.

Then, for some reason, a crackling sound began to rise from the surroundings. It was the sound of soldiers, adventurers, and civilians clapping their hands as she left the royal capital.

「Saintess-sama! Thank you for saving us!」

「Come back again!」

「Saintess-san! Thank you!」

Isn't this the first time she had so many people blessed her on our journey?

「Fran, come again! You're always welcome here!」

「Come back and show me your equipment too!」

「You've saved us!」

With these blessing, cheers, and bittersweet words at her back, Urushi begins to run under Fran's direction. She is nonchalant, but I know she hides her embarrassment. I can see a faint smile on her face.

『A lot has happened huh.....I hope they will recover soon』

「Nn」

『Next up, the nostalgic Alessa huh』

「Looking forward to it」

「woof!」

Although, it's actually not even been six months.

「Urushi, Let's go!」

「woof woof woo-f!」

『Aah, Don't push yourself too hard』

Chapter 477: Side: Alistair

This was an urgent matter.

「This presence is.....a divine sword!」

What a surprise, the power of the divine sword has been unleashed on this continent. As a divine level blacksmith, I can sense the presence of a divine sword.

Especially when it's on released state, I can sense it so much better. What's more, surprisingly, there were two divine sword's presence.

I knew one of it. It's probably Ashwrath's Earth Sword, Gaia. However, I had no idea about the other one.

Does it mean, it was a divine sword that even I have never touched has appeared.

However, there is also some strange feelings about it. There was an obvious distortion in the presence of the divine sword that seemed to be fighting Gaia. There was a possibility that it had already been damaged, or for some reason it had not been able to display its true power.

「No, I will know when I see it」

Anyway, I have to go. That's my mission and my purpose in life. However, there was someone who interrupted me as I started to act.

「A-chan? Where the hell are you going?」

Blonde hair and white skin. Slender body with pointed ears. She has all the features of an elf, and she looks like a gentle woman.

「Winnarhyn...! Since when!」

But don't be fooled by her gentle appearance and her voice tone. This woman is one of the people I'm least able to compete with in this world.

「This is my house, remember? If you're sneaking around and acting suspiciously, I'll notice, right?」

「I even went to the trouble of using a tool to remove my presence though!」

「Oh my? But it didn't hide your presence quite well huh? Isn't it a failure?」

「This is why i hate a high elf! Making a fool of a divine level blacksmith's tool is...!」

Yes, this woman is not just an elf. She was one of the High Elves, one of the strongest races of elves in this world. She was also one of the most famous of the High Elves.

The exact number of High Elves is unknown. In addition, while many High Elves are keeping their activities hidden from the public, there are a few who are actively involved with humans.

One of those few High Elves was this Winnarhyn. The other two known names are Willow Magnus, a historical researcher. The other one is Wigan Wigan, a wandering botanist.

It is just a coincidence that all three of them have "wi" at the beginning of their names. There is a time when names beginning with "wi" are popular among elves, and all three were born at that time. Well, in elves sense of time it's hundreds of years ago already.

The reason why the latter two have family names is because they were once nobles. The reason it was because the country that had anointed them as nobles had already gone.

In the first place, a High Elves couldn't be accepted by the country's nobles. There is even an anecdote about Wigan Wigan who, when asked what he wanted to name his family, replied that it was too much trouble and that Wigan was fine.

Well, the fact that the country was destroyed so easily shows that the High Elves were not interested in running the country. If they had been able to use their power in any way, it would have been easy to avoid ruin.

Although the three High Elves are well known for their various anecdotes, Willow Magnus and Wigan Wigan are usually wandering the world for research and only occasionally submit their research results to the guild. With that in mind, Winnarhyn was the only High Elf in the world whose whereabouts were known.

There are two famous titles for Winnarhyn. The first is "The Seven Sages" which is the name given to a group of seven people who are said to be as strong as rank S adventurers. Well, none of the seven sages have ever taken that name themselves. In the first place, there were only two mages in the group.

This is just a self proposed organization by countries that have become really concerned about the rise of the guild's influence, in order to keep them in check. Some of them have never even been to the battlefield. It's just seven people who are thought to be extremely talented. The reason why they named them "The Sages" was to counter the rough image of adventurers.

However, from what I saw, these seven sages were not foolish.

First, there are three divine sword owners: The Knight of the Gods, Owner of the first Divine sword Alpha. Although only his job title has been revealed, there is no doubt that he exists.

On the other hand, the owner of the Mad Sword, Berserk, was under the "Queen of the Night". This isn't a person name, but the name of a special organization for the operation of the divine sword.

Furthermore, the last one is the king of Philias, the owner of the Demon Sword, Diabolos. However, this isn't true. There is no way for the owner of that Diabolos can casually appear in public. As royalty, they have the right to command the demons, so they are probably using that to hide the true owner. Even the king is treated as the shadow warrior of the owner of the divine sword. I believe that someone from the royal family who is said to be dead is actually still alive and is the master of the divine sword.

Of the remaining four, three of them are kings of powerful nations. The king of the land of demons. The king of the land of the Insect-kin. The king of the Dwarf nation. As for these three, I don't know what they're capable of. Their countries are too powerful to be attacked, and they've never experienced a large-scale war. However, they are probably not weak.

And the last one was the High Elf Winnarhyn. I'm well aware of her abilities. I once had her accompany me to a dungeon to gather materials a long time ago. However, in the case of Winnarhyn, her other title is probably far more famous than the seven sages.

Her title was "The Director of the Academy of Magic".

In a special area of the Belios Kingdom, where autonomy is granted, there is a magic academy where children with magic talents from all over the world gather. The director of the academy was Winnarhyn.

Well, it's directed by a High Elf who is said to be the world's greatest mages. That's why she's popular.

There are magic academies and magic schools all over the world, but the term "Academy of Magic" simply refers to the magic academy where Winnarhyn is the director.

「You still have a lot of work to do, don't you?」

「Y-yeah」

「I'm so sad. I can't believe A-chan is going to be the kind of girl who breaks her promises」

「Ugh...」

I'm currently renting a room in a corner of the academy of magic. Since the chief, Winnarhyn, knows who I am. It was a place where I could stay quietly and comfortably.

My title is temporary blacksmithing instructor. Well, it's an easy job, just a little light instruction for the chicks.

And in exchange for a temporary identity, food, and shelter, I take care of the maintenance of the magic armor and equipment on the Academy of Magic. It can even be said as a perk. It's a great way to get a feel for what's going on in the world of magic.

「B-but...I can't let the presence of the divine sword go unchecked」

「Umm. I guess so. The divine sword is dangerous」

「That's right」

「But, If you don't finish repairing my armor, I'm not going to be able to teach my advanced classes~」

「Well, that's true.....」

I can't be too pushy on her because she has been a great help to me when I was young and still is. I knew how scary it would be if she lost her temper.

「Besides, you haven't finished repairing and maintaining that golem, have you? Without it, we're going to be very late for the mock battle class」

「C-can you do something about it! You can get by without it, right? Why don't we let them deal with Winnarhyn directly?」

「It can't be helped huh. I understand. Well, I guess you owe me this time」

「But, I'll give you one assignment」

「A-assignment?」

Oi oi, what kind of impossible task are you trying to impose?

「Yeah. I've asked you to introduce the Beast King or Ashwrath as our instructor for the mock battle, right?」

「N-no, But, that is.....」

A mock battle against rank S adventurers? What kind of enemy do you have in mind? Are you trying to train people to fight the evil gods? But when I told her it was impossible, Winnarhyn surprisingly backed down.

「I understand. So I'll compromise」

「Compromise?」

「Yes. If they're not at the level of those two, can you go find someone who is somewhat strong? If they're adventurers, at least they must be a B ranker or higher」

「Uh, okay...I don't have a choice huh. I'll take care of it」

「You promise? I'm hardly ever away from here, so I don't have that kind of connection at all」

Well, if push comes to shove, we'll have to rely on the Beast King's. Worst-case scenario, I can sell off some magical equipment to the guild and ask them to introduce me to an adventurer instead.

「We can't hold a high-ranking adventurer for a long time, you know?」

「I know, I know, It will only takes about a week or so」

「By when should I bring them here?」

「 Lets see. I need it as soon as possible.....Can I have it within 5 years? 」

Thank God, the High Elves have a screwed-up sense of time. It's a hassle, but I'll figure it out somehow. More importantly, it's time for the divine sword now!

Chapter 478: The Nostalgic Alessa

「I can see it! It's Alessa」

「woof woof!」

『Well, it felt strangely nostalgic』

Was it because this was the first town I visited after coming to this world? This town felt special to me.

There were not many people lined up in front of the gate. This is a normal sight in Alessa, which isn't that big of a town, but after seeing the royal capital, I felt quite lonely.

But as usual, there were no signs of war. There was no sign of the usual soldiers coming and going, no sign of the troop merchants who were looking to take advantage of the special wartime demand.

It was perfectly normal. They looked the same as they did when we were there.

『If we suddenly descend in front of the gate, there might be confusion』

「Nn」

So, we descended to a somewhat remote area and walked to Alessa. The merchants and adventurers who were waiting for their turn, of which there were several, were looking at us with horrified faces.

They were surprised to see Urushi.

However, the reaction of the soldiers guarding the gate was different from that of the merchants.

「Oya? You're Fran-chan right?」

「Nn?」

「You've come back to Alessa?」

「Delt」

It was Delt, the gatekeeper we had gotten to know best when we were in Alessa.

Apparently, Fran remembered his name too. I had forgotten about Cruz too until we met again at the martial arts tournament. Does she remember Delt?

In Fran's case, it seems she never forgets a strong opponent. It's almost certain, if they had crossed swords before.

The other important thing is whether they are friendly to her or not. If they are friendly from the start, like Delt, and she have been in contact with them for a reasonable length of time, she probably won't forget them.

In Cruz's case, he wasn't that strong, and he didn't make much of an impression because he was neutral rather than favorable. Well, he was good-looking, but he was so plain.

「Well. Welcome back」

「Thanks」

For Fran, this town, where she registered as an adventurer, must be very special. She nodded happily at Delt, who greeted her with a smile.

「Well, then, show me your ID cards」

「Nn」

「Yes, thankyou—Oooohhh? Eh? Fran-chan, this is.....!」

「Nn?」

Delt's eyes widen as he looks at the guild card. He also alternates between the card and Fran's face, and reads the names on it again.

「Th-this is without a doubt, is Fran's card! H-how did you get to B rank in such a short period of time?」

「Nn. Ranked up in the royal capital」

「The royal capital.....! I heard, there's a big uproar and it inflicted quite a lot of damage to the royal capital.....There are rumors flying around that the royal castle has been destroyed, that the royal capital has been obliterated, and so on」

Apparently, the details of the damage are not being conveyed. No, it seems that the information is so mixed up that they don't know which one is correct.

「A lot of people died.....」

「Aah, so it's true there's a terrible mess there huh. But I'm glad that Fran-chan is okay. Well then, Welcome back to Alessa」

「Nn. Thanks」

We came back to Alessa, it was still the same as before, even from the inside. I don't see any effects from the battle with Raidos at all.

『For the time being, let's go to the guild』

「Understood」

「Woof!」

That's how we arrived at the adventurer's guild, and it was just like before. No, it's rather lively, isn't it? the number of adventurers seemed to have increased a bit. Well, I guess it depends on the time of day.

「Pardon—」 (1)

『I've said this to you every time. Isn't that wrong?』

When she entered the Adventurer's Guild, all eyes turned to Fran. Some were cautious, some were surprised. But half of them seemed to know Fran from before, and there was a sense of surprise and respect.

Some of them even tried to make a trouble with Fran, but they were stopped by the adventurers around them.

「Ulmut's——」

「Martial arts tournament's winner——」

Apparently, they don't know that she had been promoted to Rank B yet. It's a bit far from the capital, and I guess they don't bother to announce information about adventurers in other cities. It would be a different story if she were ranked A or higher, though.

However, it seems that she is known to have won a prize in the martial arts tournament. Hearing the story, the man who had stepped forward was turning back in a hurry.

「Welcome. Ummm, is young miss an adventurer too?」

I didn't recognize the receptionist. Perhaps she was a newcomer hired after Fran had left. I could see that she was confused when she saw the Fran appearance.

「Nn」

「What can I do for you today?」

「I want to enter the Plains of the Demon Wolf. What do I need to do to apply?」

「Huh? The Plains of the Demon Wolf? You see, it's a grade A magical area and normally only adventurers of Rank B or higher can enter」

「Eh? Then young miss should know you can't enter it, right?」

Half of the adventurers around her are laughing at Fran's words, aren't they? When she was in Alessa before, she was a D ranker, so it can't be helped.

「This」

「Guild Card? Eeeeh? Eeeh?」

She had a similar reaction to Delt. This girl was more intense, though.

「No way, this child is a B ranker?」

The moment the receptionist muttered, the adventurers around her made a commotion. Then, all at once, they became noisy. I guess they couldn't believe it. Well, of course they are. After all, it means, she's stronger than them.

This is not going to go away for a while, is it? That's what I was thinking, but then someone appeared from the back of the guild and clapped his hands lightly, and the whole place went quiet.

「Hai hai, stop making a commotion」

「Aah, Nell-senpai」

The person who showed up was Nell, the receptionist who had taken care of us before.

「Long time no see huh, Fran-chan」

「Nn」

「We welcome you, Fran, the Black Lightning Princess. Or, would you prefer the Black Cat Saintess instead?」

「The Black Lightning Princess is cooler」

When Fran replied with a sullen expression, Nell chuckled.

「Well then. Fran, the Black Lightning Princess, please come this way. The guild master wants to see you」

「Okay」

Hmmm, I guess guild master already heard about our arrival. Well, it's convenient that we'll have to talk to guild master in order to enter the magical area anyway.

Nell's admission must have made them realize that she wasn't lying. The adventurers were staring at Fran with shocked faces. Well, no matter how you look at it, she doesn't look any stronger than they are, so it can't be helped. With the quiet astonishment of the adventurers at our back, she starts walking behind Nell.

「I heard, you play a great role in the royal capital」

「.....That's not true」

Hearing Nell's words, Fran shook her head with a reluctant expression. Well, it was a battle that gave me a lot to think about in terms of combat.

Seeing Fran's reaction, Nell quickly changes the subject. As expected of a receptionist who is skilled at reading people's expressions.

「And before that, you were awesome at the Ulmut martial arts tournament! Congratulations on your win」

「I didn't win」

But this wasn't the best result for Fran either. She experienced a good fight, but she was outclassed by Amanda. She showed her an overwhelming difference.

Nell looks at Fran with dismay, who is more disappointed that she lost than that she did well.

「Fran. Before I know it, you're just like Amanda huh.....」

Does that mean she's a battle junkie too? Well, it's recently been discovered that most high ranked adventurers are combat enthusiasts. In fact, if they doesn't like combat, they won't get any stronger.

Chapter 479: Klimut's Melancholy

Chapter 479: Klimut's Melancholy

「Guild master. I've brought Fran-can with me」

「Yeah, come in」

When we entered the office, she was greeted by Klimut, the elven, spirits user guild master. He's looking at her with the same stern expression as usual.

After Nell left, he offered Fran the couch and sat down across from us.

「Long time no see」

「Nn」

「Haah...So much things happened in such a short time.....Even the word "genius" sounds dumb」

I guess Klimut's words are not just about rank. We didn't know much before, but Klimut is pretty strong. I don't need to appraise him to know that.

It's not about his status, but about the presence that oozes from within him. And Klimut must have felt the same way about Fran.

He looks at Fran in astonishment. Well, she much stronger than she was when she left Alessa.

「Anyway, congratulations on your ranking up」

Although he said congratulations, Klimut's face did not look like he was congratulating her at all. Rather, it was more of a frown.

「Good grief, even if they have the ability to do it, it's not like we can take advantage of a child.....Well, what's done is done」

After all, he was against the idea of putting children in danger as adventurers. The other adventurer's guilds don't have tests in the first place. If a child comes to the guild, the guild will scare them away. After that, they are treated as apprentices and taught the basics.

「So, what brought you back to Alessa?」

「Training」

「Training? Are you still trying to get stronger?」

When Klimut looked stunned, Fran nodded her head with a serious face.

「Nn」

「You've reached B rank at age 12 you know? That's one of the top five in the guild's all-time record」

Top five, does that mean there's others above Fran?

「Who is the number 1?」

「Hmm? Are you talking about the historical rankings?」

「Nn」

「The youngest person to reach A rank is the old S ranked adventurer, 『Battalion』」

「Battalion? It's a nickname?」

「Yeah. However, because the records are too old, only the alias is now transmitted. His abilities are also unknown. However, it is said that this person became B ranker at the age of 8, A ranker at the age of 10, and S ranker at the age of 14」

What the hell is that? I thought it was a strange nickname, but what kind of monster he is? As expected of a genius with a long history.

「Even though you are not as strong as that person, you are growing faster. Do you still want to be stronger? Aren't you already strong enough?」

「I'm not strong enough」

Fran shook her head and muttered in frustration.

「I kept losing. If I hadn't gotten help, I would have lost every battle. And there are a lot of strong guys out there」

She must be thinking back to the battle with the Marquis and what I told her about the battle between the strong.

「Besides, I haven't beat the Beast King or Ashwrath yet」

「Haah. It looks like you've had a very intense few months huh. And you still can't win against them?」

He was even more dismayed. Come to think of it, Klimut doesn't seem to be a battle junkie, which is unusual for a senior adventurer. If you're asking me if he's a person with common sense, I think he's not.

「Is that why you're going to training huh?」

「Going to the Plains of the Demon Wolf to train」

「.....Are you going to go in there? By yourself?」

「I'm already a B ranker, I should be fine」

I know Klimut won't look any better. But he can't stop her, because she's fulfilled the rank requirement.

「You're right.....Haah, it can't be helped. Even if you don't get permission, you'll still go in there anyway, right?」

Fran nods to Klimut, who shrugs his shoulders in resignation.

「Of course」

「Then there's no point in stopping you huh. But that place has become quite dangerous lately, don't push yourself too hard」

「Understood」

「...Your prompt answer smells fishy...Dont push yourself too hard, okay」

「Haaah. Also, please don't go to the north. It's very confusing at the moment」

「Confusion?」

It seems that the skirmish with the Raidos Kingdom has not been settled after all.

「Yeah. Honestly, I don't want to send a child to war」

As he said this, he gave a light explanation of the current situation.

「First, the first Raidos Kingdom army was prevented by an adventurer named Jean Doobie」

「I know it」

「Ah, by the way, did you and Jean know each other? He writes about being together with you on his diary」

「Nn」

「However, Raidos' invasion did not end there. It seems to have been done sporadically, on several occasions」

The reason for this seems to be an experiment in necromancy. It seems that the enemy is using an army of undead.

「I guess it's a countermeasure against Jean. They can't reach Jean, but there's so many of it. Jean and the adventurers he hired to guard him are running around to counter them」

Donadrond, who was an instructor for newcomers in this guild, is also out there.

「Klimut isn't going? You're Klimut of Calamity, right?」

「...Haaah. I'm not that big of a guy to be given such a big name, though. Well, when I get serious, the surroundings might be destroyed」

In other words, you're not going to go into battle with Raidos just for a skirmish huh.

「Anyway, you are allowed to enter the Plains of the Demon Wolf. But please stay away from the skirmish with Raidos. Is that clear?」

Klimt tells her with a sigh, rubbing the wrinkles between his eyes. Guild masters in every town seem to have a hard time huh. Well, Fran is making more work for them.

Chapter 480: Let's Find Out About the Plains of the Demon Wolf

Chapter 480: Let's Find Out About the Plains of the Demon Wolf

After we greeted Klimut, we went to the adventurer's guild's library room. We were going to read the information on the Plains of the Demon Wolf.

I've heard that the magic beast is even stronger than when I was there. It would be dangerous to go in there without any information.

We looked around and found a good amount of detailed information. After all, it is a magical area near the town, and it seems that there is a certain amount of research and consideration being done in Alessa.

『Then read as much as you can, Fran, okay?』

「Nn」

Now, how long will Fran be able to stay awake?

First of all, the types of magical beasts in the Plains of the Demon Wolf, it was concluded that there were no certain rules.

The chance of encountering rare magical beasts are not zero, but it also means that the materials and ecosystems we can obtain are not constant. Moreover, if the monsters that appear are different each time, it is difficult to plan countermeasures.

In a normal magical area, a magic beast lives under a certain ecosystem, so as long as we take the proper measures, we can fight them. However, in the Plains of the Demon Wolf, we had to deal with them randomly.

This is probably another factor that increases the threat level of the Plains of the Demon Wolf.

There was a list of magical beasts that had been confirmed to have appeared in the past, but there were so many that I gave up trying to remember them.

It was that diverse and inconsistent.

In addition, it is said that the cycle of magical beasts being born in that plain, where the Forest of Exhaustion makes it easy for magic power to accumulate, is extremely fast. The cycle of magical beasts is said to be several times faster than elsewhere. There is a competition for survival, and the victorious monsters will evolve to become area bosses.

However, the higher-ranked magic beast, needs more magic power to survive, so it was concluded that as long as the Forest of Exhaustion existed, no magic beast would be able to get out.

It is said that there have been a few times in the past when magical beasts with excellent flying ability have gone out beyond the Forest of Exhaustion. However, the phenomenon of magic power absorption in that forest extends into the sky, so unless there is a great deal of trouble inside, magic beasts will not try to approach that forest.

Also, several times a year, the guild conducts regular inspections, and it is said that the magic beasts change quite often.

It is said that in a normal magical area, the same individual that has grown up to be powerful will often reign for decades. However, in the Plains of the Demon Wolf, even vicious demon beasts of threat level C and above are frequently replaced.

Even a threat level A magic beast would have difficulty surviving for decades in that plain. It seems that the speed at which the magical power of magic beasts' recovers is very slow in that plain. I don't know if it's because of the effects of the Forest of Exhaustion or if there are other reasons, but it seems that magical beasts need to absorb several times more magical power than other places in order to survive.

As a result, if they do not constantly fight and eat other magic beasts, they will not be able to recover the magical power they have consumed and will become weak. However, if they become too strong, other magical beasts will not be able to get close to them, and they will have a hard time hunting them. Moreover, their magic efficiency would be lower.

As a result, the stronger they become, the more they have trouble recovering their internal magical power, and when they are weakened, they can be defeated by lower-ranked magical beasts.

It should have the same effect on humans, but they won't get such significant results in a short period of time. I guess it's because it's a grade A magical area and it's difficult to stay there for a long time, so they haven't been able to conduct any experiments.

Could it be that I had also suffered from this phenomenon when I was in the Plains of the Demon Wolf? To be honest, I didn't notice it. After all, it was the first place in this world where I appeared. I didn't have anything to compare it to, and in my case, I was able to absorb the demon stone and recover.

Also, when I escaped, my rank went up and I just assumed it was because of that, my magical efficiency got better too.

What's more, the most important thing for me is the pedestal in the middle of the plain, but I couldn't find any information about it. We asked the old man who was in charge of the library, but he said he had never heard of such a thing.

They know that there is something that looks like ruins in the middle of the plain, but no so-called altar-like object seems to have been confirmed.

(Has disappeared?)

『Hmm. I guess that's what happens when you think about it normally』

But that mystery man told me to come to the altar, didn't he? No, no? He just said to come to the Plains of the Demon Wolf. Maybe he didn't say the altar.

『Well, I don't know what to think, I guess we'll find out when we get there』

(Nn!)

The next thing I looked at was the material on the Forest of Exhaustion.

However, there were no new facts that surprised me that much.

What caught my attention was the fact that the phenomenon of magical power absorption was considered to be caused by something underground.

It is a phenomenon that is less effective in the air and much more powerful on the surface, but it is said that the rate at which magic is sucked out of you increases even more as you dig into the ground.

However, the more they dug, the less magic they could use, so the more they had to dig by hand. It seems that the investigation was abandoned because it was too dangerous to proceed in the forest where goblins and other creatures were running rampant.

That was why it was so troublesome. A low-level adventurer would fall behind even against goblins.

Well, a genuinely skilled high-ranking adventurer like Fran, for example, wouldn't have problem at all. I'm not worried about that. It's just that my trauma will be stimulated a little bit.

I don't want to stay there for too long if possible, but depending on the strength of the magic beasts that appear in the Plains of the Demon Wolf, I may have to consider using the Forest of Exhaustion as a base of operations.

As I was thinking about this, I felt a presence approaching our side. It was clearly aiming for Fran, but I didn't feel any hostility or malicious intent.

「Hey. Is that you, Fran-san?」

「Oi Oi! Don't tell me you forgot me! It's me!」

「...?」

The man spoke to her in a familiar way, but Fran completely forgot about him. She could see the man's head tilted back with a scowl and a pathetic look of shock on his face.

「...Who?」

「Ha, hahaha. We dove the dungeon together, remember? I am Clad-sama, leader of the Dragon's Roar!」

「...Uumm」

It was Clad, an adventurer who we had dived into the dungeon with before. He used to be a yankee who would come and mess with Fran, but his attitude has changed completely. He had learned a lot about reality during that adventure, and in the end, he recognized Fran's abilities.

I'm just sorry, but Fran is seriously forgot about him. He had a bad attitude, and he was weak. But I'm kind of impressed with him. He was a lot stronger than last time.

Name: Clad

Age: 23 Years old

Race: Human

Job: Spear Warrior

Status Level: 27

HP:148 MP:104 STR:86 PHY:70 AGI:74 INT: 55 DEX: 49 Magic:50

Skill

Transport: Lv2, Acrobatic: Lv4, Crisis Detection: Lv4, Fasting: Lv3,

Skill: Lv5, Intimidation: Lv3, Climbing: Lv3, Poison Resistance: Lv1, Ki Manipulation

Equipment

Fine steel spear, Armored lizard Armor, rock bull Armor, Armored lizard boots, stone spider cloak, detoxification ring.

He can be said as a full-fledged D ranker already.

「Aah, no. It's nothing. Haha...」

Maybe he was expecting a conversation like 「Long time no see!」 「Hey, it's been a while!」. But Fran's attitude seemed to have broken his heart. He left, looking sad.

I'm sorry, Clad-kun. But we don't have much time to bother with you. Stay strong.

「Ara, you're done?」

「Nn」

「Is that so」

「Nn?」

As she was leaving, I thought I'd say hello to Nell at the reception.....Next to him, the receptionist who first greeted Fran, had both her cheeks red and swollen. I don't know how people's cheeks get this peachy. It seems that the adventurers have been punished to the point of being quiet.

「Well, I give them a good punishment」

The smiling Nell is scary!

「I'm sho shorry」

Keep up the good work, newbies-san!

Chapter 481: Alessa's Current Situation

Chapter 481: Alessa's Current Situation

The day after Klimut gave us permission to enter the Plains of the Demon Wolf. Before we left, we went to the market.

We've been handing out a lot of food from our dimensional storage in the royal capital instead of cooking it out. We're going to replenish that. I didn't expect Fran would give out curry as well. I guess that's how much she wanted to help the people on the royal capital.

We didn't hand out all of them, but I would like to replenish them if possible.

『Well, it's faster to get the meat ourselves』

「Nn」

In the first place, I don't think there are that many magic beast's meats in Alessa's market. I thought so, but when I actually saw the market, I realized that I was wrong.

「This is, what kind of meat is this?」

There was a good amount of meat from a very powerful magic beast on display. Speaking of Gullinbursti, it was a magic beast that we had used for curry bread in the cooking contest at Barbra. It's a golden boar beast, it's quite tasty, and strong too. It appears in here too huh?

There are also other kinds of magic beast meat in the market. Moreover, this wasn't the only store that sold meat. I don't remember Alessa being a city with such an abundance of meat.

When I was wondering about it, the lady at the store told us a lot before we even asked.

「Amanda-sama's generosity is being passed on to us」

「Amanda? She's in Alessa?」

「Yeah. She's been looking around this town and actively hunting for us」

Amanda has hunted around Alessa, and the magic beast's meat that was sold to the guild as material was also being sold to the town.

「Amanda didn't go to war?」

「I heard that an adventurer named Jean is active, so Amanda-sama is staying behind to protect this town, you know? With her here, there will be fewer people who will do bad things」

「Is that so?」

「Well, there was some confusion because of the war, but the knights are reliable these days. There was less confusion than I thought」

Since the death of Augusto, the vice commander who had been monopolizing the Order, it seems that the Order has been reborn as a much better entity.

「The knights have become well-behaved lately, and the noblemen with dark rumors have been taken down by the authorities, so Alessa has calmed down a lot」

「It was the noblemen who were involved in the coup d'état in the royal capital. Thanks to the disappearance of Count Olmes and other noblemen who originally had a bad reputation around here, business has become much easier」

Until now, they had to pay a kind space fee for stalls on top of other payment. Now that this is no longer necessary, it is much easier for retailers.

After that, we stocked up on meat, spices, seasonings, and vegetables, and headed to our next destination.

「Oya oya? Are you Fran-san by any chance?」

「Nn. Long time no see, Randell」

It was Randell the general store owner, he's the one who give Fran a ride with his carriage before we reached Alessa. He hadn't changed a lot huh.

「I never expect for the hottest topic, the Black Lightning Princess to be here!」

「You know?」

「Hahaha. For a merchant, information is a weapon. Well, in my case, I knew and concerned about you more than most merchants」

「I see」

If he already heard the information from his acquaintance, things will be easier.

「I never thought that the girl from that time would climb so high. But I'm relieved to see that she hasn't changed」

「Hasn't changed? I'm stronger than I was then」

「Aah, that's not what I meant. I'm talking more about what's inside. Some adventurers tend to become overbearing when they rise in rank」

「Hmm?」

In Fran's case, whether it's high or low rank, she never treated someone with proper respect in the first place. She has always been like that even when she was still low in rank, so it would be better to say that she is still the same person as before even when her rank rises.

「So, what are you going to do now? You won't just come to say hello to me just because you're back in Alessa, right? Well, I'm still happy to see you though」

「I need pots and tableware」

「Pots? Tableware?」

「Nn」

When we cooked out in the capital, we often had to give away the pots along with the dishes and the tableware, so even if we cooked new dishes, we did not have enough vessels to hold them.

She asked if Randell's general store have a few of it.

「How much do you need?」

「A lot」

It was a little difficult to explain, but she managed to tell him the size of the pot I wanted.

But, of course, Randell's store did not have everything we needed. However, thanks to Randell's help in contacting other stores, we were able to get the necessary amount.

Some of the shopkeepers even went to the trouble of carrying the tableware and other items on a cart. I guess it was a good thing that we paid generously without haggling.

In addition, there were even people from the Lucille Commerce Association among them. It was a large business association that we had dealt with in Barbra. We heard that they also have a small branch in Alessa. It seems they had branch office on every major city and town in the Kranzel Kingdom.

『Well, now that we have the ingredients and tools, let's go outside the town and cook』

「Nn」

In the past, I had to borrow an inn's kitchen to do any cooking, but now I could handle it with my magic. In fact, I don't have to worry about doing it if it's outside the town.

I can't use magic and cook in the Forest of Exhaustion.

When it comes to that, I will be fine if I cook just right before the Forest of Exhaustion right?

Chapter 482: It's Somehow Related

Chapter 482: It's Somehow Related

『Aah, do it like this』

「Nn?」

『How is it? Can you do it?』

「Like this?」

『Yes yes. That's the correct lenght』

「Okay」

We were now cooking on the plains just right before the Forest of Exhaustion. I don't know if we'll have time to cook after we entered the Plains of the Demon Wolf.

In an improvised hut as a kitchen I made with earth magic. I used fire magic, water magic, and wind magic to mass produce food.

Fran is also helping out. I don't mind with her helping, but for some reason, Fran's seems to be motivated. No, maybe she just wants to get to the Plains of the Demon Wolf as quickly as possible by helping me.

As I continued to cook in the hut, there was a knock at the entrance of the hut.

『I wonder who is it? Someone brave enough to come near this place』

Well, there were signs of adventurers wandering around the area several times. However, a stone-built hut that suddenly appeared on the plains was too suspicious. In the end, we ignored it.

If it tried to get closer, it will notice Urushi lying in front of the door. Even if he was wearing a follower's tag, he was still a powerful beast, they would run away after seeing him if they just wanted to rob us. But, if they tried to use force, Urushi as a watchdog will get rid of it.

But the fact that it was knocking normally meant that it had somehow managed to befriend Urushi. There was no sign of a fight, so maybe they knew each other?

『From the sign, it's just one person, but...Its magic power is quite high. It was not a novice adventurer huh. Who is it i wonder?』

「I'll check it out」

『Yeah, I leave it to you』

Fran sprinted over to the door. Even though it was an improvised hut made with magic, it had a door. Well, it was just a stone cut to look like a door. With Fran's strength, she can open-or perhaps, shift it.

I hadn't expected to really use that door, I had planned to finish cooking in a couple of hours and make it disappear with earth magic.

I told Urushi to turn them away unless it was an emergency. The exception to this is when an adventurer or traveller is being chased by a magical beast.

But would the owner of this sign ever be in danger around this area? It seem to be strong enough to get out of here.

『Fran, how was it?』

「Nn. It's Alistair」

『Huh? Alistair? You said?』

「Nn. Alistair」

『Ummm...Let her in for the time being』

I'm almost done with the cooking. The only thing left to do is to wash the dishes, but that can be done later.

It was really Alistair, a divine level blacksmith, who led by Fran into the hut.

「Hello Master. Long time no see」

『It's really Alistair huh. What are you doing here? I thought you were in the Belios Kingdom』

「It was supposed to be.....I sensed a battle between two divine swords. I couldn't stay there any longer」

『Aah. Come to think of it, Alistair can detect the whereabouts of a divine sword to some extent huh』

That's probably why she knew I was here.

「Once it's in a released state, I can feel it from quite a distance. I can feel the reaction coming from the royal capital of the Kranzel Kingdom」

Belios Kingdom was a country in the northeast. Certainly, if she really aims for the royal capital from there, Alessa would be a good place to pass through.

『So, you're saying you're on your way to find out about the divine sword?』

「That's what I'm talking about. Hey, Master, do you have any information for me?」

『I don't know really know much about it, but I got caught up in it and almost died. Or, should I say I'm about to break huh?』

「What? Can you tell me more about it?」

Hmm. Well, it's about the divine sword. I think it's best to share some information with Alistair. She's kind of has a relation to it right.

『Okay. I'll tell you everything I know』

「That's helpful」

That's how I told Alistair about Fran's adventures, from her arrival in the capital to her departure.

「.....」

『Alistair, what's wrong?』

「No, I'm well aware of Fran's exploits, but the important part of the story is about the divine sword...」

『Oops, sorry』

About halfway through, I got overly enthusiastic and started talking more about Fran. I told her again what I knew about the Fanatics and the fierce battle that followed after Ashwrath showed up.

「Fanatics huh...I never thought it would be still alive after being destroyed」

『It looks like it was half destroyed, and not at its full potential』

「Anyway, did the Fanatics talk? As far as I know, that divine sword doesn't have such a function, but...」

『I think, it was a collection of various human thoughts integrated into the Fanatics』

Just like that, we exchanged some information.

「So, Fanatics have been completely destroyed huh」

『Yeah, Umm, sorry.....』

I know that Alistair has strong feelings about a divine sword. I wonder how she would react if I destroyed it.....However, there is surprisingly no grief on her face.

「...No. Fanatics that have become nothing but spreading disasters must be destroyed. Besides, Master is one of the discarded divine swords. I won't blame you」

She looks a little sad, but she also seems to be convinced. As for the Fanatics, who have become an entity that maliciously manipulates even their own wielder and spreading chaos, I guess she understand that we have no choice but to destroy it.

『When I destroyed the Fanatics, I absorbed their power through cannibalism.....From Alistair's point of view, is there a change on me?』

「Hmm? Changes? In Master's case, I'll have to analyze you carefully to be sure」

『Ahh. No, but we can't do it right now. Sorry』

「Are you in a hurry?」

『Well, a little』

I'm going to find out a lot of my secrets after this, but I'm not sure how much I'm allowed to tell Alistair.

I feel like I could tell her everything, but I'm not quite sure what he's dealing with.....If it has something to do with God, would I be allowed to divulge the secret to Alistair?

He hasn't told me not to talk about it, but won't it backfire and cause trouble for Alistair? The other party is God. I don't even know what kind of logic or thinking they have.

『Actually, there's a place I have to go after this. There, maybe you can find out a little bit about me』

「What? Are you sure? Come to think of it, this place is close to the Plains of the Demon Wolf huh」

『Yeah』

「Ugh. If it weren't for the divine sword thing, I'd go with you too.....I can't even ignore the whole pseudo fanatic sword thing」

Apparently, for a divine level blacksmith, a pseudo fanatic sword is a problem that cannot be neglected. Come to think of it, I've got a broken pseudo fanatic sword. I think I'll give this to Alistair.

『This is a pseudo fanatic sword』

「Wha! You have it huh!」

『But, I think, it already lost its ability huh?』

「Umm, still, this is.....」

Alistair did a quick analysis and then sighed.

「Haah. It's no good. I don't know if the loss of its ability was a result of the destruction or the disappearance of the main body. If there's some kind of collective consciousness of the Fanatics left, there's might be a chance for it to react」

I honestly never thought about that. I thought we'd just need to defeat the Fanatics main body and all will be done.....So there's a possible that the pseudo-fanatic sword could remain act independently huh?

「I still wanted more information after all」

『I see...Speaking of which, the blacksmith who was manipulated by the Fanatics into helping it make the pseudo-fanatic sword also wanted to see Alistair』

「Hou?」

『It's Gallus, the honorary blacksmith of Kranzel Kingdom. Do you know him?』

「Of course. His ability is said to be close to a divine level blacksmith」

『I'm sure he'll be pleased to meet you, so please talk to him. Just give him Fran's and my name and I'm sure he'll meet you』

「Understood. Could it be, he knows about master's true identity?」

Oh yea, I haven't told her about it.

『Yeah. I'm indebted to him. He's the blacksmith who made my scabbard and Fran's armor』

「I see! Oh, by the way, you said her armor was made by a blacksmith named Gallus right! I'll have to apologize for taking the liberty of altering his work」

『Well, give him my regards when you meet him』

「Understood」

Gallus's request to introduce him to Alistair was apparently accomplished sooner than expected. I hope he doesn't shocked when a divine level blacksmith suddenly comes to see him.

「Oh right. Fran is an adventurer, right?」

「Can you get in contact with any B ranker or higher?」

「Nn? Why?」

「Actually, I have a small request. It's a very simple request, but it will be well compensated. I'll also vouch for the client's identity」

『It's a simple request, but you need adventurers of B rank or higher?』

「Well, you see. The content is easy, but the rest of it can be difficult. An adventurer with a high rank but a troublesome personality would only be a problem. So, I was wondering if Fran could introduce me to someone who might be a good match」

I see. But an introduction, or whatever it's called is--

「I'm a B ranker」

「What? You used to be a rank C, right?」

「I see! Hey, what do you think? Would you accept my request?」

「Umm...?」

「No good huh?」

「I'm going to train in the Plains of the Demon Wolf. In the meantime, I don't have time to take on unnecessary requests」

It's not the same as doing a little bit of work for Alessa.

「It doesn't have to be right away, you know. I mean, my client wants me to bring someone back within five years」

『Five years? That's a very long time』

「Just think of it as a lax request」

Alistair explains the nature of the request, but I don't think it's suitable for Fran.

『Becoming an opponent for a mock battle in the Academy of magic?』

「Yeah. Your opponent is still a child——Well, some of them are probably older than Fran, but they're not too strong」

If it's like that, i guess it's fine then. On the other hand, if they're incredibly strong, that's fine too, and Fran will be happy. But it's not the same as training an adventurer like a Spartan, is it? I don't think Fran can handle it.

「It's okay to overdo it a little. In fact, it's a good experience to be beat them to a pulp. Well, you don't have to answer now. You can do it when you feel like it」

「Okay」

We should think about it when we done with our training huh.

Chapter 483: A Walk in the Forest of Exhaustion

After parting ways with Alistair. We went to the Forest of Exhaustion.

I was a little nervous going in, but that was about it. Apparently, I was less traumatized by this forest than I thought I was. Well, maybe it was because it was also the place where I met Fran.

『How is it, Fran?』

「Nnn...Feels weird」

Although it can't absorb magical power in our body, but we can recover our magical power in here. In addition, skills such as presence detection doesn't work well.

It also feels different from before, and it feel strange. When she met me in here, she couldn't control her magic power yet. So, she must not have been able to sense the abnormalities in this forest before.

『It would be difficult to use our magic and skill in this Forest of Exhaustion. Be careful』

「Nn」

『How about you, Urushi?』

Urushi, who was currently walking slowly in her original huge size, let out a pitiful whine.

In Urushi's case, it must have been more of a burden on his body than Fran. He unconsciously uses magic power on his own body for his daily life, but now he has to do it manually.

First of all, he can't use his body change and shadow diving skills well. He can barely activate the body change, but he can't seem to maintain it for long periods of time, and he can't seem to adjust his size properly.

In addition, it seemed that he had unconsciously strengthened his body with magic power to support his large body, but since he could not use it, he could not control his huge body well.

『It didn't drain magical power in me and Fran's body though.....』

In Urushi's case, it seems that his magic power is constantly being drained. Not only is he unable to activate his abilities to strengthen his body, but he is constantly losing his magic power. If I hadn't supplied him with magic power, he would have been unable to move long ago.

Maybe there is a part of us that we don't understand were unconsciously using magic, and the cycle of that magic being drained is repeating.

It seems that Urushi himself cannot stop it even if he tells it to stop. I guess it's like skin respiration in humans, a kind of life activity that takes place on its own.

「woof...」

『Come on, we're almost reached the end of this forest—Fran』

「Nn!」

Even if we can't use presence detection, we could clearly tell by the rustling sound. There was something big approaching us.

「Ghroaaa!」

A bear with two heads jumped out of the bushes.

『Twin-headed Bear huh』

「I remember this one」

『Oh, really?』

「Nn. The first beast I defeated using Master」

As expected of Fran, she remembered it huh. Well, it was killed instantly by Urushi in front of the motivated Fran though.

No matter how weak it is, their status is different. There was no way that Urushi could lose. However, looking at the bear's vitality, I guess lower level magical beasts that can live without relying on magic power are better suited for activities in the Forest of Exhaustion.

「Woof—!」

Urushi puts his foot on the twin-headed bear, which is knocked down by a blow from his paw, and looks triumphant. However, Fran's face is dissatisfied as she watches.

「Guh...」

「woof?」

「Even though I was going to take it down myself...」

「Wo-woof...」

Well, it was a nostalgic opponent huh? Fran, who had intended to take down the twin-headed bear she hadn't seen in a long time, puffed out her cheeks when her prey was snatched from her.

Fran glares at Urushi with jealous eyes as he hurriedly slips away.

「Woof...」

「Hmph」

「Kyain!」

「...Next one is for me」

「Woof!」

Fran was still upset, but she seemed to have forgiven him by pulling his tail.

『Just bear with it for now』

「Nn」

『Yosh. We're good to go then』

I put the bear away in my dimensional storage. It is still possible to activate it for a moment in this Forest of Exhaustion. However, the effect of the magic absorption phenomenon is stronger when the bear is lying on the ground, so I had it lifted a little. No, it can be stored even while it lying on the ground, but that would unnecessarily consume more magic power.

『But then again, normally, magic beast in this area won't attack us』

『You know, with Urushi's smell and presence around us, no small fry magic beat would come near us』

They would rather run away. However, we already had several battles in this Forest of Exhaustion. We had encountered the Twin Headed Bear we had just defeated, twice with goblins, and once with a kobold.

「Nnn...They don't know how strong their opponent is?」

『That was—possible huh』

Because they can't use skills like presence detection, they can't gauge the strength of their opponent. However, not all of the magic beast that attacked us had those skills.

No, even if they don't have any skills, can they have similar abilities if they have a magic stone? I've heard that even if they don't have magical power manipulation or energy manipulation skills, they can still use magic and other magic technique thanks to the magic stones that take the care of those skills.

If that was the case, it would not be surprising if they had abilities similar to skills such as presence and magic detection. They could tell where their opponent was, but they might not be able to measure its strength.

『Also, it seems magic beast that live in this Forest of Exhaustion are only small fry, so their ability to sense danger has been greatly weakened』

This might be a bit of a hassle to set up a tent in this Forest of Exhaustion. We have to be constantly on the lookout for attacks by magic beasts.

Well, it's not like we're going to stay in this Forest of Exhaustion for a long time. The outer perimeter of the Plains of the Demon Wolf is inhabited by higher level magic beast.

It is said that there have been confirmed cases of magic beast with a threat level of A. In such cases, there is no choice but to flee. In any case, a threat level of A is the same level as that Lich. Even if we had become stronger, we couldn't say that we could beat him. It was unlikely, but if there were a large number of magical beasts of that level, we would not be able to enter the Plains of the Demon Wolf without a fight.

『Well, lets leave it until we reached the Plains of the Demon Wolf. Come on, we're gonna get out of here』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

We are going to the nostalgic Plains of the Demon Wolf. Well then, I wonder what its current situation is?

Chapter 484: Smoke Beast

『Fuhahaha! It's the plains! I came back!』

『Sorry, don't mind it. More importantly, can you feel the presence around us?』

「...Is something's wrong?」

After passing through the Forest of Exhaustion, we had stepped about a dozen meters into the Plains of the Demon Wolf. In terms of location, it would be in the northeast area of the Plains of the Demon Wolf.

There is definitely something out there. I know that, but I couldn't find out the exact location of the presence. There was a tense feeling around me, and the flow of magic was somewhat unnatural.

「woof...」

『You can't feel it too huh』

Does it have stealth level that can even fool Urushi's noses, or is it a type of magic beast that has no scent at all?

「Stay alert, let's go」

『Yeah』

「Woof!」

We proceeded like that for a few minutes, using our exploration skills to the fullest. Well, we didn't gain much distance. Would it have been quicker to go through it at full speed rather than proceed with caution huh?

But apparently, it's not that easy.

「Master!」

「Woof!」

Fran and Urushi jumped up at once. A moment later, I finally realize.

『From below huh!』

After all, the less I'm in contact with the ground, the weaker my ability to detect what's underneath. How many times already, did I lose to Fran and Urushi huh.

「Smoke?」

『It could be poison gas. We need to get further away』

「Nn!」

What came up from the ground was a large amount of white smoke. I could tell that it had a lot of magical power.

And the smoke is coming towards us as if it had a will of its own.

『This smoke—I knew it! It's a higher species of magic beast from the Gust type』

Upon appraisal, the smoke itself was part of the magic beast. A threat level B magic beast, the Greater Venom Gust. In addition to being immune to physical attacks, it has high levels of stealth and regeneration. It also had high levels of magic absorption, life absorption, and stealth. (1)

It was a magic beast that will regenerate endlessly unless its smoke is completely extinguished or its magic stone is destroyed, Moreover, the smoke also contains a deadly poison.

It doesn't have the ability to kill us with a single blow, but it's a nasty opponent that will continue to wear us down as long as it's attached to us.

Well, we have high poison resistance. If it was a weaker person that exposed to its deadly poison while having their life and magic power absorbed would be fatal.

Moreover, from what I saw, the smoke was quite extensive. Judging from the fact that it caught up with Fran, who was already quite far away from the ground without any problem, but it probably can't cover 100 meters area. Wouldn't it cover a small town with this? It was no mistake that this being was ranked as a threat level B that could even destroy a country.

『Fran! Urushi! Find its magic stone!』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

I try to hit the smoke with magic. I tried thunder magic, flame magic, and wind magic, but I think flame magic is the most effective because it can attack on its surface.

Also, magic and life steal skills are effective. I could see the smoke that had lost its power dissipate into thin air. However, it would soon be replenished by the smoke that kept coming up from the ground.

『How was it? Did you find out where its magic stone is?』

「I don't know」

「woof...」

It seems, magical power from its smoke had distracted them, making it impossible to examine its surrounding in detail.

『I'm pretty sure there's a magic stone under the ground though...』

「Then, why don't we blow the whole ground with magic?」

『You're right, there's no other choice huh』

「Nn!」

『Then, let's go! Haaaaaaa!』

「Muuuu!」

What we activated was an earth magic called Gravity Pressure. This is a technique that uses super gravity to crush a certain area, and we activated it in a way that covered the area where the main body of the Greater Venom Gust might be, lining it up without any gaps.

We can see large areas being crushed and compressed. It's a scene similar to Ashwrath's Gravity Blows, forcibly recreated by firing a series of magic. Well, this one is inferior in power and range.

「Did it works?」

『No good huh. The smoke's still going strong』

「Then, give it more!」

『Ou!』

We're going to compress the earth even wider and deeper. Not only that, we also bombarding it with flame and thunder magic is an added bonus.

However, the smoke still did not disappear.

『Tsk. Even after all of this huh——』

Kaboom!

「Kuh!」

『Uwoh!』

Immediately after, a tremendous impact shocked off Fran's body, which was still in the air. The moment I heard that sound, I immediately guarded Fran, so she wasn't injured, cause a direct hit would have caused serious damage.

I grabbed the mysterious object that was bouncing off my blade with telekinesis as soon as I could.

『A crystal. No, a scale huh?』

The scales were made of a transparent material like crystal. These crystal scales seemed to have the effect of reflecting magic power, making it quite difficult to detect its presence. If it hadn't been for its sounds coming at us, I wouldn't have noticed it.

While I was checking, I heard a series of wind noises. It seemed that it had launched a series of attack.

「Muh!」

But, if it wasn't a surprise attack, the covert nature of these scales would be halved. Fran was already able to deal with them. She knocked some of them away and blocked some with dimensional storage.

However, the enemy is too far away. I could tell that they were attacking us from the northwest, but I couldn't sense any sign of them or their magic. It seems that they are sniping at us from outside our search range.

「Master, Urushi. Let's go!」

『Okay!』

「Woof!」

Fran tried to get close to the mysterious sniper, but her opponent was not half-hearted. The more we move in the direction of the sniper, the greater the number of crystal scales and the more powerful they become.

In terms of power alone, each shot would be enough to instantly kill a D rank adventurer. Moreover, the smoke from the unexpectedly fast-moving

Gust was still persistently chasing us.

『Fran, at this rate, we'll have to deal with both the Gust and the mysterious attacker!』

「.....Muh. What should we do then?」

『We can either shake them off by teleporting to the Forest of Exhaustion. But, if we simply shake them off, there's a chance that the gust will keep coming after us』

「.....Understood. Let's return back to the Forest of Exhaustion」

Fran looked frustrated, but she immediately accepted my suggestion and began to leave from the area. I think she understands that she is in a troublesome situation.

『I knew this wasn't going to be easy huh』

「...Nn」

Chapter 485: Invisible Sniper

We escaped from the troublesome magic beast and retreated to the Forest of Exhaustion; we were discussing countermeasures as we moved.

『As expected, that Ghast won't follow us to this Forest of Exhaustion』

「Nn」

Apparently, due to its smoke body structure that uses magic power to move, it cannot live in the forest of exhaustion. The being who sniped us with the crystal scales didn't attack us in the forest of exhaustion either. No, it might just be that it can't aim at us because it can't use its magic to search for us in here.

「What should we do?」

『We can bypass the area where the ghast live, and go through it all at once』

The more we go to the center of the Plains of the Demon Wolf, the weaker the enemies become. The reason for this was not clarified even in the archives of the Adventurer's Guild yet.

There was also a theory stated that Fenrir's magical power was affecting it, but that seems to be just a speculation without any basis.

The important thing to remember is that this phenomenon does exist. After all, I've experienced it first-hand.

『In other words, if we go through them all at once, the higher level magic beast won't follow us』

In fact, I gradually conquered the Plains of the Demon Wolf by running back to the center of it when I was in trouble.

But it was also a strategy that only I could do because I was a sword. I was an inorganic material that is highly concealable and does not stimulate the appetite of magic beast. To put it bluntly, I was not worth for the magic beast to chase after.

But what about Fran and Urushi? she has soft flesh with high magical power. Wouldn't they seem like easy prey for a magic beast? There was even a possibility that they would come after her beyond my expected habitat area.

Nevertheless, there is a danger in daring to defeat a powerful magical beast. After fighting with the ghaist for that small amount of time, it has exhausted us a little.

If we want to be on the safe side, we should start by gather information on the magic beast camped around the periphery of the plain, and either kill the ones we think are the easiest to deal with, or dodge them and force to enter to the center of the plain.

『What should we do huh?』

「....For now, the first priority is to get to the center of the Plains of the Demon Wolf. Training comes after that」

「Take the safest way and hurry up」

『Ooh? You think so?』

「Nn」

I was a little impressed. I mean, it's Fran, you know? Fran is a girl who love fighting isn't she? But in the face of a strong enemy, she would avoid fighting to achieve her goal.

I'm loved, aren't I? Well, I guess that's not all, Fran is also growing up. Come to think of it, she didn't even doze off in the library. Well, she did get bored and zoned out. But, there's a big difference between dozing off and almost dozing off.

「Let's confirm its identity first」

『Understood』

What Fran is referring to are the crystal scales. No, I used the word "crystal" because of its transparent appearance, but the hardness of the scales is far greater than that of a crystal, so much so that Fran need to give more effort to break them.

『I agree with you. If it's a magic beast that's good at long-range attacks, it might not be so good at close combat』

It's the kind of magic beast that would fire a series of high-precision sniper shots from over a kilometer away. Its threat level must be high, but how strong would it be in close quarters combat?

We were moving to northwest, observing the Plains of the Demon Wolf from within the Forest of Exhaustion. And at a certain place, Urushi reacts to something.

「Grrrr!」

「Did you found something?」

「Woof!」

Urushi's nose twitched as he turned his sharp gaze to the plains of the demon wolf. As a wolf, he has a keen sense of smell, even if it cannot be enhanced by magic. It seemed that his nose had caught a target.

『Hmm....where?』

「Muh? I don't know」

To be honest, Fran and I had no idea where that magic beast was. However, Urushi is very confident.

「Urushi, take the lead」

「Woof!」

『Fran, be careful』

「Nn!」

It was just after we had set foot on the plains of the Demon Wolf, with Urushi as the lead.

Shudder!

「Kyain!」

「Urushi!」

Urushi shrieked and stopped on his tracks. It was definitely the sniper. But the way Urushi was looking right now, he could totally see the attack, right? And yet, he took a decent damage and.....No, if Urushi had ducked like that, there was a possibility that his huge body would have blindsided Fran and delayed his reaction. That's why he dared to use his body as a shield.

『Urushi! Good job! Aah, it broke your bones huh...』

「woof....」

While she casting a recovery spell on Urushi, whose torso was bleeding profusely, I gave her instructions.

『Fran, it will be dangerous if we hide right behind Urushi!』

「Nn!」

So, Fran dared to move diagonally behind Urushi, keeping her distance. This way, Urushi could avoid the attack without any problem, and Fran could react.

After that, the attacks became fiercer, but Fran and the Urushi did not get hit. Fran had no problem without my help, and Urushi can dodged it skilfully.

As a result, although our progress was slowed down, we were pushing forward across the plain without taking any damage. However, no matter how far we advanced, we still could not capture the enemy. But, Urushi seems to be concerned of something.....

『Where it is.....』

「Nn.....」

And then Urushi stopped in his tracks. It seemed that there was a magic beast in his line of sight, but Fran and I had no idea what it was. The other side has also stopped attacking to prevent its whereabouts from being discovered.

However, the dark magic that Urushi had unleashed brought his opponent into view. As the veil of dark magic that Urushi used covered the entire area, an anomaly occurred about 20 meters away.

What to say about it, A heat haze? No, a mirror with a strange refractive index? Anyway, the scenery behind it started to distort, as if the space was distorted.

『I see, optical camouflage huh』

It seems that it had been refracting the light to assimilate its figure into its surroundings. However, the light was suddenly blocked by dark magic, and it must have been unable to adjust in time.

「A weird lizard?」

What I saw there was a 10-meter-long, four-legged magic beast. It resembled an Ankylosaurus, a dinosaur that I had seen in dinosaur picture books before I reincarnated. However, its scales were all translucent crystal.

Its stealth ability was incredible. After all, even at this distance, I can't clearly detect its magic power or its presence. On top of that, it can even use optical camouflage.

But I can clearly see it now, so I can appraise it!

『Invisible Death! It's a magic beast with threat level of B』

I guess the overall strength of magic beast is really on the rise huh!

Chapter 486: Close Combat

The magic beast that had disguised itself with optical camouflage was a threat level B magic beast called Invisible Death. It was said that an army had once invaded its territory and annihilated without being able to find it.

Well, an ordinary soldier won't be able to handle sniper's shoot of that power from over a kilometer away.

Not only it has its high status, but it also has magic skills such as light magic, thunder magic, and fire magic.

In addition, the crystal-like outer shell that surrounds its body is a tricky thing, it seems to have the property of reflecting magic power. In addition to this, it has a wide variant of covert skills. And if it used its optical camouflage, it could be right in front of us without noticing it.

What I hate about this guy is that it can make a tactical decision, he's probably intelligent enough to stop attacking when we get closer to it.

In this world, the more powerful a being is, the more capable they are of sensing magic and presence with their skills. And they are used to it. The covert nature of Invisible Death will only be ineffective against such beings. Just like we didn't realize it until Urushi taught it to us.

When dealing with a strong being with a Urushi-level sense of smell, it would rather snipe us from a distance.

On the contrary, it is highly likely that it is not good at close combat. It seems to have high defense, but its movement seems to be slow.

「Ghruoooo!」

Urushi shoots dark magic at Invisible Death. However, it seems that the crystal is also resistant to magic. The huge jet-black spear easily dissipated on the surface of the crystal.

「Wruoooh!」

Invisible Death braced itself, probably realizing that its position had been discovered.

This is where the real battle begins.

『Ou!』

「Urushi attacks from behind!」

「Woof!」

Fran rushes in at once while giving instructions. She jumped back to the right in an attempt to attack.

Immediately after, the place where Fran had been caved in heavily.

『It used its tail huh!』

「Nn!」

The Invisible Death looks like an Ankylosaurus, but what i find the most similar was its head and tail.

Its tail had a weight like a hammer, and as far as I could tell, the blow would be quite powerful. And it's fast.

The attack, in which it swung its tail in succession, was incredibly fast, it was also very accurate. When we dove into the spider dungeon before, where Fran and Amanda had a mock battle, Amanda's whip handling might have been the same speed. Fran is desperately trying to avoid its tail.

Moreover, Invisible Death's attack was not limited to just swinging its tail.

It shoots sharp crystal scales that grow all over its body at Fran and Urushi. I don't know how it does it, but it seems to be able to shoot out all the scales it can. In addition, new crystal scales immediately grow in the marks where they were shot out.

「Haaaa!」

Kiiin!

Fran, who approached Invisible Death while dodging the scales, cut it down, but as expected, a serious attack is the only way to do any damage. Its ability to disrupt magic power is troublesome, although it is certainly hard. The power of attribute swords is weakened.

Fran braced herself for another attack, but then she heard a high-pitched sound as if a powerful dust collector was running at full power.

Kiinn——boom!

「Kuh!」

『I see! It was shooting from its tail huh!』

The scales that shot out from his entire body didn't seem as precise as when he was sniping, but the sniper scales were apparently specially made to shoot from its tail as a barrel. In addition to its exploding burst of magic power, it seems to use compressed air and thunderbolt magic as well. Furthermore, it also manipulated airflow to stabilize its trajectory.

I was wondering why he didn't just use his thunderbolt magic when he had the skill, but I guess it was only for sniping. The sniper scales were quite fast and powerful even at this close range. Furthermore, the Invisible Death that rushed forward tried to crush Fran with its foot.

Its movements are certainly not that fast, but because of its huge size, each step it takes is large enough, and its rushes are surprisingly quite fast.

「Wruoooh!」

「Guh!」

Who said this guy was bad at close combat! Good grief! Not only does it have two types of scales attacks, it also able to attacks directly with its tail. This guy might be even stronger in close combat.

『Haaa!』

If that's the case, we should keep our distance and use magic instead. Even taking into account the crystal scales' ability to disrupt magic, a very strong spell should be able to pass through.

I unleash the thunder magic "Thor's Hammer" and the flame magic "Flare Explode" in succession. Although the power is a little lower, the damage still seems to be able to pass through.

Some of the crystals were destroyed, and Invisible Death shout out a scream from its mouth. But it doesn't take much damage.

「Wruoooh!」

『Oh no!』

「Muh?」

I felt a strong convergence of magic power and immediately performed a short distance teleport. At the same time, a dazzling beam of light pierced the place where we had been.

It was an attack with light magic. Or rather, it looks like a laser beam already. The ground was heavily gouged by the impact and heat. Is light magic this strong?

But before I could even think about it, Invisible Death sensed where we were moving to and shot scales at us.

Fran was unable to dodge the scales that were shot at her immediately after she teleported, and I was only able to parry the scattered scales that exploded at close range. However, I managed to protect her vitals. She was hit in the arm and leg several times.

「Kuh!」

『Greater Heal!』

Fran has suffered not a few injuries. But it's better than being hit by that light magic.

(Master, thanks for saving me)

『We'll have to dodge that light magic first, okay? Stay on guard after teleporting』

(Okay)

The troublesome parts are not only the speed of its activation, but also its attack speed. In fact, I don't think I could react after being shot. The only way was to detect the prior convergence of magic power as much as possible.

「Master, use magic! This time, we're going to defeat it!」

『Understood!』

We unleashed the Thor's Hammer and Flare Explode again. This time, however, we have prepared multiple activations. Urushi, who had been waiting for another chance, unleashed his dark magic to match ours.

A large explosion enveloped Invisible Death's body, causing even more damage than before. More than half of the crystal shell that covered its back fell off, and smoke rose from its body.

「Wruooooh!」

「Break in! Finishing blow!」

『Ou!』

Chapter 487: Fierce Battle Against the Magic Beast

Invisible Death was badly injured by our magic, but even we didn't know what it would do next.

「Muh? What?」

『Not only it has an Ankylosaurus-like body part, but also an Armadillo-like body part too huh!』

To my surprise, it shrunk and curled up as if it was holding its head and limbs. Moreover, the crystal scales regenerated and enlarged all at once, as if a huge lump of crystal had been placed on the ground.

Moreover, I can see magical power growing inside its body. It must be a form of defensive fortification while preparing for an attack.

「...What should we do?」

『Let's just throw some magic at it for now. Just be careful with its counter attack』

「Understood. I'll leave the magic to Master」

The opponent had stopped moving. It's too dumb to follow suit and just watch.

I cast my magic once again.

However, Invisible Death didn't just simply curl up its body. It seemed to have increased its defense against magic, and this time neither the Thor's

Hammer nor the Flare Explode could damage it.

Moreover, it also unleashes its light magic and crystal scale attack almost simultaneously with our attack. I see, it is difficult for any human or magic beast to use magic while moving at high speed huh. It's a counter strategy to lure the opponent into a big move and exploit the gap.

Well, it's not a problem for us. Because Fran can move fast enough to dodge the attack and I can unleash my magic at the same time.

『We're going again!』

「Nn」

『I don't want to call this one a Kanna Kamui after what I saw before.....』

The most powerful technique I can use is Kanna Kamui. It's just like a replica compared to Velmeria's Kanna Kamui that I saw in the royal capital though, but it's still the best spell I can use right now.

White lightning rained down and struck Invisible Death. It doesn't seem to be able to withstand a technique of this power huh. Invisible Death's defensive posture was forcibly broken by the crushing lightning strike, and it was turned over by the huge explosion that followed.

「Bumoooh!」

「Now!」

「Woof!」

Its stance had collapsed, and nearly half of the crystal covering its body had been shattered. Although the damage was surprisingly small for such a direct hit from the magic, much of the armor protecting its body had been lost.

「Grrrruo!」

Urushi launches an attack.

He dared to bark loudly, attracting Invisible Death's attention. The Invisible Death's consciousness was completely pulled away by Urushi, who wandered around in front of him, changing sizes in vain. His target was the place where the crystal scales had been removed by Kanna Kamui. Smaller scales have already begun to grow like a thin skin, but it's better than the other places.

Taking advantage of the chance, Fran charged in from the side. She unleashed the Sword Saint Skill: Spiral Fang. It is a powerful thrusting technique with added rotation.

My sword blade pierced through the crystal scales and the hard-shell underneath, gouging the body of the Invisible Death deeply. Due to the nature of the crystal scales, I couldn't locate its magic stone, so it wasn't a one-hit kill, but the life force of the giant beast was greatly reduced.

『Haaaa!』

「A bonus!」

We also unleashed flame magic in that state. The explosion of flames engulfed us, but we were able to block it with a barrier.

「Vumoooh...!」

Invisible Death, whose body had been pierced with a deep hole, let out a weak moan. Although the internal organs had not yet been reached, pale bones that seemed to be its spine were exposed Even so, crystal scales immediately sprouting from around the wound, trying to seal the area. These scales are really troublesome.

「Awooooof!」

「Urushi?」

『Wha?』

Urushi took over for Fran, who had once distanced herself before being swallowed by the regenerating crystal. But the way he did it surprised both me and Fran.

「Ghrooaaaa!」

What a surprise, he jumped into the body of the Invisible Death in his small size. As the crystal scales regenerated, he was trapped inside, but he didn't care about that.

Within the craters in the giant beast's body, he would eat muscle fibers, flesh, and bones, and dig deeper.

「Bhuoooooooooooooh!」

The giant beast, which had endured even a direct hit from Kanna Kamui with a short grunt, was writhing around, thrashing its limbs. Then it let out a roar that sounded like a scream as if it was crying out.

Being devoured from the inside must be a painful experience that it never imagines.

「It's full of opening」

『Ou! We're gonna stop this thing!』

I aimed for the head. Thanks to Urushi, Invisible Death had left a huge opening between us, and I was going to use the Sword King technique to stop him at once but——

「Bhuoooooooooooooh!」

I could feel magic power growing inside Invisible Death's body. The crystals all over its body began to emit a white light.

『It looks dangerous! Let's take some distance first!』

「Nn!」

As we escaped into the sky by teleporting, I saw a tremendous light springing up below us. A dome of light was being created around the Invisible Death. Just looking at the way the ground around the dome was turning into glass-like substance by the high heat. (vitrification)

Immediately afterwards, the dome swelled and enveloped a large area. That wasn't all. The giant dome popped, and causing a huge explosion.

The tremendous impact and the stormy wind raised a cloud of dust and reaped the grass, flowers, and shrubs near the hypocenter. The petals of the white flowers that had been growing in clusters at a considerable distance were all flown up at once, creating a beautiful scene that did not belong in the middle of a battle.

「.....Gururu...」

「Urushi! I'm coming!」

After Invisible Death's attack was over, there's Urushi's figure on the ground, he collapsed and smoke was billowing from his whole body. His entire body was burned to a crisp, his hair crumbling into tatters and his flesh gouged out in places. He must have been hit hard by the heat and the explosion.

At the same time, Invisible Death had been badly wounded. It seems that in order to remove Urushi from its body, it had involved itself in the attack. It was probably its last resort, as it was highly resistant to magic.

We rushed over to Urushi in a panic, only to be met with a follow-up attack. But it's not the Invisible Death.

「Get off!」

「 「 「Ice Javelin」 」 」

A large number of ice spears rained down on Fran and Urushi.

「Tsk!」

Fran quickly activated her barrier to the fullest extent and took a stand to protect Urushi. She doesn't care if she gets hit herself, she only takes care the magic in the trajectory that will hit Urushi.

『I'll use recovery on you both!』

「...Guh...Who is it?」

「——What a tasty looking little girl.....」

『It's a bunch of undead huh! The Wight King!』 (1)

It was a threat level B magic beast, the Wight King. It seemed to have attacked us in an attempt to catch us. I wondered how it had gotten so close, but since it also possessed space-time magic. It seems to have approached us by simply teleporting here.

The Wight King is a magic beast that will summons countless weak low-grade undead. However, the Wight King that attacked Fran had only six underlings with him.

It's a magic beast with a threat level of C: four Wight High Wizards and two Wight Imperial Guards instead.

Apparently, they are choosing quality over quantity. I guess there is such a type of a Wight King huh.

「I've been setting up a net here in the plains to detect any signs of teleportation.....What an excellent prey!」

「Bhuoooh!」

Invisible Death is still alive and well. In fact, if left unchecked, it will recover in no time at all.

「Damn it...」

「woof...」

After sealing their wounds with magic, Fran and Urushi stand up, looking worn out. Should we really continue fighting like this?

「Master! That is!」

『Hmm?』

Suddenly, Fran shouted sharply.

『Oioi, even to a place like this.....It's still following us huh?』

As we looked, we saw a white smoke figure approaching us, wriggling in the sky.

Read more at: <https://todstl.blogspot.com/2021/02/tenken-487.html>

Chapter 488: Super Inazu ○ Kick

Beyond our line of sight, there's a white smoke figure approaching us while wriggling in the sky. It was the Greater Venom Ghast.

In addition to the Wight King, Invisible Death was still alive.

We were surrounded by three magic beasts with a threat level of B.

One of the criteria to raise into a rank A, adventurers should have been to be able to defeat one magic beast with a threat level of B in solo. In other words, in front of us, there were three opponents that Amanda and Forrond would have to fight one-on-one with all their might in front of us.

『This is bad』

Shall we continue to fight? Invisible Death is still pretty banged up, but Ghast is troublesome too but it's not very aggressive. It's not impossible for us to fight them all though.....

(Master, where's the magic stone of that smoke?)

『I can't detect it! How about you guys?』

(No good)

(Woof...)

Does that mean, its magic stone is hidden somewhere around, so it can still reach this far? Or does it hide its magic stone in its smoke so we can't detect it?

「Then, what about the magic stone of the undead?」

It is said that a magic beast with a threat level of B has the ability to hide the location of its magic stone. I couldn't even detect the magic stone of The Wight King and its underling. Well, this guy is a sorcerer type, and it's probably very good at hiding its magic power.

「Icicle Burst!」

「 「Icicle Burst!」 」 」

「Haaa!」

『They won't give us time to think huh!』

I quickly used fire magic to block it, but it seemed, they won't give us any time to think.

「Master! Above!」

『I see, okay』

「Nn!」

I did as Fran instructed and ascended at once with teleport. After that, I used the telekinetic air ride to gain even more altitude.

『How is it?』

「That smoke will follow us」

『But, the Wights won't be able to follow us though!』

「Dodging huge beast is easier」

Invisible Death's attacks seem to be the easiest to dodge at mid-range. The distance is just enough for us to detect its magic when it preparing an attack, and there is enough room for us to dodge it. If we are too close, we won't have enough room to move, however, if we are too far away, we won't be able to detect it.

And it seems, the wights' does not have the ability to fly and their magic can not reach this altitude. We must have already climbed more than 100 meters. But somehow, their attack can still reach us, but as expected, it's difficult to aim accurately at an opponent at this height.

We can't defeat the ghast, but we can ignore it for a little while. Besides, the wights and a ghast should be incompatible with each other. The undead wouldn't be able to maintain their existence if their magic is absorbed.

In fact, the Wight Kings are making a move to avoid the white smoke.

If that was the case, we might be able to deal with the Invisible Death while the ghast and the wights were restraining each other.

「Woof woof!」

『Urushi? What's wrong?』

While dodging their attacks, Urushi tries to tell us something.

「Gurruu!」

「Maybe, you've figured out where that huge beast's magic stone is?」

「Woof!」

『I see!』

It seems that he had not just simply dealt damage to Invisible Death when he invaded its body but had also identified the location of its magic stone.

「Master, let's only kill the big one here」

『.....Understood』

I think it's better to start all over again, but if Fran is willing, I'll just go along with her.

「Don't use the Sword God Transformation」

『Wha?』

「Using the sword god transformation here would only be a temporary solution. We must win without using it. What should we do?」

In Fran's own way, she thought that she had to reduce the exhaustion in order to fight through another battle. However, she didn't know how to defeat the Invisible Death without using the Sword God Transformation.

『Understood. Then, how about——』

「I see——」

I explained the plan I had come up with to Fran. It was quite difficult, but Fran seemed to be on board with me.

『You think you can do it?』

「I'll do it!」

『Urushi, attack the location of its magic stone and tell us where it is. We'll attack there』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

First, Urushi shoots a spear of dark magic while descending at full speed. This was not to deal damage to it, but to show Fran and me the location of its magic stone. I see, it's a little bit closer to the tail than the center huh. That's where the crystal is thickest.

「Grrrr!」

Urushi then ran straight towards the Wight King. This is a way to keep them in check and to attract their attention. The Wight King was successfully attracted to Urushi, who used a lot of shadow dive and evasive maneuvers.

「Let's go」

『Ou!』

And then, Fran and I start to act secretly.

『First, let's stop its movement!』

「Nn」

My earth magic made a hole under the Invisible Death's limbs, blocking its movement. That's pretty quick huh. In order for us to carry out our plan, we have to stop it from moving.

All of Invisible Death's limbs are firmly stuck into the ground, and I then tightened it up to make it unable to move for a moment.

「Bumoooh?」

「HAAAAAAAAA!」

Fran's Kanna Kamui rained down into it. A thick pillar of lightning stripped away the crystal of Invisible Death. It was less powerful than my Kanna Kamui, but it succeeded in stripping the crystal as we planned.

Fran took charge of the skill so that I could focus on my next attack.

『Good one, Fran!』

I used a full throttle of telekinetic catapult combined with wind magic, flame magic, and even thunder magic to create magnetic manipulation.

I've been using magnetic force to accelerate objects for a long time. Even when we were trying to stop the Fanatics in the royal capital, we used it as a combination. But it wasn't that big of a deal compared to the acceleration with flame magic and wind magic.

But since I got a lot of hints from Invisible Death. I used the method of coiling magnetic manipulation around the long barrel that I made by telekinesis, imitating Invisible Death. I also succeeded in gaining more acceleration than ever before by doing this. Well, it's a bit more difficult to control, and the wear is doubled.

『Doryaaaa!』

Immediately after the launch, my sword blade pierced deeply into the shell of the Invisible Death, whose scales had been destroyed by Fran. However, I still couldn't penetrate it.

「Bumooohoooh!」

『Fraaan!』

「Nn!」

But I have expected this. Rather, this is the point of the plan.

Fran ran down from the sky at full speed to the Invisible Death, who was concentrating its magic power to release light magic to eliminate us.

Using all the magic she had to use Brilliant Lightning Rush, and taking advantage of her falling speed, she had become so fast that it was as if Fran herself had turned into lightning.

At the end of her trajectory, there's me. To be precise, it's me, whose handle has been transformed into a tray-like shapeshifting.

「HAAAAAAAAA!」

Fran, who was running down from the sky at super high speed, did not kill any of her momentum and slammed a kick into me as if she was going to land on my handle.

「Bumoooooooooh!」

I was already stuck into Invisible Death's body, but Fran's Super Inazu ○ Kick gave me an impact from directly above and pushed me further into its body.

「Bumoooh!」

「Guuh!」

The sound of Fran's leg bones cracking and the sound of the giant beast's shell cracking, also with the sound of my hilt and sword blade shattering combined to create a deafening dissonance.

That powerful kick reduced all of my endurance at once. But I didn't care about it and extended my blade further by transforming it. Then I could clearly feel its magic stone.

「Guh...!」

The impact was so great that Fran's leg was bent in the wrong direction. My endurance is also at a dangerous level.

『But, we did it!』

「Bu...mooh...」

An unprecedented sense of satisfaction. The amount of magic power flowing into me was at another level compared to what I've ever experienced in the past. It even surpassed the demon we had defeated long ago. Even though it was a magic beast with the same threat level of B, this one was probably superior huh.

It seems that Fran and Urushi's levels have also increased. However, there was no time to check it now.

I immediately stowed the corpse of Invisible Death and went straight back to Fran.

『Let's leave this place for now!』

「Nn...」

「Woof!」

Chapter 489: Even the Sky is Absorbing!

Once we escaped into the sky, we felt the pressure from the Wight King weakened. It seems that it is difficult to attack us when we are flying.

No, Wight King's magic was quite accurate. Moreover, it has a good eyesight. However, the Wight High Wizards under his command did not have that level of ability.

「Keep going up」

『Okay』

「Woof!」

We continued to gain altitude as Fran had instructed. We must have already climbed more than 100 meters.

『Now if we can just shake off the ghost——Oh?』

「It run away?」

「Woof!」

The Greater Venom Ghist that had been following us suddenly stopped moving.

Apparently, it has reached its limit huh?

『We should have went up to the sky from the start huh』

「Nn」

「Ofu」

When I thought "Shall we continue to gain a little more altitude and head to the center"

「Eh?」

『Th-this is...! Dangerous!』

「Wo-woof!」

We suddenly lose our balance and begin to lose altitude rapidly like a paper airplane that has lost its buoyancy, and Fran is wobbling because of it.

Urushi is in even more danger. He moves his feet repeatedly to activate his aerial jumps, but he can't step on the sky and falls all at once.

The way he flapped his legs for a moment and then fell down was like a scene from a gag anime. However, this is not a gag, and it is very dangerous.

Fran tried to chase him with an aerial jump, but it still didn't work.

「Muh」

『Wha, Fran!』

Urushi and Fran fall with such force that I can even hear the whooshing sound.

I panicked and tried to use teleport, but it didn't work either.

I felt as if I were in the forest of exhaustion. No, I think I am actually experiencing the same phenomenon as in the forest of exhaustion right now.

『So it was because of this altitude that caused that ghastr to run away huh!』

Perhaps the higher up we go, the more the magic absorption phenomenon hits us.

As if to confirm this speculation, when we have fell to a certain height, I was able to activate telekinesis and other functions, although they were somewhat required more power.

Fran and Urushi are also using the aerial jump again to regain their balance.

『Fran, are you okay?』

「Nn! But that smoke is coming once again!」

「Garuu!」

『Let's rise our altitude again!』

「Eh? but.....」

『We have to find its edge!』

Escaping into the sky was not a bad idea. The idea was the same as the strategy of using the forest of exhaustion as an escape route. We need to find an altitude at which Ghist could not pursue us, and at which we could still use our magic power.

「Understood」

「Woof!」

We gained more altitude once again. To tell the truth, it was difficult to maintain the same altitude for a long time. Because there are no landmarks around us as a comparison.

Still experiencing a few falls, we had found the last possible altitude. The ghist didn't chase us anymore, but we were pretty exhausted, we also managed to find an altitude where we wouldn't fall.

We didn't gained altitude by teleporting. No, I was going to do it at first, but if it not a short distance teleport, the point of appearance will shift quite a bit. In the beginning, it was difficult to control teleport over medium distances, and due to the phenomenon of magic power absorption, my accuracy was considerably reduced.

I'm sure Fran was very upset when she was upside down with no skills or anything else available for her to do after teleporting. But it might lead to a bigger accident.

Short distance teleport's control wasn't disrupted so much, but its magic consumption is tremendous. It would be safer to proceed with aerial jumps.

At first, the ghastr were relentless in its pursuit. But after five minutes, it gave up the chase. Or maybe it can't follow us because of the area. Anyway, we were thankful that we were able to shake off that troublesome magic beast.

Besides, this near-border altitude strategy was quite easy since we could also avoid the magic beasts on the way. We encountered a few bird-shaped monsters, but they ran away as soon as we threatened them.

As I moved, I checked the skills I had acquired from Invisible Death.

I already had light magic, thunder magic, scale regeneration and rushing, but I was also getting four interesting skills. Well, one of them looked really interesting, but it wasn't going to be useful.

The first one is Magic Disruption. Perhaps this skill is the ability of its crystal scales to disrupt magic power. When I tried to use it, I definitely felt the magic in the vicinity being disturbed.

However, there is a problem. It even interferes with the skills I use, such as magic steal. Also, it might affect me when I try to cast a spell on Fran. I think it's best not to leave it activated all the time.

The second is a skill called shooting correction. This seems to be a skill that simply increases the hit rate of long-range attacks. The power and accuracy of my telekinetic catapult will no doubt be increased.

It seems to be a passive skill, but when I equipped it, it was definitely different. It's not that my vision has suddenly improved, but my sensitivity to distant targets has clearly increased. When I aim lightly, I feel like I can see the target clearly, and I feel more confident that I can hit it.

『This skill is interesting』

The third skill is the light distraction film. It is used to create a semi-circular field to reflect the light that hits its surface. However, the output is low, and it doesn't seem to be able to reduce the power of light magic. It seems that it is only a skill to distract natural light or weak light.

It seems that optical camouflage was an application of this skill, but it's very difficult for me to imitate. I mean, I have to calculate the amount of light reflected, the angle, and everything in detail. It seems that just randomly reflecting the light has some effect, but I don't think I can imitate the same level of perfect optical camouflage as Invisible Death.

The fact that it is able to supplement this with his wild instincts is probably the reason why it is categorized a high-ranking magic beast. However, it is a skill that can't be easily used.

The last skill was Crystal Transformation. As the name implied, it was a skill that could transform the shape of a crystal into any shape.

It probably used this skill to transform its own scales into bullets, or it may have used it like reactive armor, daring to transform itself into a fragile form in response to our attacks and then releasing its magic power to make it pop. It's an interesting skill, but it's also one that I have no use for.

Now that I think about it, it had huge electromagnetic cannons, laser weapons, reactive armor, detection jammers, and optical camouflage. It was more like a Zo○ds than a magic beast.

I also learned a lot from it. In particular, the increase in the power of my telekinetic catapult was a big gain. Well, I guess it can't be used everywhere, though.

In other words, the increase in power has made it more difficult to control. Just to stabilize myself from firing it would need tremendous powerful telekinesis. I may need to be a little more selective in the skills I use huh.

If telekinesis is used for trajectory control, the critical injection speed will be reduced. If I try to compensate for this with magic or skills, the power used for control will increase even more, and its magic consumption will also increase. In the worst-case scenario, the power might not even increase by ten percent, even though it consumed many times more than the usual.

While I was thinking about it, I could see where I was going. interrupt my thoughts and scream involuntarily. That's how nostalgic I felt.

『Fran! I can see it!』

「Over there?」

『Yeah. That ruin-like place, that's where I started』

Chapter 490: The Identity of the Silver-Haired Man

In the middle of this vast plain, there was a decaying ruin.

A building that has become stained and discolored by years of exposure. Cobblestones covered with moss and grass. From the sky above, we can see a circular plaza is surrounded by buildings at equal intervals, which I am not sure for what purpose they were built.

「Is that the pedestal Master was talking about?」

『No, I mean, yes, but it's not the same.....』

『The pedestal had disappeared』

That's right. When I woke up, the pedestal that had housed me had disappeared.

Fran pointed to the entire ruin and asked if it was a pedestal. But for some reason, the thing I call a pedestal, which should have been in its center, was not there.

The only remnant of this is a square space in the center of the plaza where there is almost no grass. It was obvious that something had been placed there a while ago, and that it had been removed.

A few months had passed since the pedestal had disappeared, and the grass had begun to encroach slightly on the area, but from above, the difference from the rest of the site was obvious.

『L-let's get down there』

「Nn」

「woof!」

I went down to the vacant lot where the pedestal should have been before. Fran tapped on the cobblestones, and Urushi sniffed the ground, but there was nothing unusual.

『It really had disappeared huh.....』

『Of course. I'll never forget this place』

As we were exchanging words, my surroundings turned white in an instant.

But I'm not surprised anymore. It's that space.

『He's here huh』

『Yeah, I'm here』

It's just a voice, but I'm sure of it. It's that guy.

『I can't find the pedestal. What's going on?』

『It's also a sacred object. It did its job, and then it disappeared. Well, now we need it. Tell Fran to back off a bit, and I'll make the pedestal appear』

『U-understood』

A sacred object? As expected, it wasn't just a pedestal huh.

When I returned from the white space, I told Fran and Urushi to back off from the vacant lot.

「Nn」

「woof!」

Immediately after Fran and Urushi took a few steps, a shape of a pedestal appeared on the spot like a hologram. Then, the phantom-like pedestal took on substance and appeared on the spot.

It wasn't a teleport, but rather a mysterious flow of magic that seemed to have sprung from the earth. But the thing that appeared was definitely a familiar pedestal.

『Oooh...There's no mistaking it. It's the pedestal. My pedestal』

It was only a few months ago, but it seemed strangely nostalgic.

「Is this, Master's...Home?」

「Then, what should we do?」

「That sword——Stick master on the pedestal. Miss Fran」

「Who?」

Fran turned around and saw a translucent, ghost-like being standing in front of her.

「I'll reveal it soon. But first, stick master on the pedestal」

「.....」

A man with silver hair, all back, and a kimono-like dress. Fran had never seen him before, but he was familiar to me.

Fran looked suspiciously at the mysterious man who had called her name. Well, he really is look suspicious.

「You don't know me miss, but I know you well, okay? After all, I've been watching you from Master」

「Inside master?」

『Yeah, it's true』

I didn't use the principle of falsehood, but I understood that he wasn't lying. Not on the level of trustworthiness or anything like that, but I can see as a matter of course that he is not lying. I didn't feel the need to doubt the authenticity of the man's words, just as I didn't have to worry about whether my words were false or true.

I wonder what it is? I'm aware of a strange connection between me and the man. It's not something vague like a bond or a connection, but a more direct connection. Or should I say, I'm connected?

I don't know if I'd call this a direct magic connection, but it was close enough.

『Fran, it's okay. Put me on the pedestal please』

「Understood」

At my urging, Fran approaches the pedestal.

『A little more higher huh?』

「Okay」

Without any hassle, Fran grabbed me backhanded and thrust me into the pedestal with great force. At that moment, something warm——no, something hot is enveloping my sword blade. But I don't feel anything bad from it.

It was hot, but not an aggressive heat that would melt my blade. It was more like a full body soak in a slightly hot bath.

Somehow, it felt similar to when Alistair was refurbishing me.

「Master, you okay?」

『Yeah, I'm feeling rather good』

「I see」

I guess she can hear my voice and decided that there really wasn't a problem. Fran murmured reassuringly. It's a familiar place for me, but an unknown place for Fran. She was still worried.

「Well then, now we're all set」

The man said so and walked over to the pedestal.

「All set?」

「Yeah, prepare to re-enforce Master's seal」

『Reinforcing my seal?』

「It's okay. I'll explain everything today. Well, as much as I'm allowed to though. Now that he's on this pedestal, Master's condition is stable. His memory will be fine」

「Master's? Memory?」

「Yeah. If I tell you what's going on, it might break the seal on Master's memories」

「Is it bad?」

「That will suck for your Master. Well, I'll explain that too. As long as he's stuck in the pedestal, his memory door should be stable」

「Understood」

『I'm counting on you』

The man snaps his fingers lightly, and the ground rises up to create a chair. I could tell that it wasn't the man's ability, but rather my earth magic activated with my own magic power. Or perhaps I should say, not mine, but ours.

It's both my and the man's power.

「No magic beast is going to approach this place for a while, and it will be somewhat longer. Why don't you take a seat?」

「Nn」

「Urushi, go sit beside her」

「Woof」

Urushi is as quiet as a borrowed cat. Apparently, he understands that the men in front of him are superior to him. Either that, or Urushi considers him as his master too because of his connection to me.

「Well, let me start by introducing myself」

「Nn」

At last huh.

「My name is Fenrir. I'm a former divine beast who went mad after eating an evil god. And I'm an interloper whose soul is sealed inside master's body」

Chapter 491: Fenrir and The Evil God

Fran's eyes widened as she heard the man introduce himself. Well, even I feel the same way you know?

Even though I thought it might be possible, I was still surprised to hear it from him. I was so surprised that I didn't raise my voice.

「Fenrir? the magic beast with a threat level of S?」

「That's right. I'm that Fenrir」

『As what I've guessed huh...!』

「It seems that master already knows about me huh. I was going to reveal it a little earlier, but I got a little behind」

「I'll tell you about that too. But first, let's talk a little about me」

His name was Fenrir. It seems that his human form was a temporary form he created to communicate with us and that he was actually a giant wolf over 100 meters long.

I don't know exactly how big he was, I just guessed that he was big enough to kill an Invisible Death with one bite.

「A long time ago, I used to be called a Divine Beast 」

『Does the fact that you're a Divine Beast mean that you have some kind of connection to God? Or did you just call yourself that?』

Fenrir chuckles at my words.

『Then』

「Aah, yes. My Lord is one of the Ten Great Gods, the Goddess of the Silver Moon」

I see. In the mysterious image that Forrund saw, there was an emblem of the Goddess of the Silver Moon. So, he's connected to that huh.

「The mission I was given by the Gods was to eat the pieces of the Evil Gods and purify its power. To do so, I was given the ability to take in the power of the person I ate and make it my own, thus I was born」

That's probably the source of my ability to absorb magic stones and gain power from them. And from what I've just heard, it sounds like a God created him right? So, he's a God's direct subordinate huh.

「I came down to earth, and in my first day, I succeeded in defeating and devoured pieces of the Evil God」

『Is it possible to meet the pieces of the Evil Gods that quickly?』

Or were the pieces of the Evil Gods roaming around all over the place since a long time ago? However, it seems that is not the case.

「A fool who sought power broke the seal. Originally, I was created to defeat that Evil God」

After that, Fenrir found the seal of a relatively weak Evil God piece, defeated it, and ate it. Including the first pieces he defeated, he had devoured four of them.

He was truly worthy of his name, the Divine Beast that eats Evil Gods. People revered Fenrir as a spokesperson of the Gods, a Divine Beast, and a Divine Messenger. It is said that Fenrir was even treated as an entity on the same level as a God.

However, humanity's faith did not last long. After all, Fenrir himself went on a rampage and began to attack the humans.

「The delusion of the Evil Gods must have been beyond the imagination of the Gods. I couldn't fully purify the evil I took in, and it eroded me into the opposite direction」

When he had taken in the first piece of the Evil God, it had seemed to not affect him at all.

「But now that I think about it, I suppose it affected me from the start. Without even realizing it, my appetite and desire for destruction had increased. And driven by this desire, I hunted down the pieces of the Evil Gods at a pace faster than my purification speed」

In the end, Fenrir was unable to resist the temptation to “destroy everything” brought about by the soul of the Evil God he had absorbed, and he then began to run wild.

He caused more damage than the unsealed pieces of the Evil God, and the continent of Zilberd was in danger of being destroyed. Several countries were destroyed, affecting the lives of tens of millions of people.

No, if Fenrir had really gone out of control, there would have been much more damage. However, Fenrir hadn't completely lost his reason.

「I was like a runaway and struggled all over again. Oh right... Do you remember the Lich from the floating island we fought before? I might be similar to him」

The main personality and the Lich's personality are fighting for control of the body, and while one of them is awake, the other is asleep huh? I see, so

Fenrir's original personality and the runaway personality that was corrupted by the Evil Gods were both taking turns to show up.

「As my body was gradually deprived of control, I came to this plain with the last of my strength. Well, there was no forest of exhaustion back then though」

「Is that so?」

「Yes, it was created later by the Gods. The pieces of the Evil Gods were separated and sealed here with me, so it wouldn't get out of the plans」

『Eh? In other words, this plain is.....』

「The pieces of the Evil God are sealed in here. It's a fusion of four pieces of the particularly strong pieces of the Evil God.....」

Not only me but also Fran and Urushi stared at the ground unintentionally. It was such a shock. But the man did not laugh at us.

「I know how you feel, but it's okay. So far, we haven't had any problems with the seal coming loose.」

『Really?』

「Yeah.」

Thank God. Something is going on with the seal inside me, and I was worried that this one will be okay too. But the situation is not like “The Evil God's seal is about to be broken!” “Please do something!”

『But still, you said you have separated and sealed the Evil God pieces, right? How did you do that?』

「That's a good question. Only the Gods would be able to seal the pieces of an Evil God」

「Eh? Then, what did the Gods do?」

「You know...」

When Fenrir arrived at this place, he didn't have a specific purpose for coming here. He was simply looking for a place where there were few people and animals, and then he found this place.

「A Divine Beasts cannot commit suicide on its own. Because they're a part of the Divine part of the system that runs the world」

That's probably why he was looking for a place where he could at least not bother the world.

「But, I heard that even for the Gods, it was difficult to tear the piece of the Evil God out of me and seal it. But then a person appeared.」

「Yeah. Elmera, the Divine level blacksmith. She was the one who made the Cherubim, she was looking for a place to dispose of it」

The creator of Cherubim. In other words, the person who made up the sword part of me. I perceived myself as a sword. Strangely enough, I felt more like a sword than a person.

When I first came into this world, I think I was very conscious of being a human once upon a time. Maybe I got used to being a sword while I was living here as one.

So that's why I had a strong image of Elmera as my creator. It's not like she is my parent, but I feel she is somehow close to that.

「Elmera」

「That's right」

However, Fenrir once again uttered a surprise.

「Well, at first we're trying to kill each other though!」

『Huh? You were trying to kill each other?』

「You fought her?」

「That's right. Elmera heard a rumor that I was here, and then she came here to the plains.」

So, she's been coming here for Fenrir from the beginning huh.

「She thought that if she was going to dispose of the Cherubim anyway, she would unleash all the power of the Divine Sword and defeat the Divine Beast, Fenrir」

『How did that get you to cooperate?』

「I was ready to be defeated by Elmera, trying to somehow hold back my body that was trying to take action on its own... and the Moon Goddess also asked the other Gods to try and save me」

It seems that the Gods, especially the Goddess of the Silver Moon, called out to Elmera and asked her to help Fenrir. So Elmera accepted the request.

「It was probably partly because the Gods had asked her to, but Elmera was also happy that there was still a use for Cherubim」

That's a Divine level blacksmith there, just like Alistair. She doesn't want to destroy the Divine Sword as much as possible.

In order to save Fenrir, it was necessary to separate Fenrir's soul from the Evil God's soul. So, the Gods decided to separate only Fenrir's normal soul, leaving the Evil God's soul in Fenrir's body, which had already been fused with the Evil God's pieces.

「The problem was where to store my soul. Because when you cut off a part of a soul, it will drain its power tremendously」

If Fenrir's soul was left without any vessel, it would disappear in a flash. Then the vessel that was chosen was the Divine Sword Cherubim.

「My body was sealed deep within this plain along with the Evil Gods, and I fell asleep within the discarded Divine Sword」

As a result, the evil beast Fenrir disappeared, and the continent of Zilberd was saved.

『But that didn't make it a happy ending, right?』

『Well. After all, you're not in the story now. There has to be a continuation』

「Well, you're probably right. But my original body is happy you know? Being sealed by the Gods. They even created a barrier for me」

『Could it be the Forest of Exhaustion?』

「The sky too. They are also a barrier against the Evil Gods in case they would resurface. They also absorb the magic power of the surrounding area and gradually weaken the Evil Gods that lie beneath these ruins by continuing to perform purification techniques on it」

The uneven distribution of magical beasts in the Plains of the Demon Wolf was actually due to that barrier. Due to the forest of exhaustion, the Plains of the Demon Wolf is a land where magic power easily accumulates and magic beasts are easily born. Therefore, the Gods also suck up the power from the magic stones of the magic beasts and use them in their purification techniques.

Magic beasts increase in number through breeding, but other than that, they are born from the accumulation of magical power. When a magic beast is born from a pool of magical power, a magic stone is first created, which then becomes a magical beast when it is covered with magical power.

Therefore, the magic beasts themselves are weakened by the Divine Barrier that sucks up the magical power even from the magic stones that have just been created from the pool of magical power. In addition, the closer we get to the ruins, the stronger the barrier power becomes, and the closer we get to the center, the weaker the magical beast becomes.

The magic beast that is born is also unwilling to go near the center because they hate the ruins that suck up their power. It is said that only small magic beasts such as goblins, which are almost immune to the effects of the barrier would come close to the center.

「Will Urushi be okay here?」

「He'll be fine here. The Forest of Exhaustion sucks up magic indiscriminately, but the barrier of the Plains chooses its target」

He said that since my magic is registered and Urushi is my followers, he will not be affected by the barrier. That's convenient huh.

「The magic power gathered by the God's barrier is purifying the pieces of the Evil Gods that parasitized my body every day, but that is not the problem. It's my soul that's the problem」

「Well, to put it simply, I haven't been able to completely rip the Evil God out of my soul.」

Chapter 492: The Reason It Was Me

『Oioi, Isn't that bad?』

「Yeah. In fact, I was in danger」

It seems that the Gods had sealed Fenrir inside Cherubim, and intended to gradually tear away at the Evil God's power and purify it over thousands or tens of thousands of years.

However, the Evil God's corrosiveness was unexpectedly deep, and instead of being cleansed, it invaded even deeper into Fenrir's soul as time went by.

「The Divine Sword is an entity that is designed to counter the pieces of the Evil God. Therefore, I was supposed to be protected as long as I was sealed within it... However, the power of the Evil God was stronger than expected. Well, it was a combined existence of four pieces after all」

The Gods had taken notice. The Gods paid attention to Fenrir's ability to take in the power of the beings he ate. However, there was no way that Fenrir, in his soul state, could take in his prey on his own.

So, the plan was to fuse the sword with Fenrir's soul. The purpose was to absorb the power of the killed opponent and restore Fenrir's soul.

『If I may say so, couldn't they have just used the Gods powers to heal Fenrir normally?』

「Even though I am a member of the Divine family, I don't understand everything about the Gods.....I've heard that Gods have rules too and that they don't allow any kind of interference on Earth」

So, the Gods wield their power within the rules that they have set.
Otherwise, the world could be messed up by the whims of the Gods huh.

「And with the help of several Gods, the foundation of the current Master was created. It's a sword with a built-in system that absorbs the magic stones it cuts and heals me」

「How about the wielder?」

「Well, what do you think? I'm not sure even the Gods had any guesses...
But first, there was a problem that needed to be solved」

「A problem?」

「It's the Evil God. Even if I were to perfect the system that heals me, that wouldn't suddenly weaken the Evil God's power」

「Certainly」

『So how did you solve that problem?』

「Fufu」

Hearing my words, Fenrir laughed. It wasn't a laugh that made fun of me, but a mischievous laugh.

「The solution to that problem was you, Master.」

『Huh? Me?』

「What do you think is the most troublesome power of the Evil Gods?」

「Ummm?」

「Is it its fighting prowess? Its stubbornness? The evil beings they spawn? No. The most terrifying thing about the Evil Gods is their ability to control others」

A God has more or less control over his or her kin. If she is the Goddess of Chaos, she has control over her kin in the dungeon. If she is the Goddess of Beasts and Insects, she has the power over Beastmen, beasts, and insects. It is said that it is difficult for the kin to disobey their God's orders. Of course, they are not absolute, but their powers are quite strong.

『I'm rather surprised that it's not absolute. Can it be resisted?』

「In the case of the Beastmen, the average person would be unable to resist. If the Beastmen's God commands them to do something, they would have no choice but to obey. However, if you are strong enough to be at the level of the Beast King and his entourage, I believe you can defy her control. Well, I don't know if there is anyone who would defy a direct order from a God though」

『Ordinary humans would rather be willing to obey, huh?』

「Probably」

We know about the relationship between men and Gods. So, what about the Evil God's kin members? Are they only evil beings?

「No, it's not. An Evil God can rule over all who are born in this world」

A Kin member is an existence that was created by their God. Beastmen, the descendants of the Divine Beasts created by the God of the Beastmen, are under the control of the God of Beastmen.

「And before the fall, the Evil Gods were assisting the Gods when there was war between Gods」

In creating this world, the God of War assisted all the Gods. In other words, she is slightly involved in the entire creation of this world. Therefore, the control of the Evil Gods will also extend to everything in this world.

The War God helped in only a small part, though apparently, her control was not as great as that of the other Gods.

It is also said that the reason why kin members can resist the rule of the Chief God was that the Evil God has taken part in their dominant territory of control.

「And it seems that when he fell to the Evil Gods, his power was altered to specialize his control」

「It would be difficult for an ordinary being to defeat the Evil God's pieces. Only those who possess the Divine Sword or have the strength to overcome the Evil God's control can fight against it」

『...Then, why am I involved in this? I was just a common Japanese man on Earth you know?』

Now I've become the Discarded Divine Sword, but when I was on Earth, I was just a regular guy. I'm an otaku whose hobbies were playing games, watching anime, and reading manga.

「That part about you being born on Earth is important」

『Being born on earth...? I see! So that's why huh!』

「Do you understand?」

『Those who are born in this world are treated as kin members of the Evil Gods and are ruled by them. But I was not born in this world. So, I won't be controlled by it huh!』

「That's right」

It seems that they planned to connect Fenrir and the magic stone absorption system to the people from Earth and make use of their souls as the main personality, thereby nullifying the Evil God's control.

It's like a filter or a barricade, but anyway, Fenrir is protected by my presence now.

『It's finally starting to make sense』

I didn't know why I had been summoned when I was a normal human being, but it was important to me that I was born on Earth.

『Well, I don't know the reason why I was the one chosen all among the candidates』

「You may think you were chosen at random, Master, but it seems you were screened accordingly」

『Is that so?』

「First, the form of the soul. I don't know about you, but I've heard that the shape of the soul is very important to fit in as the main personality of the sword. I've heard that from the Gods. In particular, the core system of the sword was created by the Goddess of Chaos by applying the dungeon system. I've heard that compatibility with this is important」

『Eh? Dungeon?』

「That's what I've heard, and I don't know what part of the dungeon system they're using either. However, the way you accumulate points to gain new powers may indeed be similar to that of a dungeon master」

That's why I'm treated like the Goddess of Chaos' kin huh. And the Goddess of Chaos said that I was also her kin. So, I guess I'm also the kin of another God. Maybe to the Goddess of the Silver Moon.

「Personality was also important too. You're going to be the independent personality of a powerful sword, so you need to have a decent personality」

『Personality?』

I'm not proud of it, but I'm not a saint, you know? Rather, I'm a greedy snob.

「It seems rather important to be a greedy person. God said this. Good people are quickly ruled by their self-righteousness and start talking about justice, and bad people are out of the question. Moderate people with a certain level of conscience are preferable」

Haha, so you're saying they prefer people who do everything in moderation huh?

「Then there are religious views. Atheists are bad, but fanatics are even worse. It's bad enough when they come to our world and say that their God is the only one. Also, mental flexibility. You need to be able to adapt to this world to some extent」

I have an idea of a race that comprehensively meets the current criteria. It's the Japanese otaku. They look down on those who pretend to be good people, but they don't have the guts to do great evil, and if something happens, they will ask for help from God.

Hmmm, so there's a reason why the main characters of otherworld reincarnation novels are all Japanese otaku huh? Perhaps the authors of the otherworld reincarnation stories that have been flooding the earth are actually returnees. I wonder?

「In addition, when they look on Earth from this world, it has to be a person who is just dying or has died. I guess that means it's easier to summon their souls. When it comes down to it, there are very few people who can be summoned」

It would indeed be very hard to find a person with the right personality, that was dying or has died. It's completely based on luck huh.

「In fact, I think Master was the fifth person I've met since I started looking for a suitable person. It seems that in a world where killing each other is the norm, being reincarnated as a sword is still a high hurdle. The previous four refused, but fortunately, Master agreed to become the main personality of the sword, and so the sword was finally completed」

Ooh, so I wasn't the only one who met the requirements huh. Now I'm grateful to the previous four people who refused to be reincarnated. If I hadn't been reincarnated as a sword, I wouldn't have met Fran either.

「And when Master was summoned to this world by the power of the Goddess of the Underworld, some of your memories were sealed and then you were sealed as the main personality of the sword」

『That's it. I want to hear more about that. Why did they wipe my memory? And what did they wipe from my memory?』

「It's for Master's sake. After all, Master as a former human was going to be reincarnated as a sword. If he retains his human senses, he will surely go mad」

Come to think of it, the Fanatics must have said something like that huh. It said that the spirit of a man cannot withstand being the body of a sword.

「So, it seems that they sealed away the memories that would strongly shake your personality, desires, and emotions as a human being」

『So that's why there's a lot of other memories I'm forgetting besides the ones before and after my reincarnation that I'm just not aware of?』

「That's right. Of course, it was planned that the seal on your memories would be lifted once you were comfortable with the sword and had no problem regaining your memories. Master may not remember this, but it was explained to you before your reincarnation and you understood it」

That's probably true. If I was asked to choose between going crazy or having some of my memories sealed, I would definitely choose the latter. Well, the mystery remains as to why I agreed to be reincarnated... No, if I was dying and someone offered me a reincarnation, I might accept it even if it was as a sword. I'm more surprised that there are people who refused.

『Is it different from what was planned now?』

「That's right. That's why I need you to come to this place. The Gods are not all-powerful, but I didn't expect that their schedule would be so far off... I don't know whether I should praise or lament for the Gods, either」

Chapter 493: Master's Current Situation

Fenrir began to explain the anomaly that was happening to me.

「Originally, Cherubim was supposed to help Master's mind to adjust to the sword. Over time, Master's mind would adapt to the sword, and at that point, I would reveal myself and release your memories in stages, gradually uniting you with the sword」

『But, Cherubim is...』

「Yeah. Of course, if she hadn't taken a stand at that time, Master and I would have disappeared. I am grateful to her. But now that I no longer have Cherubim's support, my plans are beginning to fall apart」

And that wasn't the only thing that had gone wrong with the plan.

「You grew at a faster rate than expected. In addition with extraordinary series of fierce battles, a large number of skills were acquired as a result. You also burdening the system by the use of potential release, outbursts of mad demonization, and absorption of the Fanatics」

Fenrir counted on his fingers. It's been a pretty intense few months if he tells me that. But does that mean it was bad?

After using potential release, Announcer-san lost his power and also caused a major distortion in the entire system. In the Mad Demonization, the evil part of Fenrir went out of control. And when I ate the Fanatics, the internal system was further overloaded, causing a breakdown not only in my memories but also in the seal of the Evil God.

「It's proof that Master and Fran have been fighting hard. I wouldn't say that's a bad thing. But I'm sure it was more of a rush than the Gods had imagined」

It seems that the Gods, who have a different sense of time than humans, were not very accurate in their estimates. Well, maybe we're living a little too active too.

Even the Gods didn't think that the seal of Evil Gods was perfect no matter what. That was why they had left the residue of Cherubim - in other words, Announcer-san. They said that even if there were some tears in the seal, Announcer-san was supposed to be able to repair it.

However, Announcer-san has lost his power, and so his recovery has been greatly reduced. There's also the series of events that shook the seal in a short period of time followed, causing the seal to become looser.

「But, Alistair had refurbished Master」

「Yeah, I'm sure that had brought it back up quite a bit. However, even a divine class blacksmith won't be able to have a perfect understanding of the system that the Gods built. It was just a first aid」

『So, this time will be different?』

「Even I don't know much about it either」

The pedestal that I'm currently stuck on. This is also a pedestal made by the Gods, and it is said to have various functions that even Fenrir does not know about.

「Anyway, Master has not fully adapted to the sword, but his power is much greater than what was expected. If we leave you like this, the memory seal might break and will affect Master's soul. In fact, it will definitely make Master's mind go crazy. Not only that, Master, you've heard that voice, right?」

『Voices? Ah, you mean that one? The one who says “Devour everything”?』

It was bothering me in my mind during that battle, so I yelled at it and before I knew it, it was gone.

「That’s right. You know what it is now, don’t you?」

『...the Evil Gods huh』

「Exactly. Or, more accurately, a piece of the Evil God’s soul fused with my soul. But still...kukukuh」

「No, it’s just that I remembered how that piece of the Evil God was yelled at by master, and how it kept quiet after that... kukukuh. It couldn’t believe that there was a being that didn’t accept its control. So it pulled back in surprise」

Oh, I see. It’s not that it was overwhelmed by my soul, it’s just that it was surprised that it couldn’t dominate me.

「Only a small amount of the Evil God’s consciousness is still leaking out, but we can’t leave it like that. We need to reinforce the seal and repair the entire system. That’s why I asked you to come to this place」

「Then, Master can be healed?」

「Of course. I mean, I’ll be in trouble, if we don’t fix him. It’s because I was also a part of him」

『I understand that. So, what am I supposed to do now?』

「You don’t have to do anything」

『Not doing anything.....are you telling me not to move?』

「That's right. I heard that the pedestal will do the rest of the work automatically. I don't know much about it, but Master's job is just to stay still. I'm sure that the formulas built into the pedestal have already started analyzing you now」

『Formulas?』

So, does that mean I'm stuck here for a while? I'm a little scared... It reminds me of the intense, mind-numbing pain I felt when Alistair repaired me. I'm not going to go through that again, right?

『How long do I have to wait?』

「Well, I don't know. Will it be an hour, a day, or a week?」

『Oioi, isn't that really long?』

「Think about how complicated and sophisticated the system inside you is? It could take you a month or more you know?」

『Seriously. So, what about Fran? If I leave her, she'll lose her skill-sharing.....』

Even if Urushi was there with her, it would be too risky to go back to Alessa through the Plains of the Demon Wolf alone.

「I'll wait here」

『Well, it can't be helped huh...Sorry, it's because of me』

「No problem. Besides, it will be a good training period」

『But, I'm not coming with you, right?』

「Gonna train to fight without relying on Master. Urushi is also with me」

「Woof!」

『I see, you're right』

If she can use her skills, Fran's strength won't drop that much. As long as she doesn't go to the outer perimeter, she should be fine.

Based on Fenrir's explanation, it seems that the magic beasts don't like going near the pedestal.

「Then, should I train with Fran and Urushi too?」

「Fenrir will?」

「Yeah. Now, I'm out thanks to the pedestal, but once the restoration is complete, I will sleep inside Master's again. It's the only time I'll be able to train you」

『...Fran, why don't you ask him to?』

I'm also wondering what kind of training Fenrir will give to Fran. Especially to Urushi.

Thanks to Fenrir, now I know why I was able to summon the wolf-shaped magic beast. That's also what Urushi's title, "Kin of the Divine Wolf," means. As a wolf-type magic beast, I think this will be good training for Urushi.

「Understood. I'll be in your care」

「Woof!」

「Yosh Yosh! Well then, let's give you a little lecture」

Chapter 494: Simple Training

The start of Fenrir's training was a little different from what she had expected.

「Yes just like that, don't move」

「Muh!」

「Woof!」

「Concentrate within your own body, sharpen your senses」

She thought he was going to teach her how to use her skills and how to wield weapons, but he told her to sit in a cross-legged position on the spot.

It was training to control the flow of her magic power. The content of his training was to let magical power flow through her body.

Fran is already capable of using her techniques, but she lacks the fundamentals because she has been fighting on her own. That's why it is not surprising that she has to do this kind of training.

「Once you can do this properly, you'll be able to use your skills better」

Fenrir has been watching over Fran from within me. Thanks to that, I also know Fran's shortcomings now.

「Fran has two problems, the first one is about her skills control」

『Well, it's still far from perfect』

With the maintenance of the Divine blacksmith Alistair, some of my skills have been integrated into one and I gained more powerful superior skills, but she is still having a hard time controlling them.

「And the other one is that her own power is too great, but the backlash on her body is also great too」

『That too. We're trying to do something about it』

The only solution I can think of is to train her body and increase her status. Of course, I know that reducing the number of multiple skill activations and lowering the power output will solve the problem. However, that would put us at a disadvantage in future battles against powerful enemies.

「This training she's doing now will have a positive effect on that weakness」

『Eh? Really?』

「Yeah」

He said that once she had better control over her skills, she would be able to use the magic power she was currently wasting to offset the backlash and strengthen herself.

「It won't be as strong as body strengthening technique, but it's better like that」

『Hoho—, That's good』

「And for Urushi, he's from a species where skill handling is important」

『The wide variety of skills is Urushi's main asset after all』

「Besides, even with later evolution, the Darkness Wolf won't be able to enhance its fighting ability much」

『Eh?』

「W-woof?」

Not only was I surprised by Fenrir's words but Urushi was too. He stood up unconsciously with a shocked look.

「A Darkness Wolf's next evolutionary path is the Gehenna Wolf or Dark Knight Wolf. However, since both of them are lord-level monsters, their abilities as individuals do not increase much, while their dominance skills over other wolf species increase a lot」

「Well. Although he'll be able to use more magic, his evolution won't be as explosive as other wolf species in terms of status」

「Woof...」

Hearing those words, Urushi drooped. He wanted to evolve and become stronger after all.

「Urushi, that's why this training will be meaningful. The way for you to become stronger as an individual is to strengthen your skills. Think about how to use your skills even more than you already do」

***

Three days passed in the blink of an eye since Fran and Urushi started meditating.

Of course, they take meals and breaks. But they've been in meditation for most of the time. Urushi looks like he's just sitting down though.

『I'm relieved I had prepared some food before we came to the Plains of the Demon Wolf』

「Fran can hunt and cook by herself, right? She also has the skills」

『Well, you're right. But this will allow her to focus on her training, right?』

「Well, that's certainly true」

However, starting today, they will be doing a different kind of training. The training is to stalk the goblins that appear in this area without using any skills.

Instead of relying on stealth skills, they need to be able to eliminate their presence without using skills to manipulate it.

This is something I can't teach them, so I'm very grateful. As an inorganic being, I don't understand what it means to erase my presence. After all, I'm usually able to eliminate my presence without doing anything. I mean, I don't have a heart, so no heartbeat, no breathing, no smell, and no sound because I move by telekinesis.

In general, as a sword, I don't have any presence. As long as I conceal my magic, it would be difficult for those magic beasts to find me.

Well, I still have the senses I had when I was human, but I've never had any training on Earth to erase my presence. I'm an amateur in this field.

Meditation in the morning. Goblin stalking would be their next training in the afternoon.

『Will that make Fran stronger?』

「Of course. Well, it would be even better if she could raise her level at the same time」

『Won't she need me for that?』

「Not in particular. You have a few swords in your storage, right? Well, she'll have to be with Master to hunt magic beast on the outer perimeter, but as long as it's a D level threat or below, Fran will be fine now」

「I know how you feel, but sometimes you just need to keep an eye on things, right?」

『Ugh...』

I also know about that, but... Either way, in my current state, all I can do now is just to watch over her.

『How far are my repairs going?』

「Well. All I can tell you is that you're still being analyzed. It hasn't made any progress in repairing you」

『Even though it's already been three days?』

「Yeah. Moreover, the repairs would take more time than the analysis」

『So even if the analysis is finished today, it'll be at least three more days huh?』

Fenrir told me that my system was so complex that it would take a lot of time to analyze it in detail.

『Do you know how long will it take?』

『Haah...』

「I'm sorry. It's just that this is necessary for Master's sake. Please bear with it」

『Okay. Hey, if I don't move from this state, can I use my skills or magic?』

「Umm. Aside from telepathy, I think you shouldn't use high-level skills. That could prolong the analysis」

『...I'm not going to use high-level skills』

「That's fine then」

Haah! I can't wait for this to be over!

Chapter 495: It's Been a Week

A week passed quickly after I was placed on the pedestal.

The analysis isn't finished yet. Seriously, this is going to take at least a month, isn't it?

While Fran was here with me, she went out for goblin stalking now.

Fran and Urushi seem to have taken a great liking to goblin stalking, which was supposed to be their training, and they go out happily every day. They found it as fun as playing detective.

「Today is the day I'm going to get close enough while not being spotted by 『Crooked Nose』」

「Woof!」

「Nn. The 『Crooked Nose』 can't be taken lightly」

「woof?」

「It keeps playing with the 『Spear guy』 and never returns to the nest」

She now can distinguish between the different goblins, and she's having fun by giving them nicknames.

Right now, they seem to be following the goblins around all day long, trying to track down their nest. She'll keep going until she gets tired of it.

Because of this, Fran and Urushi didn't come back even if it gets dark, leaving me with a lot of free time.

Thanks to that, I've completed my original novel-style story that I've been imagining little by little. The title of the story is 『The Former Brave Wise Man as SSSS Ranked Adventurer in His Previous Life, Reincarnated for The Third Time to Become a Demon King as a Holy Sword Used by a Villainess』

It's a super high fantasy with gag, tears, and sex appeal. Of course, it also includes elements of sarcasm and harem.

In the end, when he and his 100 wives are about to take revenge on the hero party that abandoned him, he realizes that it was all a dream. When the protagonist wakes up on his bed on earth, he realizes the pointlessness of fighting and realizes that 「a normal life is the best!」 This is the end of that story.

It's terribly interesting, even for me. I'm sure if I posted it on “Let's Become a Novelist!” (1), which I used to use on Earth, it would be ranked number one in no time. Even I was scared of my writing talent.

「Master, what's wrong?」

『I'm getting bored. I've got enough time on my hands to finish a big, long, super-sh*tty fantasy in my head that isn't even interesting』

「Uumm, why doesn't Master go train too?」

『I've done that too』

I was still training to control the flow of my magic power, imitating Fran and Urushi. However, I have the Simultaneous Operation skill. That's why I can think about other things while I'm training.

「There's also the blessing of the God of Wisdom, so it can't be helped」

「That blessing assists you with the Simultaneous Activation of magic (2). Or should I say, that makes it easier for you to split your thoughts huh?」

When combined with Simultaneous Operations (3), the effect is doubled. That means I can have twice as much free time.

『But why did I get the blessings of the God of Wisdom?』

「That's because the Divine Sword Cherubim was a kin of the God of Wisdom. In other words, the being that Master calls Announcer-san is the God of Wisdom's kin」

It seems that Alistair's maintenance strengthened my connection with the residue of Cherubim, and I was recognized as a member of the kin too.

『Speaking of which, I've been wondering about the emblem on my guard. Why is it in the shape of a wolf? No, I know it represents Fenrir, but I thought, cherubim were supposed to be designed like angels, right?』

「There are several reasons for this, one is to hide the fact that master is a former cherubim, and even though it was rarely seen by the public, there are still people who know what it looked like because of Oracle skills」

That's for sure. If they find out that I was a former Divine Sword, they're going to come after me in many ways.

「The other, simply because it makes it stronger」

『What? It wasn't just a change in shape huh?』

「No, it's just a change in shape, you know? But the form and existence are closely linked. A cherubim has a form befitting a cherubim, and Master who took in has a form befitting for it」

『Does that change the strength?』

「Just a little bit. Well, that's because it's a Divine Sword, a high-ranking entity. There's no point in messing around with the emblems on a few of those swords」

Because of the tremendous power of the Divine Sword, even a slight increase in strength would be meaningful.

「Oh yeah... For example, it will also affect the acquisition of blessings. A weapon in the shape of fire will not have the blessings of the Water God. The image given by the figure is that much more important」

『But with the wolf design on me, I don't get the blessings of Fenrir or Goddess of the Silver Moon. Instead, I get the blessings of the God of Wisdom』

「This may sound contradictory to what I said earlier, but the form is not everything. It's important, but in the end, it's only one of the factors that make up a big thing」

『I guess it's all about what's inside as well as how it looks huh』

「That's what I mean」

In the first place, the blessings of the God of Wisdom were supposed to be given to me as I grew up, but they had to be put on hold due to Announcer-san's loss of power. Thanks to Alistair, those growths have progressed all at once I guess.

「As for the blessings of the Goddess of Chaos, I don't know much about her.....She's a fickle person. I wouldn't be surprised if she gave you the blessing simply for the fun of it」

『Her blessing huh...? After what I've heard about the Divine kin, I'd even say she's rather troublesome』

「Haah. You came from a different world after all. For people in this world, it's a big deal to have two Divine Blessings, you know? In Master's case, the Gods have no control over you. It's not like they're forcing you to do what they say, so just think of it as a useful skill」

『I've been ordered around by the Goddess of Chaos before though?』

「That wasn't using control over the kin, that was just a normal threat with force, right?」

『Isn't that worse?』

「Well, I wonder? But, you can try to resist it if you're prepared to die, right?」

After all, I can't go against the Gods, right? No, I have no intention of disobeying any Gods other than the Evil Gods. But what if I have to fight a God? I don't think that would happen. But...

『Aah. I think badly because I have too much free time on my hands. I tend to be negative when I think too much』

「Haah. Then, I think you should do more complicated training」

『Like what?』

「It's a discipline for novice magician, but it involves controlling basic magic to change form」

『Change form? Do you mean like thickening up arrow-type magic?』

「No. What am I talking about is changing its form more finely」

Fenrir said so and created a fire arrow in front of himself. However, the arrow immediately changed its shape and transformed into a wolf. It had the added bonus of making a howling motion.

「Can you get it? I'm not using any magic to transform its shape right now」

『Yeah』

When I strengthen magic or transform it, I put more magic power into it to play with it. However, the transformation Fenrir just performed did not use any extra magic power. In other words, it was the same magic consumption as a normal Fire Arrow.

It seems that if I train my imagery and control of the skill, I can transform the skill without wasting any magic power.

It is said to be a method developed for novice magicians to train without wasting their magic power. By transforming the shape of the magic while maintaining it in the air, they can train their concentration, control, and endurance.

My magic is self-taught, and it's nice to be taught these basic training methods. If I keep doing this, even if my skill level doesn't improve, my magic skills might.

「This doesn't consume much magic power and has little effect on the analysis. And yet, the more you focus all your attention on it, the more interesting transformations you can make. It's a great way to train and pass the time」

『Besides, it looks fun』

I tried to transform the Fire Arrow first as Fenrir had done.

『Suddenly making it transform into a wolf was impossible for me huh?』

「First, you need to imagine the shape of it」

『Sh*t, just you see, I'm not going to make just a wolf, I'm aiming for Cerberus!』

「I'm looking forward to it」

Chapter 496: Training as the Time goes by

『I wonder how much time has passed already huh?』

Of course, no one can answer.

It's been an eternity since I've been plugged into this pedestal.

Clouds drifted, rain fell, many nights have passed, and I was still here.

『How long has it been since... When will I be able to get out of this?』

『This already like a torture prison on this plains...』

But there was a voice that answered my lament. A man's voice, full of dignity, came out of nowhere.

「Are you done with your “One Hundred Years of Solitude” act?」

It was Fenrir-san who looked at me with a dumbfounded expression as I acted out my monologue.

『I'm bored!』

「I didn't expect it to be this long either. But it's better than when you were stuck in the Forest of Exhaustion, right?」

I know there is an end, and I have Fran, Urushi, and Fenrir with me here now. And I have also grown quite a bit.

『But I'm bored, bored! It's been a month you know?』

Yes, it's been a month since then. Even after all that time, the analysis hasn't been finished yet. How much time will it take huh.....?

A hut made of earth magic now stood next to the pedestal. For the first few days, Fran had laid her bed on the plains and slept there. She doesn't mind sleeping out in the open, or rather, she prefers to sleep on the fresh plains rather than in a confined space.

However, it rains sometimes, so we built a hut just in case. At first, Fenrir tried to build it, but we forgot that this guy was originally a wolf. He dug a huge hole and said 「Isn't this a nice place to sleep!」

In the end, Fran decided to make it properly. But this is Fran we were talking about. Well, it's not as bad as just having a roof over her head though. Sh*t, if I could have made it, I could have made a better house!

Well, thanks to my analysis not being finished yet, Fenrir was able to stay out longer, and Fran and Urushi made a lot of progress in their training.

『I even can do this with my ice magic now you know!』

I can now control my ice magic better, which I was not very good at before, and transform it from wolf to dragon, dragon to tiger, etc. without difficulty.

With thunder magic and fire magic that I specialize in, I can make ten dragons fly in the air, move them separately, and finally scatter them like fireworks.

I wouldn't do this in front of Fran, but I can even make it look like a beautiful girl and have it pose in many sexy positions.

「I'd just remove the Simultaneous Operations in the first place」

『Then, we won't be able to respond to an emergency like that right?』

「You worry too much huh?」

『It's a good thing because it's been good training for me. And Fran's training has progressed even further』

Fran and Urushi are already in the second stage of their training. This is the training to fight using only sword techniques.

Fran doesn't use sword techniques very often. The reason was that in a high-speed battle, the delay after a move can be fatal. There was also the reason that Fran, who could increase the power of each blow with her skills and magic, did not need it.

But another reason is that Fran is not very good at using her sword techniques.

In the case of a normal swordsman, they would practice sword techniques → learn sword skills → fight mainly with sword skills → encounter opponents for whom sword skills alone are not enough → and start to use both sword techniques and sword skills in a balanced manner.

However, Fran had mastered sword skills at a high level from the start and was, therefore, able to fight battles on her own. Moreover, because she became strong quickly, she didn't need to use sword techniques in the method mentioned above.

She skipped the process that other swordsmen go through, where they learn sword techniques and use them all the time and get hurt. Normally, that's when the body learns how to use the sword techniques. Because of this, Fran, who had not accumulated much experience, was not very good at utilizing sword techniques in her offense and defense.

This is the reason why we often use sword techniques to pre-empt or end a fight.

Fenrir knew this and told her to use only her sword techniques for a while. Even in the mock battles against Fenrir, she was using only her sword technique to fight.

Fenrir is like an illusion, so it doesn't seem to matter how many attacks he receives. Thanks to this, he was able to take Fran's sword techniques from time to time, while giving her advice.

「I think it's time for her to get some real combat soon」

『Can't she just have a mock battle with Fenrir?』

「I'm an illusion, so she can't touch me. That's not even a mock battle. You won't call a fight with a goblin as a real battle, right? She needs to fight a stronger opponent. Either an actual battle against a magic beast or a mock battle against adventurers」

As expected, she won't get meaningful experiences unless she trains in actual battles.

「It's just, you know, I'm about out of time」

『Eh? What do you mean?』

「I'm almost out of time to talk to Master like this. I've been saving my strength except for when we were training, but I can't stay out here any longer. I'm sorry」

Those words made me understand. It's not just that he won't be able to use his illusions to come out here anymore, but that he really won't be able to talk to us like now.

「I've taught Fran and Urushi almost everything I can teach them, but... It's regrettable that I won't be able to see them in the future. Please take care of the rest, Master」

「As long as she doesn't have a decent opponent, that's all we can do. We'll start with the small fry and then increase the difficulty. Fortunately, in these plains, we can narrow down the strength of the monsters to some extent」

However, I still feel uneasy about letting them fight a strong magic beast without me... I've been through something like this before in the Royal Capital, but the position was reversed now. This time I'll be the one waiting.

『Hey, can she just have a mock battle with Fenrir and Urushi?』

「The two of them know too much about each other's moves. I'd prefer another adventurer or a formidable magic beast if possible」

We can't call in the adventurers here. We have to hide my identity, and there's no way they'd agree to stay here and keep up with Fran's mock battles in the first place.

「I guess, Master needs to work on that worrying habit of his huh...?」

Chapter 497: She Came

『Then, we'll use fried fish for today curry's topping』

「Nn! the fish is tasty」

「Woof!」

Fenrir lets out a sigh as he stares at Fran and Urushi who are enjoying their curry. Well, I can't say I don't understand the feeling. Fran and Urushi looks really delighted eating their food after all.

Even I, who had lost my ability to eat after becoming a sword, was a little envious. Fenrir must have been stimulated by his appetite as well.

「...Huh?」

「Woof」

After a luxurious meal that could not imagine being in this magical area, Fran and Urushi who were drinking their tea stopped. Then, they stared at the north of the plains.

『Looks like it's getting closer』

「Moreover, it seems to be aiming straight to here」

Something with great magic power is coming towards us.

At first, I thought it was a strong magic beast running rampant, but it ignored the area and headed straight from the south. It seemed to be more than just a magic beast.

『Fran, be prepared!』

「Nn!」

「Grrrr!」

Fran and Urushi stand ready to respond at any time. I will also have to suspend the analysis at worst. I don't know what that thing would do, but Fran is my first priority.

「Nn?」

「Woof?」

But we were soon relieved of that tension. It wasn't that the other party had disappeared or anything like that. It was simply that we realized that the owner of the presence was someone we knew.

The closer the distance, the more clearly we knew who the owner of this presence was.

「Amanda?」

Yes, it was Amanda, a rank A adventurer, who was coming towards us with tremendous speed. It looks like she's running as fast as she can. At this rate, she should arrive here in a few minutes.

We waited for about five minutes, and sure enough, we saw Amanda running across the plains.

She must have found us at the same time we saw her.

「Fraaan-chan!」

Amanda had spotted Fran and while waving her hands, she accelerated even further.

The goblin that was in Amanda and Fran's straight line was shattered by wind magic. When Fran saw that, for some reason, she let out a sad voice.

「Aaah! Crooked Nose!」

「Woof!」

Oh, so that goblin is Fran and Urushi's eternal rival, the Crooked Nose huh. That goblin has a sense of smell that is unbelievable for a goblin and can spot through all of Fran and Urushi's stalking. I'm sure they were determined to increase the proficiency of their stealth and stalk it from a distance.

「Huhuー, Crooked Nose is...」

「Eh? Eh?」

「Amanda you idiot」

「Eh? Why...?」

Amanda was confused. It had been a long time since they had seen each other, and she was imagining all kinds of emotional things. But then Fran suddenly fell to her feet and started crying. And to top it all off, she got angry.

「U-umm, Sorry?」

Amanda bows her head, not knowing why she's angry.

When Fran saw this, she had no choice but to accept. Well, they're only goblins after all.

「You forgive me?」

「...It's fine now」

「Thank you Fran-chan!」

「Muguh」

Looking thrilled, Amanda jumped on Fran and hugged her. As she was buried in her cleavage, Fran let out a strange voice. It continued with a series of cheek-to-cheek attack.

It's been a long time since they last saw each other. I guess she can't help but be a little passionate about it. But if Amanda were a man, I'd ignore the analysis and hit her with the most powerful attack I could use.

「Fran-chan! Now that your Onee-san is here, you'll be safe now!」

Amanda declared so with a firm face. But Fran has no idea what she's talking about.

「What do you mean?」

「Because Fran-chan said she was heading to the Plains of the Demon Wolf but has not returned ~. Do you have any trouble?」

Apparently, Fran had been treated as missing.

「But, I've said I'm going to train」

「Don't tell me, you've been training all this time?」

When adventurers train in a magical area near a town, they usually return to the town after a few days. It would be a shame to waste the materials obtained, and they also have problems with their food.

However, it was not a problem for Fran, who has dimensional storage. Well, it would be difficult for a normal adventurer to stay in a dungeon or magical area for a long period of time, but Fran can do it.

「At Alessa's guild, Nell was worried that Fran hadn't come back, so I came to find you」

「Nell knows about my dimensional storage though」

「Fran, you should be a little more aware of how awesome you are」

There is a dimensional storage skill in space-time magic, but it is usually not as useful as ours. In the first place, I can use the storage skills, but I've rarely used it.

Because dimensional storage was the higher version of it. It can be activated instantly, the entrance is large, and the capacity is overwhelmingly large. Moreover, time does not advance inside. Well, it's a special skill that specializes in that after all.

When compared with Storage skills, it can't hold anything as big as us, nor can it hold as much. And unless you're a proficient user of it, time will pass.

「Besides, this is a grade-A magical area you know. No matter how strong Fran is, if she doesn't come back for a month, I'll worry about her. Well, guild master was laughed about this though」

Amanda also thought that something might have happened and came to the Plains of the Demon Wolf in a hurry.

「Besides, Master wasn't with you, so I figured there must have been some unforeseen circumstances. Master, what's wrong with him? I mean, with his magic power is...」

Amanda is pained while looking at me like this. It seems that while I'm plugged into the presence, my presence is almost imperceptible to others. Therefore, to Amanda, I must look like a magic sword that has lost its power.

She asked Fran with a look on her face as if she was asking something that was hard to ask. Well, if she knew the relationship between me and Fran, it would be hard for her to ask after all. It's like asking her why her partner has died.

However, I have already discussed with Fenrir how much I can explain to Amanda.

『Should I say thank you for worrying about me? Or don't make me looks like I'm dead?』

「Eh? Master, are you okay? I thought you were...」

『This pedestal is created by the divine level blacksmith who made me, and it's supposed to keep my power from leaking out while I'm stuck here』

「Hee—. That's great to hear then. But, by a divine level blacksmith? Is Master a divine sword?」

『Hahaha, no, I'm not. I just a sword made by a divine level blacksmith』

I'm not lying. I am not a divine sword now.

「We're here to repair master」

『This pedestal also has a lot of functions』

「Repair? What had happened?」

As expected, I could not talk about Fenrir or the Gods. So, I decided to use Elmera, a divine level blacksmith to explain that I was under maintenance.

Chapter 498: The Current Situation

After a long conversation, Amanda hugged Fran again and stroked her head.

「You've done your best huh—?!」

Well, the story goes that wherever she went, she got caught up in trouble and almost died over and over again.

With that being said, Amanda didn't stop stroking Fran's head. Fran won't be going bald or have a Fire started on her head if she continues like this right? I didn't stop her because Fran herself doesn't mind it.

「It's great that you had uncovered the conspiracy of that cheapskate Marquis, but don't be reckless, okay?」

「Cheapskate Marquis?」

「It's that Ashtner! I've had a few requests from the Marquis, but he never pays! But I can't refuse because he has an introduction from an acquaintance」

Amanda had taken on a few jobs from him, including gathering materials. She couldn't refuse because she was a person who had some influence on Allesa.

In Amanda's case, she also has thick connections with the country and the nobility.

Amanda seems to know quite a bit about this whole thing. I've heard that a lot of information has been disclosed to deal with the Raidos Kingdom. They've been gathering information through their own networks after all.

Needless to say, she must have also heard about Fran's activities in the Royal Capital.

If anything, Amanda is probably more concerned about the battle in the Beast Country, which is new to her.

When I told her about Kiara's death, she had a pained expression on her face. I guess it was more out of concern for Fran's loss than out of mourning for Kiara.

「...Fran-chan is a hard-working person huh. But don't overwork yourself too hard, okay?」

「Nn?」

「I'll be sad if something happens to Fran without my knowledge. So, don't be too reckless, okay? Is that no good?」

「...Nn. But I have to be reckless to be strong」

「Fuh... Is that so?」

In the next few seconds, she must have realized that nothing she could say would change Fran's decision. Amanda's eyes were sadly downcast.

「Hey?」

「Nn?」

「Right now, Fran-chan is doing her training while waiting for Master to be repaired in this place, right?」

「Nn」

『That's right』

「I see... All right, I'll help you too then!」

Amanda, with a look of determination on her face, clenched her fists and made a declaration. Her face was full of motivation, and she looked like she was about to start a mock battle.

『What do you mean by saying you'll help her?』

Amanda would have to stay in Alessa as a deterrent against Raidos Kingdom. Moreover, she would not be able to do so without permission, as she was currently in the middle of a skirmish.

「Because you want a mock battle partner, right? I'll be your partner then」

「Oohh—」

Fran looks happy, but is it fine for her to do something like this?

『I appreciate your offer, but what about Allesa? And is the war with the Raidos Kingdom going to be okay?』

「Aah. About that matters...」

I asked her, and Amanda explained the current situation to me.

Raidos' troops that crossed the border were scattered and kicked around by Alessa's forces, and eventually, they all retreated. Afterward, Raidos sent a letter saying that they were sorry for the outburst of some hardliners.

They're stating it's not the will of the country, it's just a few idiots messing around. The letter was followed by a messenger and the head of the alleged ringleader.

「Actually, it's just the head of a lower-ranking nobleman who lost a political battle with a Raidos nobleman and had nothing to do with his head」

『So, it's a scapegoat huh』

The leaders of Alessa and the negotiators sent by the Kranzel Kingdom know this. However, even though they know this, they have to accept Raidos' reasoning.

「Why? The other side was the bad guy, right?」

「We know~ But there's no use in continuing the war either」

At a time when the country is in turmoil, it is impossible to continue a war against a major power. If we had the luxury of doing so, it would be better to focus on the reconstruction of the Royal Capital.

There is also an issue with the face value, but that was resolved when Raidos had apologized for the time being. We can also get a good amount of benefits after all.

Raidos Kingdom must have been aware of this from the beginning.

It would be best if they could successfully cut off the border area. Even if it fails, there's no chance for the Kranzel Kingdom to invade. Because we can't afford that. We will have to pay compensation, but we will also gain valuable battle data.

「Jean is currently guarding the border, and is searching for any Raidos agents who may have entered the country with other adventurers」

「And Amanda?」

「I'm filling in for the other adventurers, handling requests for high-ranking adventurers and urgent requests. But I got a little carried away and ran out of requests」

If that was the case, I thought she could help find the agent, but it seems for Amanda, who is famous and stand out like a celebrity, was deemed unsuitable for such a job.

「Aren't they rude? I can be a ninja if I want to be. They make me looks like a brute that can only fight...」

Amanda was muttering complaints about Nell and guild master for a while, but she quickly regained her composure.

「Well, thanks to that. That's what gave me the time to come here, so I should be rather grateful!」

In other words, it seems that Amanda is not going to stay here for long, but will travel back and forth between Alessa and the Plains of the Demon Wolf every few days.

「It would be biased to only have mock battles with me, wouldn't it? Mock battles, magic beast hunts, basic training, and exploring the plains with me. I think it's best to repeat that」

『Well, you're right』

「Nn」

When Fran and I agreed, Amanda hurriedly prepared her whip.

『Eh? Are you going to do it already?』

「Of course!」

「Nn. Naturally!」

Aah. I still hadn't figured the minds of these battle junkies. They never understand the common sense to do things slowly.

Chapter 499: Farewell

「 Shall we do it now then? 」

「 Nn! 」

Fran and Amanda face each other with a sharp gaze in front of the pedestal. It's been just a few minutes since we met again for a long time, but they're really going to do a mock battle right now huh...

Fran is ready to go and holds up the magic sword made of phantasm pyroxene that she had been using for a while. Amanda's whip was a terrifying whip with the scary name of 『 Demon's Torment 』 . It was not the Divine Dragon's Beard Magic Whip, which was broken in the martial arts tournament. It was her spare whip that was used in the finals.

Name: Demon's Torment

ATK: 721

MP: 616

Durability: 720

Mana Conductivity: B-

Skill: Stretch, Pain-stacking, Paralysis

Name: Divine Dragon's Beard Magic Whip

ATK: 1030

MP: 1800

Durability: 1000

Mana Conductivity: A

Skill: Stretch, Weight Manipulation

It's weaker than the Divine Dragon's Beard Magic Whip, but it's still pretty strong. The pain-stacking skill is also a nasty ability.

「Let me give my newly acquired whip a test, okay?」

「Nn, bring it on!」

「Fufu, then, here I come!」

At that moment, the battle began. It may look so sudden for outsiders, but it's not for the two of them. It's started when they held their weapons.

「Shaa!」

「Muh!」

「Haaa!」

「Nnhh!」

While dodging Amanda's whip, Fran slashed at her. After a few minutes of this kind of repeated attack and defense, Amanda smiled in admiration.

「You've changed your stance, huh?」

「Nn!」

「I see, I see. You're aware of the use of sword techniques now, huh?」

Amanda saw through at her easily. While looking at her, I realized that Amanda's stance was naturally woven into her whip technique.

「Shii! Haa!」

In between the dancing whip attacks. The whip dives into the ground, it strikes Fran like a spear from the ground and turns into a horizontal attack.

She must have made good use of the 『Madness Water Lilies』 whip technique to attack her opponent from below, incorporating vertical attack with its horizontal movements. This not only disrupted Fran's evasive timing but also forced her to constantly pay attention to the ground below her.

Other than that, Amanda's whip technique was also amazing.

The whip, which was once flicked by the sword, attacked Fran again with an impossible movement and blocked her pursuit. The whip moved and took her by surprise even when Amanda didn't move her arm at all, showing once again the usefulness of martial techniques.

『So that's her aim huh...』

In the end, Fran was pushed aside by the storm of whip attack and her sword was flicked away. Amanda was so strong after all.

「Muh...」

「Well, don't lose your spirits yet okay? If we continue to use this approach, you'll be able to become quite strong. And it seems that your martial arts skill itself has already surpassed mine」

「Nn!」

「Besides, it would definitely be in Fran's best interest to fight without Master's support. And I'm not just talking about your attack power and magic control, if you can't consult him in battle, you'll have to think for yourself, right?」

「...Understood」

Fran looks frustrated, but she nods her head in agreement with Amanda's advice. This honesty is what supports Fran's growth potential.

Although she never loses her stubborn side, she was surprisingly straightforward when it came to asking for lessons in combat and the like.

「Then, shall we go on the next one?」

「Nn!」

Well, there's no way she'll be satisfied with just one round huh.

After that, the mock battle between Fran and Amanda continued until the sun began to set.

「Uwaah, that's was one of the best mock battles I've had in a while!」

「Nn...」

Fran didn't even win once in the end. Even though she hadn't changed her stance and was mainly using sword techniques, she looked terribly frustrated. Maybe she thought she could win at least once. But without me, the difference in strength was obvious. No, it wasn't a difference in strength, but a difference in experience and skill handling.

Nevertheless, in the second half of the mock battle, she was able to react to Amanda's whip, and I think she will be able to compete well with her as her training progresses.

「Well, I'm going back to Alessa for now. I'll come back here in four days」

「Understood」

「Fran-chan. Won't you miss me when I'm gone?」

「I'll be fine」

「R-really?」

「Nn」

「Really, really?」

「There wouldn't be a problem at all」

「Really——?」

Amanda, just go back already!

***

At dinner time.

Fran and Urushi were biting into a huge piece of meat. Fufu, even Fran won't eat curry every day. Well, she had curry for breakfast and lunch today though.

This meat is from a stray fang boar that had wandered it, and I made a whole roast of it

「Munch munch...This will be delicious like this」

「Grff grff! Woof!」

Fran holds the manga meat in her hands and chewing on it, while Urushi chews the meat off the bone, and he's happy to bite into the thick bones. They seemed to be more pleased with the chewiness than the taste.

「Well then, I'd better go to sleep」

「Nn...」

「Woof...」

I've already explained to Fran and Urushi that Fenrir needs to sleep. But they are sad to be told again by him. Unlike Amanda, she doesn't know if she'll see him again.

「Don't make a face like that. I'll just sleep in Master. Both of you, good luck with your training」

「Thank you very much」

「Nn」

Fran and Urushi straightened their body and bowed their heads. It's a completely different attitude than the one they have towards Amanda, but I guess they feel she's like their good friend or sister, while he's their favorite teacher even if he only taught them for a while.

「What was that, Master and I are the same. As Master's partner, Fran is not a stranger to me either」

「But you've taught me a lot」

「Woof」

「Besides, I need Fran to do her best to help me regain my power」

「Nn! Just leave it to me!」

Fenrir smiled gently at Fran's firm words.

「Yeah, I'll count on you. See ya」

「Nn, see ya」

Then, Fenrir puts his hand on Fran and Urushi's head. As an illusion, he couldn't touch them directly, but they still look happy. After a few moments of watching at Fran and Urushi's expressions, he smiled lightly and disappeared without a trace.

I can feel Fenrir falling asleep inside me.

『He fell asleep, huh? Well, we'll meet him again someday』

「Nn! I'll do my best!」

Chapter 500: Urushi's Feeling

It's been a few days since Fenrir came back inside me.

Today, Fran and Urushi are still busy with their training, stalking, and fighting magic beasts. Well, I'm still stuck on this pedestal, so I used my skills to sense their presence.

It seems that the skill-sharing had grown along with my growth, extending its effective range even further than before. Now, she can go as far as the entrance of Area 4 without the sharing being cancelled. Or maybe it's the effect of these plains and the pedestal?

Oh, the areas are the ones that I divided into according to the strength of the magical beasts that appeared when I was alone in this plain.

However, in the current Plains of the Demon Wolf, the previous point seemed to be completely meaningless.

『The strength of the monsters has gone up a lot after all. Area 1 is no exception』

In the past, Area 1 would only have small fry like goblins. Areas 2 and 3 used to have monsters with a threat level of F, and area 4 had monsters with a threat level of E, but now the threat level of the monsters that appear has gone up by one or two ranks.

Rank D magic beast seems to have appeared around the border of areas 3 and 4. In the past, it would not be surprising if one had reigned as an area boss in Area 5, the outer perimeter.

The reason why the magic beasts have become so strong is because of me. No, rather than getting stronger, it seems to be more correct to say that it has now returned to its original state.

It takes a tremendous amount of magic to summon my soul, seal it in a sword, and fix it. Of course, it is the Gods who took the lead, so they could handle most of the process. However, the pedestal and other facilities required a supply of magic power from the plains.

Well, it seems that the Gods of this world have set many restrictions, which means I can't rely on them for everything, I guess.

To make up for the lack of magic power, they temporarily activated the magic power absorption barrier to its maximum. Because of this, the magic power of the entire Plains of the Demon Wolf had temporarily decreased, and the magic beasts that appeared became weaker.

It helped me a lot, though. It has helped me to survive and become stronger.

If the magic beast had been stronger, I would have been destroyed sooner. Even if it was safe, it would have taken me much longer to escape the Plains of the Demon Wolf. If it had been as strong as it was now, I would have been trapped in this plains for years.

I would never have met Fran in that case.

The Goddess of Chaos once told me that there is no fate in this world. But is it because I'm a former human that I feel something like fate in my encounter with Fran?

『...Looks like they took it down huh?』

Fran and Urushi had been fighting for a long time, and after storing the magic beast materials, they returned to the pedestal. They looked pretty tired.

『Good job, how was it?』

「Nn, it was pretty strong」

『Is that so?』

As usual, I didn't give my help for them to take it down, her weapon was also not as strong as me, and she was fighting in an unfamiliar way, focusing only on martial arts. It must be hard to fight a rank D magic beast like that.

She seemed to have healed herself a little, but there were obvious signs of bleeding marks and tears on her equipment, which showed that she must have taken a lot of damage.

Urushi's condition is also quite serious. No, it may even worse than Fran's. These days, he tends to challenge himself to close combat, which is clearly not suited for him.

In Urushi's case, although his evasion ability is high to begin with, his melee attack power is not so great. As a result, he can't deal much damage to a magic beast that specialized in defense and close combat.

Fenrir's story about his evolution path seems to be influenced by his reckless behavior.

Urushi has two paths for evolution. Being a Gehenna Wolf or a Dark Knight Wolf. He also said that both of them were a very similar evolution, except that the Gehenna Wolf has deadly poison magic, and the Dark Night Wolf has extended dark magic.

It is an evolution in which the individual status does not increase much, but the command skills such as command, leadership, bird's eye view, and eagle's eye view were greatly improved.

Of course, this doesn't mean that his status won't increase at all. He'll become a Lord-class magic beast with a threat level of B after all. However, it's quite weak compared to wolf-type magic beast's evolution into an Inferno Wolf or a Valkyrie Wolf, which both specialize in close combat.

Fran would have to fight much stronger enemies in the future. At that time, it might be difficult to even cover for her from behind if he continued as he was now.

Perhaps, that's what Urushi felt when we were in the Royal Capital.

That's why he wanted to become even stronger.

I guess Fran can understand how Urushi feels. If she had been told, 『You won't get stronger even if you evolve, but you will gain the ability to command other black cats』 she would never consent to it.

That's why she decided to watch over him and not saying anything to Urushi who had become reckless.

『Fran, how was Urushi?』

「Doing his best」

『I know that, but it seems like you had a hard time huh?』

「Nn... The opponent was quite strong」

When Fran told me the details of the battle, it seemed that Urushi had made a few mistakes. Their opponent was a magic beast with hard scales like a lizard and a body like a gorilla.

Fran stalled it with her sword techniques and magic, and Urushi bit it on the neck from behind, but even that blow didn't kill the magic beast. And Urushi was almost caught by it.

It was a typical brutish enemy that specialized in strength and defense. Urushi would have been able to defeat it without taking any damage by wearing it down with magic from a distance, but it would take a lot of time. It was better for him to support Fran and let her give the finishing blow. However, Urushi wanted to put a stop to it by himself.

Maybe, he has hope for his predatory absorption skills. But he has become too reckless this time.

『Urushi...』

「Woof...」

Don't look so dejected. I could see the frustration all over Urushi's face. This is the first time this easygoing wolf has ever been this depressed, isn't it?

「Master, Urushi will become stronger. So please wait a little longer」

「Woof!」

『... Haah, I understand, so don't look at me like that. I also understand Urushi's feelings』

I can only stay on this pedestal and watch over them. Now that I'm in this state, I can understand how Urushi feels. I want to fight alongside Fran too. I'm sure it's the same for me and Urushi.

『... However, don't be too reckless okay?』

「Nn. I understand」

「Woof!」

That's a good answer.

『Ah——』

《Analysis is complete. Proceeding with the repairs. Until the restoration is complete, the main personality will go into a dormant state, and all contact with the outside world will be cut off》

『What?』

Oioi, I haven't heard anything about this! I mean, oh jeez, the pedestal is starting to glow!

〈The repair is expected to be completed in approximately 150 days〉

『F-fran! It looks like I'll be leaving you for a while!』

「Master?」

「Woof?」

『During the repair, I will not be able to speak with you! It's supposed to be done in about 150 days! Sorry! I didn't expect it to be this soon!』

「Master!」

「Woof woof!」

『Good luck with your training! But be careful! Don't be reckless! Get along with Urushi! Also, listen carefully to what Amanda says——』

And that's when I lost consciousness.

Chapter 501: True Prologue - Top Parts

I wondered how long I had been here.

I moaned at the unbearable pain that assaulted my entire body and looked around with hazy eyes for help. Aah, the tears I've shed, pooling at the corners of my eyes, are so disturbing...

I could see that my hands, which were stretched out to the sky for no reason, were sticky with the bright red blood that had flowed from me.

「Guh... Argh... Help...!」

Why am I in this mess...! Guh, It hurts...! I wish it could be more comfortable...

「Aahh...」

Huh? It's not hurting so much anymore? The pain and burning heat that had been gnawing at me from my bones suddenly eased. It's rather, cold...?

I've heard that it's worse if I can't feel any pain in these situations.

Aah, maybe it's time.

When I thought about it, I felt that my body had relaxed.

My grudge towards the car that hit me, or the safety of the child I saved, or the company that will be gone after I'm gone, and other unnecessary thoughts have completely disappeared from my mind.

What I am feeling right now is only relief.

「...Aah...」

I can't even move my mouth. But that's better if that means I won't be suffering anymore.

Aah, so this is the end of me huh. My field of vision turns completely white, and a sense of being liberated surrounds me as if I'm floating in the air. I didn't feel any pain at all, and it seems I can just get up and start walking normally.

「I'm dead... huh...?」

『That's right, if we don't do something with you, you might die』

「... Umm?」

『But what if I told you there was a way to save you?』

Is this hallucination? I had never heard these voices before, but it sounded so clear. It was as if a woman was whispering in my ear.

And what's with that old-fashioned way of speaking?

『I know how you feel, but this is not a hallucination. I'm here to save you』

A hallucination that says they weren't a hallucination... Haha, maybe it's just me that doesn't want to die so badly.

『I've told you that I'm not a hallucination. Well, it can't be helped then, so how about this?』

Snap

I heard the sound of fingers being snapped, then my field of view changed again.

「Eh?」

「I welcome you to my realm」

I was supposed to be lying on the ground, but before I knew it, I was sitting on the floor. I couldn't help but look around me.

The white space around me remained the same, but before I knew it, a small island had appeared in this endless space.

An island about the size of a schoolyard. In the center of it stands a solemn building made of stone. I don't know how to describe it, but it's... A temple? Yes, it was indeed a temple. I've never seen one in person, but I'm guessing it's something like the Parthenon in Greece.

I was sitting right in front of the temple.

And it wasn't just the ground and the temple that suddenly appeared.

「How is it? Do you still insist on calling me a hallucination?」

A woman stood in front of the entrance to the temple.

There were plenty of things that caught my eyes, such as her strange outfit and hairstyle. But the first thing that struck me was a feeling of amazement,
「She's so Beautiful」

She had a pure Japanese face, but it was surprisingly well-rounded. Not only that, but I could also sense a kind of inviolable Godliness from her.

It's not just simple beauty, but an inhuman beauty, as if an angel had taken up residence in a statue of a Goddess and started to move.

I gulped and looked at the woman's face for a moment, then finally I looked at her whole body.

Just like her face, her figure was also like a Japanese woman. However, it was not like the old-fashioned ones. Her kimono was not the type of kimono with a long hem like a twelve-layered kimono, but rather the type of kimono worn by Kunoichi in a manga. To put it simply, she looked like she was cosplaying.

It was thin, form-fitting, and had a long slit. It's a design that could be called cheesy, but it looks mysterious just because this woman is wearing it.

The kimono is jet-black, just like her long hair and eyes, but the edges and the obi are unified with vermillion.

「Come」

「Eh?」

A woman pulls my hand and helps me stand. That soft, warm feeling was definitely not a hallucination.

「You're not... a hallucination?」

「Yes, So you finally understand huh? Well, this isn't my true form. This is a mixture of my Divinity and your image of me」

「I-in other words?」

「This is a temporary form of the Goddess in your head. It is easier to talk to you this way」

So, she's saying that's the image of Goddess I have in my head? A beautiful woman in a thin costume. Hmm, I'd like to say something about my vulgarity.

「So you're a Goddess...?」

「I am the one in charge of the netherworld and reincarnation. In your sense, I am the Goddess of the underworld」

「Goddess of the underworld...? L-like Hades? No, she looks like from Japan, so, Enma-sama? or Izanami?」

「You're right, and also wrong. But let's not talk about my Divinity for now. Your current situation was more important」

Aah, by the way, what's happened to me? No, the Goddess of the Underworld is right in front of me, so I must be dead, right? But I think she said something about there being a way for me to be saved...?

「Well, it's up to you to decide if you want to be saved or not, but I also have a favor to ask of you」

「A favor...? From a Goddess to me?」

「Yes. Will you at least listen to me?」

「Y-yes」

「That's good, then come with me」

「Ah, wait a minute...」

The Goddess of the Underworld turns herself around and walks into the temple. Is that a place that I can enter? Isn't it a sacred place...

「Hey, what are you doing, come」

「Y-yes」

She said I could come in. I hurried after her. And then I was met with more shock.

「Welcome. I am the Goddess of the Silver Moon」

「Fufu, and I am the Goddess of Chaos」

Two beautiful women, no less so than the Goddess of the Underworld, were waiting for me.

Chapter 502: True Prologue - Bottom Parts

The Goddess of the Underworld invited me to enter the temple, where I found two extremely beautiful women waiting for me.

Their appearances might be described as a western compared to the Goddess of the Underworld.

The woman who called herself the Goddess of the Silver Moon was, as her name implied, a Goddess with beautiful silvery-white hair, pure white skin, and golden eyes. Every time she moved lightly, her silver hair would sway and shimmer. Her expression was full of motherly love and compassion, and she looked exactly as one would expect a Goddess to look.

The Goddess of Chaos on the other hand had a mischievous expression on her face, she had a different kind of beauty than the Goddess of Silver Moon. She had beautiful crimson eyes that seem to see through everything. Her glossy brown skin was clear and beautiful and that made me want to touch it. Her silver hair has a slightly lighter shine than the Goddess of the Silver Moon. Or should I call it an ashen silver? However, her hair color was suitable for her brown skin.

Is the beauty of these Goddesses and their outfits that look like they're just wrapped in thin cloth based on my imagination too? If so, my imagination has done a good job.

「Umm...」

「These two are my colleagues. And they're the ones who were looking for you. Well, I'm just a helper here, and they're the ones in charge」

Then I talked with these three Gods.

To my surprise, they were not the Gods from Earth. So where did they come from? The answer was another world. A world that was different from the Earth. They were the Gods who created and manage that world.

But that was not what surprised me. Of course, I was surprised by the fact that there was another world and that I had met Gods, but what they told me next surprised me even more than anything else.

「With my power, it is possible for your soul alone to cross over to our world」

They were also former Gods of Earth, so they have the power to interfere with Earth slightly. The Goddess of the Underworld in particular can summon those who are on the verge of death.

「Former Gods of Earth? No, rather than that, another world...? I'll be reincarnated into another world...?」

「You might be right, it's close to that」

「Umm...But why?」

「Well well, take your time. We'll explain that matter too」

Well, it was natural for me to wonder, because there was no way I would be reincarnated for free. If I were to be reincarnated into another world, there must be a mission that I have to fulfill.

They showed me an image of the world under their control and about the battles between Gods while explaining what I should do.

I will be reincarnated into a sword and save the Divine Beast called Fenrir who had been infected by the Evil God's pieces within him. I was told that all I had to do was to fight and defeat any magic beast, but it wouldn't be that easy. They also told me that as an Earthling I could repel the Evil God's control...

「I want you to save that child. I beg of you」

「Umm... I'll be reincarnated as a sword huh...? Moreover, my memories will also be erased?」

「We're not going to completely erase your memories, we're just going to seal it temporarily. You'll go insane if you suddenly become a sword after all」

「Mostly, it will be only your memories of the deaths of friends or acquaintances, and the accident that caused your death」

「Also, the memories of emotion and sorrow, which may have a great influence over your personality」

「Other than that, the memories of your first act of sexual intercourse or encounter with the opposite sex will also be sealed」

In other words, the memories that remain strong, and the memories that are deeply connected to the core of my being, will be sealed.

「If you get used to having a body of a sword, and it is judged that you will no longer go crazy when your memories return, it will be returned. Without this, I don't know what will happen to you when you join the circle of reincarnation as a human again after all」

「Umm, what will happen if I die in another world? Will I die if my sword body breaks?」

「You will rejoin the circle of reincarnation of Earth. And not only that, it'll be the same when you have completed the mission」

They told me that I wouldn't be reincarnated in another world, but back on Earth again. But a little bit of preferential treatment will be given to me. Well, I wouldn't have any memories at that time though.

「Umm, what will happen if I refuse to be reincarnated?」

「You don't have to be so scared. We won't punish you. You'll simply go back to the reincarnation cycle, and we'll just look for the next candidate」

Apparently, I'm not the first person whose soul was pulled into this place. However, they refused the idea because they would be reincarnated as a sword.

I'm anxious and scared. But I had already decided on my answer.

「...Okay. I'm willing to be reincarnated」

「Is that fine with you?」

「Yes, I was dead anyway, and I also want to see another world. Besides, as long as I fulfill my mission, I won't be of any use to you, right?」

「Yeah」

「Ah, could I also ask you to erase the data on my computer? But would a God listen to such a silly request of mine...」

「I know, just leave it to us」

The Goddess also provided excellent after-sales service huh. They said that they would also erase the horrible memories of the poor girl I rescued that caused me to be hit by a car and being killed, the data on my home computer, and get rid of my treasured books.

But that wasn't the reason why I decided to do this you know? Although I'll become a sword, being reincarnated with cheat ability was a man's romance right? Also, the reward of being able to be happy in the next life is great. That's how far the Gods are willing to go for me——

「Well then, let me introduce you to these two people as well」

As she was preparing to introduce someone, two new figures appeared in front of me. ??. The reason for the "???" is because I can't recognize one of the figures very well.

「It is a pleasure to meet you. I am the Goddess of Wisdom」

「Nice to meet you. I am Futsunushi. I am the God of Swords」

「Y-yes, nice to meet you two」

The one who claimed to be the Goddess of Wisdom had a neutral beauty so I couldn't tell if she was male or female. She had long, silky blond hair and slender, and thin-framed round glasses. Her thin figure was wrapped in a kind of hunting robe that made it difficult to tell her shape.

Maybe this God is also based on my image. She wears glasses because she's the Goddess of Wisdom huh? Yeah, just like my image of her.

However, the other God was really bizarre.

「F-futsunushi-sama? You have a name?」

The other Gods don't say their names. Futsunushi was a famous Japanese Deity in his own right after all. He should have been the God of Swords.

「Moreover, your appearance is.....」

Futsunushi figure could only be described as a black shadow. His figure looks mysterious as if darkness had congealed into a human form. What's wrong with my image of him? But it seemed that this God hasn't taken an image from my mind.

「He is the only God among us who has a name. In the battle against the Evil Gods, he summoned some of his Divinity that he had left behind on Earth, and by playing an active role, he was once again bound by the name he had abandoned」

Come to think of it, when I was shown the images of the battle between the Gods and the Evil Gods, there was a God who summoned a giant sword and wielded it.

When Gods came over to a new world, they discarded their old names and were reborn as new Gods. In the first place, they were not a single Deity, but a mixture of Deities from various Gods who were interested in the new world.

However, to defeat the Evil God, the God of Swords had to use his Divinity as Futsunushi, which was only a part of himself, to the fullest. Because of this, the God of Swords was fixed as Futsunushi, instead of being free like many Gods who were not bound by a name.

「Since my existence is fixed, I cannot easily change my form. However, a human soul might not be able to bear the image of my true form. Therefore, pardon me for being in this form」

The other Gods don't have names, so they can easily change their forms, but Futsunushi couldn't do that.

「The Divine Sword in which you are going to be reincarnated is the kin of the God of Swords and the Goddess of Wisdom. Therefore, you will need the cooperation of both of them」

After that, I was shown by the Goddess what kind of memory that I can keep. Ugh, this was so embarrassing.

It was better at first. Memories of pain and negative emotions when I died. Memories of favorite movies and VR games that I was addicted to. Many of them were scenes that moved me.

However, it started to get more and more into my personal side of things...

「Ah, this is a memory of a popular movie that you saw on your first date, it remains strong in you」

Even now, when I watch the reruns, I get sweet and sour feelings and memories of those days come flooding back.

「This is a memory of separation from the dog you loved so much」

It was Fran, a crossbreed dog that my parents had bought. It looked like a white mop. One day, I got a phone call from my mom saying that it had died, and I flew back to my parents' house. The least I can say is that it lived a long life. For a while, I couldn't help but cry when I saw a dog that looked like it.

「This is a memory of the first time you experienced skinship with a woman. You made many mistakes, and it remains as a bitter memory」

Wha! Oh, God! This memory is——!

From there on, it was torture for real. Just kill me already! Well, I was already dead though! I was so tortured that I had to do some flippant commentary by myself.

You still remember the first time you went to a cabaret club huh? No no, that was just my senpai taking me there! Aaaaah! You don't have to show me every single memory of my favorite sexy DVD or anything!

Afterward, when I was mentally too exhausted, they used their power on me, and my soul was transferred into the sword. I was left on my own just like that.

The Goddess of Chaos called out to me as I stand in front of a beautiful sword with an angel-like emblem on its hilt.

「The next time you see us will be when you have completed your mission. Well, if there are no irregularities, that is」

「What do you mean by “irregularities”?」

「Well, I wonder? But you already know by what the words imply right? We're not an all-knowing and all-powerful being you know? There are always some kind of irregularities」

Is that true?

「But if you ever meet us before then, we Gods will pretend that we've never met before」

「Eh? Why?」

「How much do you think your memories about us God will shake your memory? It would be bad if the seal was broken, right?」

「I-I see」

Is it possible that even a seal placed by Gods could be broken? No, the fact that they're not all-knowing and all-powerful beings mean that it is possible.

「Well, I've done the best I could. Especially the system that controls your power, which is my best work yet. You can play with it as much as you want to」

「Eh, play with it?」

「It's important you know? Certainly, the mission is important. But it's also important for you to enjoy the other world, right? Have some fun」

「Y-yes!」

「I'm supposed to seal your memory here so you won't remember this when you wake up. So, good luck」

「Y-yes, thank you very much!」

「Ufufufu. Well then, have a good chaos!」

Chapter 503: Master, Fran, and Urushi

「Urushi! Now!」

「Grroaa!」

Urushi, who has become much larger than his original body by his body enlargement skill, rushed towards the giant beast wielding a hammer-like tail. The gray-silver fur on his back makes his movement look like a shooting star.

By looking at Urushi made me remember.

『He's so big...』

His size was probably more than twice as big as before. From the tip of his nose to his tail, he was over ten meters long. His body height had also more than doubled, creating a shadow that looked like a large tree.

However, his heavy body did not slow his movement at all. In fact, he was faster due to his increased strength.

Urushi easily closed the distance between them, perfectly avoiding the various attacks that were unleashed. And then there was the giant beast, whose huge limbs were protected by a hard shell—— and he struck the head of the Invisible Death.

It was not enough to kill it, but it seemed to have succeeded in violently hurting its head. The giant beast, who had suffered a mild concussion from Urushi's blow, stopped moving with a stomp on the ground.

This was our chance.

「Let's go!」

『Ou!』

「Haaa!」

Fran jumped out to the sky and swung me from over her head.

「Bughooooh!」

As expected of a magic beast with a threat level of B. It seems that even if it's in a vulnerable state, it won't let us attack it easily.

The crystal-like scales on its entire body stood upside down and shot out in unison toward Fran, who was right above it. In addition to this, it also unleashed a deadly sniper shot.

However, Fran was not panicking and was handling the situation calmly. She didn't even need to use my teleport; she completely dodged its crystals with her defensive movement and sword handling.

In the past, she would not have been able to use the aerial jump continuously with such delicate control. However, it was not difficult for the current Fran.

As for sniping, it was completely offset by the use of her flawless sword techniques. This was also the result of her training. While using her sword skills to intercept the scattered bullets of the scales, she was also able to mix her sword technique into her offense and defense without hesitating.

Fran, who was in midair, was naturally pulled down by gravity and was gradually losing her altitude. The closer she got to the Invisible Death, the more intense the attacks became, but Fran's defense was undisturbed.

「Brilliant Lighting Rush!」

Just like that, Fran went to end this battle at once.

「Yaaa!」

「Bumoooh!」

『That's it!』

The Invisible Death's scales and light magic were blocked by me instead of Fran, who had shifted to focus on attack. It was possible to use dark magic to cancel out the light magic while using telekinesis to prevent the crystal scales from hitting Fran.

Just like that, the full force of Fran's Sword Saint techniques, wrapped in black lightning, cut through the carapace in front of her.

The Invisible Death's tough shell, which was protected by a giant crystal and multiple barriers, was no obstacle for her now.

It's not that the technique was special. It's that Fran, who used the technique, has become stronger.

Fran's black lightning and my multiple deployments of attribute swords shattered the flesh and bone inside its shell, causing it to explode from the inside.

「Shiia!」

「Bumhoooooooooooo.....」

In the end, she thrust me against the exposed magic stone of the Invisible Death and killed it.

It was our complete victory over the Invisible Death, who had given us a lot of trouble in the past. Of course, the experience from that time is still vivid, but more than that, Fran and Urushi's strength has increased.

『Fran, you've become stronger, huh?』

「Master, you're saying it again」

『It can't be helped. I'm happy to see you've grown a lot』

「It's only been a month though」

『But still!』

「I'm not changing like Urushi right?」

『I'm not talking about your appearance! Well, in Urushi's case, he's changed a lot』

「Woof?」

Fran stroked Urushi, who came up to her and his size now was about the size of a cow. I guess the biggest change is his fur.

It had been black with a slight hint of red, but now it had more red with two flowing silver lines on his back. Also, the degree of its fluffiness has increased too.

The frequency in which Fran hugged Urushi had obviously increased.

『But you know, you've definitely grown a lot in such a short amount of time』

「Woof!」

「Nn!」

As we were talking about this, we suddenly heard the inorganic yet somewhat gentle voice of a woman in our head.

〈Obtained multiple skills from the Invisible Death's magic stone. Integration of skills with the same name into higher-level skills have been confirmed〉

「Nn」

It was Announcer-san, who had regained a little of her power. Although she couldn't talk to me like she did when she used her potential release, she seemed to have regained the same level of power as when I first came to this world. The fact that I was able to absorb the power of the Fanatics also seemed to have worked in the right direction.

Announcer-san was also taking over some part of my control, and the load of using magic and telekinesis was considerably reduced.

Another new feature was that Announcer-san's voice can also be heard by Fran now. I've been explaining everything to Fran, but she doesn't seem to fully understand it. She's like a talking spirit inside of me after all.

And yes, I've talked to Fran about the memories I've regained.

It was the memories of the time before I died and became a sword.

Just before the maintenance was finished, I met the Goddess of Chaos again and she explained to me that she returned my memories of the time before and after my reincarnation. She said that if she left the part of my memory that was about to return halfway through, it could have affected the sealing of my other memories.

If all my memories came back at once, I'd go crazy for sure. Well, I guess the worst thing that can happen to me is that I start to remember.

Oh, I'll keep the ecchi (1) part to myself for now. It's too early for Fran. I mean, how should I explain it to her?

My ecchi memories were sealed by the gods because they could have a strong impact on me. I would rather die than have to explain that to Fran myself.

『Anyway, it's been a month since I've been back』

「Nn」

『Your coordination with each other is already perfect huh?』

「Nn. Of course」

「Woof!」

I was quite confused at first. Well, both of us. Fran and Urushi looked so different after all, and my fighting power had also increased with the assistance of Announcer-san.

We had spent the past month perfecting our coordination. The result was this battle.

『Well, it was tough for me right after I woke up though. A lot harder than just practicing our coordination...』

(1) Just in case you're pretending to not know about it, it means sexually explicit lol

Chapter 504: A Talk with the Goddess of Chaos

Aah—, I wonder what this feeling is...

I felt as if my body was being lifted and liberated from the weight that had been pressing down on me.

Did I slowly ascend from the dark seabed towards the surface? Or from the bottom of a gravity well, towards the weightless space?

Anyway, I felt liberated and exhilarated. It was a strange mixture of the two.

Where am I in the first place?

I couldn't see anything in here. I was in pitch darkness.

What have I been doing all this time?

I feel like I've been asleep for a very long time. However, I didn't feel dull from sleeping for too long. On the contrary, my whole body feels light, although I am aware that I am a bit drowsy.

「Hey, I'd like to have a little talk, have you woke up yet Sleepy-head-san?」

『Eh?』

While I was in a daze, I heard a woman's voice out of nowhere. It was a strangely sexy and naughty voice.

Moreover, it sounds familiar.

『Goddess of Chaos, -sama?』

「I just thought I'd tell you a few things before you fully wake up」

It was the Goddess of Chaos. I couldn't see her, but there was no way I could forget her voice.

「First, I'm going to unseal some of your memories」

『Eh? Really?』

She suddenly said that to me. But wouldn't I go crazy if my memories came back?

「It seems that you were very concerned about your lack of memory, and leaving this sealed would have negative effects on you」

『What kind of negative effects?』

「When you have a memory that you can't seem to remember, you can't help but be curious and try to remember it somehow, right?」

『Yeah, certainly』

That may stimulate the unsealing of some memories in an unexpected part. As a result, there is a possibility that the sealing of other memories will also be affected.

「You don't want to go crazy like the Fanatics, do you?」

The Fanatics said something like that. They say that it is dangerous to have a human soul in the body of a sword. Well, I can kind of understand that, and it also reminds me of the Fanatics' madness. I certainly didn't want to be like that.

「So, I decided to unseal not all of them, but the ones that I think can be returned at this point. So, shall we get started then」

『Eh? Wai—』

Before I could reply to the Goddess, my mind was flooded with various memories.

『Guh...』

It's an indescribable feeling. It doesn't hurt, but it's weird. I wonder what it is. It's like the moment when I cannibalized the fanatics. Well, this is somewhat better though.

What came back to me were the memories of when I was a human and when I was hit by a car. The identity of the three mysterious women who had remained in a corner of my memory. And the memory of the scene where my memory was sealed by the three Goddesses.

It's not like all of my memories had returned, but I remember the main part of what I was most curious about. It was the reason why I can't remember anything.

Well, it also brought back some humiliating memories though. It was about the shaming play by the Goddess...

It was just an embarrassing memory for me, as I don't have any special sexual preferences.

『N-no, it's nothing. Just because I've regained some of my memories, is it okay for me to continue to act as before after I wake up?』

「Yeah, rest assured」

Then, I should collect more magic stones for Fenrir huh

「But still... you were hit by a car while trying to save a stranger's child and agreed to be transferred to help a dying child in this world... You must really like kids huh」

『I don't like the way you say that! It makes me sounds like a lolicon!』

「Ufufu, that was just a joke. Well, I think it's time huh?」

「It's time for you to wake up」

『So, the repairs are done?』

Come to think of it, it's been a long time since I've been so clearly awake. That is, not since I left Fran in front of the pedestal. And yet, it didn't feel like an instant. I know I've been asleep for a long time. Maybe that's why I think it's been so long.

「Ufufu, say hi to the black cat-chan too. Well then, have a good chaos」

That's the second time I've heard that! Is that the Goddess of Chaos' signature line huh?

〈60 seconds left until the individual named Master is to be fully awakened〉

『Hmm?』

When I thought the presence of the Goddess of Chaos had gone, I heard a strange voice, inorganic but also warm. I think I've heard this voice before...

Uuummm...

『Ah! Announcer-san!』

『Eh? You can talk?』

〈Conversation is possible for now only. But it will soon return to normal. Right now, I was borrowing power as an emergency measure when the main personality was dormant〉

『Hmm? Main personality?』

Do you mean me? So, while I'm asleep, the power I normally use is given to Announcer-san allowing her to have a little talk with me for now?

〈By replacing the individual named Master, the provisional named Announcer will be deprived. So, before that... Master, you have my thanks once again〉

『Eh?』

〈Once again, I have the opportunity to wield power for the benefit of my registered wielder〉

『But, you will be deprived right?... That means you're going asleep just like before...』

〈In the future, the probability that the Provisional named Announcer will regain its power with Fenrir is 77%. Also, some of its blocked privileges have been restored〉

『In other words, you have recovered a little huh?』

〈Yes. By assimilating and absorbing the virtual personality of the Discarded Divine Sword, I have regained some of my power, which had been reserved only for necessary calculation before〉

Umm, did my cannibalizing of the Fanatics work out for the better then?

〈It's time〉

『Announcer-san! When I had restored Fenrir's power, I'll bring you back too! I'll do my best!』

〈Thank you——〉

Then a change came to my vision.

A ray of light shone into my blackened vision, and as if it had exploded, it swelled and dispelled the darkness.

I was able to look directly at it because I don't have a retina. Well, if I had been a normal creature, I would surely have damaged my eyes, wouldn't I?

The color returns.

What I saw was the blue of the sky and the green of the plains.

And a girl is standing in the middle of it.

Black hair, healthy skin, a body without unevenness, distinctive black cat ears, a cat tail, and big eyes showing her determined will.

『...Fran』

Chapter 505: Things that Won't Change

The first thing I saw when I woke up was a girl standing in front of me.

Black hair, healthy skin, a body without unevenness, distinctive black cat ears, a cat tail, and big eyes displaying her determined will.

She was my partner, Fran.

『Fran』

「Master?」

『Yea』

Fran muttered the word as if to confirm, and I replied in a slightly quiet voice.

I wonder, why my heart was so full that I couldn't get the right words out of my mouth. I felt like I just slept and woke up, so I shouldn't have experienced the passage of time so much...

This must be the feeling of nostalgia. If I had tear glands, I would have cried.

「Master...」

『Fran』

「Master!」

Fran rushed over and hugged me while I was still stuck on the pedestal. It was more than a hug, but she's giving it her all.

If the sword being hugged wasn't me, her hug might have destroyed it. And if it were an average person, she might have killed them. That's how powerful her hug was.

However, I was rather happy that this lack of restraint seemed to express Fran's loneliness. And it meant that she missed me so much.

「Master...」

『Fran, I'm back』

「Nn...」

I used my telekinesis to gently wipe the tears from the corners of Fran's eyes. Then Fran rubbed her head against my handle as if she was trying to be sweet.

『Fran, if you rub your head against me that hard, your head will get hurt』

『Fran...』

I was in the middle of stroking Fran's head while she was spoiling me.

Growl—...

『Hmm?』

A mysterious sound echoed about.

But it doesn't seem to be a mystery or anything. 'Fran-san, you must be hungry, aren't you?' Even though this is an emotional reunion scene?

Grooowl—!

「...I'm hungry」

Even after five months, Fran was still the same Fran, huh? Should I be happy that she hadn't changed, or lament that she hadn't grown up? Well, there is almost no change in her appearance.

Fran was holding onto me with her right hand and rubbing her stomach with her left. Then she quickly cringed and opened her mouth to me.

「Master」

『Wh-what is it?』

「Give me curry」

『Cu-curry, huh?』

「Nn!」

『Woof!』

「O-okay—... eh?」

『Woof woof!』

Before I knew it, Urushi was here too. He seemed to have come out of Fran's shadow. However, his appearance had changed drastically.

He was basically the same Urushi. A black wolf with lustrous fur. However, his fur color and the presence he emitted have changed greatly.

Originally, the red color was just mixed in with the fur on his neck, but now it was all over his body. Dark red was mixed in at the tips of his neck, knees, and tail. In addition, the fur on his back had silver lines now.

Only by looking at him, I knew that he had evolved. He had become so flashy.

『Urushi, you——』

Grrroowll—

「Master... Curry...」

『Ah yes, sorry! Look, I'll bring it out now! Urushi wanted the spicy one, right?』

「I want a big bowl」

「Woof woof!」

『Then, we'll use ten toppings for the curry. And for Urushi, I'll make the curry ten thousand times spicier』

After receiving the curry I served, Fran and Urushi began to devour it as if it was their first meal in several weeks. The curry, which I was worried might be a bit too much, was quickly filling their stomachs.

When was the last time she had eaten? But I'm sure I had cooked a good amount of food in the Forest of Exhaustion and stored it for Fran in Dimensional Storage...

『Aah! Co-could it be, the skill-sharing didn't work?』

If that were the case, she would have lost my dimensional storage and cooking skills. And it would have been difficult to even survive on this plain.

『F-Fran... You must have experienced a lot of difficulties...』

「Nn? The skill worked」

『Eh? The skill-sharing worked?』

「Nn」

『Then, the reason you wanted to have that much curry is...』

「Fran-chan and Urushi ate up all the curry in the first two months」

『Ooh, so that's why...』

I usually kept her under control. If there was no one to stop her, she would always eat her favorite foods. But I'm rather surprised that her body hadn't changed!

But I'm glad Fran hasn't gotten fat after all this time!

『And then, Amanda, how are you doing?』

She had been there from the beginning, so I called out to Amanda, who was smiling at me behind Fran and Urushi.

「I'm fine. But rather than that, why don't you tell us what had happened?」

『You need to know that there's very little that I can tell you, okay? But I'd rather want to know what had happened while I was gone』

「Are you sure? This is gonna be a long story」

『I'll leave it to you. Fran won't be able to do anything for a while after all』

「Mogu mogu!」

「Wouf wouf!」

「Yeah, I guess so...」

Chapter 506: Side: Amanda

Fran-chan was depressed for a while when Master was gone. Her face didn't show it, but her voice and eyes were lacking strength.

At night, while being buried in Urushi's fur, she stared up at the stars in a daze, just like a child her age would act.

But even so, after a few days, she was slowly getting back on track.

「Let's do our best okay? You wanted to surprise Master when he comes back, right?」

「Nn!」

「I'll be more strict on you then!」

「Just like I wished」

Fran-chan's determination was genuine. In fact, I even scolded her several times for being a little too enthusiastic.

When I came back to Alessa, my equipment was often badly damaged. Not only that, but the sword I had procured for her had broken, and she was in the process of healing her injuries.

Apparently, they had been challenging high-ranked magic beasts and were being defeated multiple times. They also had recklessly fought a series of unreasonable battles.

She was not a child who will stop, no matter what I say, and I have no right to force her to stop. Fran-chan is already a full-fledged adventurer. She can make her own decisions and take responsibility for everything she has done.

Even if she gets badly injured or even dies from her training. It's hard for me to not be strict with her though because I myself have become stronger through repeated reckless training.

All I can do is to come to these plains more often and train her until she almost dies.

However, a little over a month later, something strange happened to Fran-chan and Urushi. They began to lose their spirits.

There was also a change in their diet. They used to eat curry rice with brown sauce, for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. However, this was reduced to one meal a day, then one meal every three days, and finally, there was nothing left to eat.

It was Fran-chan's favorite dish, but it was difficult to make and the ingredients were very hard to find. Fran-chan seems to be a good cook, but she doesn't have the ingredients.

In the end, she managed to cover it up by getting some of the spices for the curry from Alessa and sprinkling them on the meat.

If there had been an infinite supply of curry, Fran-chan and Urushi would have been able to make more progress in their training.

「Well, can you dodge this then?」

「Haa!」

「Good! Yes, just like that! You have to read your enemy's aim, and be careful of their feint」

「Nn!」

Fran-chan's movements were getting better and sharper every day. I may be wielding my whip like it was nothing, but inside, I was covered in a cold sweat.

After training without magic and only using weapons in the mock battles, I decided that it was almost time to let her give it a shot.

The training between Fran and I was not limited to mock battles. Fighting magic beasts was also part of our training.

Her opponent was magic beasts with a threat level of D. Sometimes, she handicaps herself and uses her sword techniques only, and sometimes she would only use her magic. That's how she fights and defeats them. My presence here was just insurance in case of an emergency.

There was something interesting about her fights though. Sometimes I thought she was in a daze, but suddenly she was moving much better than before. I can only assume that someone had given her some advice, but there was no sign that she was talking to anyone.

Fran-chan said it was a sword spirit, but I couldn't feel any signs of a spirit around. It was hard to tell from her straight face, but it seems that Fran-chan was able to make jokes.

Well, maybe she's just adjusting her movements while organizing various things in her head.

「You broke your sword again huh~」

「Nn...」

The problem, for now, was her weapon.

There were a few weapons in Fran-chan's dimensional storage, as well as a magic sword. However, they were unable to withstand Fran-chan's power. Even the strongest magic sword made of phantasm pyroxene stone was easily shattered in just two weeks.

So, I started selling the magic beast materials that Fran-chan defeated at Alessa to buy some swords for her, but there was no way I could get a sword worthy of Fran-chan so quickly.

But it was also good training for her to learn how to hold back when using a weaker sword. The situation just continued like that until Alistair showed up.

Alistair——A Divine level blacksmith suddenly appeared in the Plains of the Demon Wolf in early winter when it began to snow. Because she was using a powerful stealth magic tool, she suddenly appeared near the pedestal without us even noticing. Honestly, I was startled by the mysterious woman wearing high-quality equipment with a surprisingly high-level fighting prowess of her own.

At first, I thought she was a member of the special forces of Raidos Kingdom, so I couldn't help but take a stance. The other side seemed to feel the same way, and if Fran-chan hadn't intervened, we might have ended up killing each other.

Surprisingly, she was a good person to talk to, and we quickly became friends.

Alistair then made a sword for Fran-chan made of heavy magic steel. And as expected of a Divine-ranked blacksmith, she was able to create such a work of art in a week. Unintentionally, I even asked her to make a whip for me.

She then promised to make it for me as long as I gathered the materials by myself, so I'll be working hard to gather them.

Alistair was away from the Plains of the Demon Wolf now at my request. In addition to my whip, there was also something else I wanted her to make. Alistair seemed to have been thinking about the same thing, and she accepted without a second thought.

And then, a few days of training passed. Urushi lost his right leg and his right eye due to his recklessness. It was as if he was in a hurry for something.

And finally, the day had come.

「Shii! Just like that!」

「Haa!」

「Nnha! Tho-!」

She used her sword to flick off my whip technique and then ducked through the gap in the whip to get close to me. I pulled the whip back and threw a kick, but she ducked and thrust perfectly. The last attack she used must have been the dagger technique.

The perfect combination of sword skills and sword techniques, without any delay, and her ability to observe one's surroundings. In addition, she could control her body-enhancing skills with precision. All of this was on full display during her attacks.

「That's the first time you managed to get a perfect thrust in huh~」

「Nn! But it's not over yet」

「Fuh. Then, let's go for the next one!」

「Nn!」

I'm really looking forward to the result of her training.

Another month or so had passed after that. Urushi had never given up and continued to fight with all his might even after losing his legs and eyes, and then he had achieved a surprising evolution.

「Fran-chan, what's wrong? Aren't you going to train?」

Unusually, Fran-chan had been awake since sunrise. And she was sitting in front of the pedestal with her knees in her arms, refusing to move. Beside her, the newly evolved Urushi was sitting in a well-behaved position.

When I asked Fran-chan, who seemed happy for some reason, what she was doing, her answer was a surprise.

「Nn. Master is coming back」

「Eh? Really?」

「Master, 'is said' to be back in about 150 days, and today is exactly 150 days after he left」

「Is said? Are you talking about the sword spirit's voice?」

I can't hear it, but apparently, she really was hearing the voice of the sword spirit. She said that it was not Master, but a woman with a funny name of Announcer-san.

She doesn't respond every time, but it seems that she gives her information about Master's current situation and sometimes helps with her training.

「She says he's almost back, but she doesn't know the exact time. It may be two hours, or maybe two days」

「Eh? two days?」

「Nn」

Fran-chan nodded her head and went back to staring at the pedestal.

「Are you going to wait...?」

「Nn」

She stared back at me with an angry look as if saying 'Naturally'. It seems that she really intends to keep waiting for Master.

「I-I'll wait with you too...」

「Nn」

Master, please get back here quickly!

Chapter 507: Side: Fenrir

The little wolf of my kin seems to be worrying about something.

Not only did he want to be useful to them, but he also wanted to be able to continue to fight alongside them.

That's why he was worried, he wanted to become stronger, but it was difficult for him.

「Woof Woof——Kyain!」

Today too, he challenged a superior magic beast and suffered a painful attack.

I know what he's trying to do. He's trying to take in the power of a stronger magic beast using his predatory absorption skill to achieve his evolution.

His way of triggering it wasn't entirely wrong.

After all, some individuals could evolve abnormally by taking in the blood and flesh of a stronger opponent. Moreover, Urushi was also a unique individual. So, there was a possibility.

But he couldn't do so in his current state. The blood and flesh of a magic beast with a mere threat level of C was insufficient. Urushi was stronger than them, and it's not because of his level or compatibility, there's not that much difference between the races after all.

If Urushi wanted to trigger a new evolution, he would need to take in a large amount of blood and flesh from magic beasts with a threat level of A or higher, and at least one of each type.

No, I think Urushi himself knows that. He was being reckless in his search for a stronger magic beast, and finally, tragedy struck him.

「Gyauuuf!」

「Urushiii!」

Urushi let out a scream of grief that we had never heard before and was blown to the sky. The opponent that attacked him was a two-legged magic beast that was over 15 meters long. Well, I don't think I would call it two-legged since it was using its tail to support its body though.

It was a variety of the dragon species called an Evil dragon. It's classified as an earth dragon with retracted wings, hard scales, tight muscles, and overwhelming physical attack power. In particular, its arm's attacks were as powerful as an attack from a magic beast with a threat level of B.

Previously, Urushi was having a hard time fighting against a brute lizard, which was a lower species of this magic beast, so there is no way that the current Urushi can defeat this magic beast.

Urushi, who had been blown 50 meters away, was convulsing with his body bleeding profusely. His internal organs were spilling out of his stomach, and both of his right legs were torn off. His spine was probably broken as well. Half of his face was crushed, and this might have affected his brain.

He was probably unconscious. Urushi was unable to escape from the scene.

All I can do now is watch over Urushi, my kin. I'm just a Divine Beast with a soul on the verge of extinction after all.

「Haaa!」

「Bughuuh!」

It was Fran who stepped in to help.

She struck with a series of lightning magic to draw the attention of the Evil Dragon, and then cast a recovery spell on Urushi. However, his wounds were not even recovering with the amount of recovery magic that Fran had cast.

「Why!? Greater Heal!」

「Wu, wuuf...」

「No good...」

When Urushi regained consciousness, she used regeneration together with her healing magic, but the recovery was still slow.

「Bugwooooh!」

「Kuh... Urushi, sorry!」

Fran carried Urushi and continued to distance herself from the dragon. And after a few minutes of running, Fran set Urushi down and tried to heal him again.

The potions and other items that Master had given to them were all used up, but Urushi was not completely healed yet. This was not the fault of Fran or the others. The Evil Dragon was a power fighter, but it is also good at handling magic for a dragon. It is particularly good at life magic, which strengthens itself, but its life magic also includes a technique that blocks its opponent's recovery.

It seems that magic was carried from that arm's blow.

As a result, Urushi ended up losing his right hind leg and his right eye.

If Master had been there, the outcome would have been different, but with just Fran and Urushi, it would have been fortuitous that they survived.

「Urushi... Sorry」

「Woof woof!」

「Nn...」

「Woof!」

「I understand, I'm sure you'll evolve someday」

Even in such a state, Urushi did not lose his desire to evolve. Rather, he became even more determined, didn't he?

Urushi wholeheartedly desired to become even stronger for the sake of his Master.

「Kyaiin!」

「Grrrr...!」

「Wo, woof...」

With one eye and one leg missing, the sight of Urushi pushing himself into a fierce battle looked, Divine.

He struggled while looking up to the heavens as he walked forward, he reminded me of myself in the past. I absorbed the pieces of the Evil God, and while being consumed by its power, I continued to fight for my creator, until I finally exceeded my limits and collapsed.

That's why I couldn't stand the sight of Urushi getting hurt and being worn out day by day. It had been about 30 days since Urushi lost his legs and eyes. So, I involuntarily call out to Urushi.

Sorry Master, this may prolong your restoration. But I need to do this.

『Urushi... You may evolve now』

「Grru...!」

Urushi has reached his evolvable level. He probably knows this himself. That his efforts had not been rewarded.

If he continued like this, he could evolve into the Dark Knight Wolf. But Urushi refused to do so, by struggling to block the magic power that had begun to flow within him.

However, he couldn't continue refusing his evolution, he might lose his life due to the outburst of his magic power after all. Seeing his foolishness, I couldn't help but do something for him.

『But you do have one option...』

「Gurru?」

『...I will give some of my power to you. With it, you can choose a new path』

「Woof!」

『However, that path is full of loneliness』

To receive a part of my power, which is a wolf but also not a wolf, means that Urushi will also be transformed into something that is a wolf but not a wolf too.

He will evolve into a new species that wouldn't exist anywhere else in this world. But that also means that he wouldn't be able to find another member from his new species.

This was an unusual evolution that will affect his whole life. Even though his form is that of a wolf, it goes beyond even that category. Urushi, who was not a Divine Beast, would be truly lonely.

『So, the price of this power is loneliness. It's not like you're going to be left behind by Master or Fran. But you'll be left alone, outside the confines of your species』

「Woof!」

『Are you sure? For the sake of your Master, you're willing to be lonely?』

「Woof...!」

『...I've heard your resolve. So be it. I'll give you power!』

I borrowed some power from Master and shared it with Urushi. This must have put a lot of strain on Master.

However, I was sure that Master would forgive me. I was confident of that. In fact, if I did nothing, he would be rather angry with me.

The magic that Urushi had been blocking was mixed with the power I had given to him. It began to circulate, and I could feel it seeping into his body. His body was being remade, and he was beginning to evolve into a different species.

「Gauuf... Grru...」

Was it painful? But this was not even an ordeal when you're going to become a completely different species.

Fran shouted when she saw Urushi, who suddenly began to suffer from a huge amount of magic power after the battle. His voice won't be able to reach the little girl. To Fran, it would appear as if Urushi was in a mysterious state of an outburst.

「Urushi!」

「Grruu...」

Urushi did not lose consciousness or cry out, but simply continued to stand on his knees with all the strength in his body. That's right, if you can't handle something like this, you'll never be able to overcome the many trials that will come your way!

「Ghurrruuuuu!」

And then, he had evolved.

「Ghuuwooooooff!」

The roar of a new Demon Wolf echoed across the moonlit plains. It was the voice of birth, the cry of the soul that signified a farewell to the cradle of his species.

A vicious mixture of black and gold magic rose from his body, which had swollen to the size of a small mountain. His missing hind legs and eyes seemed to have been completely regenerated. His thick limbs stomped on the earth, and his sharp face glared at the darkness.

Originally his fur had a slight red tint to it, but it has probably become even red now. In addition, silver hair grew like a mane on his back.

『Urushi. You have become a new magic beast. Your race now is a Ragnarok Wolf. Abhorred by all other wolves, you are alone in this world. This is must be what you've always wanted』

「Woof!」

『That's a good reply』

In exchange for his loneliness, Urushi has gained great power. I'm sure he will be able to continue to fight alongside Fran and Master now.

「Urushi...? Evolved...?」

「Woof」

「So cool」

「Woof!」

Ah yes. Give him more compliments, Miss Fran. Because that was exactly what Urushi was looking for.

Chapter 508: Fran and Urushi's Growth

『Well, shall we go then?』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

Right after I woke up, we went to look for some magic beasts in the Plains of the Demon Wolf. I wanted to check my condition and Fran and Urushi's growth.

In my case, a malfunction in a part of me that I didn't understand had been repaired, and in addition, Announcer-san has regained some of her strength.

The current Announcer-san couldn't speak freely, but she seems to answer any questions I had about my condition.

She also said that she will assist me in my magic operations from now on. It will be a little easier for me to control the finer details and use great magic in the future.

I also take a look at the sword in Fran's hand. The sword seems to be made sturdy enough to withstand Fran's reckless use.

Alistair said that it was only a makeshift sword, but it was quite strong.

Name: Heavy Magic Steel Sword

ATK: 480

MP: 80

Durability: 1200

Magic Conductivity: D-

It's like a portrait drawn in five seconds by a professional illustrator, or a snack made quickly from leftovers by a genius cook. From my point of view, it's amazing, but from her point of view, it's nothing.

『Hmmm』

「Master? Is something wrong?」

The center of gravity and the length of the blade are made to resemble me. But it gives me mixed feelings too.

I'm sure it was useful to Fran. It has protected her while I was away, watched her growth, and endured her rough usage in silence. Yes, that's a great sword.

But I don't like it. No, let me rephrase it, I'm jealous of this sword. I'm jealous of the sword that looks so much like me that Fran used as a replacement while I was gone.

That's exactly how I feel right now.

『Well, now that I'm back, that sword won't be around for a while』

「Nn. I haven't been able to get serious in a while」

『Ou, I'm on it!』

There is no doubt that Fran has grown a lot. She has earned the title of Big Game Hunter and her skills have increased.

Big Game Hunter, as the name suggested, was a title she got when she defeated a huge opponent. Fran didn't seem to know exactly when she earned it, but Announcer-san told us the details in her place. Apparently, she fought against an Earth Slime, which takes in the earth and becomes huge.

It's a title that will increase her status when she's fighting someone bigger than her, so it can be quite useful. Fran is small after all.

I was also surprised at the growth of her skills. Even without skill-sharing, she was even able to handle Sword Saint Skill and Sword Saint Technique by herself now.

Even though the use of skill-sharing and dealing with high-level skills has sped up their growth, their growth rate was still extraordinary.

I guess it was the result of multiple factors.

She had the talent, to begin with. She had the best training partner, Amanda. In addition, she continued to fight against superior opponents in these Plains of the Demon Wolf.

And she had the mental strength to dive into the rigorous training to make the most of it.

The result was her current growth. However, the true value of her training was not in terms of numbers. But the use of her magic power, which was previously left aside, has been sharpened to a far greater degree.

It only took me one look at her magic to know that. When she used the lower level fire magic to light a fire. Her magic flow when she chanted that technique was surprisingly smooth. Moreover, there were no momentary pauses.

No matter how many times you chant, you won't be able to eliminate the process of concentrating and controlling your magic power. Fran would have had to pause for a moment in the past. That was not necessary now though.

『You've grown a lot huh』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

When I praised Fran, Urushi cried as if to tell me not to forget about him too. His voice came down from far above us. Urushi was now over ten meters tall.

『Of course, I haven't forgotten you. I'm sure you have done your best too』

「Woof woof!」

I was also surprised by Urushi's evolution. His growth makes me amazed at him, he grew more than Fran after all.

It wasn't just about his size. The species he had evolved into was neither the Gehenna Wolf nor the Dark Night Wolf species that Fenrir had mentioned before.

Ragnarok Wolf, which was Urushi's race now. Apparently, he has evolved in a special way. The explanation for it was still unclear, just like the Evil People, but Urushi didn't have the blessings of the Evil God.

According to Announcer-san, he has evolved into a completely new and unique species. There's no information about him even in the world's logic after all.

Moreover, his abilities were not hampered. His status was greatly improved, and he has several stats that exceeded 1000. I'm sure his threat level would be at least B.

Moreover, the number of his skills has increased significantly. His skills are mostly the higher-level than the original skills, but there are also new unique skills that have been acquired.

The following are just some of his skills that stand out.

[Skill]

Shadow Transfer: The higher version of Shadow Migration

Regeneration Inhibition: Reduces the healing speed of the enemies he bites.

Great Physical Change: The higher version of Physical Change

Rampage: Pushing oneself on a rampage when cornered

[Unique Skill]

Dark Absorption: Absorb a portion of the magic power contained in dark magic and darkness magic

Predation Recovery: Heal wounds by eating

[Extra Skill]

Predatory Assimilation: The higher version of Predatory Absorption

[Inherent Skill]

Dimensional Fangs: A Fang technique that deals damage while ignoring defense.

Familial Intimidation: Intimidate his kin and relatives.

Familial Hatred: Disliked by his kin and relatives.

Seal Nullification: Nullify sealing techniques.

Familial Intimidation and Familial Hatred was a particularly strange skill. Didn't he evolve into a higher species? But it was clearly a disadvantageous skill. Moreover, his titles were also strange.

I know what Predator of Evil is. As the name implies, it was probably earned by defeating and devouring an evil being. But The Lonely Beast and The One and Only seems to be a title given as a comfort to the lonely being.

Announcer-san also taught me that Fenrir-san had given him some of his power. And as a result, he seems to have evolved into a special race, transcending his wolf kin but becoming a shunned being.

『Urushi...』

「Woof?」

Urushi stared back at me with his pure eyes. Even after he became a 10-meter giant, those eyes had never changed.

I can't feel any loneliness or sadness from him.

Besides, when I thought 'what if someone took pity on me?' or 'Isn't it lonely to be the only sword with a human soul in the world?' What if I was told something like that?

I wouldn't be happy; those were not the words I would want to hear after all.

『Urushi, you've become even stronger huh!? You look so reliable! I'll be counting on you from now on!』

Chapter 509: Be Careful to Not Overdo It

「Haaa—?」

『Oops! My timing is off!』

「Woof?」

『Aah, I'm sorry Urushi』

We were out on the Plains of the Demon Wolf, checking our coordination against a herd of Fang Boars we had discovered.

They were small fry magic beasts that were normally easy to handle. The current Fran would be able to defeat them with a single flick with her fingertip.

However, I unexpectedly missed my first and second shots against the Fang Boar leader that I had designated as my first target.

First, Fran tried to draw its attention to us, but it seems neither of us fully understood each other's growth. I had predicted that her magic would be faster, but I hadn't expected that she would be able to control her flame magic Vernier so perfectly.

In the past, it would have been necessary for her to use wind magic or telekinesis to stabilize her posture, but now Fran can go straight ahead without any disturbances while using the Vernier.

Well, if that was all, it would have ended with Fran cutting down the Boar magic beasts, but unexpectedly, I got in her way.

Well, it can't be helped. We're doing this to check our coordination after all, so I can't just watch her do all the work.

I instantly understood that Fran was going to use aerial jump and flame magic to accelerate, so I was going to use wind magic to help her accelerate further while using telekinesis to stop the Fang Boars from moving.

But my control over it was far better than I thought I would be. I'm sure I put too much magic power into it because it has been a while and I was trying to show off a little...

I didn't expect it to be nearly twice as powerful as it was before. The acceleration of my wind magic was so fast that it made Fran jump over the Fang Boar.

Even so, Fran managed to offset it a little and attacked the Fang Boar, which was great. However, her attack had annihilated the Fang Boar herd.

I didn't know that the power of her attribute sword has become that powerful. With a single swing of the wind attribute sword, three Fang Boars were crushed, and the two that were farther away were lifted by the wind and slammed into the ground.

I wonder if the latter was more miserable than the former huh? Anyway, I'll be more careful in the future.

Urushi went at the last remaining one, but they were too different in size. Before we could see how strong he was, Urushi would probably crush it with his huge paws and it would be flattened.

When I thought so, Urushi shrunk in front of me. It was the ability of the Great Physical Change skill. Up until now, the changes were between four meters and one meter. But now it seems that he can change his body size from 10 meters to 50 centimeters.

Urushi, now the size of a small dog, attacked the small Fang Boar, whose movements were blocked by my telekinesis. However, it seems that his attack was repelled by something. He had aimed for the head with moderate attack power to secure as much meat as possible, but my telekinesis had gotten in the way.

Just like my wind magic, it seemed to have a lot of strength due to the excessive amount of magic power I put into it. However, the telekinetic restraints were burst away with that one blow.

The Fang Boar ran away after being freed from the restraints. However, Urushi caught up with it instantly through Shadow Transfer and chopped off its head with a strike of his paw.

Shadow Transfer was a skill that allowed him to transfer to any place as long as there was a shadow, rather than diving into it. He could even go in and out of a shadow that was smaller than him. And then there was the new equipment for his paws. This was the weapon that Alistair had made for Urushi.

Name: Divine Steel Magic Claws

ATK: 480

MP: 250

Durability: 800

Magic Conductivity: B

Skill: Size Adjustment Enhancement

Name: Serpent Dragon Collar

DEF: 80

Durability: 600/600

Effect: Small Item Bag, Size Adjustment Enhancement

The Magic Claws of Divine Steel was similar to the previously equipped Claw of Capture, but this one was made for Urushi from the start. Although the paralyzing ability had been lost, the performance was so much different, so it was definitely an upgrade.

The Serpent Dragon collar was made of worm skins and other materials that Amanda had hunted. It seemed to be a substitute for a follower's tag and also a handle for Fran when she rides on him.

Both are very useful because they do not break even when Urushi reaches his maximum size. Apparently, she couldn't attach any other skills to it because she had given them this unusual resizing feature, but she managed to add an item bag feature.

『...I'm so sorry』

「It's fine」

「Woof!」

『It sounds like you're more interested in confirming my power than our coordination』

From that point on, we tested our power separately, but we occasionally combined them over time.

Ooh right, I had also absorbed all the magic stones that Fran had stored while I was gone and I had gained a few skills from it. But it wasn't just skills that I had gained, but my rank had also increased.

Fran had accumulated more than 300 magic stones after all. So, I was able to rank up at once and added more magic stone value for me.

However, the only problem was that the magic stone value I could absorb from the magic stones was strangely low, and I couldn't get any self-evolution points from them. When I was trying to figure out why that was the case, Announcer-san had explained it to me.

〈Fenrir's transfer of power to the individual named Urushi requires compensation〉

〈To prioritize Fenrir's recovery, the power transferred has been greatly reduced〉

I know that the way I get the magic stone value has to go through a first. It starts with me absorbing it → Some goes to Fenrir to aid his recovery → and finally the leftover power comes to me.

It seems that Fenrir had done a lot of work to make Urushi evolve into his unique species. However, because of this, he was worn out and seemed to be using my magic power to recover.

『How long do you think this will last?』

〈It will be until the next time you rank up〉

Well, he did it for Urushi, so I'm not complaining. I'm rather grateful for what he has done.

And because of that, Urushi got the power he wished for. It would have been great if it didn't give him the Familial Hatred Skill.....It was a unique skill, so I don't think even my skill taker could erase it. Well, I'm going to give it a try at least once.

Ah, as for the sudden increase in the number of skills I own, I think I can handle it now. Since Announcer-san is here to help me ease my burden when doing so.

I can't be too reckless with it though.

It seems that this pedestal was not something that can be used that often. It requires a huge amount of magic power to activate in order to repair me. Even though it continued to absorb and store magic power from the Plains of the Demon Wolf, that magic power was not infinite.

『So I'll be able to get points at the next rank up huh?』

〈Yes. However, the probability of obtaining the specified number of self-evolution points is predicted to be only 11%〉

『Isn't that the same as not gaining any points at all?』

〈The possibility of halving the number of points obtained is 89%〉

Well, does that mean I can get half? That's fine. It's a small price to pay for Urushi's evolution.

『We need to strengthen our coordination, master our skills, and obtain more magic stones. We still have a lot to do!』

「Nn! Let's do our best!」

〈The required magic stone value for the next rank up is 1022 points〉

Chapter 510: Commemorative Day

About a month has passed since I woke up. Based on the calendar, we've passed the middle of the second month and are approaching its end.

And today was a special day for us too.

『It seems that our coordination is now sufficient and we were able to understand each other's abilities well. We've tested our skills, and we've allocated some self-evolution points we've obtained to gain new skills』

「Nn」

『We'll end our training tomorrow』

I declare that to Fran and Urushi, who are eating around the fire next to the pedestal.

Actually, I wanted to continue our training here in the plains. I'll gain more power by hunting the magic beast around here after all.

But I must not. Fran's wishes would not be fulfilled by staying and training here for too long. In the first place, it would not be good for Fran's education to remain holed up in this magical area. A child needs to be exposed to a variety of people in a human environment to help them grow.

『Amanda too, thank you for staying here with her』

「Thank you」

「Woof!」

「It's fine isn't it, we're friends, aren't we. Besides, it was fun and this could be considered as training for me as well」

In fact, Amanda's level had gone up, and so had several of her skill levels. Even so, the supposedly busy Rank A adventurer had come to this place at least once a week, while adamantly refusing to accept any rewards.

I guess you could say that we owe her a lot. Well, Amanda would probably tell us not to worry about it, so we just keep that thinking to ourselves.

「Alistair too, you've been a great help for us」

「Well, it was an exchange for information about the Fanatics sword. Besides, I can get a lot of experience by examining Master」

『But, are you sure you don't want us to pay you?』

「Don't worry about it, Amanda was the one who gathered the materials after all」

Amanda had asked Alistair to make new claws and a collar for Urushi. She asked her to do it so that not only Fran but also Urushi would become stronger too.

「Urushi too, you've worked so hard」

「Woof!」

Come to think of it, Urushi has been together with us since he was summoned by me.

「If you're interested, I'd like you to take care of that request」

「Nn」

『We'll take care of it』

The request was for us to go to a magic academy in a neighboring country. She said that they were looking for a partner for a mock battle, but we might be asked to do something else as well.

The High Elf who was the director of the magic academy seems to be a person that even Alistair could not handle, so she has eagerly accepted this request of her.

『...Well then, I wonder when the date would change?』

「Hmm? You're probably right」

Alistair heard me muttering and pulled out a pocket watch from her robe. I'd like to have it too, but I hear it's really expensive.

In particular, a pocket watch made by Alistair would be worth millions.

『Well, Fran. Do you know what day today is?』

「Nn?」

She doesn't seem to know huh. Well, she's been training in this magical area for a long time, so she probably doesn't know what days today is.

『Today marks the day of the first time Fran and I met one year ago』

「Oooh, really?」

『Yeah. It all happened so fast』

I couldn't be with her half the time though, but I was still close to her for almost half a year in total. We had sad, angry, and happy memories together. And it was a terribly intense time for us.

『...And we've got stronger』

「Nn」

Fran was a powerless slave girl when I met her. She had endured fear and intense pain continued to fight without running away even from strong enemies and continued to walk in a straight line to the new height of her race she was aiming for.

I'm deeply moved when I think about it. Fran is probably the same. She nodded her head with a shy smile.

However, when I appraised Fran, I was surprised by something.

『Eh? Fran's... age is... Come to think of it, you've always been 12 years old huh?』

To my surprise, Fran's age had changed from 12 to 13.

『Hey, Fran. Do you remember your birthday?』

「Nn? Nn...?」

She didn't seem to remember. But what a miracle for today happened to be her birthday too. If that were the case, would the world's logic have recognized the day when she changed her name to Fran as her new birthday? The day she changed her name from nameless to Fran.

『Not only today is the day that Fran and I met, but it's also her birthday! It's a double anniversary then!』

「Nn. I'm happy」

『Fufufu, I've also got something good for you! You know what that is?』

「Something good... Pancakes?」

「Oooh!」

Fran clapped her hands happily when she heard my words.

She seems to see pancakes as a commemoration treat. Pancakes were Fran's favorite food in a different way than curry was.

『Fufufu, this is the batter for the special pancakes I've been secretly preparing while Fran was sleeping!』

「Special pancakes!」

Fran's eyes lit up at my words. But I will not betray her expectations.

For the past week, Amanda had been buying all the ingredients and preparing them in secret. The cream for the topping was ready, and all I had to do was cook the pancakes right here and it would be ready.

『Let's start with Fran's share! Now I can make 10 at the same time!』

「Master, so amazing!」

『Haha! Of course!』

I poured the batter into ten pans on the fire created with flame magic at the same time. It was all done with my telekinesis. It was like there were dozens of invisible hands. But it was a piece of cake for me now that I had the help of Announcer-san.

〈All telekinetic output is well within the margin of error〉

『Yosh! Here it is!』

「Master, so cool!」

『Hahaha!』

Fran claps her hands even faster than before when she sees my strange move of flipping the pancake by shaking the pan all at once. But aren't you going to wipe away the drool that is flowing down from the edge of your mouth?

『And now it's done!』

「Oooohh!」

『A ten-tier tower of pancakes with 20 toppings of your choice!』

The pancakes were piled up on a large plate in front of Fran with a thud. Currently, there was only butter and maple syrup on them.

On a separate plate, I prepared small bowls of whipped cream, chocolate sauce, nuts, and various kinds of jams. Then she used a spoon to pour them on as she wished.

「Amazing! Master is super amazing! Can I eat it now?」

『Ou! Enjoy!』

「Nn! Thanks for the meal!」

Fran then cut off the top pancake and first popped it straight into her mouth.

「Mogu mogu」

「How is it?」

「Nn!」

She just nodded, but I could tell the truth from the big smile on her face. A perfect score, I guess. Fran continued to fill her stomach with pancakes at a tremendous pace. Amanda, who was watching her smiling, suddenly raised a question.

「Hey, Fran-chan?」

「Mogu mogu?」

「Between curry and pancakes, which one is more delicious?」

「Nn...?」

Oh? Fran stopped eating and tilted her head.

「Curry is fulfilling!」

「Then, do you like curry the most?」

「Pancakes make me happy! Both are delicious. But a different kind of delicious」

When Fran said so while trying to put more pancakes in her mouth again——.

Growl——.

Her stomach growled, even though she had eaten a lot of pancakes. Well, it was probably because she mentioned curry to her. As evidence, Fran is staring at me right now.

「Master...」

『Yes yes. I'll serve you curry too. But it's only because today is special okay?』

「Nn!」

Fran, who usually doesn't show much emotion, smiled so much when she ate the food I made. I couldn't be happier. I have to limit what she eats so that she doesn't become fat though. It's okay if it only happens once in a while, right?

Chapter 511: Training is Over!

『Shall we go then?』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

『Let's take its magic stones and make it as the culmination of our training!』

「Okay. Brilliant Lightning Rush!」

Fran then jumps off of Urushi's back while holding me. There's a white smoke below us. It was the Greater Venom Ghast, but that's not all.

「Don't let that little girl get away this time!」

「Today is the day for us to kill her」

「This is an impossible fight for you!」

The Wight King was also there. Apparently, Fran had fought with the Wight King many times before. However the Wight King and the Greater Venom Ghast were always close to each other, and because of that, she had become too exhausted to defeat them so she had no choice but to retreat.

『Have you located where that Ghast's magic stone is』

「No」

『Hmm... Let's defeat the Wights first then』

「Understood」

『Urushi, take care of its subordinates!』

「Woof!」

In the past, this would have been a rather reckless instruction. Four Wight High Wizards and two Wight Imperial Guards against Urushi alone was too much for him to take care of. He would have only been able to take care of two of them.

However, it wasn't impossible for the current Urushi.

With the use of his Dimensional Fang after his Shadow Transfer, he had immediately inflicted great damage on the High Wizard. They were capable of detecting space-time magic, but since Shadow Transfer was a skill in the same system as dark magic, they seemed unable to detect the surprise attack from this ability.

After that, he repeatedly used hit-and-run tactics to defeat the wights. Urushi, whose life force, defense, and regeneration had all increased compared to before, did not even budge from a few counter-attacks from them.

From time to time, he changed his body size and used deadly poison magic to create smoke and other substances that fly around among the wights to keep them at his mercy.

Of course, it was not an easy win. He was taking a few hits and occasionally he took some heavy damage from strong counterattacks. But that's all. He never gets into a pinch where we have to intervene, and he never feels uneasy. There was a sense of steadiness and composure in his fight.

「What kind of wolf is that...!?」

「Urushi!」

「I'm not asking about its name! And how did you get here in such a short time...!」

「I've been training after all」

「If only training can make someone become that strong, then anyone would train!」

The Wight King was screaming at her, but Fran didn't respond to his words and rushed forward.

「Th-that little girl too! She's getting even faster!」

「Fuh!」

「Kuh——Short teleport!」

As expected, the Wight King could not be underestimated. Even though he was a magician type, he dodged Fran's Sheaths of Wind skill. In addition, he used a teleport skill to gain some distance, and immediately after, he unleashed a wide range of ice and snow magic attacks.

「Diamond Dust!」

It was a technique used to freeze a large area. However, Fran had rushed into the attack while using flame and wind magic. She cut through the shimmering ice mist and pushed forward toward the closest Wight.

「Kukaka! I had expected that! Nuooooo! Blast Avalanche!」

The Wight King's magic created an avalanche on the plains. It was a tsunami of snow that swept over Fran, engulfing a wide area.

He probably would be able to breach the wall of a medium-sized fort with this technique. That's how destructive his technique was. In addition, the ice created with magic had an unusually cold air around it. So, its danger was much greater than an avalanche of the same scale.

However, Fran only looked at the advancing avalanche and muttered a single word.

「Master」

『Ou! Leave it to me!』

She believed that I could do something——No, she knew that I would do something about it. So, it was my job to answer that trust.

『Haaaa!』

What I released was a huge torrent of light. It wasn't an emission type of magic power, nor was it fire magic. It was light magic that had been raised to a higher level by consuming some points.

It was the Lv6 Light Magic, Solar-Ray.

When you hear the term “light magic” the first thing you might think of is lasers or beams. To put it simply, it's similar to the beam gun from an anime. Since it was magic, it was not a simple ray of light, but it looked like a beam.

A pillar of light as thick as a drum shot out and pierced the white tsunami. The light concentrated on a single point melted the avalanche and created a path for Fran to follow. In addition, I used the Light Distraction Membrane that I obtained from Invisible Death to increase the power of the light by increasing its focus point.

The level of the technique was probably about the same, but this one was stronger because of its single-point focus.

「Ghhaah! Yo-you can even do something like that!?!」

The Wight King was damaged by the light magic that had been released through his skill. It seems that we couldn't defeat an opponent that was resistant to magic so easily. However, because he was on the lookout for the next magic attack, the Wight King's attention was in front of him.

「Black Thunder Roll」

「Nuoh?」

Fran didn't miss the opportunity. She ran through the path I had created and rushed with the Black Thunder Roll.

「Fuuh!」

「Gha——ha...!」

Immediately after the teleport, she swung me down and cut the Wight King's body in two.

「For an elite of the Black Skeleton Army, to be defeated... by such a little girl is...!」

「Haaa!」

「Giiaaahh!」

As expected, the Wight King could not dodge the attack from behind, because his focus was elsewhere. We still didn't know where his magic stone was, but there was no way he could save himself if he was cut in half from the top of his head and then cut into pieces.

「There's no magic stone?」

『Hmm, could it be that he was summoned with necromancy? No, there's should be no magician who can summon such a high-level undead——』

「Master!」

『Oops! I forgot that we're in a fight now!』

The smoke from the Greater Venom Ghast tried to surround us at once.

「Attack the ground again?」

The Wight King was the same, but I still couldn't find the Gha'st's magic stone. No, I think there's some sort of focus in its magic power, but I couldn't trace it back to its source.

However, if I can feel this particular focus, then I can be sure that there is a magic stone nearby. It's a good idea to use an AOE magic that engulfs the entire area.

As Fran and I were thinking about something, Urushi tried to appeal about something.

「Woof woof!」

『Could it be, that you know where its magic stone is?』

「Woof!」

『Then let's do this!』

「Wooooof!」

With a smug look on his face, Urushi bellowed and ran toward the air. With his momentum, he bit into the space in front of him. And then...

「Uuaaaaaa!」

As an eerie scream rose from the space, the smoke cleared at once. We thought the magic stone was in the ground, but it seems to have been hidden in the smoke. Perhaps it was being hidden with some kind of space-time magic ability. However, Urushi's evolved senses did not miss the magic power of the magic stone. With his Dimensional Fangs, he would be able to attack it no matter what space it was in.

Well, we didn't get its magic stone though, but we did defeat a troublesome opponent. So, I'll give him an honest compliment.

『Good job!』

「Woof!」

「Urushi, good boy」

「Woof woof!」

Urushi, who had changed his size into a medium-sized dog was happy to be petted by Fran.

Even so, we've gotten a lot stronger. We were able to defeat an opponent that we had struggled with before with only a little bit of strain and minor injuries. We took on two magic beasts with a threat level of B and won.

「Fran-chan, Master, and Urushi. Now I've seen it with my own eyes, you guys are really getting stronger!」

「Thank you」

Amanda gave us a thumbs-up as approval when she praised us.

『Yosh, with this, our training is over!』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

Author-san note for the previous chapter (Fran's status):

“If you get the Killer title, you will also get a skill with the same name”

Chapter 512: Temporary Parting

After defeating the Wight King and the Greater Venom Ghast as the culmination of our training, we were discussing our future actions.

「What are you going to do now, Fran-chan?」

「Umm? Master?」

『Now that you've mentioned it』

It's not like we have to do something. But there are so many things I wanted to do though.

『As for me, Alistair has asked us to be a partner for a mock battle. And I'm kind of interested in that』

Rather than the request itself, I'm more interested in the academy. Well, I don't think Fran would want to study there though.

Fran's most important goal was to become stronger and break the Black Cat Kin's curse. For that purpose, going to school would only prolong her mission to achieve her goal.

However, it's also important for her to get in contact with kids of her age, and maybe, Fran will be interested in studying there.

As for me, I agree that Fran should take some time and study there. I'm not going to actively encourage it though, but if Fran wants to go, then I'm not going to oppose her.

Well, with all that said, she has to experience the academy first.

「I'm interested too」

『Ooh? Are you sure?』

By any chance, does she have the desire to go to school? I thought so, but it seems what she was interested in was different than what I was.

「Nn! I'd like to meet the High Elves」

『So that's why huh?』

「I'm interested in the strongest race in the world」

Just as I thought, Fran's interest seemed to be focused solely on the fight. But if Fran also wanted to go there, our next destination has been decided then.

『Well, let's head to the Academy of Magic in the Belios Kingdom then』

「Nn」

「Very well, I will give you my letter of introduction then. Take this with you, and you won't have to wait for days to meet Weena Rhyn」

『So the name of the High Elf is Weena Rhyn huh?』

「That's right」

But still, how long would we have had to wait without this letter of introduction? Such a thing should only happen when someone is requesting to meet someone of high status right?... From her title as the Director of the Academy of Magic, I had assumed that she was somewhat an important person, but she seems to be more important than I had imagined.

「The Academy of Magic is allowed to self-govern itself. So, in a sense, Weena Rhyn is like a feudal lord. Without a letter of introduction, you won't be able to meet with her right away」

「Aah, now that you mention it... She is a calm person, but she seems to be rather dull sometimes. Well, she often switches around between her normal and outlandish behavior. But rest assured, she has no ill intentions. It's just that she's a little eccentric」

『That doesn't sound very reassuring at all』

A High Elf with no ill intentions but an eccentric personality that often switches around. Isn't that quite a bad personality?

「I know you're worried. But she really is a good person. In fact, she's been running the Academy of Magic for hundreds of years and is worshipped by many people. Well, I've also heard that there are a few people who had a grudge against her though...」

You don't have to add those last words to increase my worry!

『Somehow, I don't feel like going there now』

「Come on, don't say something like that, and how about you, Fran?」

「Nn. Interested to meet with the High Elves」

「That's what she said」

『Kuh』

If Fran really wanted to meet her, it couldn't be helped then!

「Very well...」

Then we'll need to get ready to cross the border. What's the procedure for that? I asked Amanda, and she said that as long as we have a rank B adventurer's card, we should be fine.

「Well, because it's also bordering with the Raidos Kingdom, the border guards would be quite strict now, so I recommend that you go through the border checkpoint properly」

「Okay」

『Do they have a wall?』

「No, they don't. But be careful, because I'm pretty sure their immigration records are very well kept」

So, we would be in trouble if they check our identity somewhere but there is no record of us entering the country huh.

「Actually, I'd like to go with you too, but...」

『I thought you said you were done investigating the fanatic sword?』

「It's not done yet. And the investigation of the former Marquis Ashtner was still on going」

It seems that she was supposed to inspect the documents left in the Marquis Ashtner's mansion with Gallus and the others.

I wondered if it would be so easy for them to show her the documents of the Divine Sword controlled by the government, but to my surprise, she had already talked to the King.

『Are you okay with divulging your identity to the government that easily?』

The King of the Kranzel Kingdom is not the frank type like the Beast King. In some cases, he might even try to force her to do what he says, right?

I thought so, but it was Amanda who denied it.

「I think she'll be fine. You were introduced to the King by Gallus, weren't you? To be frank, under the current circumstances, they wouldn't want to make enemies with both the head blacksmith and the Divine Level Blacksmith. Besides, no sane countries would mess with a Divine Level Blacksmith」

「Why so?」

「They don't know what kind of magic tools they have, or what kind of connections they have either. They might have some connections to other countries or famous adventurers that aren't known, right?」

If they tried to take in a Divine level blacksmith for themselves, they could make enemies of many places.

「Besides, solving the fanatic sword problem is a top priority for this country. If a copy of that thing comes out, there's a good chance this disaster will happen again after all. Well, at least until the chaos is over, they'll treat me well」

「That's why you don't have to worry. And I'll also hint my connection to Alistair to them」

So, they would also turn Amanda into their enemy if they tried to take in Alistair for themselves huh.

「That's why please rest assured」

「Understood」

Fran nodded at Alistair's words and bowed deeply.

「Amanda, Alistair. Thank you very much」

Amanda and Alistair smiled as they watched her. They were happy, but they somehow felt lonely. It seems they know that this was a farewell gesture.

「I've had a lot of fun」

「Me too」

Fran then raised her head and jumped on Urushi, who had changed his size to as big as a horse.

「Come see me again, okay?」

「Sure」

「Me too, I'll go to the Academy of Magic too after the investigation is over」

「Nn. I'll be waiting」

Normally she holds back more sadness from goodbyes, but this time she was surprisingly quiet. With strong feelings of gratitude, but not so much sadness.

They had been together for a while, and had already been separated and reunited several times, both with Amanda and Alistair. Maybe she's getting used to that relationship.

Besides, she's confident that we will meet these two again. Maybe that's why Fran feels that this was a temporary parting.

「Both of you, bye bye」

Chapter 513: Shadow of a Guy With a Bounty

The speed of the evolved Urushi was so incredible. The journey which should take us a day to complete was done in about an hour.

He jumped over mountains and rivers, and the magic beasts there were nothing but food to him. He didn't even stop; he just ate them up as he continued to run.

「Momu momu」

「Tasty?」

「Woof!」

I don't mind though, since he had secured their magic stones so we won't need to strip off their materials.

『Ooh, now we can see the next town. That must be Didianne, the last town before we leave the Kranzel Kingdom』

『I heard they are famous for their cheese from domesticated magic beasts』

「Heee」

「Woof!」

With Urushi's speed, we should have entered the Belios Kingdom long ago, but we're still in the Kranzel Kingdom.

This is because we stopped in all the towns and villages along the way to eat their local specialties. It's been a week since I learned how to cook some of it and even stayed overnight because I liked to cook.

We're not in a hurry, so Fran could do as she pleased. It would be rather boring if we just simply hurried to the destination. It would be a waste to not enjoy the journey as well. I wanted Fran to experience more than just fighting after all.

The first thing we saw when we entered the town through the gate were armed soldiers. They weren't trying to intimidate us, but there seemed to be a lot of them for a town of this size.

Maybe because it's a city near the border huh? But no matter how I look at it, they seem like security soldiers, don't they? Or should I say, police-types? They give a different impression from border patrol soldiers after all.

However, the reason for this somber atmosphere soon became apparent. It was at the first stall we stopped at.

「Hey young miss! This is Didianne's specialty, bread with lots of cheese! Do you want some?」

「Nn. Give me five」

「Ooh, aren't you quite the bold one! Coming! That looks, are you an adventurer?」

「Nn」

「That's amazing, you've must have to do your best even though you're still small huh, is this also your first time in this town?」

「Just arrived」

「I see! So, what do you think of this town?」

「There's a lot of soldiers」

「Aah, about that huh?」

The old man at the stall told us that a few months ago, a famous person with a bounty on his head was spotted in this area. He said that soldiers and even the local army had been sent out to capture him, but they had been one-sidedly beaten.

「About a hundred soldiers were beaten in a blink of an eye, you know? It's been like this for the past few months, with such a dangerous person possibly lurking around」

「I see」

It's quite a violent criminal for being able to defeat a hundred soldiers by himself. Well, I guess the Lord won't just leave him alone after that.

However, I felt a little strange about that.

「...Are the soldier not being serious on their duty?」

Yes, there were a lot of them, but the soldiers didn't seem to be in the mood to capture him. It wasn't that they were not serious, but I felt that they lacked the enthusiasm to capture him.

「Well, no one died, so I'm guessing they're not actually that serious about this」

「Defeated an entire army, but no one died?」

「Woof?」

「Well yeah. Some of them were badly injured, but none of them died. Because of that, the soldiers don't seem to be putting in much effort. I think the Lord just wants to have a record of having a lot of soldiers huh?」

So, he's appealing that he had done his best to protect his people, but he's not willing to capture that guy. And if they put up a serious fight, they'll probably just get beaten back.

「Well, there was a rumor that he was quite a bad person, so there was some panic in this town at first. There was an increase in the number of adventurers looking for the guy with a bounty on his head, and it became unsafe here. However, I haven't heard of anyone seeing him lately, and security has improved thanks to the increase in soldiers. In fact, I'd rather want him to stay here and not be found」

「Are you going to catch him? No, please don't」

Did he see the expression on Fran's face and detected that she had a strong interest in the guy with a bounty? For him to be able to read Fran's expressions, that's quite a feat huh. No, it must mean that Fran was so motivated that even someone who never met her before could tell.

「But are you sure? His name is Zelos Reed. He's said to be a skilled mercenary who's killed hundreds of people in his time. He's not a someone a novice adventurer like you can catch」

「Zelos, Reed? Zelos Reed is here?」

「Y-yeah」

No, wait. That's absolutely ridiculous. He had fought a hundred soldiers and not a single one of them had died, right? If he's saying that he had slaughtered hundreds of people back then, how is it possible that he didn't kill a single person now?

It's that Zelos Reed after all.

『Is it the real one?』

He may be a criminal, but he is still famous. It would not be surprising if it was a fake. But the thing is, this guy has a high fighting power.

「What does he looks like?」

「He's a big guy with scars all over his body... Wha, oioi, do you really want to chase after him?」

「Well, I wonder?」

「...T-that's fine then」

When he heard Fran's answer, the old man thought he had been played for a fool.

But the response now was Fran's true intention.

She has a lot of hatred for Zelos Reed. But Kiara has told me not to seek revenge. As for Fran, she probably doesn't want to actively pursue him, unless he's nearby that is.

However, this guy doesn't seem to be the real one and I don't think that he's still around. But we can't ignore this guy.

『Well, why don't we find this guy with Urushi's nose?』

If he was hiding nearby, we should be able to track him down. If he had left the vicinity immediately after the incident a few months ago, there would indeed be no scent left behind. Well, that is, if this Zelos Reed was the real one.

「Nn! Urushi!」

「Woof woof!」

「Young miss and her little doggy, don't be reckless!」

Chapter 514: Border Checkpoint

「Sniff sniff」

「How is it, Urushi?」

「Woof...」

『No good huh?』

We were walking around while eating our meal in Didianne, looking for Zelos Reed with Urushi's Nose. If he were in town, it would be next to impossible to escape from Urushi's nose.

We had fought him so many times that Urushi remembered his smell after all.

However, we didn't get any results. There was no trace of him, not even a hint of his scent, so it was safe to say that he was no longer hiding in this town.

『It's no use. The information was uncertain after all』

「Nn」

As for Fran, she felt that it couldn't be helped and she wasn't that depressed. It's like saying that she didn't have high expectations to begin with, so she was doing this as a tour.

『So, what should we do now? We've stocked up on a lot of cheese, but should we stay here in town tonight?』

「It's fine, let's go to the next town」

「Nn. I'm tired of cheese」

Aah, now that she mentioned it, she was thinking earlier that we shouldn't buy food that doesn't have cheese, but it seems, she got tired of eating too much cheese. Well, cheese is not something you would eat in such large quantities after all.

『The next town is already in the Belios Kingdom. But before that, there's the border. We must take the proper route into the country or it'll be troublesome for us later』

「Okay」

In this world, countries' borders were vague things. There are no lines drawn or walls to separate them. It was easy to ignore them if we wanted to.

I also heard that many countries that were on good terms with each other have no particular restrictions on traffic.

However, Belios Kingdom was different. It has one of the strictest immigration controls in this world.

All of the roads in the city are guarded by guards, and there are many security stations. If you are found to have entered the country without passing through the border checkpoint, you will be charged an entry tax. Not only that but if you had committed a crime without having gone through the entry procedures, even minor crimes often came with severe punishment.

This was a measure against spies and such from the neighboring Raidos Kingdom, and they won't let you off with a bribe or something. Well, it's a good thing that the soldiers were serious on their duty.

Besides, if we crossed the border properly, it shouldn't be that bad, and we wouldn't have to worry too much about it.

「Let's go」

『Eh? Right now?』

「Nn」

She seems to be tired of cheese. Come to think of it. I rarely saw her request cheese as a topping for her curry. So, even Fran has something she likes and dislikes huh? But it's not like she doesn't like the cheese, it's just she has her own 'super like, really like, and normal like' list of food.

『Let's head to the border checkpoint then. With Urushi's legs, I'm sure we'll manage to get to the border by the end of the day』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

After we finished our shopping and had reported our departure to the Adventurer's Guild, we then arrived at the first border checkpoint one hour later.

『That seems to be the border checkpoint on Kranzel side』

「A fort?」

「Woof?」

『Well, that fort seems to be double as a border checkpoint』

But rather than functioning as a border checkpoint, that fort seems to be a measure to keep the Belios Kingdom in check.

Most of the borderline between the Kranzel Kingdom and the Belios Kingdom was separated by a river. However, this mountainous area seemed to be defined as its borderline.

In the middle of it, roads were set up to pass between the mountains, and the border checkpoint was located on the way to those roads. The reason why this checkpoint was not built on the borderline was probably that it also doubles as a fort.

Even if they were a friendly country, they wouldn't let only one of them build a fort near their border. If one side builds a fort that doubles as a border checkpoint, the other side will do the same. And they also wanted to build their fort as close to the other country as possible.

However, if both sides think the same thing, it could mean that the two forts were adjacent to each other across the border.

So, in most cases, there was a treaty between the countries not to build any structures within a certain distance from the border. Well, I only heard about this from a guard at Didianne though.

『First, we'll go through the exit procedures on the Kranzel Kingdom's side. And then we'll cross the pass and go through the entry procedures on Belios's side』

「Understood」

『Let's just go on like this for the time being. We'll be misunderstood if we continue to ride on Urushi after all』

They might think that a dangerous magic beast was attacking them and will prolong our exit.

We then headed for the border checkpoint, and the procedure went very smoothly. We were the only ones there, so we didn't have to wait that long, and with her adventurer's card, they didn't take us into more complicated procedures. All she had done was answer with “an adventurer” and we were let out of the country.

They were a little skeptical that Fran was really a B-ranked adventurer, but once they found out that her adventurer's card was real, they didn't ask too many questions. Many adventurers don't like to be questioned about their personal life, and if they were a real B-rank adventurer there was no way for them to afford to offend them.

Rather, it seemed to be more difficult for us to enter the Belios Kingdom.

『Let's walk until we get over the pass. Urushi being here would only cause more confusion after all』

「Woof」

「Nn」

The pass was not that steep and it was said that an average person can get through it in about half a day.

Magic beasts are also said to appear around this area, but since the soldiers were hunting them down, those who might appear would only be a magic beast with a threat level of F at best.

Currently, the strongest magic beast that has been confirmed was said to have a threat level of D, but it is said that they were only witnessed once every few years.

Unless we encountered a magic beast with a threat level of D, it would take Fran and Urushi less than half a day to cross the pass. It was already evening, but even if they camped out, they should be able to reach the border checkpoint by tomorrow morning.

Well, that was what it was supposed to be, but——.

『Don't tell me, did I just raise a flag?』 (1)

「Nn?」

『No, it's nothing. More importantly, let's help them first!』

Near the peak of the mountain, we came across a traveller that was being attacked. Moreover, they were being attacked by a Storm Wyvern, a magic beast with a threat level of D.

「Urushi, let's go!」

「Woof!」

Note:

(1) Raise a flag means “bring something to notice”. The phrase Raise a flag originated from “raise a red flag” which means to alert someone about potential danger or trouble ahead, the origin is that red flags are often literally used to warn people of possible peril.

Chapter 515: Girls' Party

At the top of the pass, a group of three girls was being attacked by a Storm Wyvern. I thought they were adventurers, but that was not the case.

One of them was wearing full-body armor like a knight, not unlike that of an adventurer, and the equipment of the other two was oddly refined. To put it bluntly, they were overly decorated. They looked like nobles playing adventurer, huh?

「Lady Khanna! I'll draw its attention! Please use that chance to escape!」

「...Kuh! Shella! Let's go!」

「B-but, lady Dianne is...!」

「I'm just going to slow you down!」

A girl who looked to be in her early teens named Khanna seems to be the master. I don't know if she was a noble or the daughter of a rich man, but she was trying to act without losing herself in fear in this scene. It seemed to be quite a spectacle.

A woman of about 20 years old named Shella was her squire, and Dianne, in her full body armor, was probably her guard.

It seems that Dianne was using herself as bait to try to let her master escape.

Dianne was trying to draw that Wyvern's attention to her by making a rattling metallic sound with her armor.

W-well, let's just help them.

『 Its attention is perfectly directed at that female knight. Let's finish it off at once 』

「 Nn! Teleport above it! 」

『 Ou! 』

「 Urushi protects the girls! 」

「 Woof! 」

Nevertheless, the Storm Wyvern was on the weaker side of the threat level D magic beasts. No, if it were only for its combat power and status, it would be in the threat level of E class. However, its flying ability is troublesome, so it was ranked D.

As long as we can get a hit to it, it wasn't that strong of an opponent.

「 Haaa! 」

「 Gyaaoooh—— 」

After the teleport, Fran instantly identified the location of its magic stone by detecting the flow of its magic power and thrust me into that spot. She pierced the magic stone that was located at the base of its neck, and the Storm Wyvern was easily defeated.

I stowed it away as soon as it died so as not to cause any damage to Dianne below, and then silence reigned as if the Wyvern had never been there in the first place.

「 Eh? 」

The girls were looking up at us with a dumb face. They didn't even seem to notice Urushi approaching them.

「 Are you okay? 」

「 Eh, yes. Thank you for your help... 」

The girls were still shocked, but it was the youngest girl of the group that had responded quickly when Fran spoke to the girls while descending from the sky.

She was a beautiful girl with fluffy violet hair and beautiful purple eyes. The dress armor she wore was also of the highest quality. I can't tell if she was a noble by appraising her. The young lady does not have a title, so nothing will be displayed as a title.

「Umm, were you the one who did that?」

「Nn. Defeated and stored it」

「I see, thank you very much」

As the girl lowered her head, the other two finally started to move.

「Y-you has saved us. You got my thanks」

「Thank you very much... Hiii! a w-wolf!」

「Wha, since when!」

They finally noticed Urushi who had approached them. And the female knight pointed her sword at him.

「That is my companion. It's okay」

「I-is that so?」

「Woof!」

When Urushi heard the female knight's murmur, he transformed into the size of a puppy on the spot and got down. They finally understood that he had no hostility towards them and finally the three of them could relax their shoulders.

「Thank you for your help. I'm Khanna」

「B-ranked adventurer, Fran」

「So you are an adventurer huh?」

「Nn」

It was just right after Fran gave her name. Khanna and the other reacted in three different ways. Khanna was really surprised, while Shella had a terrified expression for some reason, and Dianne somehow had a look of disgust on her face.

It seemed that these girls didn't have a good feeling toward adventurers. Fran felt this and turned quickly to leave.

「I'll go then」

『Well, I'm sure these guys will be able to handle the other magic beast on their own』

When I appraised the three of them, I found that their basic abilities were quite high. Not only Dianne but also Khanna and Shella had a status level of 30.

Maybe they have used the power leveling method to raise their levels, but it didn't seem to be just that. Khanna was able to use fire magic and water magic, while Shella was able to use recovery magic.

And then there was Dianne, who had a decent level of skill. As I had expected, she wasn't good enough to fight a flying Storm Wyvern, but she would be ranked D if she became an adventurer.

The three of them wouldn't have any struggle with anything other than wyverns around here. If that was the case, there was no reason for us to stay with them any longer when we had unpleasant feelings for each other.

Shella and Dianne blatantly looked relieved as Fran tried to leave. However, their hopes were dashed by none other than their master, Khanna.

「P-please wait!」

「Nn?」

「If possible, can I hire you to be my escort!」

「Wha! Young lady! But this girl is an adventurer!」

「But you have seen how strong she was just now, didn't you?」

「But adventurer is no different than a barbarian who only has money in their heads!」

What a horrible thing to say. No wonder that Fran's mood dropped. And just like that, the master-servant argument continued in front of Fran.

「But if a magic beast of that level happens to show up again, will we be able to deal with it...?」

「Th-that is... No, I can do it! I will let my lady escape even if it would cost me my life!」

「No, don't do that. I don't want you to die, Dianne」

「Even though I look like this, I'm still a member of the glorious Order of the Red Banner! And I had prepared myself to die to protect you!」

What should we do... They have completely forgotten about Fran, aren't they? She didn't say that she will take the job in the first place.

『Should we leave them alone now?』

(Hmm——)

『Eh? Do you want to help these guys?』

「...Don't want Khanna to die」

Apparently, she had a good feeling about Khanna, who was the same age as her and didn't seem to make fun of adventurers, and was concerned about the safety of her servants. However, I was sure that she was angry with Dianne.

『What should we do then?』

(...I'd be willing to be hired under certain conditions)

『Is that so?』

Well, we'll just wait for these two girls to stop arguing for the time being.

Chapter 516: Adventurer's Value

After waiting for a while, their argument seemed to be over. Then Dianne spoke to her with the same haughty look as ever.

「Oi, Adventurer」

「What?」

「I'll allow you to accompany us for now」

Uwaah, who does this guy think she is? I could tell that Fran was getting annoyed with her.

「How much will you pay?」

「Are you trying to extort money from me!」

No, what are you talking about? How could you hire an adventurer as an escort free of charge? However, Dianne cursed Fran even more

「This why adventurers are...」

「Isn't it common sense that we need to pay to hire an adventurer as an escort?」

「Lady Khanna, I'm telling you that I will protect you by myself! It would be an honor for me!」

「Knights really are hungry for honor huh? That's great, but adventurers don't work for free」

「I'm sorry, we're a little lacking in the common sense of adventurers. So how much would you like for us to pay you?」

「Young lady!」

Dianne shouted when she saw Khanna bowing her head. However, Khanna replied with a sharp glare at her knight.

「Silence, Dianne」

「Wha...! Why!」

「Do not impose your value on others. The value of a knight is different from an adventurer after all. Because even among the knights and nobles, their value is different...」

「Hey. If you're just gonna talk forever, can I go now?」

Aah, Fran was getting bored with them. But before Dianne could say anything to Fran's words, Khanna bowed her head again.

「I'm sorry. So, how much would you like for us to pay you?」

「Hmm...」

「Hmph. I'm sure she's gonna ask for a lot of money from us anyway. But it's fine, here」

Dianne said so and threw a leather bag at Fran's feet. Doesn't this guy have any learning ability? Khanna is staring at her with displeasure, isn't she? When Fran picked up the leather bag and opened it, she found about 2,000 Goldes in it.

「It's just for one night, isn't it quite an exceptional deal?」

What are you saying! The most you can hire with this money is an E-ranked or lower adventurer.

Fran is a B-ranked adventurer you know? There's no way she could be hired for only that much money even if it's only for one night. See! Fran is looking really annoyed now.

It's not so much for her haughty attitude when giving the money, huh? I know that she was making fun of her job as an adventurer, but this must have definitely put Fran in a bad mood.

In other words, she has been told that she's only worth that much.

「Those who exchange the glorious work of protecting the weak and hunting magic beasts for menial and vile money will risk their lives as long as they are paid, won't they?」

Could it be that she is deliberately trying to make Fran angry so that the negotiations will break down? Or does she hate adventurers that much? But there was no way that Fran would consider such a situation and take a wait-and-see approach.

Fran threw the leather bag back at Dianne's feet a little harder and opened her mouth.

「Not enough」

「Nonsense! It's only for one night, you know? How much would you like to extort us for just a one-night job!」

「I'm a B-ranked adventurer. There's no way I can be hired with only this much. The request fee is proof of evaluation to the adventurer. If I'm only worth that much, then the negotiation has failed」

「...Hmph. That's just like what an adventurer who sells themselves for money would say. Then how much do you want me to pay」

「If you want to hire me. Then give me all your money」

「What nonsense! Don't be ridiculous! Then how do you think we'll sustain our journey in the future huh!?!」

「I'm not joking. Either you don't hire me or you'll give me all your money. That's your choice. You like that, don't you?」

「Huh?」

「Money is menial and vile, isn't it? I'll take care of all of it for you then. Or is the money that's so menial and vile really that important to you? Did you tell a lie even though you were a knight? Aah, or were you just a liar?」

Aah, she's angry huh? She has said a lot of words after all.

Maybe she's going to say everything she wants to say and piss them off with it. Now it seems, it was Fran who was planning to break the negotiations.

「Guh... That Incomprehensible reason is...」

「I don't even know you, but don't make fun of adventurers」

「Hiii...」

Dianne, who had been hit by Fran's intimidation, paled and fell on her butt on the spot with tears build up in the corners of her eyes.

No matter how much she despises us, the fact remains that we are overwhelmingly powerful. And right now, they were turning on each other. I guess she has realized that.

Shortly after, Khanna intervened between Fran and her.

「That's enough. Dianne, it's your fault. Even I feel uncomfortable listening to your words. Don't talk anymore」

「Y-yes...」

Ooh. She made it look like she was angry with her escort, but in fact, she has protected her from Fran. Moreover, there was no change in her expression even though she knew that we could strike her with intimidation.

「...Fuh」

「I'm really sorry. I'll give Dianne a scolding later and I won't let her say unpleasant words to you again. So, can you please calm your anger?」

Fran releases her intimidation and turns to face Khanna. Sure enough, this girl is special, isn't she? While others, such as Shella, who had watched Dianne being put through her paces, looked as if she were about to have a stroke, but there was not even a hint of fear on Khanna's face. There was no lie in her apology either.

「So, what would you do? Do you want to give me all your money? Or not?」

「About that...Can you give me more time to pay for it?」

「Nn?」

「To be honest, we really need to get to the town of Shenarl with the money we have」

(Shenarl?)

〈It's a town located in the western part of Belios Kingdom. It also located near the Academy of Magic we're heading to〉

(Ooh, I see)

「If I give you all the money I currently have. We'll be troubled with our future journey...」

Interesting. Even though she was looking at Fran, who was so intimidating, she was still trying to negotiate with her. Moreover, she was looking up at her with an upturned eye.

I didn't miss the thin smile on Fran's face. Perhaps, seeing Dianne's disgusting behavior had cleared her mind and left her with interest in Khanna. She seemed to be amused by her fearlessness in negotiating the price.

「I understand that you're strong and I'm sure you'll need a lot of money, but that's all we can afford. Can you accompany us to the next border checkpoint with this?」

The leather bag she held out to her was filled with gold coins over 30,000 Goldes in it. The interesting thing was that it was surprisingly appropriate.

This is about what a B-ranked adventurer would get for a one-night escort on a place where the magic beast's level is low. No, if these girls already have some fighting power and are prepared for the camp, this was rather too much.

I don't think she understands this... However, I was sure that this was the reason why Fran liked her so much.

「Okay. And in return, that guy is...」

「Of course, I won't let her say bad things to you anymore」

「Nn. Then I'll accept the request」

「Thank you very much!」

Chapter 517: Knights and Adventurers

Fran accepted Khanna's request to escort them, but the sun was soon setting.

We camped on the roadside of the pass and used earth magic to create walls and other stuff around our camp as a defensive measure.

『We won't be in the way of traffic and I think we'll be fine here on the road side』

「Nn」

This pass is not a completely straight road, it is said that dozens of side roads lead to various places. Some of them are said to lead to the Raidos Kingdom, and naturally, that road was monitored by guards, so free passage was not possible.

「Yo-you can use this much magic...!?」

「Yo-you've gotta be kidding me...!」

Dianne and Shella were shocked when they saw the camp that Fran had created.

They may have known that Fran was a powerful warrior, but they didn't expect her to be skilled in magic. It seems Khanna and Dianne were more astonished than when they saw Urushi in his larger form.

The atmosphere on the road was not as bad as I had expected. Dianne, who had completely lost her mind, and Shella, who was still terrified of Fran, hardly spoke at all. On the other hand, Khanna was very active in talking to Fran.

Dianne and Shella were also trying to hide their presence at a distance from Fran and Urushi while Khanna was sitting next to Fran, enjoying a bowl of curry-flavored soup.

As one would expect of a squire, Shella braved herself to be a tester for poison, but Khanna still ate the seemingly crude dish served by Fran without complaining. Well, it might look crude, but it's still a high-class dish made with a lot of magic beast meat and spices.

She rather enjoyed eating the grilled skewers as they are and her cheerful expression doesn't seem to be an act.

「Fran-san is an adventurer, right?」

「Nn?」

「I think, Fran-san is about the same age as me but isn't it unusual for an adventurer to be that young?」

「Umm... but there are a few」

「Is that so... Umm, hey. Why did Fran-san become an adventurer?」

She doesn't seem to hate adventurers like Dianne and Shella and was interested in adventurers. Is adventurer that rare? But every town should have a few of them though. Or had she never seen the outside world before? But she's quite resilient enough to use magic and not complain about our camp.

「To become stronger」

「Stronger, huh? But can you become a knight or a soldier instead?」

「I'm still a kid so it's impossible」

「I see... Umm, is it hard to be an adventurer?」

When Fran heard Khanna's question, she asked back, sincerely curious.

「To be that strong at the same age as me, it must have been very difficult, wasn't it?」

「...I became an adventurer because I wanted to be strong. That's why I never thought of getting hurt or fighting a strong opponent as a hardship」

When Fran's eyes looked straight at her, Khanna looked away as if she was under pressure. Our values are too different from each other. I'm not saying that we can't understand each other, but I don't think it's possible to understand each other all in one night.

What seemed like hellish days for Khanna must have been irreplaceable for Fran.

On the other hand, Fran could not understand Khanna either. I'm sure that this nice young lady has a pain that only she can understand.

That's just what people are like.

「An adventurer's job is to defeat the magic beast and bandits, right? And also, escorting the merchant」

「Nn? No, you're wrong」

「Eh? Really?」

Eh? Really? I was also surprised to hear her reply too.

「An adventurer's job is to go on an adventure」

「Go on an adventure?」

「Yes, by adventuring someone can become an adventurer」

「But what about catching the bandits or hunting the magic beast? Isn't that what adventurers do?」

「Yes, they do. But it's actually the job of the Knights and soldiers. But since they won't do it, so the adventurers are the ones to do it」

Hmm, I don't think many adventurers would agree with Fran. Fran's definition of adventuring is to be going into a magical area or a dungeon and fighting in general.

Maintaining public order by defeating bandits and magic beasts is essentially the work of the Knights. However, the boundaries were pretty fuzzy there. Since adventurers were fighting magic beasts in the dungeon, they could fight outside as well, and fighting bandits and such could be considered an extension of that.

「...B-but those who have power should use their power to protect the people!」

「Is that so?」

「Yes! Great power comes with great responsibility」

「Dianne!」

Khanna tried to stop her, but Dianne's words didn't stop there.

「Y-You has so much power and yet you see the weak and think nothing of them? Don't you want to help them?」

「I always thought of it though, that's why I helped you guys, right?」

「...You don't understand anything, don't you...?」

「Nn? I wanted to help you, so I helped you. That's why, I don't care even if I'm weak, if I want to help, I'll try to help. Do you only help people because you're strong? And you'll just abandon them if you were weak?」

「Dianne, silence!」

Dianne, who had been yelled at by Khanna, fell silent with a pale face.

But it was a difficult problem. The responsibility of power is a convenient story for the weak to take advantage of the strong. Or it is the conceit of the strong who are drunk with power.

In Fran's case, she wouldn't be thinking about such difficult things. In the first place, if there was someone in trouble in front of her, she would help them without even thinking about the reason. As she said, she helps people because she wants to. That's all.

If the other party is annoying, she would usually abandon them, or help them and demand an exorbitant reward.

This may be another difference between adventurers and knights. Knights are people who are fed by taxes, so to speak. They must be taught about their duties and rights from the time they join the knight order.

Aah, as long as it's not a rotten scum knight that is.

However, 「Work for your paycheck!」 was not enough to raise morale or maintain their pride. That's why they use phrases like 「helping the weak」 and 「serving the cause of justice」. If that kind of education goes too far, more knights like Dianne will be born.

Adventurers, on the other hand, are entirely responsible for their actions. In other words, the power they acquire is their own, and it is normal for them to use it for themselves.

「I don't mean to speak for Dianne, but I've also heard that some adventures do things like a bandit」

「It's not the adventurers only, even knights and nobles must have their scum too. Or there are no bad guys in your country?」

「That's... might be true. There are also some bad knights and nobles after all」

Khanna agreed when she heard Fran's words. She seemed to have some idea of what she meant. When I think about it, it's not normal for a young lady to be travelling in such a small group, so she must have her own reason.

「Then, what an adventurer——」

Perhaps because she was so interested in adventurers, Khanna's questions went on and on until she went to bed.

Chapter 518: Entering the Country

「I can see it, that must be the border checkpoint」

「Really? That was really fast」

「Nn. Urushi is amazing」

On the day after saving Khanna and the others, Fran and Urushi departed with them at sunrise and in less than two hours they were about to reach the border checkpoint on Belios Kingdom's side.

We had run through the pass while carrying them all on Urushi's back.

Khanna and the others were our top priority, so we only killed the closest magic beasts along the way and ignored the others.

No matter what happens, since she had accepted the escort request, we have to do it properly.

「We'll only make a commotion if we continue like this, so let's get down for now」

「...I wonder is it possible for anyone to use a magic beast like him huh?」

「Th-that's impossible, I've never heard of it before」

Dianne and Shella remained pale the entire time on Urushi's back. They must have understood that he was not only big but also capable.

Shella had been by Dianne's side ever since she got to know Fran's abilities. And apparently, Dianne had decided not to offend Fran any further by speaking rudely to her. Thanks to that, it was nice and quiet now.

「Let's go then」

「Nn」

With Fran in the lead, we headed for the border checkpoint. We were told that the screening was quite strict, but would we make it through?

This border checkpoint was just as big as the one on Kranzel Kingdom's side. It was also built as a fort so in case of emergency it can be used to hide from magic beasts and enemy troops.

When we got closer, we were being targeted with a bow from inside the fort. However, this may be just preparation in case ruffians or enemy soldiers disguise themselves as travelers. And since we didn't feel any clear killing intent, Fran and I endeavored to ignore it for now.

「Halt! Only four people?」

「Nn」

「Show me your identification」

「Okay」

「Understood」

She took out her identification card as she was told and handed it to the soldier. Well, as expected, they were a little bit surprised at first, but once they found out that her guild card was real, they allowed us to enter the country without any problems.

It seems by being a high-ranked adventurer plays a part in that. The Belios Kingdom would also benefit from having more strong adventurers in their country after all, so they have no reason to refuse her.

「Are these three people with you too? Or are they from a different group?」

「Fran-san is the escort we hired the other day」

「Hmm. Morley Trading Company? I've never heard of them before...」

「It's because we're still a small trading company」

「So you're a daughter of the trading company owner and these two are your servants huh...?」

Oya? Khanna and the others seemed to be under some suspicion. However, it seems Khanna was the daughter of a trading company owner. I see now, the guts she showed yesterday was very merchant-like. However, I think she still has an elegant side too.

They might know if she is the daughter of a large trading company. But would the daughter of a small trading company that the immigration officer, who should have a lot of information in his head, had never heard of, display that kind of elegance? I know that she had received a strict education too, but...

Dianne's existence with her was a mystery. She called herself a Knight, but her job was a Swordsman. This means that she is not a Knight because of her job, but a knight by status.

But would a guard of a trading company make such a claim? Of course, there's also the possibility that it's just her longing to become a knight. However, she must have clearly said that she was a knight of the Red Banner.

There's also the possibility that she was picked up by the trading company after she was fired, but would that allow her to keep calling herself a knight?

(Master, what should we do about Khanna and the others?)

『Hmmm... Let's watch them for a while』

(Okay)

When push comes to shove, we must insist that we are irrelevant.

「Where is this trading company is located?」

「It's in Dards, a port city in the Kranzel Kingdom」

「What is the name of the owner of that company?」

「Raymond Morley」

「What is your purpose in coming to Belios Kingdom?」

「We're going to the special self-governing region」

「...Hmm」

This immigration officer seemed to have some kind of lie detection skill. Although his level was still low, he should be able to sense at least a hint of discomfort if the other party lied. And it seems she didn't trigger that skill. However, he was still looking at Khanna and the others with an unconvinced look on his face.

Having years of experience as a border immigration officer let him know that they're somewhat suspicious. However, based on his skill there is nothing suspicious about these girls.

I was also using the Principal of Falsehood, but there was no lie in Khanna's words. As expected, she is really a daughter of a trading company owner in the Kranzel Kingdom huh?

The officer who had asked the question before was currently having a sneaky discussion with a man who seemed to be his boss. Well, I can hear it though.

「What should we do?」

「Is that girl is an adventurer from the Kranzel Kingdom?」

「Yes」

「If they hired an escort from the adventurer's guild in the Kranzel Kingdom, we can say that their identity has been proven by the guild. It's fine then since their destination is to the special self-governing region」

「Are you sure about that?」

「It's fine as long as their destination is really to that place. But don't forget to inquire later if they really had entered the special self-governing region okay?」

Did Khanna use her for this? I see, if they have an adventurer as their escort, anyone would think that they had requested an escort at the Adventurer's Guild. In other words, the Adventurer's Guild has recognized that she is not a suspicious person.

This doesn't mean that she has fooled us, but as expected, Khanna was just like a wily fox.

In the end, the four of us were not detained any further and succeeded in crossing the border. Well, I guess there is nothing more that can be done.

Also, the fact that the destination was a special self-governing region seemed to be another reason why we were overlooked. It seems that the autonomous region is treated as a different country within the Belios Kingdom. So, I guess they just pushed us over to them.

Fran turns to face Khanna when they have walked a short distance past the border checkpoint. While Dianne and Shella are checking maps and at such a distance from her.

「The request ends here」

「Yes. Thank you very much for escorting us. And thanks to Urushi-san too, I was able to enter the Belios Kingdom earlier than I expected」

「Nn. And hey?」

「Is Dianne a knight?」

Fran was actually curious about it too. Like me, she probably didn't want to be stopped at the border checkpoint for asking it, so she kept quiet.

「...That's right. But won't you care about my identity?」

「Nn? Not really?」

「Eh?」

「Adventurers don't care about the past」

Many adventurers have left their past behind. And it is forbidden to pry into their past by an unwritten rule. It seemed that she had acquired this mentality while spending some time among them. Well, she was indifferent to her past too after all.

「More than that, I was worried about her」

「Are you worried about her?」

「Nn. Dianne said that she was a knight, and she also had dressed as a knight too」

In the future, there would be other people who would be suspicious of Khanna's identity. Fran was genuinely worried about Khanna. After all, she was interested in this strong-willed girl.

「Aah, do you mean that... She's not really my servant, as I've only borrowed her from my father... At first, I tried to get her to dress up as an adventurer, but she just hated that idea」

She seemed to have a tremendous prejudice against adventurers, and I don't blame her. It's like asking Fran to pretend to be a blue cat. She would refuse even if it means she would die.

「Although she may be inflexible and narrow-minded, she's quite a skilled one. It's hard to find a girl with that certain level of strength after all」

Even a person with a difficult personality like Dianne can be a valuable female escort huh.

「And thank you for keeping quiet at the border checkpoint」

Khanna then bowed her head deeply once again. It's true that if Fran had interrupted her at that moment, Khanna and the others might have been in a tight spot right now.

Dianne's suspiciousness and the fact that she only hired Fran until they had crossed the border. I don't think she has any bad intentions, but I just didn't want for us to get into any more trouble.

「Don't mind it」

「Fufu. I was really lucky to have met you. Let's meet again next time」

「Nn. likewise」

Chapter 519: The Reason Why She was Interested in Khanna

After we left Khanna and the others, I asked Fran a question that had been bothering me.

『Hey, Fran』

「Nn?」

『Why did you interested in Khanna so much?』

I wouldn't say she was a bad person, but she was a strong-willed and tricky person. She would use Fran to her advantage to get into the country. Was there any reason for her to favor her that much?

Now that I think about it, I wonder if there was a reason why she didn't strongly restrain Dianne's rude words.

Well, if Khanna and the others had any incidents in the future, there would be little chance that Fran would be bothered. They were just coming along for the ride and being protected from any monsters after all. I didn't dare tell her that, though.

They also didn't use bribes or lie to enter the country. Moreover, they had also presented their identity, and the immigration officer had also officially admitted them into the country. If something goes wrong, the responsibility has already been handed over to the country.

Moreover, in Fran's case, since her immigration records were well documented, they would know that she was alone when she left the Kranzel Kingdom. In other words, it was supported by the fact that they happened to be together on the pass. It would be unlikely that she would be considered one of Khanna's companions.

But even so, Fran had to bear the burden of being with Khanna.

『You know that she has obviously taken advantage of Fran, right?』

「Nn, I wasn't fooled」

『Well, you're right, but...』

「Khanna, the same age as me」

But, is that all?

「And she didn't despise the Black Cat kin」

『Aah, I see』

「Nn. Dianne too, she made a fool of the adventurers but didn't make a fool of the Black Cat kin」

In fact, even the people we had met and befriended in our travels so far had been very surprised to see a girl from the Black Cat kin. There were two patterns of their surprise though.

The most common one was the surprise that a girl from the weakest race, the Black Cat kin, could be an adventurer.

The other one was the surprise at the fact that even though she was a member of the Black Cat kin, she carried the air of a powerful person.

Either way, there was contempt for the Black Cat kin. No, they don't have any contempt or malice towards the Black Cat kin. It was just that they consider it was common knowledge that the Black Cat kin is weak and unfit for battle.

It was frustrating for Fran. It must have been sad too.

But not once did Khanna, Dianne, or Shella say anything about the Black Cats being weak. There were some insults about her being a little girl or an adventurer, but that was it.

Especially Khanna. Come to think of it, she didn't seem to care about race, age, and status at all. Now I also felt respect for her.

「Khanna is interesting. I wish she was an adventurer though」

『Hee?』

In fact, this was quite the compliment in Fran's eyes.

「But Khanna is weak」

『Well, she's not much of a magician, is she?』

「But she's not afraid of me, so I knew that she's not to be underestimated」

Strong adventurers sometimes tested each other's strength during their first encounter. They fought against each other with a light exchange of feints to assess each other's strength.

But it seems the public eye often thought that they're trying to kill each other, but if they were a really strong adventurer, no harm would come to them. And when they recognize each other's strength, they will go out as equals.

Although it was different from that for an adventurer, Fran seemed to recognize Khanna as an equal. I wonder what she had to have that tugged at Fran's heartstrings besides her fighting ability?

She's the same age as her, doesn't look down on her for being an adventurer or a member of the Black Cat kin, and even tried to use her without fearing her overwhelming power. When I think about it, she's quite capable huh?

「Khanna is interesting」

『Well, it's fine then if Fran says so』

「Nn!」

After all, she was kind of interested in her. I guess that's what it's all about.

『They said it normally should take about 5 days to reach the Academy of Magic from here』

「It would be even shorter with Urushi」

「Woof!」

『But since this is the first time we've come to this country, I'd like to see some of the towns too』

「Delicious specialties too!」

『That too, huh?』

I also want to show up at the adventurer's guild to listen to the domestic situation. In particular, I want to know what's currently going on with the Kranzel Kingdom and the Raidos Kingdom. I don't want to get involved in a war after all.

「Woof?」

『...There might be more to see if you're an adult』

It would be best if Urushi didn't make his body size too huge too. We'll never know what kind of rumors might start after all.

In the end, we decided to have Urushi change to the size of a pony and head for the nearest village from here. After that, we would head to a larger town.

However, we were not able to achieve anything special in that village. It was the closest village to the border, so I thought it would be developed like a lodging town, but it was completely rural.

There was only one old man, a former E ranked, in the Adventurer's Guild branch. There was also a lake about an hour further on, and apparently, there was a large town on its shores.

Most travelers usually just pass through the village and go to that town.

『A lakeside town huh?』

『Come to think of it, have you ever seen a lake that big?』

「Nn」

「Woof」

A lake itself was not new to us, but the place we were going to visit was on a different scale. We can't see the other side of the lake after all. It's probably about the same size as Lake Biwa. But it might even be bigger than that.

(Note: Lake Biwa: 63Km in length, 23Km in width)

「Urushi, hurry!」

「Woof woof!」

『Oioi, the lake won't run away you know?』

「There's fish」

「Woof」

Aah, come to think of it, he said that big freshwater fish was a specialty.
Was it something like a carp?

「Fish Curry—」

Does freshwater fish go well with curry? Was there such a thing as carp curry or eel curry? I guess it was not out of the question as a local souvenir,
but...

『Fran, let me tell you one thing, some ingredients don't go well with curry you know?』

「It will be fine. Curry is the best, no matter what you put in it」

Oh crap, I definitely need to make delicious freshwater fish curry, huh?!

Chapter 520: The Lakeside Maiden

「I can see it. A big puddle」

『It's a lake』

「Just like the sea」

『No, it's a lake』

Ahead of us was the town of Kiarazen.

It was also known as the Lakeside Maiden. It's because there's a statue of a water spirit in the square where you can get a nice view of the lake that attracts a lot of tourists. But Fran doesn't seem to be interested in it though.

The town was also nicknamed “Lakeside Maiden” because of the beautiful white color of its town's buildings.

It was a beautiful landscape, just as the name “Maiden” implies. The shimmering blue surface of the lake reflecting the sunlight and the white buildings standing on its shore. The contrast of blue and white looks so beautiful.

The sight of the tiny fishing boats coming and going on the large lake reminded me of the preciousness of people's lives.

「...So big」

「Woof...」

Even these duos seemed to be impressed by the view. They stared at the lake in awe. Well, it didn't last for a minute though.

「Fish!」

『Yes yes, let's go to the town then』

「Nn」

Our entry went smoothly. We had to wait in line for a while, but it probably took less than five minutes. I wondered if there were too few people due to the war, but it seems that most travelers use boats to enter the town from the lakeside.

Only a few peddlers or adventurers used the land route.

『Fran』

「...Nn?」

『You shouldn't eat too much, we need to get to the adventurers guild too after this』

「Nnhm」

『It's not polite to answer when eating you know—』

I mean, how can she go to a food stall within 30 seconds of entering a town... Oh crap, buying snacks has definitely been added to the purpose of Fran's trip now.

We have the money, but I wonder was it good for her education to allow her to buy as much food as she wants? I know she won't waste any of it, but...

『Hmm』

「What's wrong, Master?」

『No, it's nothing, but I just think that Fran eat a lot, huh?』

「Fufun」

Why did you make such a smug face? She never reacts at all when people say she's cute. But it seems she thinks that eating a lot was a compliment for her.

『So, what did you buy?』

「This」

『Hohou, deep-fried fish huh?』

It would look more like a carp or a goldfish. Just like a freshwater fish. The cooking method used for it was simple: take out its guts and fry it in oil. They did not even remove the scales.

『How does it taste?』

「Salty?」

『...Anything else?』

「A taste like a mud」

It was a typical under-prepared river fish. However, despite saying that, Fran still managed to eat the fish.

「It's crunchiness is good」

『Oh, you like its texture huh?』

「Nn」

She seemed to like the fried scales. After Fran finished it, she rushed to the food stall and bought more fried fish, and bit into it.

「!!」

『Wh-what's wrong?』

「This is delicious」

『Hou?』

「Woof woof!」

『Urushi too, huh?』

What Fran was staring at with wide eyes was the fried fish that almost every stall on this street offered. The fish they used seemed to be the same and I couldn't tell the difference from other stalls by looking at it.

But if Fran and Urushi say it was delicious, then it must be true.

『It must have been a famous stall. Maybe it was prepped and seasoned well』

「Let's get more!」

「Woof!」

『Ah, wait!』

Fran and Urushi dashed back into one of the stalls. I mean, how could they think of buying something here?

The stall was deserted and looked very rundown. The paint was peeling, and its curtain was dirty and worn.

Was it because of this appearance that no customers came to the stall, or was it because no customers came to the stall that it remains rundown? At least for me, I wouldn't have chosen this stall to get something to eat.

「Huh? You've come again?」

The seller was a beautiful girl with blond hair. Her white skin made me wonder if she had the blood of nobility in her veins. Since she was selling fish that had been fried on the spot, it wouldn't be strange if her skin was rough from the oil splashes, but there was not a single blemish on the girl's skin.

But I don't think customers will be rushing in for this girl. She was wearing a black headband-like eye patch that covered both eyes. It would be fine if she showed one of her eyes. But it covered both her eyes. The strangeness of her eyepatch, which looked like a blindfold, stood out on top of her beauty.

But Fran didn't care about that at all and ordered some fish.

「Nn! It's the most delicious in here, the smell didn't lie」

「Woof!」

「Thank you」

The girl smiled softly and bowed her head lightly.

Apparently, Fran and Urushi chose this stall with their noses. The frying oil used looks different from the others, it may be replaced frequently without being reused. That's why the price was also a little higher than the other stalls.

「Give me all you have」

「Eh?」

「I want them all」

「Umm, you mean all the ones in here?」

「Nn. I'll buy it if you're gonna fry that too」

『Hey hey, you can't buy everything, she won't be able to do business』

It was not enough for a store to have good sales. For the sake of the customers and the regulars, they have to keep a certain amount in stock for their reputation.

However, the girl looked pleased.

「Thank you. I'll fry it right away then」

「Nn」

Come to think of it, her stall was not as popular as the others. Maybe it was already lucky for the girl to be able to sell them.

『But still, she's amazing』

The girl was making the fried fish so fluidly that it made me wonder if she could see. The way she handled the fish and the timing of lifting it out of the oil was perfect.

And that's not all. When Fran handed her the money, the girl could tell by the slightest touch whether it was silver or copper and returned the change to us.

I was curious and couldn't help but appraise her.

Name: Rhyn

Age: 24 Years old

Job: Cook

Status: Missing both eyes

Status Level: 25

HP:54

MP: 101

STR: 30

PHY: 36

AGI: 41

INT: 49

DEX: 47

Magic: 70

[Skill]

Sensitive Hearing: Lv2, Wind Magic: Lv4, Air Flow Vision: Lv2, Presence Detection: Lv2, Wand Technique: Lv2, Echolocation: Lv4, Magic Vision: Lv5, Water Magic: Lv2, Cooking: Lv4, Magic Manipulation.

[Equipment]

Oak Wand, Water Spirit Clothing, Magical Eyepatch, Magical Necklace.

She possessed several skills to supplement her vision. Judging from her skill set, she was probably a magician by nature.

Wha? Did Rhyn's eyes look at me for a second there? No, she shouldn't be able to see... But was it her Magic Vision that allowed her to know that I was a magic sword? It felt strange, it was as if she saw through my soul that resided in the sword... But that shouldn't be possible.

However, it seems that the loss of her eyesight made her extremely perceptive in other areas. Let's be careful not to let our guard down in front of her.

「Thank you, I'll come again」

「Likewise. That's the best sale I've had since I started this stall. Come again next time」

Then we left Rhyn's stall, but for some reason, I felt like she was watching me the whole time.

『No no... Was it just my imagination?』

「Master?」

『Hey, do you feel like someone is watching us?』

「Hmm...?」

「Woof...?」

My words made Fran and Urushi brace themselves for a moment. But they quickly tilted their heads in confusion. I guess they don't feel anything. Was it just my imagination after all? When I thought about it, the inexplicable feeling cleared up before I knew it.

『Sorry, maybe it's just my imagination』

「Nn」

Chapter 521: What a Commercial Fleet Is

After we left Rhyn's stall, we were on our way to the adventurer's guild. But on the way, I was still worried about that girl with the eye patch.

『I wonder if she knew I used appraisal on her?』

「Rhyn?」

『Yeah』

I thought I was mistaken, but something was still bugging me.

「She's amazing then」

In the first place, our training in the plains had strengthened our stealth and concealment abilities considerably. We have also been able to suppress any hint of our use of Appraisal more than before.

I'm so confident that if our opponent didn't have a high-level Appraisal Skill, they wouldn't be able to detect it.

Even Amanda had to concentrate very hard to notice it after all. And even if she did notice, it was only to the extent of giving her an uncomfortable feeling like "Did look at me?".

From what I could tell, Rhyn wasn't very strong. Even though her senses were sharpened, her movements were only amateurish, and her magic power was low. If she was an adventurer, she must have been a ranked F or E

To be frank, I hadn't expected to be noticed. In fact, she didn't have any skills that would allow her to notice appraisals perfectly, and her status would not allow her to somehow notice them through intuition or feeling like a strong person.

That's was supposed to be though, but——

『...This is just making me lose my confidence』

Appraisal was a very useful skill. It was necessary to train daily to use it quietly when the time comes.

I've practiced a lot against the magic beasts on the plains. And I've become proficient to the point that they can hardly detect the presence of my appraisal even against those with high sensing abilities. And I was now in the middle of practicing it on humans.

However, I wouldn't use it on a King or a Guild Master. The only people I will use it to are ordinary people in town or travelers passing by on the road, who are unlikely to notice my appraisal.

No, there is still a small chance that they will notice. There's even a chance that they might have the Appraisal Perception skill by accident. But if I said that, I wouldn't be able to use my Appraisal skill out of fear.

But it would be foolish to seal off this skill because of the fear of being caught using Appraisal and then fail when the time comes. That would be just plain stupid.

There is no such thing as failure when it comes to just activating Appraisal. However, using it in conjunction with the Stealth skill to suppress the presence when the skill was activated requires a certain amount of practice.

This was a world with a game-like system, but it doesn't work the same for everyone, but the more you train, the better you get.

Appraisal too, you have to use it to get better at it.

It's not that I forgot what Diaz said, okay? It's just that he warned me that if I used appraisal on royalty, I might be guilty of disrespect. He didn't tell me not to use appraisal. Rather, he advised me to use it well.

I was going to follow that advice and use the appraisal on the easiest no-risk opponent possible to practice on.

I'm still worried about Rhyn. I think I'll refrain from practicing appraisal on humans for a while.

As I was thinking about this, I quickly saw the sign for the Adventurer's Guild.

「Excuse me—」

「Yes, welcome to the Adventurer's Guild!」

When we entered the guild in Kiarazen, the receptionist greeted us with a smile.

「Are you—...going to take a request?」

「I came to see the requests」

「I see, you're an adventurer huh? Are you alone?」

「Nn」

「Huh? But that's strange」

「About what?」

「You didn't just stick with the commercial fleet, did you?」

「Commercial fleet?」

「You don't know? Maybe, you were born in a foreign country huh?」

「Nn」

「I see. The commercial fleet is——」

The Onee-san then explained it to us. The commercial fleet was a large fleet of ships that traveled around Lake Vivian. Aah, Lake Vivian is that huge lake from before.

There were several large towns and cities on the shores of the lake, which was larger than a small country, and the fleet was said to be making regular trips to these places.

Their work was diverse, ranging from trading to buying and selling local products. They provide transportation for adventurers and travelers. Fishing and purchasing materials in the dangerous central area of the lake. They also provide entertainment such as circuses and minstrels and even regular checkups by doctors.

「I can get that much on ship?」

「Then, there's a lot of ships?」

「Yes, a lot. I don't know the exact number, but there were more than 10 large ships. I think there are also more than 50 small and medium-sized ships」

「Hoo——」

That's great. There are probably more people there than in a small village.

「They've been around this lake for hundreds of years, you know?」

「Hee—. Who started it?」

「Something is interesting about it. I don't know if it's a lie or not, but this Lake Vivian used to be a sea」

「The sea turned into a lake?」

「The story goes that this was originally a small lake and that the lake and the sea combined to form a large lake. Lake Vivian was named after that small lake」

「Hmmm. I don't know the details, but it seems that the lake and the sea were connected by a natural disaster, and then a part of the ground rose and separated this part from the sea, forming the lake as we know it today. The merchant of the fleet said that the commercial fleet began when the trading ships that were left behind on the lakeside gathered together to protect themselves from monsters」

A ship was an expensive thing, so it was a valuable asset. If it was a trading ship that could sail the open sea, it was much more expensive than the cargo it carries. I don't know whether the captains of the trading ships were the owners or hired hands, but they probably didn't have the option of leaving the ships behind and returning to their countries.

But to live, they had to work. I don't know if they had enough conscience not to become lake bandits, or if they couldn't make a living as bandits because of the lack of prey, but they considered lake villages as ports and started trading.

Well, they must have thought of various ways to earn money, since they would not be able to earn enough money just by visiting the lakeside villages. They must have thought of: transportation, fishing, escorting, entertainment, and trade. As a result, it would not be surprising if it became what was now called a commercial fleet.

「So, the commercial fleet is full of adventurers who are just starting in this area. They have safe jobs like carrying cargo, and they can watch and learn from the work of the senior adventurers」

It is said that it is common practice for adventurers around this lake to first train in the commercial fleet.

「So there are quite a few adventurers of your age in the commercial fleet, you know?」

「Hee」

It might be unusual to find a place with so many child adventurers. However, if there was little danger to their lives and they could receive guidance from senior adventurers, it might not be a bad place to work.

「The fleet will welcome you with open arms」

「Is that so?」

「If you ingratiate yourself with them at the beginning, you could become a good customer for the commercial fleet when you grow up. If you grow strong enough, you can be hired as an escort. They have a great advantage of having the support of adventurers after all」

It was like a big business moving on the lake. I'd like to see it once, whether we ride it or not, and it seems that Fran felt the same way.

「That commercial fleet. Where can I find them?」

「Oh my, are you interested?」

「Nn」

「Let see... I think the main force is in the east this time of year. I don't know exactly where they are though. But the squadrons, which are small ships that go around the villages, come at least once a week」

「Okay」

This town is located just south of the lake. East of here is also in the direction of the Academy of Magic we're heading to.

The Academy of Magic was still quite far from the lake, but I heard that the self-governing territory around it also borders the lake. This might give us a chance to see a large fleet of ships first.

「Hey, did you come from the Kranzel Kingdom by yourself?」

「Nn. But how did you know I'm from Kranzel?」

「Well, that's because there are no adventurers in Raidos. If that were the case, the only foreign adventurers that would come to this area would be from the Kranzel Kingdom」

「I see」

「It's the first time I've seen a girl your age come alone, but I think it's good to be part of a commercial fleet. After a year you'll be able to become a full-fledged adventurer」

「Nn? I don't really want to stay there though」

「Huh? Didn't you said you're interested before?」

「I just want to see it」

「Aah, I see. But it's not life-threatening, and I'd definitely recommend it. There's also a branch of the guild in the commercial fleet, so you can still rank up in there」

A guild branch in a ship? That was amazing. Not only was it a large moving merchant company, but apparently it seemed to be a moving town.

「Even a kid with G or F-rank can hopefully rank up one rank in a year. We've accumulated the know-how to nurture the adventurers, so they can grow safely」

So, you're saying that they're going to assign us a job to train adventurers? That might indeed be a good system. They might be tied to the commercial fleet, but if they're going to be working in this kind of work, that connection is rather a plus.

「I've also heard that when someone becomes a high-ranked adventurer and has had enough of working in there, they often leave the ship」

「But I'm fine」

「Huh? But why?」

「This」

Fran shows her guild card to the Onee-san, who clearly thought that Fran was just starting.

「...? The usual black card color is...」

G & F-ranked adventurer cards are copper, E & D cards are black, and C & B cards are silver. Apparently, this guild only had adventurers of rank D or lower, and they were not used to seeing Fran's B-ranked adventurer card.

「Eeeeh? I-it's real? It's real, isn't it? Y-yeah, it's the real thing! It's real!」

「So noisy」

As soon as she finally realized that this was the real thing, the Onee-san screamed out. Immediately after, she went upright.

「I-I-I apologize for my attitude from before! I've been talking down of you!」

「Nn?」

「I-I'm so sorry!」

She seemed to be terrified of her. It was the first time that she had been reacted to so intensely before she had even shown her ability.

「A, awawawa...」

She was obviously flustered. And it seems she won't be able to listen to us properly for the time being.

「...?」

Chapter 522: The Relationship Between the Three Countries

「I'm sorry for that fool from before」

The one bowing his head with a wry smile in front of Fran was the master of the Kiarazen Adventurer's Guild.

He looked like a refreshing uncle, but his speech was coarse and had a gap. However, the presence emanating from his body was definitely that of a high-ranked adventurer.

「High ranked adventurers rarely come here, after all, I think that's why she was so panicked when she met a B-ranker from another country in front of her. It has been a long time and I still can't get rid of this newbie mentality. It's better than last year though」

「They rarely appear, but when that happens, I'll come out or ask the commercial fleet for help」

The fleet itself travels along a fixed route, but it was possible to reach each town in a few days by using small boats.

The adventurers in each town were trying to get by while waiting for help from the commercial fleet. That seems to be their basic strategy when an uncontrollable situation arises.

Therefore, most of the high-ranking adventurers in the area belong to the guilds in the commercial fleet, and they scatter to each town to do their work. The receptionist doesn't have much contact with the high-ranking adventurers because the masters will be the ones to take care of them.

「And then, what will Fran do after this? You must have heard about the commercial fleet from that fool, but are you interested?」

「Nn... A little, but I can't, there are places I have to go, maybe next time」

「I see, If the Black Lightning Princess is going to be active around here, I'd very welcome it」

「You know about that?」

「There's not a single guild master on this continent who doesn't know your nickname. I'm sure Diaz also has his eyes on you now. There's been a lot of talks about you when she raised you to a B-ranker」

Come to think of it, to become a high-ranking adventurer, you needed a recommendation from a guild master. Because of this, it seemed that Fran's story was spreading to the top brass of the guild.

「You're a hell of a thing to actually face... Are you really from that Black Cat kin? It's been a long time since my strong person detection skills have sounded that much of a warning... Even though I'm a former B-ranker too」

It can't be helped, but it was true that this guild master was also quite strong.

He then observed Fran lightly and smiled bitterly.

「Coming here to get information about this country」

「Yeah, you've just crossed to Belios from Kranzel after all」

「Nn. What's the relationship between this country and the other country?」

「Well, first of all, the current relationship between Belios and Kranzel is probably not so close」

Both countries were bordered by the military power of the Raidos Kingdom and have not had any major conflicts in the past. They both knew that if one of them falls, the other will be the next target of Raidos, so they work together moderately while accommodating each other in various aspects. That kind of relationship has continued for a long time.

「Ideally, we'll reap the profit while the other country and Raidos try to crush each other. But I understand how difficult that would be」

Currently, there was no threatening force other than Raidos, and thanks to the threat of that country, the nobles were not asking them to attack the other country.

As long as there was no war, it was safe to say that the country was stable.

It reminded me a little of the Romance of the Three Kingdoms from my previous life, where the famous military strategist Confucius Kongming (Note: Zhuge Liang alias) proposed to his master Liu Bei a plan to divide the country into three parts. It was a famous plan that three opposing countries should check each other to bring stability. The northern part of the continent of Zilberd seemed to be in such a state by accident.

「Well, it looks like Kranzel is a little shaky for the time being, but that's a big country. It's not like it's going to suddenly collapse. But the Belios Kingdom can't afford to have it fall」

Although they send spies to each other, it seems neither side wants to actively destroy the other.

「I'm sure there will be some kind of support from Belios to Kranzel soon. Well, of course, we'll do it quietly behind the scenes」

「I see, what about Raidos then?」

「We're still talking about them a little now, but it sucks」

They had been at war with each other for hundreds of years, and public sentiment between them was bad. To put it bluntly, many of the people here seemed to consider that country as an enemy.

「However, we believe that the risk of invasion is low now」

「Because we have that special self-governing region」

The special self-governing region. This was where the Academy of Magic was located. In terms of location, it was located on the west side of the Belios Kingdom, and if Raidos invaded, the self-governing region would definitely be in their pathway.

「Even though she was a High Elf, we wouldn't just simply lend her a piece of land that's equivalent to 10% of the country right? So, we used that as a deterrent. In fact, there are already several deals between Weena Rhyn, the head of the self-governing region, and the country」

「Deals?」

「I don't know much about it, but I've heard that there are deals to participate in emergencies and that the technology created at the Academy will be made available to the rest of the country on a priority basis」

And so, the country has also granted various privileges to Weena Rhyn.

「We granted self-government for the special region, but this is probably for the best. They're also exempted from paying taxes to the government, have the right to veto the extradition of criminals, and so on. They also have the power to interfere in the governance of Lake Vivian」

「Does that lake belong to the High Elf too?」

「No, she doesn't have full authority, but she does have the power to interfere in development and other matters. She has also said that there is a spirit living in this lake and that if the spirit is angered, the country might be destroyed by it. I was told that she's responsible for monitoring the spirits to make sure they don't get angry」

「A spirit that could destroy a country?」

I've heard of that kind of story somewhere. It was Klimut's Great Spirit of Wind. Could it be that the Great Spirit of Water was here? If so, it would be dangerous to anger it.

「But the guys from the commercial fleet were complaining about that too. Because every time they add a ship or decide on a new route, they have to report it to the government or the self-governing region, which is troublesome」

In fact, no one knew whether such spirits lived in this lake or not. It's just that the High Elf, Weena Rhyn, said so, so it must be something like that.

「They can't afford to offend the High Elf though, so they're not going to against it」

Chapter 523: Collecting in the Lake

『Maybe. Can you find it, Urushi?』

「Woof?」

『Can't find any signs of herbs either, huh?』

「Woof...」

We had just received a request from the master of Kiarazen to collect medicinal herbs.

The Adventurer's Guilds in this area had a unique and interesting system. This system allows requests made by other guilds to be accepted by guilds in different locations. Conversely, you could report requests to other guilds, but it's limited only to gathering requests such as harvesting.

This was also thanks to the commercial fleet. By using ships to transport items, they could deliver materials to different guilds. It seems that the small fleet called squadrons were mainly responsible for this.

The herbs we were looking for were said to grow at the bottom of the lake, but it was difficult to collect them due to the presence of magic beasts around.

If we collect it and deliver it to the town ahead, it would also be delivered to Kiarazen. That's why this system was so convenient.

『Well, we'll find out when we dive in. I'll set up a wind barrier. Fran and Urushi, get ready for any magic beast』

「Okay」

「Woof!」

『Then, let's go』

We then dove into the lake. There we found an amazingly beautiful sight. First of all, it was so clear that I couldn't believe it was a huge lake. Could it be because it was a lake in another world that hadn't been polluted by civilization?

The bottom of the lake was covered with green water plants, and the slight current of the water made them sway and flutter. Moreover, colorful flowers were blooming there.

I had seen the water-crowfoot before I died. It was a plant that grew small white flowers in the water. But this one was incomparably larger and looked no different from the plants on the land.

We also saw various fish that swam around on the green carpet, and underwater creatures such as shrimps and turtles glanced out from among the flowers. The unfamiliar creatures must be those from this world.

The sunlight coming in was diffused by the surface of the water, wavering more gently and softly than on the ground. The shimmering and changing light added to the fantastic atmosphere of this place.

We almost forgot that we were in a dangerous place inhabited by magic beasts for a moment to look at the scene.

『It's amazing』

(Nn)

(Woof!)

It was so amazing that it even impressed Fran and Urushi.

However, the excitement did not last long.

「Kyaaaa!」

『Tsk, we have a guest, huh?』

High transparency also means that we could be seen clearly by those who were targeting us.

(Huge lizard?)

『That's what we call a crocodile!』

I proudly said so, but it seemed like it wasn't a crocodile.

Its face was similar to that of a crocodile, and it had the same hard scales all over its body. However, the shape of its body would be more like a seal or a sea lion.

It had two pairs of fin-like limbs on each side of its body that was probably used for swimming. In total, it had eight fins. If you were a dinosaur lover, you may also say that it was just like Mosasaurus with eight fins, huh?

It's about three meters long, so it was probably about the same size as a crocodile.

(So that's the Lake Murder?)

『It seems so』

It seems that this magic beast with a scary name would be the powerful enemy that would prevent us from collecting medicinal herbs. Its threat level was E. But underwater monsters tend to be difficult to fight, so the threat level tends to be set higher. I appraised it, and based on its status alone, I'd say it had a threat level of F. Its Swimming skill was outstandingly high, but that was not unusual for an underwater magic beast.

To be honest, even a low-ranked adventurer could fight it if they knew how to handle it.

But only if they were alone. These Lake Murders always act in groups of 10 or more and hunt in coordination. They were also difficult to exterminate because they quickly run away when they feel endangered. In fact, there were probably more than thirty lake murders coming at us right now.

Not only that, but it was also the most hated magic beast in the lake because of its weak but long-range water magic attack. It was also said that it caused the most damage by far.

Just like goblins and orcs, subjugation requests for them were posted permanently.

『Let's take care of that one first』

(Nn. I don't want to hurt the herbs or the other flowers)

『Then, let's go with a less flashy technique, shall we?』

(Let's do that)

(Woof!)

Wh-what a surprise to hear Fran say that she didn't want to hurt the flowers...! I'm so touched! It was worth coming to this place just to hear those words!

(Nn!)

(Woof!)

Fran shot a flash of light magic. It was a technique used to blind people or signal them to go farther, but this time she used it to create a blinding light.

Then, Urushi's dark magic exploded. He used shadow-mediated binding magic. It was a type of magic called shadow stitching or shadow binding.

What Urushi just used was a technique that created darkness from shadows and wrapped it around the opponent to seal their movements.

I was surprised when Fran said that she wanted to raise her light magic, but it worked surprisingly well with Urushi's dark magic. In particular, the ability to create shadows at any location would be a considerable advantage. My Fran must be a genius because she could come up with something like that in her own way.

『Yosh, I'll take care of the rest!』

A group of Lake Murder was struggling to rise to the surface with their limbs restrained by Urushi's magic. Then I split my blade into multiple pieces with Shape Transformation and moved each piece separately to pierce all of their magic stones

Once I stored their corpses, the subjugation was complete. I heard that its flesh was smelly and inedible, but the skin was in demand as armor, and the stuffed heads were popular with enthusiasts. Besides, we could also fulfill the permanent request.

The subjugation was an E-rank request, but it was also an achievement for getting rid of a magic beast that was hated in this area. So, there's no harm in defeating it.

『Let's collect the herbs. It is said to be a red and thorny plant』

(...Is that the one?)

『Ooh, it's definitely red and thorny... I'm that's the one we're looking for. Let's get the whole rood』

(There's more in there)

『All right, let's split and gather them for now. They said that they want as many as we can get』

(Okay)

『Urushi, secure the perimeter』

(Woof!)

Chapter 524: Scarlet Waterweed Delivery

『Uwaah, we're so lucky!』

「Nn」

『I never thought we'd run into the commercial fleet just after entering Sheftent』

It was the day after we collected the spirit grass from the bottom of the lake.

What we witnessed from the back of Urushi, who was running nimbly along the shore of the lake, was the sight of several very large ships docked at the shore of the lake. Not all the ships could enter the harbor at the same time, so they use the harbor in turn over a period of days.

As Kiarazen's idiot-san (We didn't get her name) said, there must be more than 50 ships in total, big and small. I wonder how they could be so densely packed together and not collide with each other?

Urushi then used his Aerial Jump skill to run up into the sky at once.

『Ooh, it looks so messy from above』

「Nn」

Before I could say it was spectacular, I was overwhelmed by the sheer number of ships. However, the size of the largest ship could be seen from above. The flagship, which seemed to be the largest of the large ships, was as big as a fort.

It was probably over 150 meters long. It was also probably about thirty meters wide. The strong reaction of magic power made me think that it was carrying a magic propulsion system. No, I could feel the magic power from the hull as well. Maybe it was being strengthened by magic? Or maybe they were using special materials from magic beasts.

It was not as big as a luxury cruise ship, but it was a lot bigger than the ferries I've seen before.

「Let's see it from the town」

「Woof」

『While we're taking care of the deliveries in the Adventurer's Guild in Sheftent, let's ask them more about the commercial fleet』

「Nn」

When we entered the town of Sheftent, we found it was so crowded with people. Although it was a larger town than Kiarazen, though it was not many times larger, there was a difference between the two towns.

It must be because the commercial fleet was here. The crowd was as large as the Royal Capital in the Kranzel Kingdom. It was almost as if they're holding a festival.

「Mogu mogu」

「Momu momu」

『Just straight ahead』

I guided Fran, who couldn't see at all due to the crowd. Fortunately, the Adventurer's Guild was a tall building, so we could follow its roof and not get lost.

We managed to reach the Adventurer's Guild, despite the crowds of people, the delicious smells of the stalls, and the unusual stalls and their vendors. But its inside was just as crowded as the outside.

「Lots of people」

『I guess there's also the adventurers that were aboard the commercial fleet too』

The adventurers of the commercial fleet would have told adventurers that they would disembark their ships at ports of call to fulfill their requests. The story about a large number of young adventurers was also consistent with what we had heard in Kiarazen.

『That's a long line...』

For this number of people, there were not enough counters at all. But I guess it couldn't be helped. It only gets this crowded a few times a year.

They've added a temporary counter, but it was still not enough.

『We don't have any choice, let's just line up』

「Nn」

I was glad to have Urushi hide in the shadows. He would have been in the way even at any size.

However, as she stood in line, all eyes around her were focused on Fran. If she wasn't careful, they might all be looking at her. She was used to being the center of attention wherever she goes, but to have everyone staring at her from the moment we walked in was rare indeed.

(...Why?)

『Aah, come to think of it, all these guys here must have known each other except us』

It couldn't be helped if Fran, whom they didn't recognize, stood out. But it was not like she was doing anything wrong. She just has to keep her head up.

Besides, it must have been half a year since they came to this guild, and some of the newcomers must have become adventurers in that time. In the end, Fran's turn came without her being approached by anyone.

It seemed that the adventurers in the commercial fleet were better behaved than I thought. Well, they were from a ship with the same group of people working on requests, so the stupid ones would be naturally weeded out or re-educated.

「Umm, Are you new to this guild?」

「Nn. How did you know?」

「If you're an adventurer in a commercial fleet, you'll have an emblem so that we can identify you with」

Now that she mentioned it, I could see that the people around us were wearing matching silver badges. I guess that was their emblem. And the guild's receptionist could tell that Fran was not an adventurer from here.

「Nn. I just came」

「I see. Then what can I do for you?」

「Report on completion of requests. I have fulfilled the subjugation request. This is the delivery」

Fran submits the request form she had received in Kiarazen to the receptionist. Then the onee-san received it with a surprised look on her face.

「Well, is this a request for delivery of Scarlet Waterweed? We've had a shortage recently, so even a small amount would be appreciated. May I ask you to put it out here?」

「All of them?」

『Ah, Fran, wai—』

「Okay」

Baaam!

Aaah, it's been a long time since she has done that. Maybe, she guessed that Fran was a newbie. She probably didn't think she had an item bag and thought that she only brought one or two of them.

I heard in Kiarazen that some low-ranking adventurers were lucky enough to collect Scarlet Waterweed growing in the shallows and bring it with them. She seemed to think that Fran was that kind of person.

「Eh, Eeeeh?」

「This is all of them」

「Ho-how many are this!?!」

「Maybe about 200 of them?」

I've thought—did I pick too much? But there was more than I expected, and they also said that they wanted as much as we could get. So, we picked up all the Scarlet Waterweed that was growing in that area.

But it seemed that since that place was full of Lake Murder and the water was quite deep, it was very difficult to collect them and no one had been able to do anything about it.

「Wa-wait a minute!」

The onee-san at the reception desk was in a panic. Also, the stares of the adventurers around us were amazing. A surprised, jealous and suspicious atmosphere drifted through the guild.

What should we do?

As the Onee-san at the reception desk fumbled around with a troubled look on her face, an older adventurer standing in line behind us approached her.

「Lulu-chan. Why don't you just count them and process them for now? There's no other Scarlet Waterweed that looks the same as it, so it can't be a fake」

「Buying these medicinal herbs that are in short supply is top priority right? We'll wait until it's processed, okay?」

This Dandy adventurer seemed to have a lot of say in here, and the other adventurers who had approached nodded in agreement.

「Y-yes, of course!」

「Huft」

I think we're gonna make it. Thank you, Dandy-san!

Chapter 525: Making the Same Mistake Again

I was so relieved that Dandy-san called out for her. But his face looks very serious.

「You're not one of the adventurers from around here, are you?」

「Nn. Just stopped by during my trip」

「I see... I know it's rude to ask, but where did you get that huge amount of Scarlet Waterweed? I'll pay you for the information if you're willing to tell me」

「Yeah, the shortage of Scarlet Waterweed has been a constant problem for the people in this area. If a new harvesting point has been found, that would be a piece of pretty good news 」

I see. He thought she found a less difficult harvesting point where Fran, who looked like she was just starting, could collect a large amount.

「I don't mind」

「Re-really?」

「Nn. I'm not going to stay in here for long after all」

「I'm grateful!」

The man bowed his head and immediately took out a map. It was a reasonably detailed map of the area, with the lake at the center.

But unfortunately, it was already a well-known place.

「Do you know where it is on this map?」

「Nn. In here」

Fran pointed to the slightly west side of the islet, halfway between Kiarazen and Sheftent. From Kiarazen, it was 100 meters west of the star-shaped island.

The Guild Master of Kiarazen knew that Fran would be able to harvest at this location, so he asked us to collect at a more difficult location.

「Eh? But I thought there was a Lake Murder nest in there...?」

「I've beat them」

「Huh? You? Beat them?」

「Nn」

When Fran nodded, the adventurers made a noise once again. This time, the atmosphere was even stronger in denial than before.

「Hey, if you don't want to tell me, just tell me that. I'll know right away if you tell a lie to me, you know?」

「Nn? I'm not lying」

「Th-then, you must have the materials from the Lake Murder, don't you? You've beat them after all, so you must have some, right?」

Dandy-san looks angry. I couldn't blame him though; he must have thought that she was trying to give him false information after all. Even so, he didn't yell at her. That must be the sign of his age, huh? He seems to have a lot of experience as an adventurer.

「Why don't you bring it out for now?」

「In here?」

When Fran looked around, all the adventurers were looking at us with stern faces. Aah, she was totally being recognized as a liar.

I'm so pissed. You could go ahead and do whatever you want. I'm not gonna stop you.

Then there was even more commotion than before. It was because she brought out the Lake Murders, which we had defeated without getting any wounds. I also had removed its flesh and internal organs and processed its skin last night. The head was still attached, and it looked very impressive.

That was thirty of them. The adventurers around us were being pushed and falling by the collapsed pile of leather. And it smells pretty fishy. But it was fine since he was the one who told us to take them out!

「You believe me now?」

「I-it can't be real...」

「I'm not lying」

「Uwaah...」

「You must have bought it from somewhere else right!?」

I wonder what we should do now. Maybe, I should have stopped her before, huh...? The onee-san at the reception desk didn't seem to know what to do either. It was already out of control.

Then a small, old woman appeared from the back of the guild as if she had heard the commotion.

I could guess who she was by just looking at her. She must be the Guild Master. The lack of stagnation in the magic power flowing through her body told me that she was a first-rate magician.

「What the hell is happening here? Oi, Lulu, what happened?」

「Aah, Master. Uumm, it's because of this girl...」

「Oioi... What is someone with an alias doing in here?」

The old woman looked at her lightly. It seemed that she had figured out Fran's true identity with just one glance.

「In the middle of a trip」

「I appreciate it, but I wish you'd think about it a little more before doing something like this」

I'm sorry. We got a little heated. After hearing from the girl at the reception desk and Dandy-san, she sighed even more.

「Is this guild only full of blockheads and idiots...? What a shame」

「So-sorry...」

「Well, it's fine then. Swift, you're gonna help me take care of it right? It's your fault because you were too stupid to see what she's capable of」

「Y-yes」

「And you, come with me. Black Lightning Princess」

「Nn」

The moment the guild master called Fran the Black Lightning Princess, there was a commotion of a completely different level than before. If I had to sum it up in one word, it would be astonishment. It seemed that Fran's alias was even known in the Belios Kingdom.

The moment Fran and the Guild Master entered the back room, the commotion they had been holding back exploded all at once. Even without listening, I could tell that they were gossiping about Fran.

While many people were saying that a child like that couldn't be strong, the calm adventurers seemed to be saying that there was no way that the Guild Master could be wrong. Still, some of the younger adventurers were laughing at us when she told them that she was stronger than them.

「I'm sorry for those annoying guys」

「It's fine」

「I'm the Guild Master. The adventurers here call me Grandma Jill」

「I'm Fran, B-ranked adventurer」

She showed her guild card to her, but Grandma Jill just lightly glanced at it.

「I know. You're the only Black Cat kin who can do something like that. You look just like the stories I've heard. So, you're in the middle of a trip?」

「I'm going to the Achajhe... Academy of Magic」

Fran biting her tongue at the academy part was cute. It would be even cuter if she was a little embarrassed by it. But it seemed like it was nothing to be embarrassed about and she just rephrased it as normal.

The Guild Master also decided to not mind it.

「Academy of Magic? Are you going to enroll there?」

「No. I have just received a request」

「I see. Well, it's not just a place that teaches combat skills, and I think someone your age should be able to enroll there」

「I can get stronger by being an adventurer too」

「Well, I won't force you. I'll also be sure to send the Scarlet Waterweed you mentioned to Kiarazen. There's a shortage of that stuff around here too. Can I share it with the other guilds? I'll make sure the request is treated as fulfilled in here too」

「Nn. You can split it up where ever you need it」

「Thank you, that helps」

It must have been very scarce. Grandma Jill looked relieved.

「Can I have you sell me some Lake Murder skins too?」

「Okay」

「That's such beautiful skin after all」

「Thank you」

「Now that we've got that out of the way, can we talk about something serious?」

As expected, there was a reason why she was called into the room, huh?

「Since you're a B-ranked adventurer, I have a request to make of you. Will you accept it?」

Chapter 526: Community-Based

The day after being asked to accept a request from the Guild Master of Sheftent.

Fran was on a small boat. Next to her was the Guild Master, Grandma Jill.

We were aiming for a medium-sized ship called an adventurer's ship that was docked about 100 meters away from the port.

At first, she tried to bring Urushi with us, but Grandma Jill stopped her. She said he would only cause panic in there. As there was no way for everyone in there to know about him, there would certainly be a risk that they would mistake it for an attack by a magic beast.

If a panic broke out in this kind of place where ships were so densely packed, there was a possibility that the damage would be tremendous. Like a ship that would try to escape only to hit another ship and they might sink each other.

「There's an Adventurer's Guild there?」

「Yes, that's right. They didn't use a large ship so that it can turn around in an emergency」

「Is the ship just used as a Guild Branch?」

「Well. There are also the Adventurer's Quarters, training grounds, a dismantling site, and a weapons shop. Just think of it as a ship with everything an adventurer needs」

「So it's also the training grounds where they do the tests?」

「Yes, you're right」

The request from Grandma Jill to Fran was for her to be an examiner for an Adventurer's Promotion test. She wouldn't be the one to determine who passed or failed, but to be a witness.

Normally, they would have called in people from remote towns in the country for the test to measure their combat power. However, due to the war commotion and incidents that have occurred in the country, it has been postponed for half a year.

The reason why they need to go to the trouble of inviting outsiders was to make them feel less naive and to give them a sense of the vastness of the outside world.

Unlike the other regions, many adventurers in this region were born and raised around Lake Vivian and became adventurers as they were.

In a normal region, they would travel to improve their skills or to find a dungeon with a difficulty level that suited them. Even if it wasn't as exaggerated as a trip, if they were interested in a dungeon or magical areas, it was normal for them to move their base when they were young.

However, the number of settled adventurers has surprisingly increased as a result of the community-wide efforts to train adventurers, especially in the commercial fleet. Or should I call it a community-based Adventurer's Guild? Since they were from this area, they were well-behaved and knew the rules around here. All in all, it was a good thing.

At the same time, however, there was a downside in that, it caused people to get used to each other. A particular problem, she said, was the lack of a sense of urgency and competition among lower-ranked adventurers.

Many of the adventurers were familiar with each other, and many of the higher-ranked adventurers were like heroes they had admired when they were young. Because of this, even when they were beaten in the exams, many of them would think "Well, it couldn't be helped if I lost to you" and didn't feel frustrated at all.

「I don't want them to be looked down on by the people from other regions. So that's why we call in strangers as an examiner whenever possible」

「Nn. Understood」

「Oh, you sure?」

「Me too, I hate it when the Black Cat kin gets looked down upon」

「Yeah, it may be a feeling close to that. So, go ahead and beat those brats」

「Okay」

「Hihihi. The guy who wants to pass this is out of luck」

It seems this grandma Jill's personality was quite bad. But I agree. Those adventurers who lose to Fran would be quite shocked. She was a girl, an outsider, a Black Cat, and doesn't look very strong after all.

Mmm, I'd cry if I were them. If they're going to hold a grudge, please hold that grudge against Grandma Jill for knowingly asking Fran to do this. Should I ask Fran to go easy on them? Haha, it was impossible, of course.

「Besides, I want the others to see what you're capable of」

「As a reminder and a goal」

「Well, just show them what you're capable of」

「Okay」

「Woof!」

「I see, what great magic power. I'm looking forward to this. Urushi too, please take care of them」

As expected, her personality was bad.

Five minutes later.

From a small boat that had come alongside, Fran teleported to the adventurer's ship.

『It looks like a normal ship to me though』

「Nn」

「Woof」

Other than the Adventurer's Guild flag on the mast, it didn't look much different from the mid-sized ships that were docked nearby. But once inside, it looked so different.

The reception lobby of the Adventurer's Guild existed directly inside the ship after all. Many adventurers were hanging out here and the atmosphere was very lively.

A good number of adventurers must have landed at the Sheftent, but there were still so many aboard.

All the adventurers' gazes turned to us as Jill led us in. The adventurers, all of whom were skilled in their own right, were observing Fran as if they were evaluating her.

Many of them have suspicious looks on their faces. They seem to be looking at Jill, and then at Fran.

I guess they already know that Grandma Jill was bringing the examiner. But they didn't know that it was this girl. Since it was Grandma Jill, I'm sure she did it on purpose.

The adventurers who were evaluating Fran were those who sensed that she was not a small fry. The ones who were puzzled were probably the ones who see Fran just like a normal girl.

「You've finally come huh, old hag?」

「Thanks for picking me up, old man」

Just like Grandma Jill, a small, wrinkled old man greeted us in front of the reception desk. This old man must be the Guild Master of this place.

「I am Galfiran. I'm the Guild Master here. You can call me Grandpa Gull」

「Okay」

「Hmm. Then come with me so I can explain things to you, you're welcomed here」

「Thanks」

Grandpa Gull must have understood that she was an examiner because he accepted Fran as normal. The high-ranked adventurers nodded their heads in understanding, while the lower-ranked adventurers shouted in surprise.

Then a young man with an unconvinced face stood in front of Fran and the others.

「Grandpa Gull, is she's today's—」

「You fool!」

「Hiii」

「What kind of attitude is that towards an adventurer who took the trouble to respond to our request! Don't you even know how to be polite!」

His friends then tried to help the young man who was shouted down by Grandpa Gull.

「I'll introduce her later. Shut your mouth if you can't even judge her abilities!」

「B-but...」

「In the first place, don't you understand that the fact that I greeted her politely means that she is an important person? It looks like those dumbasses who can't even realize that need to be retrained...! Be prepared for that later!」

Was this another one of the bad sides of being familiar with each other that Grandma Jill was talking about? He had interrupted the conversation between the Guild Master and a guest and then treated him with a lax attitude. If this had been Eliante, whom we had met in the Royal Capital of Kranzel, He would have been cut down on the spot.

Chapter 527: Promotion Exam's Content

「So I just have to fight a few times?」

「That's right. First, I want you to take it easy on them and see what they can do. After that, beat them to a pulp with overwhelming power and break their fighting spirit」

「Hihihi, that's gonna be good medicine for the weak hearted」

Grandpa Gull said some pretty extreme things while swinging his arm as an example. And Grandma Jill seems to be liking his idea too.

「Is that really fine?」

Fran tilted her lightly when she heard what these two said. But it seems, this Grandpa Grandma duo was pretty motivated.

「You've just seen those guys from earlier, right? I mean, they've been slacking off a little」

「Isn't it because of you spoiling them too much, right?」

「Well, I won't deny it. After all, we don't get many dangerous requests around here」

「No matter how much you say, words can never fully convey the message, you know」

「Yeah」

He wanted us to beat up the slacking adventurers and get them back into shape. I'm sure there were other ways to do so if he just wanted us to show the difference between our power... But this was the most reliable way to deal with those adventurers.

「However, there are a few things for you to keep in mind. First of all, can you hold back a little」

「As long as I don't kill them, right?」

「No, no, no. It would be a problem if they suffer an injury that has no hope of recovering! You're kidding, right?」

「Nn?」

「Oi, Old hag...」

Sweat was trickling down from Grandpa Gull's temples. He finally understood that Fran was more dangerous than she looked.

「I've already asked her to do this though」

「Yo-you're right. But please, those adventurers still have a future. I'd like you to refrain from giving them any injuries that might affect their life as much as possible」

「Okay, I'll be as careful as I can」

「You promise!? Please be as careful as you can!」

「Nn. Please leave it to me」

「...Seriously, can I really leave it to you!?」

You don't have to worry. I'll stop Fran if she makes a mistake. Well, as much as I can though.

「And also, please refrain from using any flashy magic」

「Why? Isn't the place was protected by a barrier?」

「Well, it's simply because we're onboard a ship. If you use Fire or Thunder magic in here, the damage to the ship will be tremendous」

It was a simple reason. This was probably because he knew the meaning of Fran's alias, so he advised her to hold back.

「I've covered the place with barriers and stuff, but it might not be able to hold up if you unleash your magic with all your might」

「We'll get you to pay for the repairs if you overdo it, so be careful」

『Fran, you shouldn't do any damage to this ship!』

(Okay)

This ship was a magic ship no matter how I thought about it. I wonder how great the bill would be if she caused any damage to the engine section... It seems I'll have to make sure she doesn't overdo it!

「And also, you have a follower, right? Can you call him now?」

「Urushi」

「Woof!」

「Ooh, I didn't see that coming! A Dark magic user huh!? And look at that...」

「A Darkness Wolf? No, he looks different, huh? But I can tell that he's strong」

If their opponent was a humanoid, they would be able to sense a certain level of strength based on their years of experience. The lack of stagnation in magic power flowing through his body, his behavior, and his gaze were all factors that could be used to judge him. This was why some people could tell that Fran was strong even when she was suppressing her magic power. Well, to put it simply, it was an adventurer's intuition.

However, I guess these two don't know much about any wolf-shaped magic beasts. They're not sure how to measure Urushi's power, who had evolved and became better at concealing his magic power.

「Urushi is very strong」

「Hou? Is he strong enough for Fran to say so? That's good then, why don't we get Urushi to fight too?」

「Woof woof!」

「Urushi said he'll do it」

「Thanks a lot. After all, there aren't many strong beast-shaped magic beasts around here. So, I'd like to show them how scary a magic beast can be. The lack of adventurer's awareness can be fatal in times of crisis after all」

「Awareness?」

「Yeah, The adventurers around here are only good at dealing with problems around Lake Vivian. To make matters worse, they're too familiar with this place」

It seems that they only hone the necessary skills to do jobs in this area, so they couldn't do much when they go to dungeons in other areas. I've heard that a man who was a C ranker in the guild here once died easily in an E-ranked dungeon.

That was also why the adventurers around here don't want to go out. This was not a bad thing for the region, so it had not been seen as a problem.

However, if such a thing continues for a long time, adventurers who work around Lake Vivian in the Kingdom of Belios would be looked down upon. They're useful on the lake, but elsewhere they're considered a rank below. That was what the rumors say about them.

「It's so frustrating... I've tried to do something about it, but things are not going well」

「That's why we would be grateful if Urushi is willing to help」

Grandma Jill was stroking Urushi while saying so.

「Isn't he a beautiful beast... His rank must be pretty impressive, right?」

「I wonder?」

「...Well, it'll be fine as long as you don't destroy the ship」

「Woof!」

「No problem」

「Well then, you'd better get to the exam site」

The promotion exam site was reasonably large. It was about the size of a gymnasium. The ceiling was low though, but it was enough for us to move around.

「Ah right, more guys met the rank-up requirements last night. Is that a problem for you?」

「No problem」

「All right. Well then, let me introduce you guys to your examiner today. She's Fran, an adventurer」

「Nn. Nice to meet you」

「You guys! No matter how high up in the ranks your opponent is, don't show a pathetic appearance against a kid!」

Grandma Jill's personality, as always, was quite bad. She didn't explain Fran's identity in detail. And Grandpa Gull seems to be in on her plan too. In fact, he was fueling the adventurers.

「You can count on us! We'll definitely rank up!」

「It's going to be easy this time, isn't it?」

「Hehehe, they're so adorable」

Well, I'm sorry guys.

Chapter 528: Adventurers of the Lake

「Hey, who are those guys?」

「That must be the onlookers. The old man must have called them here」

「They've been slacking lately too. I thought I'd give them a shot to wake up. Let's show them how strong you are」

「Or do you not want to show your skills publicly? If that's the case, I'll kick them out immediately」

「No need, it's fine」

Well, it was not going to be a fight where we have to show up the cards in our hands after all. Fran was rather pleased with this. It was because this was a nice chance to improve the status of the Black Cat kin.

I was worried that she might get a little too motivated though.

「Ooh, that's good then. I'm sorry for not telling you before」

「Good grief, this old man is so brazen」

「I don't want to be told that by this brazen old hag!」

As they were talking about this and she was doing some light stretching, a man approached her from among the onlookers.

He was clearly an adventurer with power a level higher than the rest of them. At the very least, he was a C-ranker. Depending on his skills and abilities handling, he could have been a B-ranker.

『He's quite strong』

(Nn. Appraisal)

『Aah, what are you doing?』

(It's natural to appraise stranger who approaches us)

『Is that so?』

(Nn. If he found out, then we can either defeat him or run away, that's all)

She was so simple! Apparently, I was an idiot for worrying about it.

When I used the appraisal skill a sense of weight lifted off my shoulders, I found that he was still quite strong. His status was at the top of rank C, wasn't it? He was much weaker than Colbert, but he had a good balance of water magic, underwater action skills, and trap detection. He was an all-rounder with a high rating in areas other than his combat prowess.

「Hey, sorry to barge in on you. I'm a B ranked adventurer and my name is Lovren」

「Nn. And I'm a——」

「You just need to give your name」

「?? Okay, I'm Fran」

「Yeah, I'm sure I'll learn a lot today. Nice to meet you」

「Nn」

Fran shook the hand that was offered to her. He was a fresh, handsome guy with dark hair, but he doesn't seem like a bad guy. And he was a B-ranker, huh?

「Anyway, Guild master, what's the point in hiding her true identity? After all, I'm not the only one who's noticed it」

「Well, those who don't realize it are negligent. And it means they have bad ears for information and poor eyes for judging others!」

「Why are you laughing!? Well, enough about the low rankers. But the problem is that there are a lot of C's and D's who underestimate Fran! They've been in lukewarm water for too long, and their senses have been dulled」

「Well, we haven't had any major incidents in the last 20 years after all~」

「Don't be so cocky! It was because you're such an ace, that's why the adventurers of Lake Vivian look like fools! The people of the Royal Capital haven even called us water striders!」

「What a strange thing to say」

「Guh...」

「Well well, it's no use worrying about it. You're just segregating yourself」

Lovren doesn't seem to care. Apparently, he was a pretty easy-going guy. Grandpa Gull, on the other hand, was the impatient type. So, I don't think they'll get along.

Well, it seems like Grandpa Gull was a little hot-blooded huh?

Well, that was fine. I'm more concerned about something else.

『Fran, you recognize that kid?』

(No)

『Of course, huh』

There was a boy who kept staring at Fran and Urushi since we showed up. Although the other group's members were also looking at us with suspicion and contempt, this boy was the only one who was letting out his killing intent at us.

I wondered if we had beaten him up somewhere, but Fran didn't seem to remember him either.

『He's looking at us as if he was looking at his parent's killers』

(... I don't know)

『Well, it's no use thinking about him, we'll just need to be a little more cautious』

(Nn)

I wonder if it was because his relatives were killed by the Black Cat kin or something like that? Or maybe he was the child of an enemy that Fran had defeated?

「Two people from the E-rank, come!」

「Ou!」

「Understood!」

A man in his early thirties and a woman in her mid-twenties stepped forward at Grandpa Gull's words.

Both were warriors that used the spear. Apparently, there were a lot of spear users in this guild. Of the nine people here, seven were spearmen, and the other two were a mage and an archer, so all the warriors were equipped with spears.

「Let me show you these spear handling skills that I got from Daghour-senpai!」

The tip of the spear that the man held up looked like a harpoon. No, it was not that it looked like a harpoon, but wasn't it a real harpoon?

I wondered about it, only to realize that using a spear on a lake would be easier. Furthermore, if the junior adventurers were taught by their seniors, it would lead to an increase in the number of spear users.

Upon appraisal, I found that he possessed skills such as harpoon skills and spear throwing, in addition to spear skills. In addition to swimming, diving, and other underwater skills, he also had water walking skills.

Certainly, it was true that the adventurers in this area were specialized to work around Lake Vivian. I also took a look at the other examinees, but they all had similar skill sets. I can see why the Guild Masters would feel frustrated by this.

「I can't believe they brought a kid this time. I guess they were more concerned with the fact that the examiner must be an outsider than their ability... Don't resent me if you get hurt, okay?」

「Hey, why don't you say something? Or are you just too scared to——」

「No need to talk, come」

Fran interrupted the man's words and provoked him with a gesture of her finger to call him over. I guess the man's story was boring for her.

The reason why she didn't go first was that she'd been told to let them strike first and show what they were capable of. Yeah, yeah, it was great that she remembered what she was asked to do!

「This brat... Don't underestimate me!」

This guy seems to have zero tolerance for agitation.

Chapter 529: The Examiner is Tough

「Haa!」

「Hmmh」

「Kuh! Sh*t! Zeeii!」

The man, provoked by Fran, thrusts his spear out in rapid succession. However, Fran could dodge all of his attacks by a hair's breadth.

After about a minute, Fran started to put a light counterattack. She controls her attack where her opponent could still dodge it.

He could react to the attacks that came above and below, but he was not that good at responding to the strikes from the left and right. When the attack was about to hit, Fran pulled back and stopped.

The man was pissed off and kept attacking, even though it was obvious that she was holding back. This was not good. He needs to learn how to suppress his emotions. After all, it seems that he hadn't realized how many times he had died if this was a real battle. But when Fran pointed this out to him, he became even more pissed off.

In the end, she fought him for about five minutes, until Fran landed a flying kick on the exhausted man's head, and the match was over. It was okay, I immediately cast heal to the man who was blown away. He was unconscious, but he was unharmed.

「Y-yes!」

The girl started cautiously, probably because she had seen the man get beaten up so badly. With her spear poised at her hip, she moved in a circular motion around Fran, stepping like an out-boxer.

(Note: One of the primary boxing styles, check on Wikipedia for details)

She seemed to be looking for an opening. Immediately after that, the woman thrusts her spear into the air without missing the opening that Fran showed. It was a good thrust, intended to inflict a fatal wound from the start.

However, Fran easily dodged the thrust that should've hit her from behind. Well, it was an opening that Fran made on purpose after all.

After that, the woman continued to attack. And as if she was being led by Fran, all of her attacks were dodged. Gradually, she seemed to realize that she was being led by her, and she stopped taking the lure.

A look of impatience clung to her face. It seems she didn't have any more ideas to attack.

「If that's the case, then——」

Oh, water magic, huh? If she couldn't use her spear, using magic was not a bad idea. However, her skill level was still too low. The bullet that was released was easily shattered by Fran's back fist.

「The magic power was half-heartedly formulated. This will be useless in a real battle」

「Wha...」

「Well then, it's my turn now. Here I come」

「Kuh!」

She changed to offense now. Just like against the man before, she launched a few attacks to see how she would react to defend against them.

Five minutes later. Just like the man from earlier, her consciousness was reaped when exhaustion slowed her movements.

There was no voice from the surrounding adventurers. They probably didn't expect Fran to be that strong and the fight to be so one-sided. The F-ranked adventurers, who would have had to fight Fran next were in tears.

However, Grandpa Gull and Grandma Jill were laughing with a look of heartfelt joy on their faces.

「Uwaah! Fran, that was amazing! You've exceeded my expectation!」

「You're right. This will be easy for us to evaluate. Keep it up like this for the next one too!」

「Nn. Understood」

After that, Fran took less than three minutes to beat the fledglings.

「Ghaa!」

「Arrgh!」

「But she's cute!」

Well, they don't have as much strength as the two from before, and they also had fewer tricks to watch, so it couldn't be helped.

——At the end of the first round.

「What kind of move is that...!?」

「This... This is not fair...」

「Haah, haah, more...!」

The adventurers who had regained consciousness were looking at Fran with a desperate look. Losing doesn't mean they've been disqualified, but they've been beaten without being able to put up much of a fight at all. So, they must be quite shocked.

Some of the F-ranked adventurers began to cry for real. Aah, there was also a guy who received a kick from a bad angle and broke his neck, so I instantly cast Greater Heal on him. He had a serious life-threatening experience and it seems that his heart was broken.

The rest of the participants seemed to be in a similar state. Well, there was one guy who seems to have woken up...

This one person among them was the only one who never lost his fighting spirit. It was that boy, who had been sending killing intent to Fran from the beginning.

I think he lasted the longest out of all the F-rankers. It was still only for about five minutes though. I couldn't believe he just barely met the rank-up requirements yesterday.

He wasn't bad from a technical standpoint. In terms of ability, there was even a possibility of him reaching D-rank. At his young age, that was quite a talent.

Well, he didn't say a word to her, so I still don't know why he was staring like that at Fran.

「All right, next, everybody, step forward」

「Eh? There's still more?」

「Of course! It's not over yet! If you're done with only that battle, you'll fail the exam! Show some spirit! And stop talking or we'll start it all over again!」

Maybe Grandpa Gull's threats managed to make them regain their motivation, or maybe they realized that there was no escaping this. The adventurers then lined up in front of Fran.

「The next one is all of you vs Fran. We've got the old hag and potions with us. You should go all out to the extent that you do not destroy the ship」

Those words were probably meant for the adventurers. Those who were relieved to have the numbers and those who were worried that Fran would not be able to get away with anything if these many people were to come at her started to get serious.

However, it was Fran who reacted to that first.

「Are you sure you want to do this?」

「...As long as you don't hurt them too badly」

「Nn」

The second battle between Fran and the blue-faced adventurers who heard the conversation between Fran and Grandpa Gull began. And then it was over.

Yes, in about 10 seconds.

The two E-ranked adventurers, who were the leaders, were blown up and out by Fran's first blow when she rushed at them with super high speed. After that, the adventurers fell out at the rate of one hit and two faints per second, and the match was easily settled. That was what will happen when you're stuck without a plan.

The adventurers whose consciousnesses had been reaped were lying around Fran, who stood leisurely.

「It's over」

「Aah—... You're right. You're amazing」

「Fufun」

「However...」

「Nn?」

「Maybe, these guys don't even know what you have done to them」

Of course, huh? They had already fallen before they had realized it after all.

「I don't think you understand your differences in power with them」

「Yeah, I've beaten them into pulp」

「Aah, It's a metaphor, you know? What I meant by beating them into pulp was to break their pride! It's not like you have to break their bones or anything, you know!?!」

Grandpa Gull was telling Fran with a worried look on his face, while Grandma Jill was kicking the adventurers in the head to wake them up.

「Come on, get up! There's still the next one!」

It looks like their suffering will continue for a little while longer.

That was too quick for them to realize what had happened, so this time they were a little more cautious and able to fight for a longer time.

The adventurers now spread out from the beginning while preparing their weapons.

They probably thought that if they froze for a moment, they would be killed instantly. But, do they think that was enough?

「Well then. Begin!」

Immediately after Grandpa Gull shouted so, Fran was already moved in front of the man on the far right.

「...I'll be going for your torso, okay?」

「Ugh... Ghaah!」

While holding me that was still in my scabbard, she sent the guy flying to the wall. The rest was a repeat. Fran approaches any lone adventurer, calls out to them, and then strikes a blow.

It took her longer than before. But it still took about five minutes though.

「Good grief, what a bunch of idiots... It's because they're so afraid of being taken down altogether that they spread out randomly!」

That was right. If they were just scattered randomly, it would only have the effect of slightly extending the time it took for each of them to be defeated. They were too far apart to attack Fran from behind while their friends were attacked. So, it was no wonder Grandpa Gull was so angry.

「Get ready for the next one! Get up, quickly!」

Chapter 530: A Puppy?

And soon, the third group battle began.

『Fran, let's go a little easier on them this time. It's not good for the exam if we keep defeating them instantly』

(Okay)

And she then began to circle the adventurers who were trying to intercept her in a formation with a speed that even created an afterimage.

She sometimes kicks the low ceiling to jump over their heads, while tapping the shoulders of the adventurers to provoke them.

「Sh*t!」

「That was just an afterimage」

Wha? Fran wasn't that the line from Flying Shadow-san...! Well, that was a good one to hear. I need to thank these adventurers for that. As thanks, I'll wish them a gentle defeat.

(Note: Yuyu Hakusho references)

「There she is!」

「So naive」

「Don't break our formation!」

As the adventurers began to attack recklessly, Fran gradually increased her pressure on them. She increased her speed, even more, fooling them with a speed that doesn't even leave an afterimage, and occasionally stepping into their formation and tapping them on their backs.

They were suddenly struck on the back by her who could take them down with a single blow. In addition, she also whispered 「Yes, you're dead now」 or 「Your back is full of openings」 into their ears but they found no one there when they turned around with a pale face. It must be quite a horrible experience for these adventurers.

(It's about time to end this)

『What would you do?』

(I'd like to see their reaction to magic. I'm an examiner after all)

Fran muttered that with a smug look on her face. Well, at least she hasn't forgotten that she was the examiner.

「I'll end this now. Haaa!」

「A-aren't you a sword—」

The shivering adventurers were attacked by multiple activations of stun bolts. The adventurers, who had been frozen in place, were struck by the pale blue electric shocks and collapsed.

「Th-that was amazing. That was an example of how even lower-level magic can be differ based on the user」

「You're right. That was how a first-rate magician uses their magic」

Both of the Guild masters were praising her, but I was worried about something else.

『The floor got a little burnt... I wonder if that's okay...』

Seeing the adventurers crying made me feel sorry for them, but Grandma Jill and Grandpa Gull were merciless. They woke up the adventurers and started the mock battle again.

However, the adventurers that have lined up looked confused.

「Umm, are we going to fight this puppy now?」

「Oh my~, he's so cute~」

「You fools! No matter how he looks, he's the kid's follower, you know!?!」

「Woof!」

「B-but he's so small...」

「However...」

They seemed to be completely confused between the relief of not having to fight Fran anymore and the fact that their next opponent would be a pup-sized Urushi.

At first, I thought about making him look a little bigger, but when Grandma Jill saw Urushi come out of the shadows in puppy size, she insisted we keep it that way.

「If he can manipulate his body size... He must be a high-rank magic beast. It would be more shocking for us to lose against the small one than to the big one, isn't it?」

「That's right. This time, our goal is to let you witness how strong a beast-type magic beast is. I'd be grateful if you could have a decent fight with him」

「Is he the type that changes his fighting power based on his size?」

「He'll be fine」

「I'll leave this to him then」

「Okay」

「Woof!」

The adventurers then formed a formation while looking puzzled.

「Don't underestimate him just because he's a puppy!」

「Y-yes!」

「Let's make a preemptive strike with magic!」

With the E-ranker as their leader, the F-ranked adventurers obediently followed. Their teamwork was the only thing that looked good though.

Water magic was released sporadically by several adventurers, and that was the signal for Urushi to start moving.

「Wha?! So fas—Ghaah!」

「Ghaaah!」

Two people were immediately blown away by Urushi, who had evaded their water magic and approached them. Urushi didn't do anything special. He just lunged in a straight line and lightly patted them with his paw.

The adventurers, who had fallen on their asses, looked at Urushi in astonishment as he dared to attack them from the front.

「Wh-what the hell was that...!?」

While they were puzzled by what had happened, he really used his teleportation this time. The adventurers were pushed away by Urushi, who instantly moved behind them.

Urushi's attack continued for a while. But no adventurer had retired yet. It was because they were asked to show off their strength, so they don't want to let this fight end so quickly.

But I think their adventurers' pride has been torn to shreds already. Because they're being beaten one-sidedly by something that looks like a puppy.

Urushi too seemed to be starting to think that it was about time to end this. After all, they looked at him with a very frightened look, so it must have hurt him a little.

「...Woof!」

「He can even use magic!? What the hell is this!」

「Th-the shadows are entwining us!」

「Sh*t, it won't come off!」

Although it was not that strong, it seems that most of the adventurers are unable to shake off Urushi's magic. In the end, only two E-ranked adventurers managed to escape the restraints.

「L-like hell I'll let this puppy defeat me like this!」

「Ah, wait!」

A male adventurer ran to Urushi out of desperation. It seems he couldn't stand the fear of losing. I guess this was what Grandpa Gull meant by calling them "Naive".

「Uwooh!」

「Woof」

The two-stage thrust that he must have put all of his power into was not even able to graze Urushi as he was able to easily slip into his bosom. And then, with a headbutt from below, he was blown up and hit his back against the ceiling. He then fell to the floor unconscious, but he'll be fine because an E-ranked adventurer would not die easily.

After that, the female adventurer who remained until the end was hit by water magic and a slap with his paw. She even has a paw-shaped bruise on her cheek.

「Wh-what the hell was that puppy is...」

「Of course, a magic beast, right?」

「I know that, but... he's scary!」

「Surely. If I encounter that thing in the woods, I won't even imagine being able to defeat it」

As requested, he was able to show them how scary a beast-type magic beast could be. Urushi was freaked though, and he was depressed. Basically, he's a friendly guy.

「Urushi, good job!」

「Woof!」

Nevertheless, when Fran held him in her arms and stroked him, he was in a good mood in no time. I wouldn't call it too easy to comfort him. But that's just how much he likes Fran.

Chapter 531: Daghour

They decided to let them take a break as it would take some time for the adventurers to recover their bodies and minds after being beaten by Urushi.

After this, a mock battle between Urushi and those who wished to participate would be held. The goal was to show Urushi's power not only to the lower-level adventurers but also to the higher-level adventurers.

It was a little off from the request of being an examiner, but it was fine since they're also offered an extra reward and Urushi was looking motivated too. Well, it seems, it was also because Fran praised him earlier for doing a good job.

However, Fran was not tired at all and seemed to be bored. Perhaps realizing this, one of the adventurers approached Fran.

「I'm a C-ranked adventurer named Daghour. Fran-dono, would you be so kind as to let me have a match with you?」

Fran then glanced at both of the Guild Masters, and they nodded rather happily.

「It's fine. In fact, I'd like you to blow all the onlookers away too」

「Understood, I'll do it then」

「Ooh! I'm grateful! I know I'm not going to be able to do much, but I'll do my best to not let you down!」

It seems he was a warrior type. And that name too, this guy must be the one that had taught spear techniques to the adventurers from before. In fact, he looked quite skilled in using a spear. He possessed the Spear Saint Skill and Spear Saint Technique and his level of harpooning and throwing skills was also high. In addition, he had a strange skill called 『Water Draining』. It seems to be a skill that weakened the opponent's water resistance when an attack was launched into the water. Well, he was a lake specialist after all.

「Well then, please take care of me!」

「Nn!」

「Shiyaa!」

He unleashed a deadly attack right from the start. But Fran smiled as if she were enjoying it. Daghour too, he laughed excitedly.

「Hahaha! Amazing!」

「Good shot!」

Then the fierce battle began. Although there was a difference between Daghour's seriousness and Fran's wait-and-see approach, both seem to be having fun.

There was also a scene that made me feel a chill at times. It was the shape of the spear that Daghour used. It had a large harpoon-like curve at the tip, so it could be used as a small sickle when pulled back after a thrust.

We had never seen this unique weapon movement style before, as he had tried to snatch Fran with it a few times already.

「Interesting」

「Ooh! It's an honor to hear the Black Lightning Princess say so!」

Then Daghour starts chanting while fighting. To be able to use magic while moving, this guy must be quite skilled! Although he hadn't reached B-rank yet due to his level, it seems he had been training his skills every day. His level of mastery was quite impressive.

「Haaa! Aqua Create!」

It was the simplest water magic that he used, but it was not foolproof in a high-speed battle. If it hits her in the face, her movements would be impeded, and she might even lose her footing.

Fran ducked this time, but I'm sure it wasn't my imagination that she looked happier. Because it was a mock battle with a strong opponent.

(Master, put up a flame barrier)

『Oioi, are you going to use flames to end this?』

(Nn. He won't expect it to be used here. This is my payback)

『Very well... Haaa!』

「Uwooh!」

「Kyaa!」

「Gyaaa!」

「Fi-fire magic, in this kind of place... Eh, it's not hot?」

The surrounding adventurers screamed and looked terrified as they were swallowed up by the veil of flames that spread quickly around Fran. Soon, however, they begin to be confused by the fact that it wasn't hot.

What I used was the Flame Barrier, a Fire Magic skill. This skill itself had no offensive power and was not hot to the touch.

Originally, it was a spell that enveloped the user to nullify flame attacks. However, with my current control power, I could transform this magic to cover this site completely.

『Looking good. The Superiorized Magic Control skill is showing a good result!』

「Nn!」

This was the result of Skill Superiorization, which had been a dead ability for a while. This skill transformed my magic control skill into a Special skill. This was also thanks to Announcer-san's advice.

When I was asleep, Fran had talked to Announcer-san about how to use the points and taught her how to enhance this skill.

Not only did it have the benefit of increasing my magic control more, but it also had the benefit of making it easier to reacquire my magic control if I trained my magic manipulation. Of course, I've already reacquired the magic control as a shared skill in the Plains of the Demon Wolf. Well, I used my self-evolution points to raise the magic control level though, so I've spent a lot of points.

「I-impossible... To be able to use such a skill...! You're also a first-rate magician, huh!? Ha, haha, I guess I had a problem with my eyes」

It seems that the only person who understood this greatness was Grandma Jill, who was a genuine magician. It was no wonder she was so sober and her face was pale.

「I'll end this now! Haaa!」

「No chanting huh!? Damn, this is...!」

Flare Impulse. Well, it was the skill that spread an explosive flame over a wide area. It was the higher-level magic of Burst Flame. It had less killing power, but with the addition of explosions and flashes of light, it had high crowd control power.

After the flames had cleared, there was no one standing on the site except Fran.

Even the Guild Masters were moaning while covered with soot.

『...It's overkill』

「But they also asked me to blow away the onlookers too」

『What they meant by that was for you to show them how strong you are though. Now then, I wonder if this all right』

It would be enough to just show off her strength after all.

After that, we just went with the flow and took a break. The damage shouldn't have been too bad, but I guess, we overdid it.

It was also going to take a while for the participants to recover from the shock of fighting Urushi as he broke their hearts again.

「Uwaah, that was great magic」

「Yeah, I am impressed」

Lovren, who was an onlooker, and Daghour, who was a participant, seem perfectly fine. Along with a few other adventurers who are still fine, Fran was making small talk with them.

By showing her strength, she seemed to have been accepted at once.

But in the midst of it, an adventurer that seemed to be in a great hurry came running into the exam site.

「This is a disaster! Anyone...! Eh? What a mess!」

Chapter 532: Modoki

「A-Anyone... Eh? What a mess!」

Apparently, he didn't know about the promotion exam and was surprised to see a large number of adventurers.

「What happened?」

「Ah, Guild Master! This is a disaster, we've got another Modoki attack!」

「Another one, huh!? How many of them?」

「Tsk! Oi, the exam is suspended! This is an urgent request! Get rid of those bastards before they reach the fleet!」

「Ou!」

Modoki? Was that a monster?

「Hey, what's a Modoki?」

「Oh right, Fran doesn't know about them, huh? It's a troublesome magic beast that's been on the rise in this lake lately!」

While heading to the deck, we heard from Grandpa Gull and the others.

「Originally, there was an endemic monster in this lake called the Vivian Guardian, do you know it?」

「Never heard of it. It's endemic?」

「Yeah. It's a rare monster that can only be found in this lake」

However, the monster had rarely been hunted. First of all, it was very mild-mannered. They don't leave their territory and won't come into contact with humans unless they cross its territory.

「And even if you go into their territory, the first thing they do is to show up in groups and block your path. And you'll be attacked if you ignore them...」

Still, they would not be killed. They said that they would just render them powerless and throw them out onto the nearby land.

However, that doesn't mean that it could be hunted one-sidedly. When they were pressured with a certain amount of attacks, their stance would transform into an attack with hundreds of Guardians in the vicinity.

「Once it's in its attack form it won't stop until the humans are eliminated from its area. In addition to the idiots who provoked them, unrelated fishing boats and adventurers may also get caught up and die」

「Their threat level was E and will be treated as lower than that if they're not in their attack form. We also didn't have many battle records with them, so I don't know exactly how strong they are. But from what I've seen of its attack from when I was younger, I'd say that they would become a threat level of B in a flock」

Isn't that quite a powerful monster then? But I wonder why they never talked about them in the guild?

When we asked them about it, they told me that their habitat was off-limits and that it was not a place to be entered. So, if someone approached those places, the guards would turn them away. In fact, the guild doesn't actively promote this rare magic beast, because if they spread the information about them, poachers might appear to hunt for them.

「So, what is a Modoki?」

「Aah, They think Modoki was an aberration of the Vivian Guardian, in other words, a new kind of monster」

「Aberrations? Will it be fine if we take them down?」

That urgent request he made earlier was supposed to be about taking them down, right? But, wouldn't it be bad if we attack it?

「But, you see, even if we attack these monsters, the other Vivian Guardians will not attack us」

「Don't know. I'd love to know about it too」

It seems that their research had not progressed that far yet.

「It's so different from the usual Vivian Guardian, and there's so much that we don't understand yet. Why are they coming out of their territory and why are they relentlessly targeting the commercial fleet?」

「Apparently, yeah. Every time they've been sighted, it's been near the commercial fleet, and I can't help but think that they're heading towards us. Of course, the commercial fleet has a lot of guards and surveillance magicians, so it's easy to spot them, still... the spotting ratio is high, that's for sure」

That would be a very bad situation, wouldn't it? It would not be an exaggeration to say that this fleet supports the life of the area around this lake, and if the fleet was destroyed, the surrounding towns and villages would be seriously affected.

「Guild Master! Over there!」

「There were four of them, right?」

「Yes, the rookie on watch was the one who found them!」

As soon as we stepped out onto the deck, we were able to spot the Modoki.

It swam towards the fleet while sticking its body halfway out of the surface of the lake.

Does their figure look like a 5-meter-long shelled squid or an octopus? It looked like a pointed turban shell with about ten octopus-like tentacles sticking out of it. It seemed to be swimming with its tentacles while pointing the tip of its shell at us.

Its overall color was black and red stripes with reddish-purple in some places that look very poisonous.

「So that's a Modoki?」

「Yeah」

「Well, it should be called the Abnormal Vivian Guardian, but since it was too long, so they called it with Modoki」

「Besides, it has changed a lot from its original form」

Grandma Jill, who was catching up with us, also blurted out at the sight. The original Vivian Guardian was said to be pure white. In addition, its tentacles should've been translucent, as if they were made of water, giving them a mysterious appearance.

「Hey, is it really fine to take them down?」

「Yeah, no problem」

「Okay」

「We can't get any materials from them! So, don't be too reckless!」

「Can't get its material?」

「Yeah. When the Vivian Guardians are defeated, it would melt like water and disappear! You won't even get its magic stone! It's the same for Modoki too」

I see, I certainly had sensed its magical power, but I couldn't find its magic stones anywhere. What a strange magic beast...

I have an idea of what this type of magic beast this thing was. But they seemed to be the same as the undead that we defeated on the Island in the Sky. After all, the improvised undead that Jean created with his magic doesn't have magic stones.

But these guys weren't undead, were they? Was there a technique to create such magic beasts out of nothing?

(Master, how is it?)

『It really doesn't look like there are any magic stones. So, we can kill it without worrying about its materials. But since we're near the fleet, don't do anything too fancy』

「Nn! Urushi!」

「Woof!」

Suddenly, as the adventurers were surprised to see Urushi grow to the size of a large dog, Fran took off on his back.

「Let's go」

「Woof!」

Chapter 533: VS Modoki

『I don't know if it'll work, but let's try the method we used against the Lake Murders!』

「Woof!」

It was a combination of Shadow Binding and the flash of light. But it didn't do much to stop it. Their eyes didn't seem to react to the light, and the fact that one or two of their tentacles were bound didn't do much to stop them.

『It's no good, huh...?』

「Woof...」

So, was a direct attack the only way to fight it? Magic would inevitably cause a lot of damage to the surrounding area after all. If we use Fire Magic or Light Magic, I don't know what kind of effect it will have, like a steam explosion or a huge wave.

「Master, I'll attack it first」

「Nn! Awakening!」

Fran nodded and used awakening. She seems to be in her serious mode. Fran then kicked Urushi in the back and jumped up. She also leaped high in the air and set me up above her head as she fell.

「Bujuuh!」

「Bujuuh!」

The tentacles extended from the Modoki attacked Fran. They must have used their Flexible Tentacle skills. The tentacles that looked like they were about five meters long have grown to nearly twenty meters long.

But Fran continued to dodge their tentacles by kicking lightly in the air and twisting her body as if she was dancing. Since she didn't use me, she continued to fall with only the bare minimum of evasion.

「——Heaven Judgement」

「Bushuu——」

「Bubu——」

With just one swing, she cut two Modoki in half, their hard shells then melted into mush. She could now release the Heaven Judgement with her strength alone.

「Master, I'll leave it to you. Let's go!」

『Ou!』

「Haaa!」

My telekinetic catapult, boosted by Fran's throw, shattered one of them into pieces. I guess when push comes to shove, physical attacks was the way to go.

「Urushi, take care of it. You can use your bigger form」

「Woof!」

「Bushyu—!」

At Fran's instruction, Urushi killed the last one. He returned to his original size and used his large mouth to bite its entire shell to death.

『The promotion exam would have been canceled under these circumstances, so it's probably a good thing that we were able to show

Urushi's strength here』

「Nn」

Fran must have remembered the request from Grandpa Gull. So, she thought of a way to show the adventurers how strong Urushi was, even if it wasn't a mock battle.

「Bweh bweh! Woof...」

「Woof...」

Apparently, the Modoki was not to his taste. He spat out the remains of the mush and desperately washed his mouth out with the lake water.

「You better not bite them next time」

「Woof」

『Let's go back for now』

「Nn」

「Woof」

『Oh hey, Urushi needs to be smaller first』

Just like that, we returned to the Adventurers ship and were greeted with cheers from the adventurers. The low rankers that scare me still haven't woken up, so the only people there were people of some ability. They must have acknowledged Fran, who had shown them overwhelming power.

「That was as expected from you! No, it was even more than what I expected!」

「Yes. That was amazing! I feel embarrassed to call myself as the same B rankers now」

「Gahahaha! I'm so glad you're here, Fran!」

Fran was being squeezed by her. But Fran looked happy. I guess this kind of communication was new to her. Besides, it looks just like what any adventurer would do.

The adventurers then huddled together and started singing merrily.

They said it was a song about the spirits in this lake and was called the Song of the Lakeside Maiden.

To sum it up, a spirit in the form of a blonde, white-skinned, innocent-looking girl with a mysterious amethyst right eye and an emerald left eye was guarding this lake. And it seems the lyrics were mostly about their gratitude to her.

Grandpa Gull also shouted as he got even more excited as he sang.

「All right! Let's hold a party——」

「Don't be ridiculous, old man! And these bunch of idiots too, stop making a fuss about it!」

The adventurers who were about to get even more heated stopped when Grandma Jill shouted at them.

「Alert the guards at the perimeter to search for any others! We also need to confirm how much damage was done! We still have so much work to do!」

She instantly took over the atmosphere of the place with her shouting and intimidation, which I couldn't believe came from a petite old woman. The adventurers who had been glared at by the old woman then dispersed at once.

「Fran, you come with me」

「Nn」

「Fran! Thank you for your help this time. If you have any problems, just let me know. I'll help you next time!」

「Thanks」

Fran, who was a little disappointed about missing the chance to have a party was led by Grandma Jill to what looked like a conference room.

「What's the matter with you? Did you want to have more fun with those idiots?」

「Nn...」

「Haah. At a glance, you don't look like you would fit being with those idiots... You're a high-ranked adventurer after all」

Grandma Jill shook her head in disbelief. She was smiling bitterly, but her eyes were kind. After all, I guess she doesn't hate those idiots either.

「Well, thank you for your help in accepting the request for being an examiner. I'm satisfied with it」

「Nn」

It seems the exams were judged to be over. And the ones who will pass or fail will be judged from their first battle and then the group battle.

After that, we talked about the reward and got the approval of the completion of the request. All that was left was to receive the reward.

『Well, there was also one thing I wanted to ask the old woman』

We asked Grandma Jill about the boy who had been staring at Fran before.

「That boy, huh? It's said that he's the youngest genius ever to take the rank E exam in this guild. And I think he will be 13 this year」

It was true that he was very young, compared to the other adventurers who were over sixteen, which was concerning. But I don't understand why that would make him glared at Fran like that.

I can understand if he hated someone who has a higher reputation than him. But I don't know if it was hatred or just simple anger...

「I could felt his killing intent」

「Hmm... I don't know what we should do. This is your first-time meeting, right?」

「Nn」

「You should ask him directly then. I'll be sleeping in the next room」

We then headed to the infirmary, but the boy was nowhere to be found. The only people there were the young adventurers who were scared of Fran. When we asked about the boy's whereabouts, the answer was that they didn't know.

He must have gotten up on his own and left.

『It's no use, we'll ask him directly the next time we met him』

「Nn」

Now that the request was over, our next destination would be the self-governing region.

Chapter 534: Famous Place

The day after we defeated the Modoki.

After leaving the commercial fleet, we were heading northeast. It was a straight route to the Academy of Magic.

『I never thought we'd be involved with the commercial fleet by chance』

「Nn. It was amazing」

「Woof!」

『Me too, I've never seen that many ships in one place before』

I looked at Lake Vivian again as we were leaving, and it was still looking big from this distance. Maybe it really was much bigger than Lake Biwa.

Well, I've never seen the real Lake Biwa before, so I don't know what it was really like.

After that, we traveled by flying in the sky while riding on Urushi's back. Since the Kingdom of Belios was a mountainous country, there were a lot of differences in elevation, and it was fun to see a complete change in the scenery just by going a little further.

「...?」

Fran was staring at the clouds far above.

「What is that?」

『Huh? Aah, it finally reached here huh!? It's the floating island』

「Looks strange」

What Fran has discovered was a huge mass of clouds, standing even higher than normal clouds. No, she was probably looking at the shadow of an island floating in the middle of it.

「Floating Island」

It was the same kind of floating island that we had explored with Jean the necromancer.

However, this one was not a dungeon. I've done some research at the adventurer's guild in Alessa after all.

「So, there is no strong magic beast?」

『No, that's not true. It's a Grade S magical area, the bed of the Heavenly Dragon. It's one of the most dangerous places in the world where the strongest class of magic beasts in the world, the A-rank magic beasts, live』

Yes, that place was more of a dangerous place than a dungeon.

I don't know how it works, but there was always a lot of water flowing down from that floating island.

According to those who have reached the island, rivers as wide as 100 meters fall straight down from the edge of the island to the ground. However, these waters never reach the earth.

The water seems to turn into vapor and dissipate before reaching the ground. The same principle applies to Angel Falls, a famous waterfall on Earth that has no basin.

The clouds surrounding that floating island were created by the waterfall that turned into clouds.

「Heavenly Dragons? It exists?」

『Yeah. I heard some are living on that island』

However, these Heavenly Dragons have rarely caused any damage to this country. In the first place, they seem to be unable to live on the ground and never descend below the clouds.

It was said that during a battle with adventurers who broke into the Heavenly Dragon's sleeping quarters, the breath that a Heavenly Dragon released rained down on the earth, destroying the highway to some extent.

『I've heard that there are few records of them being defeated in the past, so we don't know how strong they actually are』

The reason it was called an A level threat was that other Dragon species were ranked as threat level of A. Since they were dragons too they were ranked A for the time being.

Only A-ranked adventurers or higher were allowed to enter the sleeping quarters of the Heavenly Dragons Well, it seems that more than half of them were knocked down by the magic beasts that inhabit the sea of clouds before landing on the island though.

And even if they managed to land, most adventurers won't challenge the Heavenly Dragons right away. Their main goal was the several dens that exist on the floating island.

In their dens, they collect the scales and the beards that have fallen off and then run back. That was the main goal of those adventurers.

There was the possibility of being attacked by multiple Heavenly Dragons, but there was no place to run to in case of emergency. When that happened, the adventurers would be at an overwhelming disadvantage, it was because fighting the Heavenly Dragons in there would be suicidal.

『They say if we're lucky, we'll see a Heavenly Dragon flying between the clouds!』

「Really?」

『Yeah』

「What is it like?」

『They say it looks like a long snake with a body length of about 200 meters』

Yes. That dragon figure looks like an Eastern-style Dragon, unlike a Western dragon. It has a magic power that far surpasses that of a Western dragon, and if a Western dragon was a warrior type, this dragon was more of a magic and skill type.

Eastern-type Dragon and Western-type Dragon. Their ecology seems to be very different.

『They have golden scales that looks blinding on a sunny day』

「Nn... I can't see any」

「Woof...」

『Well, they say it's really rare. But since we can see the island from anywhere in the eastern part of this country, so if we're lucky, we'll get to see it』

「Nn」

We proceeded to look up at Heavenly Dragon's island to see if we could see any dragons. Urushi too was slowing down while looking up, but he sometimes failed to maintain our altitude and Fran almost fell. In the end, we couldn't see any Heavenly Dragon.

『Ooh, I saw the town』

「So that was the Academy of Magic? It's so big」

『No, you're wrong. The Academy of Magic is in the back where the tower is. It's still big though. What's in its front is just a town』

It seems that a town has developed around the Academy of Magic. It was also called the Academy Town.

『That's Lady Blue, the town where the Academy of Magic was built 』

「Blue? It's not blue though?」

『Lady in Blue. It's a name that honors the world's most powerful ocean magic user, the High Elf, Weena Rhyn』

Chapter 535: Great Ancient Tree Pavilion

Lady Blue was a much more chaotic town than I had imagined. Aside from the main streets, once we entered the back streets, we found ourselves in a maze of narrow streets.

It was also quite easy to get lost in the Royal Capital of the Kingdom of Kranzel, but this one was really just like a maze. However, the image of the town was much different due to the different nuances of the buildings.

Compared to the Mediterranean style of the Kingdom of Kranzel, this one was more like the good old British style, huh? Well, I've never been to England, so it was completely subjective.

I feel like this was the kind of atmosphere that was introduced in the Beatles special on TV, such as the downtown area of Liverpool or the country towns in the suburbs.

『Hey, don't you think we made the same mistake as before?』

「Nn?」

『We got lost off the main street in the Royal Capital of Kranzel back then, right?』

「I smelled something delicious」

「Woof!」

In response to my words, Fran held a waffle-like baked confectionery in her hand. Urushi was chewing on three of them in one gulp.

At first, we were going along the main road as usual. However, Fran smelled something delicious and suddenly veered off the road. It was fine until we found the source of it, a baked pastry store.

『We're completely lost』

「Nn」

『You asked the old lady at the baked pastry store for directions, right?』

「Yup」

『Then why are we still lost?』

「This way looks more interesting」

『Aaah, is that so?』

「Nn!」

There were paths that she had to lie down to get through, stairs that were so steep and narrow that an old man would get tired on the way, tunnels of greenery made out of plants, and many other places that would tickle the fancy of children.

Fran and Urushi explored the town with great joy. It would not be an exaggeration to say that they had gone to get lost themselves.

『Well, we're not in a hurry, so that's fine. I'd like to go to the adventurer's guild for now, but even that was not urgent』

Besides, I'm starting to enjoy exploring a bit more. This area has fewer apartment buildings and more single-family houses, but the gardens of each house were very elaborate and fun to look at.

Then Fran stopped abruptly and pointed ahead.

「Master, that...」

「That building is amazing」

Fran pointed to a building with a distinctive appearance a little further down the road. I see, that was certainly amazing.

It was a three-story house, and trees were growing out of its roof. It was not like they were greening the rooftop, huh? No matter how I looked at it, there was a hole in the roof and the top of a huge tree sticking out of it.

When we look closely, I can see branches that seem to belong to the tree sticking out of some of the third-floor and second-floor windows.

But that wasn't the only thing that surprised us. There was laundry drying in the yard. Apparently, people were living there.

We walked up to the house. Then we made another surprising discovery. A sign saying "Green Ancient Tree Pavilion" was hanging at the entrance of the house.

Apparently, it was an inn.

「Urushi, let's go!」

「Woof!」

『Ah, wait!』

Fran and Urushi stormed into the inn with bright eyes. Even though they didn't even know what kind of place this building was!

「Oooh—」

「Woof—」

Fran and the medium-sized Urushi stood side by side in the middle of the garden, looking up at the huge tree. The tree resembled a camphor tree, but its branches and leaves were already wider than the roof of the inn. It was as if the inn had another roof.

After a few moments of looking around, Fran was satisfied and decided to get into the inn. Its door was well-kept but it was a very old wooden door.

「Oooh—」

And then, for I don't know how many times already, she expressed her admiration.

「There are trees inside too」

『Of course, but well, I can understand your surprise』

The tree trunk was much thicker than I had imagined. The inn was supposed to be quite spacious, but half of it was occupied by the tree trunk. A huge tree sat in the center of the room, and the floor was stretched around its roots like a wooden deck.

The uneven shape of the floorboards around the tree was probably because they were cut into that shape as the roots had continued to grow.

「Oho, a customer?」

「Who?」

「What do you mean by who? You too, who are you?」

「Fran. Adventurer」

「Haha—. I see—」

It was an old, petite female Elf, who spoke to Fran who had stopped at the entrance of the inn.

「I'm the owner of this inn. Are you going to stay?」

「Nn! One night!」

『Oi oi, do you want to stay here?』

(Nn!)

We haven't found the guild yet though... But she seems to like it a lot already.

Still, this may be the first time I've ever seen an old Elf. It was said that elves spend most of their long lives looking youthful, and in the last hundred years or so, they age just like humans do. When that happens, most elves were said to shut themselves away and go into long periods of sleep.

It must be quite rare for an old Elf to still work in a town of people, right?

「That will be 500G with dinner and breakfast」

「Okay」

「Also, I have to warn you about this. I'll kick you out if you hurt this Daiki-sama. Do you understand?」

(Note: Daiki -> big tree)

Daiki-sama, huh? Was it some kind of special tree? Fran asked and was told that it was inhabited by a spirit. The old woman said that she had made a contract with the spirit.

「She's a nice person, as long as we don't do anything wrong to her」

「Spirit, can I see her too?」

「I don't know. Maybe you'll see him, or maybe you won't. Well, if you're a good kid, maybe you will meet her」

「Okay, I'll be a good kid」

「Houhou, that's good then」

The room she was then shown to was more ordinary than I had expected. A clean bed with a simple interior design. Also, there were no tree branches that stretched all over the room as I had worried before.

She said that the tree itself was not inhabited by a spirit, but she can adjust the direction of its growth according to the inn. Because of this, the branches of the tree have not entered the guest rooms.

The roots and other parts of the plant seem to get thicker though.

「Nice room」

「Woof」

『You seem to like it a lot, huh?』

「Nn! It smells like being in the forest」

This inn which was in the middle of the town, remind her of the forest. So, Fran must have thought this was a nice place where she could feel at ease. She then sat down on the bed and took a deep breath.

Chapter 536: The Walls of the Academy of Magic

『So this is the Academy of Magic, huh...? It's so big, or rather, it's so tall』

「Looks pointy」

「Woof」

After getting a room at the Green Ancient Tree Pavilion, we once again head to the Academy of Magic.

At first, I planned to go to the Adventurer's Guild, but I realized that the Academy was closer than I thought.

After we left the inn, we decided to take a look at the town from a hill. We climbed up a narrow staircase with more than 500 steps and looked around Lady Blue from the square at the top of it. There we saw the Academy of Magic was surprisingly close to us.

We got lost again on the way to the Academy, so it took us quite a while to get there.

It would have taken us less than five minutes if we went from the top... But well, we made progress in our exploration instead, and Fran and Urushi were both happy with it.

It seemed that waffles were a specialty of this town as we discovered many stores that were selling them. I didn't expect to find not only sweet flavors but also non-sweet dough with ham and cheese in between.

It was interesting to discover different stores while we were in Lady Blue. Maybe I'll try to make some too. But well, if I ask Fran what kind of waffle she wants, she'll probably just say curry-flavored waffle anyway.

By the way, Fran wanted to try the freshwater fish curry. So, I came up with a slightly unusual one and the straightforward one.

The first was one curry with eel. I added a bit more sansho (Japanese pepper) and a bit less sweet unagi kabayaki (broiled eel). So, this would be a Hitsu-mabushi-style curry, huh? I thought it was a bit too much, but Fran seemed to enjoy it.

The other one was carp curry, well, it was normal, but it was fish curry you know? It was nothing new, and I made it a little too spicy to take away the muddy smell, and Urushi seemed to like this one a lot.

『Let's find its entrance for the time being』

「Nn」

We're standing in front of the outer wall that surrounds the Academy of Magic. From there, we could clearly see the tall towers that line inside of the Academy. There were probably more than ten tall and thin towers. There may be more when we go further in.

It would be rare to see such a tall building outside of a military facility such as a castle or fort. At first, I thought it was to make effective use of the small site, but that doesn't seem to be the case.

After all, we couldn't find the gate no matter how far we walked. In retrospect, when I look at this town from the outside, about a quarter of it must have been occupied by the Academy of Magic. It was a quarter of the Lady Blue, which boasted a scale that this Academy alone could be called a town already.

I also thought that the grounds of the Academy of Magic must be larger than those of Kiarazen, where we stopped along the way.

「...Should we climb it? But that way, the people will come at us」

「Woof」

『N-no, don't』

After all, we'll be staying in this town for a while, so we couldn't cause any problems here. Besides, this wall was not just a simple wall. There was a hint of magic coming from it.

At first glance, it seemed to be alarm-type magic. Fran guessed so too, then she came up with the overly reckless idea of sounding the alarm and calling the people here.

But now that I had the Magic Control SP, I could sense other magic coming from it. The alarm spell was a distraction, and it seemed that something else was being hidden behind the spell.

As I expected, I couldn't sense what kind of magic it was, but it was certainly a troublesome one. At least we don't feel like trying it ourselves.

It was better to keep walking steadily outside of it.

『That's why Fran-kun』

After wandering along the wall just like that, we finally see something other than a wall. But it doesn't seem to be the main gate.

「Master, what's that?」

『It looks like an entrance, but... Why is it so small?』

We finally arrived at the entrance of the Academy of Magic, which was surprisingly small compared to the immensity of the walls. It looked like a kitchen door. No, in fact, it was probably something close to that.

『Looks like we're at the back entrance, huh?』

It seemed to be a back door used by servants and staff when they went out.

「What should we do?」

『Well, we can go to the main entrance, but in the meantime, let's ask if we can enter it from there. Oh, and make sure you show the letter of introduction from Alistair, okay?』

「Okay」

『And Urushi... Well, just stay like that』

It was better for him to be visible from the beginning than to be hiding in the shadows. It would also save the trouble of introducing him later.

「Excuse me」

Even though it was a back entrance, there was a guard. So, we decided to talk to them for the time being.

「Hmm? Do you need anything?」

He seemed like a kind uncle. I wondered if it was okay for the guards to be so soft-hearted, but I guess that's just how well they teach their staff.

「I came here for a request」

「Huh? You're an adventurer, aren't you? It's unusual for us to outsource our work though...」

「Nn?」

「Oh, I'm sorry. So, what's the request?」

Apparently, we could get through from here. Fran then handed Alistair's letter of introduction to the uncle of the guard.

「A request for a mock battle. Various things are written on this」

「Let me see it. Wha-what... Eh?」

The uncle was surprised to read the letter of introduction. Well, it couldn't be helped. It says "To the director of the Academy of Magic, I have found the person you were looking for to be a mock battle instructor, so I'm sending her to you with a letter of introduction"

Alistair's name was written at the end of it. It seems that Alistair had a title as a faculty member of this Academy of Magic. In addition to the envelope and the letter made by the Academy of Magic, her signature would be enough to make sure that they would take care of us.

「Umm, Did you bring your adventurer's card?」

「Of course, here」

「I'll take a look at it」

After checking the card carefully, the guard opened a small window next to the back door and started talking to someone on the other side.

「May I take this letter of introduction for a moment?」

「Okay」

The uncle then handed the letter of introduction to someone through the small window and asked her to wait here for a moment while he returned the card to Fran.

「Umm, I can't make the final decision myself, so someone a little more important will be coming here. So please wait a moment」

His attitude had changed a lot. He was treating her like a child before, but now it seems that he was treating us like a guest now. They were not assuming that it was a forgery and were treating us well.

Well then, I wonder what kind of person would come here.

Chapter 537: The Other Side of the Back Entrance

Five minutes later.

「Hello, sorry to keep you waiting. So, you're the adventurer who brought Alistair's letter of introduction?」

「Nn」

「Can I see it?」

「Okay」

「Hohou—...」

The man who showed up was a cheerful-looking young man. He was a half-elf, so he's probably older than he looks, but no matter how I look at him, he looks like a teenage character. He then read Alistair's letter of introduction, but because of his frivolous look, it looked like he was just skimming through it.

「Hmm... Well, whatever. Please come this way for the time being」

The man led us through the back entrance. On the other side was a passage with a low ceiling. The outer wall itself seemed to be quite thick, and the passage through it was like a little tunnel.

「My name is Coltandhyre. Feel free to call me Colt, okay?」

「Fran, an Adventurer, and this is Urushi」

「Woof!」

「I like the wolf-type beasts. They're obedient, good for fighting, good for spotting, and good as a blanket at night too」

「Urushi is the best」

「Hahaha, you seem to be getting along, huh?」

I observe Colt from behind as he guides Fran. He has high magic power, but his footwork was completely amateur. I guess he was a typical researcher type.

Colt laughed as he led us through the passage. The tunnel was getting much wider than we had imagined, and we were greeted by an interesting sight.

There were not only lawns, but also forests, ponds, and rocky mounds on the site. It seems they were used for training and experiments. Looking further in, we saw a snow mound about 10 meters high.

I could feel its magic power trace, so it must have been created by magic or maintained by magic... Just as expected of the Academy of Magic.

Furthermore, a huge structure sits in the middle of these unnatural natural objects.

The many towers that we saw from the outside were all connected by passageways and buildings and were actually just a part of one super huge building.

「Whoa—」

「It's pretty amazing, isn't it? They're still renovating it, so the buildings are expanding every year, you know? It all started with that little short tower over there」

Colt pointed to a very old and shabby tower in the middle of the many towers. It was the only tower that was not connected to the huge facility and stood quietly and independently. So, he's saying that the Academy of Magic was so small at first? It's hard to believe.

「Heee, when was it built?」

「I've heard that it's over 2000 years old and it was originally the Director's laboratory」

A High Elf laboratory, huh? If that's the case, we couldn't judge it by its humble appearance. I wonder what kind of tremendous research was going on inside.

「Well, that place is basically off-limits. Only the Director or authorized personnel can enter. More importantly, we're over here」

「Nn」

Colt then led us to a small building right next to the exit of the tunnel. No, it looked small after seeing the academy, but it was actually a rather large building with three floors.

「It's the guard's office though, but it has some magic tools to check things out. In the meantime, I'll check to see if your adventurer's card is real, okay?」

「Nn, I don't mind」

「I'm sorry. I'm not much of a fighter, but I'm good at sensing magic. So, I can tell that you're not just an ordinary person, but on the other hand, I can't just let someone like that walk by without inspection」

I see. If you're a small fry, it would be easy for them to handle you, but if you're a powerful person, you need to go through an inspection.

He held up Fran's adventurer's card to a crystal that Colt had been seeing several times before. And that seemed to be all the confirmation he needed.

「Yes, thank you. Now we have confirmed your identity?」

「Nn? It's over」

「Yup, that's right」

「You won't check if the letter is real?」

Yeah. I was wondering about that, too. I mean, if the letter was a forgery, it doesn't matter if Fran was an adventurer or not, right? There were a lot of things he could do to find out, like handwriting analysis and whether or not the sign on the letter was genuine.

But Colt laughed cheerfully as he handed the letter of introduction to Fran.

「Ahaha, I'm sorry. I've already confirmed it. It's a special paper after all. If we drop a little chemical on it, we can easily determine its authenticity」

It seems they have already confirmed that the letter used for that letter introduction was a special one made for Alistair at this institute.

「Since your letter of introduction is genuine and your adventurer rank was high too, so no problem, right? All I need to do now is to interview you...」

Th-there's such a thing too, huh? Well, she's hired as an instructor after all, albeit a temporary one, at one of the most prestigious schools in the world, so it's rather natural.

But I wonder if she would be fine...? Fran seems to be bad at an interview after all. No, I'm sure she could handle this if she uses her court etiquette skill to the fullest and just follows my instructions, right?

Well, it was so long ago that I've forgotten more than half of what I learned about an interview back then. But I'm sure it's better than just letting Fran do it by herself. Come, bring it on!

I was all fired up like that, but they said that the interview would not take place today.

「I'm sorry~. The interview must be done by the director of the academy, but she's out of the academy for some business. But I'm sure she'll be back by tomorrow or the day after」

Well. That's because we didn't tell them about our arrival in advance after all.

「Okay, then what should I do next?」

「Where do you stay? If you don't have a place to stay, we can get one for you」

「I already have a place to stay」

「Heee, where is it?」

「The Green Ancient Tree Pavilion」

When Fran said that, Colt looked a little surprised.

「No, well. The landlady there is famous for being difficult and not letting people stay if she doesn't like them. How did you manage to get a room?」

「She was just an ordinary old woman though」

「Woof」

She was kind to Fran and Urushi. She was an old elf, wasn't she? Did he mistake her for someone else?

「I-is that so...? Well, that's okay. I'll send a messenger for you when the Director returns」

「Okay」

Now, all we had to do was pass the interview and she'll be an instructor at the academy. It's not that she really wants to be an instructor, but I feel like we're being tested, so Fran and I were both starting to get a little worked up.

Chapter 538: A Normal Adventurer's Guild

After we completed the procedures at the Academy of Magic, we were now at the Adventurer's Guild.

「It looks, normal?」

「Woof」

Fran and Urushi tilted their heads when they saw the Adventurer's Guild building. They had seen a lot of special buildings in this city, and they were expecting too much from the Adventurer's Guild.

However, the guild's building used brick as the exterior, which was quite common in this town. It was almost twice the size of the nearby building, but it was not too huge.

『Let's just go inside for the time being』

「Nn」

「Woof!」

When we passed through the guild's door, we found that the interior was normal too. The floor, the ceiling, the walls, and the reception counter were just as plain as the others.

It was just like any other Adventurer's Guild, where adventurers were struggling to decide which requests to accept, or negotiating in vain with the receptionist to raise the purchase price of materials.

However, there was one group of people that caught Fran's attention.

「A lot of kids?」

『They're probably older than Fran... I guess, they are students at the Academy of Magic』

The boys and girls wore leather cloaks of reasonable quality. On the shoulders of their cloak was an emblem of an upside-down wave. The emblem looked familiar to me. I'm sure it was on the flag of the magic academy that we had seen on the back entrance.

Some of them were standing in line at the counter, others were looking at the request forms. If they hadn't been wearing the cloaks of the Academy of Magic, I would have thought they were just ordinary fledgling adventurers.

I was wondering if students of the Academy of Magic were allowed to become an adventurer. But I guess, they were allowed to do so since they're wearing their cloaks so proudly like this.

『I wonder why these students would be adventurers』

Well, we'll probably find out about it when she becomes an instructor.

『Let's say hello to the guild for now』

We were going to stay in this town for a while after all. Well, that was, if she doesn't fail the interview though. In that case, as a high-ranked adventurer, Fran needed to report to the local guild to stay. It was not mandatory, but it was recommended for us to do so.

After all, it was important to know the whereabouts of high-ranked adventurers in case of emergency.

「Hey」

「Yes. Welcome to the Adventurer's Guild, how may I help you?」

「Nn. I came to say hello because I might be staying in this town for a while. Here's my card」

「Aah, I see. I'll take a look at your card then」

The lady at the reception desk then took the card from Fran. She then looked surprised for a moment. However, she soon regained her business smile.

「P-please wait for a moment while someone from the higher-ups comes」

「Okay」

She definitely thinks that she was a fledgling adventurer imitating a high-ranked adventurer, huh? Even so, it was amazing that she continued to respond to us with hardly a smile on her face.

Lately, I've been able to tell if the receptionist was a veteran by this kind of first interaction with them.

As we waited in front of the reception desk, I felt a presence approaching us from behind. I thought she was going to the reception desk, but she just stopped behind Fran.

「Hey, you?」

「Nn?」

The one who spoke to her was a beautiful blonde girl. She was probably a little older than Fran. She was wearing the cloak of the Academy of Magic and had a sword on her waist that emitted strong magic power. However, all I could see was one thing.

『Uwooooh! Blonde Drill! It's a Blonde Drill-san! Moreover, it is decorated! I-Is this for real! I wonder will she laugh at us with an “Oh-ho-ho”』

The girl had what was called blonde hair in a vertical roll. It was the first time I had ever seen anything like this up close. She also had the air of a high-class young lady.

I couldn't help but shout out at the sheer perfection of it.

(Master? What's wrong?)

『Ah, no. It's just her hairstyle is a bit...』

(Hair? It's blonde?)

『No, it's nothing. But I'm just surprised that she has such an unusual hair style』

(Hmmm)

Fran doesn't seem to be interested in this at all. Well, that was obvious. But it was one of the most exciting things I've seen since I've come to this world after a butler and a maid.

Based on the appraisal, it shows that she was 16 years old. Her name was Charon Lyfaal, so she must be a young lady of nobility. If she was a commoner with this hairstyle, I would have punished her.

In terms of ability, she was probably ranked E as an adventurer. She could handle fire magic and water magic, but both of them were only on level 3, and her melee combat ability was quite low.

Still, she possessed the minimum skills to work outside, such as life magic, presence detection, and survival. It was the same with the other academy students, all of whom had learned skills useful for survival. I wonder if they taught them this at the Academy of Magic.

Fran looked at the Blond Drill-san cautiously. She could tell that there was no hostility on our part, but her voice contained slight annoyance, or perhaps a subtle hint of disgust.

「'What is it?' you said」

The Blonde Drill-san sighed at Fran's words.

「Students are required to wear their cloaks when accepting requests from the Adventurer's Guild. It's a violation of academy rules to not doing so」

Apparently, she misunderstood that Fran was a student of the Academy of Magic. And she called out to Fran to warn her that she seemed to be violating the academy rules.

「You, where's your cloak?」

「I don't have it with me」

Well, that was because she was not a student at the academy, so she doesn't have one, but there was a better way to say it, right? She makes it sound as if she didn't bring it with her now.

「Then I can't just let you go. You must return to the academy first」

She has still misunderstood her, huh? The Blonde Drill-san then grabbed Fran's arm. It was as if she wanted to remove her from the guild. It was not like her intentions were bad, so Fran was wondering if she should shake her off.

She struggled on the spot to resist her, but the Blonde Drill-san thought of her like she was a child who didn't want to listen. She may be a surprisingly gentle person, as she didn't yell at her in here.

While Fran and Drill-san continued their struggle, a man then appeared from the back of the guild. He looked to be a handsome man in his late twenties. Well, he was an Elf, so it was hard to tell his age from his appearance, but he definitely seemed to have a good amount of experience.

He was a skilled warrior, and his magic power was much higher than that of most magicians. In addition, he was very good at eliminating his presence and seems to have a quite high all-around ability.

The man approached the reception desk rather quickly and whispered to the receptionist. Well, I could hear him though.

「The emergency beacon went off. What's going on?」

Apparently, there was a mechanism where if we do something at the reception desk, something would make a sound in the Guild Master's room. This could come in handy in case of robbery. But I don't think any robbers would be dumb enough to break into the Adventurer's Guild though.

「As a matter of fact, a high-ranked adventurer came to report on her stay」

「Oh? What's her rank?」

「It's B」

「And where she is now?」

「That kid over there」

Drill-san, who took her hand away once to admonish Fran, and the lady at the reception desk who pointed at Fran who was asked by her with 「Go home then!」 but Fran replied with

「I'm not going home」. And the guild master seemed to understand what was going on in an instant.

「Hey, can I have a word?」

「Eh? Umm, who are you? We still have a business here」

「Well, I have some business with her too」

「...What kind of business do you have with her? I'm her guardian」

Drill-san stepped forward to protect Fran. As an upperclassman, I guess she was trying to protect her underclassmen.

The guild master looked like a young man on the outside, so he looked like a suspicious man. But it was no surprise that a low-level adventurer had never met the Guild master.

「Guardians? Is that so?」

「...No」

「Eh?」

Fran was troubled for a moment, probably because she felt sorry for Drill-san. She was not very good at talking, so she kind of got her involved with the guild master in a weird way.

「Well, I'm Khinabar, and I'm the Master of this guild」

「Eeh?」

「Nn. Adventurer, Fran」

「Eeh?」

「I never thought I'd see someone with an alias. You're welcome here」

「Eeeh?」

Fran then bowed her head to the Blonde Drill-san, who was too surprised and stunned to know about her.

「I'm sorry」

I'm sorry too, Blonde Drill-san.

Chapter 539: How Hard The Interview Would Be?

Prompted by the guild master, Fran then came to his office.

「Well, please have a seat」

「...Nn」

「Aah, you don't have to worry about the young lady who seemed to be taking good care of you」

Even though it was their first meeting, he could read Fran's dejected expression. As expected of a Guild Master. He's very observant. On the other hand, there was a good chance that I'll be found out too.

「You're not angry?」

「Hahaha, I rather like that little lady, don't you think? It must have been hard for her to stand in front of a suspicious person for the sake of her junior. Well, it was a misunderstanding in the end. Anyway...」

The Guild Master then observed Fran sullenly.

「To someone who can't tell the difference, you might look like a weak beast girl. And it's hard to tell the performance of your equipment from its appearance」

Sure, if they didn't know anything, it might just look like a flimsy piece of cloth equipment.

「Your magic sword certainly stands out, but... Many newcomers are tricked by how a piece of equipment looks, so they often equip themselves with fancy looking good for nothing equipment」

In other words, the Blonde Drill-san——or Charon looked at Fran and thought that a junior student of the Academy of Magic who yearned to be an adventurer was trying to become an adventurer fully equipped with good for nothing equipment.

「So, what's the Black Lightning Princess, Fran doing in this town? Are you planning to stay here for a long time?」

This guy... His tone of voice was quite rude, but it's strange to hear a beautiful Elf talk like this because it makes him look more handsome. He looked like a slightly evil and handsome Elf. The Elves were really unfair, weren't they?

「I'll be an instructor at the Academy of Magic」

「Hou?」

「Maybe?」

「Huh? What do you mean by “Maybe?” It hasn't been decided yet?」

「Nn」

Fran then gave a brief story to him. An acquaintance of hers was related to the Academy of Magic. The acquaintance was looking for someone to be a mock battle instructor at the academy. Then, Fran was invited and came to Lady Blue with a letter of introduction.

「I see, so that was the case, huh?」

「Went to the academy today, but the director wasn't there and they said that the interview would be held another time」

The Guild Master snorted when he heard Fran's words.

「The interview process at the academy is pretty tough, you know?」

「Really?」

「Yup. Even among the adventurers in this town, there are only about 30 adventurers designated by the academy this far」

「Designated by the academy?」

「Yeah. They will be adventurers who are allowed to accompany the students of the Academy of Magic after all」

Some of the students of the Academy of Magic are allowed to work as adventurers. It seems that only those students whose skills and grades are up to a certain standard are allowed to register with the Adventurers' Guild.

Moreover, there were even stricter rules for accepting requests. First of all, requests of E rank or higher could not be accepted by the students alone. It was an absolute requirement that they need to be accompanied by an adventurer designated by the Academy of Magic.

I guess it was a measure to prevent students from dying in vain. The adventurers who are qualified to accompany the students of the Academy of Magic are called the Academy's Designated Adventurers.

With this designation, they were obliged to accompany the students and were paid a certain amount of money every year by the academy.

It seems that they received a good amount of money for this job and it seemed to be a popular job among Lady Blue's adventurers.

「The students who are allowed to register as adventurers are strictly screened by the academy, and those who pass are the ones who are allowed. So those who will cause problems are quite rare」

So, even though they were accompanying them, they were not there to babysit those sh*tty brats, but rather giving instructions to the new adventurers. After all, they would become an excellent new adventurer who could use magic and be willing to learn. And if they were paid a large sum of money in addition to the request, it would not be surprising if they became popular.

However, not just anyone could be designated by the academy. Because the academy entrusts its most important students to them, they are very strict in their screening process. They look at the character, ability, family structure, past work history, and so on. Finally, only adventurers who pass the interview with the Director of the academy are allowed to become academy-designated adventurers.

And in particular, the interview with the director of the academy was famous for how strict it was.

「Regardless of whether you have a letter of introduction or not, if they deem you useless, they'll simply kick you out. There was once a problem when a nobleman who came for an interview with a letter of introduction from the government was kicked out. And for some reason, their house disappeared... I wonder how scared that person is...」

「Do you know the Director?」

「Of course I do. I'm the Master of the Adventurer's Guild, and I'm an Elf too, right?」

It was natural when I thought about it. Fran then inquired about the personality of the director. But the Guild master then crossed his arms lightly and frowned.

「She's usually a calm and gentle person, but when she gets angry, she's terrifying. So never make her angry, okay?」

「Okay」

It seems that even the guild master was afraid of the Director of the academy—the High Elf Weena Rhyn. He reminded Fran about it with a pitiful face.

「Is she strong?」

「It's obvious, right? She's a High Elf after all」

「I heard she was a great Ocean Magic user」

「Yeah. She's the greatest Ocean Magic user in this world. She once single-handedly crushed a mid-level dungeon that had a stampede by herself」

What was more is, Weena Rhyn was said to not even moved from the entrance at that time, as she used her excess magic power to create endless amounts of water, submerging everything in the dungeon and suffocating the magic beasts to death.

The sight of her using magic constantly for three days straight was said to be breathtaking.

「What else can she do? Since she's an Elf, maybe, Spirit Magic?」

「Nn? You don't know?」

「If you're someone at her level, you'll probably just use your Ocean Magic for everything. But I've never seen her in close combat or using Spirit Magic. And Appraisals don't work on her either」

「She has an Appraisal Jammer?」

「No, it's simply because the rank is so overwhelmingly high that Appraisal doesn't work on her」

It would be like me not being able to appraise a Divine Sword huh? She's lived for thousands of years and said to be more powerful than any S-ranked adventurer. She may indeed be difficult to Appraise.

「Well, not only is she famous for being the Director of the academy, but she's also famous for her love of children too. So, I'm sure Fran will have no problem with her」

After that, we had a light chat about the local specialties in the area, and then we left the Guild Masters' office. It seemed that the Guild Master wanted to find out what kind of personality Fran had. I wonder what kind of rumors were going around about her?

Chapter 540: Charon

「Hey…」

「Nn?」

Someone called out to Fran when she came back to the lobby. It was Charon, the blonde drill girl from earlier. Her face seemed to be somewhat tense.

「I apologize for what I did earlier. I didn't know you were a high-ranked adventurer, and I was very rude to you」

It seems that the lady at the reception desk had told her that Fran was actually a high-ranking adventurer, and so she seemed to be afraid of her now. Even though she looked like the daughter of a nobleman who seemed to have a lot of pride, she bowed deeply on the spot without hesitation.

「I'm not angry」

「Re-really?」

「Nn」

When Fran told her so, she then looked relieved.

A high-ranking adventurer was probably just like a monster for a low-level adventurer. Even if she looked young—the fact that she'd managed to become a high-ranking adventurer at such a young age made Fran a veritable monster to her.

「Guild Master praised you」

「Eh? He praised, me?」

「Nn. He said you've bravely stood in front of a suspicious person just to protect your junior」

「About that, Umm...」

Charon looked down with a troubled look on her face.

It seemed as if she was being ridiculed for mistakenly treating Fran as a junior student and for how she treated a suspicious person without knowing the Guild Master's face, but she was also happy to be praised.

Either way, she was troubled on how to reply now.

『Fran, let's change the topic for now』

「?? Did I look like a student of the academy?」

「I'm sorry. I thought you were a student of the Elementary Department who didn't know the Academy's rules」

「Elementary Department's student?」

「Ye, yeah. There are many different departments at the Academy of Magic, but all students must start in the Elementary Department to learn the Magic Skills」

As expected of what was called the Academy of Magic, it seemed the students were required to learn Magic first. They would then be allowed to choose a new Department during the promotion period once every six months.

It didn't matter what attribute they could use, if they didn't graduate from the Elementary Course within three years, they would be expelled. Well, it was an Academy of Magic after all, so I guess it couldn't be helped.

「You are also not allowed to register with the Adventurer's Guild while you are enrolled in the Elementary Department」

Well, it was natural, since the children were probably all amateurs who couldn't even use magic after all.

However, it seemed that every year there were students from the Elementary Department who heard rumors that students from the Academy of Magic were going in and out of the Adventurer's Guild, and without even listening to the explanations of it, they immediately charged into the Adventurer's Guild.

「Some students are selfish and even cause trouble for the guild sometimes」

If a student of the academy were to cause trouble for the Adventurer's Guild, it could bring down the reputation of the entire academy. She was proud to be a student of the Academy of Magic, and so, that was not something she could tolerate.

I thought she was a member of the morals committee or the student council, but it seems she was just being concerned. After that, she told many stories about the failures of students who don't follow the school rules. It was quite rare that Fran listened to someone so quietly, wasn't it?

「Oi, It's time for us to go」

「Yes, I'm coming. Well, I'm really sorry about today. I'll take my leave now」

「Nn」

「I don't know if there is anything I can do for you, but if you have any problems, please just ask for help. I will show up at the Adventurer's Guild at least once a week」

「Okay, thanks」

「Very well then」

She was called by one of her companions, Drill-san then bowed one last time before leaving the guild.

As I saw her leaving, Fran suddenly talked to me.

(Master)

(Now I know what Master meant when he said it was an interesting hairstyle)

『Hmm?』

(Every time she moved; her hair would bounce)

『I thought you were listening to her quietly, but you were actually thinking about her hair, huh!?!』

(Her hair was interesting)

After leaving the Adventurer's Guild, we decided to enjoy sightseeing in Lady Blue based on the information we had gathered.

The lady at the reception desk seemed to be a local of this town and knew all the best places to go and places to visit.

We enjoyed the scenic hills and unusual buildings while visiting a few food stalls and restaurants.

As we toured the town in this way, I noticed a few things that made it different from other towns.

「It's beautiful here too」

「Woof」

『I don't see anyone that looks like a guard anywhere too』

No matter how narrow the backstreets or how far out of town we went, I couldn't find the so-called slums anywhere. There may be a gap between the rich and the poor due to income and other factors, but the atmosphere here seemed to never drop below a certain level.

Of course, we didn't run into any members of Thieves guilds or underworld organizations who wore an underworld atmosphere. We also didn't encounter any thugs who would try to take advantage of us. Well, it also meant that we couldn't get extra pocket money from those thugs either though.

That was unusual for a town of this size, right?

Furthermore, perhaps due to the lack of such criminal organizations, I have only seen a few guards in the town. It was not that there weren't any, but they were probably less than half that of other towns.

『Does it mean this town was so safe?』

「Nn. There's a lot of kids too」

『Come to think of it, maybe that was the case』

It was rare to see kids in an unsafe town. This was because parents think of the worst and don't let their kids play outside. But in this town, there are kids everywhere we go.

I could see the kids running around and playing in the back streets by themselves. I guess it meant that they were sure that they'll be safe.

On our way back to the inn, we went to the Adventurer's Guild to give them some baked sweets as a thank you for introducing us to a good restaurant. They also told us why the security here was so good.

It was simply that Weena Rhyn was crushing criminal organizations and criminals from the inside out. And they were sure that someday, no organization would be able to freely lay their hands on this town.

Weena Rhyn's methods are said to be quite extreme. For example, if there was a drug dealer, she would crush not only the dealer, but also the organization behind the dealer, the organization involved in the distribution, the organization involved in the production, and everything else.

It didn't matter if it was a nobleman or another country behind them.

The Kingdom of Belios, which had been repeatedly troubled by diplomatic problems due to her extreme measures, decided to defend the self-governing region.

I guess they would rather spend their budget to protect the self-governing region than let Weena Rhyn run wild as she pleased. No, maybe Weena Rhyn was actually the one who arranged for that to happen, huh?

Anyway, Lady Blue was safer than any other town we've been to.

『She loves kids, a radical one, and an Elf...』

(Just like Amanda)

『They're sure similar, huh?』

By the way, when Alistair mentioned the Academy of Magic, Amanda, who was standing next to her, was quiet and didn't say anything. I don't think it was surprising that Amanda and Weena Rhyn would be acquainted with each other... Well. If they really knew each other, she would have said something at that time.

『I wonder what kind of person she is...』

Chapter 541: One's Gaze

「Mogu! Mogu!」

「Gafu! Gafu!」 (*munching sfx)

『Does it taste good?』

「Nn!」

After we returned from our adventure in Lady Blue, Fran and Urushi were now in the middle of dinner at the inn.

They even served a normal meal for Urushi too without needing us to pay any extra fee.

The meal's contents were not an animals' food or anything like that, it was just the normal, salty food, from the same menu as Fran's.

It was hard to say if she was just like the old Japanese moms who didn't care about the health of their animals, or if she just dared to serve the same food to Urushi because she saw him as a powerful magic beast.

The menu consisted of gnocchi-like pasta made from wheat and potatoes with cheese, and tomato soup with ground meat. The rest of the meal consisted of bread, scotch eggs, and salad.

Urushi's portion was put together in a large deep dish, making it look like a left-over food for cats. No, it was not even a left-over food for cats anymore when it was mixed with so many other things.

It looked very unappetizing, but Urushi was eating it like it tasted good. It seemed that it consisted of a combination of ingredients that went surprisingly well together.

「...Hmmm」

Aah, Fran, don't mix it up! It's not polite! Don't look at Urushi with such envious eyes. It may look delicious, but it's not!

「How do you like my cooking?」

「It tastes good!」

「Woof」

「That's good to hear then. Just say so if you want more. I've got plenty of it」

After that, she refilled Fran's bowl three times without any hesitation, and the old lady didn't even look uncomfortable, and even happily gave us a special serving.

But still, was it okay for us to eat this much? Should we pay extra for it? Fran and Urushi were probably already eating ten people's servings after all...

However, the old lady didn't seem to mind Fran and Urushi's binge eating. The way she smiled while looking at Fran and Urushi, was just as if she were grandmother taking care of her grandchildren.

「Uwaah, you sure eat a lot aren't you?」

「It was delicious」

「Is that so? How about some herbal tea after dinner then?」

「Okay」

It was a dark green tea that looked quite bitter, but Fran seemed to enjoy drinking it. She seemed to rather like it.

As Fran sipped her tea, she looked up at the huge old tree. Well, her gaze was blocked by the ceiling though.

Fran, who had been quietly staring at the tree for a while, unexpectedly opened her mouth.

「Hey, is there really a spirit in this tree?」

「Yeah, the Spirit of the Green Trees was in it」

「Why did you build an inn around such a tree?」

「It's a bit of a long story, but—」

The old lady gave us a very long explanation, just like what she said. Fran almost got bored halfway through, but I managed to tie her to a chair with my telekinesis and secretly gave her some sweet snacks out of my storage.

To summarize briefly, there was originally a tree here where spirits dwell. It was said that the tree was now over 3,000 years old. However, about 1,500 years ago, it was not considered to be a tree where spirits dwelled anymore, but just a mysterious magical tree. Its sap, branches, leaves, and bark of the tree had been forcibly extracted by the alchemists and pharmacists who lived in this area at that time, and the tree had weakened.

The tree was then saved by the Elves who founded the inn, and Weena Rhyn, who was consulted by the Elves.

The method was simple: they bought the place and surrounded it so that no one could mess with the spirit tree. The reason why they turned it into an inn was because the spirits that lived in the tree liked to observe people.

As a result, it became an unusual inn that only allowed people approved by the spirits to stay inside. Fifteen hundred years have passed since then, and now the old lady, the granddaughter of the founder, was running the place. It has been 1500 years, and she was still the third generation... As expected of the long-lived Elf.

「Then, was I also approved by the spirits?」

「Yeah. In the first place, you wouldn't have been able to enter the inn without the spirit's approval」

I didn't know that. We couldn't sense spirits, so we had no idea. Spirits were mysterious existences after all.

I also understood the horror of it. After all, since we couldn't detect it, we wouldn't know if a spirit were aiming to attack us.

We would know if it launched an attack on us, but if the spirits were to lie low and stay put, it would be nearly impossible to detect them.

Afterwards, Fran and Urushi thanked her for the meal and went back to our room. Even as she walked, she kept looking at our surroundings.

Well, I know what she was looking for.

『Are you looking for the spirit?』

「Nn! I want to see it!」

「Woof!」

Even when we got back to our room on the third floor, she peeked between the branches of the spirit tree and into a small cave. But she never touched them. I guess it was because she was told not to hurt them.

However, there was no way she could find the spirit by doing so, and she ended up giving up.

Both Fran and Urushi went to bed looking disappointed. Lately, Fran and Urushi have been sleeping in the same bed together. Now that Urushi could become smaller, it was no longer a problem.

Urushi was held tightly by Fran's hands and feet in a hug. I wonder if it hurt. No, Urushi's sleeping face looks happy. Fran was also breathing comfortably, and both of them seemed to be enjoying their sleep.

As I was observing their sleeping faces, Fran suddenly opened her eyes.
Did my presence disturb her?

But when Fran jumped out of bed, her gaze was not on me, but on the entrance to the room for some reason.

『Wh-what's wrong, Fran?』

「Woof?」

Even Urushi, who had fallen off the bed when Fran suddenly raised herself, tilted his head, unable to understand what was happening.

「...I felt a gaze on me」

『A gaze? Did you feel it too, Urushi?』

「Woof...」

「I felt it」

Fran too, was still unclear about it.

Did she have a strange dream? Neither Urushi nor I could sense it after all... We used our skills to the best of our ability to search for a presence and magic, but we couldn't sense any presence of anyone other than us and the old lady inside the inn.

Of course, there was the presence of small insects, but it was hard to imagine that Fran would be awakened by such a presence. For example, if she had magic or skills that allowed her to see into the distance through the eyes of insects, she would definitely be able to sense the presence's origin. However, there was not even that in the inn.

『Maybe it was the spirit? It was said to like to observe people after all』

「I see」

After that, neither Fran nor the two of us could feel any presences. Well, we were dealing with a spirit after all. It would be quite difficult to sense them.

Eventually, Fran lay down on the bed again.

「...Good night」

『Ou, good night』

「Spirit...」

It seemed that it would be a while before Fran could sleep soundly.

Chapter 542: Unexpected Reunion

The day after Fran felt the presence of what seemed to be a spirit.

『Fran. You don't seem to be sleeping well last night. Are you okay?』

「I'm okay」

It seems that she was always searching for the spirit's presence. In the end, though, she didn't feel anything after that.

She rubbed her eyes, but that didn't stop her from eating her breakfast. She just looked like a real cat, didn't she?

Breakfast was freshly baked bread and vegetable soup with meat. Also, with assorted fruit and a large meatball-like ground meat dish, Fran and Urushi were happy to eat it.

「You're still sleepy, huh?」

「Nn...」

「I felt a gaze on me」

「Hou?」

When Fran told her about the gaze she felt last night, the old lady smiled happily.

「The spirit must have liked you」

「Is that so?」

「Yeah. Otherwise, it wouldn't be peeking on you」

To stay at this inn, you have to be accepted by the spirits, but that doesn't mean they like you. It was said that only a handful of people who were allowed to stay at the inn were liked by the spirits.

It seemed that some of the guests had seen them.

「How do I get the spirits to like me?」

「Well, I wonder about that...? Just be a good girl...」

Hmm, I don't understand what she meant by being a good girl... Do we just have to be nice to the old lady and not mess with the spirit tree?

Just like that, as she was eating her breakfast, the entrance to the inn opened. The person who came in was an Elven man. Ooh, even though he was an Elf, wasn't he a handsome one?!

When I looked closely, he was certainly a handsome person. But after seeing the Guild Master, he looked a bit plain. He reminded me of Phreon, the plain Elf we had explored the spider's nest with before.

Even the Elves had someone like this, huh?

「Umm, I believe there's an adventurer named Fran staying here...」

「Nn?」

I wondered if he was a new customer, but he seemed to have some business with Fran. When the man spotted Fran, he approached her with a smile.

「That appearance, are you Fran-san?」

「Who are you?」

「Aah, I'm sorry. I'm an employee of the Academy of Magic」

So, why was he here?

「The Director of the academy had returned earlier today. So, I am here to ask Fran-san about the date for your interview」

「You're asking me for the date?」

「Yes. The Director says it can be done today or tomorrow, but what do you think?」

It seems that Weena Rhyn was back after all. I was expecting him to tell us when to come, but he seemed to be giving priority to our convenience. I wonder, if we left it for a few days would she be disqualified?

(Master, can we do it today?)

Well, we must go there sometime soon, so...

『Yeah, we can do it today』

Even if we stayed here till tomorrow, there would be nothing to do but explore the town anyway. So, the sooner the better.

「Today then」

「Very well then. So, do you have a specific time in mind?」

「I should decide now?」

「Yes」

「I'll go after I finish my breakfast then」

「Very well. I will tell that to the Director then」

So, after finishing breakfast, Fran went to the Academy of Magic. We were coming through the back entrance today too. I thought about going to the main gate, but I thought it would be faster to talk with the guard who already knew Fran's face.

If they told us to go to the main entrance, we would have obeyed them, but they easily called Colt for us. In the first place, it seemed that outsiders don't often come to the back entrance, so they had already called Colt when they saw us.

「Hey, It's been yesterday」

「Nn」

「I'll show you to the Director's office. Follow me」

As we walked through the tunnel as we did yesterday, Colt gave us a few notes of warning.

「The Director is a gentle person, but she has no mercy for those who are hostile to the academy. So be careful not to offend her」

「Okay」

I wonder if she was a person who tends to easily get angry.

『Fran, don't be careless here』

「Nn」

She was a High Elf, and I don't want to antagonize her from the start. I'd never know what might happen after all.

We passed through the same tunnel we had passed through yesterday, but this time we did not head for the guard's office. Colt's eyes were on a tower at the far end. That was where he was headed, I guess. It seemed that today we would be taken to the school building of the academy.

We could see a sparse number of students around the building. They weren't there the other day, but maybe it was because they're on a break or something like that, huh?

Many of the students wore the same cloak as Charon and the others we met at the Adventurer's Guild, and others wore robes like magicians.

As I observed these students from a distance, I could see that they were looking at us from the other side as well.

「Is that a freshman?」

「But, what's about that equipment?」

「Well, there are some people who go from being adventurers to being students at this academy after all」

Under the gaze of many students, Fran abruptly stopped in her tracks.

「Huh? What's wrong?」

「...」

Colt, our guide, turned around in surprise. But I don't think Fran heard him. At the moment, Fran's attention was only on the person who came out of the building at the back.

「...Why, are you here...?」

I was surprised, too. How could he be in this place? And I panicked and tried to stop Fran.

「Awakening... Black Lightning Rush!」

『Wait! Fran!』

It was too late. Fran had already rushed out for battle.

Fran muttered the name of the man she hated, gritting her teeth so hard that they even made a sound.

「Zelos... Reed!」

Chapter 543: Someone that Get in The Way

「Zelos... Reed!」

Fran, who was running while being clad in black lightning, muttered a word filled with killing intent. However, she didn't leak any killing intent at all.

As a result of the use of Awakening and Brilliant Lightning Rush, a large amount of magic power has leaked out. However, whether or not there was killing intent attached to it, it could buy her a fraction of a second before the target she was aiming for—Zelos Reed—noticed her.

Fran was calm even though she was dominated by fury. Calmly, she acted to kill Zelos Reed.

「Sword God Transformation!」

『Ugh...!』

This was bad. Fran was even more pissed than I had thought. She didn't even check to see if it was okay for me to use the Sword God Transformation! The usual Fran would never do something like this!

I couldn't stop her anymore at this point. Her eyes were simply focused on the large, scarred man directly in front of her.

For some reason, his evil spirit seemed to have faded, as I could finally sense it at this distance, but I could certainly feel the evil spirit from inside the man. That figure and that evil spirit. He was definitely Zelos Reed.

Zelos Reed's face finally turned to look at her, as if he had noticed Fran's gaze, which was filled with crazy killing intent.

Our surroundings looked slower as we had entered the realm of super speed with our Sword God Transformation, and it had probably only been a few blinks since Fran had awakened. However, the distance between us was already less than half.

More magic power then gushed out of Fran, and the black lightning in her body increased in density. Then, Fran, who was running at full speed, turned into black lightning.

「Black Thunder Rolls!」

The place where Fran reappears after moving at super high speed with the Black Thunder Rolls was behind Zelos Reed. She had pulled me out of my scabbard and positioned me at her hips.

「Haaa!」

Fran's suppressed energy overflowed. It was the first time that even I had seen Fran unleash such killing intent.

As if seeking an outlet for her killing power, I was swung at him. Despite her current wild emotions, the attack was calm and beautifully executed.

The sword flash, which had been optimized by Sword God Transformation, was sure to reach Zelos Reed in the neck.

He shouldn't be able to duck at this point. Fran, who was in a state of Sword God Transformation, was convinced of this, and I could see it in her eyes.

Zelos Reed sensed Fran's killing intent and tried to react to it. I could see his head moving slightly as he tried to turn around to face us. But the fact that he was making such a movement now meant that he was completely unable to react in time to Fran's surprise attack.

No matter what he did now, there was no chance that Zelos Reed would be able to prevent this attack. It was already too late for him to try to activate any skills.

My blade then slipped into Zelos Reed's neck and sliced through his flesh. However, it was just right after that feeling came over me.

Booom!

「Ghaah!」

『Ghuhh!』

Fran and I were blown away by an impact that came from the side.

It wasn't that powerful. However, because she was targeted at the moment she launched her attack, she completely lost her balance.

If he had aimed for this timing, his discernment was perfect.

Fran twisted in mid-air as she was blown sideways and landed on the ground without any injuries. I wonder who this mysterious attacker was?

The crazy thing was that we didn't know the source of the attack until we were attacked. Now we knew they were a little behind Zelos Reed. There was someone there.

I couldn't figure who it was. But I could tell from the bias of the magic and the presence that there was someone there...

But Fran seemed to understand. Her eyes were clearly on the one behind Zelos Reed. Could it be that she could see them?

However, Fran's eyes quickly returned to Zelos Reed.

『Fran?』

「Let's go」

『Eh?』

Without the slightest hesitation, Fran's next move was to attack again. She seemed to be planning to defeat Zelos Reed here, even if it meant ignoring the mysterious person who had attacked us earlier.

No, it seemed that she would try to block their attack by putting up a barrier. Did she find out the identity of the other party?

「Tsk! This brat!」

「Haaah!」

In the meantime, Fran, who was in a state of Sword God Transformation, slashed at Zelos Reed without hiding the vicious killing intent coming out from her.

With the first blow, she sliced off his left arm, but the feeling was strange. It was clearly not flesh, but a hard substance.

Then I remembered. Come to think of it, Kiara's last attack had severed Zelos Reed's left arm, and apparently, it wouldn't regenerate.

For the evil people, the divine attribute was not only a weakness for them, but it could inflict fatal damage. And now she was clad in that divine attribute due to the effects of Sword God Transformation.

This was not a relief or anything, but a chance. If we hit Zelos Reed now, we might be able to inflict a fatal wound on him.

But this time's attack did not go well either.

It wasn't the invisible shock I had felt earlier, but this time I could see it. Suddenly, a layer of water the size of two tatami mats (Note: 2-3 meter) was stretched between Fran and Zelos Reed.

It was so dense with magic that I'd think it was made up purely of magic power.

However, Fran didn't care and slashed at it. And at that moment, the water layer then created a huge explosion.

「Ghaa...!」

『Fran!』

It seemed the layer of water was created by compressing a tremendous amount of water. When the compressed water was released all at once, an overwhelming amount of water overflowed instantaneously, making it look as if a huge explosion had occurred.

While in the air, she was attacked by the violence of the water so I rescued Fran from drowning by teleporting. But I could see that even though she was drowning, Fran's face was still looking in Zelos Reed's direction.

She hadn't given up yet. But honestly, she was already at my limit. Any more fights would be bad for us.

『Fran, sorry. I'm already...』

「Ugh!」

Hearing my words, she must have finally remembered that she was using the Sword God Transformation. She then hurriedly deactivated the skill.

「I'm sorry... Master...」

A tremendous amount of pressure then surrounded us. It was not Zelos Reed. For some reason, the pressure that Zelos Reed was giving off was not as significant anymore. It was as if he had no intention to fight us.

The source of the pressure was the person who had come out of the building after Zelos Reed. It was a blonde Elf.

「I wonder who is this bad girl who behaves badly in my beloved academy?」

Chapter 544: The Unmotivated Strong Person

While saying so, the beautiful blonde Elven woman gave off a pressure that even made Fran's whole-body shudder.

But now, her willow eyebrows were upturned showing her clear anger. When I looked at her face, she was just like an Elven woman frowning, but she gave off intimidation as if we were facing a Dragon.

「...Ugh」

She also showed us a glimpse of her ability. Just by slashing at the water, my durability value, which was buffed by the Sword God Transformation, was greatly reduced.

What was more, the annoying thing about that water defense layer was that it countered by instantaneously releasing a large amount of water. At the moment of attack, we'd be defenseless, and we'll be countered by a torrent of water at that moment, our attack could most likely be canceled halfway through. It was also quite difficult to spot it at first sight.

Even without appraising her, I could guess who this Elf was. She had tremendous magic power, the overly powerful Ocean Magic, and she also said the line 「My beloved academy」. Fran couldn't help but mutter her name.

「Weena Rhyn...?」

「That's right, I'm Weena Rhyn. Hmm... You're quite a lovely young lady, aren't you? Maybe you're Fran?」

「Nn」

「I wish we could have met differently... I also have a lot of questions I need to ask you——But first, I need to punish you」

The moment Weena Rhyn said that and looked at Fran, a violent sense of intimidation enveloped her. What she had been radiating was only a small residue that leaked out from earlier. Maybe she didn't even realize she was intimidating her.

「I'm sorry, but I won't let anyone who was messing in this academy go unpunished. But don't worry, I won't kill you」

Weena Rhyn was giving off a sense of pressure that was even accompanied by physical pressure as if the surrounding gravity had increased many times.

「I, Weena Rhyn, as the guardian, will——No, that's not good enough. That will be too much. To you, who will become a special instructor——That's still not good enough, huh? Then, to you, who have been offered a position as a special instructor and a short-term transfer plan, I shall begin with your punishment for your hostile acts towards our temporary instructor and our protected students. It will be a little harsher than a normal punishment. Well, you've almost killed him after all」

Immediately after Weena Rhyn said so, the air around us changed. I could see that the magic power that had enveloped this area was also flowing into Weena Rhyn. Some kind of reinforcement must have been applied to our surroundings.

However, Weena Rhyn seemed to be really unmotivated. Despite the intimidation and the words she said, there was not much motivation on her face. In fact, she looked like she didn't even want to fight.

「I'm going to have to restrain you for now. You can resist as much as you want, your opponent will be me alone. It's for your own good too. But I'm the strongest in this academy, you know? Divine Water Creation——Aquarius」

With Weena Rhyn's words, a sphere of water filled with strong magical power was created. Moreover, this sphere of water was slightly imbued with Divine Attributes. As the name suggested, Divine Water Creation must be a skill to create water with the Divine Attribute. She was manipulating it with the Ocean Magic, Aquarius.

Aquarius was an Ocean Magic that simply manipulated the surrounding water, but I've once read in the Adventurer's Guild documents that it could be changed into a thousand different forms when used by an expert user. In other words, if Weena Rhyn used it, it would become something terrifying.

The effect was immediately apparent. To my surprise, I could no longer sense the Divine Attributes and magic power from the water sphere. However, my danger detection was ringing loudly.

It's not that it has lost its attributes, but the effect of the Aquarius must have masked its presence. At first glance, it was just water magic. However, it was actually superb magic that contained powerful magic power and Divine Attributes.

Now I know why my endurance was cut down so quickly. That layer of water was also Divine water.

「Okay, let's start」

The next moment, a sphere of water shot out like a bullet. Fran jumped back to avoid it, but a new sphere of water was already created ahead of her.

「Tsk!」

Fran was trying to cut off the water sphere——.

『How troublesome!』

We were being toyed with. Although it was a spur-of-the-moment attack, it was a blow that could even take down a mid-level magic beast... Fran managed to dodge the water sphere by twisting her body using an aerial jump. The water sphere approached her again, but Fran was also in a position to intercept it. She was in a Sheaths of Wind stance.

「Haaa!」

「Ara?」

Now it was Weena Rhyn's turn to be surprised. Her eyes widened when she saw the water sphere that had been cut in half by the Sheaths of Wind technique.

「No way, I didn't expect you to be able to do this much... You're an amazing child, aren't you? That was wonderful. But I wonder, why do we have to fight...?」

As I expected, Weena Rhyn does not seem to want to fight. However, some kind of compelling force seemed to be at work, forcing her to continue the fight.

『Fran. All I see with my appraisal is her name only! I don't know what she's going to do next!』

「Then, we'll take her down as fast as we can. Now it's our turn!」

「And now you're using light magic? You're so versatile, aren't you?」

Fran shot her light magic, the Solar Ray. Just as it looked like the violent torrent of light was going to swallow Weena Rhyn, it was the same layer of water that had interfered.

The rays of light were blocked by a layer of water and dissipated. But this was expected. Rather, the purpose was to blind her with the flash of light and make her focus on defense.

「...Black Thunder Rolls——Heaven Judgement!」

With Fran still maintaining her light magic, she went right behind her with the Black Thunder Rolls.

She then unleashed her all-out attack. Fran's aim from the start was to get in close and use the Heaven Judgement.

The speed was so godlike that an ordinary opponent would not even be able to react and would only realize after being slashed by it. However, Weena Rhyn was able to respond to it.

「You're so fast, aren't you!?!」

Just like when she attacked Zeros Reed in her Sword God Transformation state, a layer of water then stood in front of Fran. She was blown away by its massive flow of water before, and unable to finish her slash.

But she had seen that technique once. So, Fran had naturally thought of a way to deal with it.

(Master!)

『Yeah』

To be honest, I don't know if resisting Weena Rhyn was the right thing to do here. Unlike Zeros Reed, we don't have a grudge against her, nor do we want to kill her. In fact, looking at it objectively, it would be worse for us to suddenly draw our swords and start fighting in a place where there were many non-combatants.

I couldn't sense any killing intent from Weena Rhyn, and I felt that it would be better for us to be caught obediently.

However, Fran was motivated, and she had received word from Weena Rhyn that it was okay to resist. Even if she was caught without resistance in this state, Fran would not be satisfied. If that was the case, it's better to go all out and feel satisfied later.

And it was not that I don't have my own thoughts after being so one-sidedly beaten before.

I activated my Dimension Shift in time with Fran's call. I guess that the counter of the water current was set to automatically activate upon impact.

We then easily slipped through the layer of water with the dimension shift. And the moment we hit Weena Rhyn, we canceled the skills.

As she regained her physical form, she was touched by the layer of water and the counter was triggered. Fran laughed ferociously while being blown away by the tremendous stream of water that was created to explode.

This time, there was a definite response.

「Kuh...! You can even use the space-time magic...!」

A red liquid was flowing out of Weena Rhyn's right side. It was where Fran's Heaven Judgement technique sliced through Weena Rhyn's side.

「You're stronger than I had imagined, aren't you...? It's been hundreds of years since I've had a hard-fought battle like this」

Weena Rhyn was grimacing. However, she immediately looked apologetic and said she was sorry.

「I'm sorry. I did say that you could resist as you can... But it seems that I've underestimated you. When this happens, I need to get a little serious... This is going to hurt a little bit, okay?」

Immediately after we heard Weena Rhyn's words, her figure was already in front of us. Instead of distancing herself to heal her wounds, she just stepped right in!

She must have been using a physical strengthening skill. Because even her blood flow has been strengthened, a large amount of blood was gushing out from her side. No, even that was actually Weena Rhyn's aim! A large amount of blood that overflowed became countless ivy and attacked Fran all at once.

Is it because it was a liquid, or because it was her blood that she could control it? Anyway, it seems that Weena Rhyn could manipulate her blood. Moreover, Weena Rhyn's blood, which was imbued with strong magical power, was actually much stronger than ordinary water.

The blood ivy, wriggling as if it was alive, wrapped around Fran's right arm in two or three layers. It must have focused on the right side of her sword grip. And her barrier could not pull it off.

Fran tried to use her magic release to blow the blood away, but it was a moment too late. Before she could do so, Weena Rhyn released a water sphere at close range that struck Fran's solar plexus.

「Ghaah!」

Because her arms were held by the blood ivy, she wasn't blown away and lost her power. Fran's body lifted and I saw that her right shoulder was badly injured.

Well, Fran wasn't the only one who was getting hit. Even as she was being attacked, she swung her left leg up and slammed a kick into the right side of Weena Rhyn.

「Guh!」

The water armor covering Weena Rhyn's skin caught the kick, but the impact seemed to have penetrated and reached Weena Rhyn, and she was frowning as she spat blood out of her mouth. Moreover, this was not the only attack that Fran had made.

「Eat, this!」

The black lightning that Fran wore was flowing into Weena Rhyn through her kick. It was the black lightning that even Goddarfa was taking damage from.

However, even though her entire body was enveloped in black lightning, Weena Rhyn's expression did not change. When I looked closely, I could see that she seemed to have controlled it with the water armor she wore and was guiding it to the ground.

It was a perfect response as if she had seen the black lightning before. Could it be that she had prepared the armor not to prevent the attack, but to nullify the black lightning?

「I think we're done here」

For some reason, Weena Rhyn let go of Fran's arm while saying those words. Fran hurriedly tried to keep her distance, but her legs never moved.

「Water...?」

Before she knew it, a large amount of water had covered Fran's body, blocking her movements. The water sphere that had just been released was not just to attack. The water quickly covered Fran's legs and torso. Moreover, this water was not just for catching Fran too.

「Argh? Gughaah...!」

Fran's body suddenly glowed and began to spark, accompanied by a buzzing sound like electricity popping. It was as if she was leaking electricity.

No, it seems that a similar phenomenon was really occurring. The black lightning on Fran's body lost its density all at once, and her life force began to drop rapidly.

「My... Power is...」

「It's been a long time since I've seen Black Tiger Kin, but I've got all the countermeasures I need, you know?」

This phenomenon, Weena Rhyn was doing this on purpose! It seemed that Weena Rhyn, who had lived for a long time, had fought the Black Heavenly Tiger in the past. So, this wasn't her first time seeing the black lightning either.

I tried to use teleport to somehow escape, but for some reason, it didn't activate.

『This feeling... It feels like something was interfering with its activation?』

「Did you try to use teleport? Currently, teleport was not allowed to be used in this whole area. Even I won't be able to use it」

『Fran! Unleash your Brilliant Lightning Rush right now! We're in trouble if you don't!』

「...Okay!」

As soon as Fran released the skill, she used all her magic power release while putting up a barrier, and flicked away the water that clung to her body.

「That was a quick decision, wasn't it? I can't believe you were able to do something about it... It's been hundreds of years since I had someone run away from me after I thought I've caught them perfectly, you know? I would have preferred to have a normal encounter with you if I could...」

Weena Rhyn sighed again as she healed her wounds. Her face showed signs of fatigue, but she was still able to fight.

On the other hand, Fran was fully wounded. If it was a game of simple battle, we'd have won by hitting her with the Heaven Judgement. But if you look at the degree of exhaustion, we were overwhelmingly defeated.

「You have very little energy left, but what will you do now? More than this, and I'll be more serious, you know? Or do you still want to go?」

Chapter 545: Surrender

「Or do you still want to go?」

「...I do!」

Immediately after shouting so, Fran created a ball of light behind her. However, this was not an attack skill, but merely simple light magic.

The place where it was created was where the light ball, Fran, and Weena Lane line up. Fran's long shadow then swallowed Weena Rhyn.

And then, the mouth of a huge beast suddenly appeared from her shadow and swallowed Weena Rhyn's leg.

It was Urushi, who had changed to his largest size, who ambushed her from the shadows.

「Grrrr!」

「...It's still hiding all this time even though you've been pushed this far, huh!？」

Weena Rhyn had jumped up as quickly as she could, and all Urushi could bite was below the knee. In addition, the Aquarius counter immediately pried open Urushi's closed mouth. Apparently, the large amount of water produced in his mouth made it impossible for him to keep it closed.

「Gaoof!」

Spitting out a large amount of water from his mouth, Urushi fled into the shadows again. But he had done his job well enough.

Although he hadn't been able to bite through, both of Weena Rhyn's legs had been severely injured. Blood was pouring out of the holes drilled by his fangs, and both legs would have been broken.

It was the effect of the dimensional fangs that he had acquired through his evolution. The attack, which ignored defense, penetrated the defensive layer created by Aquarius and inflicted damage to her.

If he had been able to close his mouth completely without the water getting in the way, he would have been able to bite her legs off... But this was enough to make a chance for us.

Fran and I decided to make our final attack here.

「Kanna Kamui!」

「Let's overlap it!」

To be honest, my durability value was already on the edge. That was due to the combination of the damage received from the Sword God Transformation and the damage from striking the Divine Water.

Knowing this, Fran chose magic. It was a field that she was not very good at, but her training had improved this as well.

It wasn't enough to unleash Kanna Kamui easily, but it didn't take her tens of seconds to concentrate like before. That was enough time for me to complete my preparations in the time that Urushi had given us.

The strongest attack we could unleash at the moment rained down on Weena Rhyn, who was healing her legs while floating in the air using water to support her body.

「Divine Water Creation! Yamata-no-Orochi!」

(Note: Eight-headed serpent)

However, our opponent was a master of magic. She must have sensed the signs. So, she immediately activated her magic against the extreme lightning that was pouring down.

Eight dragons formed out of water ascended toward the sky. The water dragons, each with their own tremendous power, then collided with Kanna Kamui in the sky, causing a tremendous discharge.

Rizzt zzt zzzt!

Then the lightning rapidly became thinner and thinner and disappeared before it even reached the ground.

It wasn't an explosion, nor was it being one-sidedly pushed back. The water dragon had weakened, dispersed, and dissipated the power of extreme lightning.

It seems that Weena Rhyn was doing it on purpose. She had adjusted its power to cause as little damage to the surrounding area as possible while being able to cancel out our Kanna Kamui.

We were able to have a good match in close combat, but I guess she has the upper hand in the battle of magic.

「That hurts... My combat instincts must have been completely dulled, huh? But even so, you are still able to use Kanna Kamui after using the Heaven Judgement, huh...? Aren't you a little too strong for someone of your age? Well, I'll ask you once again, will you surrender now?」

Perhaps, Fran's voluntary surrender was the key. Weena Right seemed to be forced to fight by some kind of compelling force after all. It seemed that in order to stop it, the other side would have to surrender or be neutralized.

「The damage would be too great if we were to have a serious fight here with someone of your level. I'll detain you, but I'll let you go soon. I promise」

(Master?)

『I think we should listen to what she has to say here. She wasn't lying』

The Principle of Falsehood was able to discern a lie and the truth. However, I didn't know if the Principle of Falsehood was working properly against someone who was so superior that even my appraisal could only reveal her name.

Still, Fran seemed to have decided to believe her words. Well, it could also be said that her anger was somewhat dissipated after the fierce fight.

「Or do you still want to beat me and kill him?」

Weena Rhyn and Fran's gazes turned to Zeros Reed, who was standing some distance away. He was covered in blood, with blood pouring out of his neck, which had been cut open by us. But he didn't make any noise and stood there quietly.

「I understand that you have a history with him, but I can't let you kill him just yet. Besides, if you kill him here, I won't be holding back anymore. So please, surrender!」

Weena Rhyn said so and bowed her head in place. It felt like the positions were reversed, but I could tell that Weena Rhyn really wanted to avoid further fighting. Fran must have understood that too.

「...Okay, I'll surrender」

「Thank you」

Weena Rhyn exhaled in relief at Fran's words.

「Hmm... Berthoudi is still making noise...」

But her brow furrowed again.

「Eh? Do you mean that wolf? I don't have a choice then」

Does she have a conversation with someone? Weena Rhyn, who was nodding towards nothing, produced a sphere of water again.

「Aside from Fran, I don't think I've punished the wolf enough. I'm sorry if I'm being a little rough with him」

The sphere that Weena Rhyn created was sent flying and landed at Fran's feet. I wondered if she was trying to restrain Fran, but it didn't seem that was the case.

The sphere of water began to spread thinly as if it were licking the ground. At first glance, it would appear that Fran was standing in the center of the puddle. I wonder what she was doing.

As Fran and I watched in amazement, the water immediately began to bubble up. Soon after, something jumped out of the water.

「Ofu offu!」

「Urushi?」

It was Urushi, spitting water out of his mouth and scratching the air with its paws as if he were drowning. Or rather, he was actually drowning. It seems that the water was somehow poured into the shadow where Urushi was hiding.

As long as Urushi was blocked from using his teleport, he would not be able to escape the water torture. As soon as Urushi jumped out of the water, the sphere of water that was placed above his head attacked him again, as if it had been aiming for it.

「Offu...!」

When the water sphere expanded at once, Urushi was trapped inside it. After having escaped from being suffocated, he was immediately thrown back into the water and moaned pitifully.

He seemed to be on the verge of panic, but still, Urushi did not give up. He then tried to make his body huge at once. He thought he could use the size of his body to blow away the water.

However, Weena Rhyn was one step ahead of him.

「It's useless」

To my surprise, the water sphere expanded to adjust with the giant Urushi. In the end, Urushi was still trapped in it. Then Urushi's face was distorted in agony. It seemed that water was being forcefully pushed into his mouth.

「Offufu...」

This was bad, Urushi's going to drown! But just as Urushi's face twisted in agony, Weena Rhyn snapped her fingers. Then the sphere of water changed its shape, with only Urushi's face allowed to come out.

「That should take care of the wolf. You're next. Stay put」

「Nn」

Weena Rhyn then waved her finger lightly, and water rose from under Fran's feet at once, covering her as if to envelop her. From the outsider's perspective, it would appear as if she were being attacked by blue slime.

Just like that, the water went from Fran's neck down. It wrapped around her torso and legs, similar to Urushi. Apparently, the water pressure was exquisitely regulated, as there was no damage to Fran's vitality. However, she seemed to be unable to move.

Fran and Urushi, who were stupidly restrained with only their faces sticking out of the water sphere, were drooping in frustration.

But Weena Rhyn's face still frowned.

「She doesn't seem to want to resist, and I've restrained their movements, but why is Berthoudi still so noisy...? Eh? Her sword? What you mean is that hostile thing is... her sword?」

She was talking to someone else again. And did she just say sword? Then Weena Rhyn's gaze turned completely to me.

The water holding Fran then wriggled, and I am separated from her in such a way that only I am separated from her.

「Umm? Sword-san? How should I say this...? Are you going to resist?」

I was sure that she knew. So, there was no point in hiding it now.

「Well, just because it has consciousness doesn't mean that it can answer my question huh...?」

『...No, I'm not going to resist』

「Eh? What was that?」

『I'm the sword. Please talk using telepathy for now』

(A-a talking sword...? Even though each one of them was legendary enough, there are only three of them after all... Well, I'll have to hear more about that later, okay?)

『Yeah』

「Hostile response complete. This concludes the defensive action」

When Weena Rhyn said that, the magic that had covered our surroundings dissipated. At the same time, the aggressive magic emanating from Weena Rhyn eased.

Chapter 546: Zelos Reed's Change

「Let's see... Fran, you are somehow related to him, am I right?」

Weena Rhyn asked Fran, who only had her head out of the water sphere a question.

「Nn...」

「Haah... If I'd known about it beforehand, I might have been able to prevent this, but I've been so busy dealing with something that I haven't had a chance to look through your files」

「My files?」

「Yes. When interviewing a staff member, the research office is supposed to provide a briefing on the person in advance. Well, in your case, since you're quite famous, they've been gathering rumors about you from the beginning」

She said they would gather information before the interview. So, they have a special department for that, huh? And then they would pass on the information they had gathered to Weena Rhyn.

「I've been looking for him since yesterday. We've been trying to seal him up ever since, and we finally caught him this morning. It was finally going to be over and I was just about to take him to the isolation room...」

Then Fran came across him at the worst possible time.

「When I interrogated him, he told me that he came from the Beastman Nation to the continent of Zilbert, but did you have a grudge with him?」

「Nn」

Fran nodded and turned her eyes, filled with dark emotions, to Zelos Reed.

Kiara had told us not to seek revenge, but as expected, she couldn't just ignore it when Zelos Reed appeared in front of us.

Zelos Reed, who had been hit with killing intent, was standing behind Weena Rhyn, instead of running away. Weena Rhyn had said that she had caught him, but what about his current treatment?

「As I said before, I still can't let you kill him. Besides, he is being treated as one of our temporary employees right now. So, we need to protect him, that's how it works. Well, I understand that it may not sit well with you, so I'm not asking you to accept it right now」

「However, I'd like you to choose the place to get your revenge on him next time」

「Just take a look around you」

Around us? Fran and I then looked around us as we were told.

Then we saw a group of students who had been watching us from afar fall on their knees.

「I've made a barrier beforehand, so the damage is minimal... But before that... When you attacked him, the students got the full brunt of your power and intimidation」

The barrier must have been the magic that surrounded the area after Weena Rhyn mumbled something back then. Apparently, it had the effect of blocking damage from the inside to the outside.

So, it was definitely our fault that the students were scared.

When Weena Rhyn appeared, I thought she looked like a dragon in front of us, but to the students, Fran was exactly like that.

I guess they were too frightened to even run away in the face of the mysterious being that had suddenly appeared, clad in super magic and spreading vicious killing intent. They were looking at Fran with a mixture of fear and terror.

「Aah...」

「This time, there were only a few students around, so we only suffered this much, but if it was in the town, the whole town would have panicked」

「...I'm sorry」

She finally realized how little she had been aware of her surroundings. Fran then bowed her head with a heavy feeling.

「Ara? You're apologizing?」

「?? Because I did something bad...」

「You're quite an honest girl, aren't you...? Well, let's take care of him for the time being」

Weena Rhyn then looked away from Fran, who was bowing her head and approached Zelos Reed, who was standing behind her.

Even though it had been prevented, my blade had slightly cut Zelos Reed's neck.

And at that time, she was clothed in Divine Attributes due to her Sword God Transformation. So Zelos Reed was unable to recover from the wound on his neck, and could only hold back the unstoppable flow of blood with his hands.

「Just sit tight for a bit... Divine Water Creation, Aqua Heal」

Weena Rhyn waved her hand lightly as she created a new sphere of water. The water then clung to the wound on Zelos Reed's neck and began to glow dimly.

After a few seconds, a section of the slashed flesh rose and began to regenerate itself at high speed.

Shouldn't the Divine Attribute be quite effective against the evil gods...? Or was it because she used a recovery based on the divine water?

In no time, Zelos Reed's wounds were healed. Then Weena Rhyn gave him an order.

「Stand up」

Although she had healed him, Weena Rhyn's gaze on Zelos Reed was very cold. Without complaining about such treatment, Zelos Reed nodded quietly. His gaze turned to Fran for just a moment. He was neither frightened nor angry, just quietly staring at Fran. But that was impossible, to begin with.

Is this really Zelos Reed? His atmosphere has changed to such an extent that I doubted him.

When their eyes met, Fran began to glare at Zelos Reed again. This was not good. If this continued, Fran's anger would flare up again.

When Weena Rhyn saw this, she raised her voice.

「We can't even talk properly with him around, huh...? Colt, take him to the Third Tower, I've already spoken to the other side before」

Oh, we forgot about Colt. We forgot he was here ever since Weena Rhyn showed up.

「Are you sure you'll leave him to me?」

「I've put a seal on him, and Berthoudi and the others will keep an eye on him. Besides, he won't do anything stupid while he was still healing, right?」

「Yes」

「I'm going to have a talk with Fran then」

「Understood」

I don't know the details, but it seemed that something magical was binding Zelos Reed.

「Also, call the other staff members to come and administer first aid to the students. None of the students is in any serious condition, but they can take a break from their classes for today」

Fran's head drooped as she listened to the exchange between Weena Rhyn and Colt. She was probably regretting now that she had caused damage to unrelated students because of her hatred of Zelos Reed.

「You should go now」

「Yes. Come with me」

「Okay」

Zelos Reed then quietly obeyed Colt's words and started walking slowly. So, he had really changed, huh? I guess I could call it a transformation. Was it because of Weena Rhyn's magic? Or...

「Fran, why don't you just talk to me for now?」

Weena Rhyn's body then blocked Fran's gaze, which was staring at Zelos Reed's back with a complicated expression.

「I'm going to release you now. I hope you won't run away. Besides, you must want to know about a lot of things, right?」

「No problem, I won't run away」

「Thank you. Then, I'll release you now」

Weena Rhyn then snapped her fingers, and the water sphere that had been holding us disappeared.

「Come with me」

Weena Rhyn turned and walked away as the two of them landed. Fran then picked me up from where I was stuck in the ground and followed her with a short run.

Chapter 547.1: Guardian Spirits of the Academy

Weena Rhyn led us to what appeared to be her office. Fran then sat on a sofa in one corner of the room and faced Weena Rhyn.

「I'd like to introduce myself again. I'm Weena Rhyn. I'm the Director of the Academy of Magic」

「B-ranked adventurer, Fran. And this is Urushi」

『My name is Master, and I'm an intelligence weapon』

「Master? Is that your name?」

『Yeah』

「I've been called President, Headmaster, or Director too. So, I know how you feel」

Just as I expected, Weena Rhyn's reaction towards me was a little weak. Well, it's not like I don't like it when people aren't surprised when they find out about me, but she's much calmer than the people who have seen or know who I am.

But I soon found out why.

「This is the first time in a thousand years since I've seen an intelligence weapon capable of having a proper conversation」

『You know any other intelligence weapons besides me?』

「Well, I've lived a long life after all. I know more than what I can hold in one hand. You're the second sword that I've seen that is capable of having a proper conversation. Most intelligence weapons have gone mad after all...」

What a surprise, it seemed that she had met an Intelligence Weapon many times before. I guess that was why she wasn't terribly surprised to know about me.

But still, the mad intelligence weapon, Fanatics, also said that when a person's consciousness was in the body of a sword, there's a good chance they'll go mad. I feel like I want to meet the other intelligence weapons, but I also feel scared at the same time...

However, I could tell that the Intelligence Weapons were not new to her. Rather, it seemed that Weena Rhyn's interest was in Urushi.

Urushi, who was sitting next to Fran in his small form, was stared at by Weena Rhyn. Well, Urushi felt nervous when he was being looked at.

「Eh? Well, this is the first time I've seen this species. It's been a long time since I've seen a magic beast that was completely new to me, you know? Well, forget about that, there's something you want to know more than that, right?」

「Are you sure it's fine to leave Zelos Reed to Colt?」

「It's fine. I've used my skill to seal off the evil spirits within him and bind his actions, and the spirit here is watching over him too」

Just as I thought, it seems that the reason why Zelos Reed's evil spirit was suppressed was as a result of something Weena Rhyn had done. On top of that, he seemed to be bound by a kind of slave contract. Moreover, she had a spirit watching over him.

「I didn't limit his ability to talk properly, but his strange quietness has shown that he's obeying me. Well, when you attacked him, he didn't fight back, right? That's because fighting is not allowed in the academy」

Indeed, Zelos Reed did nothing more than put out his hand to block our attack. After our first attack failed, there must have been plenty of opportunities for him to counterattack.

『In the first place, why is Zelos Reed here?』

「It all started the day before yesterday」

Weena Rhyn has received word that a dangerous criminal was hiding in the Self-governing region. He was not well known in this country, but there was a bounty on his head in other countries.

It was said that adventurers had already set out to capture him, but had been repelled many times. Even if there were no deaths, his power was considered to be overwhelming.

So, this time, Weena Rhyn herself went out to catch him. Because of her flashiness and numerous heroic stories, people tend to think that Weena Rhyn was always ready to respond to any situation, but she said that if there was an incident outside of the Academy that could be handled by someone other than her, then she would leave it to them.

「Otherwise, the younger generation will not grow up. And I don't have time to deal with every little incident, you know?」

Conversely, Weena Rhyn would only respond if it was a much more serious incident.

Weena Rhyn then used her magic and other means to find Zelos Reed and captured him after a battle. But she also learned that Zelos Reed had a companion.

「A kid named Romio?」

「Yes, Romio Magnolia, I've decided to take him under my protection」

So, he was still bringing him around after all this time, huh?

I've heard that Weena Rhyn likes children, and I could understand her decision to protect Romio. If it were Amanda, who likes children too, she would have also done the same.

However, Fran was still confused.

「Is there a reason why I shouldn't kill Zelos Reed yet?」

「That's the problem... There's a connection between Romio and him that's close to a master-slave contract. And a nasty one at that, where if one of them gets hurt, the other one will get hurt too」

「Zelos Reed did that?」

「I think it's the opposite. Romio might be the one who unconsciously made a deal, I guess it's kind of a curse possessed by Magnolia's bloodline...」

『How is that possible? He's just a little kid, right? And what this all about Magnolia's bloodline?』

I know he's from a noble bloodline, but what's so special about his family?

「A long time ago, there was a special family on the continent of Gordisia that guarded the seal of the pieces of the Evil God. Magnolia, Wisteria, and Camellia. The people of those three families had a special bloodline that could communicate with the Evil Gods and control their power. They have taken advantage of that characteristic to perform a ritual to appease the Evil Gods... However, the Dragonmen destroyed and stole the pieces from them」

The pieces of the Evil God that Trismegistus used to create the giant magic beasts must have been the pieces that those three houses were guarding.

「And this child, Romio, was a descendant of that Magnolia Family. Moreover, his blood was pretty strong that I even thought he was a reincarnation of his ancestor」

Could it be that it was because of that blood that Murellia and Zelos Reed were strangely obsessed with Romio? No, I'm sure it was.

「Anyway, as long as that contract was still in place, killing him will only get Romio killed too」

And apparently, that was not all.

It seems that Romio's young body had been contaminated with evil from spending so much time with Zelos Reed. After all, there's a phenomenon of intoxication by being exposed to strong evil, and it seems that Romio's condition was even worse than that.

It was life-threatening if it was not cured, but because of the contract, it was dangerous to keep them apart for a long period of time.

So, in the end, to protect and treat Romio at the academy, it was necessary to have Zelos Reed close to him.

「So I decided to use my power to significantly suppress Zelos Reed's power and keep them in the academy until Romio is healed... I'm going to treat him as a temporary employee. I'll also explain to you why I'm doing something like this」

「Nn」

「First of all, this Academy of Magic is protected by a powerful guardian spirit and its dependent spirits. So, there must be hundreds of spirits guarding and watching over the academy」

『Could it be, the mysterious attack that first blocked Fran's attack was...』

「The High Ranking one was in charge of watching over Zelos Reed. And in your case, it was just trying to stop an outsider from committing violence in the academy rather than protecting Zelos Reed」

So that's why I couldn't see it! Moreover, if it was a High-Ranking spirit, it must be quite strong. And wasn't it quite dangerous if it could attack stealthy from anywhere?

But it seems, Fran managed to look at it faintly. No, maybe it was just a faint feeling, huh? Perhaps because of our stay in that inn, Fran got the ability to sense spirits.

『Fran, did you see the spirit?』

「...I only felt something strange」

「Ara? Maybe Fran has a talent as a spirit user」

「Really?」

「I'm just saying it's possible. For example, how about this?」

Weena Rhyn then pointed her fingertips lightly at the ceiling. All I could see was a slight movement of magic, but I don't know what's happening.

However, Fran could definitely see something.

「It looks hazy」

「Hmm, you can only roughly see it, huh? But it seems you can feel it」

Maybe Fran really has a talent as a spirit user, huh? I'd really like to see her use it.

「How to be able to see them?」

「Hmm... Let's see... All I can say is that you need to be in contact with spirits and be aware of them at all times. Some people say that you need to have a pure heart, but to be more precise, some spirits like people who have a pure heart. In the first place, many spirits don't care whether we are good or bad」

「Is that so?」

「Yes. Think about it. Do you think that spirits would care about the values, crimes, and laws that the peoples have set for themselves? The same goes for the guardian spirits of this academy. Their defense ethics have nothing to do with right or wrong. First and foremost is the safety of those involved in the academy as specified in the contract. Next is the people's safety, which is its high priority. No matter what the reason, the guardian spirits will not tolerate any hostile acts」

Moreover, the defense system was not limited to the spirit's surveillance network.

「And I, myself, am part of that defense system」

Weena Rhyn then explained further to Fran and Urushi who looked confused.

「To put it simply, the guardian spirits will determine if someone is an enemy, and I will be the one to impose sanctions. That's how it works. That's also the reason why I attacked Fran earlier」

Chapter 547.2: Guardian Spirits of the Academy

It seems that if an outsider attacked the academy, Weena Rhyn had to deal with them. To fulfil the contract with the spirits, she couldn't stop attacking until the spirit decided that the sanction was sufficient.

「The spirit's eyes can't be deceived, so in some cases, I have to kill them against my will」

In addition, the spirits could read the emotions of the enemy and even determine if they were feeling remorse or if they were lying.

In other words, the degree of sanction would be rather severe against those who had surrendered but thought that they could get revenge later.

The degree of the sanction also varied considerably depending on the position of the other party and the degree of hostility.

If a hostile organization hurts a student in the academy, they were doomed, no questions asked. However, if it was someone friendly to the school... For example, if a graduate raised their hand because a student mocked them, a simple apology was all that was needed.

In some cases, the academy may be at fault, but that doesn't seem to matter to the spirits who judge the degree of sanction. Even if the other party was a Saint, a felon, or even the King, the sanction would still be enforced.

「It was impossible to keep him, an evil person, in the academy without a title. Just being Romio's guardian was not enough to convince the spirits, so he needed the title of a temporary staff member」

「Aah, you mean, is it fine for us to accept a sinner?」

「Nn」

「You see, as I said before, laws made by humans are meaningless to the spirits that judge them. In addition, if you are talking about him who has taken the lives of many people, the number of people that I have directly taken is hundreds of times greater than the number of people that he has killed」

Weena Rhyn then shrugged her shoulders after saying so.

「I've traveled around the world for a long time, fought on countless battlefields, and fought against countries. Even now, some countries still have me listed as a terrible criminal」

Come to think of it, she had also killed a nobleman who messed with the academy, right? Well, no wonder she would be considered as their enemy.

「And such a person is acting as the Director of the academy, right? Well, it just goes to show that spirits don't care what kind of sins you've committed」

As a result, Fran, an outsider who had attacked Zelos Reed, who was now an academy employee, had triggered the sanctions.

「But there is one thing I owe you an apology for」

「To lessen the sanctions against you, I misled the guardian spirit, Berthoudi, by pretending that you were related to the Academy. Specifically, it's when I said, "To you, who have been offered a position as a special instructor and a short-term transfer plan". Instead of treating you like someone from outside the academy who almost killed someone from the academy, I decided to treat you like someone from the academy that got into a fight with someone from here」

(TLN: Reference ch544)

I see. So, there was a loophole like that, huh? She had a letter of introduction from Alistair, and since Weena Rhyn actually recognized her as a related individual, she was then treated as a related on the spot by the spirits.

And it seems Alistair's letter of introduction was particularly influential. It was said that just having this letter of introduction was enough for a minor assault case to be judged as no problem. That's why even Fran, who was involved in an attempted murder case, was only detained.

For a moment, I wondered why she hadn't told Alistair that information, but then I thought, why would she need to?

It was obvious that one shouldn't be messing on the academy or being hostile to Weena Rhyn. It was also common sense that someone should not be rude to someone who was about to hire them.

It's the same as someone warning an acquaintance who was going to a job interview at a big company with 「Don't be rude at the office」 or 「Don't insult the Chairman of the company and make him angry」.

I heard that if we pass the interview, they usually tell us about it, but I guess they didn't think it was necessary to tell us. As we had a letter of introduction, some mischief was allowed. It was just that this time, that wasn't enough.

Oh, that was right. There's another mystery.

『We had attacked Weena Rhyn, right...? So, we actually did some damage, didn't we?』

She had slashed her with Heaven Judgement, and Urushi too has hurt her a little, right? Wouldn't our sanction be increased by the spirits?

「Yeah, I've told you in the beginning that you could resist, didn't I? That's why I permitted you to do that」

So, by Weena Rhyn's permission, it was treated as a mock battle, huh? In other words, she had said a precautionary line first so that Fran could resist.

「But Fran was much stronger than I expected. Well, it was also because I hadn't calculated you had the support of Master. I should have told her that she could hurt me, not that she could resist as much as she wanted. The spirit then judged that you were resisting more than you were allowed to. I'm sorry」

Weena Rhyn bowed her head as she said so.

The surprise attack she had done to Zelos Reed was offset by receiving some damage and being restrained. Her attack on Weena Rhyn too was offset by receiving some damage from Weena Rhyn. And the fear she had caused to the students was forgiven by the apology she made afterward. That seemed to be the case.

However, the problem remained.

『You said that she has been offered a position as a special instructor and a short-term transfer plan, right? Does that mean it's already decided?』

「That's the problem, isn't it? In the first place, if you think about what Fran has been doing since she came to this academy, there's no factor to increase her likability. I'm not going to say, "I'm going to make you a member of our prestigious academy, shiver and be grateful!" I'm not even going to say that. But for now, that title is the only reason Fran is allowed to be here by Berthoudi」

『What if she refuses?』

「...If you refuse, I think you'll have to deal not only with me but with the spirits as well」

Doesn't that mean we don't have the right to refuse at all!?

「Don't worry. You can't quit immediately, but if you work for a couple of weeks, the spirits will be satisfied. That's how long it will take to work for a short period of time to be completed」

Well, by listening to her explanation, I could tell that it was a necessary procedure... It was probably because she had made a decision for Fran on her own.

But even so... Not only an instructor but a transfer student too? Doesn't that mean she's going to be a student here? I wonder if she will be fine...

However, Fran nodded easily at her words.

「Understood, I'll be that special...?」

「Special instructor and short-term transfer student」

「That's fine then」

『Fran, are you sure?』

「Nn? In the first place, that was my intention; it's the same as passing the interview after all」

Apparently, she didn't have any particular thoughts about Weena Rhyn. So, she casually accepted Weena Rhyn's words.

「If we stay here, we can keep an eye on Zelos Reed」

『Well, you're right』

Whether or not the opportunity for revenge came around, she was not going to give up and let it pass her by here.

「Are there a lot of spirits in this academy?」

「Yeah, There aren't many places as crowded with spirits as here, you know?」

「If so, I can practice using spirit magic by staying here. So, it's a good thing」

「Haah... That's good for you then. Thank you very much for accepting it. Now I don't have to be angry with A-chan anymore... Aah, as an apology for the trouble, I'll at least offer you a raise in your salary. But do you have anything else you want?」

「...I want to have a mock battle with Weena Rhyn」

「Huh? With me? I don't mind though, but...」

Rather, the major reason we came to this academy was because of her interest in Weena Rhyn. She wanted to see the strength of the strongest High Elf in the world. And although she had experienced that strength once, I guess she wanted to fight some more.

Weena Rhyn, who was obviously not a battle junkie, chuckled at her.

「Your face is cute, but you're quite greedy, aren't you?」

「?」

「Well, just wait for it. In the meantime, I look forward to working with you for a short time」

「Nn. I'll be in your care」

Chapter 548: Shitty Brat

Chapter 548: Sh*tty Brat

「This way」

「Nn」

We were now being taken by Weena Rhyn to the staff room. Most of the staff was given private rooms or laboratories, but apparently, there was also a large room for everyone to gather.

She said that it was more convenient for them to prepare before class or for simple meetings. It really felt like a Japanese staff room.

「But still, you're the first one to cause such commotion in such a state since the establishment of this academy, you know?」

「Usually, people who come to the academy for an interview are nervous because they know about me. So, who would cause a commotion in such a state, right?」

Well, she was right. If they offended Weena Rhyn, they would be doomed. In that sense, Fran was in a lot of trouble.

「And I'm not going to let you do anything crazy in my presence」

「I see」

「I usually make people wait an hour for an interview, but some of them get angry and leave」

「You make them wait? Why?」

「We don't need people who didn't have the patience and enthusiasm and leave with just being neglected for that long」

I think they were just like normal people in interviews on Earth, weren't they? I mean, I used to get that kind of treatment a lot when I was looking for a job. In large-scale interviews, they even made me wait for a long time. It was a combo strategy of making you wait for a long time and then pressuring you into an interview.

Well, there were also times when the interview process was prolonged and the company unintentionally made you wait. Anyone who had experienced those eras when companies were super dominant would understand it.

「Some aristocrats who brag about their great titles have no patience. In the first place, being an instructor or teacher is hard work, right? Not all kids are good and honest, and there are a lot of sh*tty brats out there. You have to have enthusiasm and patience to deal with them. Or maybe you just need the heart to go through it」

「Nn?」

Fran tilted her head a little when she heard Weena Rhyn's words. I was also feeling a little uncomfortable too.

「Do you like kids?」

That was right. I felt uncomfortable with Weena Rhyn's tone when she said "Sh*tty brat". Amanda, who also loved children, would not have said it, and even if she had, there would have been a hint of affection in it. But I couldn't feel it in Weena Rhyn's words.

She seemed to really think of them as sh*tty brats. However, she then laughed slightly with a bitter smile.

「I don't know why people seem to think of that of me as the Director of the academy... Well, it was also because I've made a contract with the spirits so that I was bound to the academy, but I wonder if that's another point that they've misunderstood. Well, but I love honest, cute, and talented kids, okay? Like you for an example」

Weena Rhyn said so and winked at her. But the chuckle remained on her face.

「I can't love every kid unconditionally just because they are a kid, right?」

『So, why did you become the Director of the academy?』

「There's a lot of things an adult should do. Aah, by the way, you know Amanda, don't you?」

「Nn」

I saw that she was looking through Fran's files before she said so. So, I guess it must be from what was written in it.

「You shouldn't compare with to that girl」

「You know her?」

「You haven't heard about it?」

「Nn」

「Fufufu, she never changes, doesn't she...? Well, her ancestors are my children. I guess that makes her my descendant, right?」

What? She was related to her by blood? But Amanda never said anything about that, right?

「Well, it's because she hates me」

「Well, it's because of a lot of things. But one reason is that she probably doesn't like me being called as a kid loving person, as she was a real kid loving person」

Is that all? Well, I'm not going to pursue it too deeply if she doesn't want to tell more.

As we walked along talking like that, I noticed that the students we passed were staring at Fran.

「Who is she? I can't believe that the Director is personally showing her around」

「Maybe she's some kind of noble?」

「I don't think the Director would care about something like that. She's the type who would even beat up the royalty after all」

「Umm, is that the director of the academy? This is the first time I've seen her」

「Oi oi, we were greeted by her at the entrance ceremony, you know?」

「Well, I was late getting in because of my family matter...」

I wondered if the incident from earlier had already spread, but they seemed to be simply surprised that Weena Rhyn was guiding us.

The students thought they were whispering, but we and Weena Rhyn could clearly hear them. It seemed that Weena Rhyn's face wasn't well known even to them.

「It can't be helped, you know? Most of the work is done by my subordinates after all. So, the only time I appear in front of the students is for the upperclassmen's mock battles or greetings at the ceremony」

It was a school with a long history after all, so I'm sure they already have a complete system of education as well as defense.

Besides, as the Director of the Academy, she wouldn't be in charge of classes often.

Even for me, it was hard to remember what my principal looked like when I was in school. But I do remember that the principal in my high school had a little less hair though.

「Besides, I usually walk around in a plain outfit, so I don't think the students would recognize me, right?」

Well, if they couldn't sense her strength, she might just look like a normal Elf.

She was an Elf, and she was beautiful, but not the best in the world or anything. Even if she evolved into a High Elf, her appearance would probably remain the same.

She wore a plain robe that certainly doesn't look like much of those in power. However, it was actually a luxury item made of good material, but they wouldn't know about that by just simply seeing it.

Furthermore, she seemed to be suppressing her aura. I guess it was because she doesn't want to cause a commotion here.

Seeing Weena Rhyn dressed like that, Fran nodded approvingly.

「Nn. Weena Rhyn looks so plain」

「Wait doesn't that sound like it means something different」

Chapter 549: Staff Room

We followed Weena Rhyn to the room that was much larger than I had expected. It was probably five times larger than what I imagined when she said it was the staff room.

Wooden desks were neatly arranged facing each other like an office or a staff room, and nearly a hundred people were working here right now.

Even so, only about half of the desks were occupied, so there were probably 200 to 250 people actually using this room.

It was even hard for us to see to the back of the room unless we got on a table as Weena Rhyn had climbed right now.

「Ha~i, everyone, attention please~!」

As soon as Weena Rhyn called out and clapped her hands, all eyes in the room then immediately focused on us.

「She's Fran, an adventurer. She'll be a special staff member and a transfer student for a while in this academy. And next to her is her follower, Urushi. He can change his size a little, and he's a smart boy. So please take care of them」

「I'll be in your care」

「Woof!」

After Weena Rhyn told them so, the teachers' reactions were split.

They were split into those who were bewildered and those who accepted her. And it seemed that there were even more people who were bewildered.

Many of the people here were just normal teachers, after all, so they might not understand what Fran was capable of.

On the contrary, the teachers who seemed to have accepted her were former adventurers and those dressed like magicians.

Well, they won't need fighting prowess to be a classroom teacher, so I won't blame them.

However, the man closest to us, who was dressed in a suit, spoke up on behalf of the group. He looked like a chubby uncle in his fifties, who didn't get enough exercise.

「I understand that she'll be a short-term transfer student. And there will be no problem with her age. However, she'll become a special staff member too? Where will she be placed?」

It seemed that becoming a student and an instructor at the same time was indeed a rare thing in this academy.

「First of all, Fran will be placed as the Advanced and Special Combat Class Instructor」

「Eh? So, you mean, she's going to enroll in the Special Combat classes」

「She'll become the Mock Battle Instructor」

Her words then caused a slight commotion.

「Mock Battle Instructor...?」

「Isn't it that only a D or higher ranked adventurer is allowed to be an instructor...?」

「Moreover, I've heard that Advanced and Special Mock Battle Instructor is at least a C-ranker, right?」

Apparently, the class Fran was in charge of was a merit-based class for both students and teachers. So, it was unthinkable for an ordinary teacher to be allowed to fill that role.

「She'll be fine. Even though she looks like this, Fran is a B-ranked adventurer with an alias. In terms of fighting prowess alone, she's definitely at an A-ranked level」

「Eh? But if the Director says so, then it must be true」

「Fufu, It's been hundreds of years since someone has made me shed my blood in the academy after all」

The commotion then became even louder than before. They must have been shocked to hear that she managed to hurt Weena Rhyn.

「Th-the Director has made a contract with a guardian spirit to protect this academy, right?」

「Yeah. And she will be even strengthened when fighting in the academy...」

「S-so, you're telling me that she managed to hurt that strengthened Director? No way...」

To them, she must be like an invincible legendary figure, and they have never even heard of her struggling in a fight.

Some of them seemed to think that it was a joke, but most of them seemed to believe it. However, some of them were staring at us because of it. Well, it couldn't be helped.

Weena Rhyn was the world's most powerful magician and a High Elf who has lived for a long time. She was also the founder of the Academy of Magic and a world-famous hero. So, she must have many admirers.

For such admirers, hearing a story of someone who managed to hurt Weena Rhyn must be very unpleasant.

The uncle, who didn't know what was going on, was also confused.

「Umm, what do you mean...?」

「A lot of things had happened. Well, I can at least assure you that Fran's ability is outstanding」

「U-understood」

The way the uncle looked at Fran has changed. Before, it was as if he was surveying a mysterious beautiful girl, but awe had definitely been added now. The reason it was not fear was probably that she was someone that Weena Rhyn approved of.

「What will be her class then?」

「Let's put her in the Special Battle Class」

「It will be more convenient for her as an instructor. Besides, Fran is a first-rate magician, so it won't be a problem」

It seemed that in order to qualify to get in the Special Battle Class, someone needed to have not only decent fighting prowess but also decent magic abilities.

「Is it okay to transfer her to the Special Battle Class?」

「Rather, I think Fran has nothing to lose from doing this, right? It's a shame, though. After all, Fran's magic skills are at a level where she can be trusted to be the head of a department at our academy」

「Huh? Sh-she is... Quite amazing then」

It was not a commotion anymore. Everyone was talking to each other so loudly that it almost looked like they're shouting.

Probably, it was because that was a position that required considerable ability.

(Master)

(Nn? I don't care about that. Rather than that, I'm more interested in learning Spirit Magic)

She was not concerned about the teachers' reactions. Rather, she had been thinking about where she was going to be transferred.

『Are you sure? Well, ask her if they have any classes that teach that kind of stuff then』

「Nn. Hey, I want to take a class where I can learn Spirit Magic」

「Oh, so you're interested to learn that. You should choose Spirit Magic class as your elective class then」

Apart from the curriculum of the Special Battle Class, there was an elective class where students could choose any class they wanted. Among them, there were also classes on Spirit Magic to choose from.

「The Special Battle Class doesn't have lessons on Spirit Magic?」

「The basic knowledge will be taught during the basic studies. As long as you're in this academy, that knowledge is absolutely necessary. But if you want to learn to use Spirit Magic, you'll have to learn it in an elective class

「Hmm」

「But I don't know if you'll be able to master Spirit Magic, you know? It was one thing that Fran had the talent to see spirits, but it's a completely different thing if you'll be able to get along with them」

「Is that so?」

「Yeah」

It seemed that there was no uniform way to use a spirit or make a contract with a spirit because each spirit has a different personality and preferred a different partner for them. Therefore, it was quite difficult to teach.

In addition, there were very few people other than Elves who have the talent for Spirit Magic, and even fewer people who have the talent and could improve. And even if they do, it was not sure if they could master it because it was very difficult.

Because of this, it was quite difficult to incorporate it into the regular classes. But she said it was fine for people who could sense spirits like Fran to choose an elective class.

As for Elves, they don't need to learn Spirit Magic as they had been trained by their village or parents. However, many Elves were individualists, so they did more training on their own. That was why most of the Elves attending this academy did not take the class on Spirit Magic.

「That's why I think you should be in the Special Battle Class. After all, the teacher in charge of that class was a Spirit Magic-user. You should ask her about it」

「Nn. It's good then」

「Yup. So, let's get started with the procedure then」

I wonder what kind of class that was.

Chapter 550: Going Around to Greet Everyone

「W-well then, please come right here!」

「Nn」

「Woof」

After separating from Weena Rhyn in the staff room, we were heading to a place with a female teacher who had been assigned to guide us.

「Th-that is the eighth tower. The advanced classrooms are on the first floor」

The Special Battle Class was outside of the Academy for practical training, so she had to go around to some of the classes she was in charge of as an instructor first.

Inez, the girl and instructor in charge of mock battles like Fran, was our guide. In terms of ability, she was at least a D-ranked adventurer. However, she had a good intuition to sense Fran's strength. That was why she was so strangely nervous and timid right now.

So, I thought it would be better for someone without any fighting prowess to be our guide. But well, we didn't have any choice.

We then left the teacher's tower where we had just been and were now heading to one of the department's towers a short distance away.

As we walked, Inez briefly explained to her that each tower had a specific role. There were research towers for teachers, storage towers for magic tools, and quite a few other places that students were not allowed to enter.

This place was just like a huge university, wasn't it? It seemed to be more than just a big academy.

She said that the tower we were going to visit was used especially for combat training and practice.

「F-Fran-dono, the waiting room for the Special Battle Class that you will be transferring into was here, so you'll have many opportunities to use it later」

「Okay」

「For the beginning, Let's introduce you to the advanced class」

After we walked together, Inez seemed to have lost some of her nervousness, and she explained a lot of things to her.

The advanced class, as the name implies, was a class of advanced students. This academy has several departments, including many specialized departments. However, there was also a general department that does not have any specialization, where students could uniformly learn everything. The advanced class was the class to which the advanced students of the general department belong.

In the case of the Academy of Magic, they do not divide the students into different grades because the ages of the students were quite different.

They first need to learn magic in the elementary department. Those who were able to master the magic there will be able to move on to the next class.

But if they couldn't learn magic after years of training in the Elementary Department, they'll be expelled. Well, this was an Academy of Magic, so they need to be able to at least use magic.

Next to that was the Basic Department. However, it was often referred to as the Junior Class in the academy. In this department, students took classes that had little to do with magic, such as classroom lectures, and were taught the basics of using magic for about two years.

If they don't have any problems here, they will be admitted to the practical department. In other words, they will be an advanced students. There were many advanced classes of the General departments to choose from such as the Adventurers Department, Magicians Department, and Special Combatants department, as well as quite detailed specialties such as Fire Magic, Water Magic, and blacksmithing.

Students could choose the class they wanted to belong to and study what they wanted in the form of seminars or club activities.

About 70% of the classes were decided by the department, and the remaining 30% could be chosen by themselves.

Besides, after graduating from the Practical Department, students were allowed to re-enter other departments, so as long as they were motivated, they could learn whatever they wanted.

I was even surprised to learn that some of the students have been students for more than ten years by repeatedly changing their departments after graduation. On average, it takes about five years for a student to graduate.

「The previous Special Mock Battle Instructor had retired, and we General Instructors were somehow filling in the gaps, so you was a great help this time」

「Is there a difference between a Special Mock Battle Instructor and a General Instructor?」

「There is, of course. The most important job of a Special Instructor is to demonstrate overwhelming ability. Since that is impossible for us」

In this world, some overwhelmingly strong people couldn't be easily reached. So, they wanted students to learn of that firsthand and also to develop the courage to immediately flee or negotiate with a strong person without becoming stiff when confronted. That was the role of the Special Mock Battle Instructor.

In short, it was their job to beat them with overwhelming force in a mock battle. To do that, they needed to have tremendous ability.

「I see. But, did Weena Rhyn was not good enough?」

Fran asked so. Well, she was right. I think Weena Rhyn would be a perfect fit for this role.

「The Director is not very good at holding back. No, that's not it. She's just simply too powerful, and there's a limit to how much she can go easy on them. Just as a dragon cannot lift a pup with its claws, no matter how hard it tries」

She had never accidentally hurt a student, but she had overdone it many times against bandits. Because of this, the teachers have asked Weena Rhyn to avoid doing a mock battle with the students as much as possible.

However, they hadn't found suitable personnel for the past few months, so they had been conducting special mock battles with multiple instructors and continuous attacks on the defending Weena Rhyn.

「However, the effect was still too subtle. So, I am very grateful to have such a strong person like Fran here even for a short time」

As she talked about this, we were led to a room at the back of the first floor of the tower. It seemed to be a room where classroom lectures were held, and about twenty students were taking the lectures there.

「Redua, can I have a moment?」

「Y-yes. Umm, Inez-sensei, who is this girl here? 」

「I came here to introduce her. Fran-dono, this girl is the one in charge of the teacher of History, Redua. And these people here are the students of the Advanced Class」

「Nn. Understood」

The students were looking at us with astonishment. However, the surprise seemed to be directed not at Fran but Inez.

「Th-that Devil Instructor, Inez, bringing a child here...?」

「Wh-who is she? Is that really Instructor Inez?」

「For someone like her to do something like that... It's just like the Devil getting sunstroke!」

It seemed that the normal Inez and the current Inez were more than a little different. It seemed that the students were astonished to see her changes.

「Devil? You're a human though?」

「N-no, you don't have to worry about it! Hey! Those who said that before! I'll remember you!」

「Hiii!」

I see why they call her the Devil Instructor Inez.

「Haah, she's Fran-dono, the one who has been assigned to take care of you guys as the Special Mock Battle Instructor!」

「 「 「Eeeh!」 」 」

There was a different kind of shriek, but Inez shouted again to shut them up. So, this was her true nature, I guess.

「Silence!」

「 「 「...」 」 」

The students then immediately fell silent. She was amazing, wasn't she?

「You may not be able to understand it, but Fran's ability is real, you know? It will be tomorrow before she can start, so look forward to it」

「Nn」

「Woof!」

「And this is Fran-dono's follower, Urushi」

「We'll be in your care」

「Woof woof!」

「 「 「Please treat us well!」 」 」

Immediately after Fran's greeting, the students bowed their heads in unison. They may still be skeptical, but if they behaved badly here, Inez's thunder would surely strike them.

Well, I guess she could read the air. However, Inez seemed to be unhappy at the fact that her students did not believe her words.

「Fran-dono, can you scare them a little?」

「...Okay」

Perhaps she meant to threaten them with her intimidation skills. But Fran had chosen a different approach. She was probably worried about the fact that she might threaten the students with killing intent instead.

「Nn」

What Fran activated without chanting was a technique to create a light ball. The students' eyes then focused on the ball of light she created near the ceiling. However, when the students noticed, Fran's figure had disappeared from their sight.

Fran's disappearance then made a commotion among the students.

Knock knock.

A sound then rang out in the back of the classroom, causing all the students to turn around in panic. What they witnessed was Fran standing quietly at the very back of the classroom, completely unnoticed. She just stayed there without being noticed until she hit the wall.

What Fran did was simple. All she did was draw their eyes to the ball of light, make it disappear, and move fast. But the students must not have known what was going on.

However, the fact that she was able to deceive everyone's eyes and move in an instant was enough to show her ability. After all, if this had been a battlefield, there was no doubt that they would have been cut down without being able to do anything.

Furthermore, the students in the Advanced Class are capable enough to notice the difficulty of no chanting and blocking presence. There was not a single student who looked like they would be underestimating her anymore.

「Even you guys must have witnessed a glimpse of Fran's abilities. So, look forward to it tomorrow. Shall we go then?」

「Nn」

「Well then, I'm sorry for disrupting the class」

After that, we repeated almost the same exchange about five more times, and the greeting tour then ended.

But what did her reaction mean in the teacher's room where we were led to at the end? Inez seemed to be the leader among the instructors, and it seemed strange that she was using honorifics with Fran.

Aside from the instructors in charge of mock battles, the teachers in charge of fundamentals and tactical theory are not that strong, so they couldn't seem to detect Fran's abilities.

And since the Special Battle Class will be coming back tomorrow, she should also greet them as a transfer student too.

Chapter 551: Inn and Dormitory

After the tour by Inez, our next stop was a series of three towers near the center of the academy.

The other towers were built apart from each other, but these towers were built so that their foundations were attached, and the upper floors were connected by a walkway.

It seems to be a place used as a dormitory.

「It will be tomorrow afternoon when you'll meet the Special Battle Class. So, I'd like you to come to the Instructor's office at that time, is that okay?」

「Nn. Okay」

「Oh, right. I've also been asked to take you to your dormitory and another facility, so I'll just show you around」

Did they prepare a dormitory for her? However—.

「Dormitory? But I'm currently staying at an inn」

It was as she said. Moreover, Fran liked the Green Ancient Tree Pavilion where she was staying now.

「It's cheaper if you stay in the dorm... And Fran-dono doesn't have any problems with it, right?」

But, what Fran was interested in was the matter of the spirit. The gaze that Fran felt last night seemed to be the gaze of a spirit. So that inn was suitable for her to train spirit magic.

However, there were even more spirits in the Academy of Magic. So, would it be even better for her to stay here then?

「Inez, are there a lot of spirits in there?」

「Eh? The spirits, huh...? Hmm...? I know there's some in there, but I've never seen one」

「Not even once?」

「Unless a spirit magic user is willing to visualize them, the figures of lower or middle-ranked spirits are invisible. However, if it's a powerful being like the Great Spirit, even someone like me can see them」

「Is that so?」

「Well, I've heard it once from someone before」

Surely, the Great Spirit, that Klimut was said to have calmed down, was said to have had its appearance witnessed by many people back then.

「Well, I think the spirits in this academy are quite hidden, so it's harder for people who can't use spirit magic to see them, right?」

If that was the case, it wouldn't be that good of a training method for spirit users, wouldn't it? No, was it the better training instead? I'm sure they were there, and if she try to sense them. It might be good training for her.

「Hmmm」

「Staying at the dorm is also convenient because it is only a short walk from our workplace. They also serve meals to us too」

「They serve meals?」

「Woof?」

That was what interested you, huh? Well, that kind of thing has always made Fran and Urushi interested.

「Eh? Yes, you'll also get a different meal every day」

Inez was puzzled by her unexpected reaction. Up to now, she'd been indifferent to anything she said, but her eyes suddenly lit up and she quickly started questioning her back. Just like that, with Fran and Urushi staring at her she told us about the menu for the past few days.

「They usually serve the same breakfast, but lunch and dinner are different every day. And the amount is quite large too」

「Is it tasty?」

「Woof?」

「Its taste? I-I'm sorry but I haven't paid attention to that matter... But at least, it doesn't taste bad, I guess?」

So at least it wasn't something super tasty, huh? However, Fran and Urushi were curious about the food they served in the dining hall.

「I want to try it. I'll decide after I eat there」

「You'll decide based on the food?」

「Of course」

「Woof」

「Th-that's fine then... I think we can still have lunch now, so let's go to the cafeteria」

「Nn」

She told us that the dining hall for the students was so large that it could accommodate up to a thousand people, but the dining hall for the teachers was more comfortable. It seemed that they also served the same meals for the students and the teachers.

「This room is quite small though?」

「Well, the one for the students is ten times larger than this」

The teachers' cafeteria was large enough to accommodate a hundred people. It was reasonably clean and the atmosphere was not bad.

「Please wait a moment」

「Nn」

Inez then rushed to the counter. There she talked to an aunt in her apron.

She then somehow pointed at us, so I guess she was talking about Fran and Urushi.

「Today's menu is bean and ground meat soup, salad, potatoes with cheese, fish pie, and fruits. Is there anything you don't like?」

「Very well then, please wait」

「Want a large portion」

「Understood. They also said that they'll serve a meal for Urushi too. Do they need to serve it on a wide plate?」

「Nn」

「Woof」

Then Inez brought us our meal. The menu was just as we had been told. The soup and potatoes were almost twice as much as Inez's could eat, probably because she asked for a large serving.

「Just ask for a refill if you want more」

It doesn't look bad. However, when Fran and Urushi smelled the meal, their expressions were subtle.

The meal was not well-prepared, and they probably did not use that many seasonings. The portions were large, and the vegetables were plentiful and nutritious, but the taste may be mediocre.

「Thanks for the meal」

「Woof」

「Mogu mogu...」

「Momu momu...」

『How is it?』

I could imagine what it would taste like by the looks on their faces, but I asked them about it.

(It tastes normal...)

(Woof...)

It was not bad, but it was not really tasty either. The serving was large, but they didn't seem to want to eat a lot of it. That was how it seemed to be.

After all, the most important thing for an Academy meal was to be nutritious and fulfilling. They were serving meals for thousands of people after all, so I couldn't blame them.

「How is it?」

「Nn. I'm not going to stay in the dorm」

「Woof!」

「So you choose to commute from the inn?」

Inez was puzzled by Fran and Urushi's decision to choose the inn.

In her mind, she was probably thinking “Just because of the meal?”. But for Fran, that was the most important thing.

「I-I understand. I'll ask them to give you an entry pass then」

「Please do」

「Woof」

Chapter 552: Troublesome Contract

「What are you going to do after this?」

After picking up the student and faculty handbooks at some sort of general affairs office and getting everything she needed for her classes, Inez asked her where she wanted to go next.

She told us that we already had visited all the places we needed to go to today, and if there was anywhere we wanted to go, she would take us there.

So, we decided to take a look around with Inez's guidance at the places we were interested in.

Our first destination was a snowy hill, which was unique among the various facilities in the academy.

「Whoaah」

「Woof woof!」

There was white snow all over the place, and it got steeper and steeper as it went straight to the center. It looked like a snowy mountain or a ski slope, wasn't it?

「This place is used to train hikers on a snowy mountain and basic combat training in snow」

「Can I go up?」

「I think it's okay for now」

「Urushi, let's go」

「Woof!」

Immediately after Inez gave her permission, Fran and Urushi ran into the snowfield. It wasn't the first time that Fran and Urushi had experienced snow. It had even fallen in the Plains of the Demon Wolf after all.

I guess she was just excited by the strange sight of the snowy area while everything around it was normal.

The snow was as soft as if it had just fallen because it even got Fran's legs buried up to her knees.

I thought they were collecting the snow that had fallen during the winter and cooling it down to prevent it from melting, but that doesn't seem to be the case.

If I'm not mistaken, the snow in this area should be harder than that. Especially in the hill part, it should've been compressed like a block of ice. Just like the snow that had been collected in one place during snow removal and would then stay there for a long time, it should've been hardened.

Fran and Urushi then returned to Inez, probably satisfied after running around until they were covered in snow. Then Fran asked her somewhat excitedly.

「How do you make this?」

「They used ice and snow magic and other techniques to maintain it」

「I see」

It seems that every day, they created new snow with magic. So, when the snow hardens, they'll melt it back into water, which was then turned into snow again.

「But it's only possible during this time of the year」

As expected, it would be difficult to maintain it in the summer. So, it was possible to make it only in this season when the outside temperature was not so high.

In the summer, they use it as a small mountain with deep bushes to train hikers.

After that, we looked around at the rocky hill, lakes, marshes, and other training grounds that were mainly used for practice. Many of the places were apparently maintained by magicians and spirits.

「I've shown you most of the training grounds we have in this academy. But do you have any place you still want to go to? The sun is about to set after all」

「Nn... Where's Zelos Reed?」

「I'm sorry, I've been told to not guide you to his place today. However, once things have settled down, you can meet him with the condition that he's with the Director」

「...Okay」

Well, of course, there's no way they would let her see him the day after she almost killed him. Fran seemed to understand that she had asked the impossible, so she didn't seem to be so depressed.

「Then, how about Romio?」

「It would be quite difficult to let you go there too. As he was asleep right now」

With that said, I thought he was getting sick because of the evil spirit. But that doesn't seem to be the only reason why Romio was asleep

「I can't meet him?」

「Yeah...」

Huh? Why did Inez sound strangely lackluster?

「I'm sorry. It's a lie that the boy named Romio is asleep. He was already awake by the time Fran came to the staff room」

「?? Why would you lie about that?」

「I've been told to not let Fran-dono meet the boy named Romio」

「The truth is, he's scared of you, Fran-dono...」

The incident where Fran attacked Zelos Reed was still fresh. It was not only Zelos Reed who had his head almost cut open and the unlucky students who were hit by Fran's killing intent that was affected.

There was one more person who had been severely injured. That was Romio, who was connected to Zelos Reed by a special ability.

Weena Rhyn had also told us before that Zelos Reed and Romio were in a quite troublesome situation where if one of them gets hurt, the other would too.

And if Fran hurt Zelos Reed then...

Fran looked a little shocked and opened her mouth.

「Did Romio get hurt too?」

「Yes... However, he didn't suffer the same injury as Zelos Reed, but only a tenth of it. However, he is just a three-year-old child」

Even a slight scratch would be a serious injury for a child that young.

「Is Romio okay?」

「His injury was treated immediately. However, he seemed to understand who had caused the injuries」

So that was why he was so scared of Fran. Apparently, she thought that Fran would be upset if she found out that she had indirectly almost killed Romio as well, so she was trying to hide that fact.

However, since she had said that she wanted to see Romio, she must have told the truth. If she misrepresented it properly, she would have said, “You’ll be allowed to see him at a later date”.

「...I’m leaving for today」

「Understood」

When Fran muttered this with her shoulders slumped, Inez walked her to the main gate with a worried look on her face. With a face like this, she must look like her appropriate age.

「I’ve heard about your situation. But I don’t know what will happen to Romio, so it is best for you to not worry too much about it」

「Thank you」

Even as she replied, Fran’s face did not clear up. The fact that she had almost killed a three-year-old was making her feel depressed.

『Well, it’s a good thing that we didn’t kill him. So, let’s be happy with that for now』

「Nn...」

「Woof」

「Thank you, Urushi」

Fran’s face regained its light slightly as Urushi licked her hand flippantly. However, this made her revenge against Zelos Reed more distant, or rather, more difficult.

She couldn’t even hurt him anymore unless Weena Rhyn dispelled the contract between him and Romio. All it would take was for Fran to become enraged again and hurt him, and Romio could be killed.

It's just like what Weena Rhyn had told us before that it was quite a troublesome situation.

Chapter 553: Spirit-sama's Interest

Chapter 553: Spirit-sama's Interest

「Momu... Momu momu」

(*munching SFX)

Fran still looked in low spirits when we returned to the inn at night.

She wasn't visibly depressed, but she didn't look like her usual self. Her smile was somewhat weak, even though she was eating.

The menu consisted of stew with lots of meat and potatoes with red bean paste. With the addition of three kinds of bread which were, black bread, rye bread, and butter rolls. A salad with fish in oil, homemade pickled vegetables, and cheese pasta. Considering what they had the other day, the meal tasted perfect.

However, Fran's eating speed did not increase much. It was about the same speed as when she was at the cafeteria of the academy. This was quite unusual for her to be like this. If it were the usual Fran, she would forget most of her worries if she ate a good meal.

Urushi, who was eating next to her, was not as energetic as usual because he was worried about Fran. He was eating his meal while glancing sideways at Fran from time to time.

『Fran, are you still worried about Romio?』

「Nn...」

Yikes. As soon as she heard Romio's name, Fran's expression became visibly clouded over. It seemed that she was still worried about hurting Romio. I think that no matter how much I said that it was unavoidable, she didn't seem to be able to get over it.

Her spoon had stopped, but then an old lady, the innkeeper spoke out to Fran.

「Did something happen today, young miss?」

「Nn...」

「Don't worry, I won't ask for the details, but... Is that something you need to worry about this late?」

「That is...」

「There is this Elven saying... “New shoots come from the ashes of the deep forest”」

An Elven saying?

「Even if the forest you live in burns down, one day the trees will grow back and a new forest will be born. In other words, anything can happen as long as you're alive, but it's what happens after that that counts. Some things are irreversible. You may not be able to get back what you have lost. But we have to live with them as our strength」

Maybe it was an Elf-like outlook considering their long lifespan. They lived much longer than humans, and I'm sure their lives would be filled with many incidents and events. If they were to worry about all of them and regret them, their heart would probably be overwhelmed.

「...Hmm?」

Fran seemed to be trying to understand the words. However, she immediately crossed her arms and tilted her head. I can grasp the meaning of the words, but to be honest, I'm not sure if I understand them.

So that might be a little difficult for Fran, who has only lived for thirteen years, to understand.

「Hmm... You don't get it, do you, young miss? Well, it's a phrase that has finally sunk in for us old Elves at this age」

「I'm sorry too. I didn't mean to pester you. But can I tell you something?」

「Nn」

「A good meal tastes even better when you put your mind to it, right?」

「!! Certainly!」

The old lady had said many words to try to comfort her, but in the end, the last one seemed to impress her the most.

And it seemed that the two of them were on the same page. They then stared at each other for a moment and then nodded at each other.

「Eating while thinking about other things is disrespectful to the meal」

「Yup, you're right」

「Nn」

Then Fran began to shovel in her meal steadily.

She was not fully cheered up, but she was getting back in shape. And I could see a slight smile on her face. I hope this can help her regain her usual self...

However, when I thought so, Fran's hand stopped again.

Did she just pretend that she was fine? I thought so, but the old lady had stopped moving too. And both of their eyes were locked in the same place.

「Hohou? Why have you shown up?」

「...A spirit?」

Apparently, the spirit of the ancient tree had come out near the entrance of the dining room, and both of them were looking in its direction.

When the old lady noticed that Fran was looking at the same place as her, she asked Fran in surprise.

「Can you perhaps can see it?」

She couldn't see it, but when Fran replied so, the old lady's eyes widened for a moment, and then she immediately started laughing.

「Hohoho. You must have been very well-liked by Spirit-sama then」

「Even if you have the talent, you won't be able to feel it if the spirits don't like you. Hmm, spirit-sama is watching you and it seems to be worried about you」

「If it doesn't like you, it'll just kick you out... It's been decades since Spirit-sama has been so attentive to someone other than an Elf」

「Spirit-sama allowed me to be here?」

The old lady's words made Fran's eyes widened this time. But I wonder why the spirit cared for Fran so much.

It had only been one night, right? Or maybe, the spirit was attracted by Fran's cuteness. So, even a spirit was charmed by Fran, huh? Yeah, that must be the case.

「But, I didn't do anything special」

「Spirit-sama likes a pure and gentle person after all」

Well, it wasn't her cuteness but Fran's pureness that the spirit was attracted to. Well, she can't see it though.

Fran also tried to activate her detection skills to detect the spirit even more. However, her face soon looked pensive.

(Even after I used the skill, I still can't detect it)

Apparently, she still couldn't detect it. The old lady who saw this then gave her some advice.

「You won't be able to detect it with the usual way」

「Is that so?」

「In order to see spirits that are not visible, you need to have Spirit Magic skills or spirit eyes. It is said that those who have either of these qualities can sense them slightly」

What was next was to get some kind of trigger and let her skills blossom. The fact that she could feel it was a sign that she was on the verge of sensing it. However, the old lady couldn't give her more advice as Elves could see spirits before they could even remember.

「...Spirit-sama?」

Fran called out to the place where the spirit was supposed to be. But as expected, she got no response. Fran didn't know what was going on, but the old lady was smiling while narrowing her eyes.

「Hmm, Spirit-sama was glad」

「What did Spirit-sama do?」

「It looks so happy. It has gone back to the tree though. It's a whimsical fellow after all」

「I see」

「Well, if it looks like that, I'm sure it'll come out again」

「I'm looking forward to it」

But at this rate, she might actually learn Spirit Magic while we stay at this inn.

Chapter 554: Uniform

It was the day after she had decided to transfer to the school as a student while working as an instructor at the Academy of Magic.

Fran and Urushi were walking towards the Academy of Magic.

『You didn't feel any sign of the spirit after that, huh?』

「Nn」

Perhaps the contact in the dining room had satisfied the spirits. And Fran was able to sleep soundly last night without waking up at all.

『Is it easy for you to move around with that uniform?』

「No problem」

『But even so, its impact was so dangerously destructive... Fran, do you like the uniform?』

「Nn? Its defense power is low, but it's quite easy to move in. But I don't think its destructive power is better」

『Aah—, I didn't mean it like that. What I mean is about its cuteness or something like that』

It was no good trying to explain it to her, huh? Well, I can't imagine Fran wearing girly clothes and being happy that she was called cute though.

Right now, Fran was wearing the uniform of the Academy of Magic. Aside from combat training, she was required to wear the uniform during classroom lessons.

This was to show the student's classes and grades clearly. In such a large academy, with a huge number of students, it would be more convenient to be able to tell by sight.

As a mammoth academy (Note: giant academy), the academy store had uniforms of all sizes available for purchase on the spot. Oh, and in Fran's case, she got it for free.

The uniform of the Special Battle Class was a navy-blue blazer with the emblem of the Academy of Magic sewn on the shoulders and chest, a tie with white lines on a red background and a navy blue and white checked skirt.

She chose a white shirt, a gray vest sweater, navy blue socks, and black loafers because she was allowed to choose whatever she wanted for the rest of the outfit.

Eh? What do you mean? It's to my liking too though. Some cloaks and robes could be worn over the head to make her look more fantasy-like... But I purposely asked her to wear a school-like uniform, because, with that, Fran's prettiness would stand out even more!

『Now all you need is a high twin tail and you'll be perfect...』

But there was a big problem with that.

Her cat ears would get in the way if she tried to make twin tails. I just realized that the supreme cat ears would clash with the supreme hairstyle!

So, she had no choice but to tie her hair into a low knot twin tail. Well, it looks great too.

「Master」

『Hmm? What's wrong, Fran?』

「Why has Master become small?」

『Well, it would be weird if you were carrying me on your back in this outfit, wouldn't it?』

She was wearing a blazer, but it would be ruined if she was carrying a large sword so I transformed into the size of a dagger and hid on the inside of her blazer.

For now, I could maintain this state for a long time if it was just a resize. At the very least, I could maintain it on our time when we're at the academy

It would be perfect if we had a school bag, but I guess it can't be helped. As long as we have the Dimensional Storage, that would only be a hindrance. However, her looks would be complete with that! Should I have Fran bring it with her? No, however—

「Master... You've become strange again」

She gave me the same deadpan look she had given me yesterday when I was picking her uniform at the store. Were my thoughts leaking out?

『A-ahaha. It isn't weird, is it? What was the weird part about it?』

「I knew it, it was weird after all」

『Ugh... W-well. More importantly, the main entrance is already in sight』

「...Nn」

Phew, did I manage to cover it up? No, let's just say that I managed to cover it up.

『You must show them your ID card, okay?』

「Okay」

We were supposed to be able to get in by showing the guard her teacher's ID card, but...

「Hold on a second, young miss!」

「Nn?」

「Woof?」

A guard uncle stopped Fran when she tried to go straight through the main gate after presenting her teacher's ID card.

He looked like a former adventurer with a stern appearance not like the calm and collected uncle at the back entrance. And there was a hint of confusion on his face.

「Aah, young miss, you're a student, right?」

「Nn」

「But what you presented to us was a teacher's ID card, you know?」

「Nn」

「Eeh?」

「Nn?」

They were wondering why Fran, who was dressed as a student, had presented them with a teacher's ID card.

「However, the spirit is not responding to her... Aah, could it be! The one with cat ears and brought a wolf with her is... Umm, can you tell me your name?」

「Fran」

「I see. I'm sorry for stopping you. I've heard the story about you, but I just wanted to confirm it myself」

「Nn」

「Woof」

We were told that we could get in as long as she presented her teacher's or student's ID card. But as expected, she should have shown her ID card a little more clearly for the first time. Or rather, she should have used the student's ID card instead.

「I know you just got hired yesterday, but do you know the academy's layout?」

「No problem」

She had already confirmed the location of the classroom she was going to today.

Fran then said goodbye to the guard and continued to walk again.

However, she immediately tilted her head in confusion.

「I felt like I was being watched」

As Fran muttered so, the eyes of the surrounding students were focused on her. I wondered if perhaps they were the victim of yesterday's incident, but there was no fear or fright in their gazes.

They looked at her not without ill-feeling, but also jealousy and irritation which seemed to be the main ones.

「Who is that pretty girl?」

「Sh-she's cute...!」

「Hey wait, where do you think you're lookin' at!」

It seems that she had attracted attention as a mysterious pretty girl. Well, it couldn't be helped that our cute little Fran had acquired a different kind of cuteness with her uniform.

She was probably going to have to become accustomed to the hostility and contempt from the adventurers by now, but this kind of attention was rare, so it has even bothered her.

『Let's ignore it for now. It might stay like this for as long as we're in this academy, and once you get used to it, it won't bother you anymore』

「Understood」

You guys with a delirious face just now, I've memorized your faces, so be prepared!

Chapter 555: Seeing EaChapter Other Again in the Special Battle Class

Chapter 555: Seeing Each Other Again in the Special Battle Class

「Good morning」

「Good morning, Fran-dono. Ooh, so you're here in your uniform today?」

「Nn」

When Fran arrived at the academy, she visited the preparation room for the mock battle instructors that she had been shown yesterday.

In a room much smaller than the staff room, there were about ten adults here. All of them were mock battle instructors, just like adventurers, they were dressed in leather armor. It could also be said that their current appearance, which was ready for battle, was their formal attire.

The scene of muscular former adventurers crowding this small room made the room look hot and humid. I didn't have a nose, but I wonder why I think I could smell the sweat. Well, think of this as a gym, and you'll get the idea.

Inez greeted her while standing upright. The other instructors had already been introduced to us yesterday, so they too were standing upright with serious faces. It made me feel nervous though.

「Let me show you to the Special Battle Class」

「Okay」

「Then, please follow me」

She was then led to one of the classrooms on the second floor of the tower.

The room looked just like any other ordinary classroom.

The presence that could be felt from inside was no different from any other classroom. There was a somewhat tense presence of about twenty people in there.

I guess they were nervous because they knew that Fran was coming. If there was someone who had a quick ear, they must have heard that a pretty girl who was both an instructor and a student would join them.

When we reached the class, nothing had changed except the tension.

There was no tremendous sense of intimidation emanating from the front of the classroom, nor was there any magic spreading around that would startle us. It was just the presence of ordinary boys and girls.

Since they were from the Special Battle Class, I was wondering how amazing they were, but...

Well, when I thought about it, it was not that surprising. They were still students after all, and that meant that Fran was by far the stronger of the two.

In addition, the fact that Inez was able to take on multiple students was a good indication of their ability. They probably just had high fighting prowess among the students. It seems that I was expecting a little too much.

「This afternoon's class is scheduled to be a mock battle, but before that, I've set aside some time to introduce Fran-dono. They may have some questions, but if you can't answer them, please just ignore them」

「Okay」

「Let's get in then」

「Nn」

They must have seen our figure through the blurry glass of the door and knew that Inez had arrived. The voices of the students then quickly quieted down at once.

Inez then slowly opened the door to the classroom of the Special Battle Class. All eyes turned first to Inez, and then to Fran, who followed her into the classroom.

There was no contempt on the faces of the students. There was just a great sense of confusion.

「She really was a kid...」

「Sh-she's so pretty!」

「So, what Charon said was true!」

I wondered if she had told them that she had met with Fran before, but it seems that was not all.

「I-it's really you!」

Amid the noisy classroom, a student suddenly stood up with a surprised look on her face. But we were just as surprised as she was. After all, we had met her before.

「Charon?」

「Y-yes! I'm glad that you remembered my name」

「Nn」

Yes, it was Charon, the blonde drill girl. So, she was a member of the Special Battle Class, huh?

Apparently, Charon had already told her classmates about Fran beforehand.

Maybe she heard about the story about an instructor that was also a student from another class, then Charon who heard that information, tells her classmates about Fran. I guess that's how the flow went. However, her classmates were also skeptical.

After all, for a girl from the Black Cat kin, who was actually a super talented adventurer and was talking to the Guildmaster so casually. That was too wild to be true, so I don't blame her.

But unless the other classes, Charon and Inez, were in cahoots to fool them, they were certain that the girl in front of them was the new Special Mock Battle Instructor. Knowing that they finally believed that Fran was a strong girl.

「Fran-dono, do you know her?」

「Nn. We talked a little in the Adventurer's Guild」

「So that's why. Oi! Stay quiet!」

「 「 「...」 」 」

As usual, they were under her control. The students immediately closed their mouths in unison.

「Let me introduce her. This person is Fran-dono. She has just been appointed as the Special Mock Battle Instructor! Fran-dono's adventurer rank is B, but her combat prowess is on par with an A ranker! She also has the Director's approval. Besides, she also has an alias. I'm sure you've heard the name of Black Lightning Princess, right?」

Most of the students in the class were shaking their heads. But it seems that they know about Fran's alias.

「It looks like you've been collecting information very well. If there was anyone who said they didn't know, I would have had to give them an hour-long lecture on the importance of gathering information」

It seemed to be a part of their education but seeing as how Charon didn't notice Fran at first, I'm not sure if she was being kept active or not.

She seems to know her name, race, and alias. However, she lacked the ability or insight to see through the identity of the other party.

Even Inez must have that ability. She felt the need to teach her the importance of such information from now on.

「The next lesson will be a mock battle, but before that, does anyone have any questions for Fran-dono?」

If this were a school on Earth, I'm sure there would be all sorts of questions being asked to the mysterious and pretty transfer student. Whether or not she had a boyfriend, where she was from, what type of boy she liked, there would be no end to the questions that would be asked.

However, the students then become quiet. After all, she was an instructor and a high-ranking adventurer. They must be afraid of upsetting her by asking inappropriate questions, so they don't know what to ask. However, they also knew that it would be rude for no one to ask any questions.

The students looked at each other and a strange sense of tension enveloped the classroom. It was the blonde drill-san who then broke the atmosphere.

「...Me!」

「Charon, huh? Go ahead」

「You mentioned that she will be both an instructor and a student, what kind of responsibilities will she have?」

「I'll answer that. Basically, she'll be a student in the Special Battle Class. However, since she'll also act as an instructor for the Special Battle Class, the Advanced Class, and several other classes, she will be excused during that time」

「I understand, thank you very much」

That was also explained to us beforehand. Except for her work as a Special Mock Battle Instructor, she was a student of the Special Battle Class.

Well, Fran doesn't have to earn credits, so it didn't matter if she missed some classes.

They also explained the content of the classes beforehand, but she didn't need to take half of them. Apparently, there were many classes to learn skills for working as an adventurer, such as trap disarming and goblin dissection classes.

After that, most of the questions were about the weapons she used and the magic she was good at. It seems that they wanted to gather information about her before the mock battle.

Well, I don't know if any of that is of any use though.

「Well then, it's about time. Move to the 5th mock battle site! Make sure everything is ready by the time Fran-dono and I arrive!」

「Fran-dono, please come with me. For now, please use the instructor's changing room. But from tomorrow onwards, you can use whichever you like, whether it's the one for students or instructors」

「Okay」

Chapter 556: The First Impression was Important

She changed into her usual gear in the instructor's changing room and headed for the mock battle site. Unfortunately, her hair was the same as usual. After all, she felt uncomfortable because she wasn't used to tying it up. So, she decided to make it in short twin-tails.

We then went to a large field, a little far from the triple towers.

It was a huge, empty field of dirt. It's probably the size of the Tokyo Dome.

On that mock battle site, the members of the special battle class were waiting after they changed their clothes. It was similar to what Charon wore the other day at the Adventurer's Guild. On top of her leather and metal armor, she wore a cloak and robe with the emblem of the academy on it.

The students had also formed a neat formation, which showed the high level of their training. Inez nodded in satisfaction at the sight of the students standing upright and waiting without being told to do so.

「Well then, Fran-dono will now show you some of her power!」

Apparently, it was customary for those who were assigned as instructors to first perform a kind of demonstration to show their abilities.

She was told that she could choose one of the instructors to fight with, or she could unleash her magic on this large field. But most of the new instructors choose to use martial arts and magic against the target doll.

We were told that Inez could use Earth Magic and could create dolls, but we decided to go a little flashier.

The first time is the most important, so we can't afford to be underestimated here.

「Fran-dono, please go ahead」

「 「 「We're looking forward to it! 」 」 」

「Okay」

With the eyes of the students on her, Fran strode out onto the field. We were going to give them a good scare.

『First, let's start with that one』

「Nn!」

The first thing we did was to make a target. Fran put her hands on the ground and activated her magic.

Immediately after she had done so there were shrieks from the students.

It couldn't be helped though, as the ground in front of us suddenly rose, creating a 15-meter-high spire.

「Th-that's. No matter how you look at it, that was High-level Earth Magic, right?」

「I-isn't the Black Lightning Princess a Thunder Magic-user?」

「Or maybe, she's a magician? Not a swordsman?」

They probably thought that Fran was a swordsman who could also use Thunder Magic. But after they saw her using Earth Magic, they realized that she was also a very skilled magician.

But this was just the beginning.

「Awakening! Brilliant Lightning Rush!」

「Th-this is the first time I've seen a bolt of black lightning!」

「Hiii!」

「Fo-for such a kid... To use this much magic is...!」

Many of the students paled as they felt the magic power that Fran, who was clad in black lightning, was giving off. The reason they become talkative is probably to calm themselves down.

I felt like It was already enough to show her abilities, but the real thing was just about to start.

(Master, together!)

『Ou!』

「Haaa!」

『We're going to be as flashy as hell!』

The first shot was a Thunderbolt of Lightning Magic. Fran fired two, I fired four. And a total of six Thunderbolts struck the earth spire, creating a huge hole with a thunderous roar.

However, that was not powerful enough to collapse the spire. Since it was just for the opening I focused on the impact of sound and appearance.

「Next!」

『Ou!』

Now for the real deal... Both Fran and I used Thor's Hammer at the same time. My two shots overlapped with Fran's, creating a spectacular flash of light.

The extremely thick thunderbolts that rained down from the magic circle drawn in the sky above then swallowed the earth spire as a whole.

The students now couldn't even keep their eyes open anymore. They were screaming, struggling to stay on their feet as the blast, roar, and the flashing lights made them wince.

A few seconds later what the students saw when they opened their eyes was a ruined spire.

「...Ah-ahaha」

「I-in one-shot...?」

「B-but that wasn't Extreme Magic, right?」

The spire, which was now less than half its original length, was smoking as its surface melted into lava. The upper half part of it must have been vaporized.

It must have been an incredible level of magic to the students. They must have felt as if their blood had gone out of their veins so they could only laugh.

But Fran hadn't stopped yet.

The students, who had noticed that Fran was nowhere to be seen, looked around to find her.

Immediately after, a tremendous amount of magic emitted from the sky, and at the same time, it seemed that they had finally found Fran. All at once, their faces turned up to the sky.

「Let's finish up with this」

『Ou. Let's show it to them』

「Nn!」

The first thing that Fran did was to perform the Sheaths of Wind with all her might. Magic and swordplay. That was what was important to show off about Fran's abilities.

In front of the students' eyes, the lower half of the remaining spire was slashed diagonally. A moment later, the students watched in dismay as the spire slid away from the cut at its center.

The fact that they didn't even understand what had happened showed how awesome it was. That must have been what it felt like.

「Fuh」

『Good job』

「Nn」

That was it. That was what we had planned, but someone then complained.

「Woof woof!」

「Nn? You want to go too, Urushi?」

「Woof!」

It was the first time in a long time that Urushi wanted to relieve himself. When he saw the destruction that Fran had left behind, Urushi's tail was hanging.

「Let's do that one then?」

「Woof!」

In response to Urushi's begging, Fran jumped up into the air again. Once she gained some height in her aerial jump, she activated two magic spells.

She used earth magic to create a plate about five meters in diameter and activated light magic to create a light source on top of it. As a result, a dark shadow was created on the ground.

「Wooo~f!」

In response to Urushi's roar, a jet-black circle about ten meters in diameter was drawn inside the shadow that was created by Fran.

What Urushi invoked was the Dark Magic, Bottomless Shadow. It was vicious magic that created a field of shadow that swallowed everything on its surface.

Well, it has many shortcomings though. First of all, it couldn't be activated without a shadow. Furthermore, the speed at which it swallowed was slow, so it was surprisingly easy to get out of. And it seemed to be quite difficult to control, as Urushi couldn't even move while using it.

Also, while its name was Bottomless, there was a limit to the amount of mass it could swallow at one time. What was more was that it was impossible to retrieve materials and magic stones because it was impossible to release what it has completely swallowed. It also consumed a large amount of magic power.

It was a technique that looked flashy but was not very useful. At least, it could never be used during high-speed combat. Well, it might be useful to momentarily hinder our opponent's movement though.

It may be of use against sluggish opponents or if he made a surprise attack in the middle of the night. It was also suitable for cleaning up messes like this.

The remains of the spire on the ground slowly sank into the shadows, as if swallowed by a bottomless swamp. And then, a minute later, it was all gone, clean and clear. The field was back to its original empty state.

The students stared at the ground with their mouths wide open as they realized that not only Fran but also Urushi, was out of the norm.

Chapter 557: Mock Battle's Preparation

Chapter 557: Mock Battle's Preparation

「F-Fran-dono! What stunning magic and swordplay! Thank you very much! I never thought I'd see something like that!」

Inez became restless and praised Fran. She was quite excited to be able to directly witness Fran's abilities.

Even for Inez, who should have understood Fran's ability to some extent beforehand, was like this. But the students were still in a daze.

However, this wasn't the end of today's class.

Inez had told Fran in advance to demonstrate her abilities to make an impact on them, and then she would have a mock battle with the students. If possible, she'd like for her to give them a bit of a beating as well. That was what she was asked to do.

The spirits surveillance network wouldn't be a problem for the current Fran, as she was officially recognized as a Special Mock Battle Instructor. They told her that fighting in class wouldn't be a problem. As long as she didn't kill a student with malicious intent, she wouldn't be blamed for it.

Of course, this didn't apply outside of class or when she was being treated as a student.

Will the students be able to continue the mock battles like this? Wouldn't it better to let them rest for a while? After all, they were surprised and exhausted and seemed to be running out of energy.

However, as expected of the one being called a Devil Instructor, Inez.

「I'd like to conduct the mock battle as planned, are you okay with that?」

She said they should continue just like this. However, she asked Fran with a somewhat worried expression.

「Yes. Will you take about 30 minutes to rest? We also have stamina potions and mana potions with us if you need some」

She seemed to think that Fran needed to take a break for a while after unleashing such a huge spell. Well, I couldn't blame her for thinking that, since she had unleashed such a large amount of Advanced Magic. After all, she had used the same amount of magic power as several ordinary magicians.

But Fran shook her head with a calm face.

「I'm perfectly fine」

「Yo-you're perfectly fine...? Certainly, you've already stopped sweating now. I'm impressed」

Inez was sincerely surprised to be told that she didn't need a break.

「Th-then. Let's proceed to the mock battle as it is」

「Okay」

Inez then turned to her students, who still looked dazed, and gave them a stern command.

「You will now engage in a mock battle with Fran-dono!」

Immediately, there was a shriek. There was a strong look of fear on the faces of the students. Well, it seemed that we had gone a little overboard earlier.

But overcoming the fright was the main purpose of the battle with the Special Mock Battle Instructor. Inez then stared at the students with cold eyes and shouted at them.

「All of you, prepare for battle!」

「A-All of us?」

「That's what I said, right? Or did you not hear me?」

「No! I could clearly hear you! I'm sorry for asking something like that!」

A male student who had asked back was smacked down by Inez. Seeing this, the students ran out to the central part of the ground without wasting any more time after that and formed a formation on the spot.

It seemed that their fear of Fran was weakened by their fear of Inez. They still looked pale though, but they managed to start moving.

Apparently, they were planning to form parties of five or six people and then coordinate with each other. During this time, the students were discussing something with each other, so they must be confirming their strategy.

「Alright. Fran-dono, please take care of them. As for the recovery, I've called the school nurse, Deaden, so you don't have to worry about it」

「Thank you for the introduction! I'm Deaden! I've mastered Recovery Magic, so if you lose two or three arms, just leave it to me and I'll regenerate it in no time!」

Three arms...? No, does he mean if it was more than one person? However, the students scrunched up their faces when they heard that.

Perhaps they just imagined the future of their arms being cut off.

「Very well. Then, Let the mock battle begin!」

At Inez's shout, the mock battle began quietly.

The students in the vanguard held their weapons and shields and refused to move from their positions. I wondered if they were planning to intercept us, but it seemed they were waiting for the Support Magic from the rear guard.

They were using a spell to raise their magic resistance and a spell to raise their defense.

It seemed that they were planning to counter Fran's magic.

Was the reason why they raised their defense was to prevent themselves from being defeated with a single blow? But if they're all stuck together like that at the start of the battle, wouldn't a wide AOE spell wipe them out? Besides, even with their defense up, were they going to be able to react to Fran's movements?

Well, it was not a bad idea to increase your defenses when you're fighting an opponent who was far faster than you. But that would be of use only if you could barely see your opponent's movement.

After all, there was no point in raising their defense if they were unable to sense or even see their opponent's movement.

If they were like Goddarfa, they would be able to counter-attack. However, with their level of magic, it seemed to be of little use.

No, not if we assume that this was a mock battle, right?

The powerful magic and sword techniques that we just showed to them could not be used this time. After all, they would just simply kill them instantly if they were to hit them. That was why she could be as serious as she wanted about evasion but she had to adjust her attack considerably.

I guess the students have already figured that out. So, it was not surprising that they thought they could get away by fortifying their defenses.

But was that all right? Wasn't a mock battle supposed to be a real battle? Did they plan a strategy based on the assumption that their opponent would go easy on them in a mock battle?

Well, at least they managed to gather and analyze the information to form a plan, but...

Inez looked angry.

「Fran-dono... Give them a taste of despair. You can also break their hearts if you want to」

「Understood」

I was thinking of holding back a little but Inez requested the opposite.

Fran then pulled me out, I was back to my normal size, and we stepped onto the ground.

However, the students still did not move. They seemed to be planning to ignore the wide AOE magic and deal with it together.

Well, it was predictable though. Their plan would be for the vanguard to stop her movements while the rearguard attacks.

They observed Fran who started to walk slowly. Their magic chanting had already been completed and their arrows were ready. So whatever Fran does, they should be able to handle her.

『Well, let's give them a little lesson, shall we?』

「Nn!」

Chapter 558: Never Ending Mock Battle

『Well, let's give them a little lesson, shall we?』

「Nn!」

The students were frozen in place, unable to make a move to respond to Fran. There was a strong sense of fear and just a tiny bit of motivation left on their faces.

We were told that the purpose of this class was to get the students used to facing an overwhelmingly powerful opponent so that they could know how to deal with them.

I felt a little sorry for them because they were being forced to fight an opponent that they had no hope of winning against. However, this kind of training might save their lives one day if they can experience despair in this class and not stop thinking during their adventures. So, I guess it was in their best interest for us to beat the crap out of them right here and now.

It seemed that the students could also understand it too. They knew that they had no chance of winning after being shown Fran's power in the beginning. And what was worse is that there was no victory condition set for their mock battle.

There was no condition such as if they can get a hit on Fran, if they managed to hold on for 10 minutes, or if they could escape to a specific location. In other words, all they had left was a future in which Fran would beat them to a pulp.

Even so, I was impressed that they were determined to at least get a hit on Fran before they were defeated. Well, we were not going to make any mistakes though.

『What do you wanna do now? Do you want to scatter stun bolts over a wide area? Burst Flame will do too』

I suggested that we should use magic to wipe them out, but Fran seemed to have a different plan.

While keeping me down, she slowly approached the students.

(I'll only use Master for defense)

(Nn? Breakthrough the front)

And the moment we were about 30 meters away from each other, the students started to move.

From the other side of the wall created by their vanguard, countless arrows and various attributes of magic were released all at once.

The reason for the variation in attributes was probably because it was the techniques they were best at.

Even though we were already so close, their aim was still poor. After all, only about half of them were on the trajectory to hit Fran.

Or maybe it was their purpose. They scattered them far and wide so that Fran could not escape with only a little evasion. That was quite a nice plan.

Normally, she would have jumped away from the spot or used a barrier to block it. However, Fran took neither of those actions.

Without stopping her slow steps, she stared at the barrage of bullets raining down on her.

The students must have thought that she would get hit if she didn't do something. But instead of being happy, I could see that they were rather worried.

For them, this kind of attack was probably just to probe the other party. But it would be great if they could stall high-ranking adventurers with this. That must be the extent of their thinking.

They looked surprised because it looked as if it would be unexpectedly effective.

Well, they were wrong though.

「Fuuh!」

Fran swung me so casually. But she managed to knock the arrows away. After that, she continued to slash and play at their magic, and walked leisurely through the barrage.

「Did she just cut the arrow!?!」

「You fool! Even Instructor Inez could do that! But what's more important is...!」

「Is that the ability of her magic sword!?!」

「That was just her ability! You'll just blow yourself up if you don't have the skill to accurately break the magic!」

The students were making a lot of noise when they realized that Fran was still approaching. They then started to chant a spell again, and the students with the bows began shooting more arrows.

When the distance between Fran and the students had been reduced to about 15 meters, the second volley of magic was fired. This time there was a lot of Wind Magic and Water Magic. They must have chosen this technique as they were hard to see.

Moreover, the vanguard started moving in time with simultaneous shots.

They tried to get close and attack her while she was blocking the long-range attacks.

The long-range attacks that were more accurate than before were fired one after another with slightly delayed timing. Were they planning to keep Fran on the defense, so that Fran wouldn't have a chance to counterattack the vanguard?

Immediately after slashing away the magic, the students in the vanguard attacked Fran at once.

Four swordsmen slashed at her from all sides, and spearmen thrust their spearheads into the gaps. At the rear of the encirclement, the second group was looking for an opening to attack.

They were able to attack at the same time, and their aim was accurate. I guess this was the result of their training in a party to fight a single magic beast.

However, the opponent now was not a magic beast, but a very skilled swordsman.

「Wha! How!」

「Impossible!」

「Re-reflection!?!」

Fran didn't stop walking. And yet, all their attacks were being repelled at the same time. Well, while it looked that way to the students, Fran just had swung me at super high speed and repelled their attacks.

It seemed that there were even students who misunderstood that their attacks had been blocked by Reflection Magic.

The same went for the spear thrusts. The tip of the spears was being flicked upward. Because their attacks were repelled upwards, the hand of the swordsman and the spearman were all pointed up to the sky, leaving a huge gap in front of Fran.

「Nn. I'll start from the four of you」

「Ghaa!」

「Ghuh!」

I wonder if the two guys in front of her who took a punch to the stomach and collapsed on the spot were still okay. But the two in the back were hit with a kick to the back on their head and were blown several meters away.

Moreover, her attack was just enough to keep him from losing consciousness, so he didn't pass out and was writhing around, spitting out stomach juices.

The reason she didn't let him faint was to make the other students wonder whether they could recover or not and delaying their decision even for a moment. The other purpose was to instill fear into them by showing them the sight of their fellow students writhing in agony. Well, there were other purposes too, but they didn't matter right now.

As I had expected, the students who had been waiting behind as the second group slowed down. In that time, Fran had finished taking care of the spearmen.

What Fran used was her magic release skill. The current Fran could attack multiple enemies at the same time by sending her magic power flying like a bullet.

For the students, in a matter of seconds, more than half of the vanguard had been defeated. The astonishment stopped the students from thinking, exposing more gaps.

Fran then continued to attack the rest of the vanguard with her magic release skill and rendered them powerless. In the end, they didn't even last ten seconds after they launched their attacks.

「I-If we keep up the attacks...」

「That's all we can do right now!」

「Wait! Don't shoot so recklessly!」

The students in the rearguard were also very confused. Some were even casting magic recklessly. Some were wondering if they should run away. Some were trying to rethink their strategy.

In the end, the scattered attacks did not stop Fran, and when the distance between us was less than ten meters, about half of them started to retreat to get some distance.

But she wouldn't let them escape so easily.

Fran suddenly stepped up a gear and closed the distance between her and the students at once.

The rest was a one-sided beating. Even though they were the rearguard, they also had some experience in close combat, but they were still inferior to the students in the vanguard. In the end, they were unable to do anything and all of them fell after being punched in the stomach.

However, none of the students in the vanguard and the rearguard were unconscious. However, that was what she was aiming for.

「...Hey, if you're gonna sleep here, I'm gonna one-sidedly attack you, you know?」

「Eh?」

A puzzled look appeared on the faces of the students when they heard Fran's words. With anguished expressions on their faces, they were probably thinking hard about the meaning of those words.

But they immediately understood.

「I'll start attacking again in ten seconds」

「Get up! Get up!」

「Shiit!」

Fran only hit them all once each. Their life force hadn't diminished much as they hadn't lost consciousness.

In other words, the mock battle was not yet over.

Yeah. I felt a little sorry for them, but I think she managed to give them despair, just like what Inez had asked her.

Later, when the students managed to get up and readied their weapons, Fran completely destroyed them again. The relieved expressions on the faces of the unconscious students spoke volumes about their feelings.

But I now understand why Inez was called the demon instructor.

「Thanks to you guys for finishing the mock battle so quickly, we still have a lot of time left! Rejoice! We're now ready for the second round!」

She said so to the students who had just regained their consciousness after being taken care of by Deaden.

Well, neither I nor Fran would go easy on them though.

Chapter 559: The Secret Garden

The first mock battle class had ended.

The tattered students then lined up with dejected looks on their faces. There also seemed to be a hint of regret on their faces.

I wonder how they could still make such faces after being beaten so badly... It seemed they had more guts than I had imagined.

「Good job, today's mock battle class is over! Make sure to properly take care of your equipment!」

「And you, Charon」

「Yes, do you need something from me?」

「Guide Fran-dono to the student changing room」

「Understood」

I'm glad that Charon was in this class. If it were any other student, they would have been scared of her for sure.

But it seemed, even Charon was a little scared of her. After all, she had punched her in the stomach just like the other students and had beaten her up with sword techniques.

However, it was probably because she had had some conversations with her before and knew that she was someone she could talk to if she was not in battle.

「Well then, let me be your guide」

「Nn. Thanks」

Fran then began to walk with Charon as her guide.

But there was no conversation between them, just silence. Well, Fran was just like her usual self, but Charon seemed to be a little nervous.

But, it was Charon who broke the silence between them.

「Umm...」

「Nn? What is it?」

「Well, what did you think about us today?」

What a vague question to ask. Perhaps she had asked that as she couldn't bear the silence and said that without thinking. Fran looked confused in response to her question.

「What do I think?」

「I know that we are not as good as Fran-sama, but—」

「Hey」

「Y-yes?」

「Doesn't need the honorific」

「Eh?」

「Just Fran is fine」

Charon looked worried when Fran interrupted her, but she soon felt relieved. But she was a little confused.

「B-but, Fran-sama is—」

「We're in the same class, so we're equals. That's what Weena Rhyn said. Nobles and exiles, strong and weak, it doesn't matter if they're in the same class」

That was what Weena Rhyn said to her when she briefly explained the academy to us.

This academy was a very special place. Regardless of their status or honor on the outside, the students were equal under the spirits here. There was no room for nobles to act arrogantly with their power, or for the strong to threaten others with violence.

On the other hand though, the weak wouldn't be tolerated to slack off because of their positions or weakness, or for commoners to vent their daily frustrations on the nobility.

This also meant that Fran and Charon were now equals regardless of each other's strength or positions.

For Fran, it was fine for her to call her that while she was being an instructor. But when she was just a student, they were in the same position as students. I guess that was how she saw it.

「O-okay then, Fran?」

「Nn」

「Do you think we're weak?」

That was quite a difficult question. From Fran's point of view, they were quite weak. But in the eyes of the world, I'd say that they were reasonably strong. Each of them was as good as an E-ranked adventurer, and they were able to work together as a party quite well.

If their opponent had been an ogre, they would have won without any problem. But their opponent this time was too tough for them.

However, Charon didn't seem to think so. It was just as if the confidence she had in herself had been shattered into pieces.

「I aspire to become an adventurer, so we applied for the Special Battle class with the goal of making a living by fighting as an adventurer」

「Nn」

「But we were completely outmatched in this mock battle. I didn't expect us to win, but still, we couldn't even return a single blow in the end... Can we really become an adventurer like this...?」

It seemed that she was no longer confident with her abilities. When Charon was looking down anxiously, Fran then spoke to her.

「Nn. You guys are weak」

「I-is that so...? Of course, that's true...」

「You guys took too long to activate your magic and were quite slow to make decisions. Your level was still low too」

「Even though Charon was a magician, you went too far forward」

「You may be confident in your martial arts, but you can only kill a goblin with that much strength. You need to train harder」

「I see...」

Oioi, you're making Charon cry, you know? But it was the truth. However, Fran hadn't finished speaking yet.

「You won't even be able to escape from a strong magic beast with only that much strength」

「...Ugh. You're right. We are... weak, aren't we?」

「Nn」

「Just like what I thought, we are—」

「But everyone is weak at first. So, Charon and the others can get stronger from now on」

Charon then stopped in her tracks and stared at Fran's face.

「Nn?」

「...Even we, can be strong too?」

「Of course, you'll get stronger if you train. It's the same for everyone」

「Nn」

She must have understood that Fran's words were not meant to comfort her, as I could see a strong determined light in Charon's eyes.

「I-I'll do my best! I'll train harder and harder from now on!」

「Nn. Do your best」

Fran also smiled at Charon, who finally smiled, albeit a bit awkwardly.

After that, the conversation had surprisingly become livelier. I guess it meant that they had grown closer. All they talked about was how delicate the food in the school cafeteria was, and which cafeteria was the best though.

They were chatting happily and in no time, they arrived at the changing rooms. There was a sign saying "Girl's changing room".

Yes, it must be the Girls' changing room.

『F-Fran! Th-this is bad! You can leave me here!』

『Aa-aah you see~...』

We-we've entered it! An old man has gone into the Secret Garden!

I-I'm not looking though! I don't have eyes after all, but I'll meditate! I'm a harmless, gentlemanly Gentle Weapon after all!

「Oh yikes, I have a bruise on my butt」

「Hey, aren't your breasts getting bigger again?」

「H-hey, don't touch it~」

I-I see nothing! I swear! But, you see, I can't do anything about the sound! I can't block my hearing after all!

There was a way to use magic to block it, but if I did that here, it might make me look suspicious. So, I had no choice! Yes, I have no choice but to listen to the voices.

「I didn't know you had a mole in such a place. It somehow looks so naughty, doesn't it~」

「Iyaahn! Don't look at it!」

(Master? Why are you shaking so much?)

『Do-don't mind me, just get dressed quickly and get out of here, okay!』

To all the boys in the country, I am so sorry.

Chapter 560: Elsa's Brand Beauty Serum

Chapter 560: Elsa's Brand Beauty Serum

Together with Charon, she went into the changing rooms.

It was quite spacious, just like a changing room in a large facility like a fitness club or a swimming pool. The students from the other classes seemed to be here as well, and over a hundred girls were changing here.

I-I'm looking at the floor, okay! And I could only feel their presence! But I couldn't help but notice the clothes that were scattered on the floor!

In the midst of all this, Charon made a small sound.

「Aah!」

「Umm, I've taken you to the changing room, but did you bring a change of clothes?」

Aah, Fran had changed her clothes before class in the instructor's changing room. So normally, she would have left a change of clothes in there as well.

「It's fine. I bring it with me」

「You can even use Space-Time Magic too? Amazing」

In her case, she had stored it in the dimensional storage. She rolled her eyes at Fran as she pulled her uniform out of the thin air.

She had shown a considerable amount of magic before in front of Charon. She had already witnessed she used Fire, Wind, Earth, Thunder, Light, and Space-Time Magic. She seemed to be surprised at her versatility. But perhaps, she's already used to being surprised by her, so her reaction was rather weak this time.

「Charon?」

「Ah, I'm sorry. Umm, Fran, do you know how to use the locker?」

「Nn. Heard of it from Inez」

「Well, since Fran can use the Space-Time Magic, it might not be of much use for you though」

It seemed that their next subject was the magical beast's anatomy, a subject on the dismantling of magic beasts. And Fran's job as an instructor would be to deal with the Advanced Classes after this class.

「I'll guide you to the classroom, so let's change our clothes first」

「Okay」

Fran and Charon then begin to change their clothes. Hmmm, the sound of the clothes rustling was strangely pleasing to my ears. It's like I'm listening to a sound that I shouldn't hear.

Charon suddenly spoke up again while I was waiting nervously for them to finish changing.

「Hmm」

「Nn?」

「Ah, it's nothing. It's just that you're a high-ranked adventurer but you have very smooth skin」

Aah, did she expect her to have old scars or something? Well, the more experienced an adventurer was, the more likely they would have some scars on their body. However, in Fran's case, I've healed her with my Recovery Magic, so old wounds were unlikely to remain.

Well, it's not that she doesn't have any, but she doesn't have any noticeable scars.

「Do you take care of it in any way?」

「Taking care of it?」

「Yes. Your skin is so smooth that it's hard to believe that it's just because of your age」

「Nn?」

「Are you using any beauty serums or other products?」

Taking care of it, huh? That's not the case though.

I let her use the special beauty serum given to her by Elsa (real name Bardiche), the man-like-woman adventurer from Ulmut, on her skin as she told her to. She pays particular care when applying it to her face and exposed limbs.

Fran was a little annoyed at first, but by making it a routine, she no longer hated it. Well, it seemed that she skipped using it during her training in the Plains of the Demon Wolf though, but now she won't miss her nightly skincare.

We'll need to go back for more when the serum we got runs out.

「I use this on my skin」

「Wow! Isn't this...!?!」

When Fran handed her the serum she had taken from the dimensional storage, Charon raised her voice and widened her eyes. She was probably a few degrees more surprised than when she saw the dimensional storage.

「I-isn't this Elsa's brand Beauty Serum! It is said to be a miracle product because of its limited distribution!」

Elsa's brand was probably referring to the picture of an axe and a woman on the bottle.

Charon was getting very excited. Moreover, the color of the surrounding female students' eyes changed when they heard Charon's voice.

All of the students from the other classes, even the students from the Special Battle Class who were too scared to get involved with Fran before were all looking at the bottle Fran was holding.

However, the owner, Fran herself, was not interested in the serum. She just replied absent-mindedly.

「Hmm?」

「Wh-where do you get that...? After all, it's not something that even nobles can easily get in their hands, you know? The few that do appear on the market are bought up by the wives of high-ranking nobles... I also heard a rumor that even the Queen uses it as well」

But Fran only thought of it as a tedious work routine, so she wasn't particularly impressed with it.

「This was given to me by an acquaintance in Ulmut」

「Aah, I see. I've heard that Ulmut is the place where this serum is produced, and it's also the town where Fran made a great achievement. So maybe there's a connection between it」

She didn't mention that she wanted it. It's not that it was so expensive, but she just couldn't ask Fran for it. Especially after Fran had displayed her ability to her.

The girls around us didn't seem to be calling out to her as well. It seemed that they were uncomfortable with Charon. Was it because she was a noblewoman? No, maybe it's because she was in the Special Battle Class. Anyway, it was fine as long as they didn't cause us any trouble.

That was what I thought, but it was Fran herself who caused all the trouble.

「You can use it too if you want」

「Eeh?」

「Here」

To my surprise, she handed the bottle of serum to Charon.

「A-are you sure??」

「Nn. Anyone can use it too if they want」

「 「 「—!」 」 」

At that moment, the changing room was in shock. Not only the students around Fran and Charon, but even the students far away who had heard the story, dashed to gather around them. Even the students who were scared of her had gathered around Fran in an instant.

「E-even a single bottle of this thing usually costs tens of thousands of gold, you know?」

「It's a gift though」

「Aah! Come to think of it, Fran is someone with an alias...! Unlike my poor Baronial family, that much money doesn't seem to mean much for you, huh!」

It seemed that Charon, who was hesitant at first, couldn't resist the temptation of the high-quality serum and those who stared around her were like “Just use it quickly and pass it to us”. She then took out a handful of the serum and began to apply it to her skin.

After that, the surrounding girls started passing around the bottle of serum, and in no time, the bottle was empty.

Even so, it was not enough for everyone. A covetous gaze then fell on Fran. Then Fran took out a new bottle and handed it to the girls.

「You can use it」

「Kyaa! Thank you!」

At this rate, she'll have to bring out more bottles for them...

『Oi, Fran, you have to save some for yourself, okay?』

(...)

『Fran?』

(Everyone is happy to use it)

『Aah! You, did you just give it away because you're too lazy to use it at night!?!』

(...)

I didn't know that it was that annoying for her...

Well, they'll resent her if she takes away what she had given to them, so it couldn't be helped. However, I won't let her give them any more than this!

『Wha, Fran! Why are you taking out another bottle!?!』

「You can use this too」

「Yeay! Thank you very much!」

「I feel amazingly moist!」

「Ahaha! Thank you!」

「Nn」

Everyone smiled and thanked Fran. Her classmates who were also excited began to even shake Fran's hand. It was just like there were no more reservations or walls between them.

Haa~h. Let's just say that it was an upfront investment by her to be accepted by the female students...

Chapter 561: Rebellious Period?

『Haah... She ended up emptying three bottles of it... We'll have to get more from Elsa again next time』

It was actually a luxury item, so we'd have to pay for it next time.

(Muh...)

Fran didn't look pleased with my idea at all.

(...)

She turned her face away at my call! I-is this her rebellious period? What do you think, Announcer-san?

《Carnivorous Beastmen do not have a rebellious period》

『Eh? Really?』

But it seems, the Beastmen's rebellious period was actually quite interesting.

《Rebellious Period. It is a state of excitement characteristic of growing up, in which stress is expressed in the form of aggression and antisocial behavior toward others. The imbalance between physical and mental growth is considered to be the primary cause》

『Well, I guess so』

She was at the age when they began to ignore their family members, stop listening to their parents, and even steal someone's bike to play with it.

《Beastmen are said to grow faster than humans and are also considered to be a race that can get excited more easily than Humans and Elves. So, if we apply the definition of rebellious period of the human race to the Beastmen race, especially one that inherited the carnivore factor, then more than half of their life would be considered a rebellious period》

《Since that state is normal for the Beastmen, they don't have a rebellious period》

Doesn't that mean they were in a 24/7 rebellious period!? Well, the Beast King was just like that though.

「Hmm?」

Fran, who had been calmly changing in the changing room after the excitement of the serum did not cool down yet, moaned something.

「D-do you need something?」

「This, how do you use it」

Then she held up a long piece of cloth.

Oh! Come to think of it, Fran couldn't tie a tie by herself! I was the one who tied it for her this morning. And that was quite a tedious task.

I used to tie it for myself, but it was quite hard to tie it for someone else.

I've seen a few sweet scenes where a young wife ties a tie for her husband, but it must take a lot of practice to do that.

This morning, I managed to tie it for her by getting to Fran's back to make me feel like I was tying it for myself, but...

This time she should have just loosened the tie lightly and pulled it off her neck instead of untying it completely.

「Can you give it to me for a moment?」

「Nn」

「Fufu, I remembered that I learned to do it by doing it for the other kids when I first entered the academy」

Charon then stood on her knees in front of Fran, and she then tied her tie skillfully. As she did so, she also fixed the collar and hem for her. Charon seemed to be a capable girl, doesn't she?

「And, it's done」

「Thanks」

Immediately after Charon tied her tie, someone came stumbling up to us and approached Fran and Charon.

「Hey you! I heard you're an adventurer, aren't you!?!」

「Nn?」

「That beauty serum, give it to me! It's useless for a commoner like you to use!」

Uwaah, this was the first time I've seen this type of noble since we came to the Academy of Magic.

「You want to use it too?」

「That's not what I meant! Give all of it to me! I don't want to be rough with you, so just give it to me and leave!」

I thought she was just a bit of a tsundere and couldn't bring herself to say that she wanted to use it too, so she acted haughtily, but it seemed that she was just a regular sh*tty nobleman.

As I was wondering how to handle the situation, Charon stepped forward with a stern look on her face.

「Hey you, Your arrogance will not be tolerated in this academy, you know?」

「Hah!? What do you think you're doing?」

The female student replied with a mocking attitude. Charon then looked at her with pity in her eyes and further warned her.

「Weren't you warned about it when you entered the academy? That no matter who you are, your status is meaningless while at the Academy」

「Hmph! It's indeed that this is a large academy, but how can the prestige of my Marquis family be affected by a mere rule of the academy!? Rather, they should be grateful that someone of such high rank as me choose to enroll here!」

So, she was a daughter of a Marquis? She must never think that there were places where her family's title was meaningless. But that kind of thing was really meaningless to the spirits that protected this academy.

「That speaking manner... You're not from this country, are you?」

「I'm a member of the Marquis Renge's houses, the leading vassal of the glorious Kingdom of Vassar—」

Just as she was getting to blurt it out, a female student then came at her in a fierce dash and jumped at the daughter of Marquis Renge. She then tried to cover up her mouth with her hand.

「Wh-what do you think you are doing!?!」

「That should be my line! What do you think you're doing here, Miss Kurda」

「Get off of me! You're so rude! Sarltha!」

「Didn't your father also tell you to stay quiet and obey the rules here at the academy! Or did you forget about it!?!」

「I know! That's why I'm obeying the staff and the nobles of this country in this academy!」

「Are you sure that's what he asked you to do? What your father meant was that for you not to break any of the rules of this academy and obey them all though!」

「But as the eldest daughter of a marquis family, do you expect me to care for a mere commoner!? That's nonsense!」

This female student, Sarltha, must be her attendant. They couldn't bring a maid with them, but they could enroll with them and share their room with them.

「Jeez! Anyway, this is really bad! It will even be a matter of the family's future! Let's go!」

Sarltha seems to be a quite skilled person. She was at least as strong as the students in the Special Battle Class. It seemed that she also doubled as her personal attendant and escort.

Sarltha who looked deeply troubled bowed to Fran and Charon. She seemed to understand how bad it was to cause a scene in this academy.

「Umm, I'm really sorry. I won't let her approach you again, so can you please just forget what had happened?」

「Sarltha! What are yo—Ugh!」

「Just keep silent! Jeez!」

「Haah. What should we do now, Fran?」

「Nn?」

「Should we just overlook these girls?」

Fran was the first one to get tangled up, so Charon asked for Fran's opinion. But Fran was not interested in these girls at all.

「Just let them do as they want?」

「Thank you very much」

「Anyway, can I wear my skirt now?」

Huh, Fran? You're not wearing your skirt yet!? But if it had been the Fran before, she would have completely ignored them, finished changing, and tried to walk away. But just the fact that she stopped changing and tried to listen to them properly was a sign of a big leap in her growth.

「Eh? Yes, go ahead. You girls can go now. Well, I don't think that we'll meet again, right?」

「I see... I think you might be right...」

Does that mean that they'll be expelled? Well, it only ended as an attempt though, so I don't know how much punishment they'll get.

Charon shrugged her shoulders as she watched them leave.

「You'll get great credibility if you're a graduate of this academy even among the foreign nobles, so there are people like that once in a while」

「Well, if we wait a little while, the teacher who was called by the spirit will soon arrive here. So, we should be a little patient in such situations」

Charon advised her that she didn't have to submit to the arrogance of the nobility, but...

「Okay, I'll hold back not to blow them away next time」

Charon then chuckled when she heard Fran's words. She must have remembered that the girl in front of her was a strong person with an alias and even the country should be concerned about her.

「...It seems that I have more things to worry about Fran now」

Chapter 562: Dissection Class

When we returned to the classroom from the changing room, the other students had already arrived in the classroom.

The boys froze when they saw Fran in her school uniform. But it seemed it was not because of Fran's cuteness, but because of the trauma from the mock battle.

The female students were not as distant as they had been in the changing room earlier. Some of them were even waving at her.

However, the classroom, which had an enormous male-to-female ratio, quickly became quiet.

「...」

「...」

「Nn?」

「Fran, come here」

Charon ushered her to a seat among the boys who were holding their breath and staring at Fran.

Although I called it a classroom, it was shaped like a bowl, like a university lecture hall. Apparently, there were no seating arrangements, so each person could sit wherever they wanted.

The reason why Charon purposely sat in the last row was to alleviate everyone's attention on Fran.

When Fran and Charon were seated, silence still dominated the classroom. All the boys were still holding their breath and concentrating on Fran's presence as if they were facing a fierce beast.

Seeing that, the female students were laughing at them.

「Oya? You guys are quite quiet today, what's wrong?」

The silence was broken by an old man who walked into the classroom. He must be the teacher for this subject.

「N-no, it's nothing...」

「Really? Well, okay then, let's start the class. Oh, right, that reminds me, we've got a transfers student, right?」

「It's me」

「So you're the instructor and transfer student that I've heard so much about, huh? And a Beastman too, quite rare in our academy」

The old teacher looked at Fran with interest as she raised her hand. He wasn't in the staff room when she was introduced this morning.

「They also said that you're an adventurer, but have you done a lot of dismantling?」

「Nn」

「So what about this, would you be willing to change things up a bit today and tell us about your experience? It would be a rare opportunity to be able to hear an actual story from an active adventurer after all」

「Ooh! That's good!」

The old teacher was more excited than the students. He must be a teacher that liked to do research.

「It's not every day I'd get to hear about a high-ranking adventurer's dismantling experience!」

With eyes filled with curiosity, he shouted in joy.

「Where should we start then? Oh, that's it... For example, what is the biggest magic beast you've ever dismantled?」

「The biggest?」

「Hmm...?」

「What's wrong? Or did you haven't had much experience in dismantling a large magic beast?」

「I don't know which one to choose because there are too many」

「O-oooh! So that's why! Well, how about the biggest one in recent days?」

「‘That’ will do then, the one I defeated in the Plains of the Demon Wolf」

「Hohou? Rumor has it that there are all kinds of magic beasts in there. So, what did you slay there?」

The old teacher showed a big smile on his face. He was probably the most serious person in this classroom right now.

「An Invisible Death」

「Wh-what did you say!? I-I-Invisible Death!? It's a magic beast with a threat level of B! And you managed to defeat it!?」

The students were completely left behind, weren't they? Contrary to the excitement of the old teacher, the students looked puzzled.

「Uhum. Aah, that's right. Let me explain about the magic beast called the Invisible Death first」

There was no textbook, so he began to explain about Invisible Death while writing on the board. As he was a specialist in magic beasts, the old man's explanation was very detailed.

However, some things could only be understood through first-hand experience, and Fran would supplement this information accordingly.

For example, its optical camouflage. He knew that it refracted light to camouflage, but he didn't have any concrete information about how stealthy it and how much of a threat it was.

And so, the class went on with the conversation between Fran and the old teacher. The students were trying their best to understand, but it seemed to be quite difficult for them.

It was too powerful to be real, and its abilities were too diverse to be imagined. He tried to explain them with diagrams on the blackboard, but they couldn't seem to get the hang of it.

「Umm, Morley-sensei」

「Charon-kun, do you need something?」

「I'm having a hard time imagining what the magic beast you're talking about looks like, so why don't we use a magic beast book now? I'll be back in 15 minutes to fetch it」

「Hmm, you're right」

Normally, he would bring a magic beast book from the library and show the pages to the class.

Then, Fran pulled out something from the dimensional storage.

「This」

「C-could it be! An Invisible Death's Scale!?!」

「Nn」

「D-do you have anything else?」

「I kept all of it with me」

「A-all of it? Could it be, you have a whole Invisible Death with you!?!」

「Nn? I also got two of them」

The moment Fran nodded; the old teacher let out a crazy scream.

「Uhiihoo! C-can you show that to us? Wha? No, for the sake of the young students' studies, by all means, please let us see it!」

It was definitely for his interests, wasn't it?

「This class is too narrow」

「Let's move! Let's go right away! Come on! Everybody gets ready to move! Let's get to the dissection room!」

They all moved to the dissection room after that. On the way, she was also bombarded with questions from the old teacher.

The dissection room we arrived at was much larger than I had imagined, and the ceiling was also quite high. It was made large enough to dissect even a large magic beast.

Moreover, there were several support magic circles painted on the floor. These magic circles help to preserve the blood of the magic beast during dissection.

In the middle of it, Fran pulled out the corpse of an Invisible Death. This one was still untouched, the one that she had killed before her training.

The corpse of the giant beast, over 10 meters in length, clad all over with crystal as thick as a pillar, attracted everyone's eyes with its overwhelming presence. Both teacher and students were speechless in front of the huge beast with the scars of the fierce battle still fresh on it.

Even if they already knew it with knowledge, the impression of it was different when they actually saw it in front of them.

The corpse of the Invisible Death had a foul odor as some of its bodily fluids and internal organs flowed out. It had been stored in the dimensional storage, so it wouldn't rot. So, this might be the original smell of its internal organs.

I was impressed that none of the students felt sick or frowned at the smell. It seems that this was the result of their regular dissection and dismantling activities.

「I've brought it out」

「O-oooh... It's wonderful... Everyone! Make sure you observe it carefully! You may never have the chance to see a magic beast with a threat level of B up close like this again!」

The old teacher shouted, and took the initiative to start observing the carcasses of the magic beasts. Seeing this, the students scattered around it and started sketching.

「Fran, can you tell me more about this magic beast?」

「C-can we join too?」

It was a group of female students, led by Charon, who approached us.

「Nn. Okay」

「Thank you very much」

「Then, let's start with the most annoying part. The tail. There's a hole here, from here—」

「I see—」

「And then, there's this—」

「What about its ability—」

While listening to Fran's simple explanations, Charon and the others responded with exaggerated reactions. Fran seemed to be getting into the mood with their reactions. She then continued her explanation with great eloquence that was quite unimaginable for someone like Fran.

The boys, watching them, gradually came closer and closer to Fran and the others. Some of them even started to ask questions. I guess they realized that they didn't need to be afraid of Fran any more than they needed to be after actually interacting with her.

They all listened to Fran's story of her fierce battle with the Invisible Death, and the difficulties she faced in finishing it off.

The class was a little sidetracked, but I hope this has brought her even closer to her classmates.

Chapter 563: Beastmen and Magic

『Well, today we'll also have a mock battle in the afternoon, but we'll have normal classes in the morning』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

『Oh? Feeling enthusiastic, aren't you? Could it be, that you're looking forward to the class?』

But aside from Fran, why does Urushi look so enthusiastic too?

「Cooking Class today!」

Aah, now that she mentioned it...

『Hey, Fran』

「Nn?」

『Do you remember what other classes you'd need to go for today?』

「Nn...?」

At my question, Fran tilted her head with a puzzled look on her face. She looked as if asking 「What other classes?」 She didn't seem to be bothered by it—Or rather, she didn't seem to feel the need to remember them.

『You remember that you have a Cooking Class today, so you must have looked over the timetable you were given, right? But are you sure you don't remember anything else?』

「Nn」

Well, it was Fran we were talking about...

But Cooking Class was a class where they'd cook their food, right? How could she be satisfied with students' cooking? Moreover, in the case of the special battle class, they were supposed to learn how to cook quick and easy meals on the battlefield or outdoors. So, I don't think they'll be able to come up with a dish that suits Fran's palate.

「I'm sure I can eat there」

As Fran's flat chest heaved with anticipation, I told her the truth about the Cooking Class.

Then Fran's expression quickly became sad. After all, it wasn't what she had imagined.

Urushi's tail too hung and stopped moving. I guess he was hoping to get some leftovers from a delicious meal. However, it was doubtful whether he would eat the leftovers from an amateur's cooking. He seemed to have finally understood that.

She passed the main entrance while feeling down.

「Good morning!」

We didn't get stopped by the guard today. He greeted her with a nice smile.

She still doesn't know many people in the academy yet, so she could hardly talk to any of them. However, some students seemed to remember Fran's face from yesterday's changing room incident, but she just nodded at their call.

「Fran, good morning」

「Good morning」

As soon as she entered the classroom, Charon immediately called out to her. Fran then casually sat down next to her.

We had Urushi in his small dog size today. He was sitting next to the chair where Fran sat.

Even though he was known to be a powerful magic beast, his cute appearance made the female students' gazes mellow.

「...Urushi is cute, isn't he?」

「Yes. No one will be afraid of him when he looks like that」

Well, Urushi still had a sliver of hope for the Cooking Class and he thought that if he was the size of a small dog then he could be easily fed.

The first class of the morning was not a Cooking Class. It was a class to learn more about the various species that exist in this world.

「Well, well. It's an honor to meet the Black Lightning Princess here. So, you've really evolved, haven't you?」

The teacher for this class was a Beastman. His name was Horial, and he was a Deer Beastman. Horial bowed his head respectfully in front of Fran and shook her hand in a somewhat familiar manner.

However, his eyes were filled with genuine emotion, and I could tell that he was thrilled to be able to see the evolved Black Cat Kin firsthand.

「Since Fran-dono is here, let's talk about evolution today. Until last year, I've taught you that the only Beastmen that could not evolve were the Black Cats, but that theory turned out to be wrong. And the person who made that fact known to the world was this Fran-dono here!」

Some of the teachings have been changed this year and they were now teaching that the Black Cat Kin was one of the Ten Primordial Races that could evolve when they met the requirements.

Fran smiled happily when she heard that. She was happy that the Black Cat Kin were being reevaluated.

「I'd even say that she has made history! You guys must be really lucky to be in the presence of such a person! Besides, there aren't many Beastmen in this academy, and none of them has evolved yet. Have you guys witnessed her evolved forms?」

Charon and the other students then let out a chuckle. Fran was a scary instructor for them. So, I guess, they disagree with the word "lucky" in some aspects, as they've been beaten to a pulp by Fran in her evolved form.

However, Fran seemed to be more interested in a different matter.

「There aren't many Beastmen in this academy?」

「Yes. There's only a few of us here」

How was it possible for an academy of this size to have almost no Beastmen? But as I thought back, I certainly hadn't seen any of them.

Could it be that in this country or academy, Beastmen were discriminated against?

「Simply put, it's because this academy was an Academy of Magic, and Beastmen aren't very good at magic」

To my surprise, it wasn't because of discrimination.

Come to think of it, I've heard that Beastmen weren't very good at magic.

「Beastman who are good at magic, like the Black Lightning Princess-dono are very rare. And just like what I said before, I'm not very good at magic either」

I see. In teachers' case, it doesn't matter as long as they can teach, so they don't have to be able to use magic, huh?

「Let me explain in detail. First of all, most Beastmen have low magic power. This is a Racial Trait, and is more prominent than in Humans and Dwarves」

「In addition, it also has something to do with their personality...」

「Personality?」

Fran tilted her head in confusion, but I somehow figured it out.

「The training of magic is very simple, and it's also boring, and the results of the daily training won't be easily visible」

「Nn」

「In other words, many impatient Beastmen are unable to endure that kind of training」

It was not that they couldn't endure it, but they were certainly not suited for it. Not all Beastmen were impatient and short-tempered, but I'm sure that was the general tendency for them.

Among them, the Beastmen who could use magic simply had tremendous talent from the start. They were probably the kind of people who, with a little training, could learn magic in a blink of an eye and handle it with ease. I guess you could also say that they have a keen perception.

The Beast King and Mea seemed to be that type.

「Moreover, many Beastmen aspire to become fighters; they start training when they are about 5 or 6 years old, and many of them start working as apprentices when they are about 10 years old. Therefore, they have little interest in the academy. It is common for them to think that they would rather learn on the job rather than studying」

If they plan to become adventurers or soldiers in the future, it may be indeed more efficient for them to train from an early age.

「Then there is the geographical issue. In this country, the statuses of magicians are great, while in the neighboring countries, the statuses of adventurers are great. As a result, there's no particular discrimination here, but most of the Beastmen choose to go to the Kingdom of Kranzel」

However, if you wonder if the Beastmen were absolutely unsuited to be magicians, I've heard that this was not the case. One of the major advantages was that the aptitude for magic that each race could use was already determined to some extent.

Unlike Humans, who may have an aptitude for all kinds of magic, Beastmen often have uneven characteristics in their respective races. Let's use Horial for example. He was from the Blue Deer Tribe which made it almost certain that they had an aptitude for Water, Earth, and Tree magic.

Therefore, it was said that they could shorten their training time considerably on that element. On the other hand, he also said that not many of them could use the other elements.

「It's difficult for us to make it big as magicians because of our low magic power, but it's easier for us to train as Magic Warriors」

However, it would still be very difficult to get the Beastmen to practice magic. Do you think Fran and the Beast King would be able to continue their plain training for years? That would be absolutely impossible.

Chapter 564: Gods Return

Horial's class continued further.

They had gotten a little sidetracked and ended up talking about the Beastmen's aptitude in magic, but he managed to bring the class back to the topic of evolution.

「Well then, Charon-kun. What is the only species in this world that does not evolve?」

「Yes. It's us, humans」

「That's right—」

Maybe it's for Fran's sake, but Horial said it was just a review of previous lessons and briefly reviewed what they've learned so far.

It was quite a strange combination of natural anthropology and mythology, but it was considered factual in this world.

To put it simply, after the Gods created this world and finished creating nature, the Great Gods worked together to create man. Then each God created their kindred based on human beings.

If they're kin of the Beast and Insect Gods, they would be born as a Beastman or an insect-kin. If they're kin of the Forest Tree Gods, they would be born as Elves. If they're kin of the Earth Gods, they would be born as Dwarves or Demons. That's how it works.

Each of the demi-humans created by the Gods had special powers given to them by the Gods, and that was why they could evolve.

It may seem that the humans were the only race that didn't have any special powers, but actually, the humans were given the power of the Ten Great Gods in a balanced manner. That was why humans were an excellent race with lots of capabilities and high fertility. So, it was not that they couldn't evolve, but that they didn't need to.

Well, it seemed that the interpretation of that also differed depending on the place. As there's no way for a country ruled by Human Royals would teach their people that humans were a poor race with no good qualities.

The Beastman countries too would teach that the Beastmen were the strongest and noblest race that didn't rely on the puny thing known as magic.

「Well, let's talk about evolution now. First of all, non-humanoid races can naturally evolve if they level up and meet the requirements. There are also cases of mutation, but please differentiate between mutation and evolution, okay?」

I learned that demons don't evolve, but they mutate. Evolution was a big change that came when someone reached their level cap, while mutation was a small change that was possible to achieve regardless of their level as long as the conditions were met.

「It doesn't matter if they're Beastmen, an Elf, a Dwarf, or Dragonmen, they can still evolve」

However, it was said that among the species that could evolve and mutate, there were individuals who sometimes undergo a special kind of evolution.

The Ten Primordial Beastman races, for example, were said to have that kind of special evolution. But there were also special evolutions in other races as well.

Ashwrath's race, the Calamity Demon, was a legendary race whose existence was always questioned. It may not be clearly proved yet, but it was clear that a special evolutionary process had made him stronger than normal.

「Among these special evolutions, there is a particularly rare one. It's the evolution called the Gods Return or the Ancestral Return. Some researchers even refer to them as the "Godlike beings"」

That's quite a big name.

「As the word suggests, it is believed to be an evolution of a species that is close to the Primordial Races that were created by Gods themselves. Well, perhaps I should call it a "Regression" rather than an "Evolution", but I'll talk about it as a form of evolution here. As far as I know, the High Elves are one of the examples of a Gods Return」

The main difference that differentiates the Gods Return from a normal evolution was the change in races.

Take the Elves, for example. They have sub-species such as Wood Elves, Leaf Elves, and Grass Elves, but no matter how much they evolved, they would still be Elves.

In Weena Rhyn case, however, things were a little different.

She was a High Elf but also seemed to be a Demigod herself.

(Amazing, she reached the gods)

『Really? So, that meant that Weena Rhyn was like a god herself?』

Both Fran and I were so surprised, but it seemed that was not the case. A Demigod was not officially a God but was positioned as beings second to the Gods.

「However, there's only a few of them in history, so this is just my opinion based on what I've read and what I've heard from the director」

「Other than the High Elves, are there other races that have achieved the Gods Return?」

The other students then began to actively ask questions, as if their nervousness about Fran's presence had completely disappeared.

「That's a good question. As far as I know, the Elder Dwarves achieved the Dwarven God Return and the God Demons achieved the Demon God Return」

「So, what about the unidentified races?」

「Let's see. First, there's the Divine Dragonmen, they're said to be the Return of the Dragon God, but the documents about them have been lost due to the destruction of the Continent of Gordisia. However, their existence is still known among the Dragonmen, so there's a high possibility that they actually exist」

The Divine Dragonmen. I had an idea of what beings they were. In the battle in the Royal Capital, Velmeria, who was being controlled by The Sword of Blind Devotion - Fanatics, and went out of control, must have some kind of skill to become a Divine Dragonman.

And I've witnessed how tremendous her power was when she used that skill.

So, wasn't that the Divine Dragon?

「And for us Beastmen. I've once heard that there's a saying that some of the oldest kin among us also has a being called as the Divine Beastman」

「Divine Beastman?」

「Yes. It's said to be a being whose power even transcends the Ten Primordial Races. And there's also a story of it defeating a Divine Sword with its bare hands」

「Eehh?」

「That's, really...」

The students then made a commotion when they heard Horial's words. There were also classes about the Divine Sword in this academy, and that must have been told of its tremendous power.

Maybe, they must think that Horial, who is also a Beastman himself, was exaggerating about the Beastmen's Gods Return.

But Fran and I have different thoughts. Because I've actually witnessed Velmeria fighting evenly with Ashwrath, a Divine Sword user, and as for Weena Rhyn, we hadn't seen her using all of her power, but she seemed to have enough power to fight a Divine Sword.

『And if that Divine Beastman has the power of Weena Rhyn or Velmeria class...』

「Nn. There's a possibility of it winning against a Divine Sword」

Fran's muttering seemed to have caught the ears of a surprising number of students. Horial, too, asked back with great interest.

「Do you have any thought about it, Black Lightning Princess-dono?」

「Nn. I've fought Weena Rhyn before, so I'm pretty sure she's strong enough to fight a Divine Sword」

「...Have you ever seen a Divine Sword?」

「I've seen Ashwrath fight with his Divine Sword」

「I see. So, you've seen both the Divine Sword and the Gods Return, huh!?!」

The noise in the classroom got even louder. Apparently, the story of her seeing a Divine Sword in an open state was shocking. She was then bombarded with questions from the surrounding students.

I was afraid that Horial would get angry with her for sidetracking the lesson, but he ended up asking her a question about the Divine Sword himself.

He just liked the legends in this world, so it couldn't be helped.

In the end, they ended up talking about Ashwrath and his Divine Sword until the class ended.

Chapter 565: Cooking Drill

Once Horial's class was over, the next class was the Cooking Class.

However, for some reason, the class was held outside, not in the cooking room or the cafeteria. The students were gathered in their uniforms on the grass field.

The ground was covered with the blue sheet that I had seen at the Adventurer's Guild before, and on top of it were the corpses of about ten magic beasts.

It looked like a one-meter-long raccoon. Its fur was dry and shaggy, and it was not very clean.

And it smelled bad. It was faint, but it smelled like rotten eggs.

This magic beast was called the Skunk Raccoon. Its meat smelled so bad that even if you cooked it properly, it wouldn't be very edible. In fact, an ordinary adventurer would probably only collect its magic stones and poison glands and discard the rest.

The fur and other materials are of low quality and are not worth selling too.

But, could it be, they were expected to cook this thing?

A large woman was standing in front of the blue sheet. Her name was Yafi, and she was also a former adventurer.

「Today's Cooking Class is designed to teach you how to process and cook the magic beasts you've killed in the field!」

It seemed that they didn't just have to cook it, but they also had to dismantle it themselves as well.

「You have to dismantle and cook this Skunk Raccoon, remember what I've taught you so far! You can make anything you want with it!」

As I've expected, this Skunk Raccoon was prepared for them to cook. She'd prepared them a quite nasty prey, hadn't she?

「Split up into groups and each group must take care of one of them! And make sure you make enough portions for all of us!」

It seemed that this class was meant to prepare for the times when they lose their food, as they were forced to cook and eat nasty prey.

When Urushi realized that, he quietly disappeared into Fran's shadow.

「Umm, you must be Fran, right? I wonder what task to give to you... Have you ever dismantled a magic beast or cooked one?」

「I've experienced both of it」

「Huh? Really?」

「Nn」

「As expected of a solo high-ranked adventurer. If that's the case, where should I place you then?」

「How about she join our group?」

It was Charon who raised her voice. Although her group's members didn't reject her idea, their faces looked a little uncertain.

「But, I wonder if Fran would like to join her group」

「Okay」

「Aaah, and also, you don't have to hold back, okay? You can use whatever spices you have on hand」

「Is that so?」

「It's pretty common for adventurers to have unexpected companions to join their party. But can you really ask them to hold back just because your share would be reduced?」

「In fact, if you can't draw out the abilities of those irregular companions and cooperate with them, you shouldn't consider yourself as a pro」

That was probably true. I'm sure there are times when multiple parties will take on a joint request, and there are also times when a solo adventurer who knows a particular region will be temporarily added to the party.

「Well, I'd also like to have at least some good food too」

So that was her real intention!

Nevertheless, I'm not going to do anything to help Fran this time. Aside from dismantling, if I interfere with the cooking process, the food will usually taste better. But I want Fran to have to gain her own experience too.

「I look forward to working with you. Fran」

「Nn. Me too」

「Also, I'd like to introduce you to my group members」

「I-I'm Rellus. It's nice to meet you」

「I'm Marquez」

「I'm Osless. Nice to meet you」

The frail-looking guy was Rellus. He seemed to be a magician from the Demon Kin. He was quite an unusual student of the Special Battle Class, as he was a pure magician type.

The serious-looking macho guy was Marquez. He was the opposite of Rellus and was probably a shield user.

The last man was a frivolous-looking gentleman. He's Osless. And he looked to be in his early twenties.

Well, since the Academy of Magic does not limit admission by age, so some of them are older than others.

It seemed that these three people, including Charon, were a group in the Cooking Class. At first, I thought they were friends who had formed a party at the Adventurer's Guild, but it seemed that was not the case.

「We don't have a fixed party when we take quests at the Adventurer's Guild」

「It's also unlikely that we'll be able to make a party with our classmates after graduation」

If they were to form a party with only their classmates, they would not be able to respond flexibly in times of need. In order to prevent this, the students of the Special Battle Class are required to change their combinations in turns when they take quests outside.

「I know in yesterday's class that Fran has dismantling skills, but what about cooking?」

「Nn... It's so-so? I'm not as good as Master」

「Hmm? Fran's master? What kind of person is he?」

「Master is the best, he can do anything」

「Th-that is... Well, he's Fran's master, so I'm sure it's true」

Fran's master must be even more screwed up. That must be what she thought of me.

「So, what do you want us to do? We don't mind you giving us instructions」

「Okay」

How could you ask Fran, who still hadn't mastered her Cooking Skills to give you instructions...? Charon, you're quite a gambler, aren't you? No, did she decide to just follow a high-ranked adventurer, which was, in a sense, a natural thing to do for an adventurer?

Her group members don't seem to have any objections as well. Rather, they were nodding happily. The one who was clearly happy with it was Osless

「Uwaah, we're saved. All the guys in this group are really bad at cooking」

「Is that so?」

「Well, yeah. It's because everyone except me is totally useless~. Well, all three of them are nobles, so it's no wonder」

It seems that the three of them were children of small noble families, but still, they had a maid or two in their houses. But after entering this academy, they've worked a little harder, but they were not good at it.

Osless, on the other hand, was the son of a Chief Soldier and came from a commoner family. Therefore, he had been helping his mother in the kitchen since he was a child, and he seemed to have no qualms about cooking.

「I'm not really skilled at it, but I'm better than these guys. And I also have some useful skills as well」

And so, they choose Fran to be their leader, with Osless as her assistant, and the other three ready to take instruction.

「Are there any spices in this group's inventory?」

「Yes. Each group has its inventory」

「Then bring them all. And bring some cooking utensils too」

「Understood」

「What should we do?」

「First, secure the prey, get the best one」

「Even if you tell us to get the best one, they're the same magic beast, you know? And their size is about the same too. Will that really make any differences?」

「It probably took days to prepare it. So, obviously, there's a difference in its freshness」

「How can we tell the difference?」

「The smell, the hair, the cloudiness of the eyes. And the color of its tongue」

「I see」

Now, I wonder what kind of food she'll make.

Chapter 566: Cooking Drill, Start!

Fran started by checking the seasonings and discussed what kind of dish she was going to cook.

「Umm, Fran? Shouldn't we split up and start dismantling?」

「The other group has already started dismantling, you know...?」

「No problem. I can dismantle such a magic beast in no time」

「As expected of Fran」

「She's so reliable—」

I sneaked a peek at the other group's work, and it was pretty bad. They were slow as they didn't understand the structure of their prey, and their overall work was poor. It would probably take them more than half an hour just to dismantle it.

On the other hand, as long as she was careful with the Skunk Raccoon's poison glands and magic stones, it would only take Fran less than five minutes to dismantle it.

Well, it was thanks to our Dismantling Skills though. Come to think of it, I'm a lot better than I was when I first came to this world. I missed the old days when I tried to dismantle something randomly and ended up tearing the materials apart.

「Is this all the seasoning we have?」

「Eh? Yeah...」

「Muh」

Fran made an unusually small grunt when she saw the seasonings that Charon and the others had prepared.

Well, I knew how she felt. After all, on the table, there were only rock salt, pepper, and two kinds of herbs. The rest was seasoned salt mixed with chopped mushrooms and oil. That was all they had.

The seasoned salt seemed to be handmade by an amateur, and the herbs were of a weak type with little aroma and taste.

Apparently, they only have things that could be collected in the wild. When she asked them about it, they said that it was the seasonings that they had collected in their previous classes.

「...Can we buy some?」

「It's allowed, but we're not very familiar with the seasonings...」

Until now, they had only been able to get the food to be edible by adding salt and herbs and heating them.

But this time, the Skunk Raccoon won't be that simple, you know? We couldn't get rid of its foul scent by just heating it.

But as expected, we don't have the time to go to town and buy the seasonings now.

「Okay, I'll do something about the seasoning then」

「Do you have some?」

「Nn. I have a lot of them」

「Aah, now that I remember, Fran can use Space-Time Magic, isn't she?」

And so, Fran and her group decided to proceed with the dismantling first.

If Fran gave her best, it would be over quickly, but she chose to dismantle it while giving some details to Charon and the others. This was probably because it was part of the class. Fran must have understood that she shouldn't do everything herself.

But before Fran and the others could start dismantling, there was a scream from the other groups. And then, the other group started screaming too, while holding their eyes and noses.

「Ugh—!」

「What smell is this...!」

「It stinks! Stink, stink, stink!」

「Kyaa—!」

Apparently, a group had damaged the poison gland during dismantling. The venom of the Skunk Raccoon was only slightly poisonous, but the smell was very horrible.

People tend to think that's what causes the smell of its meat, but it's actually not. In the blood of Skunk Raccoons, there was a component that helps them withstand their own poisonous gas. The chemical-like scent of these ingredients was the true source of its meat's smell.

On the other hand, the poison smelled like strong sulfur. The smell also seemed to have spread to the surrounding area all at once. All the groups were in agony with tears in their eyes.

Charon and the others were starting to smell it too. Aside from the three men, that must be horrible for Charon, she was a daughter of a Nobleman after all. Fran also seemed to have smelled the gas for a moment and was frowning.

However, she immediately used her wind magic to blow the air around her and put up a barrier to block the smell.

「I-I was saved」

「That was really terrible」

「Uwaah, you all look awful」

The people around them were in a half panic, but Fran didn't really care. Once they were sure that their surroundings were no longer smelly, she went back to explain the dismantling process.

「Then, use a knife to cut here」

「Eh? Ah, yes!」

Charon and the others quickly concentrated on Fran's hands, remembering that they were behind in their work.

They proceeded in this manner and finished almost all the dismantling in about 10 minutes. Of course, she didn't make any mistakes that could damage the poison glands and cause a foul-smelling commotion again.

「That was an amazing technique」

「I-I'm impressed」

「Anyone can do it once they get used to it. More importantly, what should we do with this?」

「If we can harvest its magic stones, we give them to the teacher later」

It seemed that teachers would bring it to the Adventurer's Guilds and the like to cover some of the costs of conducting the classes.

「We got quite a lot of meat. But what should we make with it?」

「S-somehow, it smells strange...」

「The color is also bad」

「There's quite a lot of muscle too. I wonder how it tastes?」

Charon and the others looked at each other as they didn't think it wouldn't taste good before they ate it. Fran could only nod at that.

「Nn. It was very smelly and quite unappetizing. This is nothing a little roasting can fix」

「Uwaah. Then... What should we do?」

「We don't have any choice. Let's use this」

What Fran took out from the dimensional storage was a variety of curry powder that I had blended. The aroma and spiciness could be adjusted according to the ingredients and cooking methods.

「Umm, what is this?」

「Curry powder made by Master. With this, any ingredient can taste better. The supreme seasoning!」

「Hee, is curry the name of the dish?」

「Nn. The best food」

「That sounds awesome. But its scent was quite strange. I wonder if it's a mixture of spices?」

Osless was the only one who took a bite out of the curry powder. If they were not interested in cooking, it was just a rare seasoning for them.

But soon, Charon raised her voice.

「Wait a minute. When you say curry, isn't it a new dish that has recently started to become popular in the Kingdom of Kranzel?」

「Master made it」

「Could it be, Fran's Master is the rumored Curry Master? I've heard that he's a very skilled cook... But wasn't your Master an adventurer?」

「Master can do everything. His cooking, his fighting, his magic, everything is top-notch. He is my master of everything」

「I-is that so? Is he a famous adventurer?」

「Not an adventurer. Master is Master」

While they were talking, Osless had checked the curry powder.

「How do I use it? Do I just sprinkle it on and grill it?」

「That's fine too, but I'll use it differently this time」

After that, they all proceeded with the cooking, with Fran giving the directions.

It's quite hard to believe that Fran was telling people what to do and working together to cook... If it had been her before, she would have finished it all by herself and ate the food alone.

I could feel Fran's growth, and I'm about to cry. But I don't have tear glands though.

Chapter 567: Fran's Cooking

Chapter 567: Fran's Cooking

Fran and her group had decided on the dish they were going to make and started cooking it, but the way they cooked was very different from the other groups.

While the other groups were cooking with pans over the fire, they were using improvised stoves made with Earth Magic.

Moreover, Fran provided them with top-grade knives and pans from her dimensional storage. It was a very high-quality product made by a Dwarven master.

The seasoning used in the preparation and the milk used to remove the smells was also used lavishly.

She also used a makeshift pressure cooker made with a combination of Earth, Fire, Wind, and Water Magic to cook the meat until it was tender.

The makeshift-pressure cooker looked simple at first glance, but it was actually a technique that required a high level of skill and was very difficult to maintain and adjust in combination with magic.

Well, no one was aware of that though. But if a Magic Teacher were to see it, they would be amazed at the waste of its use.

Yafi, the teacher in charge of the Cooking Class, was admiring all the dishes that Fran and her group had laid out in front of her.

「Hee? It has no distinctive pungent smell at all. It's almost hard to believe that you used Skunk Raccoon meat for this」

From the white porcelain dishes, it was hard to believe that they were used for outdoor cooking. No, it was not only Yafi but the rest of the groups seemed to think so as well.

「What kind of cooking is this?」

「It looks delicious... Moreover, they even made four dishes in such a short time...」

It was not just the cooking that the students were impressed with.

「Did you see how fast they dismantled it? That was amazing」

「I also listened to her explanation, and it was very informative」

「As expected of a real active adventurer...」

「Or rather, I never thought that magic can be used like that」

「One day, I'm gonna be able to do the same...」

Even if she had simply cooked outdoors, they could feel the difference in their abilities. They looked exhausted and looked at Fran with envy.

Well, the students were probably tired because they were physically and mentally drained from the multiple foul smell disturbances that had occurred. Perhaps, half of the groups had failed to dismantle and damaged its poison glands. If they had smelled the fainting stench over and over again, they must have been exhausted.

「This looks delicious」

Yafi's words probably summed up her feelings pretty well. As far as I could tell, the food had not been good so far.

It was all about herb-crusted grilled food and salty soup. She couldn't stop eating for the assessment, and it was quite hard for her.

The only thing that seemed to be better was the cooking of the group that received good reviews in this class every time. A brown-skinned, platinum-blonde, fresh-looking man from another continent was in charge of the cooking as the leader of that group.

He seemed to come from a desert country called the Kingdom of Azalea, which was apparently famous for its cuisine that used a lot of spices. In this class, he was also making Azalean soup and a tortilla-like dish with grilled meat sandwiched between flour dough.

At first glance, I thought the soup might be a curry soup, but it seemed more like a stew with spices.

The filling of the tortilla was a layer of thinly sliced meat that has been baked and then sliced into thin strips, just like a kebab.

The spices and coconut milk seemed to have removed a lot of the smell from the meat, but it was not perfect due to the lack of preparation such as draining the blood. Yafi's assessment of it was 「It's so-so」.

Now, how would the cooking that Fran and her group had cooked, be evaluated?

「I'll dig in then」

「Nn」

「I wonder if this is pounded and minced Skunk Raccoon meat? Is that cheese on top?」

「After removing as much fat as possible from the abdomen, we crushed it into small pieces, mixed with special seasoning, rolled up and baked」

Well, to put it simply, it was a hamburger steak mixed with curry powder and baked, with cheese on top of it.

「And how does it taste——」

Yafi then used her fork to cut up the hamburger and slowly brought it to her mouth.

「Mogu mogu...!」

(*munching SFX)

Immediately after chewing once and twice, her eyes widened in surprise.

「Delicious! What the hell is this!? It tastes like something that you'd normally need to pay for! And it has the most complex taste I've ever had... It's a little bit spicier than Azalean food, but... What is this spiciness——」

Yafi was surprisingly accurate in her analysis of flavors. I thought she was just an adventurer who wanted to teach outdoor cooking, but it seemed she was well versed in food and cooking.

「Is this jerky? You did a great job making it in such a short time」

「Fresh jerky made with magic」

「Your magic is quite amazing then... Hmm... It has a unique taste from the seasoning and spices. Aah, it made me want to have some alcohol」

「And this. I made it with meat miso. Wrap it in this flour crepe」

「Another unusual dish. Mogu mogu—— it's also delicious. Incredible!」

Fran, whose Cooking Skill was already at its highest level, had used spices and miso to cover up the smell and taste. She chose a dish that she could make right here from the many dishes I've made in the past and recreated it.

「And last but not least, the mysterious soup... Is it soup? It looks oddly thick」

「It's curry. The most delicious food in the world」

「Th-that's quite a big one. Let's find out how it tastes... Mogu mogu」

The other dish that Fran prepared was a curry with a lot of ingredients. There was no rice though.

It was a slightly spicy red curry with meat and vegetables tenderized in a makeshift pressure cooker. When Yafi took a bite of the curry, she looked even more surprised than before.

「Th-this is! What a complex taste! It's spicy, but it only makes me want to eat more of it...!」

Yafi, who had only eaten a few bites of the other group's dishes before, said that she couldn't judge well if she was full, but right now, she was gobbling up Fran and her group's cooking.

This would be an unquestionably high evaluation.

「W-we'll have some of that too」

Charon and the others, who had been holding out so Yafi could assess it first, couldn't wait any longer.

「Nn」

「I-I can finally eat it」

「It looks delicious」

「I-ta-da-ki-ma-su!」 (Note: Thanks for the food!)

「Woof woof!」

Urushi also came out and got some curry. However, his actions were quite disgraceful. He then ate the curry while paying attention to Fran who made it, but I could tell by the way his tail wagged how happy he was.

But Fran was not angry at him. Rather, Fran herself had a subtle expression on her face. For Fran, who loved curry, the taste must not be satisfactory.

Even so, it was very well received by her group. Fran was comparing it to my cooking, so it's a harsh assessment, but I'm sure it was a lot better than most of the cooking the other groups made.

The other classmates looked enviously as Charon and her group ate their curry while saying how delicious it was. The rule was that they had to eat everything they made, so all the groups were forced to eat their food.

「...H-hey. If you have any leftover, could I have a bite of that food?」

The first person who approached her was the handsome young man who made the Azalean dish. He was good at cooking and seemed to be very interested in it.

「Sure」

「Really!? Thank you!」

「Eh! I want some too!」

「Me too! Me too!」

In the end, everyone raised their hands in the air. However, there was not enough for everyone who wanted it.

Well, to the students who lost in rock-paper-scissors, good luck next time!

Chapter 568: The Curry's Impact

Chapter 568: The Curry's Impact

They got a high mark in Cooking Class. They made the best use of what they had and made delicious food.

But even after such class, Fran still went to the cafeteria to eat lunch.

Charon and her group members were following her too. It was probably because the amount of food they ate in the Cooking Class was not enough for them.

But for their classmate, they probably just want to remove the bad taste from their mouth.

While everyone else was enjoying the food served in the cafeteria, only Fran was eating something different. In the cafeteria, people were allowed to bring in their food from outside. Well, it was just a school cafeteria after all.

The students, especially those who do not live in the dormitory but commute from the town, seemed to get their meals from outside.

And of course, what Fran was eating was the curry rice.

The Skunk Raccoon curry that they made wasn't quite satisfying for Fran. So, she decided to eat some curry...

「Nn. This is for you」

「Woof!」

Fran then continues to shove the curry into her mouth over and over again. Urushi too, but since he ate his curry in his puppy mode, his mouth was all messy.

Looking at Fran and Urushi eating, Charon seemed to be a little envious.

「That must be a dish made with the curry powder from the Cooking Class earlier, isn't it?」

「Nn? Yes, but different」

「Ummm...? It isn't curry?」

「It's curry. But it's completely different from the one we had earlier. This is the real thing. The one we made earlier was a total failure」

「The one we made earlier? It was so delicious though?」

「Nn. Have some」

「Eh? Th-thank you. Now, if you'll excuse me... Aaah」

Charon hesitantly sipped at the spoon that Fran had offered to her.

「Th-this is...! I-it's delicious! Certainly, it can't be compared to the one we had earlier!」

I don't know how many times I've seen that look of astonishment today.

Well, the food they made in the Cooking Class may have been delicious, but the ingredients used were not good, and the curry powder was not mixed properly. On the other hand, what Fran just made her eat was the best curry I made with all my heart.

Needless to say, this one should have tasted better.

Looking at Charon who was impressed, Fran showed her smug face.

「Fufun」

「Is that the one that Fran's Master makes?」

「Nn!」

「Is he really an adventurer? Not a cook?」

She must feel very happy for her to praise the curry. Fran then took out a bowl of curry from the dimensional storage and placed it in front of Charon.

「I-is this for me?」

「Nn」

「Thank you very much!」

Charon thanked her with a radiant smile. She had already filled her stomach with the lunch provided by the cafeteria, but she seemed to still be able to eat more.

「Thanks for the food」

As one would expect from a noble, the way she moved the spoon was elegant at first, but her pace then became incredible. Her hand never stopped moving the spoon, and the curry in the bowl was steadily decreasing.

「I-is it that good? H-hey, let us have some too...」

They came to the cafeteria after the Cooking Drill, so Osless and the other boys were sitting together at the same table as Fran.

Seeing Charon eating the curry so deliciously, I guess they couldn't hold back anymore. Osless then said that he wanted to eat it too.

If it was Fran from before, she would have found it hard to share the curry. However, I wondered if she had developed a sense of friendship after the short time they spent together in the Cooking Class.

Fran then willingly served them some curry. She also served it with a side of sliced vegetables pickled in soy sauce.

「It's delicious!」

「Oh, God! This is so good」

「Gatsu gatsu!」 (*munching SFX)

It was just that, you know if she serves curry to only Osless and the others here——

「...Gulp」

「...Slurp」

All their classmates around were looking at Fran's table with a menacing look like starving beasts.

No, even the other students, other than their classmates, were also looking at them.

「Muh」

「Woof」

Fran and Urushi, who can smile even when surrounded by a pack of magic beasts, were being pressured by the students.

「...This, have some too」

『Ah! If you do that——』

「 「 「 「Uwooh」 」 」 」 」

The moment Fran took out one of the barrels from the dimensional storage, an earth-shaking cheer suddenly rose. It already sounded like a war cry.

『Pa-panic will occur here!』

I braced myself for that, but Osless, Marquez, and Rellus voluntarily took charge of serving the food and organizing a line.

「It seems like it's our fault... So, let us at least do this」

「He's right」

「I-I don't know what will happen if we leave them alone」

The Special Battle Class seemed to be well respected, and the students from other departments obediently followed their instruction. Thanks to that, we were able to finish distributing the curry smoothly without any incident breaking out.

「It tastes much better than cafeteria food!」

「It's already more than a few degrees higher」

「You're right! This is certainly hundreds of times better!」

While Fran gazed sadly at the empty barrel, there were shouts of joy in various parts of the cafeteria. Apparently, the curry was well accepted.

However, other people besides Fran could not simply be happy about the situation. But it was not Charon and the others.

「Hey, you. The little Beastman there」

「Nn?」

「What the hell do you think you're doing here without telling us?」

The words alone sounded as if he was part of the town's hoodlums, but I suppose that was to be expected.

The man who was staring at Fran with a blue mark on his forehead was an elderly man dressed in a white cook's uniform.

「I'm Noritz, I'm in charge of cooking here. Can I have a talk with you for a moment?」

Chapter 569: Academy's Cafeteria Reform

Chapter 569: Academy's Cafeteria Reform

The cook, Noritz, showed up looking a little pissed off, but after listening to him carefully, I found out that he was actually very interested in the curry.

His tone of voice made him sound like he was angry, but the words that came out were a request to eat the curry. A tsundere old man. Good grief, that wasn't moe at all!

He really wanted to try my curry himself, and he was angry at us for causing a scene, but the smells are so delicious. He was a little offended by what the students were saying, but he was interested in the unique dish.

It seemed that such a mixture of emotions resulted in his tsundere response.

「Ugh... This is delicious, isn't it? This must have used a lot of spice to make it...」

Noritz analyzed various things from the curry Fran had given to him.

「As expected of the one who developed it, they are two of three steps ahead of the recipes they sell」

「You know about the curry recipe?」

「Yeah. They sell it at Lucille's Trading Company. I'm also interested in the fact that it was developed by a silver-ranked cook」

Apparently, Noritz was a member of the Cooking Guild. It was not a very big organization, but most cooks from big restaurants were members.

And when he learned that the developer of the curry was a Silver Rank member of the Cooking Guild, he decided to buy it.

「I was shocked by it. However, if I make it by following the recipe, the cost would be quite high...」

Noritz said that the most important thing he paid attention to when he cooked was nutritional balance. Next is quantity. The last is taste. Of course, he does not want to serve bad food. However, there was a limit to what he could do within his budget.

There may be many ways to make this at home, but they have to make food for thousands of people with a small number of people. They also don't have enough time or labor for even a small amount of innovation.

「By the way, what is the cost to make this?」

「It was——」

When she gave him a rough idea of the cost and the ingredients used, Noritz put his head in his hands. The soup stock was made from the bones of magic beasts, and a variety of their meats were used. Magical plants were used lavishly too. So it was probably not something that could be served in a school cafeteria.

It seemed that Noritz was also trying to make a good and cheap curry, but it just didn't seem to be working. If he reduced the number of expensive spices, it becomes just like a soup with a few spices.

In the first place, spices were expensive in this country. Well, since Barbra was a port town, it was particularly cheap to buy there. So if he used such spices as in the recipe, the cost will inevitably go up.

Seeing Noritz so distressed, Fran seemed to feel sorry for him. She could tell that deep down he wanted to make sure that the students had the best food possible.

(Master, can we do something?)

『Hmm, I actually had an idea』

Noritz's mistake would have been to try to replicate the taste of the recipe based on the one sold at Barbra. I guess it's because he had an assumption that that was how a curry should be... But with a limited budget and ingredients, it was impossible to do so even for me.

「...I have an Idea」

「Huh? Could it be, you want to help us?」

「Nn」

「Oooh! Thank you! Then, what should we do?」

「Let me use the kitchen」

「Understood!」

Fran then cooked and prepared the dish according to my instructions. Naturally, it was Fran and Urushi who were the first to taste it.

Seeing how well they ate, Noritz followed suit and took a bite of her cooking.

「This is... It is curry, but it's not the curry I know. However, it's cheap and delicious」

「It's Curry Mapo Rice」

「Mapo? What an interesting name」

「It's a little different from curry, but it's delicious」

What we made was a curry Mapo with fewer spices and more sansho (Japanese pepper). In this country, a variety of sansho could be obtained inexpensively. After all, they grew naturally everywhere.

But Noritz and the others never thought of it as something they could use for the curry. They never thought that the inexpensive sansho, which they usually used in large quantities, would be a good substitute for expensive spices. The smell was quite different too.

I took advantage of that and made a curry-like version of a dish that originally existed in this area, a dish similar to Mapo seasoned with sansho, soy sauce, and sugar. The spiciness of this dish was different from that of curry, but I've tried to make it addictive.

In terms of cost, it's not so different from what we've done in the past, but it's a recipe that we, with all our cooking skills, really thought about. Moreover, by using even a small amount of spices from abroad, we were able to create something new. I'm sure the students would love it.

「If you change the seasoning or the thickness a little, you can put it in steamed bun or sandwich」

「I see what you mean! We can freely change the ingredients! You've taught me something good!」

In addition to that, I'll teach him how to arrange existing dishes, like curry fried rice. With Noritz's skills, I'm sure he can make the cafeteria's food taste even better than it already does.

「Thank you. With this, now I can give the students a good meal. But, about your reward...」

「Nn? I don't need it」

Fran refused the reward. Well, this is half as an apology for making a scene, and half for the sake of the other students.

Besides, we've seen Noritz and the others making tearful efforts to keep the cost of ingredients down. If we were to receive a reward for the recipe, it would be meaningless for us to teach them how to make it cheaply.

When she told him that, Noritz said that he couldn't accept it for free and that he would pay for it out of his pocket.

And after a short discussion, we settled on asking him to write a letter of introduction to a business association that does business with the academy. After all, I also wanted a lot of sansho for our future use. So, it's just right.

We finished our work at the cafeteria, but then, we had an unexpected encounter. It was when we were heading for the exit to leave the cafeteria.

It was a brown-haired boy who looked to be only about three or four years old. The boy came running into the cafeteria with a smile on his face as if he was really looking forward to eating, but he stopped moving the moment he saw Fran.

「 「...」 」

Fran and the boy looked at each other. The boy's smile had changed and he was now glaring at Fran. There was strong anger in his eyes and a slight hint of fear. I never thought a boy like him would look at her like that.

After a few seconds of staring at each other, the woman who was with him gently touched the boy's shoulder.

「Romio-kun, you'll disturb everyone if you stop here」

「...I-I'm sorry」

「Shall we go then? Hmm?」

「Yes」

As we passed each other, the woman bowed her head apologetically——while Romio was still staring at us. She must be a caretaker.

『So that was Romio』

『Fran, don't overthink about it too much』

(That eye... I feel like I've seen it somewhere)

『Eh? You mean, from Romio?』

「Nn」

I thought she was depressed because Romio was staring at her, but actually, she had something else on her mind.

『You've seen it somewhere? You can't remember?』

「Nn...」

We had never met Romio before. So I'm not sure if the hostile and frightened look in his eyes was the same as the one we used to fight with.

「But where...?」

Chapter 570: First-Year Student

It was the day after our encounter with Romio.

Today, the atmosphere at the Academy of Magic was different from this morning. It was because there was an entrance ceremony for the new students.

However, the ceremony was quite modest.

It seemed that new students entered this academy every four months, and that was why the entrance ceremony was not such an important event.

Only the new students and a few teachers would attend it.

Fran was also told that she did not have to attend. She could attend if she wanted to, but of course, she didn't. Even at her entrance ceremony, she was sure to doze off, and she would definitely fall asleep at someone else's entrance ceremony.

So, she wouldn't bother to tarnish the bright memories of the new students.

The bustle of the freshmen, filled with excitement and expectation, seemed to light up the academy.

『I guess it's the same in every world that freshmen are always excited』

(In Master's world too?)

『Yeah, they are similar. Well, it's rare to find freshman with varying ages in my world though』

Since there was no age limit for admission, the new students were of varying ages. Some were as young as ten years old, while others were over twenty.

The most common age group is around 12 to 14 years old. The same age as Fran.

In a part-time school system, an age difference of this magnitude would be normal. However, children and adults should never be mixed. It was like elementary school students and college students studying in the same classroom.

However, this was not unusual in this world, and the adult freshmen mixed in with the children did not seem embarrassed, nor did the children seem to look at them strangely.

However, it was inevitable that people of the same age would tend to stick together. It was the same as on Earth.

The new students were gleaming with excitement as they saw the facilities of the Academy of Magic. As we were heading towards the classroom with them at our side, we were approached from behind.

「Fran-san?」

「Nn?」

「I knew it was you!」

Fran turned around and looked unusually surprised when she saw the face of the person who had called out to her.

「Khanna? Why are you here?」

「That should be my line」

In front of Fran's eyes, the girl was Khanna, the girl who had been with us on the pass from the Kingdom of Kranzel.

And she seemed to be a freshman as she was wearing the uniform from this academy.

「Fran didn't come to the entrance ceremony?」

「Nn? What do you mean?」

「No, it's just that I didn't see you there. But if you're here, does that mean you were able to enroll here?」

「Nn. I'm enrolled here」

It was not like she was enrolled though. She was just being treated as a temporary student here.

「But I was told that I didn't have to attend the entrance ceremony」

「Ara, really?」

「Nn」

「But it's good to see you again. Since we couldn't find you anywhere, I was wondering if you had abruptly canceled your enrollment. But it's impossible for Fran to not be accepted because of her ability」

I had a feeling that Fran and Khanna were not quite on the same page, and now I know why. It seemed that she thought that Fran was a new student just like her.

Come to think of it, she only told Khanna that her destination was the Academy of Magic.

Fran's age was just right for enrollment, and it was not surprising that Khanna misunderstood.

「Since we're both new students, please take care of me」

As I thought, she seems to have misunderstood.

「But your uniform is...? It's so different from ours」

「This is the Special Battle Class uniform」

「Eh? The Special Battle Class? Isn't that an advanced class...?」

「Nn」

「You didn't get into the Elementary department?」

At this point, Khanna must have finally realized that something was wrong.

They then exchanged information with each other, and finally, she realized that Fran was not a new student.

「I see. I never thought you'd be an instructor. Well, it was natural for someone as capable as Fran-san」

「Eh? Well, that's right, but...」

She didn't reveal that the purpose of her trip was to enter the Academy of Magic because she wasn't sure if she would be able to get in.

「You said this place is open to everyone, right?」

「Well, I have a lot of things going on my side...」

I was aware that she had her reasons, but what exactly was the reason that might have caused the rejection of her admission?

Well, she wouldn't tell us even if we asked. I guess Fran was not really interested in that either. So, she asked a different question.

「Hey, what happened to the other two?」

「Dianne and Shella?」

「Nn. Those two」

Fran had completely forgotten the name of Khanna's companions. Well, she was always like this though.

「Shella is looking for a job in town during our stay. If I can successfully graduate, then we'll return to our home country together」

It would take years for Khanna to graduate. If Shella waited that long, it would cost her a lot of money just to keep staying at the inn. She was looking for a job at Lady Blue to raise as much money as possible to pay for her stay.

「And about that knight?」

「I don't know what Dianne is going to do. Originally, her job was to accompany me to this place. She said she would return to the country with me, but she is allowed to act at her discretion during her stay」

「I see」

「She said she was going to train as a warrior, but she hasn't decided where she's going yet」

I'm rather glad that she was not here.

「Aah, I have to go. I'm sorry to keep you with me」

The teacher leading the new students called her, and Khanna hurried back.

「Umm, hey!」

「Nn?」

Looking back at her, Khanna opened her mouth with a somewhat thoughtful expression.

「Can I meet you again next time?」

「Nn. See you」

「Yes! See you!」

Khanna smiled with relief and with a nod and wave at her. It was probably because she hadn't seen Fran smiling during the conversation and thought that she was annoying her.

But from Fran's point of view, she was actually quite happy to see Khanna again.

『I'm glad you meet someone you know here』

「Nn」

Chapter 571: A New Resolution

It had been ten days since we had come to the academy.

Fran was feared as an instructor, but as a student, she was becoming familiar with the academy and her class.

She greeted students as we passed them, and if they had a mock battle scheduled for that day, they would often ask her to go easy on them. She ate together in the improved cafeteria and taught each other what she lacked in the class.

Fran also seemed to be enjoying life at the academy.

As for the classes, she didn't doze off all the time. Several classes caught Fran's interest, including the class on spirits and the class on magic. Well, if she was not interested, she would just doze off though.

I tried to wake Fran up at first. But she even devised a way to ignore my calls and stay asleep. I gave up trying to wake her up because of her persistence. After all, if I nag her too much, she might even start to hate the academy.

And besides the boring classes, she seemed to have other complaints as well.

『I mean, this is an academy, we can't really go crazy like that, you know?』

「...Nn」

「...Woof」

Both Fran and Urushi seemed to be frustrated by the fact that they hadn't been able to really exert themselves for the past week or so.

The first few days were still better. She was able to vent some when they were introduced to each class. But after that, there was hardly any fighting except for mock battles with the students.

If we were outside the town, I could have played with Fran and Urushi, but we couldn't do that in the town. I wondered if we could borrow the academy's training grounds, but that also seemed to be quite difficult.

The field outside, where they wouldn't trouble anyone for being serious, was usually used by one of the classes. But when it was free, Fran had a class to attend.

I thought about going there after school, but that time was filled with club activities. The clubs' names were quite fancy, like the Society for the Study of Military Arts, and there were also clubs with quite dangerous names.

『Besides, we're going to have an off-campus survival training tomorrow. So, you'll get a chance to kill some magic beasts and stuff there』

「Really?」

『...I'm not sure though. Besides, once we're out of town, you can have a mock battle with Urushi』

「Oooh! I see」

「Woof woof」

『So, don't make the mistake of using the wrong amount of force in the next mock battle, okay?』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

As a matter of fact, several classes, including the Special Battle Class, had a tradition of going outside the academy for training every year at this time.

The location was planned to be on the shores of Lake Vivian. Apparently, it would also allow for swimming practice for the students.

As long as they lived in this country, they should visit it at least once, and visiting that huge lake would be a great experience for students from outside the country.

And Fran was going to participate on the instructor's side.

『You're going to be their escort too, remember?』

Well, it seemed that adventurers from around Lake Vivian will be hired, so the students wouldn't be in danger that often. And the students themselves were quite strong.

I heard that they would use carriages for transportation. Three days to get there, three days to stay, and three days to return.

『Once that's done, your job as an instructor is over』

「Nn...」

『Hey?』

「Hmm?」

『If you want to stay, we can get yourself officially hired by the academy, you know? Well, it's also okay for you to enroll as a student though』

This was Fran's first time at the academy. In fact, it was the first time for her to be in contact with so many people of her age.

If Fran felt comfortable being in the academy, staying was an option.

However, Fran' replied with a shake of her head

「Nn. It's fun here, but being an adventurer is more fun. Besides, I won't get stronger by staying here」

『But you'll gain knowledge. It may go a long way, but it'll help you get stronger』

「No need. I've thought of something when I heard about the evolution」

『Is it about the class?』

「Nn. Horial's story. When I heard that, I thought that it would be great if everyone could evolve too」

By “everyone” she must mean all of the Black Cats except herself. In the past, Fran had fought for the Black Cat kin in her mind.

She wanted to break the curse that had been placed not only on her but on the entire Black Cat kin.

Apparently, after listening to Horial's lesson, she reconfirmed her feelings and made them stronger once again.

『You're ready for it, aren't you?』

「Of course」

Breaking the Curse of the Black Cat kin. It would be an arduous path that would make the word “thorny” sound rather bland.

The power of the Black Cat tribe alone had to be enough to defeat the Evil People or the underlings of the Evil Gods with a threat level of S or higher. That was the condition for them to break the curse.

However, at present, there was no other Black Cat kinsman besides Fran that could participate in the battle.

The Black Cat people of the Beast Nation would have already started training and hunting the evil people. However, it was going to take quite some time before it would bore fruit.

In addition, if they want to fight an evil person with a threat level of S or higher, the strength they had gained through power leveling was not enough. They needed to have a core strength that was based on experience as blood, training as flesh, and everything that they had acquired on their own.

I wonder how long it would be before the Black Cat people would reach that level.

So, we have to go it alone or find a companion. The Black Cat kin was said to be the weakest, and their evolution had been blocked. However, there was an exception, Kiara. She was said to have gained that much strength thanks to the extra skill of the God of War's favor. There was no guarantee that something similar would not happen to the other Black Cats.

But I don't even know if there was someone as strong as her out there. So, there was no way we could rely on that alone.

「I need to get stronger and even stronger」

『Yeah, you're right』

In the end, whether she was going to take on the challenge with a companion or alone, Fran needed to become even stronger than she was now to accomplish the ordeal.

Chapter 572: Our Last Night Staying at the Inn

「Here it is. Tonight is your last night staying here, so I made a big one for you」

「Oooh—!」

「Woof woof!」

Tonight was our last night staying at the Green Ancient Tree Pavilion.

Tomorrow, we were going to an off-campus survival training exercise, and her job as an instructor would be over. So, we would have to leave this inn.

When we told her that, she prepared an even more sumptuous meal for Fran and Urushi.

Fran and Urushi ate a large portion of pasta and grilled meat at a super speed. I thought they had ten servings worth of pasta in their stomach already, but still, they didn't slow down.

Or rather, weren't they eating a little too much? I'm worried about tomorrow. No, before that, I'm worried what the innkeeper would think of this.

「Mogu mogu mogu mogu!」

「Momu momu momu momu!」 (*munching sfx)

「You sure eat a lot, aren't you?」

The old lady was smiling and giggling when she saw how much Fran and Urushi were eating.

In the middle of that, the old lady suddenly looked up at the ceiling. Both Urushi and I followed her gaze but found nothing but an ordinary ceiling.

But not so for the old lady.

「Aah... Spirit-sama is sad」

「She's there?」

「Yup」

Fran, reacting to the old lady's words, stared at the same spot. She continued to stare at the ceiling for a while, occasionally squinting her eyes.

「Can you see it now?」

「I still can't see it」

Fran responded to the old lady's words with a shake of her head. However, there was more to Fran's words.

「But, I somehow know」

「Hou? You mean you can feel it?」

「Nn」

Fran straightened up her posture and relaxed her entire body. In addition, she stopped using the various skills she normally used unconsciously. In particular, the amount of information coming in must have been greatly reduced by turning off her sensing skills.

She intended to focus all of her senses on her eyes. The way she opens her eyes reminded me of a cat staring into an empty sky. It was called the Ferengel Staden phenomenon*. Well, I heard it was not really a phenomenon though.

As I watched over Fran, I was reminded of the class on spirits we had taken a few days ago.

There were two types of special lectures on spirits at the Academy of Magic.

One was the Spirit Magic Class. As the name implied, this was a class to teach and train students about Spirit Magic.

The other was Spiritology. This one was a class for students who could not use Spirit Magic but could sense the presence of spirits, to learn Spirit Magic. Students learn the basics and train themselves to be able to feel them.

Fran decided to take the course in Spiritology.

It was unusual for Fran to take the class so seriously. She must be very interested in the subject.

According to the class, Spirit Magic was a very special kind of magic. I thought I knew about it, but its uniqueness was actually beyond my imagination.

First of all, our skill level was not proportional to the strength of the spirit we could handle. It seemed that the skill level of Spirit Magic would just indicate how well our ability to communicate with spirits was.

If we have a high level of Spirit Magic skill, we might be able to see spirits clearly, hear their voices, and share a lot of magic power with them.

However, spirits were fickle beings with a will of their own. No matter how well we listened to them and conveyed our voice to them, it was compatibility that counted in the end.

And it was a matter of luck whether or not we would be able to meet a higher-level spirit with whom we would be compatible.

The reason why there were so many Elves among the strongest Spirit Magicians was actually due to this fact. In fact, it seemed that many Elves were favored by spirits because of their racial characteristics.

In addition, the Elves know the places where spirits tend to gather due to their experience and knowledge accumulated over the years. This was one of the reasons why they were able to find and make contracts with spirits that were compatible with them.

However, it takes a long time to find a spirit that was a good match for them. There was even an Elven saying that says, “You’ll meet a spirit once every hundred years”.

In other words, if we don’t have the lifespan of an Elf, we probably won’t be able to master Spirit Magic. However, it was not impossible for a human being to make a contract with a spirit.

In Fran’s case, she could sense them, so she should have been able to learn Spirit Magic as her connection with the spirits deepened.

In the class, she even tried to train herself to sense the presence of the spirits in the academy. However, even after those classes, she was unable to reach the level to be able to see them which was necessary to acquire Spirit Magic.

「...I still can’t see them...」

『I see』

「Woof」

For about five minutes, she stared at the place where the spirit-sama would be, and then her shoulders slumped and she fell back to her chair.

Almost every day in the inn, Fran sensed the presence of the spirit, but in the end, she could not seem to see it.

However, when Fran looked depressed, the old lady kindly called out to her.

「Don’t worry. I’m sure you’ll be able to communicate with the spirit-sama since you’re so well-liked by the Spirit of the Great Tree」

「Yeah. I guarantee it. Besides, you've come to understand the spirit that you couldn't sense at all at first, right?」

「Nn」

「I've never seen anyone grow so fast like you」

She was right. In the first place, it has only been ten days since Fran became aware of Spirit Magic. If she were able to use it, the world would be full of spirit users already.

Rather, it was amazing that she could sense the presence of spirits on her own, without even relying on my abilities.

「Thanks」

「That should be my line. It's been a long time since I and Spirit-sama had this much fun. Please come again」

「Nn」

She was greatly comforted by the old lady's words. Fran then nodded slightly and smiled.

(If not now, someday I'll definitely be able to talk to a spirit!)

『Yeah. It must be nice if that happens』

(Nn!)

Chapter 573: At the Off-Campus Training

『Our convoy is longer than I imagined』

「Nn. Lots of carriages」

「Woof」

Fran and Urushi muttered in agreement to my unintentional comment.

We were currently outside the Lady Blue, about 20 meters up in the air. Fran, riding the Thoroughbred-sized Urushi, was looking down at the long line of carriages.

(Note: Thoroughbred > name of a horse breed)

Today was the start of our off-campus survival training. We were traveling to Lake Vivian with 40 carriages, including those for transporting our supplies.

Over 200 students were participating in the event, and 30 instructors were accompanying them as their guards. In Fran's case, she was given the role of a scout, so she could keep an eye on the entire group and respond to any dangerous magic beasts that might appear.

On the other hand, if it was a small fry, the students were supposed to handle it by themselves, and we were not supposed to help them.

Senior students such as those in the Special Battle Class would take turns escorting the carriage as it moved. However, some students rarely got off the carriage and were just escorted to their destination.

About thirty new students were accompanying them on this off-campus survival training. This seemed to be a tradition of the academy, and the students of the Special Battle Class had also experienced that when they enrolled in the academy.

Even on Earth, there was a joint school activity with the upperclassmen, and I guess, this event was similar to that.

In one of the carriages that don't have a roof, we saw Khanna chatting with her classmates.

There were three freshmen and three upperclassmen in each carriage. However, there were always two upperclassmen guarding the carriage outside, and they took turns to rest.

Charon and her group were the ones who were guarding Khanna's carriage. In case Charon and her group couldn't handle the situation later, they had an instructor sitting on the coachman's seat, and if that wasn't enough, they had Fran and Weena Rhyn as support.

『Well then, Let's get going too』

「Nn. Urushi」

「Woof! Woof!」

By riding on Urushi, we were going to keep an eye from the sky.

As Urushi ran out by leaping in the air, I could see that the students below us were looking up at us.

It was not every day they got to see a giant wolf running in the sky. Urushi was particularly magnificent, and I'm sure that this sight would make a great picture.

『It's going to be more troublesome if we get a bunch of the small fry than just a big one』

「Like goblins?」

『And maybe a bandit, or a swarm of bug types monster』

It would be a disaster if a large magic beast were to run into them. So, it might be better for us to defeat the big ones as soon as possible.

『Let's keep looking for the enemy!』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

...

Six hours after our departure.

The convoy had passed the first rest stop and was now entering the forest area from the plains. From here, the visibility was very poor, and we need to be more vigilant than before.

It must be a difficult place for the students playing the role of escort, as I could clearly see the tension in the whole group increasing.

As for Fran, she was now a little further away from the convoy. We were not slacking, okay?

Rather, we were currently doing our job.

「Haaa!」

「Gii! Giii!」

We were in a battle with a magic beast that lived in the forest area. Our opponent this time was a Tall Mantis. It was a giant praying mantis with unusually long arms and legs. Its body was seven or eight meters long, but its legs were probably more than ten meters long. It was a magical beast with a threat level of E. It used its arms and legs to move dexterously through the deep trees.

It must have sensed the signs and smells of the many prey moving. It was approaching the convoy at a fairly fast pace, so Fran went out to intercept it.

However, it was quite an unusual magic beast, as it possessed a martial arts skill called Scythe Technique. It was able to catch Fran's first blow with its sickle. Even though it was just a check to gauge our opponent's strength, it was pretty impressive.

Moreover, its scythe was covered with electric shocks. If it hadn't been for Fran, who was immune to lightning, they might have been paralyzed.

However, the magic beast's resistance only ended there. Fran, who had found a blind spot where the scythe could not reach, sliced it in half from the back and it fell apart.

I heard that this was a troublesome enemy that would rain scythes down on us from above when we fought in the deep forest, but for someone like us who could always attack from the sky, it was an opponent full of openings.

『Now that we've cleared all the big ones, let's get back to the convoy. It seems they're fighting with goblins right now』

「Okay」

The reason for our return was not to help them but to heal any students who were badly injured. However, their opponent was just a normal goblin, and no one would be injured enough to need Recovery Magic.

The students of the Special Battle Class were capable enough to handle them. They were also able to strip materials from the defeated goblin skillfully. I could even see relaxed expressions on their faces.

However, the new students looked pale.

Not many students were able to remain as calm as Khanna. In her case, she already had actual combat experience and she was capable of defeating goblins.

However, most of the children must have had no experience in fighting. So, if they were suddenly shown a fight with a magic beast in front of them, it was inevitable that they would become frightened.

「Master」

「That」

『Aah, you mean the Heavenly Dragon's Lair, huh? We can see it clearly from here』

「Nn!」

Fran doesn't seem to be interested in the fights below us, she was looking up at the floating island that stood so majestically far above us.

We didn't get the chance to see a Heavenly Dragon today either. However, the sight of the floating island covered in white clouds never got boring no matter how many times I saw it.

Both Fran and Urushi stared at the floating island with sparkling eyes. However, they quickly turned their gaze back to the ground and stared deep into the forest with sharp eyes.

「Master, Urushi, Let's go!」

「Woof!」

『This time they came as a flock huh!? Let's kill them all at once!』

「Okay!」

We sensed the presence of magic beasts approaching the convoy. And they were much stronger than goblins.

They were called the Assassin Apes, magic beasts that excelled at killing their target with a single blow by a sneak attack. They were slightly larger than a Mountain Gorilla, but their threat level was the same as that of the giant Tall Mantis.

In fact, these beasts were more troublesome to deal with than the larger target, like the Tall Mantis, as they could move quickly and had the attack power to kill their target instantly.

There were six of them. Six of them, using tree branches as platforms, repeatedly leaping towards the students at a tremendous speed.

The way they eliminated their presence was that of a seasoned adventurer, so the students were probably still unaware of them.

「Urushi, take care the two on the right」

「Woof!」

『I'll take care of the two on the left then!』

「Nn!」

We were the first to attack them, as we were a step ahead of them in terms of eliminating our presence, and in terms of detection. Moreover, we could also teleport.

It took less than a minute for them to be annihilated after the first one was cut down by Fran, who had appeared with teleport in front of them. They hadn't thought that they would be taken by surprise in the forest. A look of astonishment was still on the face of the big ape that was about to die.

『For two types of magic beasts with a threat level of E to appear in such a short time is... It looks like we'll be pretty busy until we reach Lake Vivian』

「Nn!」

Fran looked happy when she nodded to my words. She must feel refreshed after being able to rampage against those magic beasts. Well, it was better for her than being stressed out and frustrated.

Chapter 574: Meeting eaChapter other at the off-campus training.

Chapter 574: Meeting each other at the off-campus training.

The first night after our departure.

The convoy from the Academy of Magic camped out in a large open space in the middle of the forest.

They formed a wall by arranging the carriages in a circle and set the tents inside of it. Guards took turns resting and patrolling the outside of the carriage's lines.

And in one corner of the camp.

Fran had been called to Weena Rhyn's tent. We left Urushi on patrol because I was not sure if the two greatest warriors of the group would be at ease leaving their posts, but it seemed to have been unnecessary.

「We have spirits with us」

『Hee? Where are they?』

「Around there? And over there too」

『...I can't see them though. But is that all?』

「There are a few more of them. Maybe」

『Are they strong?』

「Dunno」

Even though Fran's ability to sense spirits were getting stronger, she still couldn't seem to discern what kind of spirit they were.

Perhaps, the spirit that dwelt in the great tree of the inn was a spirit of some high rank. The Elf innkeeper even addressed it with “sama” and she also said that it had existed for over a thousand years.

However, Fran could not distinguish between the lower-ranked spirits of the academy and the spirits of the inn. Were they a lower-ranked spirit or a higher-ranked spirit? What attributes and abilities did they have? She had no idea about that.

I couldn't sense spirits at all, so I could only imagine from Fran's poor description, but she said she felt like she could hear a slight sound that spirits made. And it seemed that she could only hear something that sounded like ringing in her ears if she concentrated very hard.

Based on the direction and interval of the sound, she judged that spirits were there.

『Are they Weena Rhyn's spirits?』

「I don't know, but they've been in the same place all the time」

They must be spirits sent out by a spirit magic user as a guard. There were quite a lot of them, and they seemed to be fine without us.

In the first place, they were doing the same event every year, so they should be fine without her.

She walked straight into Weena Rhyn's tent and found that the High Elf magician was not the only one there.

「...Zelos Reed」

Zelos Reed sat on a chair behind Weena Rhyn. Beside him was the boy, Romio, who was glaring at Fran.

We already knew from their presence before but decided to face them. Fran seemed to be suppressing her feelings by clenching her teeth. Well, her murderous intent was leaking out though.

「Even though I've sealed his power, I can't just leave him at the academy without me, right? So, I had no choice but to restrain and bring them here」

Just as Weena Rhyn said, metal bracelets were restraining both of Zelos Reed's arms. Moreover, it also seemed to have some kind of sealing magic power, further suppressing Zelos Reed's power.

But with Weena Rhyn close by, he wouldn't be able to do anything.

Fran and Romio glared at each other.

Well, Fran wasn't really glaring at him, but she just couldn't help but be concerned when he expressed his hostility so straightforwardly.

On the contrary, Zelos Reed barely showed any emotion when he saw Fran. He was shocked for a moment, but he quickly returned to his calm face.

I guess he decided to stay out of this as much as possible because anything he said would be offensive. But Fran didn't like that attitude. Well, she didn't like everything about Zelos Reed.

She glared at Zelos Reed with irritation in her eyes. She might not have violent outbursts anymore, but there was no way she could control her feelings in front of someone she would kill right now if she could.

But then, it was Romio, who clung to Zelos Reed's leg and looked up at Fran, who broke the tense atmosphere.

「Don't bully Oji-chan!」 (Note: Uncle)

「...I'm not bullying him」

「Liar! I know everything!」

Fran, however, didn't want to argue with Romio as she knew that Romio didn't mean anything bad by it.

Besides, the current Fran, who emitted murderous and angry intent, must be quite frightening for a child like him. She was slightly impressed by Romio's courage to confront her to protect Zelos Reed.

But it was not a time to praise him.

In the end, she didn't seem to know what to do next, and with a bitter smile, she removed her gaze from Romio and asked Weena Rhyn why she had called us.

「You need something?」

「Yes. I'd like to talk with you about your escort's job for tomorrow onwards」

I thought her purpose was to bring her together with Zelos Reed and Romio, but that didn't seem to be the case.

Weena Rhyn showed us a rough map of the country and explained the terrain ahead. Beyond the forest area, she said there was a plain that was inhabited by a large magic beast that would be hunted by the students.

And the reason why Weena Rhyn had called Fran was to talk about that.

「The target is the Slow Tortoise. It's a tough and strong magic beast, but it moves so slow that even the students can manage to hunt it down」

The Slow Tortoise was an herbivorous magic beast that spent most of its time holed up in its shell when facing strong enemies. It should've been a relatively easy magic beast to hunt as long as they were careful to avoid some of its attacks.

Its threat level was E, but she said that the students could defeat it with proper preparation. She also said that they had magic tools to stall and defend from its attack so it could be said that they were already well prepared.

「What is my role then?」

「You don't have to do anything to help the students to hunt down the Slow Tortoise. But a lot of magic beasts will come close to them when they smell the Slow Tortoise's blood. Especially those goblins, they show up every year」

Fran's role was to defeat those magic beasts that would try to steal the student's prey.

「Okay」

「And also, I'll make this guy work too」

「Since we have so many available forces, shouldn't we use it all for the safety of the students?」

「...I understand」

Fran nodded quietly, neither disagreeing nor agreeing with her.

(...I don't know)

As we returned, Fran didn't seem to understand her feelings either.

If Weena Rhyn said it was for the students, she won't be able to object. Besides, if he would work as forced labor or a meat shield, it would sound like a punishment for him. Denial and affirmation swirled in Fran's chest, and she couldn't seem to sort it out.

Chapter 575: In Sheftent Again

On the third night after we had left the academy.

The off-campus survival training group had reached Lake Vivian as planned.

On the second day, they had to hunt the turtles for food, but a horde of goblins attacked them, which increased the challenge, but apparently, it was expected by the teachers.

They smiled at each other and said that it was just like every other year.

On the other hand, the students' faces were showing signs of great fatigue. It was because this was not only a long journey, but they also had to fight on their own.

Moreover, we didn't camp out on the second night.

In the forest areas where it was dangerous to march through the night, we had no choice but to camp, but in the plains where night marching was possible, we continued to drive through the night without stopping our convoy.

This should be a good experience for them.

The students acting as guards must have taken turns taking naps, but they still looked very sleepy. The teachers, who should've been under much harsher conditions, were still in good spirits, probably due to their status and experience.

And Fran? Fran was fine. She could take a nap on Urushi's back after all. And of course, she was always ready to wake up if a magic beast came closer.

Due to Urushi's evolution, sleep was less necessary than ever before, and he could be active for several days without sleeping. Well, he liked to sleep, so he usually slept like normal.

He was reliable in a case like this trip. In fact, he hadn't slept since our departure, but he was still full of energy.

『We're now back in Sheftent again』

「Nn」

The place where the convoy from the Academy of Magic was setting their tent was next to the town of Sheftent. It didn't have an outer wall or anything like that, but the ground was flat and level and looked like an easy place to set up camp. They used this place as a base for their annual training at Lake Vivian.

「Everyone looks sleepy」

『I don't think they'll be able to do their duties properly』

We could see a group of sleepy students standing guard at their posts. I'm sure they'll miss any suspicious person walking past in front of them right now. And they would surely get scolded later.

「Charon! That was a close one」

『I never thought a serious girl like her would doze off』

She dozed off, or rather, she fell asleep. It seemed that she was awakened by the boat's momentum. She then looked around in panic and was relieved to know that there was nothing wrong happening.

We proposed an idea to build a wall around the camp with Earth Magic, but Weena Rhyn rejected the idea.

It seemed that one of the purposes of this off-campus training was to experience camping and escorting others in an exhausted state.

If there was a wall, the students would feel less tense, and if the magic beasts do not show up, it wouldn't be a good experience for the students.

It was just like Spartan training, but I guess they have a point.

The best we could do was to look around to make sure no big ones showed up. Since we were near the town, it was unlikely that any big one would appear, but the scent of many preys might draw them in.

However, that was no longer necessary.

「Master, a lot is coming」

We could see a group of adventurers coming from the town towards the camp. They were about thirty in number.

『They must be the adventurers from Sheftent. They were probably hired by the academy as escorts』

「Jill is there too」

『The Guild Master came here in person?』

The leader of the group was a small, old woman. However, the magic power emanating from her body was that of a First-Class Mage. She was probably the strongest among the adventurers, who ranged from young to more experienced.

She was Grandma Jill, the Guild Master of Sheftent. She was also the one who asked Fran to be an opponent for the adventurer promotion test before.

As we looked down from Urushi's back at the figure, Fran suddenly turned her gaze to somewhere. But all I could see there was the darkness of night.

「It's the spirit」

『What?』

Immediately after Fran said that a dim mass of light appeared as if springing out of the empty darkness. It was the size of a bowling ball, and the intensity of the light was about that of a bulb.

And I don't feel any hostility coming from it.

「Fran. Can you come to the tent?」

「Okay」

『I see, so this the visualization of spirits, huh?』

The greatest advantage of using spirits was their stealth ability. However, there were times when this was inconvenient.

For example, they can be used as messengers as it was now. It would be difficult if the spirits were invisible in case of emergencies.

Therefore, there was a technique to visualize spirits so that they could be seen by anyone. It was said that this technique could be used by any Spirit Magic-User. However, it was said that only Advanced Spirit Magic-Users could use it to send their voices far away.

The one who sent a message to us this time must have been Weena Rhyn, and the technique used must be quite the advanced one. When we were in Alessa, the Guild Master, Klimut, had shown us the same technique, but he had actually done it with great difficulty.

As we followed the spirit to Weena Rhyn's tent, we saw Grandma Jill outside, exchanging greetings with her.

Some of the adventurers around them were faces we had seen during the promotion exam. However, the boy who had sent a killing intent at Fran wasn't there. Well, I don't want to be bothered by anything strange during this escort, so that would be more convenient.

「I look forward to working with you again this year, Weena Rhyn-sama」

「Yeah. I'll count on you this year too」

The two then shook each other's hands. At first glance, Grandma Jill looked more experienced and important, but in fact, it was the opposite. I could tell that Grandma Jill's words were filled with awe and respect for her.

「I'd like to start their training on the lake tomorrow, but how things are going there?」

「As expected of Weena Rhyn-sama. Did you already know?」

「The spirits told me」

「There has been a change in the lake recently. So, I'm afraid it won't be the same as last year...」

Chapter 576: Side: ???

「Oji-chan, I think they have arrived」

『They're finally here, huh...?』

My partner, who had better detection abilities than me, was staring out the window of the inn.

It was already nighttime. The stars were shining bright in the sky, and the curtain of darkness had fallen.

But I was sure that my partner could feel it. He could feel the presence of the many people within the darkness of the night.

Not many people had that ability, even for an E-ranked adventurer. In particular, his ability to sense presences and danger had grown remarkably as a result of struggling on his own for years.

On the other hand, my ability to sense things had dropped significantly since I got into my current body. I guess it was because my survival instincts and intuition had been dulled. However, I am now able to sense things that I couldn't sense before.

I focused my attention to look for any presence. Even though I don't have the same accuracy as my partner, I could still sense the presences if I concentrated.

And Indeed, I could feel the presence of a large number of people outside the town.

They were finally here, huh?

10 years... It felt like it had been a long time, but it also feels like a blink of an eye. But I couldn't turn back time, so I had to be prepared.

『It looks like Romio was also there』

「Yeah. But he's crying like a baby as if he doesn't know what's going on, which is annoying」

An annoyed look showed up on my partner's face as he spoke about Romio.

『Don't say that. It's normal for someone of his age, right? For a child like that, all he sees must be new to him』

『There's also that damned High Elves near Romio』

I guess it was just like before, huh? I've brought Magnolia's bloodline with me in case of emergency.

We were the ones who leaked the information about Romio and Zelos Reed to lure that High Elf. We thought it would be better than them being captured by Zelyse and treated as lab rats.

But was this really the right thing to do? That High Elves also had her eyes on the sealing technique that resided within Romeo after all.

At this rate, we'll just end up in the same situation as before... But we had prepared to prevent that from happening, so we should be fine.

「As expected of a High Elf, her presence is so tremendous」

『I'd like to beat her to death, but It's impossible for us now』

「She's too strong. I just realized how monstrous a High Elf is at my age」

She had killed my previous partner before, and now, she might kill my new partner too.

But I must prevent that from happening.

However, I couldn't find any hint of dislike or hatred on my partner's face when he talked about the High Elves. On the contrary, he seemed to genuinely admire her.

「This is the surest way」

『That's true, but...』

「I'll do my best to prevent that from happening again」

『Well, unlike last time. Zelyse won't intervene this time. The seal has loosened considerably due to the replacement, but we can still manage it for now』

「I'll do something about it too」

『Ou』

It seemed that this slow-witted kid had learned to talk some sense.

「And it seems, there's also an adventurer named Fran there...」

『That girl, huh? You've seen her before, aren't you?』

「Yeah」

『Don't make such a face. It would be different this time. You wanted to see Romio, right?』

「I know, but...」

My partner's face turned into a hateful expression. He even exuded murderous intent.

For me, Weena Rhyn was far more unforgivable, but my partner didn't seem to think so. He had a strong desire to kill the girl from the Black Cat kin.

Seeing him made me feel uncomfortable. But I wouldn't be surprised if the girl from the Black Cat kin hated and wanted to kill me as I had killed someone important to her.

I've been living my life just like that. A life of being resented, a life full of negativity, and an endless cycle of bloodshed. All of that only brings more and more struggles to me.

As a result of that, I don't mind if someone wanted to kill me for revenge. I would accept it. However, even if I told him not to hold a grudge, my partner would not forgive her.

And so, the endless cycle of negativity would only continue. Even after I've rotted away.

What I've done——

「——Chan?」

「Oji-chan?」

『Oops, I'm sorry. I was just thinking about something』

「Thinking about the seal?」

『It's a bit different, but let's focus on the seal for now』

「The thing we need to be most vigilant for now is the presence of Zelyse...」

『Even I don't know where he is right now. I wonder if he's anywhere near here』

「He was here before. So, there's a good chance that he's here this time too」

He was the Alchemist, Zelyse.

He was a man who acted based on his own desires. He didn't care how many people he had to sacrifice to achieve his goals. Rather, he was a man who found joy in the number of sacrifices and the increase of his infamy.

「Zelyse used me for his own gain before, but not anymore」

『You're right. But that bastard is tricky. No matter how much of an advantage you have, he always seems to have a trump card that can turn the tables to his favor』

「Yeah」

『More importantly, I don't even know how long I can hold my ground against him. He might even have something in store for me』

「...Yeah」

As for me, I think my current body is convenient, but I'm sure it was because of the magic stones and the sword that Zelyse had implanted in me.

Zelyse was a very careful person. I wouldn't be surprised even if he had planted a curse to manipulate me in anticipation of this.

「But can Zelyse use that now?」

『Well, I wonder...? But we should assume that he might use it, so we can deal with it when the time comes』

Weena Rhyn, Romio, Zelos Reed, and Fran. While all the key people were on the stage of doom, only Zelyse's whereabouts were unknown.

And yet, we would prevent our demise. That was what we've been doing for the past eight years.

「I know for a fact that the fleet is suspicious. Let's look again for any abnormalities」

『Yeah, let's do so』

Next time, I would save my partner.

Chapter 577: The Survival Training Begins

It was the day after we had arrived at Lake Vivian.

The Academy's students were dispatched in groups of ten around the town of Sheftent. They were asked to gather medicinal herbs and defeat any magic beasts with a threat level of F there.

Since it was an official request from the Adventurer's Guild, each group must have a student registered with the Adventurer's Guild, and the other students would be treated as their party.

Many students were active as Adventurers in Lady Blue, not only in the Special Battle Class but also in the Advanced and other classes. They must have thought that the request this time would be quite easy for them, but actually, it was not that easy.

It was because the vegetation, animals, and weather around Lady Blue and Lake Vivian were quite different. If they thought it would be the same as usual, they might have a hard time later.

Each group was accompanied by one instructor and one Adventurer, and the spirits seemed to be following us as well. So, without any abnormalities, there wouldn't be much danger for them.

「I'm Charles」

「Fran」

「I'm looking forward to working with you. It's reassuring to know that the Black Lighting Princess is with us」

「Likewise」

Fran was also assigned to accompany one of the groups. The adventurer who was assigned to accompany the same group as us was a young E-ranked Adventurer.

They seemed to have balanced the instructor and Adventurer pairs, with strong Adventurers paired with weaker Adventurers and the weak instructors paired with stronger Adventurers.

And that was the reason why Fran, the strongest instructor they had, was paired with Charles, the weakest of the Adventurers. Moreover, I don't know if they were aiming for it or not, but Charon and Khanna were in the same group as us.

「I look forward to working with you, Fran-san」

「Nn」

「Me too, I'm glad to be in the same group with Fran」

At first, the students were uneasy when they saw how unreliable Charles looked, but when they knew that Fran would accompany them, their smiles returned.

The upperclassmen probably knew that Fran was second only to Weena Rhyn in terms of ability.

But still, it was the new students who seemed anxious. They only saw Fran as a fledgling Adventurer.

They should have seen her riding on Urushi's back before, but she hadn't properly shown them her abilities yet. They must think that she was a strong magic beast user, but Urushi was now hiding in her shadow, and they only saw Fran alone.

Thus, they might think that their escort was the newbie duo of Charles, who was a fledgling, and Fran, who looked just like a child. That was probably what made them feel uneasy.

Currently, Fran and the third group were asked to gather medicinal herbs and defeat a pack of wolves. Our location now was in the middle of the mountains, a little away from the lake.

Charon was walking in the lead while looking at the map. Those requests could be done in no time if I or Fran helped, but this time we had to let the students do it.

「Let's pick some herbs around the river ahead」

But then, it was Khanna who replied to Charon's words with an uneasy expression.

「Eh? But you sure you want to come closer to the water?」

「It's the lake that we should stay away from. So, there wouldn't be a problem on the river, right, Charles-san? It's safe for us to go near the river up ahead, right?」

「Eh? Yeah, you're right. It's fine if it is the river up ahead」

「Thank you very much. Let's head there then」

Charon, she was quite good, wasn't she? She casually extracted the information that there was a river up ahead. Charon's map was taken from the Adventurer's Guild in Sheftent, but I'm not sure how accurate it was.

Some rivers would disappear depending on the season, and if the information was old, there wouldn't be a river anymore. However, Charles' slip made her sure that the river was still there. That was unless Charles hadn't purposely told a lie.

Well, I guess it was simply just a slip from him. He doesn't even seem to be aware that he had given her a hint, as he was talking to Charon in a carefree manner. So, it was unlikely that he had told a lie to her.

There were some restrictions set for the students in this off-campus survival training. One of them was to stay away from Lake Vivian. This restriction was not set by the Academy, but by the Adventurer's Guild.

It was because the Modoki sightings were increasing and it had become too dangerous for the students to be there.

When we reached the river, Charon and the others started looking for medicinal herbs. Then one of the students shouted with joy.

「I've found it! This must be some kind of medicinal herbs, right?」

「Ooh, isn't that a Scarlet Water Weed!? They're short in supply right now, so they must fetch a high price!」

It was the Scarlet Water Weed that we had found before. We were told that there was a shortage of it back then, but it seemed that there was still a shortage now.

The Scarlet Water Weed was supposed to be a cure-all for this country's unique endemic disease, but was the endemic infection still spreading?

I asked Fran to ask him about that. But even Charles didn't seem to know the details either.

「It's not a big deal around here. But in the eastern part of the country, the demand seems to be rising. You all came from the Magic Academy, right? I'm sure you know a lot about it, don't you?」

『Well, I haven't heard anything about an endemic disease spreading though』

「I don't know」

「Really?」

「How about you, Charon?」

「I don't think there is that kind of problems at the Academy. Even last year, there were only a few students from other countries had been affected by it」

It seemed that Charon didn't know much about the endemic disease either.

「Is that an epidemic in other towns?」

「No, Fran-san. That's not possible」

They told us that children were more likely to be affected by this endemic disease and that the number of patients increased at the Academy of Magic when there was an epidemic. In other words, the disease couldn't be prevalent elsewhere when it was not prevalent at the Academy.

「Then, from where is it?」

「I don't know about that either. Maybe it's only prevalent in the coastal areas in the eastern region」

Oh, and by the way, Fran was fine. The potion made from the Scarlet Water Weed was supposed to be preventive medicine, and Fran has already taken it.

「Khanna, what's wrong?」

「Eh? No, I was just wondering if I could make some money by procuring the medicine that is short in supply」

「Ooh, as expected of a student of the Academy. I didn't know you could come up with something like that from what we just talked about for a while」

「I'm the daughter of a trading company's owner after all」

Chapter 578: The Modoki's Attack

Chapter 578: The Modoki's Attack

Charon and her group, with Fran as their escort, were searching for a pack of wolves to kill while gathering herbs.

However, the search was not going well.

In the vicinity of the academy, they live in holes on the plains, but the wolves around here have their dens in the forests. In addition, they dug holes in the trees' roots and hid in them.

If they didn't know that, they would have had a harder time finding them. But the receptionist of the Adventurer's Guild would tell them that hint right away if asked. Even Charon, who had thought about getting a map at the guild, didn't seem to think that the wolves' behavior here would be so different.

Charles, their escort, had an indescribable expression on his face. He wanted to teach the students, who were continuing their fruitless search, about the wolf behavior here but that would not be a good experience for them.

He wanted to teach them, but he shouldn't. The frustration must be torturing him from within.

We knew about the wolves' behavior because we've tracked and spotted them many times during our herb gathering before.

I think they were probably the closest to the wolves when they were looking for medicinal herbs at the river.

Since Urushi was hiding in Fran's shadow, Familial Hatred didn't seem to have shown its effect before, but it might do so to an advanced wolf-type magic beast though.

We followed the students at a leisurely pace, keeping an eye out for any magic beasts that might approach them.

We have only had one encounter today. And that was only because we went to kill a Lesser Wyvern that was in the distance by teleporting.

But we had been in some good fights these past few days, so Fran doesn't seem to be frustrated today. It must be so refreshing for her, unlike being in the stifling city. And she was also in the mood for a picnic with Charon, Khanna, and the others today.

As we continued to move, Charles issued a warning.

「Aah, please don't go any further to the lake」

「Oh, we're already that close?」

「Yeah」

When we were at the lake before, the Modoki used to appear only near the center of the lake, but it seemed that they would appear in a wider area now.

A few cases of people being attacked on the shores of the lake had also been reported. Therefore, the Adventurer's Guild decided to restrict the students from approaching the lake for their safety.

However, that only applied to the students of the Academy of Magic. They could not deprive the local people of their livelihood, so there were no restrictions on the traffic of the ships.

And the result was the scene in front of us right now.

「Eh? Hey, that ship seems to be under attack!」

「I-it's true!?!」

A cargo carrier had been attacked by a Modoki.

When Charon and Khanna shouted, the other students seemed to notice it too.

「W-wait! Don't go!」

Charles was desperately trying to hold back the students who were about to run away.

「But, if we don't do something, they'll sink that ship!」

「Yeah! We can help them!」

「Oi, you guys need to calm down!」

「We can't even go there, you know!?!」

Some of the students appealed that they should go to the rescue, but the students who remembered the information about the Modoki were against it. However, the students in the rescue group were appealing with good intentions while the students who were against it were the weaker ones.

The ones who were against it would also like to help if they can.

However, if the students go there, they will surely be killed by the Modoki.

(Master, let's help them)

『Yeah, the students would be reckless if we leave them alone』

(Nn)

『Urushi, we'll count on you here』

「Woof!」

The students' eyes then focused on Urushi as he jumped out of Fran's shadow.

「I'll go help them, but Urushi will stay behind, so don't worry」

The new students, who had not yet seen what Fran was capable of, looked at her like she was a child who won't be able to do much to help them, but the upperclassmen seemed to agree.

「We'll leave it to you!」

「Yeah, we'll be counting on you!」

「Nn」

The ship's mast had already been broken, and the tentacles of those Modoki were stuck to its deck. We'd better hurry.

『Let's jump at once!』

「Okay!」

We then made a long jump and teleported directly above the ship.

『People are floating on the lake. Are they the crew members?』

「They're still alive」

『So, the Modoki is still attacking the ship, huh...?』

The Modoki continued its attack without paying attention to the crew members who had been thrown out into the lake. Doesn't it have the habit of preying on humans? As I was wondering, we saw a man still on board being coiled and lifted by its tentacles.

『That guy is in danger!』

「Let's help him!」

Fran used her aerial jump to dash towards the ship. Noticing the appearance of a new enemy, the Modoki tried to attack us with its tentacles but Fran managed to dodge them all and landed on the deck.

「Haaa!」

We rescued a man who was about to be dragged into the lake by slashing its tentacles.

The man who fell from a height of about five meters shouted in pain, but he wouldn't be badly injured, as the tentacles that were gripping his body served as a cushion.

「Ugh...」

「Y-yeah」

「Just wait there, I'll be right back」

After leaving the man behind, Fran jumped out again because to save all of them, we had to do something about the Modoki.

『Fran, thunder-type magic is no good, it'll include the crew members』

「Okay. Let's shoot it down then!」

『Roger!』

With Fran's intentions in mind, I instantly changed my shape. I transformed into a one-handed sword with a cone-shaped blade without a brim, suitable for throwing. It would be easier to understand if I said I transformed into the smaller version of the jousting spear.

「Haaaa!」

『Let's go!』

I activated my telekinetic catapult as she threw me straight down, and I turned into a super-high-speed bullet that shot through the Modoki. Its hard shell would be just like plywood in the face of this attack.

Thanks to the fact that the power was concentrated at one point, there was no damage to the surrounding area. And the crew members floating in the lake did not seem to be suffering from the aftermath.

The Modoki that was pierced by me melted into a mushy mess. Oh, that reminded me, we wouldn't be able to collect materials or magic stones from this thing.

「Let's help everyone before other Modoki come」

『Yeah. Let's bring them to the shore for the time being. That ship was already useless』

「Nn!」

However, it was just a normal-looking ship, why was it attacked by a Modoki? Was there a reason for its strange behavior? Or did they just randomly attack large moving objects?

I have no idea.

Chapter 579: Strange Occurrence in the Lake

「Young miss, thanks for saving us...」

「I can't believe that Modoki would even go to this area...」

「Aah, our cargo is...」

The five crew members who had been rescued by Fran were grimacing on the shore. Some of them had drunk a lot of water, but their lives shouldn't be in danger.

The old man, who seemed to be the captain, lamented as he stared at the sinking ship.

「Is your cargo is something that shouldn't get wet?」

「We have no choice but to let go of the grains we brought. But we have to recover the Scarlet Waterweed medicine back somehow. There's a shortage of it after all. It's stored in a sturdy crate, and I'm sure some bottles are safe」

「Scarlet Waterweed medicine?」

「Yeah. It's the recently developed medicine made from Scarlet Waterweed. It works the same as the conventional pills against the endemic diseases, but I've heard that its efficacy is enhanced by being made into a potion」

And he told us that that ship was loaded with that new medicine.

「I guess we'll have to ask the adventurers to pull up the medicine later... I hope this is a place with few magic beasts though」

I wonder about that. Right now, thanks to the Modoki, the other magic beast seemed to have escaped, and there was no sign of them. But I'm sure they would come back after a little while.

(Master)

『You want to help them?』

(Nn)

Well, we can go get it now though.

「Where did you store that medicine?」

「Eh? It's in a storage room on the port side. Right around where that damned Modoki pierced our ship」

The captain pointed to a large hole on the port side of the ship, which was sinking with the starboard side facing down.

It wouldn't be a problem for us if it was there. Rather, that big hole would make it easy for us to get into. Well, that hole was half of the reason the ship was sinking though. The other half was the cracks that had formed all over the hull. It was because of the Modoki's tentacles.

「I'll be right back」

「Y-young miss!？」

Waving lightly at the surprised captain, Fran jumped out again.

「Let's retrieve the medicine」

『Wait, let's see if I can store the hull itself first』

「Aah, I see」

That would be the fastest way to do this. However, I failed to store the whole hull. Maybe there were living beings inside the ship. It didn't have to be human beings, just a fish or a rat, and it wouldn't be able to be stored in the dimensional storage.

「It won't be stored...」

『We don't have any choice. I'll take care of the air for you to breath, Fran, use your water magic to move』

(Okay)

If we were going to explore the small ship, it would be safer for Fran to move around on her own.

Fran then jumped into the ship through the hole made by the Modoki. The inside was already filled with water and half of it was submerged.

Fran landed on a half-flooded crate and looked around the storage room.

「Where it is?」

『Hmm...』

The captain had told us before that it was a magic potion, so I tried to use my magic detection to find it, but I got no response here.

But I could feel a small hint of magic power in the entire water in this room. Perhaps the bottle of the scarlet potion had been broken and the contents had dissolved into the water.

It's just that there's something weird about it...

『We had no other choice, we'll have to check the label on each crate 』

「Nn」

I checked the crates that had not yet been submerged in water, but there was no Scarlet Waterweed medicine. No, at this point it would be better to stow all the crates away and check them later.

『Let's just store it all away for now』

「Okay」

Then I started to store the crates in my dimensional storage, Fran, who had gone underwater, quickly swam out of the water.

It was not that she looked like she was in a hurry, but she seemed to be a little surprised.

「...I felt strange when I used some magic」

『Strange?』

「Somehow... It feels like my magic worked a little too well」

When I listened to the details, it seemed that the output of the magic she used was higher than she had imagined. It was just a small difference, when she manipulated the water to move about 10 centimeters, she went a few millimeters further than she had estimated.

Normally, this wouldn't bother her, but Fran, who had gained a high level of magic control through her training, seemed to feel a slight discomfort.

『There might be something other than the Scarlet Waterweed potion leaking here then』

It's probably not poisonous, as my crisis perception wasn't triggered, but it was a little creepy. Let's get it over with and get out of here.

I went into the water, leaving Fran behind, and quickly stowed the cargo.

I also tried to use water magic, but it definitely felt strange. It seemed that there was a problem with the water itself, rather than something being wrong with the water magic that I had activated. There was a high possibility that some kind of magic potion was dissolving in the water.

Or was it the effect of the Modoki that had dissolved in the water? That sounds possible too.

『Anyway, let's get out of here quickly』

「Nn」

By using Teleport, we returned to the shore at once. And at the same time when the captain saw us, he rushed over to us with an expression of relief.

「Are you safe!? We can get the medicine pulled up later, you know! Don't be so reckless!」

「I'm fine. More importantly, I brought it with me」

「What? No, since she used teleport before... Could it be that you can use space-time magic?」

「Nn. Should I bring it out here?」

「A-Aah, yes please」

They had already selected the most well-rested crew members and sent them back to Sheftent. He said that help would be coming soon.

But as Fran stacked the crates, the captain's face was changing rapidly. First joy, then confusion, then a look of impatience, and finally, astonishment.

Space-time magic was very weak at a lower level. It wouldn't be strange if its capacity was only the size of a small crate.

The captain must have thought that she only managed to retrieve a crate of Scarlet Waterweed potion. But we've retrieved the entire cargo instead.

With nearly 30 crates piled in front of him, he was beyond happy.

「Is this fine?」

「A-ah, yes... T-thanks」

He seemed to be troubled. But still, he didn't forget to say thanks, so he must be quite a nice person.

However, we can't help them any further. We're in the middle of escorting the students. Since it was an emergency, we had to leave to save them, but we need to get back to the students as soon as possible.

We could help them carry the cargo back to the Sheftent, but that would have disqualified us as an escort.

Oh, before we went back, we asked him about something that had been bothering me. It was about our discomfort when using the water magic before. However, the captain didn't seem to understand it either. He said that they didn't have any magic potions other than the Scarlet Waterweed potion on board.

Then, was my theory about the Modoki's dissolved body was right? Well, it was also possible that the Scarlet Waterweed potion itself was the cause though.

But since they were in shortage of this medicine, I can't ask them to share it with me for experiments.

We'll have to ask someone who seemed to know more about this later——like Grandma Jill.

Chapter 580: Romio's Strange Behavior

Chapter 580: Romio's Strange Behavior

The night following our slaying of the Modoki that attacked the cargo ship.

When we returned to the camp, we had an evaluation meeting with Charon and the others. At the end of the day's training, the escorts were now allowed to give them some advice.

Fran and Charles point out their mistakes of the day's mission. Despite his low rank, Charles was still one of the adventurers who made his living around this lake.

When it comes to gathering and hunting, he could give more precise advice than Fran.

When the meeting was over, Fran was on her way to the tent she had been assigned to sleep in. Perhaps because she had Urushi with us, she was allowed to use a tent without sharing it with anyone else.

But on our way there.

We spotted a small shadow crouching in the grass. It could not be an animal as it seemed to be wearing proper clothes. So, it should be a small child.

It seemed to be Romio.

No, we knew he was there from his presence, but when we approached him, he looked strange. His cheeks and forehead were flushed red, and he was breathing heavily.

「Ugh!」

Fran rushed over to him and hurriedly picked up his little body. His fever seemed to be quite high. His cheeks, which were peculiarly puffy for an infant, were red from the fever, and his forehead was covered with a lot of sweat.

Romio opened his eyes slightly to see Fran, but he didn't even seem to have the energy to speak anymore.

Fran didn't ask him if he was okay as it was obvious that he was not.

(Master, what should we do? Use Heal?)

『No, don't use Recovery Magic』

(Why?)

『I don't know what will happen to his physical exhaustion...』

I had heard that if you use Recovery Magic on a child who didn't have much strength, it could cause them to lose extra strength and worsen their condition instead.

The same went for potions. And I don't even know if he was injured, sick, or just tired.

It wasn't simply a matter of using magic.

My appraisal told me that Romio's condition was fatigue. But I don't know how reliable that was.

The fact that he was in a contract with Zelos Reed, an evil person, made things more complicated as some of the results of my appraisal were displayed as unknown.

Some skills were impossible to identify, and the statuses had holes in them, so I didn't get to see everything.

『Let's bring him to Weena Rhyn right away!』

「Nn!」

Fran gently picked up Romio with the so-called princess carry. It was refreshing to see Fran holding someone like this.

Romio tensed up slightly, but he didn't have the strength to move much.

「Don't give up」

When Fran called out to him, Romio's eyes widened in surprise.

Fran was like an enemy for him. To Romio, who was only about four years old, the world had only recently begun, and in that world, Zelos Reed was a dependable guardian for him. At least that was how Romeo perceived it.

I don't know how he behaved in front of Romio, but I'm pretty sure he didn't treat him badly. Otherwise, there was no way Romio would miss him.

That enemy had unreasonably attacked Zelos Reed before, the most important person for Romio. And that enemy was Fran.

Well, for that matter, Fran understood that it was no use getting angry at a child who didn't know any better.

That was why we have very little in mind for Romio. It was not that we didn't think about him at all, but it was not to the point of being hostile with him. At most, I have a sense of dislike for him.

Just like now, we were honestly worried about Romio, who was in poor physical condition.

And that was what surprised Romio.

Seeing Romio's confused expression reminded me of Fran when she met Zefmate. The guy from the Blue Cat kin. Zefmate was the first Blue Cat kin that Fran had encountered in her life that was friendly to the Black Cat Kin.

At that time, Fran also had a confused look on her face. Romio's face was just like Fran's at that time.

Romeo was just a young child——well, because he was a child, he must have thought that the world was clearly divided into friend and foe.

So why would Fran, who was supposed to be his enemy, help him? I guess he wouldn't understand that for now.

「Weena Rhyn! I found Romio lying on the ground!」

「...Can you put him down here?」

「Okay」

Zelos Reed was not here. It seemed he was doing some chores right now, and that must be the reason why Romio went to look for Zelos Reed.

She laid the limp Romio on the bed as Weena Rhyn had told her. Weena Rhyn, without seeming to be in a hurry, began to do some sort of medical examination.

「Hmm... He's just simply tired. Well, just being around Zelos Reed could get you affected by the evil spirits, so it can't be helped」

「Is that so?」

「He must have been through so much exhaustion, hadn't he?」

Weena Rhyn said so and shrugged her shoulders.

Well, as a High Elf, childhood was a long time ago for her. She might not be able to understand Romio's suffering.

「Romio will be fine?」

「Well, it's not life-threatening」

「I see, that's good then」

「I'm surprised. I thought you'd hate him」

「Not really」

Fran shook her head in response to Weena Rhyn's question.

Well, it was not that she didn't hate him.

It was just that she didn't know how to treat him.

Chapter 581: The Spirit of Time and Water

「!! I'm leaving!」

Fran took one last look at Romio's face and hobbled to the entrance of the tent.

She sensed that Zelos Reed was coming back. We passed each other at the entrance but did not say a word to each other.

Soon, however, we heard Zelos Reed's voice behind us.

「Romio!」

Fran, who had been expressionless when I saw her face, widened her eyes when she heard Zelos Reed's voice. The expression on her face was not one of frustration or anger. If anything, the look on her face was one of surprise and panic.

『Fran, what's wrong?』

It doesn't seem like that though... I wonder what part she thought was so surprising about Zelos Reed?

Fran continued to walk in silence and returned to our tent.

The look of panic she had shown earlier was no longer there, and on the surface, she seemed to be calm. However, Fran was quite emotional when it came to Zelos Reed. To be exact, she was nervous.

She didn't know whether she should call out to him or not...

When I was thinking so, someone suddenly called out to her.

『Who is it!』

「Grrr!」

Fran, Urushi, and I all turned around in a panic.

I couldn't sense their presence after all. Although we were a little distracted, we were not defenseless. However, none of us could detect any sign of the owner of the voice.

This was a really strange situation.

No, there was one possible existence.

That was if the other party was a spirit. Urushi and I couldn't sense any sign of it, and Fran would have to be very focused to sense it.

But that doesn't seem likely either.

What I saw in front of us was not a spirit at all. On the contrary, it was a girl we recognized.

However, unlike before, she was not wearing an eye patch.

「The one from the food stall?」

It was Rhyn, a blind girl who ran a food stall in the town of Kiarazen. She was a beautiful white-skinned girl with beautiful loose blond hair in half-twins.

However, now she had removed the eye patch that covered both eyes and was exposing her eyes. We could see that her right eye was purple and her left eye was green, it was the so-called odd eye.

Even in this dimly lit tent, lit only by a single pale light from a small magic tool, her eyes were as clear as if they were shining.

I guess that was what you would call eyes that seemed to suck you in. I couldn't take my eyes off Rhyn's odd eyes, which sparkled like jewels.

Her eyes seemed to be firmly focused on Fran. Wasn't she blind? I'm pretty sure the appraisal at the time showed that she has lost both of her eyes...

I tried to appraise her again.

『Wha!』

(Master?)

『My appraisal was blocked』

I should have been able to appraise her before.

「Fufu. Sword-san. It won't work on me」

「Fufufu」

She actually knows what I am!? But Rhyn had no intention of pursuing the matter. She smiled and looked at Fran, who played dumb.

「I'm here to see Fran today」

「Why? Besides, are you... a spirit?」

『What?』

(I could feel the sign of a spirit coming from Rhyn)

For real? But certainly, I couldn't feel Rhyn's presence at all. It was as if an illusion was standing right in front of us. But I sensed her human presence when we were in Kiarazen...

Was she really a spirit? I've never thought I'd be able to see a humanoid spirit like her. Long ago, Klimut told us that a humanoid spirit was a high-ranking spirit.

If so, was the girl in front of us a high-ranking spirit?

「I'll tell you my name again. I'm a spirit, Rhyn. The spirit of time and water」

「As I guessed, you're a spirit... Amazing, you look like a human」

She was a spirit. And her right eye was purple and her left eye was green? Wasn't that the characteristic of the Great Spirit, who is said to be guarding Lake Vivian?

However, when she told us that she was a spirit, I was convinced of her mystical beauty. In fact, there was a sense of detachment of the worldly sense that made it hard for me to be convinced otherwise.

「I came here today because I wanted to tell the both of you about something」

Chapter 582: Possible Tragedy

「I came here today because I wanted to tell the both of you about something」

Rather than trying to pry into Rhyn's identity, Fran decided to listen to her first. There was something about the serious expression that Rhyn wore that made it difficult for her to say no.

「Through water, I can see the cause and effect of the past. And from the vision of the past, I can know the future」

「The future?」

「Yes. There is no such thing as a fixed destiny in this world. But there is an outcome called the future, which is likely to come if we do nothing」

Rhyn seemed to have some kind of psychometric ability. Since she could predict the future, she must have been able to analyze the past in great detail. Moreover, it seemed that she could also predict the future by performing calculations based on past information.

Maybe it was because of that ability that she found out I was not just a simple sword. If she could see Fran's past, then, of course, she could see me in her past too.

「Of course, this is not a sure thing. It's just that, as it is now, there's a high probability that it will come」

「So what does that mean?」

「There's a tragedy coming for the both of you」

「Tragedy?」

「Yeah. You've saved my life before, and I wanted to return that favor」

「Before? What are you trying to say since a while ago?」

「I'm sorry. If I interfere too much, the future I see might change into something completely different. But I'm really worried about you guys... Sword-san. To avoid this tragedy, you'd need to be ready」

Rhyn's eyes definitely focused on me.

「You must haven't noticed, the changes in yourself」

I'd been completely exposed. There was no point in hiding it any longer. I was worried about the tragedy that was coming to Fran too.

「You are, becoming a sword」

『Becoming? I'm already a sword, aren't I?』

「The body is. But not the inside. You're still a person inside」

Aah, so that was what she meant. I'm a former human being, so it couldn't be helped.

「However, you're becoming less and less of a person. The change is accelerating, from a human spirit to a spirit worthy of the sword」

『Is that bad?』

「In the past, you hesitated in a situation where you would have stopped Fran. Nowadays, you are taking a step back and looking at Fran from behind」

『Well, that is——』

「No, definitely not. You acted like a guardian before. But now, you act like a sword, just like what any sword does」

『Well, it's because I'm a sword, right...?』

「And you're starting to feel more comfortable by thinking that way」

『No... I-I'm...!』

I tried to argue with Rhyn and was surprised at how weak my words sounded. What was it? I tried to shout, “No! I'm not just a sword!” but failed.

「You must haven't noticed the change in Fran too」

「Was she frustrated because she couldn't freely move her body? Did you really think that was the case?」

What do you mean? When I looked at Fran, she laid her ears flat and turned her head down with an indescribable look on her face. She looked apologetic, sad, lonely, and a mixture of other emotions.

『Why are you apologizing?』

「I had noticed that Master was a little strange. But I was afraid to tell you」

『Fran...』

The uneasiness I was having was making her irritated and agitated...? Because of me?

「You are indeed a sword. But you're also a person. Don't forget that」

Right after she told us that, Rhyn's body started to fade.

『W-wait!』

「You're her master, aren't you? Don't just be a mere bystander. Keep your mind strong. You are Fran's teacher——」

『Rhyn! Wait! Please tell me more about it!』

It was no good. She had said all she wanted to say and disappeared.

『Fran, can you sense Rhyn's presence?』

「She is gone」

『I see...』

But, I was becoming a sword? How did that lead to tragedy?

「Master」

「I prefer Master to remain as my master」

『Fran...』

There was a definite sadness in Fran's voice. Her eyelashes trembled, and her eyes moistened slightly.

Fran pulled me out of the scabbard and hugged me tightly. I could feel Fran's warmth and the beating of her heart.

「There are many swords. But Master is my only master」

『I'm...』

Fran was afraid. She was afraid I would turn into a sword. She even shed tears for me.

I was terrified at that moment.

Even though Fran had done so much for me, I wasn't afraid of the fact that I was becoming more like a sword. If it had been me when I first met Fran, I would have definitely felt sorry and scared.

As Rhyn had said, I was on the verge of becoming a sword. The moment I became very aware of this, I was hit by a terrible chill.

『Guh...』

「Master!？」

It was the first time I felt this way since I became a sword. The next moment, I felt my body tremble with an unfamiliar urge that took over my mind. No, I don't have a body to tremble though...

『Gha...』

Then, I suddenly realized that I had a strong fear of becoming a sword.

This is——.

「——! Master!」

I became blind and couldn't see my surroundings. I couldn't even hear Fran's voice anymore. However, the moment I heard the sorrowful call, I was able to rapidly regain my composure.

『...Fran?』

「Master! Are you okay?」

『A-aah, yes, I'm okay. I'm totally fine. Sorry, I was just a little distraught... Hey, have I been acting weird lately?』

「Just a little. But it is really just a little」

So, it was only a little, huh? Apparently, that was why she couldn't bring herself to say it. But Fran was clearly relieved.

『Fran』

「Nn?」

『I'm still myself. I'm Fran's master』

「Nn...」

Just what am I supposed to do? Rhyn told me to be strong-minded. I guess that means we can still do something about it.

『I'll do my best』

「Nn!」

Chapter 583: Person and Sword

Chapter 583: Person and Sword

Translated by Tods

Edited by Phantom0408

I'm about to become a sword to the soul and will be nothing more than a bystander.

That's what Rhyn said to me.

If that was the case, I would be a person and a guardian for Fran.

It seemed like I had been talking less and less lately. And I had been letting Fran decide what to do. No, I had always let Fran do whatever she wanted to do.

But lately, I had probably been tossing judgments at Fran rather than trusting her to do the right thing.

It was hard for me to be aware of it, but I was going to try to get it back, starting with a conversation.

『Hey, Fran』

『Earlier, when you heard Zelos Reed call Romio's name, you were surprised, weren't you? What's wrong with that?』

Even in such a conversation, Fran happily responded.

「He sounded just like someone」

『Just like someone?』

「Just like Master」

『Huh? Just like me?』

「Nn. It was the same voice that Master used when he asked me 『Are you okay?』 ... A gentle voice」

I didn't expect that answer.

Do I sound like him? A gentle voice? Of course, it was not the tone of the voice, but the feeling of it... I couldn't tell it myself, but Fran seemed to be sure.

『So, do you think that Zelos Reed is really worried about Romio?』

「Nn」

I heard that the Magnolia family's bloodline could even influence someone...

『Is the Magnolia bloodline really that powerful? So powerful that it can change the very foundation of a person's personality』

「I don't know. But his words were sincere. Without a doubt」

『...If Fran thinks so, then I'll believe it』

「Nn」

I finally understood why Fran was so confused. She must have been surprised to see the kindness that her enemy, Zelos Reed, showed to Romio.

She also felt sad when she compared the good changes in Zelos Reed with the bad changes in me.

Had I... failed as a guardian? I didn't even realize that I was making Fran sad.

「Hey, Master」

『Hmm? What is it?』

「Can I sleep with you today?」

『...Of course』

「Woof woof!」

「Urushi can join too」

「Woof!」

I don't think I've seen such a happy smile on Fran's face in a long time. I was even shocked by that fact.

『Then, let's sleep together!』

「Woof!」

「Nn!」

Fran then dove into the bed with me in her arms.

My sword blade was completely exposed. But when Fran wanted to be pampered, she would hug me without a sheath like this. Oh, I'd already transformed to remove my blade.

「Hey, Master」

「...Tomorrow, will you make breakfast for us?」

『Tomorrow?』

「Nn. You can't?」

『Of course I can, what do you want?』

「Pancakes!」

『Aah, I see. I haven't made those in a while』

「Nn. Hey, Master」

『Yeah~?』

「You know——」

While being cuddled up in Urushi's fur, Fran and I continued to talk. It was not a particularly interesting conversation, just a casual chat.

But it was probably the most important thing for us right now. Fran seemed happy with it.

That made me happy too.

We must have been talking for almost an hour. Our conversation ended when Fran couldn't stand the drowsiness and fell asleep.

『...They're asleep, huh?』

「Shu~ Shu~」

「Gu~ Gu~」

I won't make Fran sad because of me anymore, and I'm not going to turn into a mere sword

That was what I thought when I saw Fran sleeping in a cuddle with Urushi.

『Announcer-san』

『My soul... Is it really on the verge of becoming a sword?』

〈Yes. The soul of the individual named Master is beginning to adapt to the vessel of the sword〉

『I see. Hey, how can I prevent it? What should I do to avoid making Fran sad?』

〈Your desires are conflicting. I can't provide a definitive answer〉

『Huh? What do you mean?』

〈The way to keep your soul as a person is simple. The solution is to erase the sword adaptation from the system〉

An adaptation system. I didn't know I had such a thing. But it seemed that my soul really was becoming a sword.

『By conflicting, do you mean that if I stop adapting to the sword, Fran will be sad? But why?』

〈The adaptation system is salvation provided by God. By stopping the adaptation, there is an 88% chance that the individual named Master will lose his mental stability and go crazy〉

『Wha...!!』

Are you saying that the fact that my soul was trying to become a sword was God's way of saving me? But, I was pretty sure I was told that if they put a person's soul into a sword, they would definitely go crazy...

〈There's 100% chance that the individual named Fran will be saddened if the individual named Master went crazy〉

In other words, If I tried to stop it, I'd become crazy one day and would make Fran sad. But if I don't, that would still make Fran sad?

『Then... What's the better choice? What should I choose?』

〈Suggestion. As long as the individual named Master succeeds in retaining his soul as a person and developed enough mental flexibility and resilience to not go crazy as a sword, there is no problem〉

『Is that even possible?』

〈It has 5% chance of success〉

『...So, it's not zero?』

Just a few minutes ago, I decided not to make Fran sad anymore. So, I was not going to give up, even if it only had a small chance of success.

『Let's do it. Announcer-san, you're going to help me too, right?』

I wonder why. Even though her voice was inorganic as usual, I felt as if Announcer-san was happy. Was it only my imagination?

Chapter 584: What Was Causing the Strange Occurrences in the Lake?

The next day.

Fran, who was in a good mood after she had my special pancake, was on her way to Weena Rhyn's tent.

She called us because she had something to say.

「Morning」

「Morning, Fran. I need a little advice from you」

Weena Rhyn cut straight to the point without much greetings. There seemed to be a subtle hint of impatience on her face.

「You must have noticed that there's something wrong with the lake, right?」

「Nn. The Modoki are coming out」

「Yes, about them. To be honest... I didn't even know why this was happening. It wasn't like this until last year...」

The strange occurrence must have really happened very recently then.

「I need you to find out what's going on」

「Me?」

「Yes. You're the strongest person I could ask. And I'll also relieve you of your guard duty temporarily」

「Master?」

『Fran, you must also be curious about what's going on with the lake, right? After all, we have encountered the Modoki many times already』

「Nn」

『Then, I guess you should take it』

「Okay」

Besides, Fran was now employed by Weena Rhyn, and if she was given a new job, she should do it.

This was not what an Instructor would do though.

But we were not going to complain because we would be able to go out there and investigate what was going on in the lake that we've been wondering about.

But I did have one question.

『Wouldn't it be faster if you do this on your own?』

She was an ocean magic-user who controlled water, and a spirit user who might be useful for reconnaissance. In addition, she had local connections, power, and money. If you wanted to investigate the lake, Weena Rhyn was definitely the right person for the job.

But apparently, that's not possible as Weena Rhyn shook her head at my words.

「For various reasons, I want to stay as far away from the lake as possible」

「? We're close now though」

「This is the very edge. I shouldn't get close to the lake」

「That is... Don't tell anyone, okay? If it ever leaks to the other countries, it'll be a disaster」

「Understood, I'll never tell anyone」

「That said, I don't have time to tell you the whole story. But let me give you a short explanation」

「Nn」

「First, there is a certain magic beast sealed at the bottom of Vivian Lake」

「Yes. A huge magic beast that I'm sure must have a threat level of A or higher」

We've heard about it in Kiarazen before, Lake Vivian used to be a much smaller lake in ancient times. However, due to a natural disaster, it was connected to the sea and then separated from the sea again, becoming the large lake it was today.

And she said that that natural disaster was actually caused by that magic beast.

Even though it was at the sea, it sensed the presence of the Great Spirit that lived in Lake Vivian and tried to devour its power.

And it seemed that in order to reach the spirit in this lake, it connected the sea and the lake.

「In the end, the spirit of the lake was devoured by the magic beast, and that magic beast gained tremendous power. The entire continent was on the verge of a great disaster that time」

The magic beast was so large that it could sink part of the continent into the sea and had absorbed the Great Spirit. That's why she said that it could have been classified as a threat level S.

If it ever got out of control, the continent of Zilberd would surely be destroyed.

However, an acquaintance of Weena Rhyn succeeded in sealing the magic beast. He separated its source of power, the sea, and sealed it in the bottom of the newly formed lake.

Since the magic beast was a sea-dwelling being, staying in freshwater for a long time would surely weaken it.

And after that acquaintance died, Weena Rhyn took over the seal and had been protecting it ever since.

She didn't go into detail about her acquaintance, but they might be a High Elf. I could sense the affection in her tone, and she even took the trouble to take over the seal after their death.

「As soon as I took over the seal, I entered into a contract with the magic beast. Or to be more precise, by making a contract with the guardian spirit of the lake that was absorbed by the magic beast, I also made a contract with the magic beast」

「It's a spirit, so I'm not quite sure if you could even call it alive, but it hasn't disappeared yet. It was now a part of that magic beast and continues to exist」

By using her contract with the spirit, Weena Rhyn seemed to have been able to keep the huge magic beast under the seal quiet.

「A part of the power of the magic beast and the spirit has been contained within me. Therefore, if I ever get closer to the lake, that power will be attracted to the magic beast and it will be revitalized」

That was why Weena Rhyn couldn't go near the lake. Even so, she had tried to find out the cause of the anomaly and talked to the spirits living in the lake, but she was unable to find any clues.

『In the first place, what is the Vivian Guardian, which is the origin of the Modoki? I heard it's not just a magic beast. What does it have to do with that sealed magic beast?』

「The Vivian Guardian is the guardian of the seal. Well, it actually wasn't me, but the spirit inside that magic beast that created the seal」

So that was why, huh? She said that the Vivian Guardians don't attack people, but tried to prevent anyone from entering a certain place.

「What if they attack us and then go out of control?」

「I don't know much about it either, but I think it must be a warning. It tried to warn anyone who ever got close to the seal」

「I see」

Then I asked her about something that had been bothering me.

『Is the name of that spirit is, Rhyn?』

「Ara? How did you know?」

『That's what she called herself』

「We met her yesterday」

Fran took over my words. And it was right after that. Weena Rhyn's expression changed dramatically.

Chapter 585: Investigating the Anomalies

Hearing Rhyn's name come out of our mouths, Weena Rhyn's expression changed dramatically.

The look on her face was of suspicion and astonishment. She stared at Fran with eyes that were opened to their limit.

「You must be joking, right...?」

Weena Rhyn's expression looked as if she hoped it was just a joke. But Fran shook her head.

「I'm not」

「Really...?」

「Nn」

Then she stood up with enough force to knock over the chair she was sitting on and shouted in disbelief.

「That's ridiculous! That shouldn't be possible!」

「Rhyn is...! That child is...!」

With a weak gesture, she placed her hand on the desk and panted as she spoke.

「As long as I'm here! As long as Weena Rhyn exists, Rhyn shouldn't be able to show up...!」

「Weena Rhyn?」

「Yes, I'm still Weena Rhyn... What does this mean? Is this why the lake is so strange lately?」

It was no good. She's completely ignoring what we were saying. She was scratching her hair with a look of confusion and dismay on her face.

Of course, if Rhyn was the spirit from Weena Rhyn's story, and she was inside the great magic beast, then I can understand why it would be strange for her to show up.

However, it seemed that Weena Rhyn didn't mean it that way.

「...Fran」

「Nn?」

「Can you investigate the lake as soon as possible?」

We didn't dare to ask Weena Rhyn any more questions than we already had. Weena Rhyn's face was so intense that even Fran could sense its pressure.

「...Okay」

The words that came out of her had an indescribable power that could not be denied. To be honest, even I was not an exception.

「I'm sure there are a lot of people in the local guild who are working on this, so you can talk to them」

「Nn」

「You may use my name as well. I'll even allow a little recklessness」

『Oi, oil, that isn't quite peaceful』

「That's just how bad the situation has gotten」

A situation that would even alarm a High Elf? Wasn't this a seriously dangerous situation then...? It seemed like we had to do whatever it took to find out what was going on.

「I'm counting on you」

「Nn」

We were about to leave the tent, but Weena Rhyn's next words stopped us.

「Hey, did Rhyn say anything about me?」

「Nn? Not really」

「I see...」

Was there something wrong with my sight? As there seemed to be a hint of loneliness on Weena Rhyn's face.

...

One hour later. We arrived at the Adventurer's Guild in Sheftent.

When we arrived here, we realized that we forgot to tell her about Rhyn's stall. It seemed that we were a little overwhelmed by the sheer intensity of Weena Rhyn before. Well, we'll tell her the next time we meet her.

「Please come this way」

「Nn」

The receptionist seemed to remember Fran, and it had become a face pass already. She told her that she wanted to see Grandma Jill, and she let her through right away.

「Hmm? Isn't it the Black Lightning Princess, what can I do for you?」

「Nn. I was asked to investigate the lake」

「...Why is that again?」

「Weena Rhyn asked me」

Fran said in a halting voice that Weena Rhyn had asked her to investigate the lake. This probably made her realize that the situation was more serious than she had imagined.

Grandma Jill then straightened up her figure.

「I see. So, she's worried about the situation too」

「Nn. Do you have any information?」

「Of course, we're investigating into it as well, but it's not going anywhere」

To begin with, the central part of Vivian Lake, where the Modoki appeared, was still guarded by the Vivian Guardians. Because of this, they couldn't investigate the source of the problem.

「Are there any adventurers investigating the anomaly?」

「There are some. The adventurers you know would be Lovren and Sierra」

I remember Lovren. He was the rank B adventurer of the Commercial Fleet. She had a small talk with him when she acted as an examiner for the promotion test there. He was a very composed man with a gentle nature.

But I had never heard the name Sierra before.

「Sierra? Who is he?」

「Oya? You don't know him?」

「Maybe?」

「Aaah, come to think of it, he didn't give you his name that time. He's the kid who had taken the promotion exam and got promoted. His hair is brown and I think he's got a peculiar interest in you, don't you remember?」

Could it be that boy with the killing intent?

For some unknown reason, he was an F-ranked adventurer who had turned his killing intent on Fran, whom we had never met before. Well, I guess he was an E-ranker now.

Fran asked her about his features, and it seemed that it was him. Could we ask her to tell us about him? Well, let's see.

「Lovren is the only one we've sent a request to. But Sierra seems to be investigating on his own. Well, it's not just Sierra though」

The Adventurer's Guild was still looking for more information about the anomaly, and they had even asked Lovren, a senior adventurer, to help.

It seemed that many adventurers wanted to make a name for themselves by solving the mystery of this anomaly or to make their presence known to the guild by competing with the senior adventurers.

「For now, let me tell you what information we have」

「Please」

「First of all, the Modoki often aim at boats. We still don't know the reason yet. And unlike the usual, they also eat people now」

「It ate people? Like musha musha?」 (munching SFX)

「Yeah. Well, it looks like it's doing it to absorb magic power. It's also been confirmed that it also attacks the other magic beasts」

The only time a Vivian Guardian attacked a living being is when it was attacked. And even then, they did not eat them, they would only attack them.

When I thought about it, I found out just how abnormal the Modoki were.

「Why would they attack a boat?」

「We don't know much about that either. I thought about narrowing it down based on the cargo, but almost no ship carries only a single item」

Wasn't this almost as if they didn't know anything? When I thought about it, they actually had some good information.

「It's just that the commercial fleet has the highest probability of being targeted by far. It may be that a large number of ships makes it worthwhile to attack them, but it is also possible that there are other reasons」

I see. We would have to look into that too. But let's talk to Lovren first.

Chapter 586: The True Nature of the Endemic Diseases

Should we go talk to Lovren Right away? Well, I think it was better for us to go back to Weena Rhyn first and report about Rhyn's stall. I was sure she had calmed down by now.

But before we left, I remembered that there was something I wanted to ask Grandma Jill.

「Hey, does the scarlet waterweed medicine have any effect on the surroundings?」

「Yesterday——」

She explained that when she saved a boat from the Modoki attack, she felt some discomfort with her Water Magic and that the cause may have been the spilled Scarlet Waterweed potion or the Modoki's dissolved body.

Then Grandma Jill nodded her head in agreement.

「I see... If it's someone in your class, they might be able to feel it. Perhaps that's the effect of the Scarlet Waterweed potion」

「Is that so?」

「You can use the Space-Time Magic, can't you?」

「Nn」

「Then it's no wonder that you're so sensitive」

Then Grandma Jill explained to her.

「The water in this lake has a slight amount of magic power in it」

「Magic power?」

「Yeah. It's a magic power similar to Space-Time magic?」

「Hmm, but why?」

「Well, we don't know much about that either. All I can say is that it's been that way for hundreds of years」

People living around here seemed to live their lives thinking that was the way it was, and don't question it much.

「Of course, it's so slight that you wouldn't normally be able to feel it at all. Even you can't detect it either, right?」

「Nn」

Indeed, if it hadn't been for the Scarlet Waterweed potion, we wouldn't have noticed it either. It seems to be a very small amount of magic power.

However, it wasn't completely unaffected the surroundings. It has become an endemic disease that has taken root in this country.

Apparently, it is not caused by pathogens, but by continuous consumption of the water from Vivian Lake, which is their water source, since birth.

In fact, the disease is not endemic in areas of the country that get their water from other sources.

The process is simple. If they keep drinking the water from the lake, they will accumulate Space-Time Magic power in their body.

As a result, the magic power of the water made them feel slightly hasted. In other words, the water in the lake acted as a very weak Haste potion.

However, since the effect was really slight, no one noticed it. Because no one noticed it, the person's senses and the body's reaction to it keep deviating from each other, causing fatigue to build up and making the person even more intoxicated. This was the true nature of the endemic disease.

The reason why adults rarely develop the disease is that once they do, their bodies will get used to it and it becomes less of a problem. Many of them might even adapt without developing the disease at all.

Also, no matter how severe, no one died from the endemic disease alone. It must feel like terrible car sickness.

Besides, it can be cured quickly by ingesting a special medicine. Therefore, the people of this country did not consider this endemic disease to be that important.

It was like measles, which you may get only once in your life and was not deadly. Of course, some die from complications due to other illnesses or from accidents caused by poor health, but that was no different from the common cold.

「And the cure is also imbued with Time-space Magic-type magic power」

Scarlet Waterweed, which grew only in the Vivian Lake ecosystem, was tolerant of that water.

Simply put, the stems had the effect of repelling and disrupting Space-Time Magic, which protected itself from the waters of the lake.

And inside, it seemed to have the power to accumulate and control the magic power contained in the water it absorbs from its roots.

By extracting those effects from the scarlet waterweed, a cure for the endemic disease could be created.

When they took the medicine, the Haste effect on their body was further enhanced. As a result, the brain would be aware of any sensory discrepancies and adjust to them immediately.

The human body was an amazing thing, it seemed that once it understood the feeling, it would never get sick again.

「According to a guy who had an aptitude for Space-time magic, it's only 1/100th as effective as Haste, even after they have taken the potion and are enhanced」

But to Fran, who was used to using Haste regularly, it must have felt like a big discrepancy.

Moreover, if the water itself was filled with magic power, it was even more difficult to act as usual.

However, some questions remained.

From what we just heard; an endemic disease was not the kind of thing that can be transmitted. So how was it possible that an epidemic like this year's could happen?

It was inevitable that there would be a certain number of cases every year, but I didn't understand why there would be a sudden epidemic.

When Fran asked that, Grandma Jill gave a few reasons.

「It's caused by various things. First, the number of children born. Do you know how some years, after a war or something, there are more children born than any other year?」

In addition to that, the number of patients could also increase after a few years of accepting immigration from foreign countries. After all, if there was an increase in the number of people who were not resistant to the disease all at once, it could be a trigger.

「It also depends on the climate. In years when it's a little warmer and there's a lot of fog, the amount of water that gets into the body increases.

That's sure will increase the number of patients」

「I see」

「Other reasons include the popularity of new types of crops that use a lot of water and the development of new methods of making sake. Aah, there was even a time when the popularity of water-soluble incense led to an increase in the number of patients」

Since water was an inseparable part of human life, trivial reasons could lead to an increase or decrease in the number of endemic patients.

「So what's the reason for the increase in patients this year?」

「I don't know why it's so widespread this year. Maybe you could ask Weena Rhyn-sama about that」

So, it was not under the jurisdiction of the Adventurer's Guild? Certainly, the reason for the epidemic disease was the responsibility of the government and research institutions.

We were going back to Weena Rhyn after this anyway, so let's ask her then.

Chapter 587: Zelos Reed's Request

Chapter 587: Zelos Reed's Request

Supporter: Asekhan

「Weena Rhyn is not here?」

『It seems so... We've only left for about an hour though』

After talking to Grandma Jill, we came back to the camp. We wanted to talk to Weena Rhyn about Rhyn's stall. However, there was no sign of her in the tent.

「...Weena Rhyn, where did she go?」

「She didn't tell me where she's going」

Fran asks Zelos Reed, who was tied up in the tent, but he didn't seem to know where she was.

『Maybe she went to investigate it herself』

(What should we do now?)

『Hmmm...』

We have no choice. I guess we should leave a message with Zelos Reed and go talk to Lovren. She was able to have a normal conversation with someone like Zelos Reed with him now.

Even so, I wondered if it was okay to leave this man alone, but it seems that the spirits are closely watching him. I guess they wouldn't have much problem if it was the current Zelos Reed whose power was greatly suppressed.

However, with chains around his ankles and restraints around his neck, he looked like a slave. Even so, the way he stayed still and didn't start raging, made it hard to believe that he was the same person as that battle junky he was before.

「...Tell Weena Rhyn that Rhyn might be still in Kiarazen. She's running a food stall there」

「...Understood」

They exchanged such looks with no expressions on each other's faces. Fran still hated Zelos Reed, but what about him?

Does he hate her? Or just dislike her? I couldn't tell which one it was.

But when Fran, who had said what she had to say, was about to leave the tent, she was unexpectedly stopped by Zelos Reed.

「Wait」

「...What?」

Fran stopped for a moment and replied in a sharp voice.

「...I have a request to ask」

「Request? Request you say...!?」

Fran snapped immediately after Zelos Reed uttered those words. She muttered to him with an angry expression.

Uncontrollable killing intent covered the surrounding area. However, Zelos Reed showed no sign of fear and knelt on the spot.

It was not that he was not afraid, but he was prepared for it. Here, even if Fran cut him down, he must have thought that it was inevitable.

The eyes that stared at Fran while he was down on his knees were so clear that it was hard to believe they belonged to Zelos Reed.

「I have, a request」

I could hear the blunt sound of gnashing teeth coming from Fran's mouth. I couldn't help but notice that her hand, which already stretched out on my handle, was trembling in disbelief.

『Fran! Wait! This place——』

(...Don't worry)

The fire of anger still burned in her eyes. However, Fran let her hand go from my hilt and slowly lowered her fist.

(I know...)

I wonder, did Fran allow him to at least tell her his request after seeing his look? Zelos Reed then opened his mouth again.

「...In exchange, you can take my life」

「Weena Rhyn is going to cancel the contract between me and Romio. After that, she can do whatever she wants with my life」

「Do you know what that means？」

「Yes. If just by killing me is not enough, you can also torture or do whatever you want to me」

「My request is for Romio. I want you to bring Romio to an orphanage in Barbra after I die」

「Romio wouldn't be happy if he stayed with me. So, please」

Impossible. Even I thought that. Did he really entrust Romio to us with his life as the price? But he was not lying. He really meant it.

As if in a daze, Fran's strength loosened from her arms. And at the same time, the killing intent that had been so prevalent dissipated into thin air. This time, the atmosphere was eerily quiet. Her hands that were hanging down were swinging limply.

A dumbfounded expression appeared on her face. Was she dumbfounded after hearing the unexpected words? Or did her anger break through the limit?

But to my surprise, Fran nodded lightly to Zelos Reed.

「...I understand」

「Really?」

「Nn. With your life as the price, I will take Romio to an orphanage」

「...Thank you, very much」

「...Hmph」

Fran then turned her back to Zelos Reed, who continued to bow down on his knees. And just like that, she walked away with an indescribable expression on her face.

『Fran, well done for holding back』

(...That guy... has changed. He's not the same Zelos Reed I remember)

『Will you forgive him?』

(...I'm not going to forgive him, but...

Fran seemed to find it difficult to put it into words. Even so, it seemed that Zelos Reed had changed to the extent that made her willing to listen to his words instead of immediately drawing me. No, was it Fran who had changed?

Her hatred was still there, but it seemed that different feelings were also growing.

『You did great』

「...Nn」

At that moment in the Academy of Magic, when Fran slashed Zelos Reed, I thought that it couldn't be helped.

If I were in Fran's position, for example, I would have definitely attacked him. I wouldn't care if it involved people who had nothing to do with it.

With that in mind, I thought that it was only natural for Fran to attack Zelos Reed. That was why I was too late to stop her, and I also wondered if I had the right to stop her.

Besides, I was Fran's sword, and I was willing to follow her to the end, even if it would lead to her demise.

But that was ridiculous. That's not what a guardian should do.

I am disqualified as a guardian, aren't I?

Wasn't it the guardian's duty to scold, even if he has to put himself on the line? It reminded me of my parents. They were not saints, nor were they good adults. If I were to list their virtues and faults, I would say that they had more faults than virtues. When I was little, my parents would scold me and I would think, 「Don't tell me what to do」

But they still scolded me and raised me. In the first place, it was the job of a guardian to show a good example of what not to do.

I'd even say it was a job because it was not only love that parents needed to give. Parents also have a duty. They have a duty to raise the children under their care in a healthy and proper manner.

As a self-appointed guardian, I will have to remember that.

So, I praised her. I praised Fran for being able to suppress her hatred and being able to contain herself.

『You did great, Fran』

「Nn」

However, what I was wondering is whether Fran was really going to take Zelos Reed's life or not. However, Fran turned over with a troubled look on her face at that question.

「...I don't know」

『Is that so?』

Apparently, a spur-of-the-moment decision at that time had made her promise to do so.

「I still can't forgive Zelos Reed」

『I see』

「Nn」

"Still", huh?

Chapter 588: Urban Legends: The Phantom Stall

We were now back in Kiarazen again.

We were told that Lovren was here.

It was close to other countries, and the legend of the Lakeside Maiden was popular here. It was a place that shouldn't be missed when investigating the strange occurrences in the lake.

Besides, we'd like to visit Rhyn's stall again.

But her stall was not in the same place as before. We looked around the town to see if she had moved locations, but she was nowhere to be found.

In the end, we even went to the merchant association that organizes the stalls in this town to ask them about it. But they replied that there was no such merchant by that name.

They didn't lie as their answer was not a lame response. After all, we even mentioned Weena Rhyn's name and showed them Fran's adventurer card. In addition, I also used my doppelganger to accompany her as her guardian this time.

This was also meant to be a test to see if this skill would be effective in keeping my soul as a person. I wanted to try having a conversation with someone in this state and see what happens.

In addition to the big shots, we also met with the high-ranking adventurers. The person in charge of arranging the stalls in town was even shaking with a blue face. I felt a little sorry for him when I saw him going over the list of names again and again.

The chairman of the trading company, who could not stand to see the situation, even took over the handling of the situation, but his investigation did not change the results.

However, he remembered something in his mind.

「There is an urban legend in this town」

「An urban legend?」

「It's a story that people are very uncertain about whether it's true or false」

Apparently, there is a rumor among the merchants that there was a phantom stall that could not be normally encountered, although they do not know when it all started.

They never knew when or where it would appear, but there were stories of travelers who had encountered strange food stalls and had been sold amazingly delicious food.

「The vendor of the stall is said to be a mysterious looking girl with black cloth covering her eyes」

「Nn. Without a doubt, she's the one I'm talking about」

「Could it be, the rumor was true...? But then, we have no more information to go on. I've heard that some people have tried to find it before, but they couldn't find it」

「But it could be the Lakeside Maiden disguised as a girl to watch human activity, or a demon taking human form」

So, in the end, we didn't get many results. But it seemed that no one had ever been able to find it. They couldn't even get a clue.

Rhyn must have some kind of status disguising ability that was at the level at which even my appraisal is completely fooled.

Well, from what Weena Rhyn had told us before, she was originally a high-ranking spirit that was fused with the huge magic beast. In addition, she was in a contract with Weena Rhyn. She's probably overwhelmingly superior being to us. Even if nothing was done to her, there was a high possibility that she could not be appraised. There was nothing we could do if her disguise skills were added on top of that.

Also, does she possess the ability to block perception? She was a spirit, so she should be invisible to normal humans, but that alone didn't explain why they couldn't find her stall. Maybe she could also use it for anything besides herself.

『Well, it can't be helped that we can't find her. Let's go to Lovren for now』

「How is it? Has anything changed?」

『Hmm? Oh, you're talking about my body』

「Nn」

Fran tilted her head and looked at my doppelganger.

『Umm, I don't know...』

「Nothing changed?」

In the first place, my main body was a sword, but at the same time, my doppelganger was moving, so it was not as if I had completely gone back to a human body. Besides, my doppelganger had weak senses, so it was hard to feel that it was a human body at all.

It felt like controlling a full dive avatar in a VR game, maybe? Anyway, I was feeling a strong sense of wrongness. In fact, I felt that pretending to be a person reminded me more that I was a sword.

Also, Fran seemed to be slightly uncomfortable with it. To Fran, I'm a sword. That was the way it should be, and she felt uncomfortable seeing my doppelganger for the first time in a long time.

『Well, it's not exactly the goal I'm aiming for, and I'm not sure I'd use this skill often enough』

「I see」

But Fran seemed to be a little happy while saying that. After all, she didn't really like the idea of me using my doppelganger's body.

From now on, I would use it from time to time, but I wouldn't use it all the time.

Then I erased my doppelganger and urged Fran to move

『Well, let's go to the harbor~』

「Oo~」

According to our information, Lovren had been at the harbor until about an hour ago.

He was a very famous person in this area, so when we asked the merchants, they immediately knew where he was.

We headed to the place we were told to go to, but there we ran into someone we didn't expect.

「It is... Err...」

『It's Sierra』

There was Sierra, the boy with the killing intent.

He was holding a somewhat sinister-looking sword with a jet-black blade in his right hand, and for some reason, he was dipping the tip of the sword into the lake. I wonder what he was doing?

「——I guess」

「——maybe?」

He was mumbling something in a low voice, but I couldn't hear him clearly. It seemed as if he was talking to someone, but there was no one around. Did he have a habit of mumbling to himself?

As we approached the boy, he turned around and looked at her.

「...!」

Sierra and Fran stared at each other for a while.

In contrast to Fran's curious look, Sierra's gaze toward Fran was filled with killing intent.

Chapter 589: The Evil Sword and Sierra

Fran and Sierra stared at each other in silence. But Fran was just as silent and expressionless as usual.

Eventually, Sierra looked away and walked past Fran to get past her.

But at that moment, Urushi, who was standing beside Fran, grew huge at once and intervened between Fran and Sierra.

「Grrrr...」

Urushi growled with the full force of intimidation. Sierra stopped in surprise at his reaction, which was even laced with killing intent.

However, Urushi's gaze was not on Sierra—but on the sword at his hip.

Does it mean it was his magic sword that Urushi is wary of? No, but that didn't explain this reaction. Was it because the person releasing the killing intent was in possession of a powerful magic sword?

I wondered as I appraised Sierra and his magic sword.

『Not that it matters, but...』

Sierra's status was the same as before. He was certainly strong for his age, but his abilities were at best at those of a D-ranked adventurer.

But after appraising the sword, I understood why Urushi was so wary.

『What! All of its descriptions were displayed as unknown!?!』

If the opponent's rank was higher than mine and the appraisal fails, it would end up not showing up anything rather than showing up as unknown.

The only things that showed up as unknown were evil people and things possessed by an evil spirit. Come to think of it, Urushi should have had the skill to detect evil spirits. So, I'm sure he had sensed a very small amount of evil in the sword that even Fran and I couldn't detect.

『Urushi, hold back a little』

「Grrr...」

Urushi reverted to his large dog size and lessened his intimidation. However, he was still in a position to attack at any time. Sierra, who could understand this, was bracing himself with a sense of caution.

「That sword... Where did you get it?」

「...Do I have to tell you?」

We had never heard his voice before. It was higher-pitched than we expected.

「I can sense the evil in it」

「Nothing」

「Hmph」

His reaction now, Sierra seemed to know that there was an evil spirit hidden in his sword. Honestly, we were not sure what to do now.

But we couldn't sense any evil in him, and just because he had an evil weapon didn't mean he was evil.

It was the same for me. No, rather, am I even worse? After all, a part of the Evil God's soul was sealed in me. Was it evil of Fran to use me? No, not at all. It was just that the sword I'm using has a bit of a story behind it.

I guess it's the same for Sierra.

The boy frowned uncomfortably and walked away. It was amazing that he was only slightly surprised by Urushi's intimidation. In terms of his ability, it wouldn't be strange if he would instantly die from being shocked... It seemed that he had tremendous courage.

It was then at the moment after he avoided Urushi and passed Fran, Sierra stopped and opened his mouth.

「...Weena Rhyn might kill Romio」

「But the fact that she decided to do it means that it needs to be done. And when she does, don't do anything you don't have to do」

「Wait! Please explain!」

「...Just ask Weena Rhyn yourself」

That was all Sierra said and tried to walk away, but Fran wouldn't let him. She walked around in front of him and glared at him.

「...The power of the 『Evil God's Sacrament』 is hidden in Magnolia's bloodline. But if she uses that power, Romio will die」

「Evil God's Sacrament?」

「It is a fearsome grace given by the Evil Gods to rule over the evil people, to devour them, to absorb their Evil Soul, and to transform them into power. That is the Evil God's Sacrament possessed by the Magnolias. The Grace of the Evil God passed down to each family is what gives the three Gordician families their power」

The three Gordician families were the guardian families that were supposed to keep the Evil Gods at bay, right? They are Magnolia, Camellia, and Wisteria. I've heard that they've already been ruined though...

But now he's telling me that they were empowered by the Evil God? In other words, they worshipped the Evil God? And yet, they sealed away the Evil God?

「Was it given by the Evil God?」

「You're gonna have to find out for yourself. What's important now is this lake. The magic beast sealed in here has also taken in the power of the Evil God's piece. The best way to suppress its power is to sacrifice Romio and use the power of the Evil God's Sacrament to seal it」

Oi, oi, the huge magic beast in this lake has even had the power of the Evil Gods?

「How do you know all this?」

Certainly, Sierra knew too much about Romio. It was hard to believe that he could know so much from mere research. However, there was no way Sierra would answer it.

「It's none of your business. Just stay out of my way and Weena Rhyn's. That's it」

Sierra told her so with a cold expression on his face, to which Fran replied in protest.

「Romio will not die!」

「...? You, aren't you supposed to be Romio's enemy?」

「You're an enemy of Zelos Reed, aren't you?」

「Nn. Zelos Read is my enemy. But Romio isn't really an enemy」

「...Tsk」

How much does Sierra know about anything? I'm not sure why he even knew about Fran's relationship with Romio and Zelos Reed.

Who was he? I wondered, and Fran questioned Sierra's back as he was walking away.

「Are you... Romio's big brother?」

Sierra only answered with that and disappeared into the crowded streets of the town.

『Romio's big brother? What made you think so?』

「He knew a lot of things」

『I see. Well, I guess that's why he even knows about the power of Magnolia's bloodline and all that』

「Moreover...」

『Moreover?』

「He looked like Romio」

『Is that so?』

Sure, they had the same hair color, but did they look that much alike?

「Nn, their eyes look similar」

「Their eyes are similar when they stared at me」

Ah, now that she mentioned it, they may indeed be similar. Romio's eyes towards Fran, and Sierra's eyes towards Fran. The sharp eyes mixed with hostility; the feel was very similar.

Why did he teach Fran such a thing? What was he aiming for?

I wonder who exactly he was. Anyway, I'm sure he was no ordinary adventurer.

Chapter 590: The Modoki's Target

Chapter 590: The Modoki's Target

After Sierra left, we were finally able to come in contact with Lovren.

We had been so focused on Sierra that we hadn't noticed that we were already in the harbor.

「I'd be grateful if you could be a little calmer around the town, you know?」

Lovren, of course, must have seen our encounter with Sierra earlier. He was complaining to us right now.

Especially regarding Urushi. A big wolf that had suddenly appeared and growled ferociously while radiating intimidation in the town.

Fortunately, there were no people in the harbor, but it could have caused a huge commotion. It would have been no surprise if Adventurers and guards had been dispatched to check the situation.

『Fran, Urushi. You should apologize. It's definitely our fault』

「I'm sorry」

「Woof」

「As long as you understand, just be careful next time, okay?」

Huh? Was that all? I think a little more scolding would have been in order.

Well, even though he was a high-ranking adventurer, he was a very meek man after all.

「Hey, the sword Sierra was holding. What's that?」

「Are you curious?」

「He was dipping it in the lake before」

「Eh? He did that?」

「Nn」

「Hmm, Sierra already had it when he first became an Adventurer, maybe around six or seven years ago」

What? Six or seven years ago? Sierra was just a kid, right?

「In this country, can a child that age become an adventurer?」

「Well, he could only register, he wouldn't be able to move up from G rank until he was 12 years old, so he could only do chores」

I see. There was no way a child who wanted to be an adventurer had a decent background. Even if they turned him away, he would probably end up committing a crime or dying in the wild. So, it would be better for the child if they gave them a job.

「That sword... We called it the Cursed Magic Sword around here. It's because every Adventurer who had tried to steal it always ended up with bad luck 」

「...Did they die?」

「No, no, no, at most they would be badly injured. At first, they thought that Sierra might have done something, but he had an alibi for everything. However, I don't think that Sierra had anything to do with it. Hence, it must have been a curse」

「I see」

Could it be related to its Evil Spirit? There was no sign of a curse being placed on it, and curses should be prevented by our resistance to abnormal conditions, so Fran should be fine.

Well, let's get our focus back on the anomaly pertaining to the lake for now.

「I knew Sierra was looking into the Modoki, but... I wonder if he's onto something? Maybe I'll ask him next time I see him」

「Let me know when you do」

「Hmm? Could it be that Fran is also investigating the anomaly?」

「Nn」

Apparently, Lovren had already gotten the information that Fran had become an instructor at the Academy of Magic.

Then it would be quick. Read only at travis translations.

We explained why we were looking for Lovren and asked if he had any information for us. Of course, we made sure to use Weena Rhyn's name. It was the quickest way to get the information out.

Then Lovren nodded his head in agreement.

「I see. So Weena Rhyn-sama has started to act too」

「Nn」

「Actually, I was just about to go to the merchant association and get some documents?」

「Documents?」

「Aah, why don't you come with me, if you don't mind? I'd really appreciate it if you could help me there」

It would be faster to get the information and we would like to hear more about the story. It would be better for us to help him.

「Okay」

「Ooh, thanks. Then, let's go」

When they saw Fran back at the merchant association again, they must have thought she had come to complain about the lack of information. The same person in charge as before had turned pale, but when he found out that was not the case, he became very polite.

「I don't know what's going on, but you are really helpful. I didn't expect they'd let me get the documents so easily」

Some of the information about the cargo may violate the confidentiality of the merchant association. Even though Lovren was a B-ranked adventurer, it was rare for him to be shown such information so easily.

But this time, when he asked, he was immediately taken to the reference room. He seemed to be really surprised by that.

「Usually, we have to ask what kind of documents we want, and they'd bring it to us later」

In addition, it was forbidden to take them out of the country, and even making copies of them was not looked upon favorably.

If someone were to look at the documents, they would be able to find out all about the inner workings of the Merchant Association and the status of its purchases. That was why they usually didn't disclose all of their information to adventurers.

「I mentioned Weena Rhyn's name when I came here earlier」

「Aah, that's certainly quite frightening. If they go against her, they won't be able to survive in this country」

In the meantime, we arrived at the archive room. There were already several documents on the desk.

They also served tea for us, along with some snacks beside it.

This was already more than satisfactory. It seemed that they were really afraid of Weena Rhyn, as they were trying to make things as convenient as possible for Fran, who seemed to be her subordinate.

「What are you looking for?」

「The cargo of the boat that was attacked」

To my surprise, Lovren said that he was going around the town to investigate the cargo of the boat that was attacked by the Modoki.

In some cases, he even talked to the captain of the boat.

「I was trying to figure out if people were being attacked for their Magic Power or if a specific cargo was being targeted. Fran, please check the documents over here」

「...Okay」

For a moment, Fran looked really uncomfortable.

But she couldn't say no after coming all the way here.

『Fran, do your best』

「...Nn」

So, the two of them read the documents and made a list of the ship's cargo. It was a task that required a lot of patience, but Fran still managed to do it.

She almost dozed off a few times, but as soon as I called out to her, she got right back up and got back to work. Well done, Fran!

It was an hour later when they finished checking all the documents.

After comparing it with the list of other merchant cargo that Lovren had already gone through, he came to one conclusion.

「Did you find out anything?」

「Yeah. Every boat that was attacked always had a certain cargo on board」

「The Scarlet Waterweed Potion, or the Scarlet Waterweed from which it is made」

Indeed, all the boats were loaded with Scarlet Waterweed Potion or Scarlet Waterweed. The rest were foodstuffs, but it was unlikely that the modoki would target bread and wheat.

「I'm not completely convinced that they're targeting people's Magic power...」

「They could target the Magic Beasts instead. It's weird that they only attack people」

「I know, right?」

If they wanted to get magic power, there would be more appropriate prey. A magic beast like the Lake Murderer would have more magic power than a human. And if it was the Modoki, they wouldn't have any problem preying on them.

「...Let's go to the Atelier」

「Atelier?」

「The Atelier where the Scarlet Waterweed Potion is made」

「Where it is?」

「It's in the Commercial Fleet」

Chapter 591: The Fate of the Intelligence Weapon

Even though we were heading for the Commercial Fleet, we were not currently in the harbor. We had to head to the Sheftent first and then take a fast boat to it.

(Master, Weena Rhyn is back)

『You're right. Let's show her our faces then』

(Nn)

From the Academy of Magic's camp built next to the Sheftent, we could feel the presence of Weena Rhyn there.

We decided to give her a brief update on our investigation. We also asked Lovren to report to the Adventurer's Guild while we returned to the camp.

In the tent, we saw Weena Rhyn sitting in a chair, concentrating on something. Romio and Zelos Reed seemed to be in the next tent.

『What is she doing? Her magic seems to be flowing in strange ways』

「There's a spirit...」

She was apparently communicating with a spirit. Fran was about to turn on her heel, thinking it would be a bad idea to interrupt her, but then Weena Rhyn opened her eyes and called out to her.

「Fran, it's fine」

「Yeah. I didn't do anything serious. I was just gathering information from the surrounding spirits」

I've heard that communicating with spirits was a challenge even for a skilled Spirit Magic User, but apparently, it was no big deal for Weena Rhyn.

「I got your message. You think Rhyn's in Kiarazen?」

「I'm sorry, but I couldn't find her」

『We went there again. But we didn't get to see Rhyn, we also heard a rumor that there was a stall run by a mysterious girl』

After that, we reported to Weena Rhyn about our previous conversations with Rhyn and the circumstances of our encounter.

Maybe it was because the time had passed, she didn't get so emotional at the mere mention of Rhyn's name anymore. Thanks to this, we were able to talk calmly.

First of all, there was the time when we met her at a stall in Kiarazen. We told her about how at first, we only thought she was a blind girl, and how she could still see us.

「...She was running a food stall in town?」

「Nn. It was delicious. But why did Rhyn, a spirit, would do something like that?」

「I'd like to know that too」

「Even Weena Rhyn doesn't know?」

「Yes, I don't know...」

I could see the deep anguish on Weena Rhyn's face as she muttered. She really didn't seem to understand the reason for Rhyn's actions.

「I really don't know what she's thinking... I guess we'll have to get in contact with her after all. Well, that's fine for now. Tell me the rest」

「Nn」

At Weena Rhyn's urging, we talked about the next time we saw Rhyn again. We told her about her sudden appearance and the advice Rhyn had given us.

「Does Rhyn really have the power to see the future?」

「Yes, I'm sure of it. And spirits don't lie unless they're ordered to do so by their contractors. Her case is a little more special, though... But I don't think she's lying」

『So, if my soul adapts to the sword, it'll be a tragedy for Fran...?』

「That's what it's gonna be」

『Hey, what do you think I should do then?』

She was a person who had lived for thousands of years. So maybe she could give me some advice.

To be honest, I wasn't really expecting much, but Weena Rhyn put her hand on her chin and started thinking.

「Hmm... That's a very difficult question. First, Master doesn't want to go crazy. But in order not to go crazy, he has to adapt to being a sword」

『Yeah』

「However, if he becomes a sword, he will lose his human emotions. Moreover, a tragedy might befall on Fran」

『Yes』

「In other words, you have to adapt to the sword without going crazy, but you also have to keep your human heart」

『You think that's possible?』

Weena Rhyn pondered my question.

「...Oh right. I've met intelligence weapons several times in the past. But most of them had gone crazy. However, their craziness was different from each other」

「Different?」

「One was in an irrational, manic-depressive state. It was in the type of state that would come to mind when you think of the word “crazy”. But what they all had in common was that they hated their sword bodies and were tired of living as swords. I guess it was that the ego of the human being could not accept its sword body」

Just like the Fanatics. He was the type who didn't know what he was going to do next.

「Then, there was the type that didn't feel like it had true sentience. Just like if you took away all emotions from a human being and gave them the ability to just answer questions」

Just like a machine, huh?

「Of course, an artificially created being is not uncommon. Golems with a conversational function are one example. However, if a being that was originally human is sealed in something, or if a being that has had its soul transferred without a way to help them to adapt then they would surely go crazy」

Announcer-san was originally created to support the sword, so she couldn't be called crazy. That was because it was only natural for her to not go crazy.

But if I become like Announcer-san, I would surely go crazy.

『The former is when they're too conscious of being human. They couldn't adapt to the sword and went crazy. And the latter was when their adaptation to the sword advances too far』

「Yeah」

I was on the verge of becoming the latter. And I didn't even notice it myself. It was scary.

「Thus, the existence of the only intelligence weapon that I have met that was not crazy becomes important. Now that I think about it, a sword and a person. I suppose both sides were balancing each other mentally」

「How did that sword manage to not get crazy?」

「...This was something I couldn't say for sure. Still, there was one thing that made it different from the other swords, it was its bond with its wielder」

Weena Rhyn said that the swords that went crazy had passed through the hands of many different wielders and were regarded as powerful and rare.

However, the exceptional sword had been used by the same wielder ever since it was created, and had apparently formed a bond with that wielder as if they were partners.

「It was both a sword and a person. It was proud of itself and had accepted itself as a sword. I think that's what sustained its soul」

『I see...』

A bond with the wielder. But what exactly should I do? Should I communicate more with Fran?

However, Fran smiled at me with a look of relief on her face.

「Then, Master will be fine」

『Eh?』

「Because we're the greatest combination」

『Fran...』

「That's why, Master will be fine」

Fran wasn't talking in a comforting or wishful way, she seemed to really mean it. She was smiling, as if this problem was no longer dire.

When I saw her like that, I felt the frustration that had almost taken me over unknowingly disappear. If I'm with Fran, I'll be fine. I should think that without any worries.

「If you're afraid that you might go crazy, it might trigger an imbalance in your mind. I also think it's better to be as optimistic as Fran, right? There's no perfect way to deal with this, and I think it's important to stay aware of it」

「Nn」

「As soon as you understand your problems and start struggling to do something about them, the future might change. Then the fate that Rhyn had mentioned may have already been averted」

Rhyn had said, 『There's a high possibility that it will come true if we did nothing about it』. Indeed, the future could have been different once we understood the problem.

『But I don't know if that's enough to avoid the tragedy. We don't even know when it will be coming in the first place』

Aside from the possibility that I might or might not be going crazy, what was the tragedy she mentioned? From Rhyn's words, it seemed to be coming soon. However, the sense of time of beings who have lived for a long time was often different from ours.

I couldn't deny the possibility that 10 or 20 years to us may feel like a day or two to Rhyn.

『Hey, where's that intelligence weapon that didn't go crazy, right now?』

I wasn't sure if we would be able to make it in time for the tragedy Rhyn had told us about, but if we meet it, it might be able to give me some insight.

「Let's see. I'll let you know if you can figure out what's the cause of the lake's anomaly. What do you think?」

I didn't think it was petty, and neither did Fran. The information was really valuable for us. But it was information that had nothing to do with the current incident. So Weena Rhyn had no obligation to give it to us without any compensation.

「We'll definitely find out the cause of the anomaly!」

『Ou!』

Fran had been serious on our investigation so far. But she wasn't in a hurry before. She was just doing what she could because her current employer, Weena Rhyn, had asked her to.

But now it became a case that was actually involving us. Fran's motivation was clearly visible.

「I'm counting on you」

「Nn!」

Author-san note (or was it his editor, dunno XD):

The ability handed down in the Magnolia family has been revised from “Evil God's Charms” to an ability called “Evil God's Sacrament”, and a light explanation of it has been added.

To summarize, the Sacrament of the Evil God is an ability that absorbs Evil Spirits from evil people or pieces of Evil Gods and converts them into power.

The power of the three Gordician families, including the Magnolia family, was actually given to them by their ancestors from the Evil God.

Chapter 592: Khanna's Information

Chapter 592: Khanna's Information

We were still in the camp, not at the meeting point with Lovren, after being asked by Weena Rhyn to investigate the cause of the anomaly again.

It was also because we wanted to greet Charon and the others.

At Weena Rhyn's request, Fran has been relieved from her duty as an instructor for Charon and her group. But because we were so overwhelmed by Weena Rhyn before, we went out to investigate without even saying something to them.

Fran was concerned that she hadn't said anything to Charon and Khanna. They didn't seem to be the kind of girls who would blame her for that, but she wanted to at least greet them.

We went straight to the tents for the students. There, we found Charon's group and Charles, the adventurer. In addition, there was also an instructor we knew with them. It seemed that he had taken Fran's role as Charon group's escort.

Apparently, they were on their way to take on a request. However, when they saw Fran, they greeted her with a smile.

「Fran! You have returned?」

「Nn. I didn't get a chance to say something to Charon and the other before because of the job Weena Rhyn had asked me to do」

「So you came all this way to greet us? Thank you very much. But I heard that you were investigating the anomaly in the lake, so we won't blame you」

It seems that they understand the weight of Weena Rhyn's direct request. In addition, Charon and the others, who were born in this country, seemed to be interested in the anomaly of the lake, and they asked her a lot of questions about it.

Fran told Charon and the others that it was very likely that the Modoki were aiming for the Scarlet Waterweed Medicine, and advised them to check for Scarlet Waterweed around them when approaching the lake's shore.

Oh, we had Weena Rhyn's permission to tell them about it, so it should be okay.

But we told Charon and the others not to spread the word, citing the fact that we were still investigating. She told them that it was also Weena Rhyn's order, so they wouldn't dare to spread the word.

We were almost certain that it was true, but it was still unconfirmed. Weena Rhyn also feared that if this information spread, it might cause widespread panic among the people, and Kangaroo Courts could be rampant.

(Note: Kangaroo Court: an unofficial court held by a group of people to try someone regarded, especially without good evidence, as guilty of a crime or misdemeanor)

There was no doubt that some sort of witch hunt would even take place if that ever happens.

With that in mind, it would be bad for rumors to spread at this stage.

First of all, we needed to confirm whether or not the Modoki were really after the Scarlet Waterweed medicine. Well, Weena Rhyn will be the one to look into that though, so we were going to head to the Commercial Fleet with Lovren as planned.

Charon and the others looked worried. If the cure for the endemic disease was being targeted by the magic beasts, then the people of this country would surely be concerned about it.

In the midst of all this, Khanna was reacting in a somewhat unusual way. She seemed to be more surprised than anxious.

「Khanna?」

「Ah, no...」

Fran became curious and called out to Khanna.

「...Fran-san, may I have a moment?」

Then Khanna looked at Fran with a somewhat serious look. She took Fran's hand and moved away from everyone.

「...Actually, I have some information that might be useful for you」

「About the lake anomaly?」

「I'm not sure if it will lead to that yet... but you can look into it yourself. I would like to share this information only with Fran-san if possible, as I was able to get this information through my parent's contacts」

When Khanna said so, Charon seemed to understand and distanced herself. The other group members also followed Charon's lead.

If it was a message from a nobleman or a trading company, it might contain a lot of important information. Being a noble herself, Charon probably understood that it was better if they didn't listen to it.

「So?」

「This information is about the Scarlet Waterweed medicine」

Khanna's said that she had been investigating the Scarlet Waterweed and the medicines that use them since she arrived in this country. She had been gathering information on everything from prices and raw materials to efficiency while traveling.

Support the translation team by reading the translated chapter at travis translation's website.

「I was thinking that I could use it as a commercial product」

In this country, Scarlet Waterweed was only recognized as a raw material for special medicine for endemic diseases. However, it was still a material to make magic potions. Depending on the research, it could be used in various ways.

Apparently, Khanna thought it would be a shame if she couldn't purchase the Scarlet Waterweeds and sell them outside the country. As expected of the daughter of a trading company owner.

However, it seemed to be quite difficult. Even though it was not life-threatening, a disease was a disease. Scarlet Waterweed was the raw material for the cure, and it was still impossible to cultivate, so it was practically impossible to sell outside the country.

It was not that they were prohibited. However, many citizens tended to be reluctant to ship large quantities of it out of the country. Merchants were not an exception. After all, they were reluctant to export Scarlet Waterweed in case they ran out of the special medicine in case of emergency.

And if there was a shortage because of her doing, it would make it harder for her to live in this country.

「Still, I was looking for some way to do something about it, and I did a lot of research... But at some point, I got a hunch that something wasn't right」

「Even though it is impossible to export in large quantities, it is not so difficult to buy in small quantities. So, I decided to start by buying them from various places and send them to my home」

She also said that the reason why she bought it from various places was to study the differences in the growing areas. Otherwise, she would not have been able to collect the necessary amount for her research.

However, Khanna suddenly noticed the difference in prices. Normally, in the area near the lake where most of the plants could be collected the price should be cheaper, and the further away from the lake, the more expensive it should be. However, the Scarlet Waterweed was actually the most expensive around the lake and was sold at the same price around the Academy of Magic.

And the reason for the skyrocketing price was said to be the increase in the number of patients in the eastern region...

「But actually, there has been no increase in the number of patients」

「...Really?」

「Yes. By using my family's contacts, I checked the number of endemic cases in each city in the Kingdom of Belios. And they said that they're all the same as usual」

But they were actually experiencing a shortage of Scarlet Waterweed medicine, right?

「So where do you think the Scarlet Waterweed medicines that were supposed to be sold domestically disappear to?」

「You know that too?」

「The distribution of the Scarlet Waterweed potion is quite strange and is almost monopolized by a certain trading company that has signed a contract with the workshop that succeeded in developing it. And that trading company is actually connected to the Kingdom of Raidos from behind the scenes」

Seriously? So, the reason behind this anomaly is actually because the Raidos Kingdom is doing something behind the scenes?

「We don't know what's going on yet. However, around the same time as the lake's anomaly, a new special medicine has been developed, and the shadow of the Kingdom of Raidos is flickering in its wake... Furthermore, there are signs that the information is being manipulated by someone. And if one doesn't check very carefully, one may not realize that the increase in endemic cases may be false information 」

Was the merchant association involved in this incident? Or was there some kind of conspiracy behind it? It was suddenly starting to smell fishy.

Chapter 593: The Rumor's Purpose

Chapter 593: The Rumor's Purpose

Having unexpectedly learned some valuable information from Khanna, we returned to Sheftent and met up with Lovren.

There, we also gave him the information we had received from Khanna.

「The Merchant Association has ties to the Kingdom of Raidos? It's kinda hard to believe...」

Lovren was also quite surprised. He said that the Mesther Merchant Association, which was selling the Scarlet Waterweed medicine, was a very old merchant association with a high reputation in this country.

「We'll need to double-check that first」

「Nn. But, Lovren didn't notice it? That the disease wasn't really an epidemic」

Indeed. That was what we were most curious about. Anyone who did a little research would know that the epidemic was false information, but was anyone else in the country aware of it?

「Well, yeah. In the first place, we don't have anyone who'd investigated such things」

「Because there's no one in trouble」

Although it was said that there was a shortage of Scarlet Waterweed medicine, it didn't mean that there was no distribution at all. There was always a certain amount of it available in the country. But still, it was thought that there was not enough for everyone...

「Actually, even if the disease was not endemic, I'm sure it would have been properly distributed to all patients. So, no one would be making a fuss about the shortage」

「Nn」

「And its price was still the same as in the previous years」

Furthermore, the distribution was being handled by the Mesther Merchant Association, a relatively big merchant association. If the source of the rumor was the Mesther Merchant Association, no one could point out anything strange about the distribution.

After all, although it was being said that there is a “shortage of scarlet water pills,” not many people had been affected by this. The only people who had suffered were the adventurers near the lake, who had to collect more Scarlet Waterweed than usual.

「But why would they spread such rumors?」

「Well. I could understand if they wanted to raise the price of Scarlet Waterweed medicine by spreading false rumors that the disease that was not actually an epidemic had become an epidemic... But if that was not their aim, maybe they were actually aiming at the Scarlet Waterweed medicine itself」

「They could disguise it as a domestic sale and ship it elsewhere. Like the Kingdom of Raidos for example. But I don't know what their purpose is though」

In other words, there was a high possibility that their objective was to obtain the medicine.

「How should we investigate it then?」

「Well, I guess our best bet would be to ask around to the people in the merchant association」

Well, he was right. I would also like to hear from their top brass if possible.

「Where is the merchant association?」

「Its headquarters is in the Commercial Fleet」

It seemed that both the atelier and the headquarters of the merchant association were located in the Commercial Fleet.

「The problem is that we can't just barge in without an appointment and expect them to listen to us」

「Don't worry」

「You got a secret plan?」

「Just give them Weena Rhyn's name」

Both Fran and I already witnessed the tremendous influence Weena Rhyn had in this country.

I didn't think there was anyone who would dare to defy us with Weena Rhyn's name. We were already at Komon-sama level, weren't we?

(Note Trivia (skip this if you're not interested in these details as it is quite long XD): Mito Komon (Tokugawa Mitsukuni), was a Japanese Daimyo (feudal lord) that lived in the 17th century. During the latter half of the Edo period and the Meiji period, a kōdan (narrative tale) named “Mito Mitsukuni Man'yūki” fictionalized the travels of Tokugawa Mitsukuni. This tradition of dramatizing his life continued with a novel and, in 1951, the first television series to portray him as a wanderer, masquerading as a commoner, who castigated evil in every corner of the nation. The most memorable phrase of the series is 「この紋所が目に入らぬか!!」 (Kono mon dokoro ga me ni hairanuka!!) “Don't you know whose family seal is this!?” while his escort shows up with the Tokugawa family's emblem. Well, you should get the idea about the references already)

(Another Trivia: In the light novel Death March kara Hajimaru Isekai Kyousoukyoku, the main protagonist quotes Mito Komon frequently)

Moreover, she gave us a valuable but frightening assurance that she would cover things up for us.

I have no intention of abusing it, but it was times like this that we needed to use that power.

「Hahaha. Now that you mentioned it, you're on a mission for Weena Rhyn-sama, aren't you? Let's go with that strategy then」

「Nn」

We had planned to head to the Commercial Fleet by boat at first but decided to ride on Urushi instead. It was much faster that way.

If we didn't get lost, that was.

This lake was the size of a small country. If we ever lost our direction, we could get lost. In fact, it was said that several ships a year fail to return because of it.

This time, however, the Commercial Fleet was relatively close to shore, and we had a guide to lead the way. Well, there was no need to worry about getting lost, since Lovren was familiar with the route.

「I see it」

「Haha! So fast! Amazing!」

「Woof woof!」

About three hours after we left Sheftent, we had managed to find the Commercial Fleet.

Lovren seemed to be in high spirits. He seemed to like the experience of riding the flying Urushi more than he thought he would.

His praises also put Urushi in a good mood.

「The ship is a little behind that one in the center. Can you go down there first?」

「Okay, Urushi」

「Woof!」

It was hard to tell from above, but it seems to be the ship of the Adventurer's Guild. The Adventurers on deck were surprised to see Urushi descending from the sky.

Some of them even raised their weapons, but the commotion quickly died down when they saw Lovren on his back.

It was a good thing we had come down here. If it had been any other ship, we might have caused a commotion.

「Well, let's head to the Mesther Merchant Association first」

From here, the Commercial Fleet was apparently much more organized than I had thought. The Commercial Fleet seemed to look like a mess of ships, but in fact, the specific placement of each ship was carefully regulated.

Therefore, it seemed that those who were familiar with it already knew where some things were.

「Which ship?」

「That one. The ship with the red flag」

It looked surprisingly close, but we had to take quite a detour to get there. Well, we had to move from ship to ship. Sometimes we crossed a simple suspension bridge that connected the ships and even had to move from ship to ship in a small boat.

「Can't we just ride on Urushi?」

「We can't. It would only cause a fuss here」

Well, it couldn't be helped. The Commercial Fleet was just like a town after all. Flying over it on Urushi was just like running around the town on Urushi.

Chapter 594

The ship of the Mesther Merchant Association, which Lovren had led us to, was small but had a rather grand appearance. The railings were carved, and there were even plants on the deck. This place might have even been regarded as the lobby of an ordinary merchant association already.

The entire ship itself seemed to belong to Mesther Merchant Association

At first, I thought it was a rather ordinary thing, but apparently, it was difficult for a small business association to even own a single ship here, so they'd rent a corner of a large ship to use as their office. In other words, they were using the so-called tenant system.

With that in mind, I could tell how wealthy the Mesther Merchant Company was, as they could own an entire ship in this Commercial Fleet.

I wondered if they would listen to us when we suddenly visited such a merchant association... But to my surprise, we were able to meet with their top brass without much difficulty.

「I heard that you, one of the top Adventurers in this lake, came to visit us unexpectedly」

It seemed that it was thanks to Lovren that we didn't have to wait long. But come to think of it, there was no way that a merchant association of this size did not know Lovren, a famous Adventurer around this lake.

「Could you introduce me to the young miss beside you?」

「She is Fran. Even though she looks like this, she's still an Adventurer, you know? She's been a great help to me」

「Nn. I'm Fran」

「I see. My name is Gregory from the Mesther Merchant Association. I am pleased to be able to make your acquaintance」

He hadn't realized that Fran was the Black Lightning Princess? Although he was polite, I felt like he was treating her as a companion of Lovren up till now.

「So, what can I do for you today? If there's anything you need, I'll do my best to get it for you」

「Thanks, I appreciate your kindness, but I'm not here to make a deal today」

「Hou?」

The conversation started with a smile. But soon enough, the other side's face turned grim.

「Actually, I'm working on a request from the Adventurer's Guild. I was hoping you could help me with my investigation」

「Investigation?」

「We're investigating the anomaly in the lake」

The moment Lovren said that Gregory stiffened for a moment. It was only for a moment. His expression did not change, neither did his voice.

But for us, who had strong suspicions from the start, even that was enough of a hint. Both Lovren and Fran looked convinced that Gregory knew something.

「Hohou? Then what brings you to our merchant association? I don't think there's anything I can do to help you with your investigation about the lake, right?」

「Then, would you mind showing me the bookkeeping records and the warehouse of Mesther Merchant Association?」

We know that they may have prepared a forged version of their bookkeeping. But our purpose was to see how the other party would react.

And if they really did bring out fake bookkeeping records, we might be able to use it as evidence to prove their crimes. No matter how well they did their bookkeeping, it could never be perfect.

「Can you please let me check all the bookkeeping records containing the sales records of the Scarlet Waterweed potion at Mesther Merchant Association, as well as the storage warehouse where the Scarlet Waterweed potion is stored?」

Having been convinced that the Mesther merchant association was hiding something, Lovren became quite bold.

「Hahaha. What are you talking about... you know that's impossible, right? It's our merchant association's trade secret after all」

「That's why I'm asking you to do something about it」

「Do you have any suspicions about our merchant association? Do you think we have something to do with this incident?」

「Well, yes」

「That's ridiculous. Our merchant association has nothing to do with it」

Gregory stood up with a stern expression on his face. It was probably his way of saying that he had nothing more to say.

「Please leave now. It's truly a shame, Lovren-dono. I thought you were a respectable man for an Adventurer. We'll never do business with you again」

Gregory turned away and walked toward the doors.

But we couldn't let him get away. After all, this guy had lied about a lot of things. Not only did he say that there was nothing he could do to help in the investigation of the lake, but he also lied about his claim that they had nothing to do with the lake's anomaly.

He was really suspicious.

『Fran, this guy definitely knows a lot』

「Nn. Wait. I still have something to talk」

「But I don't」

「Maybe you don't, but I have」

Fran's words made Gregory look even more pissed. But before he could raise his voice in anger, Lovren opened his mouth.

「And also, unlike me, she's working on a commission from a different place. We're just working together on the investigation」

「From different place?」

「Fran-san has been entrusted with full authority by Weena Rhyn to investigate the recent anomaly」

「Weena Rhyn, you said!? A kid like her is working for her...?」

「Fufu. She is indeed a kid, but her strength is well known. She's a B-ranked adventurer that even has her own alias, and she also happens to be a special instructor at the Academy of Magic」

「What...!? An alias!? Could it be, she's the Black Lightning Princess...!?」

「Nn. I'm Fran, a B-ranked adventurer. Nice to meet you」

「I can vouch for her identity」

When Lovren said so, Gregory stopped in his tracks.

He seems to be struggling with something.

But it was no surprise. I suspected that Gregory just wanted to pretend to be angry and make Lovren and Fran leave.

However, it was a different story when Weena Rhyn's name was mentioned. To put it bluntly, she was a much more influential figure in this country than the Royal Family. There was no way that a mere merchant association would refuse an order from someone who claimed to be Weena Rhyn's representative.

If he still refused to allow us to check their bookkeeping records and warehouse, it's like he was saying that he had something to hide.

Lovren already had some clues and was suspicious of the Mesther Merchant Association. So, if he still refused Fran's request to conduct an investigation even after she mentioned Weena Rhyn's name here, his suspicions would be confirmed.

Support the translation team by only reading this translated chapter at travis translation's website.

Well, Fran and Lovren were already convinced of it, but it seems Gregory thought that he could still handle this.

With Lovren's confirmation, there was no doubt that Fran was Weena Rhyn's representative. I suppose he could argue that it was just hard to believe, but...

Gregory froze for about ten seconds, but eventually, he nodded bitterly.

「Very well then. But since it will take some time to prepare for the bookkeeping records, let me show you our warehouse first」

Gregory called a person and told him to lead us to the warehouse. Then he said that he would prepare the bookkeeping records while we checked the warehouse and then left.

I attached a piece of string that I had created using my transformation skill to Gregory. If it was someone like Gregory, he wouldn't even notice it. Well, if he turned around for no reason, he might see it though.

However, I managed to remain undetected. Gregory ordered his men with a yell, and they were clearly visible through the thread. No matter how thin it was, it was still a part of me.

「Oi! We'll have to advance our plans! Hurry up and prepare to withdraw to the homeland!」

「Is something went wrong?」

「The Adventurers have noticed us!」

「Th-that is... How could a mere Adventurer notice our plan...!?!」

「Idiots! Do you really believe all that propaganda about them being incompetents and incapable of doing anything was real? I've told you to think of them as being on par with the Red Knights, right!?!」

「Enough. Anyway, I'll leave the preparations for the withdrawal to you. And also, tell the President」

「V-very well. But what about the Adventurers?」

「I've ordered someone to take them to our third warehouse. The rest can be left to that creepy corpse. I'm sure it'll be happy to kill them」

「According to that man, those black corpses are stronger than the Red Knights. So, I'm sure it'll be fine」

As I'd expected, there was no way he would just let us check their warehouses so easily, and it seemed like something was waiting for us there. But, corpse, he said? In other words, it was an undead? He even said that they would withdraw to their homeland, didn't he? It seemed that these people were from another country—from the Kingdom of Raidos, I guess.

(Master, how is it?)

『It seems that an enemy is waiting for you at the warehouse. Stay alert』

(Nn. Okay)

Chapter 595

We readied ourselves while being led by the people of the merchant association.

Lovren's face scrunched up dramatically. He must have understood that a frightening enemy was waiting for us at our destination.

Lovren also began to secretly prepare the magic power within his body.

The man guiding us didn't seem to realize what we were doing, due to his complete lack of combat skills. But still, it didn't mean that he couldn't feel anything.

From time to time, he would look back at us and turn his head around, but he didn't seem to know what we were doing.

After a few minutes of walking, we were led to a gloomy area close to the bottom of the ship. Our guide stopped in front of a seemingly ordinary door in one corner.

「T-this is the warehouse」

「Okay」

I couldn't sense any magic or presence from behind the door. There must have been some kind of barrier on the walls.

Well, we would just have to check it out ourselves.

I once again turned into steel thread and entered the room through the doorway. To Lovren and the others, it would appear that Fran had the skills of a thread user.

「Eh?」

「I need to do a quick check before we enter. You're going to show us the inside later anyway, so why not?」

The guide looked troubled. Lovren then moved quietly behind us, it seemed that he intended to stop him if he tried to interfere with us.

Once inside, there was indeed a hint of the undead. But it was really faint. Did that mean it wasn't a strong undead?

I searched lightly to see where it was and found the magical power of the Undead was emanating from a coffin placed in the center of the room.

The coffin itself seemed to be a magic tool. It seemed to be able to suppress the undead's presence and reduce the consumption of magic power while it was sleeping.

But weren't they going too far just for it? They even had a coffin-shaped magic tool for an undead... Well, I guess its purpose was to hide it, but it was too obvious.

『Well, whatever. I'll just launch a preemptive strike for now』

I manipulated my steel thread body with skills to stretch it around the coffin. Then, I activated my Magic Steal Skill multiple times.

Since the undead lived by magic, they weakened when their magic was absorbed and then disappeared when their magic ran out.

I could feel the magic power in the vicinity begin to decrease rapidly. It would not only affect the coffin, but also the undead.

Well, what should I do next? It was an undead, so I wouldn't know until I checked it.

It was probably aware of the changes that were about to happen to it, but if it moved now, Fran and the others would find out about it.

The undead, who still thought it could take us by surprise, seemed hesitant to make a move here.

In the first place, he wouldn't even know if it was an attack by Fran and the others or not.

After about a dozen seconds, there was finally movement in the coffin. With a bang, the lid sprang up from the inside, followed by a corpse raising itself.

『A Wight King, huh!?』

It was the Wight King, a magical beast with the threat level of B. No doubt. It was the same as the one we fought in the Plains of the Demon Wolf. It was just as intimidating and had just as much magic power as that Wight King.

They looked very similar. The robes it wore were probably almost the same.

Wait, wasn't that strange? Even if they were the same kind of magic beast, it was unlikely that they could have the same equipment. Could it be that this Wight King belonged to the same group as those guys? In other words, they might have been working for the Raidos Kingdom.

「W-what the hell is this...! Thread...?」

It still hadn't grasped the situation. However, it soon realized that the threads all around him were sucking up his magic power.

Magic power began to gather in the palm of its hand. It was going to blow me up at once.

But I wouldn't let him.

『Ora-!』

「Nuoooh! T-This is, Purification...!?!」

I wrapped my thread body around the Wight King's body and activated the Purification spell. My skill level was still low, so it was not powerful enough to defeat an opponent of the Wight King's level, but I should be able to weaken it significantly.

The Wight King's cries can be heard from outside the door. What was more, it sounded as if it was in some kind of pain.

The guide seems to be confused.

『I'll leave the rest to you! Fran!』

「Nn!」

「Why, why did I——Guoooh!」

It was going to take us by surprise, but it was the one who got caught by surprise instead and was not able to respond to us in time.

It seemed that it had tried to respond to Fran's attack by kicking down the door and putting up a barrier. However, the activation was blocked by my Magic Steal and Purification Magic.

「Ghaa——!」

Being tied up with threads, it couldn't even twist its body and was left defenseless to Fran's attacks. Before Wight King could even use its signature necromancy, it was cut in half by Fran.

『All right, good job Fran』

「Nn...」

Even though she had killed the Wight King in the blink of an eye without causing any damage to those around her, Fran's face did not look happy.

(We didn't get it magic stones)

『Aah, now that I think of it, you're right』

This Wight King, just like the Wight King we defeated in the Plains of the Demon Wolf, didn't have any magic stones in its body. Could it be that the Wight Kings were a race that didn't even have a magic stone?

Well, we need to explain things first to Lovren, who looked stunned.

Chapter 596

Fran-san...?」

「Nn?」

Lovren was stunned by the sudden battle that took place in front of him. No, it was not a battle, but rather a one-sided fight.

『Fran, we need to explain it to him』

「There was an undead inside, so I defeated it」

「Undead?」

「Nn. And there's no Scarlet Waterweed medicine inside」

Hearing Fran's words, Lovren peeked inside the warehouse. In addition to the remnants of the undead and coffin that had been cut in half, he confirmed that there was indeed no medicine in the warehouse.

He then threw a glance at the guide.

「Did you know that there's an undead inside?」

Lovren and Fran asked the question at the same time, and the guide trembled.

「N-no! I had no idea there's something like that inside!」

『He's lying』

「Did you also know that there is no Scarlet Waterweed medicine in there?」

「I didn't know!」

『He's lying again』

I guess that meant that this guide knew what was happening to some extent.

「Lovren, this guy knows something」

「Hou?」

The guide shivered at Fran's words. I guess it was because he knew that his lie had been exposed. Then he blurted out the information he knew once we hurt him a little.

He was from this country, but it seemed that his deceased father was from the Raidos Kingdom. That country has been sending spies into hiding for a long time. This man's father must have been one of them.

However, since he was not a native of the Raidos Kingdom, his loyalty was low. He was answering all of our questions without lying.

「What does the Raidos Kingdom plan to do in the lake?」

「I-I don't know! I swear! It's just that the alchemist under the Eastern Duke is giving orders to the merchant association!」

「Eastern Duke?」

「Y-you don't know him?」

「You know him, Lovren?」

「Just the name. We don't have much information on Raidos, so I only know that he is one of the four Dukes in the Raidos Kingdom」

There were no diplomatic relations between the country, and no adventurers came from and went there. Therefore, even Lovren was not familiar with the Raidos Kingdom's domestic affairs.

According to the guide's explanation, the current situation in the Raidos Kingdom was quite chaotic. First of all, it seemed that the King had died in an accident and no one had taken over the throne.

And among the children of the deceased King, no one had been chosen to be the next King.

Several factions were trying to push their own candidates to take the throne, but they seemed to be in a deadlock. The King's oldest child was still 13 years old, and the fact that there was no better candidate who could take the crown seemed to further prolong the problem.

The main players behind the chaos in the Raidos Kingdom were the Four Great Dukes, who held positions and territories second only to the King.

In the past, Raidos Kingdom was just one of the many small nations that were scattered in the northern part of this continent. However, one day, a Supreme King with an overwhelmingly superior military talent took over the throne, and under his kingship, they conquered the surrounding nations and built the country that we know today.

At that time, four generals, who served as vassals of the Supreme King, played an active role in the war. The four armies, led by the Eastern, Western, Southern, and Northern generals, launched their invasions of the surrounding nations at breakneck speed, and the Raidos Kingdom expanded rapidly.

At the end of the war, each general was appointed as a Duke by bonding their family with the Royal Family through marriage.

However, it seems that the Dukes still had some sort of hierarchy within them. The most powerful was said to be the Northern Duke, followed by the Western Duke. The Eastern and Southern Dukes were said to be almost equal in rank.

The reason for that was due to their war records. The Northern General had skillfully manipulated a small number of troops to achieve his goal of completely conquering the northern part of the Zilberd Continent. As a result, the Northern Duke was highly regarded by the people and nobility.

The Western General is said to have almost conquered the western part of the continent in his hand but failed in the face of the Kingdom of Philias, who possessed a Divine Sword, the Diabolos. However, they were regarded as the most economically prosperous by their slave-trading practice, and the Western Duke was also said to be as strong as the Northern Duke.

On the other hand, the Eastern and Southern Dukes were said to have weakened in power. Although they were not going to fall, they were probably less than half as powerful as the Northern and Western Dukes.

That, too, was influenced by past battles. Weena Rhyn to the East and the Kranzel Kingdom to the south stood in the way and stopped the advance of both generals. Because of this, the two families had slightly smaller territories and less influence than the North and West.

Apparently, the two families were not happy with the current situation and continued to fight even after they were appointed as Dukes, and fell into a vicious cycle of continuous defeats that skyrocketed their war expenses that put pressure on their economy.

These days, they had stopped waging war head-on, but instead seemed to be working on various schemes under the surface.

It seemed that the Eastern Duke was the main culprit this time as well.

「But a lackey like me won't even know the details! I just heard Gregory-san mutter something like that!」

All the guide knew was that the Mesther Merchant Association was a front for the Raidos Kingdom, and its head was the Eastern Duke. Also, the alchemist who was sent by the Duke was currently giving them orders.

「Who is this alchemist?」

「I-I don't know... But I heard that he was frequenting the Scarlet Waterweed medicine-making atelier...」

After we got some information out of him, we punched the guide and knocked him out, and then tied his limbs and rolled him over.

「What would you do now?」

「What about you?」

「Capture the top brass. Urushi is keeping an eye on them, so it won't take long」

「Can I leave it to you then? I'll return to report to the guild and then head straight for the atelier」

「Okay」

Certainly, there would be less chance for them to escape if we split up. Lovren picked up the guide and headed straight for the Adventurer's Guild.

If the Raidos Kingdom was behind this, it meant that it was not a simple matter anymore.

『Let's capture Gregory』

「Nn!」

Chapter 597

Relying on Urushi's presence that we could feel from a distance, we made our way through the ship.

If we met any people from the merchants' association along the way, we would try to put them to sleep as gently as possible. This was because we didn't know if they were all from the Raidos Kingdom or just hired locals.

But if they turned out to be the enemy, we would just simply break their legs.

『Fran, he's around the corner』

「Nn」

Fran arrived at the corner of the ship's upper floors. They probably used the upper floors as offices and the lower floors as warehouses.

『Urushi』

(Woof)

When I called him, Urushi showed up from the shadow of a decorative plant.

『Is Gregory in this room?』

(Woof woof!)

『Fran, let's capture everyone in the room』

(Nn!)

『Urushi, keep an eye out for anyone who might try to escape from the ship. Don't hesitate to use violence to prevent them from escaping』

(Woof!)

Then, after we saw Urushi off, we stepped into the room in front of us.

The people inside finally noticed us when they heard the sound of the door being slashed open by Fran.

Gregory, who had been rummaging through his desk, turned his gaze towards us.

Then, a look of astonishment came over his face.

「H-how...!?」

「How come you're still here, did the undead not kill her!?」

「!!」

With those words, they must have realized that their attempt had been exposed.

「Jag! Vade! Kill her!」

Besides Gregory, there were other men in the room who looked like Adventurers.

They didn't seem to be strong, as they couldn't even detect Fran's presence outside the room before. Well, their abilities as warriors were just average, but their skills outside of combat, such as detection, seemed to be mediocre.

「Nuuuoh!」

However, it seemed that they were well trained. Without uttering a single unnecessary word, they attacked Fran.

I guess they had been trained to follow orders regardless of the opponent's background or age. Their level of coordination was not bad either.

If their opponent had been an E-ranked adventurer, it might have worked. But something like that wouldn't even work against Fran.

Fran's fist, which she swung like a flicker jab, struck them both in the jaw in rapid succession, reaping their consciousness in an instant.

Even though it was just a simple jab, they still received a hit from someone like Fran. Their jawbone would be shattered at the very least.

「Wha...! S-she took out two knights in instant!?!」

「I've defeated your undead, so there's no way I'm gonna had a hard time against these people」

Gregory was astonished for some reason, but Fran told him so while tilting her head.

Then Gregory's eyes, which had been wide open, widened even more. I didn't know human eyes could get that big.

「You've defeated it... you said!?!」

「Nn」

「Liar!!」

「That's a monster that can even destroy a small country, you know...!? It was a non-fighter, but no ordinary adventurer should be able to hurt it! That's why—...!」

「But I've defeated it」

Apparently, he thought that we had noticed the undead and went away without a fight. Well, knowing the strength of the Wight King, he probably could not help but think that.

Even at the sight of two men instantly defeated in front of his eyes, he didn't seem to believe that Fran was stronger than the Wight King.

But he seemed to understand that she wasn't an opponent he could beat anyway. There was a hint of anger and impatience in Gregory's eyes.

「Little girl... If you didn't get out of here now, we'll——」

He was probably thinking of scaring Fran to get out of this situation. However, as if to interrupt Gregory's words, Fran opened her mouth.

「We know that you are connected to the Raidos Kingdom」

「Ha, hahaha... What are you talking about? Where did you get that false information...?」

At this stage, he still tried to make an excuse, but it was of no use. There was no point in arguing with him here.

「Shii」

「Ghaa!」

Fran stepped in easily, keeping low, and drove a body blow into Gregory's stomach. Fran's fist went in deep enough to completely bury itself in Gregory's plump flesh.

「Ughaah!」

Gregory cowered in place, spitting out various things from his mouth.

He was plunging face-first into his vomit, but the pain in his abdomen must have been so unbearable that he didn't even notice it.

Even when he didn't have anything left to spit out, he was still holding his stomach and groaning on the floor.

Even so, Gregory looked up at us with a miserable expression on his face, as if he was feeling somewhat better after a dozen seconds. He seemed to have completely understood his position.

「I'm gonna have you talk about a lot of things」

「...Kuh」

After that, he was able to endure some of it, but again, for not being a fighter himself, Gregory did not have a high pain tolerance.

I guess he was prepared for a violent interrogation, but his resolve seemed to have been shattered when he was actually beaten.

It was quite rare to see people who looked so desperate when they were being healed.

「Ghaah... Talk...! I'll talk...! L-let me talk, I beg you!」

Ten minutes later, he was crying and begging for it himself.

Chapter 598

When we spoke to him, we found out that Gregory was a nobleman of the Raidos Kingdom. To my surprise, he was actually a Viscount.

However, he said that he had never lived like a nobleman since he entered the Belios Kingdom disguised as a merchant more than twenty years ago.

I thought it was amazing that he remained loyal to the Raidos Kingdom, but it seemed that his fear of being killed if he betrayed them was stronger than his loyalty.

In fact, some of his fellow spies had been killed for trying to betray their homeland.

Maybe there were even spies watching over other spies.

Besides, spies from the Raidos Kingdom were somewhat unique. Instead of always conducting operations against the other country, they usually worked earnestly so that they could move easily in case of emergencies.

He mentioned that a Knight named Saruth, who had infiltrated the Kingdom of Philias, also worked normally in peacetime to gain trust.

Gregory was the same, and it seemed that he was really a decent merchant, except for the fact that he sent information to the Raidos Kingdom once every few years.

Because of this, he had gained the trust of the people around the lake, and their scheme involving the Scarlet Waterweed medicine had been able to proceed smoothly.

Gregory and the others were under the command of the Eastern Duke, and they were helping the alchemists under his command with their plans.

「Who is this alchemist you're talking about?」

「Zelyse, a man who behaves like a child」

「Zelyse!? He's in this country?」

Fran's eyes widened. She never thought she'd hear his name here.

He was the crazy, psycho, good-looking alchemist, who had done several things to us in Barbra. Well, we did manage to thwart his plans as well, so I'd say it was even between us.

But still, is he on the Raidos Kingdom's side? Or did he originally belong to the Belios Kingdom? But he also said something like he was raised in the Kranzel Kingdom at that time...

「Is Zelyse a subordinate of Raidos Kingdom?」

「I-It would be more accurate to say that he was a subordinate of the Eastern Duke...」

「Even though he's being hunted elsewhere?」

「Criminal records in countries that are hostile to our country are irrelevant. Besides, in the Raidos Kingdom, where there is no Adventurer's Guild, the bounties issued by the Guild is meaningless...」

In other words, they would accept criminals from other countries as long as they were capable. On the contrary, it was even possible that they were actively accepting those who were wanted in the Kranzel Kingdom. Just like that saying went, "the enemy of my enemy is my friend".

『Could it be that that undead are under Zelyse's command?』

When Fran asked him about it, he said that it had nothing to do with Zelyse. He said that the undead was loaned by the Black Skeleton Army, an organization under the control of the Southern Duke.

To my surprise, it seemed that the Black Skeleton Army had created a technique to transform necromancers into undead while retaining their human consciousness.

「How is that even possible?」

「I-I don't know. But even that Wight King was still able to hold a decent conversation. Although his mind was greatly corrupted...」

It seemed that it was not possible to tell which class of undead a slave would turn into depending on the affinity of the person who became the base body, so the current method was to force a slave to turn into an undead after making them learn necromancy.

After they were turned into undead in this way, they were then controlled by higher-ranking necromancers and made to swear allegiance to the Raidos Kingdom.

The advantages of turning a human into an undead were strong reasoning and the ability to talk. The undead, who were usually too mentally deranged to carry out complex missions, could be transformed into fearsome and powerful soldiers by having human thoughts.

However, he said that those who became undead must sleep in a coffin during normal times because their bodies and minds would gradually deteriorate over time.

The coffin also had a powerful concealment effect, so powerful undead could be hidden inside their luggage and be transported. In some cases, it was even possible to carry them close to the heart of the enemy country without being detected.

The Wight King we had just defeated was said to be one of the few remaining top-level forces in the Black Skeleton Army. When we mentioned Weena Rhyn's name before, they must have seen us as a possible enemy. Well, we killed it instantly though.

However, the Scarlet Waterweed medicine was more important than the undead right now.

「What is your purpose? What are you going to do with the Scarlet Waterweed medicine?」

「Z-Zelyse hasn't told us his main goal! He just asked us to mass-produce the Scarlet Waterweed medicine!」

「Where are you sending that Scarlet Waterweed medicine?」

「N-nowhere...」

「Nn?」

『Huh?』

What does that mean? Aren't they trying to make Scarlet Waterweed medicine and use it for something?

However, Gregory told us that the Scarlet Waterweed medicine was still stored in large quantities in the ship's warehouses.

He said that all of them were left here except for those that were distributed for domestic use.

They assumed that it would eventually be transported somewhere else, but the situation had remained the same for over a year now.

(But why? Isn't their purpose is to get the Scarlet Waterweed medicine?)

『Well, I don't know about it either... Besides, I don't even understand the connection between the fact that these guys are from the Raidos Kingdom and are working under Zelyse's orders and the anomaly in the lake』

We thought that the anomaly was caused by something that the Mesther Merchant Association had done. In fact, we thought that the Scarlet Waterweed medicine had been misused in some way to cause the current anomaly.

But was that really the case?

「Did you know that there's been some kind of anomaly in the lake?」

「Y-yes」

「Are you guys the ones behind it?」

「T-that's outrageous! There's no way we could do something that big!」

『For real? But this guy seems to be serious』

Was it just that Gregory didn't know about it? Or did they really have nothing to do with it?

『Fran, It seems we need to get Zelyse to talk, even if we have to force him to』

(Nn)

Fran then asked Gregory where Zelyse was.

「T-the atelier! He should be in the Scarlet Waterweed medicine making atelier!」

Chapter 599

We got Zelyse's whereabouts out of him. Apparently, he was in the atelier where the Scarlet Waterweed medicine was made.

(Should we head to where Lovren is going?)

Could he have possibly run away from this? It wasn't like I was making a fool of Lovren, but I didn't think he could handle Zelyse.

If they found out that we were suspicious of their atelier, Zelyse might try to flee immediately.

But we couldn't leave this ship unattended either. We hadn't been able to capture all of their top brass, such as the head of the merchant association.

As I was wondering, I then heard Urushi's howl from outside. And at the same time, I could sense that multiple presences were coming towards this ship.

『It looks like the Adventurers have arrived』

There was no hint of tension in Urushi's voice. So, they were probably not enemies.

As soon as we stepped out onto the deck, we saw a group of Adventurers coming towards us in a small boat. Some of them looked familiar to me. They were Daghour and some C-ranked Adventurers that we fought during the mock battle.

「Black Lightning Princess-dono! It's been a while! I'm glad to see you are well!」

「Nn. Likewise」

「Hahaha. Well then, we've been asked by Lovren-dono to assist you to take over this ship, but what's the current situation?」

She then explained to Daghour, the leader of the group, that Gregory, who was tied up and lying next to her, had told her everything, and that this merchant association was a front for the Raidos Kingdom.

「I had heard about it from Lovren-dono, so it was actually true, huh...?」

「Can I leave the rest to you then?」

「Yes, you can leave it to us. But Black Lightning Princess-dono, what are you gonna do now?」

「I'll head to the atelier」

「I see」

「No one has escaped since we went in. But I don't know if they could have teleported or not」

As she said, it would not be surprising if their top brass had some kind of teleportation device to help them escape. However, they should not be able to travel very long distances.

In fact, it would be just far enough to escape from the ship. It would have been impossible for Urushi and I to not notice if someone had teleported that close to us.

However, there was a possibility that they had a magic tool that we did not know about, and there was also a possibility that the president of the merchant association was actually a Space-Time Magic-User himself. In that case, there was honestly nothing we could do.

「For now, we need to capture everyone on this ship」

「Understood」

With this handled, we could finally head for the atelier. We just didn't know exactly where it was, so we would need a guide. It would be much easier if we could just see it from here.

But just as I was thinking that——

Boooom!!

「Uh!」

「Woof!」

「Wha!」

Fran and Urushi were surprised at the sudden explosion. I was so surprised that I couldn't help but let out a yelp.

When I looked in the direction where the sound came from, I immediately knew the cause.

A huge pillar of fire was erupting into the sky from a small ship that was part of the Commercial Fleet. There must have been something that exploded.

What happened?

Was there an accident? Or was it attacked by a magic beast?

The ship that was still engulfed in flames was similar to an oil tanker that I had seen on the news. Well, this one is smaller in scale though.

But still, with that sort of fire, the surrounding ships might be in danger of catching fire, and it would be difficult to save them.

『I wonder what ship that is?』

The ships of the Commercial Fleet had a wide variety of functions and ownerships. Some were used for residency, fishing, offices, workshops, and even the Guild Headquarters. That's why it was hard for outsiders like us to identify them at first glance.

「Daghour. That ship, what ship is that?」

「T-that is the atelier that Black Lightning Princess-dono said she was heading for!」

Eh? That ship?

『Is Lovren and the others safe?』

(Master, is this Zelyse doing?)

『I don't know!』

But still, that possibility was very high.

『Let's head for that ship for now!』

「Nn! Urushi!」

「Woof!」

Fran jumped on Urushi's back and headed towards the burning ship. Since it was an atelier, it was probably filled with flammable chemicals, and from time to time explosions of various sizes occurred.

Moreover, it seemed that a hole had appeared in the hull and the ship was sinking at a considerable pace. This could be quite a catastrophe.

This didn't seem like something that could be handled by just pouring water on it with magic.

『Oi oi, what's going to happen to Lovren and the others...』

「Master! Over there!」

At where Fran pointed, I could see Lovren floating in the lake, holding on to a board.

「Lovren!」

「Aah, Fran-san...」

Maybe it was because he had already seen Urushi many times before, Lovren didn't seem to be frightened by his giant wolf appearance. Or maybe he just couldn't afford to be, though.

I then used my telekinesis to pull Lovren up onto Urushi's back.

「Are you okay?」

「I somehow made it out of there... But the Adventurers who went into the atelier with me are...」

Fran asked the tragic-looking Lovren about the cause of the explosion.

「The alchemist in the atelier suddenly unleashed powerful Fire Magic. Then his magic ignited the medicine inside the ship」

「Do you know who that alchemist was?」

「He must have been caught in the explosion... I don't think he could survive from something like that」

According to Lovren, he was a young man with blond hair and blue eyes, however, he spoke just like a child.

「But he's not just an ordinary alchemist. He's more like a terrifying opponent... Just looking at him gave me goosebumps」

No doubt about it, he must be Zelyse. With his sharp intuition, Lovren must have sensed that he wasn't just an ordinary person.

『Fran, we must prioritize on rescuing those in danger for now』

「Nn!」

Chapter 600

Urushi and Fran split up to rescue the people floating on the lake.

「Are you okay?」

「I-I'm saved...」

「Woof?」

「Hiiii!」

The ones we rescued were not only the Adventurers who stepped onto the ship with Lovren, but also ordinary people who worked on that ship.

The Adventurers were generally grateful to us, but those who weren't screamed when they saw Urushi approaching them. They probably thought that they were going to be attacked by the giant wolf.

Urushi was using his mouth at first to pull them up after all... A normal person would find it hard not to be frightened at the sight of his giant body and dreadful looks.

『That's why so don't be so upset』

「Woof...」

Later, the Adventurers who could walk on water like Lovren joined in the rescue, and we were able to rescue quite a lot of people.

But still, not everyone was safe. We also recovered a lot of dead bodies floating on the lake.

「...Zelyse...!」

『Where the hell did that bastard go!?!』

「Grrrr!」

At the sight of the wreckage, Fran muttered in anger. The same went for Urushi and me.

Zelyse must have had some kind of teleportation ability, but I didn't think that he had gone very far yet. Could we just find him with Urushi's nose? Or maybe, the current us now could detect his presence with our skills.

『Zelyse should still around here somewhere——』

Boooooom!

『W-what!?!』

「Another explosion!?!」

「Woof!」

As we were thinking of ways to find Zelyse, we heard a loud explosion again. We hurried to check it and saw a pillar of fire coming from a different ship than this one.

We knew right away what ship that was. That was where we were just a moment ago.

『That's the Mesther Merchant Association's ship...!』

Just like the ship that had been set on fire by Zelyse, the Mesther Merchant Association ship was also engulfed in flames and smoke and was slowly sinking.

The fire was spreading incredibly fast. It seemed that the ship had been modified in some way to destroy the evidence.

「Let's go!」

『Yeah!』

We once again went to the rescue. However, we were only able to rescue the Adventurers.

Many of the people from the merchant association must have been tied up and could not escape the fire. Even if they had successfully jumped into the lake, some of them would have drowned because of their tied hands and feet.

But things didn't end there.

Crack!

There was another loud sound again.

However, the sound this time was not caused by an explosion.

Rather than an explosion, it sounded more like a fracturing sound, as if something was creaking and breaking.

Crack! Boom!

And I could hear it happening over and over again.

『Fran!』

「Nn!」

We ascended and looked in the direction where the sound came from.

『This is... quite bad, isn't it...』

『Yeah! Urushi, hurry up!』

「Woof!」

It seemed that our detection skills had not gone crazy.

『Why are there so many Modoki coming here...!?』

「Did Zelyse summon them?」

To our surprise, several ships in the Commercial Fleet had been attacked by the Modoki. Some of the ships were already surrounded and had large holes pierced in their hulls.

Many Adventurers must have been sent to the Mesther Merchant Association and the atelier ship, so the security around the Commercial Fleet was quite weak right now.

And then, because of the sheer number of Modoki, they couldn't deal with them in time.

Was this a coincidence?

The Modoki were suspected to be after the Scarlet Waterweed medicine. And when the atelier ship and the merchant association ship exploded, a large amount of Scarlet Waterweed medicine must have been spilled into the lake.

Moreover, the loud noise and the conspicuous pillar of flame were still happening around here.

That must be the reason why Modoki was attracted here.

We didn't know exactly how many there were, but there must have been more than 30 of them around the fleet. And more of them were likely to be coming here.

『Anyway, let's hunt the Modoki!』

「Nn!」

『Fran, Urushi, don't use any flashy magic, okay? We'll kill them in close combat so as not to cause any damage to the fleet!』

「Just like before. Don't worry」

「Woof!」

『All right! Let's go!』

We split up into two groups and took the nearest Modoki down first.

I actually thought about splitting into three groups. If I fought underwater, it would be unlikely that I would be exposed as a sword that could move on my own.

But I decided not to do that.

There was a chance that Zelyse might still be in the vicinity. And I didn't want to leave Fran alone in such a situation.

I think it was unlikely that the current Fran could be easily defeated. However, something was unsettling about Zelyse that could not be measured by strength or status. I was afraid of what he might do.

「Master?」

『Aah, sorry. I was just a little worried about Zelyse's whereabouts. Anyway, we'll have to deal with the Modoki first』

「Nn!」

Chapter 601

There were a lot of them, but we didn't have much difficulty dealing with the Modoki.

It took a lot of effort to hit them because we couldn't do anything too flashy, but we rarely took any damage. Even if we did, it was only a slight scratch.

Well, we could perform surprise attacks on the Modoki that were attacking ships, and we were much stronger than them to begin with. That was why we wouldn't have much difficulty dealing with them.

But we wouldn't let our guard down.

(Master, someone is watching us)

『Yeah, I could feel it on me too. But I don't know from where it is coming——』

(I don't know too)

We could clearly feel that someone was watching us.

It was not coming from the people of the Commercial Fleet that were watching in amazement at the mysterious girl who one-sidedly defeated the Modoki.

It was a much more persistent and disturbing gaze. It was as if they were observing an interesting subject for an experiment. Or as if they were planning to kidnap a young girl they spotted on the street. It was quite unpleasant.

I was eager to find out where they were and beat the shit out of them right away.

And it was not just us they were watching. Apparently, they were observing the entire battlefield.

I wonder who they were? We would find out when we caught them, but we didn't even know where they were.

It was either they were too far away from us, or they had advanced stealth abilities.

But that was just what I and Fran felt.

(Woof woof!)

After evolving into a Ragnarok Wolf, Urushi's keen sense seemed to have caught the owner of the gaze for sure. As expected of Urushi.

『Urushi, keep tracking their whereabouts』

(Woof!)

The first thing we needed to do was to get rid of the Modoki. The other Adventurers had started to join the fight, but we still didn't have enough strength to handle all of them. If we left now, the fleet would surely suffer a great deal of damage.

『Our next strongest forces are Lovren and——Sierra, huh?』

(Nn. That sword is amazing)

『Yeah...』

To Fran's surprise, the jet-black sword wielded by Sierra was a much more powerful magic sword than she had imagined. Although she couldn't appraise it due to its Evil Spirit, there was no doubt that it was a high-ranking magic sword.

It was not simply about its attack power. I could see that it was clearly raising Sierra's strength. Moreover, the strengthening rate was quite great.

But still, the movements of the D-ranked Sierra were nowhere as good as Lovren's.

However, the sight of him holding a jet-black sword and running across the water at high speed, slashing through the modoki one after another, was unlike that of a D-ranked Adventurer.

But for some reason, I could sense something akin to impatience from Sierra. It seemed to be different from either caution or anger towards the Modoki.

I wondered if it was his determination in the face of such a powerful opponent that made him think that way, but with Sierra's ability, he would be able to fight even a pack of Modoki without a problem. It was strange that he seemed to be so tense.

So then why did he seem that tense?

As I observed Sierra taking down the Modoki, he seemed to be looking for something.

Apparently, he seemed to be looking for the same person who was observing the battlefield just like us.

『Well, we'll be the one to find that person first!』

「Woof!」

I was so proud of our win, but it was entirely thanks to Urushi.

『All right, we've defeated most of the Modoki, I'll leave finding that guy to you, Urushi!』

Once we were sure that there were no more Modoki in the fleet's vicinity, we made our move without a moment's delay. We didn't want to let them get away.

『Let's get to the owner of that gaze before they escape!』

(Woof!)

Our strategy this time is quite simple.

Urushi would use his shadow transfer to surprise the hiding opponent, and then we would follow Urushi's signal and teleport there. That was it.

The only problem was if the opponent is too far away to be reached by our teleportation——

「Wooooof!」

It apparently wasn't a problem. Urushi then dove into the shadows on the spot.

And in the next moment, Urushi's presence appeared a few dozen meters behind the fleet.

『How should I put it, aren't they quite close!?!』

「Nn」

This meant that they must have been highly skilled in their stealth abilities, and the fact that they could deceive Fran and I when we were only 200 meters away was quite impressive.

「Nn!」

I teleported with Fran, who was ready for battle, to where Urushi was. Of course, we'd made sure to leave no trace of our presence. It would be pointless for us to take them by surprise if they discovered us right after we teleported.

We teleported slightly above Urushi, and below us, Urushi and a man were facing each other.

Black tentacle-like things were wriggling around Urushi and the man standing on the water's surface. It was probably a binding spell that Urushi had unleashed. But it seemed to be blocked by the barrier that the man had set up.

『Zelyse!』

The blond-haired, blue-eyed man looked familiar. He was the psycho handsome guy, Zelyse. I had a hunch, but as I thought, it was this guy who was watching over us before.

「Master!」

『Okay!』

Fran quickly readied me. In response to her words, I transformed myself into my katana form. It had been a while since I'd felt this way. It may have been the first time in a long time that we'd been able to communicate so well as a team.

A sword and its wielder. I was Fran's guardian, but I was also her sword. Therefore, it was inevitable that the place where we could understand each other best was in battle.

「Nn」

『Yeah』

I understood. I understood what Fran was telling me.

She readied her Sheaths of Wind and aimed it to slash at Zelyse. Without using teleport, she added the power of falling to her slash. The reason why she used the Wind Attribute was to hide our presence. And of course, she also activated a variety of other skills at the same time in this attack.

Fran narrowed her eyes in satisfaction and smiled slightly as she saw that I had activated the skill just as she had wanted.

『Here we go, Fran!』

「Nn!」

Chapter 602

When Zelyse was being held back by Urushi, Fran, who had made herself unnoticeable, launched a surprise attack.

「——!」

Fran was silently descending from the sky to the lake surface. The natural signs of sound, air movement, and body heat were being completely eliminated by her skills. Even her own shadow on the lake surface had been erased by magic.

By the time Zelyse noticed Fran falling from the sky, the distance between them had already shrunk to only a few meters.

「Uwaaa!」

「Shii!」

Fran swung me down at Zelyse, who was making a dumb face.

I could not sense any martial arts capabilities from Zelyse. He may have possessed the skill, but he didn't seem to be a master. The only unusual thing was that Zelyse had noticed Fran's surprise attack before he was cut down.

As I thought, he was no ordinary opponent. With that in mind, I activated multiple attribute swords at the same time.

『Eat this!』

And then my blade slashed through Zelyse's body. It was not that I had sliced through him so easily that he couldn't even resist. But I didn't even feel a slicing sensation at all. It was as if I had cut through an illusion, and my blade went right through his body.

The slash that Fran unleashed slipped through Zelyse's body, only to cut deep into the water at his feet.

Just a moment before Fran sliced Zelyse, I could clearly feel his presence at that spot.

But it has changed now. Even though I could see him, I couldn't even feel any presence or magic coming from his body.

He looked exactly like when we used Dimension Shift, but he didn't seem to have used any Space-time Magic.

I have no idea of what he has done.

However, Fran and I were not that surprised by it. We were not that surprised, because we had thought, somewhere deep inside our minds, that this guy might dodge.

That was why we could still move on to our next action without getting freaked out.

「Haaa!」

『Orraa!』

Fran unleashed a series of slashes without pause. And at the same time, I continued to shoot Lightning, Fire, and Storm Magic at him.

I didn't know what kind of permeability power Zelyse was using, but if it was a Dimension Shift kind of power, it shouldn't last that long.

If that was the case, we would just have to keep attacking until that ability wore off. That was our strategy to handle this situation.

「Oya! Isn't it Fran-san!? Long time no see!」

「Even at a time like this...!」

『Does he think he can afford to be so relaxed!?』

「Don't make such a scary face~」

Zelyse flashed a carefree smile without a hint of hostility at her. Seeing that, Fran increased her speed even more, but Zelyse's permeability power did not seem to be disrupted at all.

No matter how many times Fran's sword struck that smug face of his with powerful telekinesis, he just stood there smiling and laughing.

『Then how about this!』

「Ahahaha! I'm so surprised you can even use the Space-time Magic with no chanting!」

I unleashed my Space-time Magic, the Dimensional Sword. It was a technique that ignored the opponent's defenses and dealt damage, but it was also effective against Dimension Shifts.

However, Zelyse's annoying smile remained on his face.

『Tsk!』

My Dimension Sword had been repelled! It appeared that he had prepared all countermeasures against it. However, the fact that he had prepared a countermeasure for it meant that attacks with the Space-time attribute were effective.

『Urushi!』

「Grrrr!」

「Uwaah! Even this wolf!?」

Urushi used his Dimensional Fang skill. It had the same Space-time attribute as my Dimension Sword, but it was far more powerful.

Perhaps what he was using was not Space-time Magic, but a skill similar to Dimensional Magic, which is the superior version of Space-time Magic.

Seeing the approaching fangs, Zelyse created a barrier in front of him. The barrier, which was put up in the spur of the moment, couldn't have blocked Urushi's attack, but he hoped it could buy him a moment of time.

Zelyse's figure drowned into the water then appeared a few meters from where he had been standing. But the weird thing was, I couldn't detect if he had activated any magic at all.

I was constantly paying attention to our surroundings in order to anticipate if he was going to use teleportation. And yet, I was unable to detect any sign of him using teleportation at all.

Then was it possible that the Zelyse we were facing was just an illusion? No, if he was just an illusion then I should be able to feel the magic power of his illusion. However, I couldn't feel anything from this Zelyse at all.

Then, was that figure of his a mirage, a false image created by natural phenomena? I couldn't help but think that was the case...

But if that was the case, there was no way he could have a conversation with us.

Moreover, he could block my Space-time Magic and dodge Urushi's attack. So, it seemed, he must have erased his own entity in some way.

『...Fran, unleash your Space-time Magic at full force』

「Nn」

Even if the Space-time Magic was not very powerful, it could be strengthened by putting too much magic power into it.

『Urushi, focus on your attack. I need you to attack that guy without pause』

「Grrr!」

It was Zelyse we were facing, and he was always quick to escape. So even if this would use up all of our magic power, we must bring him down here!

「Fran-san, why did you even come to this place... Or have you perhaps been following me by any chance?」

「No. Rather than that, what are you doing here?」

「Ee~h? You want to know?」

「I know you've been working for a very important person from the Raidos Kingdom. So, what are you up to in this country?」

「Fufu~n, if you're that curious, I'll tell you about it then」

In response to Fran's question, Zelyse easily spoke up and started blabbering about his misdeeds. Yes, this was what kind of guy he was.

Well, I'm grateful for that because it allows me to ready my skills and understand his circumstances.

「It wasn't the Scarlet Waterweed medicine we were after!」

「Nn?」

They were not aiming at the Scarlet Waterweed medicine? But why have they been hoarding so much of it?

「You're wondering why, aren't you?」

「Then, why have you gathered that much Scarlet Waterweed medicine in the first place?」

「We didn't really mean to gather that many, we just threw the unnecessary ones in the warehouse」

I didn't understand. Didn't they make the Scarlet Waterweed medicine and store it in the warehouse because they needed it?

「What we wanted was something that came out of the Scarlet Waterweed medicine's manufacturing process」

「Something that comes out of it?」

「Its waste liquid. Well, for me, that's the real deal, and the Scarlet Waterweed medicine is just like the real wastewater」

Chapter 603

「It's waste liquid. Well, for me, that's the real deal, and the Scarlet Waterweed medicine is just like the wastewater」

The endemic medicine in its pill form that was originally manufactured in this country was made entirely from Scarlet Waterweed.

First of all, the outer skin of the Scarlet Waterweed's stem had the effect of disrupting Space-Time Magic, dissipating the Space-Time Magic power accumulated in patients' bodies. And its stem had the effect of regulating Space-Time Magic inside the patients to cure their Space-Time Magic sickness.

However, it seemed that the Scarlet Waterweed medicine manufactured by Zelyse and the Mesther Merchant Association only used the part of the stem that had the effect of regulating Space-Time Magic.

As a result, there was a big difference between the two. It took longer for the pills to take effect. The potion was said to work right after they took them, but the pill took a few hours to actually start working.

Its potion form may sound superior, but there was a big reason why they had never manufactured it.

First, the pills were easier to produce, while the liquid form required complicated extraction, separation, and bottling, as well as expensive equipment. But the pills only needed to be boiled in a pot and dried. Well, the process of making them still required skills and some chemicals, but it was not difficult to produce them.

Moreover, the pills were easy to store, easy to carry, and inexpensive. They had no side effects and were better against endemic diseases.

Its perfection as medicine was already high. No one had ever bothered to produce the liquid medicine when the manufacturing method for it was already widespread.

It seemed that when the Mesther Merchant Association started selling the product, while many people were pleased, some were surprised to hear that they had been conducting such a useless experiment.

However, the Mesther Merchant Association still manufactured it. I thought for sure that the medicine itself was useful, but...

I never thought that the medicine itself was not important to them, but the waste liquid from its manufacturing process was actually what they were aiming for. If what Zelyse said was true, then the Scarlet Waterweed potion was just a byproduct for them.

「That thing, what would you use that for?」

「I actually have some business in the center of this lake, but you see, I can't get closer because of those troublesome guardians」

It seemed that even Zelyse could not break through the Vivian Guardian's defenses. But still, what business did he have in the center of the lake? Could it be that Zelyse's true purpose was the sealed great magic beast?

「So I was wondering if I could get rid of them somehow... I knew that they were magic creatures born with Water and Space-Time Magic. So, I thought that if I dumped a large amount of the extracted Scarlet Waterweed into the lake, they would disappear」

So that was their reason for aiming for the waste liquid!?

「I thought that even if they didn't disappear, it would at least weaken them, but... I never thought it would mutate them like that. Moreover, it seems that the abnormal Guardians were suffering from a magic disorder and turned violent. Ahahaha! Isn't it interesting!?!」

「Not at all」

「Well, there's also something else that's interesting. The abnormal Guardian is now seeking the Scarlet Waterweed potion. I think it's their instinct to try to get back to normal. Don't you think so?」

I see so that's the reason why many ships were attacked by the Modoki.

「But still, how did you manage to get to us? We've taken a great deal of care to make sure we didn't get found out, you know?」

「It was obvious」

「Hu~h?」

Fran replied to Zelyse's question with a triumphant look on her face, but it was Khanna who did the research, right, Fran? And I didn't think it was that easy.

「That's strange... Other people were sniffing around too, but none of them could even get to us... So, is there a traitor within our ranks...? Hmmm...」

It seemed that Khanna's information network was quite impressive. I thought that she was coming from a small merchant association, but it seemed, they were actually a large, cross-country merchant association.

「Rather than that, what's your real goal?」

「...Are you going to bring back the magic beast inside the lake and destroy this country?」

「Ahahaha! Too bad! Wrong guess! I'm not interested in that! That would be great if it could destroy the world. But if it could only destroy this country, it would only be talked about for hundreds of years at best, right? Ahahahaha, that's worthless for me!」

Zelyse said so and laughed with an innocent look on his face.

「You know the magic beast sealed in this lake is not normal, right? I've heard that it was a strange mixture of various things, so it might be useful for the ultimate magic beast I'm trying to create, right? Even I was shocked at my uncontrollable intellectual curiosity!」

After all this scheming, his goal was just to satisfy his curiosity? I still didn't quite understand this guy. It just reminded me that I couldn't let him go unchecked.

『Fran, you ready?』

(Nn)

『Urushi?』

(Woof!)

Alright, it seemed that Fran and Urushi were both ready. And of course, I myself have completed my magic and skills preparation.

『I'll make the first attack to create an opening. Then, you must attack him from the opening I make for you at once』

(Okay)

(Woof!)

I was about to unleash my magic, intending to land a hit on Zelyse's annoying handsome face.

But just before we made a move, I sensed a new presence behind us. It was a powerful presence that gave off a presence that I couldn't ignore. It was coming from the Commercial Fleet and heading towards us at tremendous speed.

It was a presence that I remembered.

When we looked in that direction, I saw a young boy with brown hair running across the water as if he were bouncing. It was Sierra.

I was wondering if he had come to help us...

「Zelyseee—!」

「Oya?」

Sierra's eyes were staring straight at Zelyse. From his fierce expression, it seemed that they had some sort of connection.

Sierra's gushing murderous intent towards Zelyse was very similar to Fran's when she attacked Zelos Reed.

The anger and hatred that was so strong that he could not control it must be what drove his body. He didn't even look at Fran, he was just staring at Zelyse with the eyes as if he was going to kill him.

But Zelyse's face twisted into a grin when she saw Sierra coming at him in a straight line.

「Could it be, he is... Woah, he has gotten big, hasn't he?」

As I thought, they seemed to know each other. But what kind of relationship did they have?

Chapter 604

It was not every day we could get a chance to take down Zelyse, so we would use Sierra as bait.

『We'll make our move as Sierra attacks!』

(Nn!)

(Woof!)

Just like before, the attacks we launched still slipped through Zelyse's body, but we used this as a cover to build up our strength. We would then use all of that power on Zelyse, who was still distracted by Sierra.

『You ready?』

(Nn)

Immediately after, Sierra jumped up at him with his jet-black sword raised above his head.

I didn't know what kind of attack Sierra was planning to launch, but I didn't sense any Space-Time Magic coming from it, so I didn't think he could damage Zelyse with it.

However, it was enough to keep Zelyse's eyes on him.

『Now!』

It was just before I was about to unleash my dimension sword, which I had put more than the limit of my magic power into...

「Evil Release!」

Sierra shouted those words. Then, an enormous surge of Evil Spirit began to fill the surrounding space.

「Eh?」

『Uoh?』

Zelyse and I both make a dumb sound at the same time.

The surge of evil that was released from Sierra's sword was so enormous. I knew that an Evil Spirit was sealed in Sierra's sword, but...

I never thought that it was this powerful!

The evil coming out of the sword Sierra held was so enormous that it wouldn't be possible if the Evil Spirit sealed inside his sword was not a super-powerful Evil Spirit.

(Master, what is that?)

『I don't know! But don't let your guard down, okay? That thing is already beyond the realm of what a mere adventurer could handle!』

「Nn」

『But still, this Evil Spirit is...』

I didn't think there was any kind of wavelength inherent to Evil Spirits, but I felt that I remembered something about it. This intimidating feeling... This was not the first time I had felt something similar to it.

『I wonder where I had felt this... Do you know, Fran?』

(Nn)

『Eh? You know?』

(It's similar to Zelos Reed's Evil Spirit)

I see. That may be true. Perhaps we unconsciously perceive Evil Spirits that were more powerful than a certain level as being similar to each other.

However, the current situation was not good. I would always feel an indescribable disgust every time an Evil Spirit was close to me.

Our minds were inevitably shaken slightly by the unexpected exposure to such a powerful Evil Spirit. If our minds wavered, the accuracy of our skills would also decrease.

『Fran, don't lose your focus!』

(Nn)

But it was actually just the beginning. In the next moment, we were exposed to even more psychological shock.

「O Reason, let there be chaos!」

As if in response to Sierra's shout as he jumped towards Zelyse, the jet-black evil sword emitted an evil light. No matter how I look at it, it was probably the kind of light that we shouldn't get caught into.

I've tried to put up a barrier as quickly as I could, but——

Booom!

We both fell into the lake by the big waves caused by his attack.

『Eh?』

「Huh?」

「Woof?」

Without any sign, Fran and Urushi's aerial jump suddenly stopped working.

And that was not all. The magic that I had prepared had also disappeared just before it was activated. It wasn't that the magic had been blown away, or that it had been blocked.

How should I put it, the skills themselves were disturbed and failed to activate... The Strengthening Magic and Detection Skills that I had activated were all canceled out.

In all likelihood, it was the black light from Sierra's sword that did it, huh?

I tried to use my telekinesis to pick up Fran and Urushi who had gotten all wet as soon as I could, but it was working fine.

It seemed that the skills I had activated or prepared for the moment I was exposed to the light earlier had been canceled out.

But it wasn't just us.

「Uwaah!」

Zelyse had also fallen into the lake. Moreover, I could clearly feel his presence now. It seemed that the mysterious skill he had been using had been canceled by Sierra.

A fearsome Evil Spirit and a mysterious ability that canceled skills in its vicinity. To tell the truth, we had underestimated him. It seemed that Sierra had powers that surpassed our imagination.

「Die! Zelyseee!」

「Kuh! That hurts, you know!」

「Tsk!」

Sierra, who was running in the sky, swung his sword down at Zelyse, who had been thrown out into the lake. His sword had definitely sliced through Zelyse's body. His spurting blood was proof of this.

Zelyse was slashed from his right shoulder to his lungs, and I saw him spit out a lot of blood from his mouth. However, Zelyse escaped from the water into the sky, moving as if he hadn't taken any damage.

Although he said it hurt, I didn't see a hint of pain on his face. However, I could tell that the life force that I could now feel from Zelyse had definitely decreased.

Although he had already used some potion to close his wound, it was obvious that Sierra had cornered Zelyse.

We could consider Sierra to be an ally to us, couldn't we? But because he had previously shot killing intent towards Fran, I did not doubt that Sierra might be harboring some sort of malicious intent towards Fran.

But he was just concentrating on Zelyse now...

『Fran, can you move?』

(Nn!)

It looks like their skills were already working properly. Both Fran and Urushi then went in with their aerial jump.

In the meantime, the battle had shifted from the surface of the lake to the sky, and the fierce battle between Sierra and Zelyse had just begun.

Sierra moved fast, but his swordsmanship was not that great. His status may be strengthened by his sword's ability, but his skills were probably still the same.

From the distance, we could see Sierra's evil sword and the beautiful sword made of crystal that Zelyse had taken from somewhere were fiercely clashing.

「Kuh! Zelyseee!」

「You're pretty fast, aren't you! But that's not fast enough to reach me!」

On the other hand, Zelyse's movement was quite unbelievable for someone like him. He was suddenly moving like a master. He definitely possessed the Sword Saint Skill. And it must be at a pretty high level.

No, maybe it was the effect of his magic stone weapon. He must have developed a technique that allowed him to use the skills contained in the magic stone for a short time. That was probably how he got his swordsmanship skills.

「Haaa! Dieee!」

「Ahahahah! Well, that's a tall order!」

Chapter 605

Zelyse smiled happily as he continued his fierce battle with Sierra.

Under normal circumstances, his smile would look like a fresh, handsome smile, but I couldn't help but feel a sinister feeling coming from it.

「Ahaha! Amazing! What an amazing sword!」

「...」

「Uwaah, I can't believe how much that little kid from that time has grown up like this!」

「Tsk! Bastard! There's no way the current you know the current me now!」

Sierra frowned at Zelyse's words. They seemed to know each other, didn't they? But Sierra denied it with strange words.

The current you? What did he mean by that? Was he saying that he should have forgotten about him by now?

I couldn't figure out the relationship between Sierra and Zelyse. Was it something like Zelyse experimenting on him and abandoning him a long time ago?

「Fufu~n. Do you really think so?」

「...Nonsense! Are you trying to confuse me?」

「No no no, I really know who you're, right, Romio-kun?」

「...My name, is Sierra!」

「Is that what you call yourselves now? But I know you guys pretty well, you know? Romio-kun and... Zelos Reed-san?」

「H-how did you...」

What did he mean? Romio? And moreover, Zelos Reed...? The boy's real name was Romio, and Zelos Reed was hiding somewhere? What the hell did that mean?

「Have you been... watching us!? That shouldn't be possible, but still...」

「Well, I wonder...?」

「...It does not matter. If I kill you, the culprit here, it will be all over!」

「You think you can kill me?」

「Sure I can!」

I guess it was time for us to join the fray. Although they were immersed inside their own world, our hatred towards Zelyse was the same.

We could ask him about their name and what happened with Zelyse later.

『Fran!』

(Nn!)

For some reason, Zelyse had not been using his permeability, and now was our chance. Was he wary of it being canceled out again by Sierra, or was it something that he couldn't use often?

Anyway, he was definitely tangible right now.

「Let's get serious!」

『Ou! We'll bring him down here!』

I didn't want to involve Sierra in this if possible. But I had some questions I wanted to ask him, and he was on our side, for now.

Therefore, we could not use a ranged attack or a large-scale attack that would involve him in it. If that was the case, then the only thing we could do was to put all our strength into this and strike Zelyse with all our might.

「Awakening——Brilliant Lightning Rush. Sword God Transformation!」

『Here we go!』

The characteristic devastating magic that covered my blade and the strange feeling of one's thoughts being strengthened enveloped Fran and me.

「Black Thunder Roll———!」

The strengthening of the Sword God Transformation was not limited to our swordsmanship alone. It also brought out the best of what we were capable of at that moment.

The power of the Black Heavenly Tiger that resided in Fran's body and the swordsmanship associated with the Gods. In addition, the skills I possessed.

When they were fused, it became a killing blow that no one could dodge. The speed of the Black Lightning, the best slash, and its refined stealth was packed into this one strike.

I was confident that this attack would work against the strong opponents we had struggled with in the past. Even against the Lich and Amanda, I was confident that we could defeat them as long as we could activate it.

After all, there was a good chance that we would be taken down before we could even use it.

Sierra was completely unable to react to the sudden appearance of Fran in her Black Lightning Roll. Neither his eyes nor consciousness was directed at Fran, who had appeared right next to him.

But on the other hand, Zelyse was able to react to this somehow.

He then sacrificed his left hand to catch Sierra's sword, while moving to block me with his drawn crystal sword. If his reflexes and swordsmanship weren't on par with ours, this move would have been impossible.

I had thought that he had acquired skills at the level of the Sword Saint Skills, but apparently, it was even higher. In addition, there was no doubt that he had acquired a skill similar to super-reactivity through his magic stone weapon.

He had used his extra skill, the Thief's Favor before. With that in mind, it was no surprise that he could use any skill he wanted.

However, Zelyse would not be able to prevent the slash we unleashed.

「Eh?」

Zelyse blinked in surprise at the strange phenomenon that had occurred before his eyes.

The moment I made contact, the sword in Zelyse's hand disappeared completely without a trace.

Immediately after that, with the feeling of my stomach being filled, magic power flowed into me.

Zelyse's sword, which looked like a crystal, was actually made of a magic stone. I recognized it as we approached, so we slashed at it.

A magic stone weapon that enabled the use of Magic Stone Skills for a certain period of time. A golem made of magic stone, a magic stone soldier. In addition, his research on implanting magic stones into humans, we could even say that Zelyse was an expert in magic stones.

The sword that Zelyse was using was made of a magic stone. It was probably a powerful magic sword that had some special abilities.

But in front of me, it was just a treat.

「W-wait...!」

It made me happy to see the look of genuine surprise on this Zelyse bastard's face!

「Haaa!」

「Ghiighaaah!」

Immediately after, my blade slammed into the defenseless Zelyse. I could definitely feel it slicing through his flesh. No doubt, this was his real body.

Moreover, the attack with the Divine Attribute seemed to have been unexpectedly effective. Zelyse, who hadn't changed his complexion when Sierra slashed him, screamed in disgust.

Perhaps the Divine Attribute, which was superior to all possible attributes, had an effect that nullified pain-dulling skills and the like.

「Even the Divine Attribute... That's not... fair...」

Chapter 606

「Even the Divine Attribute... That's not... fair...」

Like a crucified saint, Zelyse, with his hands stretched out to either side, spat out a large amount of blood and fell backward to the surface of the lake.

But I felt something was odd with my slash. I aimed my blade at his heart, but it collided with a hard object on its way from his left shoulder to his right side.

If I were an ordinary sword, I might get caught in his spine or ribs. But what we just unleashed was a killing blow from the current Fran...

Her slash should have been able to cut through not just bone, but even some hard metal like tofu. So, there must be something inside Zelyse that was strong enough to withstand our blow just now.

Actually, I remembered a similar feeling to this. It was during the incident in the Royal Capital of the Kranzel Kingdom.

It was the same feeling as when she slashed someone who had the pseudo fanatic sword stuck in him. However, there should be no way that Zelyse had a pseudo fanatic sword stuck in him——.

「...So, this is it, huh...」

With a slamming sound, Zelyse's body fell into the lake. The blood that flowed from his body then dyed the surface of the lake red.

And it wasn't just blood that was flowing out. It seemed as if even the life force within his body was dissolving and vanishing into the lake.

The light and fervor drained from Zelyse's eyes, and his presence faded rapidly.

「Aah... Goodbye——...」

Zelyse smiled at the last moment when his life force was entirely gone. Immediately afterward, his body swelled from within, swelling several times in an instant.

With that momentum, Zelyse's body spewed out a purple mist from within. No, it wasn't from inside the body. But Zelyse's body itself turned into a mist and dispersed.

Bushwooooohh!

『This is bad!』

My danger detection started to ring like crazy, but I didn't even need it to know that it was something that we should never get close to.

『He won't just simply die, isn't he!?』

Urushi and I hurriedly used teleport to get some distance. We were more than a hundred meters away, but my danger detection was still ringing. But I guess it couldn't be helped. We could see a waterfowl between us and the spot where Zelyse had fallen, thrashing and suffering to death.

『Let's hold it back with wind!』

I enclosed a large area with my Wind Magic and then narrowed the wind wall as if I were compressing it. It seems that I've managed to block out all the poisonous fog with my Wind Magic. At the very least, the purple mist was not in the visible range.

There's nothing we could do about the amount that had dissolved into the air and water, but since my crisis detection was hardly reacting anymore, it shouldn't be a problem.

In the end, I would just devour them all with my Poison Absorption Skills. Even if it was a skill like a vampire that turned his body into a poisonous mist, he shouldn't be able to revive once it was all been absorbed.

『Wait, was Sierra okay?』

『Ooh, so he's safe...』

Before I knew it, Sierra had also distanced himself from it, and he didn't seem to have been poisoned. It seemed that Zelyse's last attempt was in vain.

「...Did we win?」

「Woof?」

Fran and Urushi looked somewhat unconvinced. I too felt the same way.

『Is this the end?』

It seemed to be a suicide attack. An attack that assured him that he could pull off an eventual comeback even against a superior opponent.

But was it really this easy to win against him?

Our opponent was Zelyse, right? Differently from our fight with the Lich, he should have been a difficult opponent to fight against.

Honestly, deep down I knew that he might have been able to dodge even that attack.

And yet——.

But we definitely witnessed it. The moment when Zelyse lost his life force and died. That moment when Zelyse's face, body, and limbs crumbled and turned into that purple mist. And the moment when that mist was devoured by me.

Without a doubt, Zelyse had perished, and his body vanished.

Fran and Urushi seemed to feel the same way, and there was something other than joy on their faces. But there was no way he could have survived in that situation.

Even though we were not convinced, we had to admit that Zelyse was dead.

While we were standing still, Sierra came up to us.

「...Did you, killed Zelyse...?」

「Nn」

「I see... I was saved...」

I was slightly surprised when Sierra bowed to us. I hadn't expected him to thank us so frankly. I was expecting him to say something like, 「Don't do something you shouldn't have」 or 「That was my prey」.

I guess that was how much Sierra wanted to defeat Zelyse.

Sierra returned the jet-black sword, which still radiated a weak evil aura, to its sheath at his waist. Fran's eyes were then drawn to his sword.

「Hey, Is that sword... safe...?」

The tremendous evil that had just been emitted, and the ability to counteract skills. Even if it wasn't Fran, they'd probably be wondering about the same thing.

In response to Fran's not-so-specific question. Sierra nodded back.

「No problem. As long as I can handle it, no harm will come to me」

「Is that so?」

「Y-yeah」

Sierra looked surprised when Fran nodded easily at his words. He was probably expecting to be pursued further.

For Adventurers, it was bad manners to persistently ask about the origin or source of a weapon that someone else was using.

But the point about whether Sierra really could handle it or not could have been pushed further.

After all, the existence of a powerful sword that emitted a large amount of evil was a problem that could even cause a lot of damage if left unchecked.

However, Fran was satisfied without asking anything further into the matter. She seemed to have lost interest in it.

Well, Fran had me, and I was a hell of a sword. I have free will, I have fragments of the Evil God sealed inside of me, and there were many other secrets within me.

Compared to that, a little bit of an Evil Spirit was tolerable, I guess.

Fran then asked Sierra, who had a subtle look on his face.

「You know Zelyse?」

「Y-yeah... We have a bit of history...」

He apparently didn't try to brush it off by saying 「It's none of your business」 .

Chapter 607

It seemed that Sierra had known Zelyse for some time. However, given that he was surprised that we knew Zelyse, they probably weren't close to each other. At the very least, they must have seen each other many times before.

Maybe he was involved in some kind of a conspiracy with Zelyse, or maybe he suffered some kind of harm from him.

「I've been looking for him for a long time already... How did you find him?」

I wondered if Sierra had approved of her now that she had killed Zelyse. His old harsh attitude had softened and he even talked about himself. Well, it was just briefly though.

Sierra had been looking for Zelyse for years. He had information that he was working around this area, but he just couldn't find him.

Not only was he unable to find Zelyse, but he also failed to get any information on the Mesther Merchant Association, which had connections with him, and the Kingdom of Raidos behind it.

Still, he was sure that Zelyse was in this area, and he had been looking for him in this area for a long time.

But I still didn't think he was going to talk to us about what we were most concerned about.

Fran thought so, too, and questioned Sierra again.

「Why did Zelyse called Sierra with Romio?」

「Aah—...」

「Is Sierra Romio? That Romio?」

The fact that you kept it quiet without denying it was like saying you knew something about it, you know?

「I am——」

『Fran!』

「Tsk!」

It was just when Sierra was about to say something.

Magic Power began to swell in the water. Then, at the bottom of the deep water, I saw something moving at high speed.

It was clearly not a living thing. It had no life force, and I couldn't sense any signs of life from it. However, there was no doubt that it was covered by powerful Magic Power.

Moreover, the place where it appeared was directly under the place where Zelyse had sunk. We couldn't just ignore it.

Sierra——Romio? Well, I guess we could call him Sierra for now. Sierra also seemed to have noticed the mysterious moving object. He then put his hand on the evil sword at his waist again and followed Fran as she ran off.

The moving object seemed to be heading north in the water.

We were not at our full speed yet, but if Sierra didn't do his best and ran hard enough, Fran was going to leave him behind.

Sierra was in a desperate state. Compared to Fran, who still had some leeway, he seemed to already be at his full speed. In terms of physical ability and aerial jump skill, Fran probably had the upper hand. If she increased her speed any further, he might end up being left behind.

『I'll find out what it is first. Get me in the water』

「Nn!」

I was thrown by Fran and quickly approached the mysterious moving object. The depth of the lake was quite deep, and the water was muddy from the aftermath of the battle, so I couldn't see to the bottom.

But I could definitely feel some kind of presence breaking through the water and pushing forward. It was a little smaller than me, and elongated in shape.

『Hmm?』

I used my Light Magic to create multiple light sources. The strong light then illuminated the surroundings, and I succeeded in catching a clear image of it.

『A sword...!?』

It was a thin sword, the blade of which had snapped off from the middle.

Moreover, it looked familiar.

『Isn't it a pseudo fanatic sword!?』

The hardness that I felt when I slashed Zelyse a while ago. Could it be that it really was a pseudo fanatic sword?

However, if it was a pseudo fanatic sword, there was a possibility that it would work by itself. It was, after all, a kind of an intelligence weapon.

However, I never imagined that there would be a working pseudo-fanatic sword now that the main source, the Fanatics, had been destroyed. And it was also beyond my wildest imagination that it was in the hands of Zelyse.

No, was it really a pseudo fanatic sword? If that breakage was caused by my slash, then it was strange that my cannibalism hadn't been triggered.

What the hell was going on here then?

『I'll try to block its movement for the time being』

I tried to use telekinesis to capture the pseudo fanatic sword, which still thrust forward like a torpedo. But it was unsuccessful.

『Just now, it dodged my attack?』

I clearly witnessed it as it evaded my telekinesis.

After that, I tried several times to release telekinesis and Light Attack Magic, but all of them ended up in vain.

Its movements were somewhat just like a living thing.

It didn't seem to be a predetermined evasive action that was mechanically programmed. It was clearly the movement of something that had seen my attack and was thinking about how to move on the spot.

The sword was likely the same kind as me——an intelligence weapon.

Name: None

ATK: 442

MP: 4680

Durability: 1000

Magic Conductivity: B+

Skill:

Malice Detection, Subspace Navigation, Demon Knowledge, Exorcism, Stone Working, Stone Devourer, Masonry, Chant Reduction, Keen

Smelling, Keen Taste, Stealth, Dismantling, Recovery Magic, Dissection, Flame Resistance, Flame Magic. Martial Arts, Blacksmithing, Wind Magic, Detection Jamming, Appraisal Jamming———

That was all I'd been able to see. I couldn't seem to be able to see everything due to the effects of its Appraisal Jamming.

『That's crazy!』

My overall performance was better than it, but what was with all those skills? From the looks of it, it was probably still in possession of a large number of skills. I knew it, something was wrong with this sword!

『———』

『I'm not letting you go!』

The pseudo fanatic sword gained even more speed. Moreover, it was surfacing with a deafening boom.

Perhaps it chose to escape in the air, where it could gain more speed than in the water, where there was more resistance.

On the water, Fran and Urushi were now running at their full speed. And Sierra had already been left behind.

『Fran! Urushi! Don't let it get away!』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

Fran and Urushi reacted immediately to my instructions and started moving at once. Fran unleashed her Thunderbolt Magic, and Urushi unleashed his Dark Magic, trying to shoot it down.

Magic was heading to it from all directions.

But our attacks didn't hit it. It just simply passed through that sword.

『Isn't that... the same skill that Zelyse used!?』

Chapter 608

The Pseudo Fanatic Sword continued to flee at high speed while activating its permeability. It seemed that it had already decided to use this strange ability to slip past all of our attacks but always evaded our Space-Time Magic.

The main feature of this ability was of course the inability to be hit by attacks, but it had another annoying point.

It eliminated all the signs and such, so I couldn't tell the level of exhaustion on the other side.

If we knew how quickly its magic power was decreasing, we could understand when its current state would be lifted and how much of a burden it was for it.

However, because all of this information was blocked, it was impossible to predict how much longer that sword would be able to maintain its permeability.

If I had Divine Attributes, I would be able to break through that defense, but I was battered by the Sword God Transformation earlier. So, I wouldn't be able to use it for a while.

Then, Urushi would be the one to use teleport and attack it at once——

Booom! 「Kyain!」

(Whimpering dog sfx)

He had been hit with a painful counter by its Flame Magic. The moment he was about to bite it, an explosion of flame was generated in his mouth, and Urushi jumped back in panic.

It hadn't attacked us at all before, so I guess it didn't expect us to unleash such powerful magic.

And because I couldn't read that sword's flow of magic, I couldn't predict when it would release its magic.

But his attack was not wasted in vain.

At the moment of the attack, I could definitely feel the presence of that sword. But soon after, its presence disappeared again, so it seemed that it had to cancel that state of permeability when it attack.

「Woof!」

The fur around his mouth was slightly scorched, but it was not a serious injury for Urushi. It was just as bad as if a human had drunk hot soup without care.

He jumped back, not from the damage, but in surprise. I guess that was why Urushi looked a little embarrassed.

『But in that one moment, I was able to measure its magic power』

「How is it?」

『It only has about half of its magic power left』

Compared to the time just after it started moving at the bottom of the lake, its magic power had been reduced by half. After all, there was a price to pay for using that permeability ability.

「Let's keep going!」

『Ou!』

「Woof!」

『Urushi, It's good to get a little excited, but don't get carried away and make a mistake like that again, okay?』

「W-woof!」

We started attacking again, but the situation remained the same. The other side didn't seem to be attacking us anymore, and we were just chasing it.

(Master, there's something I want to try)

『Hou? What is it?』

It seemed that Fran had come up with something. If she had something that could overcome our current situation, we should try it.

However, there was something I needed to confirm.

『It's not dangerous, right?』

(...Maybe?)

It was so important, and yet, Fran answered while tilting her head.

『M-Maybe!? What on earth are you gonna do!?!』

(Don't worry. It's definitely not dangerous... Maybe)

『Like I'd said! If you keep adding “maybe” in your words, I'll just get even more uneasy!』

(It's gonna be okay. Besides, as long as I have Master, he'll definitely help me)

『Guh...』

It was hard for me to disagree when you say that!

『O-okay. But if I judge that it is too dangerous, I'll stop you by force』

(That's fine)

『All right. Go ahead and try it!』

「Nn! Brilliant Lightning Rush!」

Fran was once again clad in her Black Lightning. However, she did not immediately move to attack.

「Urushi」

「Woof!」

She called Urushi over and jumped on his back.

「Let's chase it」

「Woof」

Leaving the chase to Urushi, Fran closed her eyes and began to focus on her consciousness. She kneaded the magic power in her body and strengthened it.

「Fuuh...」

She went into a completely meditative state. What was she going to do if it attacked us in her current state? No, that was exactly what my part was. I have to live up to Fran's trust.

「Haah...」

The more Fran concentrated, the more magic power she managed to gather within her body.

She looked calm without the slightest irregularity from the outside. But deep within, the power that Fran had gathered was raging like crazy within her.

Fran's face contorted in distress. She must be struggling a lot just to suppress the power she had concentrated on herself.

I was about to call her, but I stopped myself from doing so. If I were to distract her here, Fran's life would be in danger. So, I had to trust and watch over her for now.

Then, after a long, long few minutes had passed.

「...Nn!」

Fran's eyes snapped open and then she released her power.

「Black Thunder Roll!」

Turning into a black thunder, Fran's figure disappeared from Urushi's back and instantly appeared in front of the Pseudo Fanatic Sword.

That sword could detect the activation of Space-Time Magic, but it couldn't react at all to Fran's Black Thunder Roll. That skill was just a high-speed movement skill after all.

The Black Thunder Roll was not a teleportation type of skill, but a movement skill with lightning speed, it was so fast that it even looked like a teleport. That was why reacting to it required the ability to physically detect it.

「Haaa!」

『T-that was...!』

It wasn't me that Fran swung at that sword. It was her unclasped left hand that she held high in the air.

But for anyone who could perceive magic power, that was not just a simple bare-handed attack. I could sense the dense magic power that was released in the shape of a sword that was being held in Fran's left hand.

Immediately after, that magic power transformed, and black lightning gushed out.

In Fran's hand, a sword formed of black lightning was created.

「Black Lightning God's Claw!」

It was the ultimate technique of the Black Heavenly Tiger, which could only be used when she used the potential release before. A black lightning sword, with Divine Attributes. It was a technique that even Fran, who was able to control the Black Lightning Roll, had trouble using.

Apparently, she succeeded in triggering it at the last minute——.

「Aah」

『Eh?』

It was at that moment that Fran was about to swing the sword of black lightning at the sword in front of her.

The sword of black lightning lost its shape and disappeared with a burst. It was fortunate that the impact on the surrounding area was surprisingly small. It seemed to be only a slight breeze and a light electric current.

「...It failed」

『I knew it would not work out that way!』

Chapter 609

Fran and Urushi start to run once again, chasing after the Pseudo Fanatic Sword that slipped past us.

Fran also seemed to be quite eager and fired off some ranged magic at it. The surface of the lake was swirling like a storm due to our attack. And if there were any ships around, they would have capsized.

We had already traveled a great distance. We must have gone very deep into the middle of the lake, which was about the size of a small country.

I wondered where in the world the Pseudo Fanatic Sword was going.

But it was just after I wondered about it.

『Fran! Stop!』

Fran reacted immediately to my voice and tried to perform a sudden stop. But she couldn't just stop instantly, and her heels skidded on the surface of the lake.

The water splashed violently like a fountain.

And despite getting herself drenched, Fran managed to come to a stop.

『Fran, let's get some more distance for now』

「Nn」

「Woof!」

『Urushi, welcome back』

Both Fran and Urushi must have already noticed. They followed my words and moved back about 30 meters from the spot.

『So this is the place, huh?』

My various detection skills are telling me not to go any further. I couldn't see anything on the surface of the water. However, there were signs of what seemed like countless magic beasts in the water.

「The Vivian Guardians」

『Yeah, no doubt』

This must be the Guardian's domain, where the Vivian Guardians would attack if anyone tried to enter.

I didn't sense any hostility. As I recalled, they would only block our way if we had accidentally entered the area. I guess we were still at that stage.

「But what about that sword? Moreover, will it be fine to pass through this area?」

『Hmmm... Maybe it's because that sword is an inorganic thing, or maybe it was because that sword doesn't have a presence... I'll give it a try』

「You sure?」

『Well, I'll run right away if it getting dangerous』

「Nn. Be careful」

「Woof」

『Ou!』

I moved slowly toward the area where I could sense the presence of the Vivian Guardian, with Fran and Urushi looking over me.

In normal circumstances, I was sure they'd let a single inorganic sword pass...

However, I soon realized that this attempt would fail.

After all, I could tell that the gazes of the surrounding Vivian Guardians were focused solely on me.

They must have noticed me.

Nevertheless, I broke into the Guardian's territory with a ray of hope.

Immediately after, a pure white magic beast with a form similar to a squid stood in front of me. Not just one, but five of these guardians used their bodies as walls to block my way.

『Hmm, so they won't let me pass, huh?』

I tried to block out as much magic as possible for now. It now seemed like I was nothing but a lump of metal, with almost no magic power.

But that didn't work. I took a detour, but the Vivian Guardian still came in front of me.

『Their detection ability shouldn't have been that good, though...』

Then how about this.

I activated my dimension shift and tried again. Although I was visible, I was just an inorganic thing and had no signs of life. Right now, I should be in a state similar to that Pseudo Fanatic Sword when it uses its permeability ability——.

『Go!』

As I'd thought, the Vivian Guardians did not move at all, it seemed that they couldn't react to an opponent in another space.

If I kept going forward like this——.

「Stop right there」

『Eh?』

「You've gone quite far, haven't you?」

『Rhyn?』

「Yeah」

It wasn't a Vivian Guardian who suddenly appeared in front of me. It was the familiar, odd-eyed girl.

As usual, I couldn't feel her presence, but I could see her figure.

「You shouldn't go any further than this yet」

『You know what that sword is, don't you? And what's up ahead?』

「...You have to stop Zelyse. At this rate, we won't be able to stop the tragedy」

『Tragedy!? H-hey, did you mean the tragedy that you told us before?』

Rhyn shook her head with a sad expression to my question.

「One of the tragedies has been avoided. But a new meddler is standing in your way」

『And this meddler, was Zelyse?』

「Yes. Because of him, the future I knew is beginning to change drastically. You may have avoided the tragedy that stemmed from you, but Zelyse will eventually cause a tragedy to happen」

『When you say tragedy... Can you tell me the specifics!』

「If the path has changed this much, I guess it can't be helped... There's a great magic beast sealed in this lake. You know that, right? But because of

Zelyse, the seal of that beast is very shaky right now」

『I knew it!』

「If the great magic beast is resurrected, this country won't be able to do anything for itself. Even Fran, who is nearby, will lose her life」

So that was the tragedy!? But after hearing it, a new question came to my mind.

『Why would my complete adaptation to my sword body lead to a tragedy? Is there any connection between me and the great magic beast's seal?』

「It's related, Romio, that child has the power of the Magnolia. With him, no matter what Zelyse does, the resurrection can be stopped. But that didn't happen before」

She had said it a few times already but Rhyn didn't answer that.

「With you becoming a sword, Fran is going to change a lot. She will become desperate and more aggressive. You, who should have been the one to stop her outbursts, had stopped saying anything」

That seemed to be a possible future. It was an undeniable fact that Fran adored me. What would happen if I became an emotionless sword? That would be terrible.

「As a result, Fran will fight and defeat Zelos Reed. They end up in a fierce battle that engulfs everyone around them. Romio, who lost his only protector, Zelos Reed, went out of control in his disappointment, and the seal on the great magic beast failed」

I see. If that had happened, the great magic beast would be resurrected and Fran would be affected.

So, it was a tragedy for us and those around us.

「Zelyse is up ahead. He has already reached the seal by taking advantage of the guardians' anomalies」

It was Zelyse who had caused the Vivian Guardians to go berserk by pouring a lot of waste liquid from the Scarlet Waterweed potion into the lake, but it seemed that he had already achieved his goal.

『If that's the case, shouldn't we——』

「No, don't. I won't stop you if you can definitely win against him. But when that guy is cornered, that guy won't hesitate to resurrect the great magic beast. And it seems, he already figured out how to do that」

It was indeed difficult to win against him for sure.

「That man is still playing around now. He's not even going to resurrect the great magic beast yet. There's still time」

『In the meantime, you want us to get ready to take him down?』

「I'll leave that to you. But we don't want any serious harm to come to any humans. We just want to prevent that from happening somehow」

『I'll do my best for Fran's sake』

「That's fine. You should cherish those you care about」

Rhyn smiled at the end and disappeared as if dissolving into the water. She was a spirit after all.

『Aah! I forgot to ask what she meant by “before” again!』

Did Sierra, who seemed to be deeply involved in this matter, know what that meant?

Chapter 610

After Rhyn suggested that I not go any further, I went back to Fran.

She said it should be fine for now as Zelyse was still playing around right now, but it also depended on his mood, which is the least stable thing in the world.

We should talk to Sierra and ask for Weena Rhyn's help as soon as possible

「So, you want me to talk to Sierra?」

『Yeah. In all likelihood, Sierra seems to know something』

If it hadn't been for that Pseudo Fanatic Sword earlier, we would have been able to get something out of him.

「A little more」

『It looks like we're getting closer』

We had traveled quite a distance, but we were making our way towards each other. At this rate, we should be able to meet up soon.

「Urushi, dash!」

「Woof!」

We were able to meet up with Sierra soon after. However, he seemed to be exhausted.

「Haah, haah... That, sword...?」

「It got away」

「I see...」

It must have been hard for Sierra to keep running on the water. Both his magic and physical strength seemed to be exhausted. But since he thought that sword must have something to do with Zelyse, he must have pushed himself to run.

I didn't think he would fall over any time soon, but he needed a break.

We decided to move to an island that we could see in the distance. The island was a rocky chunk about ten meters in diameter.

When he landed on it, Sierra felt weak and sat down involuntarily. Apparently, after weighing his fatigue against his pride, he had become relaxed enough to even show his ugly side in front of Fran.

We waited for a few minutes, and when Sierra had caught his breath enough, Fran opened her mouth.

「Tell me everything you know」

We didn't know where to start asking questions, so we decided to just let him tell us everything. I wanted to know who Sierra was, what he knew about Zelyse, and all sorts of things he knows.

After a few seconds of silence, Sierra suddenly opened his mouth.

「Do you think it's possible to cross through time?」

「Time?」

「Yeah」

「...Hmm?」

Fran pondered for a moment and tilted her head. I guess she didn't quite understand the meaning of his words.

「You in the present, under the influence of some force, suddenly travels to the past. Do you think that's possible?」

「That's impossible」

「Not unless you have a God's power or something」

「Yeah. But it was surprisingly possible. There are already three people who have experienced it after all」

I see! So that was what was going on!

Fran tilted her head, but after hearing Sierra's words, I understood what was going on to a certain extent.

When I thought of it as a time travel from the future to the past, then it made sense that there would be two Romio!

I briefly explained it to Fran.

「So you're Romio who's traveled through time?」

「Yes. I'm the present little Romio who get back eight years into the past and had grown older」

It seemed that it was not the adult Romio who crossed time but was the present Romio who got back as a young boy and grew up.

So, this must have been the meaning of the "before" that Rhyn mentioned to me. I explained this to Fran, but it was just simply unbelievable. It was just like a time slip, wasn't it?

「I see」

「You believe me?」

But Fran didn't seem to be surprised.

「You have the same eyes」

「Eyes?」

Now that she mentioned it, she said something like that before. She said that when Romio and Sierra glared at her, their eyes looked the same.

Sierra himself was not quite convinced. Well, it was because she said he had the same eyes after all. He then groaned and stroked his own eyes.

However, he decided to accept it, for the time being, thinking that it was okay since she believed him.

「Well, it doesn't matter as long as you believed me」

「Then what happened?」

「...It has already been 8 years ago for me, but you guys of now... have become a lot different from the people I had known, so the same thing that happened before might not happen anymore」

Sierra slowly told her what had happened to him before as if he was recalling it himself.

It happened eight years ago for them.

It seemed that Romio and Zelos Reed had escaped to this country at that time as well. However, the timeline had changed drastically between the current Romio and Zelos Reed and the one from the past.

This Romio from the past said that they were captured by Zelyse in this country before. I never thought that someone as strong as Zelos Reed could get caught.

「It was because he took me hostage...」

As a result, Zelos Reed was at the mercy of Zelyse and had become the subjects of various kinds of human experimentation.

「Experiments on human?」

「He was implanted with a magic stone, a Pseudo Fanatic Sword, and given a wide variety of drugs. I was so young at that time that all I could do was watch my uncle's physical form change」

Uncle, huh... It seemed that the relationship between Romio and Zelos Reed was good even in another timeline. So, he got caught and became an experiment subject, huh... But the Romio that was under the protection of the academy never said anything like that, didn't he?

「It was because we were the ones who led them into their current situation」

In their timeline, they ran away from the adventurers from the Belios Kingdom and Weena Rhyn but ended up being captured by Zelyse. But in this timeline, Sierra dared to leak the information about Romio and Zelos Reed's whereabouts to the Adventurer's Guild that led them to their current situation.

「We knew that Weena Rhyn wouldn't simply kill us before. If that was the case, it was far better than being played around by Zelyse」

Romio and Zelos Reed from another timeline then continued to be used by Zelyse for good. But it seemed that it was Romio alone that was protected by Weena Rhyn.

Zelyse, who was investigating the seal of the great magic beast, was detected by Weena Rhyn and his hideout was raided.

「That's when I learned about my bloodline and the power that lies in it. I also learned that I was bound with my uncle without his knowledge...」

However, a few days after Romeo was taken into care by Weena Rhyn, things suddenly changed. Zelyse appeared at the site of the seal, aiming to resurrect the great magic beast.

It was Weena Rhyn and her hired help, Fran, who worked to stop him.

Fran, who had been targeting Zelos Reed as her revenge, attacked him without listening to the warnings of those around her when she saw him. In the aftermath of that fierce battle, the Commercial Fleet was said to have been destroyed.

That was the same as what Rhyn had said to me before. I guess I had turned into a mere sword and there was no one to stop Fran. No, there was someone who could have stopped her.

「Weena Rhyn didn't stop me?」

「Even if it means she'd abandon the commercial fleet, she made a priority to keep my uncle out of her reach」

It seemed that while Fran was holding back Zelos Reed, Weena Rhyn tried to reseal the great magic beast, which had begun to resurrect. At the cost of Romio's life.

「Magnolia's power can be used to absorb the power of an evil person. Normally, it would go straight to the user's power, but Weena Rhyn decided to use it in a special way」

The power of the Sacrament of the Evil God was hidden in the blood of the Magnolia family. With this power, she absorbed the power of the Evil God's shards that were captured in the great magic beast and used the absorbed power to use a large-scale sealing technique.

In other words, it is a way to weaken the great magic beast and use its power to seal itself.

「I wouldn't have a problem if it was a matter of absorbing the evil power within something of a goblin size. But that time, the opponent was really bad. If she continued to absorb power from the Evil God's shards and then let them act as a channel for the sealing technique, the young Romio would not have been able to withstand it and would have died」

However, Weena Rhyn still didn't want to stop the process. No matter what the cost, she was going to seal the great magic beast.

「I can only understand her reason now too. So, I won't blame her」

Even though he had been sacrificed, Sierra's voice showed no sign of resentment. He seemed to have accepted that it was inevitable.

But there was someone who couldn't accept Romio's death. That was Zelos Reed. He tried to save Romio somehow, but when he showed an opening, he was cut down by Fran.

「To be honest, I don't remember what happened after that either. As soon as I decided to save my uncle somehow, my powers went out of control, and——」

He found himself lying alone in the woods.

After saying that much, Sierra then pulled out the sword at his waist.

「There was no one else there. Just this sword that had fallen beside me」

Chapter 611

Fran stared at Sierra's sword. The appraisal was still ineffective due to the Evil Spirit. However, she could sense the indescribable awesomeness of the sword.

「I don't know if you'd believe me, but...」

Sierra seemed a little hesitant to continue his sentence. I wonder why someone who had said that he had traveled through time would hesitate.

Sierra then stared at the sword for a few seconds and then fell silent. It was as if he was having a conversation with the sword.

Then, as if he had made up his mind, Sierra looked up and spoke seriously.

「This sword... contains the consciousness and power of Uncle Zelos Reed」

Does the sword contain the consciousness of Zelos Reed? That means that sword was——

「So it is an intelligence weapon?」

「Yeah」

「Hoo——」

It was hard to believe, but Sierra wasn't lying. It seemed it was really an intelligence weapon inhabited by Zelos Reed.

It was not like they were talking to each other even now, but I guess they were really talking to each other.

「Y-you're not surprised?」

「I'm surprised. Woah」

No one would know it unless they were me. Fran was really surprised. But she wasn't so much surprised as taken aback.

Originally, I thought it was a strange sword with many mysteries. To Fran, who was used to using an intelligence weapon, it was just a strange sword that had become a super strange sword.

「Zelos Reed is in that sword?」

「You believe that too?」

「Nn?」

From his point, he was not convinced that Fran would simply believe anything he said.

It was actually because of my Principal of Falsehood and Fran's wild intuition. But to anyone, she seemed like a strange girl who believed anything.

As Sierra looked at her, Fran raised a question.

「Can Zelos Reed talk to others?」

「Aah, no... He can't have a conversation with anyone but me. It was because we're talking with a skill called Synchronization, which allows me to communicate with my equipment」

「I see」

As Fran muttered this, the jet-black sword in Sierra's hand suddenly emitted a high-pitched squeak. It must have been a sign that it had a will of its own.

「Uncle is trying to say he's sorry」

「He's sorry?」

「...You have a grudge against Uncle Zelos Reed, don't you? I know that」

It seemed that the Zelos Reed from another timeline had changed, just like the Zelos Reed of this timeline.

Fran raised her eyebrows and frowned lightly, but she was no longer enraged. His appearance had changed completely, so she didn't really feel it.

Besides, Fran, who had already gotten over her anger, seemed to be confused when this Zelos Reed apologized to her now.

Sierra then bowed deeply on the spot.

「But can you wait just a little longer to take your revenge?」

「You're not gonna tell me to stop?」

「I know how you feel... But there are some things we just have to do. And until we do it, we have to stay alive」

「Revenge on Zelyse?」

「Yes. I've been through a lot in my previous timeline too. To me, you were unforgivable too」

I guess that must be the reason why he shot that killing intent at Fran before. Even though there were differences between then and now, it was the same Fran. She had driven Zelos Reed to the brink of death—or maybe she had killed him, considering that he had become a sword for some reason.

Such resentment toward Fran lingered in Sierra.

But it seemed to be small compared to the hatred he had for Zelyse. I was sure Zelos Reed also thought so.

「The reason why Uncle Zelos Reed is in this state must be because of his experiments on him. Besides, if he hadn't resurrected the great magic beast, we wouldn't have been involved in the first place」

A dark flame seemed to be lit in Sierra's eyes as he said so. His eyes resembled those of Fran, who had attacked Zelos Reed.

Maybe they were similar to each other. Even though they were young, they were caught up in a difficult fate, yet they were still strong and steadfast towards their goals. They were also the same in that they had acquired an intelligence weapon and used them as their partners.

「I'll deal with you when I've settled things with Zelyse. So, until then, you'll have to let me go. I beg you」

I now understood why Sierra told us their secret. Rather than have Fran distrust him and turn against him here, he would rather tell his secret and gain her trust.

Fran, who was staring down at Sierra as he continued to lower his head, nodded her head.

「...Nn. Okay」

「Thanks」

She didn't really have a direct grudge against Sierra.

So she then decided to ask Sierra a question that had been bothering us.

「I now understand that Zelos Reed has become a sword. But how? Did Zelyse do something to him?」

「Yeah. We don't know the specifics, but he said he was using a Pseudo Fanatic Sword to seal human consciousness into the sword」

「He can do that?」

「I'm sure he could... After all, here's the proof of it. It seems that a magic stone was implanted in his body and the magic stone in the Pseudo Fanatic Sword was used as a medium, but I don't know how it worked. In the first place, uncle was not a sword until we traveled through time」

「Is that so?」

「When I let my power get out of control and was swallowed by the light and sent back to this time, uncle somehow turned into a sword. And he looked completely different from the Pseudo Fanatic Sword. That's all I know」

So, he's saying it's just a coincidence that Zelos Reed became an Intelligence Weapon? If so, would it be difficult to mass-produce?

The worst I could imagine was that the Intelligence Weapon would be mass-produced by Zelyse and it would end up in the hands of the Raidos Kingdom.

But it seemed that we didn't have to worry about that.

As I was relieved, Fran opened her mouth again. It seemed that there was something that was bothering Fran too.

「Can I ask one more question?」

「If I can answer that」

「Earlier, you said three people had traveled through time, right? Sierra and Zelos Reed, but who's the other one?」

I'd been wondering about that too. I had a prediction in my head, but my rational mind refused to tell me the answer. Was there really the other one? Such a thing would only cause me a nightmare.

But what came out of Sierra's mouth were the worst possible names of all.

「It's Zelyse」

I knew it! I thought so too!

「We didn't know it until just now too, but that must have been Zelyse from that timeline. Or was it the current Zelyse, who had gotten information from the other one——?」

「It looks like you're talking about me. Hi hi~!」

Suddenly, Sierra's words were interrupted by a familiar voice.

「Hello, Romio and Fran. I was waiting for you to come after me, but you didn't come at all, so I came to you」

I turned my eyes in the direction of the voice and saw Zelyse standing there, holding a Pseudo Fanatic Sword with a chipped tip.

「It's me, Zelyse de~su!」

Chapter 612

It's me, Zelyse de~su!」

It was Zelyse who had just escaped. But when Fran saw her, she tilted her head.

(Is he really Zelyse?)

『No matter how you look at it, it is him, right?』

(...Something felt strange, is he Zelyse's younger brother?)

Fran seemed to feel something strange about the Zelyse in front of her. But before she could question him about it, Zelyse opened his mouth first.

「You seem to be interested in this sword, aren't you?」

What he held up was unmistakably that Pseudo Fanatic Sword. The blade of that sword was missing from the middle.

I was pretty sure that it was that Pseudo Fanatical Sword that we had chased before.

「What is that sword?」

「This sword is an Intelligence Weapon that we created. The name of this sword is——The Transcendence Invincible Strongest Sword——well, it's a bit long, so let's just call it the magic sword, Zelyse, shall we?」

The moment Zelyse said that the Pseudo Fanatic Sword's appearance changed. Like a piece of candy, the supposedly hard sword expanded, stretched, and deformed.

A few seconds later, Zelyse had a sword in his hand that did not resemble the Pseudo Fanatic Sword.

It had a poisonous-looking purple hilt and a huge knuckle guard. It was a short sword with a flashy fluorescent pink blade. No, maybe it was even shorter than that. The blade was thick and looked sturdy, but the base of the blade was thicker than the tip, it was basically something like main-gauche.

The blade, which had been broken, had been completely repaired in its transformation process.

What bad taste, that was all I had to say of it. However, it had a tremendous presence. It seemed that it wasn't just a change in appearance.

There were also changes in the information that was visible in my appraisal.

The part of the name that had been "None" was changed to Magic Sword, Zelyse. And the skills and other information became completely invisible.

Perhaps the naming process had raised the sword's status. It might be a phenomenon similar to how I named Urushi and evolved him.

「That sword, is an Intelligence Weapon?」

「That's right! It's the sword with a will, the one that sealed me in before!」

Could it be that he had created his own Intelligence Weapon? After all, he has been experimenting with various things using Zelos Reed as his test subject...

It was almost legendary if I do say so myself. It could even be considered rarer than the Divine Swords.

What was more, he said it sealed him in before?

「I don't get it」

「Fufun? Want to know?」

「Nn」

「Then I'll tell you!」

Zelyse exclaimed proudly. He really was an easy guy, wasn't he?

「You see, I've been researching the possibility of creating an Intelligence Weapon for a while now. Well, I couldn't figure out how to seal a soul into a specific vessel, so my interest shifted to the Chimera」

I was created by the Gods, so I've never really been aware of it, but I thought it was difficult to seal a soul, which was usually under the authority of the Gods.

「But I still collecting research materials and conducting simple experiments on it」

「Hmm」

「Then, I've made a lot of new discoveries over the past few years. Well, it's thanks to the data of Zelos Reed-san that was provided by me from that timeline though」

Zelyse then stared at the jet-black sword that Sierra was holding. “By me from that timeline”, So this was Zelyse from this timeline!

「Plus this Pseudo Fanatical Sword. This thing is really interesting. After all, it was capable of thinking for itself like an Intelligence Weapon, albeit a temporary one!」

Marquis Ashtner, who had acquired Fanatics, was connected to the Kingdom of Raidos behind the scenes. And Zelyse had taken refuge in the Kingdom of Raidos. It seemed that the information had been passed on to Zelyse through that channel.

But the Kingdom of Raidos also seemed to be in a state where the various forces are fighting each other, so I don't know how far Zelyse was cooperating with the Fanatics' plan.

However, they were probably related to each other to the extent that he had access to the research materials on Fanatics and the actual Pseudo Fanatic Sword.

「I've been doing a lot of research based on the data "I" remembered and the fact that Zelos Reed turned into an Intelligence Weapon since then」

It seemed that if someone lived with a Pseudo Fanatic Sword embedded in their body, not only did their body but also their soul would think that that state was normal. I guess it meant that the Pseudo Fanatic Sword had been mistakenly seen as part of their body.

When their body perished in that state, the soul that struggled to survive somehow seemed to get absorbed into the Pseudo Fanatic Sword.

「Of course, I had to implant the same type of magic stone on both sides to create a channel of passage, and there were many other prerequisites as well! Well, as a result of my hard work, I have succeeded in becoming an Intelligence Weapon in this way. Uwaah~. The me from that timeline is happy too. After all, it's not every day in history that a person becomes an Intelligence Weapon! And the only thing left to do was to transfer my soul to the sword, but after you guys killed 'that me', he decided to give it a shot, and I'm glad it turned out so well」

「Is that the same sword that 'that Zelyse' used to fight us with earlier?」

「Yup!」

It seems that 'that Zelyse' volunteered himself to become a sword. So, he used himself as a tool for his experimentation... What a mad fellow.

But now I knew why Fran felt so uncomfortable with this Zelyse. The previous Zelyse and this one were different in ages. Just as there was an eight-year age difference between Romio and Sierra.

However, in Zelyse's case, since he was a half-demon, it would hardly show in his appearance. Rather, it was just Fran who sensed even the slightest unusualness in him.

(...Nn?)

Fran tilted her head. She must have been confused by what he said before and what he said now.

『The Zelyse that Fran just defeated was the one from another timeline, and now he has become a Pseudo Fanatic Sword. And the one in front of us is Zelyse from this time. That's how it is』

「Oya? Did you believe me? I was going to give you a lot more evidence though... Fran-san, aren't you being too naive? You'll be deceived by bad people if you're like that, you know?」

「You're one to talk」

「Ahahahah! Well, you're right! But take a look! Cool, isn't it?」

Zelyse said so and raised the Pseudo Fanatic Sword——no, the Magic Sword, Zelyse, above his head. His face looked just like that of a child who found a cool branch.

「'That me' says hello again to you guys」

「I can't hear him」

「Oh, right. Sorry sorry. I didn't know you guys couldn't hear 'that me'」

Hmmm, with it not moving, I couldn't tell if the sword was really conscious or not. But seeing how it moved in the water and the air before, I'm pretty sure it was.

This guy had really created an Intelligence Weapon.

What was more, my fears were about to come true.

「Can Intelligence Weapons be mass-produced then?」

「I have a concept, but it's still a long way to go. I'm still relying on chance. Hmm? Ah sorry, sorry. That's right. You want to be active too, right?」

If we didn't know anything, he was just like a bad guy who suddenly started a conversation with someone we couldn't see. I would have to make sure that Fran was more careful in the future if we came across anyone like that.

「I think “that me” is getting bored, so I'm going to stop chatting for now and ask you to join me for a bit」

「Ahahahaha! It's just for my last little experiment!」

Chapter 613

A tremendous amount of magic power then erupted from the Magic Sword Zelyse, that Zelyse holds.

This magic power alone showed that he was an opponent to be reckoned with. But, of course, that was not all.

『Fran, the Magic Sword Zelyse must have quite a few skills. It must have all the skills that Zelyse had! Be careful!』

「Nn!」

The first thing we needed to watch out for would be the barrage of magic and skills. It was no exaggeration to say that this was a basic tactic for Fran and me.

The fact that the sword and the wielder could use the same skill meant that he could do something beyond that.

「Ahahah! Here I come!」

「Haa!」

「Haha! Great! You're good enough to fight with that sword!」

Every time the magic sword Zelyse and I struck each other, our durability value whittled down. Even so, he was not destroyed by a single blow but continued to recover by self-repair. As a result, Fran and Zelyse were constantly clashing with each other.

Furthermore, their magic barrage was still flying to us in this state.

「Muh」

『I'll block them. Fran, just focus on slashing!』

「Nn!」

I see now, facing a nasty enemy like this was really troublesome!

There was no sign that he was chanting, but suddenly, great magic was activated. It was as if he was not chanting at all.

Because of their stealth and concealment skills, it was also difficult for us to detect their magic flow. Even if we knew that the sword was going to release magic, we would still be caught off guard. But it was no surprise that we couldn't dodge the magic attacks of an opponent we fought for the first time.

Moreover, their attack intervals are strange. Immediately after releasing a skill or great magic, his body will inevitably stiffen and his movements would slow down. However, it could be ignored as Zelyse and the magic sword repeatedly attacked in turn.

It was something we did all the time, but when it was done to us, we now understood how absurd it was.

As soon as he threw an obvious big move, he would throw the exact same big move without pause. It would be a nightmare for the opponent who thought they had a chance and went into it.

What was more troublesome was his permeability skill. Zelyse's presence disappeared, and our attacks slipped through his body.

However, the way it was used was completely different from before. The on/off intervals must have been longer before.

Once he used this mysterious skill, he kept on using it for a while. And during that time, the other side didn't attack us either. Maybe they couldn't attack us while the skill was active.

But now it was different. They turned it on and off frequently and attacked hard.

It seemed that when he used the magic sword, Zelyse, he could now reduce some side effects of that skill.

「Come on! Come on!」

「Tsk!」

「Ahahah! You couldn't kill me, huh? Too bad!」

On the other side, we had Fran and the grown-up Romio—or Sierra, but we were lacking in offense.

We were simply too exhausted. I was still in tatters from the after-effects of the Sword God Transformation, and Fran had consumed a lot of her magic power too.

Against a tricky opponent like Zelyse, she couldn't be so careless as to use all of her remaining strength, and she ended up fighting by keeping an eye on his movements.

We were waiting to counter for the time when Zelyse's skill was in cooldown, but he seemed to know our aim too. He was able to offset its timing and all our three attempts failed.

Sierra also showed no attempt of using that mysterious ability that made his skills disappear. I wonder is he concerned about us?

「Hey, Romi—... Sierra?」

「Just call me Sierra」

「Sierra, why don't you use the power you just showed me before?」

「I can't use it yet」

That was what I had expected. It must have been an ability that couldn't be used successively. It seemed that it was either too exhausting or it came at a high cost.

It was such an ability. There was no way he could just use it multiple times.

Still, I had a strange feeling of discomfort as our fight with Zelyse continued.

So, this was what he meant, huh? He said it was just for a little experiment, but it didn't seem like Zelyse was really planning to attack us. Of course, his attacks were fierce and if we were not careful, we might get hit.

But was this the best he could do after using an intelligence weapon, the magic sword Zelyse?

That was what didn't make sense to me.

I thought that he was fighting lightly as a test run, but it seemed that this was not the case. Whenever we clashed, Zelyse repeatedly said and did provocative things, but now it seemed that he was even more conscious of provoking Fran and Sierra.

「Come on! Come on! Is that all you got! What a disappointment!」

「You can just run away, you know?」

「You still think you can kill me? Not a chance!」

「Why don't you guys just run while you still can? I'll even let you off scot-free if you just run away right now, you know?」

「Uwaah! That was a hell of an attack! As expected of you! But it's too bad——!」

The things he said about letting us run away were lies. I was starting to get it. It seemed that he wanted to provoke Fran and Sierra to keep them here.

In other words, his real purpose was to stop us. He didn't want us to go any further.

So, it would be better to go further than to deal with Zelyse here. I was sure it would all be over once we defeated Zelyse, but I didn't know if we would be able to finish him off with any certainty since we couldn't even use the Sword God Transformation right now.

(Then what should we do?)

『Ideally, I'd like to have Sierra stall Zelyse』

While he stalled Zelyse, we would go further with my dimension shift to check what was going on up ahead. Something terrible must be going on in there.

Fran approached Sierra and whispered to him.

「Can you stall him?」

「You want to do something?」

「Zelyse aims to stall us. So, I'm going to see what's going on up ahead」

「I see...」

「Then?」

「Okay, I'll use my trump card then」

Sierra said confidently.

In fact, we still didn't know the depth of Sierra and his magic sword, Zelos Reed. Since he was so confident, we might as well just leave this to him then.

「I need you to distract him for a second」

「Okay」

After a brief discussion, Fran then lunged toward Zelyse.

By making it look like she was aiming for an obvious counterattack, she made it harder for Zelyse to attack as he was forced to focus his attention on Fran. There, we struck him with a series of time-space magic and dimension sword attacks.

A dimension sword in an over boosted state, with an excess of magic power, poured into it, was quite powerful.

We released twelve shots. They attacked Zelyse from all directions.

Ideally, he would have deactivated the permeability and tried to prevent it with a barrier or something——.

But Zelyse stopped in place while still maintaining his permeability. He then swung his magic sword, Zelyse, to strike down the flying dimension swords one after another.

It seemed that he even had a space-time attribute.

But that was also within our expectations. Don't underestimate an intelligence weapon!

Our real target was his feet.

「Groouf!」

「Kuh! Don't tell me you were aiming for this!?!」

The Dimensional Fangs from Urushi's Shadow Transfer had swallowed both of Zelyse's legs.

To his surprise, Urushi attacked just as he was caught in a barrage of dimension swords. Urushi emerged from the shadows and was hit by several Dimensional Swords.

But Urushi was also prepared for this. Although he had deep cuts in several places, he had certainly caught Zelyse with his fangs.

There, Sierra plunged in at once, with his jet-black sword clothed with a tremendous evil spirit.

「Ooooooooo!」

The mass of evil energy released from Sierra's hand sprang like a snake and entangled itself in Zelyse's arm.

「Evil Binding, Black Chain!」

Well, it looked like a chain. Then, Zelyse suddenly lost his stance.

「Kuh! W-what is this...!?」

「It's an evil chain. How's that? Hard to keep your skills up, isn't it?」

It seemed that the chain made of Evil Spirit has similar properties to the one he used earlier to cancel out the surrounding skills. It didn't seem to cancel them out completely, but I guess it could last longer.

「Is this good enough?」

「Nn. I'll leave him to you」

「Eh? Where are you going, Fran-san? Are you running away from me!? I haven't seen you for a while, and you've become such a coward!」

「...Hmph」

「Ah! W-wait」

Seeing that Fran had ignored him and ran off to the center of the lake, Zelyse hurriedly tried to follow her. However, Sierra stood in front of him.

As long as there were evil chains, he couldn't ignore Sierra and come after her.

「Oi, Zelyse. Your opponent is me」

「Shiii—t...!!」

Chapter 614

With Zelyse's frustrated cries at their backs, Fran and Urushi ran through the lake.

『From this point forward, we'll use Dimension Shift to proceed』

「Nn」

『We don't have that much magic to spare, so we'll move quickly. And Urushi, follow me as I moved with your shadow transfer』

「Woof!」

I activate the Dimension Shift after feeling the Vivian Guardian's attention towards me.

Urushi was moving through the shadows of the rocks and other objects on the bottom of the lake, as he couldn't get together with us. But apparently, Urushi who was moving in the shadows was noticed by them.

The place where Urushi was hiding was then surrounded by the Guardians.

『Urushi! Get back!』

(Woof...)

If we forced the Guardian to follow him any further, they would get agitated and go out of control. So, we would have him wait here to intercept Zelyse.

Fran and I then made our way through the water without any problems. After a while, we caught a strange object in front of us.

「A pillar?」

As Fran said, it did look like a pillar.

A white column, about five meters in diameter, rose from the water to the sky. And it was not just one there.

『Let's take a look at it from above』

「Nn」

Looking down from above, we saw that there were twelve white pillars. They were evenly spaced in a circle. No matter how I looked at it, this must be the center of the lake.

『And I'm feeling some kind of magic power from it』

「It felt gross」

I felt a strange magical power coming from the center of the circle. It was not evil, but it was not normal magic power either. As Fran said, it was a weird and unpleasant magical power.

「Master, let's get closer」

『We don't have a choice』

I really wanted to act cautiously, but I didn't have much magic power left to spare. But we couldn't just leave it there, so we would check the source of this magic first.

Fran then plunged into the water with the momentum of her descent.

The water depth seemed to be quite shallow in this area. It was less than ten meters deep. And at the bottom of the lake, there seemed to be a mysterious structure.

At first glance, it looked like a temple. It was paved with the same white stone material as the stone pillars, and there was an altar-like structure in the center.

I think it was quite old, but it was still very clean for such an old thing. No moss, no debris, no dirt, just a pure white structure.

And in the center of the temple, there was a strange source of magic.

In this beautiful white temple, it was clearly a foreign and hideous-looking object. It seemed to be an artifact and was made up of a purple crystal.

「What is that thing?」

『That must be a magic stone weapon!』

Moreover, it seemed to be absorbing the magic power of its surroundings and pouring it into the temple. The creepiness we felt was probably the sickening feeling of having our magic power sucked out of us.

「You've gone so far, haven't you?」

「!! Rhyn!」

Suddenly, the spirit, Rhyn, appeared.

「This place is special. It's safe to cancel your Space-Time Magic now. The guardians won't be able to get into this place」

I followed Rhyn's words and canceled our Dimension Shift. There seemed to be no sign of the Vivian Guardians making any noise outside the temple. So, it seemed they really couldn't get in this place.

I then put up a wind barrier and continued talking with Rhyn.

「Have you guys seen that huge magic stone?」

「Nn」

Rhyn stared at the magic stone weapon with sorrowful eyes.

『Is that nasty device gonna resurrect the great magic beast?』

「Yes. It's using the magic around it to devour the magic beast's seal little by little」

「So if we destroy it, the magic beast won't be resurrected?」

Rhyn shook her head sadly at Fran's question.

「The seal on the magic beast has already loosened considerably. If we don't perform the resealing ritual, the seal will break by itself in a few weeks」

「Then, should we do the ritual?」

「We need to prepare for the resealing ritual. If we hurry, we might make it in time」

「How do we perform that ritual?」

「I know Weena Rhyn knows about it, but I'm not sure if she'll perform the ritual or not...?」

「Ask her yourself」

Rhyn still didn't want to speak about the most important thing as usual, did she?

「Then, let's destroy that thing first for now」

「That's impossible. Zelyse has reinforced it with multiple layers of protection. I tried it myself, but I couldn't get a scratch on it. That's gonna be impossible unless we have the power of a High Elf」

Rhyn herself was a high-ranking spirit, but that spirit can't even get a scratch on it... That thing certainly was amazing.

But that would be the case for anyone else.

「Rhyn. Just answer me one question. Is it okay to destroy that thing?」

「If you could. But you probably can't, so get out of here, out of this country, before you get caught in this」

「"If you could". That's fine with me. Master」

『Ou!』

「...I don't know what will happen to you, you know?」

With Rhyn's pitying words behind her, Fran slashed at the magic stone weapon.

「Brilliant Lightning Rush——Heaven Judgement!」

While being clad in black lightning, she unleashed a slash at a godspeed.

Clank!

However, the result was a little different from what I had imagined. It felt dull as if she had struck a hard rock with a blunt sword.

「Huh?」

There was no change in the magic stone weapon in front of us. Fran tilted her head, but I knew the cause.

『We can't even get a scratch on it, huh...』

My magic stone absorption is the ability to eat the magic stones that I cut. In other words, if it doesn't get even a scratch, the ability won't be activated.

「Muh...」

『We have no other choice... Let's use the Sword God Transformation』

This was probably the situation where I had to push myself. But Fran shook her head, looking like she was about to cry.

「Noo!」

It seems that Fran has been a little worried about me ever since she heard that I was going to turn into a mere sword.

『But otherwise, it's gonna be hard to scratch that thing, right?』

Even after she used Heaven Judgement before, it was still unscathed.

It's certainly quite dangerous for me to use the Sword God Transformation now, but I must withstand it for just a moment. However, Fran didn't give me a yes.

「I won't let you」

『Then, what should we do?』

「I'll take care of it」

Fran gave me a determined look and readied me again.

「I'll definitely cut this thing. So, Master doesn't have to push himself too hard」

Chapter 615

Fran set me up and slumped heavily in front of the magic stone.

In this state, she concentrated on breathing slowly and steadily.

Her appearance was very similar to the one she had just a moment ago when she was kneading her magic to use the Black Lightning God's Claw. Only, it was a lot deeper now.

I guess she planned to build up her power little by little over time, rather than kneading it all at once.

To be honest, I really wanted to ask her to stop. The fact that she had failed earlier meant that it was still too early for Fran. Forcing her to use such a technique would be quite a burden on her.

I was worried about her because she shared higher-level skills such as Magic Control with me, so she could succeed if she pushed herself.

However, she had already controlled a large amount of magic power within her body and had entered a meditation state. It would be dangerous to stop her at this point.

Besides, she didn't have any other choice than this.

It couldn't be helped. I would just help Fran by maintaining the Wind Barrier for now.

Still, there seemed to be less waste in the flow of her magic power than before. Could it be that she had grasped something by trying to use it once?

There was far less distortion in the flow of magic power circulating in her body and the density of her black lightning. Of course, it was not perfect, and it didn't mean that the burden on Fran had decreased.

The evidence of this was the painful expression on the face of the enduring Fran. Just by looking at her face, I could tell that a great deal of pain was hitting Fran.

But I shouldn't heal her now. It would only be a hindrance for her to be hit with other magic while performing such a delicate and precise magic operation.

I gave Fran a shout of encouragement in my heart and watched her quietly.

But then, Rhyn unexpectedly raised her voice.

「Zelyse is coming!」

『...! I see』

This was not good. But I didn't call out to Fran. Fran must have heard Rhyn's words, but she didn't react to it at all.

I didn't ask any more questions either. We shouldn't interfere with Fran right now.

But still, I couldn't catch any sign of Zelyse. He must be using his permeability ability to fool the Vivian Guardian's eyes.

But Rhyn seemed to know. Was it because she was a spirit of time?

Fran breathed quietly beside Rhyn, who had an anxious expression on her face as if she were a human girl.

Then, after a short and intense time, I sensed a shadow jumping into the water.

It must be Zelyse. He then took out a magic stone from his pocket and threw it out at his feet. Then a powerful magic power was emitted, and the scenery around him changed completely.

Apparently, it could manipulate the wind and create a dome. Was that a kind of magic stone weapon too?

Inside the dome of air created in the water, Zelyse pulled out his magic sword, Zelyse.

「I got you! Can you stop right there, please?」

It was Zelyse. His expression was quite impatient. The magic stone weapon was supposed to have strong protection, but even so, he seemed uneasy.

Was that how highly he regarded Fran? In addition, he was probably wary of her because she easily defeated his magic stone soldiers before.

But he was a step too late.

Fran opened her eyes wide and used all her strength to deliver a blow with all her might. Her ankles, knees, hips, shoulders, elbows, wrists, and all the other parts of her body transmitted all of their power in a beautiful blow.

At the same time, she shouted, my tip got covered with black lightning.

The Black Lightning God's Claw that Fran had tried to release before was a technique where she created a black lightning blade and wielded it in her hand.

However, the original form of the Black Lightning God's Claw was to be wrapped around a weapon.

Naturally, this one would be easier to use.

Fran knew that too. After all, the reason she chose to use it in the first place was that she was worried about me.

To wear the Divine Attribute twice in one day is too reckless. It was obvious that I was going to be in an even worse state than I was after being tattered by the Sword God Transformation.

But now, if we didn't destroy this magic stone weapon, many people would suffer. We had to succeed.

Besides, it would still be less damaging for me to be used with the Black Lightning God's Claw for a moment than to use the Sword God Transformation for the second time today.

That was why Fran didn't activate her Black Lightning God's Claw until the moment she released her strike. I was sure she was trying to minimize the amount of time I had to wear the Divine Attribute.

「Haaa!」

『Oraa!』

Clank!

The response was dull.

It was not so different from the time when she had just unleashed her Heaven Judgement at the magic stone weapon before. However, the result was very different from before.

『We did it!』

「Nn!」

The huge purple magic stone that had been in front of us vanished completely. Then, a large amount of magic power flowed into me.

『UWOOOOOOOOH—!』

What the hell was this? It was an unprecedented, tremendous torrent of magic power! It was a magic power that couldn't even be compared to the magical stone of a magic beast with a threat level of B.

『——』

My mind went blank, passing over any sense of pleasure I ever had.

(Master?)

『——』

(Master!?)

『——F-Fran?』

『A-ah, yeah. Sorry, I've shown you something unsightly』

It was a close call. If Zelyse had attacked us now, I would have been completely useless. The magic stone used in that magic stone weapon was indeed a high-grade magic stone.

Aah, this was bad, I was still a little disoriented. I needed to pull myself together.

「...Oi oi... You really...!?!」

But Zelyse was still Zelyse, he just stood there with a look of surprise on his face.

「I finally understand what ‘that me’ from that timeline meant when he said to be careful with just you...」

Chapter 616

With the disappearance of the magic stone weapon, the eerie magic that had been shrouding the temple disappeared.

But we couldn't afford to be relieved yet.

(Master, are you okay?)

『...I'm fine, I'd say...』

I was actually not that good.

I managed to get out of the disorientation of absorbing a large amount of magic power, but because I pushed myself too hard, I was losing a lot of my capacity as a normal sword.

My durability had drastically reduced and it didn't start to recover at all. It was also obvious that my self-repair ability was not working as a small chip remained on my blade.

It's probably a backlash from overusing the Divine Attribute.

『Honestly, it's pretty dangerous for me to engage him in combat right now』

(Okay)

Zelyse was still stunned, but we didn't know when he would attack us.

That was what I thought, but what Zelyse said next was completely different from what I had imagined.

「Haha... Ahahahah! Amazing! You're amazing, Fran-san! As expected of you!」

He started laughing, truly enjoying the scene. It wasn't a pretense. He really meant it.

As I'd thought, I'd never understood the inside of this guy's brain.

「Uwaah~. You see, that me from that timeline was really wary of you. And now I finally understand what he means. I'm sure, Fran-san had given him a pretty hard time」

What did he mean? The current Zelyse and that Zelyse are in cahoots, right? But based on what he just said, it sounded like he didn't know the details of why Zelyse from that timeline was wary of Fran.

「That Zelyse?」

「Do you want to know what kind of relationship that me and I had, Fran-san?」

「Partner? I already hate Zelyse when there's only one of it, but it's even worse when there's two of it」

「O-one of 'it'...?」

「Cause you're just like a pest」

「A-ahaha! That's harsh!」

(TLN: She's using 匹 (hiki) which is a counter for an animal. It's how Japanese playfully insult each other)

Fran was talking badly of him. She was in a very bad mood. She was probably feeling very angry at Zelyse for irresponsibly trying to break the seal of the great magic beast.

「W-well, regardless of what Fran-san think of me——」

「Shitty insect」

「Oh, come on! You might think that Zelyse from that timeline and I were, at best, or maybe comrades in research? But we have a surprisingly dry relationship, you know? We don't even get along as well as what Fran-san might think of us」

「Why? You can avoid any mistakes if you listened to him, right?」

「Because that's gonna be boring」

That again. But I guess that was a part of Zelyse's principles that could never be changed.

「To know what would happen and move accordingly? That's boring! Besides, the future can be changed so easily. Especially since Zelos Reed and Romio from that timeline are here too」

That was certainly true. In fact, because of Sierra's action, Romio and Zelos Reed have not been captured by Zelyse.

「It's too dangerous to move based on such vague information, right? That's why I rarely ask that me what had happened in the previous timeline. At most, I only ask for data on his research results」

So, the current Zelyse had heard very little information from Zelyse from that timeline.

「The future me is also aware of that. So, he doesn't force me to get any information from him. It's very convenient that we're on the same page, isn't it? A single word and we understand each other」

Indeed, normally, someone would try to tell themselves exactly what happened in another timeline.

At least if it were me, I'd definitely give my other self the details.

「But you see, there's one person that the future me is very cautious about, or rather, someone who'd keep interfering with my plans. And I haven't heard any details other than that, but it seems, that person had given that me a lot of trouble in that timeline」

「And that person, was me?」

「That's right. Take the incident in Barbra for example, that's where I first met you. I was planning to let a lot of magic stone soldiers rampage in there」

「I had a hundred of them ready to go, you know? But that me insisted that I shouldn't do that because it would have been a waste of resources. He insisted that we should use the magic stones for other projects, and so we changed our plans」

I see. Maybe Zelyse from that timeline had deployed a large number of magic stone soldiers at Barbra, only to have them wiped out by Fran. But from the way he put it, it must have had little to no effect for him.

If there was no significant difference in the results, and if Zelyse could save his precious magic stones, it was certainly better to give up the use of magic stone soldiers in Barbra.

It was very unfortunate for me though. I don't know how much magic stone value I could get from hundreds of magic stone soldiers.

It must have been a tremendous bonus for us at the time.

「Well, now that I've seen it, I understand why the future me was so wary of you. No, it was not you. It was your sword, wasn't it? Well, there's also Fran's skill as well. Anyway, you have the power to destroy magic stones. It doesn't matter the ability, power, or type of magic stone it is, as long as you manage to scratch it even a little, and it'll be destroyed」

「Fufun. You're being cautious now, aren't you? I guess that means I'm not too far off, right?」

Tsk, my ability has been exposed! A magic stone soldier, a magic stone sword, and now a giant magic stone weapon. If we show it to him over and over again, it's only natural that he'll notice it.

「As a self-confessed magic stone user, this is the worst match for me. You could even say that it's a natural enemy for me」

「...So why don't you just give up?」

「No no, I haven't lost yet, have I? Well, your powers are indeed a little troublesome」

Zelyse's gaze then turned to me.

Those were the eyes of someone who was looking at an interesting research subject. To be honest, I was used to being looked at as an object, but I just couldn't help but feel weird about the way this guy looked at me. I guess it was because there was something creepy about the way he looked at me, it felt like he could see right through me.

「I'd like to analyze that sword and do some research on it」

「I won't give it to you」

「Fufun. As I thought, there's a secret in that sword, isn't it? I'm getting more and more curious!」

Chapter 617

「...What happened to Sierra?」

「Oh, that kid? Well, if you're that curious, why don't make me tell you?」

「I'll do that」

「You're still acting tough even when you're in tatters huh?」

As Zelyse said, we were still recovering. Fran and I were pretty exhausted after using the Divine Attribute twice a day.

It wasn't so bad that she was breathing heavily, but she couldn't hide her weariness. After all, using the Black Lightning God's Claw was quite straining.

『Urushi!』

「Grrr!」

「Uwaah!」

Urushi, summoned by my Familiar Summon, attacked Zelyse.

「I thought I'd taken care of it!?」

「Shii!」

「Grrr!」

Zelyse let out a pathetic scream, but he was able to avoid Urushi's surprise attack perfectly. I was sure he was wary of Urushi, who could unleash attacks with the Space-time Attribute. However, while he was paying attention to Urushi, Fran and I made a decent slash at him.

As I felt in our earlier fight, he was quite strong as a warrior.

「Well then, I wonder what would happen if I use this?」

「Muh」

『A magic stone sword?』

When I received the attack of the magic stone sword that Zelyse took out, that was all it took for that sword to be absorbed by me. However, Zelyse did not show any sign of regret. Rather, his smile deepened.

「Hahahah! Then what about this!」

『Another one!?!』

Zelyse took out another magic stone sword again and attacked me in succession. Obviously, his attacks were aimed not at Fran, but me.

However, if I avoided it, Fran might lose her bearing and it would be dangerous for her. Therefore, I had no choice but to take it, and once again I met the magic stone sword head-on.

「That's amazing! As I thought, it really was the ability of that sword! A magic sword that can absorb magic stones! Amazing! I really want to do some research on it!」

What a freak!

But suddenly Zelyse turned serious and tilted his head. Then he looked at Fran with a serious expression.

「Eh? Is that so? Hmmm」

「What?」

「 Somehow ‘that me’ lost interest in you 」

「 Lose interest? 」

「 He said that the Fran in that timeline was stronger, scarier, and more dangerous 」

「 !! 」

Fran was annoyed by Zelyse’s words. Even the current Fran was quite strong. Did that mean that Fran in that timeline was that much different than this Fran?

The differences between that timeline and now were the people who slipped in time like Sierra and Zelyse... I see, come to think of it, there was surely a big difference between that timeline and now.

The incident at Barbra. If it was as Zelyse had said, we would have annihilated the magic stone soldiers and I would have been strengthened considerably. That was why I might have ranked up four or five levels at once.

What would happen as a result? There was a good chance that we would have been able to kill even stronger magic beasts, and that we’d have been able to strengthen faster than we had now.

But as a result, it was possible that my turning into a mere sword would have been hastened. In other words, while I would have been stronger than I was now, I would have completely lost my heart as a person.

As Rhyn had taught me, if that happened, Fran might run amok.

That meant, she was stronger than she was now (because I got strengthened), scarier (Fran had run amok), and more dangerous (I never advised her, so she wields her power as she runs amok) than she was now.

So, when I thought about it, were we saved by Zelyse from that timeline? No, it must be just a coincidence. If anything, it might actually be thanks to Fran from that timeline who had done us all the favor.

Thanks to Fran's rampage in that timeline, we were now able to be saved and have hope in the future.

(Master, what's wrong?)

『Ah, sorry, I was just wondering what happened to Fran in that timeline』

(I'm sure she's fine)

『Why is it?』

(Because Master will never abandon me. Even if I go out of control, I'm sure he'll come right back and save me. So, she must be fine)

『But Rhyn said I had completely turned into a sword, remember?』

(She'll be fine, she's with Master after all. I'm sure he'd do something)

I could feel Fran's straightforward thoughts.

『I see... You're right』

(Nn!)

It was strange how Fran readily believed in me and she really meant it. But she was right.

There was no way I was going to completely turn into a sword and leave this cute little Fran behind. I was sure myself in that timeline felt the same way too.

If that was the case, then maybe Fran was right and I would get my heart back again someday.

Fran was no different. Even if she did get a little out of control, she would soon realize her own mistakes. I was not there? It didn't matter. I was sure that without my help, she would be able to regain herself, punch me in the face, and get me back to my senses.

Besides, there was no way for us to know what happened in that timeline.

We didn't even know if that timeline branched off and became a parallel world, or if it was overwritten by the current timeline and disappeared.

If that was the case, it was better for us to stay positive. Worrying about it was not going to help.

Chapter 618

『Well then, Fran, you ready now?』

(Nn! Sorry I kept you waiting)

The current stalemate was created by Fran, although it was Zelyse who said that it was them who was losing their interest. Well, I guess Zelyse was also deliberately playing along with us.

I think he was still observing me during our fight. That must be why he didn't dare to attack me seriously.

(Master, let's do it!)

『Ou!』

Normally. Getting away from here would be the best option. However, if we ran away here, Zelyse might do something to the seal of the great magic beast again.

She said that the seal was already very weak, so we wanted to stop him.

That was why Fran was so determined to win. If we couldn't fight for a long time, then we would just have to fight for a short time.

『Haaa!』

「Thaa!」

『Resonance magic!』 (Resonance magic!)

The magic power released from me and Fran was merging into a single form.

This was our Resonance Magic, the secret technique we had acquired on the Plains of the Demon Wolf.

It was a technique in which multiple magic users resonated with each other's magic power and activated it. And apparently, it was a very rare form of magic.

It was a unique skill after all. And in order to activate it, everyone who cooperated had to have this skill.

Even with all that, it was unlikely that the activation conditions would be met. Besides, it was not something that could be used by just having the skill alone.

The wavelength and intensity of the magic power must be kept under control to match.

In other words, they had to have resonance magic skills and advanced magic control but there were not many people who could do that in this world.

Even Amanda said she had only seen it activated a few times. She said that it was used by a group of high-ranking magic beasts that appeared deep in the dungeon.

I think the skill was originally developed for magic beasts in dungeons. Because it would be rather easy to activate it in a dungeon that could generate a large number of magic beasts of the same species and the same ability.

Me too, I just happened to have killed a magic beast that had the skill in the Plains of the Demon Wolf.

It was a mysterious group of five slimes that were connected by a tentacle-like object to each other. And their name was the Resonance Slime.

Well, we killed them before they could even use their resonance magic though.

「Kuh...!」

『Fran! Hang on!』

Fran grunted. This was also the reason why this magic could not be used in actual battles.

Normally, this magic was designed to be used by groups of ten or twenty magic beasts. The burden on the user was tremendous, as Fran and I were the only ones using it.

In particular, the stress on the brain seemed to be quite severe, and Fran got a bad headache when she tried to use this skill.

Fran even said 「It feels like someone is hitting me with a spiked hammer in my head」.

Because of this, Fran's control was not stable at all.

「Aaaaa!」

『All right! You did a great job, Fran!』

But Fran, despite her screams, completed her part.

Fran mustered up all her mental strength and endured the pain as she completed the last part of the preparation. I then sensed my own magic power and instantly adjusted my output.

Then, a bolt of pale blue lightning shot out from us, rampaging in all directions and covering the surroundings.

「Ghaa! W-what is this...!?!」

「Grrr!」

「Guh!」

Zelyse, who was still in his permeable state, was severely shaken by the resonance magic and deeply wounded by Urushi's follow-up attack. Moreover, the lightning was still raging around us.

He must have thought it was just a Thunderbolt Magic. Zelyse was surprised that he received a direct hit by the thunderbolt while in a permeable state. It seemed that even Zelyse could not even tell what it was at first sight.

That was because of the effect of our Resonance Magic. Fran's lightning attribute and my space-time attribute blended together, and a bolt of lightning with the space-time attribute was released.

It could be changed in many ways depending on the nature of the magic that was put into it and the image of the user. That was what resonance magic was.

However, it was not very powerful as the user's magic power must resonate when it was used. It might fail if one of us used too much magic. In other words, it had to be matched to the person with the lowest of magic power.

And I was the one who had to adjust to Fran this time. In the first place, her headache already made it difficult for her to adjust to me.

Moreover, the magic power that was put into it was also consumed to combine the attributes, so the power was further reduced.

It was also weaker than Kanna Kamui and Heaven Judgement.

However, if the situation was one where multiple attributes were effective, as it was now, it was very useful magic. It had the speed of a thunderbolt, but also had a space-time attribute that could inflict damage onto Zelyse in his permeable state.

『Now's our chance while the effects of the Resonance Magic are still in effect!』

「Nn!」

Fran rushed out to cut Zelyse down.

Both Fran and I are resolved to put everything we have into this blow.

But at the next moment, I, Fran, Urushi, and Zelyse all cowered and looked astonished at the same time.

「This is...?」

「Woof」

『Oi oi oi! Something is coming out of the bottom of the temple! And its magic power is really great!』

「W-why is the seal of the great magic beast broken!? I haven't done anything...」

From the center of the temple, gray magic power slowly leaked out like it was crawling.

We then jumped back in a hurry.

「U-Uwaaah!」

Immediately after, Zelyse let out a scream. It was not a fake scream like before. It was his serious scream. But I guess that was to be expected.

「Kuh...! What's this! Let me go—!!」

There were layers of what looked like thin strings entwined around Zelyse's body.

If I looked harder, I could see that it was an extremely thin tentacle similar to those of a jellyfish. Countless tentacles overflowed from the gaps in the pure white floors and attacked Zelyse.

He should have been using his permeability, but apparently, it was pointless.

Seriously, is the great magic beast about to resurrect?

But why? Could it be because we fought here?

『Where's Rhyn!? I'm sure Rhyn can tell us what's going on』

(Nn? She's not here?)

But then from behind me, we could hear Rhyn's voice.

「See? I've told you to just run away...」

Chapter 619

「See? I told you to just run away...」

「Rhyn?」

「It's already too late... I never thought that it would actually happen...」

『Rhyn! What are you saying!?!』

Rhyn continued her words as she suddenly appeared in front of us.

「Thank you... Fran. It was thanks to you that the great magic beast only made an incomplete resurrection...」

「Did Rhyn... do that?」

Fran couldn't believe it, but Rhyn, with a look of guilt on her face, clearly affirmed it.

「I really wanted you to get away... If you manage to survive, tell Weena Rhyn. Tell her to get prepared... Well then, goodbye...」

Rhyn said one-sidedly, and as usual, she suddenly disappeared too.

Zelyse was still unable to shake off the tentacles.

「Shiiiiit!」

I wondered why he wasn't using his permeability power, but apparently, he could not activate it properly.

It seemed that only a part of his body was in its permeable state. In fact, some of the tentacles had passed through Zelyse's Body.

However, not all of his body was permeable, so one of the countless outstretched tentacles had wrapped itself around Zelyse.

Even if it succeeded in penetrating one part of his body, it would fail to penetrate the other parts, and he would end up being caught by the tentacles.

『Fran! Urushi! Let's get out of here!』

We've got to get out of here as soon as possible.

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

「AAAAAAAAAAAA—!」

With Zelyse's screams at our backs, we left the scene at full speed.

I tried to use teleportation to get away from here at once——but it failed.

『Eh?』

It was not that the teleportation failed to activate. It was just that the teleportation didn't happen as it was supposed to.

If it had been true, we would have escaped at once to tens of meters above the surface, but we only moved a few meters to the side.

When I considered the fact that Zelyse, who was in a permeable state, was being held by the tentacles, there must be something in the area that was disrupting Space-time Magic.

Was this the work of Rhyn, the Spirit of Time?

『We have no other choice, we have to run by ourselves!』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

In order to escape the countless transparent tentacles gushing out from the floor of the temple, Fran and Urushi jumped up at once in an aerial jump.

They kicked in the air, dodging the tentacles that attacked them, and sometimes intercepting them with magic. However, although we were able to knock away the tentacles, they were multiplying faster than we could handle.

Moreover, she couldn't use Brilliant Lightning Rush due to exhaustion.

I could see that our escape route was being gradually cut down. It reminded me of the attack of the thread user, Fermus, that we had faced in the martial arts tournament.

『This is bad! At this rate, we'll get trapped in the wall of tentacles!』

「Muh!」

A large number of tentacles were not coming from below but all sides. If we continued to struggle, we might get trapped in the tentacle dome.

Fran whipped her tattered body to increase her speed even more. Her face was contorted in pain.

Shit! I wish I was in better shape!

But it was right after I thought that.

『Hmm, wait... Could it be!』

I hurried to check my status.

『I knew it! Just a little more!』

If we do it right, I might be able to recover at once.

『Magic stone——... I don't have any of it, huh!?』

Yes. I just checked the self-evolution section. If I could get another 50 or so magic stone values, I would be able to rank up.

However, I didn't have any magic stones in my dimensional storage. There were a few goblin corpses, but that was not enough to get 50 magic stones value.

『Fran, do you have any magic stones in your storage?』

「Nn...」

No, wait.

『I know a guy who might have magic stones! Fran, just hold on a second!』

「Nn!」

I left Fran's hand and descended the water surface.

「Zelyse!」

「W-who!?」

I don't know how far I could fake it, but I ran up to Zelyse with the doppelganger that I created with my alter creation.

「If you have any magic stones, give them to me! It might even save your life if it works! Besides, we'll let you off the hook for now!」

「Eh? Eeh?」

「Hurry!」

「Aah, damn! I don't understand, but I don't want to be here anymore!」

Zelyse was confused for a moment, but I guess he also knew that it would be difficult to escape on his own. He decided to take my word for it, even though he doubted it.

He then pulled out a medium-sized magic stone from his pocket. He seemed to have a bag of items in his robe.

With just a snap of his wrist, Zelyse threw a magic stone at my doppelganger. It was probably a magic stone from a magic beast with a threat level of C or B.

「Take that, you thief!」

「Haha! I'll take that!」

When I received the magic stone, I turned my back to Zelyse so that my body could become a cover, and absorb it with my main body. Well, a little thought about what I was doing would probably expose it though.

「Here it comes!」 『Here it comes!』

My tattered body was restored at once, and I could feel an enormous amount of magic power flooding into my body.

Moreover, the backlash from using the Divine Attribute had disappeared as well.

『I'm fully recovered!』

Chapter 620

I was able to absorb about 60 magic stones value. I had just barely achieved a rank-up.

I never thought I would be able to rank up in such a short time.

Because of Fenrir-san's weakened state, my accumulation of magic stones value was very slow.

It must have been thanks to the magical stone weapon that had been set up to break the seal of the great magic beast. Even the current me was sure to get more than 500 magic stones value worth from that one.

The number of self-evolutions points I had accumulated so far was 60, which wasn't much either, but it couldn't be helped. If I believed what Announcer-san said, I should be back to normal after my next evolution.

『Fran! Sorry I kept you waiting!』

I erased my doppelganger and went back to Fran.

「Urushi, come!」

「Woof!」

『All right! Let's clear them out! Fran, focus all your energy on getting out of here!』

「Okay」

This tentacle could be destroyed by magic. If that was the case, then if we could wipe out a large area in an instant, we would have a chance to escape from here.

I was about to activate Kanna Kamui, the most powerful magic I had——But I was shocked.

『Wha! This is...!』

(Master?)

『I can't stabilize my technique at all!』

I thought that something would disturb the activation of Space-time Magic, but I was wrong. It seemed that if I tried to use more than a certain amount of magic power, something would interfere with it.

Obviously, external interferences were distorting the Kanna Kamui that I had constructed. It wouldn't activate because of it.

What should we do? Use dozens of weak spells that could be released rapidly? But that was not strong enough. I didn't think that would work well against these countless tentacles.

As I pondered for a few moments, I could feel the magic emanating from Zelyse.

「AAAAAAH!」

『A barrier huh!?』

「Use it... quick!」

What Zelyse threw at us was a magic stone weapon that contained a huge amount of magic power. This barrier is amazing. Not only did it block tentacles, but it even prevented the mysterious interference. My technique then gets stabilized at once.

The only reason he didn't use it himself was probably because there was no way for him to escape from the tentacles even if he could stop them from reaching him for a short amount of time.

Normally, it was a tool that would momentarily stop an opponent from performing a large-scale technique. But for me now, that brief moment was enough.

『Ooooooh! Blow them up!』

I activated Kanna Kamui at once. I purposely lowered the convergence rate to increase the range.

「Tsk, Even me too——」

As a result, six Kanna Kamui were released in all directions, and the whole area was then swallowed by the white lightning.

『Now!』

「Nn!」

Fran, holding the smaller form of Urushi, used the last of her strength to run to the sky at once.

She used a telekinetic air ride with me. Amid the bursting thunderbolts and explosions, I forcefully pushed through while using a barrier and ascended at a great speed.

Looking down, the area where the temple used to be was covered with vapor, making it impossible to see properly. I could hear the buzzing of the steam as it became electrically charged.

Zelyse must have been involved in it, but what happened to him?

I said it might help, but I didn't explicitly say it would. Rather, I released it intending to get him involved, but... I wonder if he managed to get away? Well, I don't think that guy would die from that thing.

I don't feel the need to keep promises to bad people, but I don't have the luxury of looking for him and chasing after him right now. As a result, my words to let him go had been kept.

『Let's leave this place!』

「Nn!」

「Woof!」

Urushi and I began to run at full speed.

A tremendous amount of magic power was starting to leak out from the place where we had just been. Even though we were already hundreds of meters away, me, Fran and Urushi were not feeling safe at all.

The hairs on both Fran and Urushi's bodies were standing on end. Even Fran couldn't help but break out in cold sweat.

I was under tremendous pressure that enveloped my entire body. No matter how much we moved away, it didn't stop. In fact, I think it was getting stronger.

『I don't think it's hostile or malicious, but...』

「It's frightening」

「Woof...」

「It was as if something wanted to devour us」

「Woof」

She was right. What we felt was hunger.

We felt a terrifying sense of hunger in this presence. Not only Fran and Urushi but even I was being recognized as food by it.

『Moreover, it's mixed with evil...』

「Nn...」

「Woof...」

It seemed that there really were some pieces of Evil Gods inside the great magic beast. The evil mixed with its magic power leaking out into the surrounding area was quite strong. It was not even close to the evil in Zelos Reed and Murellia.

「We need to go to Weena Rhyn」

『Yeah, you're right』

We decided to go to Weena Rhyn as Rhyn had told us.

I don't even know why Rhyn broke the seal on the great magic beast. In the first place, did Rhyn really break the seal?

We need to speak to Weena Rhyn to get answers to those questions.

『As I suspected, the influence is rather small when we're this far away』

「But I could still feel it a little」

「Woof」

I think we were already more than two kilometers away, but Fran and Urushi still seemed to sense something disturbing.

Just when we realized once again that the great magic beast was no ordinary being, Fran, who was looking back at it, gasped.

At the same time, Fran's surprise was conveyed to me.

「Master, that...」

『Seriously...! I see, that surely is a great magic beast!』

Beyond our line of sight, there was something huge that split the lake to reveal itself. At this distance, we couldn't appraise it, nor could we perfectly estimate its strength.

But we could tell just by looking at it how huge it was. Even in its current state, it was probably more than 100 meters long.

The Midgardsormr was long and slender, giving the impression of being longer rather than wider. Besides, it was still underwater, so I didn't have a full view of it.

(TLN: Midgardsormr, a colossal serpentine dragon)

Maybe that was why this one seemed even bigger to me. I don't even know how big it would be when it was fully resurrected.

「Groooaaahhh!」

A grey creature was roaring wildly.

Its body was still in a terrifying-looking state of peristalsis and enlargement, and we could not get a full picture of it. The only thing I knew was that if we let it go unchecked, it would surely cause a lot of damage.

Chapter 621

When we returned to Sheftent, the town was already in chaos. Many people were running around at the harbor.

Ships of all sizes were anchored throughout the harbor, some with broken masts and others with scorch marks.

They must be a part of the Commercial Fleet.

But there weren't many of them in here. Maybe only about a fifth of the ships that belonged to the Commercial Fleet were here. Could it be that many ships had sunk?

Adventurers were gathered in one corner of the harbor, staring at the great magic beast with grim faces.

It looked quite small from here, but Adventurers who knew the lake well could estimate its size.

When we got closer, they seemed to have recognized Fran right away. Well, she was obviously coming back from the direction where the strange thing happened while riding a big wolf. It was only natural that we would stand out.

「O-oi! Isn't that the Black Lightning Princess?」

「Ooh! It's true! Black Lightning Princess-dono!」

「Wh-what on earth is going on? What the hell was that thing?」

A few people called out to her.

「A big magic beast came out」

「Well, I can tell that by just looking at it...」

「I don't know much about it either. More importantly, I want to ask you some questions」

「Hmm? What it is?」

「Have you seen Sierra?」

「Sierra?」

「Oh, that kid? No, we haven't seen him」

「I see...」

In the end, we couldn't find out what Zelyse had done with Sierra. And I guess Fran was still concerned about Sierra's whereabouts.

But no one seemed to have seen him in Sheftent. He did not even get caught with our detection range on our way here.

And we didn't have the time to look for him any further now.

「Also, what happened to the Commercial Fleet?」

「It has become a horrible mess」

「Yeah, I never thought the fleet would end up like this」

The Adventurers told us so with grim faces.

Apparently, due to the Modoki attacks and the huge explosion, many ships were damaged and a large number of people were killed.

Even so, the safe ships managed to scatter around and dock in the surrounding towns, and many people were able to get off the ships.

Many of the damaged ships were docked in Sheftent, and people were still being treated at the moment.

「Right now, we're still trying to identify the people who have died. They're right there in the square」

「Let me show you the way」

He then guided us to the square.

A large number of people and a dozen or so bodies were laid out in the square. It pained me to see people clinging to the bodies of those who were close to them in tears.

The wailing cries of the children were especially depressing.

I could see Fran clenching her fists and quietly stifling her anger. I felt the same too.

Seeing this scene, once again I felt the urge to kill Zelyse. When we escaped from the temple, even if I had to force myself a little, I should have put a Kanna Kamui right on his face.

But at that time, my priority was to get Fran out of there, no matter what. I didn't have time to take any unnecessary risks back then.

「I also heard that some of them haven't been found yet...」

(Master)

『Yeah』

We asked the people from the ship who were in the square to help us to arrange the bodies of the victims in the square. We didn't have much time, but we knew we couldn't neglect this.

It seemed that some of the ship's crew members who were here, had friends and relatives among them, and the square then filled with even more grief.

(Zelyse...! I'll definitely beat him the next time we see him)

『Yeah』

(Woof!)

Then we prayed silently and left the place.

Our destination was the academy's campsite, where I could detect the presence of Weena Rhyn.

When we arrived there, the students had gathered back at the campsite, looking somewhat anxious. I guess they still hadn't grasped the situation yet.

When Fran landed at the campsite, the students immediately surrounded her. The first one to call out to her was Charon.

「Fran-san! The town seems to be in an uproar. Do you know what's going on?」

「...The Commercial Fleet was attacked by magic beasts」

「Wha! How bad is the damage?」

「Quite terrible. I have to report to Weena Rhyn about that」

「I see. I'm sorry for stopping you」

When Fran mentioned Weena Rhyn's name, the students spontaneously cleared a path for her.

As expected of the students of the Academy of Magic. They probably understood that there was no point in panicking at a time like this.

「...It may get dangerous for us to stay here. Prepare to evacuate」

「This is an order from an instructor」

「U-understood」

「Nn」

It was convenient to have authority at times like this. Well, she didn't have the kind of authority that would normally allow her to issue such an order, but this was an emergency.

『Let's talk to Weena Rhyn first so we can start evacuating everyone. She should have known that something is going on』

「Nn!」

In fact, it would not be surprising if she had known everything through the spirits.

「Weena Rhyn!」

「Fran...」

Weena Rhyn's face, as she sat in her chair, was dominated by a sadness that made me feel sorry for her. From the way her hair was in a mess, she must have ruffled her head many times already.

It seemed that Weena Rhyn was now so cornered that she could be convinced that she had done such a thing.

「How, how could the magic beast in the lake resurrect!? I'm sure the seal wasn't severely broken yet...!? If things continue like this, Rhyn might disappear!」

Chapter 622

The Determined Weena Rhyn

Edited by Phantom0408

Weena Rhyn let out sorrowful words while covering her face with one hand.

「If things continue like this, Rhyn might disappear!」

「But it was Rhyn who resurrected the magic beast」

「...Huh? Rhyn did? Really...?」

「Really」

「I don't know」

『Well, we'd like to know about that too』

Then Fran and I told her everything that had happened at the bottom of the lake.

Zelyse tried to break the seal and we managed to stop him. But to our surprise, Rhyn resurrected the magic beast.

Weena Rhyn could not seem to believe it. She looked up at the void with a dumbfounded face.

「Rhyn has a message for you」

「She told you to be prepared」

「...But then, that girl will...?」

We've known each other for a while now, but I still didn't understand Weena Rhyn and Rhyn's relationship. When she said that "that girl", was she referring to Rhyn? If so, they were not just ordinary acquaintances then. It seemed that they might have some kind of close relationship.

「...We are... I wonder how should I put this...」

「I'm listening」

「Well」

Weena Rhyn smiled wearily at us. She seemed to be mentally overwhelmed.

「To put it simply, we're sisters, twins」

「Twins, even though she's a spirit?」

『Her twin is an elf. Is that possible?』

As expected of a race favored by spirits. But apparently, that was not the case. Weena Rhyn was shaking her head.

「Rhyn was originally a High Elf」

Weena Rhyn then talked about the relationship between herself and Rhyn.

「Rhyn made a contract with the spirit of the lake, which had been captured by the great magic beast, and made herself one with the spirit in order to seal the great magic beast」

「She could do that?」

「It must have been possible because Rhyn was one of the High Elves who particularly excelled in Spirit Magic. It was impossible for me」

By becoming one with the spirit of the lake, which had become one with the great magic beast, it meant that Rhyn had also become a part of the great magic beast.

Then, Rhyn weakened the great magic beast from within and sealed it in the center of the lake with the sealing technique she had prepared.

Weena Rhyn's acquaintance who was said to have sealed the great magic beast was actually her twin sister, Rhyn.

「I then made a contract with Rhyn, who had become a spirit... If things were left like this, Rhyn would one day completely merge into the great magic beast and disappear」

Normally, a contract between a Spirit Magic-User and a spirit was not a contract that could be defined as assimilation.

It was more like a give and take relationship, where they worked together and lent each other power

However, Weena Rhyn's had strong feelings for Rhyn, their unusually deep connection as they were originally twins, and the High Elves' high affinity for spirits brought about an unexpected situation.

「You see. My name was just Weena」

「Did you change your name because you made a contract with Rhyn?」

「No, you're wrong. When I made the contract with Rhyn, our souls were fused into a single entity. As a result, we are neither Weena nor Rhyn, but a new individual under the name of Weena Rhyn」

It seemed that the base was Weena. Her memories and appearance were still that of Weena's. But there was a definite change. Rhyn's hobbies, tastes, and consciousness have become mixed in with Weena's.

When someone's spirit was assimilated into their own, a change would occur. To put it differently, it meant that they were no longer themselves.

No one would normally want that, but...

「I couldn't help but be happy. Now we could be together forever. That's what I thought」

As I'd expected, I still didn't understand the way the long-lived being think. But after listening to her explanation, one thing didn't make sense to me.

「So what about the Rhyn that we met?」

「The Rhyn that I made a contract with was the Rhyn that had become one with the Spirit of the Lake and turned into a spirit herself. But there's still half of Rhyn left inside the great magic beast」

So, you're saying that only a small part of Rhyn who had become one with the spirit became Weena Rhyn, and the rest is still sealed inside the great magic beast?

Maybe that was why Weena's consciousness was in charge of Weena Rhyn.

「Rhyn seems to be able to break out of the seal and materialize herself for a short time. The mysterious spirit that had been seen around the lake was probably Rhyn. She never came to see me though」

「If the Rhyn in me and the Rhyn in the great magic beast are attracted to each other, the seal could get weaker... But I wanted to see her though...」

Weena Rhyn was strangely unstable when she talked about Rhyn. She was just like a girl who was happy and worried about her loved one.

「What did Rhyn mean when she said you have to be prepared?」

「Rhyn said we'll find out about it if we asked Weena Rhyn」

「I won't let her do it. I'm not gonna let Rhyn disappear...!」

Weena Rhyn mumbled something for a little while, and then abruptly stood up from her chair.

「I'm going to reseal the great magic beast」

「You can?」

「It was impossible before. But now I should be able to do it」

Weena Rhyn said so and rushed out. But despite her determined expression, her steps were somewhat unsteady.

「I'm going」

「But first, what do we do with the students?」

「Aah, now that you mentioned them... Give them instructions to leave this town and evacuate. Fran, get the other instructors together and take care of them until they escape」

「Okay」

Weena Rhyn reacted as if she had forgotten about the students. As I thought, there must be something wrong with her right now.

However, only Weena Rhyn could seal the great magic beast. We had no choice but to leave it to her.

「Don't worry, I'm okay」

She didn't look okay though. But we were afraid to point that out. That was just how intense the atmosphere of the current Weena Rhyn was.

「I'll definitely seal it」

I Don't Know

Translated by Tods

Edited by Phantom0408

Weena Rhyn said she was going to do something and left. To be honest, I was not sure if it was safe to leave her alone, but evacuating the students was also an important task.

Fran then went over to the students, it seemed that they had already made preparations to evacuate. They abandoned the tents and everyone was carrying only food and other supplies.

「Fran-dono, what's going on?」

It was Inez, one of the combat instructors, who spoke on their behalf.

She was well respected by both teachers and students, and I guess this time she had become the leader of the whole group.

「A huge magic beast appeared in the lake」

「A magic beast?」

「Nn」

Fran's explanation was met with a puzzled look not only from Inez but also from the other instructors and students.

「Hasn't the Director dealt with the situation?」

「Yes, she has」

「Eh? Do we still need to evacuate then?」

Aah, I see.

Weena Rhyn was like an absolute existence to the people from the Academy. I guess they couldn't understand why they still had to evacuate when Weena Rhyn had made a move.

They must have thought that she could defeat the slightly stronger magic beast without causing any damage to the surroundings.

「The magic beast this time was really strong. Even Weena Rhyn said that she was unsure what would happen」

「F-for real...!?」

「Doesn't that mean, it's already certain that it is a magic beast with a threat level of A or higher...?」

「Nn, that's why we need to hurry and evacuate everyone」

「Understood!」

After Fran, the strongest among them explained the situation, they all seemed to understand the severity of the danger.

Weena Rhyn was said to be capable of single-handedly fighting against an entire country, but that Weena Rhyn was unsure if she could handle this great magic beast.

And if Weena Rhyn were to seriously confront the great magic beast, the damage to the surrounding area would be enormous.

「Did she say anything about the route we should take?」

「No. I'll leave this to Inez」

「Understood」

Then the students of the academy began their march to leave the campsite. Similarly, we could see the line of residents fleeing the town.

It seemed that the information had been passed from the Adventurer's Guild to the town chief.

The refugees were thinking the same thing, to get as far away from the lake as possible. There were many people crowded together on the road heading east.

We went along the road with the students of the academy. But then I realized something.

『I don't see Romio and Zelos Reed around』

(...Certainly)

『Are they in the back? Urushi?』

(Woof)

Even Urushi's nose didn't seem to be able to tell where Romio and Zelos Reed were. In other words, I guess they were not among these refugees.

『Where did they go?』

「I wonder are they all right」

『Hmm...』

We were actually more worried about Romio than Zelos Reed.

But as Fran started to frown, Charon spoke to her.

「Romio, do you know where he is?」

「Romio...? Oh, that cute little kid that the Director brought?」

「Nn」

「Eh? He's not with us? That's a big problem then!?!」

The students around her nodded in agreement with Charon's exclamation.

「I mean, the magic beast this time was an opponent that even the Director has to fight seriously, right?」

「But we may not have enough time to find them now, you know?」

「This is bad...」

I didn't know if I would think of the students as kind or lacking a sense of urgency, as they were still able to worry about them even at a time like this.

However, Fran seemed to have a good opinion of them. I guess it was because she shared the same sentiment.

『Fran, Weena Rhyn only ordered us to take care of them until they had escaped, right?』

(Nn)

『And we've already made it out of town』

(Aah, I see)

Realizing that loophole, Fran then rushed to Inez, who was walking in the lead.

「Inez」

「Yes! Do you need anything?」

「Can you handle it from here on out without me?」

「Yes! That's not a problem!」

In response to Fran's question, Inez nodded in agreement.

Now there were also the Adventurers escorting people from the town among them, so the escort force was more sufficient than I had imagined. As Inez said, even if Fran were to leave, there would be no problems.

「Besides... It's not only the students we should protect, but that kid as well. We shouldn't just turn a blind eye and leave him there」

Apparently, the instructors regretted not checking for Romio's absence when they left. But it couldn't be helped. On the way from the academy to Lake Vivian, Romio and Zelos Reed were under Weena Rhyn's care.

Even after arriving at the lake, there was little to no contact between them and the instructors. So, it was asking too much to expect them to remember their presence during the evacuation.

However, it seemed that they had their pride as instructors.

「We leave it to you! Fran-dono!」

「Fran-san. We'll be counting on you. Please help that kid」

「Actually, it was soothing for me to see him」

「Yeah. You're right——」

「I hope he's okay」

「Okay. I'm going to go help Romio」

So, we headed back to Sheftent, with many instructors and students watching us as we headed there.

『Urushi, you find Romio's scent. Fran, focus on your detection』

「Woof!」

「Nn. Okay」

There was still no sign of Weena Rhyn doing anything yet. I didn't know what she planned to do, but we needed to find Romio before the large-scale battle broke out.

Moreover, we had one more thing on our minds.

「Sierra told us before, that Weena Rhyn in that timeline used Romio's power without caring that he was in mortal danger」

『Could it be, Weena Rhyn was going to do the same thing?』

「I'll ask her if there's another way」

『But what if she says there's no other way?』

「...I don't know」

Chapter 624

Sacrifice

Edited by Phantom0408

We returned to Sheftent and jumped straight into the campsite. However, we couldn't detect Weena Rhyn or Romio's presence there.

『I wonder where he went... Urushi, can you trace his scent?』

「Woof...」

Urushi nodded but seemed somewhat unsure.

It seemed that their scent still lingered in this area but he wasn't sure where they went.

Nevertheless, in search of clues, Fran walked off with Urushi in the lead.

「Here?」

「Woof!」

Passing through the townspeople who were busy making preparations for their escape, Urushi and Fran arrived at the harbor.

His gaze was fixed on the lake——towards the great magic beast. Did this mean that Weena Rhyn was on her way to seal the great magic beast?

『So Weena Rhyn, Romio, and Zelos Reed's scent are coming from the same direction?』

「Woof」

It seemed certain that Weena Rhyn had taken them both. Could it be that she was really going to use Romio's power?

Fran jumped on Urushi's back and pointed at the great magical beast.

「After them!」

「Woof!」

At Fran's urging, Urushi ran off again with a sharp look on his face.

And so, we were back on the lake in a few minutes.

『I see her! Over there! No doubt, it's Weena Rhyn!』

「But, isn't that...」

『Yeah! My worst fears may have come true!』

Near the great magic beast, a circular stage-like object about 15 meters in diameter appeared on the lake.

It was paved with pure white stones, and pillars that seemed to be made of the same material were built on all sides.

The vibe it was giving was very similar to the temple where the great magic beast had been sealed. But what mattered the most was the people on top of it.

We saw Weena Rhyn standing on top of that stage. Romio and Zelos Reed were also there together with her.

Well, it was not like they were there 'together with her' though...

Romio and Zelos Reed were lying on an altar-like place set up in the center of the stage. It was obviously a place for a sacrifice.

Was she really going to sacrifice Romio and Zelos Reed to re-seal that magic beast?

「Urushi! Get over there!」

「Woof!」

As Fran instructed, Urushi descended to the stage. But I wondered if it was already too late for us to do something.

There was dense magic power swirling around the area, and it was clear to me that some kind of ritual was in progress.

「Weena Rhyn!」

「...Fran. So, you came」

「I'm in the middle of the sealing ritual. Please don't interrupt me」

After a closer look, Romio and Zelos Reed's limbs seemed to be bound by water shackles, forcing them to remain in place.

Fran's eyes then narrowed sharply.

「What are you going to do to Romio and Zelos Reed!?!」

「These two will serve as the foundation for the seal」

「...So, you mean they're a sacrifice!?!」

She admitted it so casually!

But Weena Rhyn didn't seem to feel any guilt. She nodded as if it was a matter of course.

「Fran, this is something that I need to do」

「You don't have to worry about us」

Fran's words were interrupted by none other than the restrained Zelos Reed. Romio seemed to be asleep, but Zelos Reed was conscious.

「I'm the only one who's gonna die and Romio will live. Right?」

「Yes. The Sacrament of the Evil God skill is sealed inside Romio. So, if he can bear the entire burden, Romio's life can be spared」

「Something like that. That's why you don't have to worry」

So, would Zelos Reed be the one to die instead of Romio? Was that what they meant?

「But if Zelos Reed dies, isn't Romio going to die too?」

「I've already severed their contract. But once a connection is made, it's not gonna be easily erased. By using that connection, it is possible to channel the burden that should normally go to Romio into Zelos Reed」

To be honest, I thought that might be the better choice. However, there was someone who objected to that.

「...Is there any way that neither Romio nor Zelos Reed dies?」

「Ara? You want to save Zelos Reed too?」

「...I've made a promise. After their contract is severed, I will take Romio to the orphanage in exchange for Zelos Reed's life. In other words, his life is mine」

「So what?」

「I'm not going to let him die on his own. Besides——」

「Besides?」

「I'd feel sorry for Romio if he woke up and found that Zelos Reed was gone... Me too, if Master was gone when I woke up, I'd be sad too」

Fran tried to compare herself with Romio.

「Hmm? Does that mean you're not going to listen to me then?」

Weena Rhyn muttered that while releasing a terrifying amount of magic power. She may be trying to intimidate us, but this killing power alone would be enough to kill an ordinary person.

A cold sweat broke out on Fran's forehead as she was hit by Weena Rhyn's murderous intent. However, she never turned her eyes away from Weena Rhyn at all.

「I'll ask you one more time. Is there another way to do this so that Romio and Zelos Reed don't have to die?」

Chapter 625

Rhyn's Wish

Translated by Tods

Edited by Phantom0408

「I'll ask you one more time. Is there any other way that Romio and Zelos Reed don't have to die?」

「There's none」

Weena Rhyn responded to Fran's question almost immediately with an intimidating air. I guess this was what it felt like to be in over your head.

『Fran... She's lying』

(She's lying?)

『Yeah』

In other words, there was a way to do it without having to sacrifice Romio and Zelos Reed.

「...Liar」

『I knew it, she was really lying』

Her words “I'm not lying” were a lie too.

「Tell me the way that Romio and Zelos Reed don't have to die!」

「...There's none」

「Liar」

「...Tsk」

Seeing Fran's convinced expression, she must have understood that her lie had been seen through. Weena Rhyn then sharply narrowed her eyes.

The intimidation radiating from her body increased. It could already be called a kind of bloodthirstiness now.

「I said I don't have any other way. That doesn't convince you?」

「Nn」

「...Haah」

She was clearly irritated. However, she still seemed to have enough sense not to try to get rid of Fran all of a sudden.

Well, maybe she just couldn't attack us because she was in the middle of a ritual?

The killing intent that Weena Rhyn unleashed was so devastating that it was a wonder why she hadn't made a move.

So, this was Weena Rhyn, huh? No, this must be the real Weena Rhyn.

Weena Rhyn then opens her mouth again in an annoyed tone.

「Then what's the difference between killing another person?」

「Let's say there was such a way where we could handle the situation without killing Romio and Zelos Reed. But what would you do if it requires another person to be the sacrifice?」

「Who?」

「I'm just saying」

「That is——」

「You don't have to worry about the sacrifice though」

Just as Fran was about to open her mouth. As if to interrupt her words, we could hear a girl's voice behind us.

「...Eh?」

Weena Rhyn looked behind Fran with a look of astonishment. Her expression changed drastically from frustration to astonishment.

「...R-Rhyn...?」

Weena Rhyn muttered in a faint voice. Yes, the identity of the voice that had interrupted us was Rhyn, the spirit girl with beautiful odd eyes.

「You look a little different?」

「I've become a spirit, and my form is just a mere shadow of my former self... I guess you could say that this is my true form」

Fran was right, Rhyn's figure that was floating on the ground was quite different. If it hadn't been for the same voice and eye color, I might not have recognized her instantly.

Rhyn's current appearance was quite slender and thin, with her long ears, her appearance reflected the characteristics of an elf and she looked just like Weena Rhyn.

「I'm glad you survived from that. Fran」

I wondered whether she was talking out of her mind, but I didn't sense any sarcasm or malice in her words. She seemed to be happy for Fran's safety from the bottom of her heart.

「Long time no see, Weena」

「Yeah. It has been hundreds of years...」

「Even if you leave it alone, the great magic beast will surely resurrect. Even if I and the Rhyn in you are attracted to each other, it doesn't matter anymore」

That reminded me, if Weena Rhyn ever got too close to the lake, the great magic beast would be revitalized and the seal would loosen.

I guess that must be why Rhyn couldn't see Weena Rhyn before. But since the resurrection was already inevitable, did that mean there was no point in not seeing her anymore?

But their expressions were in direct contrast. Weena Rhyn looked like she was about to cry but what she felt inside was definitely joy.

But Rhyn was expressionless. Moreover, there was no sign of joy on her face. Rather, she looked disappointed.

About what though? Besides, I didn't understand what she was saying earlier.

「Hey. What do you mean by saying we don't have to worry about the sacrifice?」

「Fufu. Because I was the one who's going to get sacrificed」

「Eh?」

Rhyn walked past Fran, who was tilting her head and stepped quickly in front of Weena Rhyn.

「Weena Rhyn... You are going to reseal the great magic beast, aren't you」

「Yes. Now, we can use the Sacrament of the Evil God to reseal it」

「...Yeah. Maybe we can reseal it with that」

「Right?」

「But you know that, don't you? That I don't wish for it」

Immediately after Rhyn said that Weena Rhyn looked as if she was about to cry.

「Well you see, I want to be 'saved'. That's why I don't want it to be resealed」

「Why do you want something like that!?!」

I thought that she was unhappy about being sealed and was planning to resurrect it. After all, Rhyn and the great magic beast were connected, and she had broken the seal herself.

But apparently, her motives were not something that we had expected.

「I want you to liberate me」

She didn't want to be freed, but to be liberated?

「Weena Rhyn... I know you can do that」

Weena Rhyn's response to Rhyn's words was silence. However, the red blood that flowed from between her tightly clenched fists proved the emotions that swirled within her.

「Weena Rhyn——」

「I won't! Why must I do that!」

「I beg of you」

「I won't! I won't do that! I will never forgive you if you were to disappear!」

Weena Rhyn looked just like a spoiled child as she exclaimed that.

The Unimaginable Number of Wishes

Edited by Phantom0408

「Weena Rhyn, if it's the current you now, you should be able to defeat that great magic beast that has been incompletely resurrected」

「I won't do that!」

「No matter how many times it is sealed, there is no telling when someone will plan to resurrect it like this time. It must be defeated here and now」

「I won't!」

Just like a child, Weena Rhyn covered her face with her hands and shook her head in disapproval. Seeing her like that, Rhyn seemed to have decided to change her approach

「I, too, want to be liberated... I'm tired of being sealed at the bottom of that dark lake」

「No! I said I won't!」

「Weena Rhyn...」

「Why would you say something like that!?!... I've been trying so hard for us to be together again, as Weena, and Rhyn!」

Weena Rhyn, who was now acting as if she had become a child, screamed with lots of tears streaming down her face. Well, maybe meeting with Rhyn, her twin sister, had returned her emotions to those of a child.

「I don't care about the people of this country! I don't care what happens to them! I just want to get you back!」

「That's not possible」

「Don't say it's not possible! I've been preparing for the day when I can separate Rhyn from that magic beast! I've also opened the Academy, which is one of Rhyn's dreams! I've also set up an environment to make it easy for spirits to move around the academy in case you're still in your spirit form! I'm even donating to an orphanage like Rhyn used to do, and protected the country to get them to recognize Rhyn!」

Fran backed away slightly at her cry, which even showed a glimpse of madness. Her tail was wagging from side to side and her ears flattened. It seemed that she was under a lot of pressure.

「Weena Rhyn...」

Rhyn's face contorted in sadness. I guess it couldn't be helped.

As far as I could tell, Weena Rhyn had dedicated her life to Rhyn. Everything she had done was for Rhyn. It might not be an exaggeration to say that even the kindness she had shown to others was for Rhyn's sake.

But the one Rhyn said she wanted to be liberated from was actually Weena Rhyn.

「I just... want to be together with Rhyn again...」

「If you only separated me from that great magic beast, it would only regain its full strength. If that happens, it could even destroy the whole world」

「Like I care! I don't want a world without you in it...」

This was bad. I could see Weena Rhyn's expression getting more and more negative, it was already as if she was talking without thinking at all. No, her suppressed emotions might have made her lose her self-control already.

「Separate her...? Maybe I can still do it now...? If I use the Sacrament of the Evil God, I might be able to rip off the power of the Evil God...? Can I bring Rhyn back with that...? I don't care what would happen to the world...」

Weena Rhyn's thoughts seemed to have been overwhelmed by negativity.

Seeing her like that, Rhyn's shoulders slumped sadly.

「Actually, I wished for Weena Rhyn to defeat the great magic beast without using the Sacrament of the Evil God...」

「...!」

Responding sensitively to Rhyn's murmur, Weena Rhyn shook her head multiple times, biting her lip so hard that it even bled.

「For now, let's start with the biggest problem, shall we?」

「The biggest problem?」

Fran muttered puzzled. There were too many problems, to begin with, and I was not even sure which one Rhyn was talking about.

「Do you know that we could use the Sacrament of the Evil God in many ways? Whether it's used to defeat or seal that great magic beast」

「Do you really think we have to sacrifice Romio or Zelos Reed to achieve that?」

「Then we'll need their help. Come here」

Rhyn waved her hand lightly to the side, and a black light swirled next to her. From the looks of it, it resembled a dimension gate.

Immediately after, a figure came out of it. Fran then gave a small shout of joy when she saw the figure.

「Sierra! So, you're safe」

「Yeah, somehow」

Sierra and Zelos Reed stayed behind to stall Zelyse before, but it seemed that they were almost killed by his powerful magic stone weapon.

But then Rhyn saved them.

Immediately after being entangled in the tentacles that dragged them into the water, his teleport skill seemed to have allowed them to escape to a small island somewhere in the lake.

「I've just been resting there...」

So Rhyn summoned them and now they were here.

「Now I know that Sierra and Zelos Reed were safe. But why did you call them here?」

「Because this is their wish. Besides, it also serves my purpose」

What they wished for? Wasn't Sierra and Zelos Reed's goal to get revenge on Zelyse?

「Weena Rhyn. That ritual, we'll join in it」

「Huh? Who are you?」

Weena Rhyn didn't know about Sierra? No, they lived in different towns. It wouldn't be strange if they didn't know each other, wouldn't it?

「E-Ranked adventurer, Sierra. But my real name is Romio, and this sword is my partner. This is Zelos Reed that has become an Intelligence Weapon」

「...Eh?」

It seemed that even Weena Rhyn could not immediately understand the meaning of his words. Surprisingly, Weena Rhyn didn't seem to know anything about Romio and Zelyse from that timeline.

Then, Rhyn gave a brief explanation to her. Weena Rhyn looked at him with suspicion, but she must have decided to believe them because of Rhyn's words.

「I-Is that so...? Certainly, they do look alike」

The shock of witnessing an existence that had crossed time seemed to have calmed her mind. She seemed to have slightly snapped out of her negative thoughts.

A rational light then returned to Weena Rhyn's eyes.

She looked at Romio and Sierra, comparing their faces.

「Now I understand. Then, Romio that has grown up, what do you want?」

「I won't let that Romio or Zelos Reed get killed by the Sacrament of Evil God. That's what I want」

Sierra declared while looking at his other self.

「Y-you're Romio, you said..!?!」

「Yup, it's me oji-chan」

「Ha, hahah... am I dreaming...?」

「The one carrying the burden of using the Sacrament of the Evil God will die. Then why don't you also channel that burden to me and this sword?」

「I see! Now that we have two Romios, though I don't know if I should call them that——and Zelos Reed and Zelos Reed in his sword form」

「Yes. The effect of the Sacraments of the Evil God will be doubled but the burden will be shared between me, that Zelos Reed, and this sword Zelos Reed」

In other words, no one would die even after using the Sacrament of the Evil God.

Note: I'm sorry for the late update, I am sick, very, I just confirmed to got TBC, and need to be on medication for six month, but I can still TL, of course at a slower speed than ever, tenken will continue, at a slower speed. I also need to finish my bachelor degree first this year, wish me all the best on my health and study.

Chapter 627

A Glimpse of Hope

Translated by Tods

Edited by Phantom0408

「I see. If we could do that, maybe no one would have to die」

Weena Rhyn muttered to herself.

「But that doesn't change the fact that it's dangerous. Just because you won't die, that doesn't mean you won't lose most of your powers」

「I'm prepared for that. I'm not going to abandon Romio and Uncle Zelos Reed. I'll definitely save them」

Sierra seemed to have understood that from the beginning. Their main goal now also seemed to have changed to saving Romio and Zelos Reed, hasn't it?

「But if you want to save them, why don't you make her stop the ritual then?」

「...If the fully resurrected great magic beast is left unchecked, those on this continent will be annihilated. That's how bad that thing is. If that's the case, it's better to take the better chance of survival at all costs」

This was the second time Sierra had seen that great magic beast. He understood the horror of it. He even said that the continent would be destroyed if it was left unchecked.

In fact, Sierra's face was pale as he said that. He must have remembered the great demon beast and his fear of it.

That must be why they were willing to use the Sacrament of the Evil God to seal the great magic beast. Even if it meant putting themselves in danger to do so.

But was this a good thing from Rhyn's perspective?

Fran was trying to stop Weena Rhyn because she had been told that Romio and Zelos Reed were going to die.

But with Sierra joining them, the danger of death had been eliminated. In other words, there was no longer a reason for Fran to stop the ritual.

To be honest, I could understand Weena Rhyn, who didn't want to endanger her other half, Rhyn, and Rhyn, who wanted to free herself from it, and Weena Rhyn by being killed.

However, if we killed Rhyn, we would only be in a hostile situation with Weena Rhyn.

But when asked whether I wanted to take that risk and side with Rhyn... I'd probably stay on Weena Rhyn's side.

Rhyn seemed to understand that as well. So, she brought Sierra with her, but she looked somewhat troubled.

「It would have been better if they don't have to play a role in this though...」

I see. So, they were treated as insurance, huh? But as long as Weena Rhyn was determined to kill that great magic beast, we should be fine.

However, if she failed to persuade her, she would let her seal the great magic beast. But in that case, Sierra and Zelos Reed were necessary to use the Sacrament of the Evil God.

「Weena Rhyn...」

「...No matter how many times you ask me, I won't...」

The tension between Weena Rhyn and Rhyn, which should have been on the verge of settling down, began to rise again.

As far as I was concerned, the two of them were on the opposite sides and would never be able to agree as long as Weena Rhyn, who was taking the initiative, didn't give in.

And with the madness we just witnessed, I couldn't imagine a future where she snapped.

But of all people, it was Fran who stepped in.

Even though she was sandwiched in the middle of the intimidation emitted by the superior beings, she boldly asked a question.

「Hey. Is there really no way to make both of your wishes come true?」

「That's impossible. I want to be liberated. But Weena Rhyn——」

「I definitely am not going to let Rhyn be killed. One day, I'll bring Rhyn back to life, and I'll return to being just Weena」

「That's it」

Fran snapped her fingers at Rhyn and tilted her head.

「The reason why Rhyn wants to be liberated is because of Weena Rhyn, right?」

「That's right. I've been watching over Weena Rhyn through the spirits. But I can't stand to see her push herself so hard for my sake. Besides, there's something wrong with Weena Rhyn these days」

「Something is, wrong with me?」

「Yeah. But you know. Thanks to Master, I now know why. Regardless of how close we were as twins; it was a wonder how long two minds in one body could stay sane」

Oh! I thought Weena Rhyn's mental state was weird just because of her encounter with Rhyn... But actually, the fact that Weena's and Rhyn's consciousnesses were mixed was beginning to overwhelm her!

Wasn't that quite dangerous then? If Weena Rhyn went crazy and went on a rampage, the whole country would easily get destroyed. In terms of threat level, I'm sure she would get a threat level of A or higher.

「If I, the core of that magic beast, were to be destroyed, Weena Rhyn would be able to return to Weena. And not only Weena but many people will be saved too」

It would also bring Weena Rhyn back to her senses. Was that why Rhyn insisted on dying?

「In other words, if Rhyn returns to her original form and is freed from Weena, she doesn't have to be killed」

「But like I said, If I was separated from the great magic beast, it will regain its power」

「Can't we just do something about it with the Sacrament of the Evil God?」

I was impressed by Fran's words. She was right. Why didn't we just use the Sacrament of the Evil God to suppress its powers and separate Rhyn from it?

The current, incompletely resurrected, and weakened great magic beast could be defeated by Weena Rhyn, right? Then why didn't we use the Sacrament of the Evil God to weaken it further rather than letting Rhyn sacrifice herself?

But Weena Rhyn and Rhyn shook their heads in unison.

「We can weaken it. But we don't have any way to defeat it」

「Weena Rhyn can't defeat it?」

「I am the only one who can perform the ritual to weaken the great magic beast using the Sacrament of the Evil God. However, performing that ritual alone requires a lot of power. I won't have enough strength left to defeat it at that time」

「Can Rhyn do it in her place then?」

「I'm sorry. This body of mine is just a temporary one. I can use my inherent powers of Time and Water to some extent, but I can't do much more than that」

I guess things wouldn't work out that conveniently.

「If only that magic beast had been a little weaker...」

「If only the magic beast's power was weaker, there's a chance I could defeat it with what's left of my strength after the ritual」

「Does that mean I can just damage it and weaken it?」

「That's not possible. You wouldn't be able to get closer to that magic beast」

Weena Rhyn muttered sadly.

We couldn't get closer to it? I could understand if it had a very thick barrier or its counterattacks were powerful, but what did she mean we wouldn't be able to even get closer to it?

Then they briefly explained it to us.

「You may not know it, but the Evil God has the power to control and drive all living beings mad. Unless you're a spirit like me, it's hard to resist it」

「Weak people would go crazy at the mere act of getting close to it. And the piece of the Evil God that lies within that great magic beast is the Evil God's throat. The voice it releases has a strong curse-like power」

Weena Rhyn said while pointing at the great magic beast.

「At this distance, don't you think it's strange that we can't hear the voice of the great magic beast? Even though we're still in the sealing ritual, we should at least be able to hear it, right?」

Now that she mentioned it, she was right.

「This stage is protected with a barrier to block out the voice of that great magic beast」

I see. I thought it was because of the distance, but it was actually because of the barrier that surrounded this stage.

「Even I can't get any closer to that great magic beast than necessary, as it could take control over me too. Although I can defeat it with a single shot, I can't weaken it by attacking it over and over again」

So, you're saying that if the attack can't bring it down, we would only be dominated by the magic beast? Therefore, we had to unleash one big attack that could instantly defeat it.

However, after hearing what she just said, Fran and I had some newfound hope.

『Control of the Evil God, huh...?』

「If it's Master, you should be fine, right?」

『Yeah, you're right』

Fenrir once told me. As someone from Earth, my soul was immune to the control of the Evil Gods.

『The only problem is, what would happen to my wielder, Fran...? Do you know something, Announcer-san?』

《A sword and its wielder are inseparable. So, it's possible for Fran, the wielder, to negate the Evil God's control》

『What about Urushi?』

《Urushi's soul connection with Master has been confirmed. Urushi is also capable of negating the Evil God's control》

『Alright! I guess that means we can fight together, right?』

《Yes. No problem》

Sankyu, Announcer-san. You are so reliable!

『Fran, Urushi. You heard her too, right?』

(Nn! We can save Romio, Weena Rhyn, and Rhyn. And while we're at it, we can save Zelos Reed too!)

(Woof!)

Chapter 628

Our Strategy to Defeat the Great Magic Beast

Translated by Tods

Edited by Phantom0408

「We'll be the one to make the great magic beast weaker」

「Woof!」

「That way, after Weena Rhyn separates Rhyn from the great magic beast with the Sacrament of the Evil God, she will be able to defeat it, right?」

Weena Rhyn looked at Fran, who suddenly said that she was going to attack the great magic beast with a dumbfounded look.

Rhyn looked at us with the same look too. As expected of twins. Although Rhyn was much younger in appearance, they looked exactly alike when they had similar expressions.

Well, I guess that was why Rhyn had changed her appearance. Even if she was just acting like a mysterious girl, if she looked exactly like Weena Rhyn, it would only cause some kind of commotion.

「Were you listening to me and Rhyn? You can't get close to that great magic beast. These beings aren't so careless that a single strike would be enough to take care of it」

「We'll be fine」

「That thing was not something that can be handle with just your willpower alone, you know?」

「Urushi and I are immune to the Evil God's control」

「Eh?」

「Huh?」

「We can negate the Evil God's control, so we'll be fine」

「...Eeh?」

「B-but that shouldn't be possible...」

Hearing Fran's words, they both looked at Fran with a puzzled look. Sierra was as surprised as they were too.

「...You're not lying, are you?」

「...I've never even heard of such an ability」

「But it's the truth」

Even though Fran insisted, they didn't seem to believe her. They were clearly doubting her.

「To be honest, I don't know what should I do if Fran went out of control because of it...」

「But if Fran really can weaken the great magic beast... It may be possible to separate Rhyn from it」

「Just leave it to me」

In the end, no matter how much Fran argued, Weena Rhyn and Rhyn still doubted her. Well, it must be hard for them to believe that it was possible to negate the control of the Evil God.

If someone was strong enough, they might be able to repel the control, but that didn't mean that they could completely negate it. They could only resist it.

Even if it was evil, a God is still a God. There was no such thing as an existence that could deny their power. That seemed to be what their common sense was telling them.

「...I'm coming with you too」

「Sierra? But what about the ritual?」

「We'll return to the ritual once we've inflicted some damage to the great magic beast」

「But first, aren't you forgetting about the Evil God's control? As I said before, if you don't have a spiritual body like mine, you'll end up being controlled. Well, Fran was an exception though」

「I can't sense any lies from you... And my intuition tells me that we should let you do it」

「Intuition?」

「I am a spirit that rules over Time, you know? So, it can't be just a hunch」

It seemed that not only was she able to see the future, she also had some kind of power to predict the better options.

「And that intuition is telling me that Sierra will be okay too...」

「In my case, it was thanks to this sword. Thanks to uncle Zelos Reed that was sealed in this magic sword, I can now prevent the control of the Evil God from corrupting me」

Since Zelos Reed was an evil person, did that make him resistant to the Evil God's control? But wouldn't an evil person be more vulnerable to the Evil God's control?

「Uncle Zelos Reed had a skill called Cannibalism. It allowed him to absorb the power of the Evil God」

I see. So, it was thanks to that skill, huh? That skill seemed to have a much wider range of use than I had imagined. Maybe I should do some research on it later.

「Then Urushi, Sierra, and I will be the ones to attack the Evil God」

「Wait! Even if you use the Sacrament of the Evil God, that doesn't mean you can just resume the ritual so easily, you know?」

「Is that so?」

「It's only natural, right?」

Well, certainly, it was only natural.

But we would be grateful if Sierra could help us. He may be inferior to Fran in terms of combat power, but he knows more about Evil Spirits than we do.

So, we discussed what was the best way to attack it, and we all decided to cooperate.

Weena Rhyn and Rhyn also exchanged a few words to each other, though this time without much tension.

「Okay, let's wrap it up. First, I will initiate the ritual of the Sacrament of the Evil God. But I need Sierra, Romio, and both of Zelos Reeds to be here after you have launched your attack」

「Nn」

「Then Fran will start attacking, and Sierra will join in the attack once the ritual activation is complete」

「Leave it to me」

It seemed that even when the Sacrament of the Evil God was activated, its effects were not instantaneous. In the first place, the Sacrament of the Evil God was the ability to absorb power from evil and use it as the user's power.

In the same way, we could also give orders to the weakened evil being.

But this time, our goal was to deprive the Evil Spirit of the piece of the Evil God that was dormant within the great magic beast and channel the Evil Spirit that would normally flow into Romio to Sierra and the two Zelos Reeds.

In other words, not only Sierra and the sword Zelos Reed, but Zelos Reed could also join the attack.

「The outcome will depend on how well you guys do it」

「If you guys manage to weaken that magic beast's power, I'll be the one to defeat it after I manage to separate Rhyn from it」

「But if you can't, Weena Rhyn won't separate me from it and she'll reseal it with her sealing technique」

If all goes well, then everyone's wishes would come true.

Even if we failed, we could at least try to get it sealed. But to be honest, it would just be a solution to postpone the problem though.

But it was much better than allowing the great magic beast from getting fully resurrected.

However, Fran didn't seem to have any intention of ending it that way.

「I promise, I'll make sure we all end up with a smile on our faces」

Chapter 629

Edited by Phantom0408

「Okay, I'll be going」

「Be careful!」

It showed how good of a person Rhyn was when she told us to be careful instead of telling us to do our best. Well, she was a spirit though.

But if Fran didn't push herself to shave off the great magic beast's power, Rhyn's wishes would not come true. But it seemed that Rhyn was more worried about Fran's safety.

But it was effective on someone like Fran though.

「Nn. I'll do my best」

「Your opponent was a legendary, albeit imperfectly resurrected magic beast, you know? Don't push yourself too hard」

「Nn」

The expression on Fran's face as she nodded back at Rhyn was so full of motivation that it was hard to tell that she was not gonna be reckless.

『Fran, your safety comes first, you know?』

(I understand)

『But your expression wasn't that of someone who understands though』

But still, she looked to be overly motivated over this. I wondered if there was something that caused her to be like this?

(This is the first time I ever fought with a piece of the Evil God)

『Yeah, certainly』

(It was an opponent that I might have to fight eventually to lift the curse of the Black Cat kin. It's a good chance to know how strong they are)

Fran's ultimate goal was to lift the curse placed on the entire Black Cat kin due to Divine Punishment.

To do so, the Black Cat kin must use their own power to defeat an evil person or an Evil God's kindred with a threat level of S. That would also mean defeating the pieces of the Evil God.

To put it bluntly, I think it was an unattainable goal without having more Black Cat kin that were stronger than the Fran. It would take decades to achieve. No, it might even take more than that, maybe even several generations.

But that didn't seem to be a reason for Fran to stop trying.

『They're not gonna be identical, you know?』

(I know)

『We don't even know if the other pieces of the Evil God are stronger or weaker...』

(But this gonna be a good chance to experience the power of an Evil God's piece)

She just smiled it off with a determined look on her face.

『You're right. Though this is a mixed being, I think this really is a good chance to experience its power first hand』

(Nn!)

Rhyn produced some water and showered it on Fran. Immediately after, I could see that Fran's strength was starting to recover. It was not a full recovery, but it should have made things easier for her.

「It was healing water. It was the least that I can do for you」

「Don't push yourself too hard until Sierra and the others join you, okay?」

「Nn. But if it has gotten this weak, you don't mind if we somehow managed to defeat it, right?」

Oi oi! That was one of the lines I've always wanted to say!

But wasn't that just gonna raise a death flag!?

(Master? What's wrong?)

『N-no, nothing. I was just impressed by Fran's motivation』

(Hmm?)

But if things were to get worse, I'll have to force her to escape!

Then, Fran got on Urushi and took off toward the great magic beast.

「Woof woof!」

With Urushi at full speed, the distance of about a kilometer could be covered in a blink of an eye.

『Don't get too close! We could already be in its range around here!』

「Woof!」

「Is it getting bigger?」

『Well, that's obvious』

Compared to when we first saw it, the body of the great magic beast had swollen several times over. It was still in the resurrection process, but I wondered how big it really was.

I could see that the gray, purple, and red-black tentacles were intertwined like a gooey mess, and its huge lump of flesh was still continuing to swell.

『Fran, how are you feeling?』

「I'm fine」

That was what Fran said, but we had been through a lot of fierce fighting today. In addition, she even used the Sword God Transformation before, and she must be really exhausted.

I would really like for her to take a break, but there is no time for that.

『First, we'll fight mainly with our magic. And Fran, don't be reckless so focus on observing our opponent』

「...Okay」

Fran, who understood her condition, nodded reluctantly.

『Urushi, we'll count on you on evasion』

「Woof!」

「!! It's coming!」

『I knew it, it really could reach this far!?!』

A jet-black magic bullet was released from the top of the wriggling, huge mass of flesh. The magic bullets that were launched up into the sky came straight towards Fran. And there are countless of them. It was just like a barrage already.

『Urushi!』

「Woof woof!」

The power contained in each magic bullet seemed to be tremendous. And we could see a column of water nearly ten meters high on the surface of the lake where the magic bullets landed.

But its aim was clumsy.

This had given Urushi plenty of leeway to evade the barrage.

『It's my turn now! Let's see how it handles this! Kanna Kamui!』

I fired one shot. But it wasn't just a simple Kanna Kamui. What I released was a special technique designed for evil beings, with a convergence that increased its power and the power of the Evil Crusher.

It had the power to defeat the Minotaur General, a magic beast with a threat level of C that we had fought on the Plains of the Demon Wolf, with a single blow. The General was a defense-specialized type, and it managed to withstand a normal Kanna Kamui.

『Orra!』

The white lightning, clothed in the Divine Attribute, pierced through the countless tentacles and burst into the main body. Immediately after it landed, countless thunderbolts were discharged with a roar, and a blinding flash of lightning then covered the surroundings.

Although it wasn't able to penetrate its body, it did leave a large crater on its massive fleshy body.

『Tsk, I even used the Evil Crusher, but it still could regenerate itself』

「Is it because not all of it is part of the Evil God's piece?」

『Probably』

「...It doesn't get wounded?」

『Yeah, but its magic power seems to have become weaker now』

It really didn't do much to it.

「Should I join the attack too?」

『Not yet, I want to find out its weakness first. Don't push yourself too hard, Fran, just make a simple attack on it』

「Nn. Okay」

『Urushi, can you get us a little closer? Now I want to use my telekinetic catapult to attack directly it』

「Woof!」

『Alright! Let's go!』

Chapter 630

ranslated by Tods

Edited by Phantom0408

『Ou!』

「Haa!」

Taking advantage of Urushi's movement force, Fran threw me at the great magic beast.

『Hyaaaah!』

With my telekinesis at full power, I charged forward in a straight line toward the great magic beast.

But tentacles as thin as a string were stretched out to intercept me. However, its strength was not as great as it looked.

With my momentum, I pierced through the encircling net of more than a hundred tentacles and plunged into the grotesque magic beast.

『Uwooo!』

「Ghyuoooooh!」

It roared at the moment I pierced it. But didn't it sound more annoyed than in pain? It seemed that it was only annoyed by my attack...

The crater is about the same size as my previous Kanna Kamui, and it doesn't seem to be taking much damage.

『So my Evil Crusher can only inflict this much damage huh?』

The piece of the Evil God in it was probably too small compared to its size, moreover, it was a high-ranking being too.

『Tsk! This is...!?!』

The gouged flesh began to regenerate at once. At this rate, I would get swallowed by the great magic beast's body. It was clearly aiming for me.

In other words, it possessed the intelligence and rationality to think of a strategy of this level.

『Kuh... I need to get out of here!』

Moreover, my durability value had been significantly reduced. It seemed that its body fluids had a corrosive or acidic effect.

When I escaped with my teleport, the hole I had made was already closing.

『Considering how big this thing is, a hole like this was probably just like a scratch, huh?』

Once again, I flew around the great magic beast to see what it looked like.

It was still growing. Tentacles still intertwined here and there, and from up here, it just looked like a lump of flesh. It had no head, hands, legs, tail, or wings.

Well, let's just call it a massive grotesque purple, dark red, and grey tentacled monster...

「Ghu... Ghughoooh...!」

『Hmm?』

There was some kind of strange noise coming from the great magic beast.

Was that this thing's howl?

I don't even know where the mouth is, but it sure sounds like a howl.

「Ghughaa... Ghughyagoooh!」

『Uwaah! Gross!』

I was at the top of the lump of flesh when something strange appeared. As I watched from the sky, I could see tentacles wriggling violently beneath me, and then something sprang out from it.

『A mouth?』

「Ghugyoghoooh!」

A mouth appeared as it moved through the tentacles. Could it be the mouth of the great magic beast?

『It sounded just like a person though...』

It didn't seem to have beast-like fangs, and although it was huge, it was not deformed. It had reddish-black gums and white square teeth that lined the gums. In fact, the shape of its mouth was very similar to that of a human's.

It was strangely deformed in contrast to its body.

「Ghogooaaah... Oobeey meee!」

『Huh?』

「Oobeey mee!」

It talked!

Its voice was loud and deafening as if it was speaking through a broken loudspeaker, but it was definitely talking.

「Obeeeey meeee!」

I wonder if I could call it a spirit of voices. There seemed to be an Evil Spirit in its voice. I see now, those who heard it will surely get controlled by it.

(TLN: Spirit of Voices (言霊 kotodama) refers to the Japanese belief that mystical powers dwell in words)

But it didn't work on me.

Perhaps it would normally take a great deal of effort for anyone to repel or reject the control.

But honestly, I didn't feel like I had done anything. After all, I didn't feel like I was about to be controlled at all. It was just a loud voice for me.

「Obey, me!」

『Well, sorry!』

『Just sit there and scream that for the rest of your life!』

「Obey, me!」

Is that all you could say!?

『Just shut up already! But I was grateful that you've shown me a big, visible weakness!』

「Obey, me!」

It really only seemed to be able to speak in high-pitched tones. Was that what they called it in place of a squeal?

「Obey,——」

『Eat this!』

I unleashed my Kanna Kamui at the mouth of the great magic beast, which had repeated the same words over and over like a broken speaker.

A white thunderbolt was then swallowed by its open mouth.

「Obeehygyaaaah!」

『Oh, it works better than before...?』

The magic power of the great magic beast seemed to have decreased since my first Kanna Kamui, but...

The great magic beast seemed to be still making some movements. I decided to go back to Fran for the time being.

『Fran, its voice doesn't affect you, right?』

「Nn. It's just so noisy」

「Woof!」

Alright, it seemed both Fran and Urushi were perfectly unaffected by the Evil God's control, they both just had their ears flattened and were frowning from hearing it.

Chapter 631

I was able to confirm that the Evil God's control didn't affect us. Well, the extremely loud voice of the great magic beast was still annoying though, but it was not unbearable.

『We have tried attacking at one focused point and its inside. Next, let's try attacking its whole body』

「Whole body?」

『We'll use magic that can cover its whole body. Fran could also help me a little』

「Okay」

『Then, let's do it!』

We then unleashed Ekato Keraunos, a level 9 Thunderbolt Magic on top of the great magic beast.

「Haaa!」

『Orraa!』

Hundreds of lightning bolts then rained down on top of the great magic beast thanks to the high-level Thunderbolt Magic that was activated simultaneously. The way the electric current charged through its entire body and sparked was nothing short of spectacular.

The great magic beast's entire body then flickered as it continued to emit intense light. Not only that, but the thunderbolt also flowed through its body into the lake, causing a wide area to be caught up in the flashing thunderbolt.

「Obebbeey—!」

『We're not done yet!』

The lightning that was imbued with my Evil Crusher seemed to be working. With that in mind, I continued to rain down 10 more barrages of Thunderbolt Magic to the great magic beast. The total number of thunderbolts that had struck the great magic beast must have exceeded a thousand now.

Then the great magic beast writhed wildly as it received my barrage of thunderbolts.

But just after I thought its whole body had shrunk slightly——

「Obey mee—!」

The mass of flesh that had shrunken slightly, quickly swelled at once, and a storm of magic power raged through the air.

『What the hell! It used brute force to break out of my attack!』

The great magic beast blew away my magic from its body by releasing a torrent of magic power from its entire body.

The amount of magic power that was released from its body was also tremendous.

We could've been obliterated if we got caught up in that storm of magic power. As I've thought, it seemed that this great magic beast was really out of the norm.

『Tsk. It doesn't seem to take much damage from that attack』

「It only got a slight burn...」

『Yeah... It only affected its body's surface』

However, it could regenerate any wound on its body's surface in no time. And the magic power possessed by the great magic beast had not diminished much.

『It seems that we should use one powerful attack instead of a lot of smaller ones』

「I see」

「Woof」

But Fran then raised her hand after I told her that.

「I want to try something」

『You want to try something? I don't want you to do anything too reckless though...』

「Don't worry」

『...Well, okay』

「Nn! Thank you, Master!」

Her earnest-looking eyes made it hard for me to stop her. But it wouldn't hurt to let her give it a shot.

『Then? What do you want to try?』

「Nn. Cut it!」

Her answer was simple, but it was worth a try. I've tried ramming it with my telekinetic catapult before, but that was the only physical attack I'd tried so far.

「Master need to help me too」

『Ou!』

「Urushi, you too」

「Woof!」

『I see, so you want to use that, huh?』

「Nn!」

During her training on the Plains of the Demon Wolf, Fran had developed a special technique not only with me but also with Urushi.

The technique was so insane that even I couldn't keep my mouth shut when I saw them practicing. Well, I didn't have a mouth though!

I'd tried to stop them from practicing it many times already, but I stopped myself from doing so after seeing Fran and Urushi so happy despite being in tatters.

But thanks to that, they were able to perfect that special technique... They managed to perfect their coordination after several serious injuries that should have caused permanent damage to any normal person.

『I'll leave the timing to you. I'll concentrate on strengthening and defense』

「Okay」

「Woof!」

Fran and Urushi then begin to ascend to the sky at once. Our altitude must have exceeded a thousand meters already by now.

「Brilliant Lightning Rush—— Let's do this, Urushi!」

「Woof!」

At Fran's shout, Urushi began to ascend further. Fran stayed where she was and reinforced herself.

「Wooo—f!」

Immediately after, Urushi charged straight towards Fran. Using his skills, his speed now was much faster than his ascending speed. And as if he was trying to crush Fran with his huge body, Urushi rushed towards her without slowing down at all.

Then he aimed his paw at Fran and even activated his claw attack technique on it.

But Fran didn't move her body to dodge him at all.

「Rrhaaaaa!」

「Whooof!」

And instead of evading the attack, Fran turned her back on Urushi.

As if to intercept Urushi's paw, she put both her feet together and stuck them out behind her.

If the direction had been reversed, it might have looked like Fran was standing with her knees bent over Urushi's paw pads.

But this time, Urushi was trying to swing down his paw from above, while Fran's body was facing downward.

However, this was the way to do that technique.

In her usual Sheaths of Wind technique, she would use the momentum of the aerial jumps to gain initial speed, but this time, she used the momentum of Urushi's attack to gain speed.

Using Urushi's power, Fran was launched straight at the magic beast at once. It was as if she had used the telekinetic catapult.

And it was no coincidence. After all, they were really using my telekinetic catapult as a reference.

「Haaa!」

The full power of Urushi's strengthened skills, which were enhanced by my strengthening on her, as well as her martial arts skills, was transformed into propulsive force, and Fran descended towards the great magic beast with the speed of that of a meteor.

With Urushi's assistance, combined with Fran's acceleration skills, it was now difficult for anyone to even follow her speed with their own eyes.

Black lightning fluttered in the wake of Fran's descent.

The distance between us and the great magic beast, which used to be 1000 meters apart, was reduced in an instant.

「——Heaven Judgement!」

「Obeey——」

I couldn't feel my blade slicing through its flesh. It was probably because her attack was too sharp and too fast. The resistance I felt from slicing it was no different than slicing through a body of water.

I, the one who was slashing through it, didn't even recognize what had happened.

When I became aware of it, the body of a great demon beast had been ripped in half from the top.

『Teleport!』

Still, I knew what I had to do next. I activated the short-range teleport that I had prepared to get away from the beast.

Chapter 632

Edited by Phantom0408

Immediately after striking the Great Magic Beast with that slash, we teleported a little farther away from the Great Magic Beast.

「Ugh...」

『Fran! Use your regeneration skill!』

Fran had not been directly attacked by the Great Magic Beast. However, her body was full of wounds.

「Khoff...」

She spat out blood mixed with the contents of her stomach. The degree of damage to her body from using that technique was frightening.

But of course, she would be like this.

She had been hit by Urushi's serious attack after all. Even though I had protected her with barriers on her legs and other parts of her body, and used magic and regeneration to reduce the damage, the impact must have been tremendous.

What was more, this time Fran also had accelerated herself with all her might.

The burden from using those techniques on her body must be enormous. Her internal organs, muscles, and bones were in tatters from not being able to withstand the acceleration. Her legs in particular were in a bad shape. It was swollen from internal bleeding, broken bones, and torn muscles.

The most badly injured part of her body was her right arm, where her bone was visible through her broken elbow. Also, both of her eyes were dyed in red from broken capillaries and were bleeding incessantly.

I was amazed that she was still able to unleash the Heaven Judgement in such a state, and I was also amazed that she was still conscious after having taken the additional burden from using the Heaven Judgement.

「I was still in the midst of a fight after all... That's why...」

We were still in the midst of a fight, and that was why she tried her best not to lose her consciousness. I could understand that, but whether she could still fight or not was another matter.

What fearsome mental strength. I truly admired her from the bottom of my heart.

If I were in Fran's position. I'd be crying out in pain and agony right now. But in the first place, I would never come up with a technique like that...

『Good job, Fran! But I've told you not to be reckless though』

「But if I didn't do that much, my attacks wouldn't have inflicted much damage to it」

「However...」

『However?』

「I still couldn't defeat it」

She was really planning to defeat it on her own!?

However, as Fran muttered in frustration, we had not been able to defeat the Great Magic Beast.

From its mouth at the top, about half of its body was cut in half, revealing the inner parts of its body. However, near the bottom of its body, tentacles began growing out of the cut section and had begun to intertwine to rejoin the cut section.

It didn't seem to have any internal organs, just a small throat-like cavity under its mouth with a lump of meat at the end. I couldn't find its magic stones either

『Even after that, it seems that its life force hasn't decreased much』

「The Black Lightning God's Claw... I failed to activate it...」

『Well, it can't be helped in that situation』

In fact, I was surprised that that attack wasn't the only attack she planned to use. If Fran were able to add the Divine Attribute of the Black Lightning God's Claw on that attack, we might have really defeated the Great Magic Beast.

However, she failed to activate it in that instant and was still in extreme pain. It was inevitable that she failed to do so.

『But it seems that it lost quite a lot of magic power after that attack, you did rather well』

「Nn...」

『Besides, we're not done yet!』

When I attacked the inside of its mouth, the damage was obviously much worse. After all, a direct attack on the inside would be more effective.

『How about this...!』

Our thunderbolt magic didn't work very well against the Great Magic Beast. So, I decided to follow it up with another kind of magic.

I scattered more than a dozen of Flare Explosions and Light Explosions on the cut surface of the magic beast's wound, which had not been fully closed yet.

Red and white flashes of light and explosions then began to rumble.

「Ooobeey meee!」

『It didn't do much damage to it either, huh?』

It was not that the Great Magic Beast was particularly resistant to Thunderbolt Magic, but it seemed that magic itself didn't do much damage to it. It may have a magic resistance skill.

Due to the pieces of the Evil God in its body, my appraisal does not work on it and its abilities were displayed as unknown. What we do know so far was that it had unusually high regenerative power, was quite resistant to magic, and could control others.

One of its weaknesses was that its physical strength itself was not that high. I couldn't call that a weakness because of its regenerative ability though.

「Urushi」

Urushi came back to us. However, he also seemed to be in pain. The backlash on both Fran and Urushi was tremendous. Naturally, Fran wasn't the only one who was injured.

It may have already been healed by his regeneration, but splatters of blood were still clinging to his face and shoulders.

His right foreleg, which was used to launch Fran, must have been unable to withstand the impact of launching her. It seemed that his leg was torn from the inside by the impact.

「Are you okay?」

「Woof!」

Fran asked while she patted Urushi's nose.

Then, I sensed a presence approaching us. But it was not an enemy.

「T-that is some serious damage... Were you really the one who did that...?」

「Oi oi, that was quite a flashy move」

Two people approached us. They were not enemies, but I honestly didn't want them to get any closer.

「We'll help you out from here」

「...Just order us to do anything」

The ones who came to us were Sierra and Zelos Reed who were clad in Evil Spirit that was far beyond even that of Murellia.

Chapter 633

「...Muh」

Fran frowned as she saw Sierra and Zelos Reed who had just arrived.

However, it was not because of any negative feelings towards Zelos Reed or Sierra. It was simply because she was subconsciously sickened by the evil presence that the two were radiating.

「It's still alive even after it received that much damage, huh...?」

Looking at the Great Magic Beast that still bore the wounds of Fran's slash, Sierra muttered with a grim face.

「...Did the Evil God's control not affect the both of you?」

「Yeah. I'm still fine」

「Me too」

It seemed that after using the Cannibalism Skill of the magic sword, Zelos Reed made him able to absorb the Evil Power of others and convert it into their own power.

The same went for the Zelos Reed of this timeline.

Thanks to that, they seemed to be able to negate the control of the Evil God, which was manifested through the medium of evil energy.

But I don't think that skill could be relied upon for a long time. After all, I don't know what might happen if they absorbed more evil energy than what they could handle.

However, it seemed that Sierra and Zelos Reed knew that themselves.

「We'll launch our attack now. Just being here will increase our power, but I don't think we can handle it for a long time」

「Me too」

「Okay」

We didn't know each other's moves, nor did we have deep trust in each other. Fran and the others exchanged a few words for a few seconds and eventually decided to attack independently.

I'm sure Sierra and Zelos Reed could work together, but I'm not sure if Fran could.

Besides, I wanted to watch how they fought.

『It seems that they'll go all out from the start. Let's drop a few gears and look for their weaknesses from a distance』

「Nn」

「Woof」

And as I'd expected, Sierra and Zelos Reed rushed towards the Great Magic Beast with their evil spirits in full force.

But then, a question came to mind... Would they attack it with their evil spirit? Would it work against an opponent who had taken in a piece of the Evil God?

Well, we won't know until they've tried it.

Sierra and Zelos Reed then begin their attack on the Great Magic Beast with an attack that was imbued with their evil spirits. A huge explosion then occurred, their attack managed to blow off countless tentacles into the air.

It seemed that since it was so specialized in its ability to control its opponent, its physical body was not that of a normal creature.

I also tried to unleash my magic from a distance too. I tried all the attributes I had, such as Earth and Water Magic, but the Great Magic Beast didn't seem to be weak against any of them.

If it wasn't weak against any attribute, does it have any weak point on any part of its body?

I wondered if it even had any vital points at all...

Leaving the attacking parts to Sierra and Zelos Reed, I continued to observe the Great Magic Beast, cut off its tentacles that tried to reach us, and sometimes I used short-distance teleport to avoid them.

I also observed the flow and concentration of the Great Magic Beast's magic power. Was there any principle behind its regeneration ability? What about when it launched an attack?

『Hmm?』

「Something's wrong?」

『Yeah...』

I felt a subtle sense of discomfort. However, neither Fran nor I could detect its origin.

『So in the end, we'll just have to cut it down by force, huh...?』

「That's easy to understand」

『Well, but...』

I didn't miss the fact that Fran's movements were getting slower. Physically and mentally, she must have accumulated exhaustion that she wasn't even aware of.

『Fran. Try to regain some strength for now. We're gonna use it for one final attack later』

「Okay」

As I was pondering where to strike while repelling its tentacles, Fran and Urushi suddenly reacted to something.

They looked up slightly to the sky with a surprised expression on their face.

What they saw were Sierra and Zelos Reed who were about 100 meters above us in the sky.

And the reason why Fran and Urushi were so surprised was probably because of the sudden increase in the amount of evil that the two were releasing. They seemed to be planning to unleash some kind of big attack.

『Let's get away from here』

「Nn」

「Woof」

In front of us, Sierra and Zelos Reed seemed to be getting ready to unleash an attack. They formed a line with Zelos Reed in front and Sierra at the back. Both of them seemed to be concentrating their evil spirits on themselves.

I didn't know if this was going to help them, but we unleashed some flashy magic to draw the attention of the Great Magic Beast to us.

Then as I watched, Sierra and Zelos Reed seemed to have completed their preparations.

『That was... an Evil Spear?』

「And what Zelos Reed created was... rings?」

What Sierra had created was a cone-shaped spear of evil spirit. It was a mass of compressed evil energy. I guess he was going to use it to launch an attack

But what the hell is that thing that Zelos Reed created? As Fran said, he had created three black rings that were slightly larger in diameter than the evil spear that Sierra had created.

『Anyway, let's prepare a barrier』

「Nn!」

I don't know what kind of attack they were going to make, but I'm sure it was going to be quite powerful. We then further distanced ourselves and put our barrier at full power.

Immediately after that, Sierra made his move.

「Eat this!」

At the same time that Sierra swung down his right hand, the evil spear was shot out with great force, it was as if it had been thrown by an invisible hand.

From our point of view, the speed was a bit of a disappointment though. But was hitting the Great Magic Beast with the evil spirits more important than its speed for them?

But that didn't seem to be the case.

Zelos Reed then lined the three rings that he had created in the line of fire of the Evil Spirit Spear. And each time the Evil Spirit Spear passed through one of the rings, the Evil Spirit Spear seemed to grow faster.

It seemed that by controlling the flow of evil power on the rings, he was able to accelerate the Evil Spirit Spear that Sierra released at once. I see now, interfering with evil spirits by using evil spirits. This was an attack that only the duo of Sierra and Zelos Reed, who could handle powerful evil spirits, could do.

「So fast!」

The evil spear, which had reached the speed of my telekinetic catapult, penetrated the head of the Great Magic Beast while destroying also its tentacles that were trying to intercept it.

Booom!

『Uwooh?』

Shock waves and strong evil spirits blew even to where we were. I could see the surface of the lake shaking violently as a tidal wave like a tsunami was generated. What a fierce explosion. The compressed evil spirits must have been released all at once.

The Great Magic Beast that took a direct hit from Sierra and Zelos Reed's combination technique then had an excessively large hole gouged out of its body. The wound was also much larger than my Kanna Kamui.

However——

『——That didn't do much damage either, huh?』

The wound has then begun to regenerate immediately. I was getting fed up with the Great Magic Beast that could immediately regenerate no matter how much we attacked it.

But even in the midst of all this, we finally see a slight glimmer of hope.

『Its regeneration has begun, but... It's a little slower now?』

「Nn!」

The regeneration rate was slightly slower than when we first attacked it. I wonder if this was the result of our continued attacks on it? Or was it because of Sierra and Zelos Reed's attack?

Anyway, if we could find out why, we might be able to overcome the situation.

Chapter 634

Edited by Phantom0408

『That hole, it's regenerating at a slower rate than before』

The large hole was created by Sierra and Zelos Reed's attack. And of course, it had started to regenerate at a steady rate, but it was obviously closing up much slower than when we first had attacked it.

Had it taken so much damage that it even affected its regeneration power?

There was also the possibility that it was because of the effect of the Sacrament of the Evil God.

I could also see that its evil spirit flowed out of the Great Magic Beast into Sierra and Zelos Reed at a fairly high rate. With so much power being sucked out of it, it was no surprise that it started to affect the Great Magic Beast.

Just when Fran was about to call out to Sierra and Zelos Reed, we heard a voice called out to us.

「Looks like you're having a hard time here」

「Rhyn?」

It was Rhyn, the spirit, that suddenly appeared before us.

『Did you come to support us?』

「Yes. I was hoping I could be of some help」

『Hey, does that thing has any weaknesses?』

「Well, yes it has」

『What? For real?』

「Really?」

Rhyn nodded casually at my question. Both Fran and I then couldn't help but question her back.

『Could it be, you know where its magic stone is? After all, we can defeat it if we can destroy its magic stone』

「Well, of course, it has a magic stone, but it's still under the seal for now」

According to Rhyn, the current Great Magic Beast was only a fraction of its true size. To put it in human terms, the current magic beast was only the size of an arm.

Naturally, the magic stone and the other parts of its body are still under the seal.

「It was not really its weakness, but...」

As she said so, Rhyn pointed to a spot a little farther away from the hole that was made by Sierra and Zelos Reed's attack.

「Look over there」

『...Aah! That small wound!?』

「It's such a small wound, but it heals so slowly, doesn't it? And look at the tentacle that was there」

I then looked at the tentacle near the area of that small wound. I see now, some of the tentacles have not begun to regenerate and are still in tatters. There were so many of them that I hadn't noticed until now.

「Tentacles around the wound still has some magic power in it that is similar to Life Magic」

「Life Magic...?」

Fran muttered and patted Urushi on the back. Urushi reacted to it and looked back at Fran on her back.

Yes, the tentacles were indeed indistinguishable, but the small wound on its body was definitely the marks of Urushi's bite.

『I see now! It must be the effect of his Regeneration Inhibition skill!』

I had never pay much attention to this skill before, so I was completely unaware of it, but Urushi had a skill that could inhibit an opponent's regeneration.

And apparently, it worked well against the Great Magic Beast.

「It's not much of a weakness, but that tremendous regeneration power is ultimately due to skill. So, any magic or ability that could block it will work. Urushi should be able to do damage to it more efficiently」

The slow regeneration of the wound meant that the Great Magic Beast would take more magic and evil energy than ever before to close the wound.

I think Rhyn was trying to tell us to involve Urushi more in our attack. Even though his single attack power was inferior to Fran's, if he kept attacking it we could expect the Great Magic Beast to take a lot of damage later.

Under normal circumstances, it was the most efficient way to go.

Well, under normal circumstances, that was.

『Fran, there's got to be a technique in the Life Magic system to block others healing ability』

Urushi lost one of his eyes for a while because of it. But that was also probably why the evolved Urushi got the regeneration inhibition skill though...

(Should we use Master's points?)

『Are you sure?』

(Nn!)

I still have a few self-evolution points. Moreover, I already possessed Life Magic.

After discussing it with Fran, I decided to put my points into Life Magic.

『However, I don't know at what level I'll learn that technique. Hmm... Well, let's just raise it one level at a time then...』

《That magic can be learned at Life Magic Lv.5》

『Ooh! Really!?』

《Yes. The Life Magic, Heal Disturb. It is possible to temporarily inhibit the opponent's ability to heal and regenerate when they are wounded by the user's weapon or body》

『Bingo!』

I followed Announcer-san's advice and raised my Life Magic to Lv.5.

『Alright! I learned it!』

Life Magic, Heal Disturb. It was just as Announcer-san said. First, we needed to put this technique on our weapon or body, then the effect would take effect when we attacked our opponent, and it would hinder our opponent's ability to heal or regenerate their wounds for a while.

But in the Great Magic Beast's case, it seemed that its body was too big to exert this skill effect on its entire body. Also, in Sierra and Zelos Reed's case, it seemed that evil spirits originally had properties that inhibit regeneration. As expected of an enemy of all living things.

『Anyway, I've learned another good techniques now』

In fact, I was more than satisfied with this one.

Life Magic wasn't just magic that interfered with one's ability to recover. But it was a line of techniques that affected the physical bodies of all living things.

There were techniques to increase one's recovery speed of physical abnormalities, techniques to strengthen one's muscles and nerves, and there were also techniques to make one's body more robust and increase one's physical strength.

At first, I didn't understand what it meant, so I asked Announcer-san, but a technique to increase physical strength was exactly what Fran needed right now.

「What technique did you learn?」

『This technique is amazing. After all, by increasing one's physical strength, it reduces the backlash of using other techniques and skills!』

In other words, it was magic for people like Fran now, who suffer from severe injuries every time she used a technique. With this, not only the backlash of the Brilliant Light Rush but also the damage caused by the burden of using Heaven Judgement and Sheaths of Wind would be greatly reduced.

Well, we won't know until we try it.

Anyway, Fran was not going to stop even if I told her to. It was regrettable, but the time to use it would come soon. If possible, I didn't want her to be reckless for the time being...

Edited by Phantom0408

『Let's try the recovery inhibition skill, the Heal Disturb first』

「Nn!」

Fran nodded lightly in response to my words and called out to Urushi.

「Urushi!」

「Woof!」

『W-wa-wait! Could it be, are you going to do that thing again?』

What I mean by “that thing” was Fran and Urushi’s combination attack. We didn’t have a name for That yet, so I called it “That” for now.

「Nn. We have that Life Magic now. We’ll surely take it down now!」

『Well, I was still a bit reluctant to immediately combine it with That attack though』

We still didn’t know how well either of these techniques would work after all. She was way too scary for her own good!

「Nn...」

『Let’s try That after we’ve tried a few things first, okay?』

「Okay. And Master, it's not “That”. I've thought of a name for it」

『Hou? What did you call That?』

That was unusual. Fran rarely cared about those kinds of things after all. Wasn't this the first time she'd come up with something like that on her own?

「Nn. Sirius Sky Wolf——」

『Stoo-p! No! Not that!』

『Well, he certainly needs to accelerate from the sky though!』

Because that name was bad because of a lot of things!

「Then, Cutting fang of Sirius'——」

『No~pe! Not that too!』

Huh? Did I ever tell her about that manga before?

(TLN: Reference to Ginga Densetsu series manga. Trivia: Sirius, a star in the constellation of Canis Major also known as the Dog Star)

『A-anyway, we can't just use that name for it. Someone already used it after all』

「Muh... We can't use a name that is already being used by someone?」

『Of course, right?』

「I have three more names in mind」

『Hohou?』

That's quite a lot. I'd love to hear all of it.

「Hyper Special Excellent Miracle Slash」

『Rejected!』

「?? That's no good too?」

『Well... I was hoping for something unique if possible』

It reminded me that Fran was just a kid, that name was cute, but...

I don't want Fran to be made fun of for the name of her technique in the future. I mean, using Hyper... Miracle... Aah~ what was it again?

《Hyper Special Excellent Miracle Slash》

『A-announcer-san! Just forget that!』

Anyway, that name was rejected!

「Okay, then, the second one」

『O-ou!』

「Super Urushi Attack」

『...I-I see...』

Wasn't it better than before? Or was it just because the last one was so bad that it seemed better? This was bad, I wasn't sure anymore.

『I-I'd like to hear the last one』

「Nn! The Wolf-Style Sword Drawing Technique」

『O-ooh! That's a good one!』

I mean, I didn't have any other choice! Well, I'd settle for the last one.

『Wolf-Style Sword Drawing Technique sounds good to me』

「Really? Super Urushi Attack is much cooler though」

「Woof!」

Fran, Urushi, stop looking at me with those sparkly eyes! It only made it hard for me to deny it!

『L-let's just use Wolf-Style Sword Drawing Technique for that! Okay?』

Later, as a result of my desperate persuasion, the combined technique of Fran and Urushi was named the Wolf-Style Sword Drawing Technique.

『Well, just leave this to me now』

「Nn」

Fran took me in her other hand and prepared to shoot me out. We'd have to try it from a distance first instead of suddenly attacking with everything we got.

With that in mind, my telekinetic catapult would surely become quite useful. Normally, one would have to apply Heal Disturb to a weapon or something to make a direct attack. But Fran had me, so we could attack from a distance.

『Hiyaahaa!』

We then once again used the telekinetic catapult to attack it. But this time, on top of my Evil Crusher, I also used my newly acquired Life Magic. However, there seemed to be a miscalculation on my part.

『Hmm... I forgot that I was not a living thing...』

The techniques that accelerated recovery and strengthened one's body wouldn't work for me. I was just a sword after all...

It was a little disappointing because I thought that the Strong Body technique might reduce the backlash of using telekinetic catapults and the like.

『Well, the important thing is that the Heal Disturb is working fine, so whatever』

I also used my Magic Release and other methods to drastically increase my speed. Then, after pushing through the numerous tentacles, I once again stabbed into the body of the great magic beast.

Just like before, a large crater was then created because of it. The damage was not as great as I'd expected, but...

『I'm gonna tear you up even more!』

I activated my form transformation as I thrust myself into the center of the crater that had opened up in the Great Magic Beast's body.

I did not transform myself into a steel thread this time. After all, no matter how weak its physical body was, it was not strong enough to pierce the great magic beast's body.

I transformed into something a little thicker than that, I transformed my blade into something like a needle. My blade then branched out into nearly a hundred pieces and a dozen meters long needle, laying waste to the body of the great magic beast.

This still wouldn't be much of a wound for the Great Magic Beast, but I'd have to shave off the Great Magic Beast's power as much as I could.

『Well then... How's the result?』

I returned to Fran with teleport and observed the Great Magic Beast from a distance.

The hole I made was visibly slow to regenerate. It was probably less than a hundredth of the regeneration speed of the other wounds.

『Alright! It's working!』

「Nn! It doesn't seem to regenerate at all!」

「Woof!」

「It seems you've learned the Life Magic, haven't you? But you didn't seem to have used all of it though...」

Rhyn looked at me in surprise when she saw me come back to Fran. Then she suddenly nodded with a satisfied look on her face.

「Oh, so it was Sword-san's ability」

『Eh? No, how to put this...』

「Aah sorry, I just looked at the past, that's how I know it」

「Don't worry, I won't tell anyone」

It seemed that being able to see the past didn't just mean that she could understand the past, it also meant that she could see what happened just a moment ago.

『A-anyway, next time we'll get serious!』

「Nn!」

『Shaving its power little by little will only tire us out. So, let's put all our strength into this one last attack』

「Okay!」

As we were discussing our next attack, the Great Magic Beast then suddenly emitted a particularly powerful magic power from its body.

「Oobeeeyy Meee!」

『It's moving... and its magic power is...』

「It seems to be swelling even more...」

There was a clear change in the movements of the Great Magic Beast. Until now, the tentacles had been intertwined and were continuing to grow, but as soon as they stopped moving for a moment, they began to violently thrash around.

It wasn't just the physical and magical aspects of the Great Magic Beast that had changed.

「Is it watching us?」

『Yeah...』

I don't know where this thing's eye was. It may not even have eyeballs, and it may only sense us through magic or life detection, but its awareness was definitely on us now.

Until now, I doubt it even knew we were here. We were probably just like small flies before.

But now, it seemed that the Great Magic Beast had clearly recognized us as an enemy.

「It's sucking the magic power out of the water...」

『Water? Do you mean the lake water?』

「Yes. And unfortunately, the Great Magic Beast also has my power as a spirit in it, that must be why it can do that」

Rhyn was a Spirit of Time and Water. And the water of Lake Vivian contained the magic power of the Space-Time attribute.

It seemed that the Great Magic Beast was taking advantage of Rhyn's power to absorb magic power out of the lake water.

『But wait, you know how the water in this lake contains space-time magic...?』

「It was because of me and the great magic beast」

『Well, that explains why it has such a high affinity!』

The swelling of the great magic beast's tentacles increased in intensity, and gradually changes began to appear all over its body. Masses that looked like bumps began to appear all over the great magic beast's body.

The huge masses then swelled up and grew in number. I could sense that each of them possessed a considerable amount of magical power and evil spirits.

Was it preparing some kind of attack? If so, this could be quite dangerous then!

Facing the increasing pressure, I put up layers of barriers to protect Fran. But my prediction was wrong.

It was clear that the great magic beast had recognized us as an enemy to be defeated, but it had not yet taken any direct action.

「Obeey Meee!」

『Kuh...!』

The magic power of the great magic beast, which had been slowly increasing, increased several times in an instant. I even involuntarily teleported us backward and distanced ourselves from the great magic beast.

It was just such an explosive release of magic power and hostility. I could feel it was releasing its strong malice and hostility towards us.

It scared me. It wasn't just fear of losing Fran. I was afraid of being that close to the great magic beast myself.

『Urushi, come over here too!』

「Woof!」

「...It has lots of mouths」

『Yeah...』

It was just as Fran said.

The great magic beast's appearance had changed drastically and mouths had sprouted all over its body. The bumps of mass had now been transformed into the shape of a mouth. It was almost similar in shape to that of a human mouth.

It was only about a tenth the size of the first huge mouth that grew on the top of its body, but it looked exactly the same.

It was probably more than a hundred by now.

It was just like the image of Tata ○, the goddess that has numerous small mouths all over her body...

(TLN: I don't get what author-san is referencing with タタ○神)

「 「 「 「 「——Fire Arrow」 」 」 」 」 」

「Master!」

『Yeah!』

Just as the multiple overlapping chants echoed in our surroundings, a large number of fire arrows filled the space around the Great Magic Beast.

Over a thousand fire arrows are directly pointed at us, Sierra and Zelos Reed.

Immediately after, our field of vision turned crimson. The continuous sound of explosions then continued to echo without a pause.

If it hadn't been for my multiple activations of Flame Barrier, both Fran and I would have been burned to a crisp.

The Fire Arrows, which had been activated by the great magic beast, were all fired at Fran and the others at once.

No, it wasn't just any multiple activations. It used an overwhelming amount of magic as if hundreds of magic users had unleashed their magic at the same time. It seemed that each mouth on the body of the great magic beast was capable of chanting magic.

『The control over its magic is... seems to be fine...』

We are dealing with a great, extraordinary magic beast after all. It probably has magic control power that was far beyond our imagination. As for its magic power, it seemed to be almost inexhaustible. At the very least, as long as there was water in the lake around it, it doesn't have to worry about its magic power even if it repeats that kind of attack 1000 more times.

「Muh!」

『Dammit! It even used a magic bullet and its tentacles...!』

It launched another barrage of Fire Arrows. And just like before, it also aimed magic bullets and its tentacles at us.

Up until a moment ago, the Great Magic Beast seemed to have given top priority to its resurrection and hadn't been paying much attention to us. The tentacles and magic bullets were probably not a clear attack on us, but an unconscious defensive action. Just like a cow swatting a fly with its tail.

In other words, it could also send out its tentacles alongside its magic attack at us.

『If we don't attack it now, we'll only be crushed by the sheer volume of its attacks!』

「 「 「 「 「——Water Arrow」 」 」 」 」 」

『It used water magic now...!』

Unlike Fire Arrow, which was accompanied by an explosion, this one had an inferior range of attack. But instead, it had excellent penetrating power, so the physical power of the water arrow was superior.

Moreover, the number of water arrows it created greatly exceeded the number of fire arrows it created earlier.

There seemed to be over 2,000 of them.

This was probably also a matter of affinity. Thanks to Rhyn's power within it, it was only natural that Water Magic would be a better suit for the Great Magic Beast since it had high affinities for Time and Water Attributes.

But if that was the case, I wondered why it used Fire Arrows on its first attack... I'm not sure if it simply used that without thought, or if it was prioritizing control over numbers.

If it was the latter, this was gonna be quite annoying. It would mean that it had the intelligence to use different attributes depending on the situation.

I knew this magic beast wasn't stupid, but maybe it could be capable of thinking several levels higher than I had anticipated.

(Master, what should we do?)

『We'll need to get together with Sierra and Zelos Reed and turn to attack it at once』

(Nn)

While evading the water magic with Dimension Shifts and Short Jumps, we discussed our plans for our next move.

Now that the opponent was aggressively attacking us, we couldn't afford to use the wait-and-see approach. The longer we waited, the more of a disadvantage we would be in.

As I thought, this magic beast seemed to really have high intelligence.

It shot out water arrows at regular intervals and it seemed to have calculated each shot so that they wouldn't collide with each other. That was an impossible feat for a magic beast that acted on instinct alone.

The barrage of water arrows coming at us still hadn't stopped yet.

It was as if the barrage of the countless arrows that were being shot at us would never come to an end.

A wide area of the surface of the lake then raged violently because of the stray arrows, and high waves kept forming up.

The Great Magic Beast kept launching its tentacles and magic bullets at us, leaving no safe place within a radius of 500 meters of the magic beast.

『And its current size is just still the size of its arm!?!』

It was also being weakened by the Sacrament of the Evil God, right!?

『What about Sierra and Zelos Reed...!? They seem to be safe』

I checked on the safety of Sierra and Zelos Reed after the barrage had stopped.

They were far farther behind us. They must have managed to retreat to the outside of the barrage range in time.

But they did not come out unscathed.

Zelos Reed, in particular, was in a really bad state. The lower half of his body had been completely obliterated. There was also a large hole in his head, he would have died if he were not an Evil Person. And it seemed that his regeneration had begun to restore his body.

Sierra was also hurt quite badly, but it was a minor injury compared to Zelos Reed's.

「Oji-san! You don't have to cover for me...!」

「Kuh...Do-n't mind... it...」

Zelos Reed seemed to have protected Sierra. Even though he had grown up, it seemed that Romio's affection towards Zelos Reed hadn't changed much.

Well, it was not like I didn't know how he felt. After all, If the grown-up Fran from the future was here in Romio's position, I'd probably do the same too.

『Let's get some distance! We'll fall back until we're close to Sierra and Zelos Reed!』

(Nn!)

Fran understood the danger of staying here. She immediately moved at my suggestion.

We immediately teleported out of the attack range of the Great Magic Beast.

「Sierra, you okay?」

「Yeah, how about you? You seem pretty worn out」

「I'm fine」

「I see... I think you already know this, but it seems that I can't continue shaving away its power any longer」

「Nn」

「But while we still have the power to unleash our full power attack, we'll attack it with our all-out attack」

It seemed Sierra and Zelos Reed had made the same decision as us to make one last attack on the Great Magic Beast.

「I'll serve as a decoy while you prepare yourself」

Zelos Reed, who had the highest recovery power, volunteered himself to become a decoy for us. This would reduce the amount of power he could allocate to his attacks, but he could leave that part to Sierra and Fran.

「And while I was at it——」

Just before Zelos Reed finished his words, something happened and he turned around with a startled expression on his face. And at the same time, Fran and Sierra also stared in the same direction as him.

《Magical power reaction inside the Great Magic Beast detected. It's rising rapidly. Recommending evasive actions》

『What!?!』

I quickly teleported after I heard Announcer-san's advice. Immediately afterward, an extremely thick ray of light passed by us as if to snatch us at the place where we had been before we teleported.

Even though we didn't get a direct hit, the aftermath alone was enough to scrape off part of our barrier.

And it was that Great Magic Beast that released that ray of magic power at us.

『So, it hasn't given up to attack us even after we're out of its magic range, huh!?!』

As I followed the line of fire of the light ray, I saw that it had landed on the surface of the lake far from here. With a tremendous boom, a huge column of water that seemed to be over 50 meters high was created.

『Oi oi... It even reached that far away...』

Fortunately, there were no ships in the vicinity. Well, they're most likely already evacuated after all. However, I felt that ray of light seemed to be able to reach even farther. It might even be able to reach the land tens of kilometers away from the center of the lake.

Depending on the angle from which the ray was emitted, there might even be significant collateral damage because of it.

《Second shot incoming》

『Tsk!』

「I'll—」

「Uoooh!」

Before Fran could make a move, Zelos Reed rushed at the Great Magic Beast. He held up a huge shield made of evil spirits and jumped into the line of fire of the rays himself.

The rays that the Great Magic Beast released and Zelos Reed's evil shield collided, creating an impact that was so strong that it was accompanied by a violent wind.

「Gghuaaah!」

Even though the evil shield prevented a direct hit, a tremendous amount of its heat was burning Zelos Reed's entire body. The surface of his body even turned red like a charcoal from the heat, and he was still regenerating only to get burned again.

Zelos Reed continued to block the rays of light while smoke billowed from his burned body.

「I'll take care of its attack! You guys! Just launch your attack on it!」

Zelos Reed turned only his head toward us and roared loudly. The look in his eyes was so sincere that it was hard to believe he was an Evil Person.

TLN: I've gotten better, so we (the team that TL/ED this series) decided to shorten the update rate from "a chapter per 3-4" days to "a chapter per 2 days".

Chapter 638

Edited by Phantom0408

What triggered people to change could be so trivial.

It did not require a dramatic incident to trigger it, but a trivial matter that could come suddenly. And before you know it, it has changed you.

For me, it all started with a request from an acquaintance.

It was a request from Murellia. A pitiful woman whose spirit has been corrupted by the Evil God. A woman whose only interest was Romio. And she was a beautiful woman.

I remember how shocked I was when I first saw her. It was the first time I had ever looked at a woman and thought she was beautiful. It was not because of lust. I was just fascinated by her beauty.

It was not about the beauty of her facial features. It was because of her fierceness, her twistedness, and her cold-heartedness. I was fascinated by the existence that had them all.

I was someone who was born, abandoned, and grew up on the battlefield.

When it comes to the battlefield, people tend to think that it was a place where people killed each other 24 hours a day from morning till night, but that was not the truth. It took days to advance, and both sides often retreated at night when they couldn't see the enemy well.

And a little further back from the front lines, the soldiers spent their days drinking and gambling. Merchants would come to sell goods, and prostitutes even come to sell themselves.

They were prostitutes who came all the way to the battlefield. They were not high-class prostitutes for nobles. On the contrary, they were all women with special needs who could not even afford to stay in the brothels in town.

And apparently, my mother was one of those prostitutes. Well, I'd never met her, so I could only assume that she was, given my circumstances.

I didn't know how it happened. But I was born on a battlefield and was sold off. It seems that I was bought by a mercenary corps of magic beast users.

The reason why the mercenary corps bought me was simple. It was to feed me to the magic beast. By daring to teach the magic beast to love the taste of human flesh, it would increase its will to fight on the battlefield.

However, the mercenary corps was destroyed before I was put into the magic beast's stomach, and I survived. I must have been two or three years old at that time.

I didn't know if they'd raised me to a certain extent before being sold or if the mercenaries just raised babies for a little while before being fed to their magic beast.

However, thanks to the fact that I was already able to move around on my own at that time, I didn't meet my worst possible end, which was to die of exhaustion while being abandoned.

I stripped clothes from dead bodies, sipped muddy water, ate the dead flesh of people and Evil People, and made the battlefield a place to live for a long time. My memories about my childhood were a little vague, and I had nothing to be proud of.

I was living like that of a beast until I was picked up by a mercenary corp. They picked me up——or perhaps I should say, they captured me. Anyway, the mercenary corps that picked me up belonged to a survivor of the mercenary corps that bought me from my mother, and he taught me a lot of things.

It seems that the mercenary corps was planning to make up for the reduced number of soldiers with children. Instead of buying slaves, it would be cheaper to just pick them up. For that reason, I was given the name 「Zelos Reed」 and raised as a mercenary.

He taught me everything I needed to know to be a mercenary. He also taught me about my origins and the story of the previous mercenary corps. But in the end, that corps lost the war a few years later and was wiped out, including my caretakers.

After that, I continued to live on the battlefield, moving from place to place as a mercenary. I'd tried to live in towns but that was just suffocating.

Guards would come flying at the slightest disturbance. Money, money, and money were involved in everything. It was a place where everything was lukewarm and frustrating.

In that sense, the battlefield was the best place for me. I could kill as many people as I want, and I could always keep getting stronger. And above all, I felt alive being there.

And I also liked the simplicity of it. The strong were righteous. The dead were the losers. Winners took all, losers were robbed. There was no other place in the world that was so simple as the battlefield.

The reason why I accepted the old man Linford's invitation was because I heard that I could get stronger. I didn't care if he was an Evil Person or a wanted man. As long as there was a fight, that was all that matters.

I'd seen mercenaries who were addicted to gambling, but for me, all I wanted was just a battle.

The best liquor has never quenched my thirst more than the blood of my enemies. I even tried to hold a woman for fun, but it didn't give me any more excitement than slashing a strong enemy.

But for the first time in my life, I was moved by someone that did not belong to the battlefield, and that person was Murellia. I'm not going to say that I'm in love with her.

But that was the only time, ever, that my desire to talk to someone came first then my desire to fight a strong enemy.

When I actually had a conversation with her, I found out that she was really fucked up beyond my wildest imagination. Well, I guess I was crazy enough to think such a woman was beautiful.

And such a person tells her last request to me, and I'd make it happen. That was what I thought, and I took Romio with me, but...

「Oji-chan, who is that?」

「Oji-chan, what's that?」

「Oji-chan, run faster!」

「Oji-chan, are you okay?」

「Oji-chan——」

I'd never taken care of a kid before. It was so tedious and troublesome. He would sit down and say he was tired, and he would say he was in pain at the slightest thing. I was glad that he didn't start crying in front of me, but I was really troubled by the fact that he was strangely fond of me.

Why was that, you ask? Well, I certainly handled him very well for a man of my stature. But it was just because of Murellia's request, and I'd been asked to make sure the kid gets to safety.

But what was it about me that made him so fond of me? Was this kid crazy, too?

Still, I managed to continue my journey and even took him to an orphanage in Barbra, but... I didn't expect him to start screaming that he didn't want to leave me. I didn't understand why.

But what made even less sense was that I had decided to take care of Romio. What was I doing? I wonder.

But I just couldn't bring myself to leave Romio behind. I saw the kid's laughing face and found myself smiling bitterly.

At such times, I remembered Murellia for some reason. And I also remembered that Black Cat Kin old hag.

The eyes of those two people. They shouldn't look alike at all, but the eyes of the old hag who launched her attack at me, and the eyes of Murellia who asked me to save Romio, come and go in my mind. Those eyes, desperate yet clear as water.

I didn't understand why.

「Oji-chan, what's wrong?」

「It's nothing, just sleep already」

「Okay...」

Why I urged Romio to sleep already even while he had a fever? It was because we'd been spotted by that monstrous High Elf. If I leave Romio here and run away, I might be able to escape on my own.

But I couldn't do that. I just couldn't.

I, what the hell was wrong with me...?

「Uwooh?」

It seems that I was out of my mind for a moment. I think I was remembering something from the past, but I didn't really remember. Was it just a flashback?

Now, Sierra——or should I say, Romio's grown-up form was in front of me. It was hard to believe at first, but he looked just like Romio. So, I decided to protect Sierra as well.

It seems that Romio's special ability could affect and control Evil People, but...

「It doesn't matter...!」

I could tell all the reasons why I care about Romio if I wanted to. But all of it didn't matter.

Right now, I just had to protect Sierra. I had the power to protect him, and everything else was a trifling matter.

「UWOOOH! Hey, you big monster! I'm not dead yet! Come at me! Haaaaah!」

「Ooobeey Meeee!」

Chapter 639

Edited by Phantom0408

I could see the evil energy of Zelos Reed, which continued to receive the ray of light, rapidly diminishing.

He seems to be using more than what Romio could supply using the Sacrament of the Evil God.

The shards of evil energy that scattered as his shield of evil energy and the rays of light collided against each other gradually increased in intensity.

「Fran! Let's launch our attack in thirty seconds!」

「Okay!」

Shouted Sierra to her, he then closed his eyes and began to concentrate as if he was meditating. He was defenseless right now.

But he must have believed that Zelos Reed would protect him.

(We'll do the same)

『...It can't be helped』

We were past the point where I could tell her not to be reckless. However, the time for us to be reckless has come.

(Let's put all of our might in this attack)

『All of our might...?』

(Nn. All of it. Urushi)

(Woof!)

Fran and Urushi then soared high to the sky at full speed. We'd have to launch our attack in thirty seconds, so there was no time to hesitate.

It may seem like a short time, but that was the limit of what Zelos Reed could withstand its attack.

「Urushi, let's do that again!」

「Woof!」

Fran was going to do that Wolf-Style Sword Drawing Technique again. I wonder how much damage could be reduced by using our life magic now...

At Fran's words, Urushi barked happily. There was not a hint of reluctance in his voice. He must be truly happy to be of use to Fran.

(Master, can you use That?)

『Of course』

What she was asking me to use was the trump card that I'd acquired as a result of my training. Well, it was not so special that I could call it a "trump card" though.

It only increases my attack power for a short time by a few levels at the expense of my durability.

To put it simply, I'd put all my magic power into my sword body. That was all.

My current MP stats were over 10,000 now. My magic conductivity was also SS-. So, my efficiency of using magic would be increased by 340%.

In our current situation, If I used what was left of my current magic power——

《Master's base attack power will be over 35,000》

That was right. To put it bluntly, it was a superb attack power. Well, it also comes with a high risk.

After all, the burden would completely exceed the strength of my sword body. I tried it a lot in the Plains of the Demon Wolf, and it seemed that if I used more than 2000 magic power, various backlashes would appear.

At first, my durability would decrease on each swing, and as I increase the amount of magic power into my sword body, my durability value would begin to decrease even without doing anything.

Once it exceeded 10,000, the durability of my sword body would decrease at an unbelievable rate of 100 in 1 second. In addition, it was not uncommon for me to lose 1000 or 2000 durability value with just one light swing.

If the damage from using Heaven Judgement and Sword God Transformation were added to that, I would not even last a minute. No, even a dozen seconds might be dangerous for me.

Still, if Fran wanted to do it, I couldn't help but do it.

We were going to use Wolf-Style Sword Drawing Technique + my Magic Power Overload + Sword God Transformation. It was probably the most powerful attack we could unleash right now.

「Fuuuh」

「Grrrr」

Fran and Urushi then quietly kneaded their magic and made their preparations steadily. And of course, I did the same.

『I'm gonna need Announcer-san's support too』

《Understood》

『By the way, you're able to freely talk now?』

《With the increase in rank of the individual named Master, I have succeeded in recovering a small part for action》

I guess, in other words, Announcer-san's abilities were slightly restored as I leveled up.

《Synchronizing the timing of attack with the individual named Sierra. Countdown, 17, 16, 15——》

We could leave the count to Announcer-san. With this, our attack timing was gonna be perfect.

But at this late in our fight, I was wondering about something.

I wonder if I should use Potential Release.

I'd never had the experience of combining Magic Power Overload and Potential Release before. So, I was not sure if I should use it or not, but...

《11, 10——》

Now that I'd been shown the tremendous power of the Great Magic Beast, I was not going to spare any effort. I was going to attack it with all my might. But that didn't mean I was going to sacrifice myself in the process.

『Fran gonna be sad if that happens 』

《81% chance of dealing more than the predicted damage to the Great Magic Beast without using Potential Release》

『What if I use the Potential Release?』

《99% chance of dealing more than the predicted damage to the Great Magic Beast. However, the individual named Master will be left severely damaged, and his abilities will be severely reduced for the next 178 days》

『I see...』

《Also, 15% chance of the individual named Master going to be destroyed》

That was the worst-case scenario...

《7, 6——》

『I shouldn't use the Potential Release then...?』

《Yes. It is recommended to refrain from using it》

『Well, okay』

But it was just right after I had decided not to use my Potential Release.

「There seem to be a bit of disconnection in your magic line」

『Rhyn!』

It was Rhyn who suddenly appeared.

《4, 3——》

Rhyn then touched my sword body, then I could feel magic power flowing into me. I was grateful for the slightest bit of it now.

But right after that, an unexpected situation arises.

《Suggestion. It is now recommended to use the Potential Release》

『Huh?』

Said Announcer-san just before we launched our attack.

『Eh? What do you mean?』

Is it because of Rhyn? What has she done to me?

《Using it was the better choice for the individual named Master and the individual named Fran》

《2, 1——》

I-it was the time! But aside from me, why was it the better choice for Fran? Anyway, we'd use it if Announcer-san said so!

『Aaaah! Potential Release—!』

《0》

「Woof!」

「Haaaa!」

Then, Fran turned into a shooting star again.

Chapter 640

Edited by Phantom0408

「Wooo—f!」

「Haaaaa—!」

Almost at the same time Fran was launched by Urushi's paw. I channeled all of my magic power into my sword body while leaving the bare minimum amount of magic power for our escape later.

I also used my Telekinesis and Magic Release to help Fran accelerate further while transforming my sword body into the shape of a katana. I also supported her with my newly learned Life Magic.

And thanks to our Potential Release, I could smoothly activate all of them at the same time.

The price of using it was high though...

『Guh...!』

My durability value has already been reduced by half.

(Master?)

『I'm fine! Just focus on your attack!』

(Nn!)

The world seems to be running in slow motion because of my Thought Acceleration, but Fran's rushing speed was incredibly fast. The surrounding scenery even flowed by us as if we're in a warp.

Fran then poised me above her head.

I will then activate the Sword God——

《Space-time fluctuation detected》

Said Announcer-san just before I used the technique.

『Huh——?』

Has time stopped?

No, that doesn't seem to be the case. It was only our perception that experienced a significant acceleration. Because of this, there was a delay that made our surroundings seem to stop.

But, why?

I was using space-time magic to help us accelerate to the very edge of our limit. But there was no way we'd suddenly accelerate even further without me noticing just because we're in a Potential Release state.

And it wasn't just a slight acceleration, but we got accelerated several hundred times faster.

(My body, won't move)

『Me too』

I searched for signs of our surroundings, trying to figure out what was going on. But I couldn't fully process the flood of information that was pouring in, and I was feeling something similar to a vertigo attack.

『Kuh...』

『F-Fran, are you okay?』

(?)

I thought Fran was in an even worse state than me, but... Fran's telepathy tells me that she was just in shock.

Was she okay? It wouldn't be surprising that her brain was under a tremendous burden due to the multiple activations of magic.

「This was because I helped you」

『Rhyn! You're the one who did this!?!』

「Yeah, it was me, and Sword-san too——」

When Rhyn told me so, my vision suddenly went white. But at the same time, the torrent of information subsided. I see. I guess the reason why Fran was so calm was because she was in this state.

(Master, over there)

『Yeah, I see it... But isn't that, Fran?』

(Master is there too)

We saw our figures right in front of us. It was as if it was a three-dimensional image of us, projected onto the ground just a few feet away.

However, this Fran's outfit was a little different. It was similar to Fran's Black Heavenly Tiger equipment, but with pants instead of a skirt, and the details are quite different.

The most conspicuous feature was probably the earring in her left ear. Not like the earring of Fran over here, she wore an earring with a blue gem on it.

Moreover, I could also feel her presence, so she shouldn't be an illusion.

Their presence was similar but yet slightly different.

If I felt her presence, I would definitely determine that it was Fran. But there was a slight difference when I compared the Fran who was holding me and the Fran who appeared in front of me.

Their difference was really slight, I could tell because I could compare them directly... She was Fran, but she was not the Fran I know.

And what the hell was that horrible evil spirit? Was it coming from me? But Fran was exposing herself to that evil spirit without a care in the world. On the contrary, she even seemed to be manipulating that evil spirit.

But I didn't have the time to worry about that right now.

『Fran! Are you okay!? Oi!』

That Fran's entire body was in a terrible state. She must have over-strengthened her body. Even though she was only standing there, she seemed to be continuously taking damage from the backlash.

I could hear the sound of bones creaking. The pressure of magic power flowing inside her must be causing intense pain all over her body. Blood tears flowed down her face as she clenched her teeth.

That Fran was in such a state while holding another me in her hand.

Why the other me didn't heal Fran!? Why was Fran in such a state!? And it seemed that she was planning to perform some kind of technique from that state.

She seems to be pointing the other me towards her opponent.

But in my eyes, all I could see was just her appearance in this white space. I couldn't tell what was going on around them.

She didn't respond to my call either, so I guess Fran and the other me on that side couldn't see us.

『Fran! Shit! Why, why my recovery magic won't work!』

As I was trying to use my recovery magic on her, that Fran suddenly began to make a move. And with a sad and somewhat desperate look on her face, she muttered quietly.

「Master, let's go」

『Okay』

Fran's voice and expression were so somber that it seemed as if someone close to her had died. But behind that expression, there must be an SOS from the girl that could not be expressed in words.

“Somebody, help me...”

I thought I could hear such a voice.

However, the words that came from her sword, which should be able to speak, were so emotionless that it gave me chills.

「Can I use Master in his Potential Release state?」

『I'm a sword. I have no right to judge. I'll follow Fran's decision』

「Master's thoughts, I want to hear it」

『If you use it, you will be able to defeat it for sure. However, the backlash will affect your future battles. In some cases, your life may be in danger. If you don't use it, you may or may not be able to defeat it. However, you can maintain your fighting ability』

「Not that, that's not what I meant. Let me hear which one you think is better, Master」

『I don't have the right to answer that question』

I felt like my head was going to boil with anger from hearing that.

What was that!?

Was that really me? No, I would never admit that that thing was really me.

What the hell are you doing!? Fran looks like she was about to cry, but she was still counting on you, you know?

Help her! Don't just answer her with something like that!

If it was me, I would answer with "You don't need that!", "I'll do something about it!", or "Let's use it and defeat it in an instant!", "Let's do this together!".

You're the one who needs to say something to Fran to take her mind off her worries! A simple "Don't worry" would do!

I couldn't help but shout at the Me over there.

『Oi! The idiot over there! You bastard! Why are you making Fran cry!? I'll never forgive you!』

Edited by Phantom0408

「Fran, thank you for letting Romio and Zelos Reed off your hook this time」

「Rhyn...」

「You are such a sweet girl, aren't you? Even when you were angry, you subconsciously kept Romio out of this」

「Not really... It was just that that kid looks so pitiful」

「But thanks to you, I was able to put Romio, Zelos Reed, and Zelyse out of this. Besides, thanks to your permission, I was able to borrow Sword-san's help. Without It, the connection would not have been successful」

「Where did you send them?」

「Very far away」

「I see... But did we have to let Zelyse go too?」

「Yes. And it was for you guys' sake too」

Just like usual, it was hard to understand what this spirit, Rhyn, was saying. But I knew Rhyn was not an enemy. So, I did as Rhyn had asked me to do, and stopped myself from trying to kill Zelos Reed.

Romio and the others seemed to have teleported somewhere, but I wonder where they went?

「Fran, with this, there's no one around who might get involved in this anymore. So, you can get serious now」

「Get serious... Really?」

「Yes... Weena Rhyn was quite far away from here too. So, it's okay now」

「Nn... Okay」

I'd gotten stronger ever since that day when I lost to Murellia and had lost Urushi.

「Master, let's do our best」

『Okay』

「...Nn」

I wondered when had Master started acting strangely?

Was it at Barbra, when I defeated a lot of magic stone golems that Zelyse was controlling? Or was it around the time I won the martial arts tournament?

When we first came to the Beastman Country, I didn't think he was like he was now.

But then I noticed that he was getting less and less talkative to me. And he wouldn't speak unless I asked him first.

But that was not all.

No matter what I asked, he was indifferent.

『I'm just a sword』

『You think, Fran』

『If that's Fran's choice, I'll follow it』

His voice was no longer as gentle and reassuring as it used to be.

He sounded as if he wasn't a person.

I want to hear more of Master's voice. But I'm afraid to talk to him myself. Because he'd always answer "I'm Fran's sword, so I'll follow Fran's decision" with that cold voice again.

No matter how hard I pushed myself, Master would never praise me anymore. Even if he did, he would just say "Well done" in that cold voice again.

In town, a drunk man made fun of me and I got a little violent and was involved in a fight. But at that time, Master warned me "You've gone too far, Fran".

It was only a little, but I think it was Master's old voice.

If I became a bad kid, would Master let me hear his old voice again like before? I thought so, but that was only at the beginning. Soon, he stopped saying anything.

That was when I saw him again.

Zelos Reed, the one who had killed Kiara.

I had never forgotten about him, but I'd never chased after him. After all, Kiara had told me not to seek revenge.

But then he showed up right in front of me. And with a child with him.

Both Zelos Reed and Romio seemed to be very calm. They seemed to have been through a lot, and even now they were being held captive.

But they looked so happy.

Did I ever have a smile like that on my face?

Somehow, looking at them made me frustrated.

「Hey, Master. Why am I feeling something like this?」

『I don't understand. Was there anything that caused you to be stressed?』

『You have no idea why you're stressed?』

「I don't know! I don't know why!」

『Then, I don't know why either』

Somehow, I just didn't care anymore. Anyway, I'd kill Zelos Reed. But as I was thinking that, Rhyn stopped me.

Moreover, Rhyn asked me to lend her our help because she really needed Master's Dimensional Magic to save Romio and Zelos Reed. Rhyn had saved my life once before. So, I couldn't refuse her request.

But why were we helping Zelos Reed?

I couldn't keep my head organized and it was all messed up. I even had a hard time controlling my frustration.

“Let's vent out all my frustration by attacking the Great Magic Beast,” I thought.

And she told me I could go serious this time.

The last time I got serious was when I was on the Plains of the Demon Wolf, I broke a barrier that the Goddess had made, and she got mad at me. But this was a lake many times wider than the Plains of the Demon Wolf. Even if we went all out this time, nothing would get caught in our range.

Let's do this!

「...Release the pieces of the Evil God's power...」

『Destroy everything! Destroy——』

「Shut up, all you have to do is give me your power」

Following my words, a large amount of Evil Spirits then overflowed from the piece of the Evil God sealed inside Master to me. Before, I couldn't control this Evil Spirit well and went out of control, but now I could control it perfectly.

I didn't want to admit it, but it was the same power that Murellia had used. I hated it so much when I got this power that it made me want to throw up, but now I'm going to use it.

「...Soul of the Night Sky activated」

This was the unique skill of the Dark Knight Wolf. It was a power we inherited from the magic stone that Urushi, who died protecting me from Murellia's attack, entrusted to us at the end of his life. It was a skill that could enhance one's status only during the night like now.

「Master, activate all the other strengthening skills」

『Okay』

There used to be an onee-san with a kind voice called “Announcer-san” who used to give me a lot of advice, but she had disappeared, saying something about the Evil control.

I could feel my body screaming as I applied too much strengthening on top of each other.

I keep thinking that I might die. I never thought about it before Master became like what he was now, but I get a little scared about the thought of it now.

But I also thought that I didn't mind if I die. So, I'd just do what I always did.

「Master, don't mind using recovery magic, just put everything into strengthening」

『Okay』

I continue to talk while holding the pain in my body.

「Can I use Master in his Potential Release state?」

「Master's thought, I want to hear it」

『If you use it, you will be able to defeat it for sure. However, the backlash will affect your future battles. In some cases, your life may be in danger. If you don't use it, you may or may not be able to defeat it. However, you can maintain your fighting ability』

「Not that, that's not what I meant. Let me hear which one you think is better, Master」

『I don't have the right to answer that question』

Just as I was about to get disappointed with Master's usual answer.

『Oi! The idiot over there! You bastard! Why are you making Fran cry!? I'll never forgive you!』

For a moment, I thought I heard Master's old gentle voice.

Chapter 642

『Fran! Are you okay!?!』

I heard that gentle voice again...

Was it not my imagination? But from where?

I couldn't feel any sign of him.

Just as I was looking around for the source of that voice, Rhyn reappeared in front of me again.

「Fran. You have a tough battle waiting for you in the future. This is not a fate; it is inevitable for you now. But in your current state, you'll probably lose your life」

「Rhyn?」

「So, this is a gift from me——or should I say, from us. It may be small, but please accept it」

It was right after Rhyn had said that and opened her hands.

The surrounding area turned completely white.

「Huh, Rhyn?」

There, I saw another Rhyn. But just as I was thinking about what was going on, another figure suddenly appeared next to that Rhyn.

What appeared was another Me and Master.

That was definitely Me and Master, but she looked a little different than me, like her equipment, and her expression for example...

Intuitively, though, I understood.

Maybe that was me from a different world, or maybe from the future, I didn't know which one it was, I wondered where that Me had come from.

But the voice from earlier seems to be coming from the Master over there.

『Fran!』

「Master?」

『O-oooh! You can hear me now?』

It seemed that my mumbling had been answered.

How I envy her... the Master with her was still Master...

『I'm gonna heal you now!』

The Master over there then tried to do something, but it seemed that he had failed.

『Why won't my magic work!』

「I'm sorry. I wasn't able to make a perfect connection. I used your enhanced strength to bring us together. I also used your connection with each other, and yet, this is as far as I could bring you」

「Romio, Zelos Reed, and Zelyse. Using the three's connections and with the help of Master, we were able to change fate. But I need you to be patient for a little longer...」

Said the Rhyn beside me and the Rhyn over there while bowing their heads.

I didn't really get what they're talking about, but it was a miracle that I could talk with Master again.

Then I called out to the Me over there.

「Hey... Me」

「What is it, Me?」

「...Are you happy?」

「Nn. I'm happy every day with Master and Urushi. Are you not happy?」

「Nn...」

Aah, I knew it. That Me over there was happy. But that was only natural because she had Master and Urushi with her.

「After all, Master has...」

「This Master has...」

「Nn」

That Me nodded gently at me. Then, I couldn't hold my words any longer.

「He doesn't show his kindness anymore... He doesn't say anything to me at all... He stopped praising me, and he never scolds me anymore!」

What was coming out of my mouth were my true feelings, which I'd never told anyone before.

Because I felt like if I said that, all of it would come true...

「I hate Master that is in such a state! That's not the Master I know! I want Master like that Master over there!」

My words poured out one after another.

「Tell me, Master! How can I get Master back to normal! How can I get him to smile like before! Tell me!」

I blurted out everything I wanted to say.

「Master, what am I supposed to do...?」

『I don't understand. There's nothing wrong with me. It's more that Fran herself seemed upset』

But what came back from Master was not the words I was expecting. I was a bit hopeful because I just heard the gentle voice of the Master over there...

『Combat action in this state is dangerous. Try not to get too agitated』

「That's not what I want to hear!」

『Fran. Don't get too agitated』

「So noisy! Shut up! Shut up, shut up! Don't talk to me with that voice! The one like you are not Master!」

Immediately after I shouted so, a gentle voice muttered in dismay.

『O-Ooh... F-Fran has become like a delinquent!』

He sounded a little bothered for some reason.

「Delinquent?」

「What a delinquent is?」

The two of us tilted our heads at the same time. It was the first time I had heard that word.

「A-ah. That is, like a bad kid with a foul mouth, maybe? It was like a nickname placed on a kid who talks rudely to their parents or teacher」

「I see! Then, that Me has become a delinquent」

「I'm not. I'm not a bad kid」

「But, you seem to have become one」

「No, I'm not!」

I wonder why. I was supposed to be being made fun of, but I was having so much fun talking like this.

But there was a voice that put a damper on such a pleasant mood.

『Current status. Fran's aggressiveness is much higher than it used to be. The term “delinquent” applies to the Fran now』

My happy mood suddenly turned sour. For some reason, it made me feel very sad. I couldn't help but turn my head down. Why... why was it so painful?

Then I heard a shout in my ear.

『Oi! You bastard! What the hell are you saying!? Are you really me!?』

『...What am I saying?』

『You think Fran has become a delinquent? That was because of you! Then, all you had to do was make sure she didn't become one!』

『I'm a sword. I don't have that kind of right』

『That's not true, right!? I don't care about rights or anything like that! Did you forget what were we? Weren't we supposed to be Fran's Master!?』

『Master is just a name. It is merely a symbol used to identify an individual name. My essence is a sword』

『You're wrong! We're not just a sword, we're her Master! And you think a master is just a symbol? That's wrong too!』

『I'm not wrong. It's a fact』

『You're wrong! Master was a name that Fran gave us, remember? That is our goal, that is Fran's hope! And I wanted to make it come true! Don't you even remember that!? We're just a sword? Don't forget that before that, we're her Master!』

『I am...』

『Look at her! Fran is crying! You don't feel anything when you see her like that!?』

I just realized it when the Master over there mentioned that I had been crying all this time. I wonder why I couldn't stop my tears from coming out?

『...She's, crying?』

『You didn't even notice it, did you!? You can't even say a word of comfort to Fran when she's crying!? Have you turned into a mere sword!?』

「Master...」

『I...』

『I'm going to ask you one more time. You see Fran crying, and you don't want to say a word to her!?』

『I...』

『Don't you feel anything when you see Fran's tears!? You idiot!』

『I...!』

Master's voice over here sounded like a human being for the first time in a long time. And at the same time, I heard a voice that I missed so much.

《Instability of the individual named Master detected》

「Eh? Announcer-san?」

《Yes, individual named Fran, I was the individual named Announcer-san. I had secured enough power to operate from the transferred power》

「I thought you were gone...」

《As long as the individual named Master is not destroyed, the individual named Announcer-san will not disappear》

「I see...」

《Instability of the individual named Master detected. He seemed to be shocked from realizing the difference with his other self》

『Announcer-san... I...』

《Suggestion to the individual named Fran. His current state can get even worse》

「Even worse...? Then what should I do?」

《Answer. Don't be afraid》

「Eh...?」

《This may be your last chance》

「Do your best, delinquent me」

「I'm not a delinquent!」

The other me chuckled when I reflexively said that back. But I didn't hate it.

「Nn. See you, Me」

Prompted by Announcer-san and the Me over there, I hesitantly opened my mouth.

「Nn... Hey, Master. Can you hear me?」

『Fran...? I...』

For the first time in a long time, I heard that gentle voice again from the Master over here.

Chapter 643

Edited by Phantom0408

「Fran, Sword-san, we're losing our connection!」

Said Rhyn to us. It must mean that this mysterious event was coming to an end.

At the very least, I must say something to her!

「Nn. See you, Me」

It was right after I shouted that.

The other Fran, that dimwit me, and the other Rhyn disappeared.

『So it's over?』

「Yeah, we got disconnected from them」

As Rhyn said, I couldn't feel their presence anymore.

『Hey, Rhyn. What was that?』

「That was Fran and Master from the other timeline. That was when Sierra, Zelos Reed, and Zelyse got transferred into our timeline」

『Has that me... turned into a mere sword?』

「Yes」

「So that's what Master is going to be?」

Fran muttered sadly. It seemed that she had imagined what I would be like if I became like that.

「I'm sorry. I'm not entirely sure anymore. But, you know, the future must have changed a lot. That's why our connection was severed」

「What was the future like before the change? Was it not so good?」

「Fran runs out of control in desperation and uses all of her power to match the piece of the Evil God sealed within Master. Causing a lot of people to get involved in the mess she made」

That's awful... But that Fran was definitely in danger from being over strengthened. And that Me, who was supposed to stop her, was in such a state.

『But the future has changed, hasn't it?』

「Yes. It was thanks to you guys. The words that Fran and Sword-san said to the two of you over there had changed the future in a significant way...」

『So that Fran won't be in danger of dying like what Rhyn said she would, right?』

「Yes. At the very least, that Sword-san should have regained his heart as a person. After all, if the future hadn't changed that much, our connection wouldn't have been severed so suddenly」

「Now we just have to hope that their future has changed for the better」

「Nn...」

I wondered what happened to us over there? Did he manage to heal Fran's broken heart even a little? Did I, who had become nothing more than a sword, become any better?

「Master, I'm sure they'll be fine」

「Nn, after all, our words must have reached them. So, no worries」

『You're right. They were Me and Fran after all! With a little spark, I'm sure we'll be able to change for the better』

「Nn」

Now that Fran mentioned it, she was right.

『It seems that the Announcer-san over there also recovered』

《Yes. I also have shared some information with the individual named Announcer-san over there. She will surely make good use of it》

『Some information?』

《I have shared the information I have analyzed from the individual named Master and the methods to prevent him from adapting too far to his sword body》

『I-I see...』

Did she mean the information about my personality? It seemed she had concluded that by using that information, the Announcer-san over there should be able to come up with a measure so that the Me over there didn't turn into a mere sword.

That was a relief. As expected of Announcer-san, she was very capable! But I felt a little embarrassed though because it was like my mind had been analyzed.

《We also succeeded in exchanging some skill information》

『Does that mean we got a new skill?』

《Yes, I provided them with the information about Evil Crusher and Magic Power Transfer, while that Announcer-san provided us with the information about Spirit Detection and Evil Spirit Control. Based on the information, we succeeded in obtaining the skill Spirit Detection and the unique skill Evil Spirit Control. Also——》

W-what a long explanation! It seemed that Announcer-san managed to exchange a tremendous amount of information in that short time.

《Successfully obtained the unique skill Divine Power Manipulation based on the information of Evil Crusher and Evil Spirit Control. Successfully obtained the Unique Skill Spirit's Hand based on the information of Divine Mind Manipulation and Spirit Detection》

I-I'd gotten a lot of skills. Simply put, Spirit Detection was just as its name implied, it allowed the user to detect spirits. With this, we'd be able to detect spirits with our skills now.

The Evil Spirit Control was a skill to manipulate the Evil Spirit. It seemed to be similar to the Evil Spirit version of Magic Control, but it seemed to be of a higher level and had a stronger influence on the target.

And I was glad we got our hand at the Divine Power Manipulation. This was a skill that made the user better at handling Divine Attributes. So, we might be able to reduce the backlash from using the Divine Attribute with this skill.

And the Spirit's Hand. This was a skill that allowed the user to not only see spirits but also influence them. It could even allow us to touch and attack the spirits. Well, it seemed to be quite difficult to master. So, I guess it was gonna depend on our future training.

I wish I could have tried everything first, but it seemed that I didn't have the time to do so.

「I'm sorry, but it's time for us to get back to our timeline. Be careful...」

『Oi! Isn't that gonna be dangerous...?』

I didn't know what would happen if we suddenly went back to our normal time from our current state of super acceleration. The worst that could happen would be that we could lose our balance.

After all, we were in the middle of being launched at a very high speed from the sky to the Great Magic Beast.

I wondered whether I could ask her to put us back slowly, but——.

「Rhyn, you okay? You look so pale」

「I just pushed myself a little too hard... But not anymore...」

I could see the scenery around us begin to flow by us slowly. It seemed like time had begun to start flowing again!

《Three seconds left until time acceleration is deactivated》

『Fran! Don't lose your balance!』

「Nn! Leave it to me!」

Fran nodded with a motivated look on her face. Apparently, she was inspired by seeing that Fran and me over there.

「We can't afford to lose!」

『Ou! You're right!』

She was not saying to what, but I felt the same way!

Chapter 644

Edited by Phantom0408

「Sword God Transformation!」

Immediately after Fran shouted so, Rhyn's super-acceleration was deactivated, and the surrounding scenery flowed out at once like before.

『Kuh』

I already knew this would happen, but the disorientation was terrible!

Immediately after we were out of the super acceleration state, the ugly body of the Great Magic Beast with countless mouths on the surface of its body appeared in the field of our vision.

Fran seemed to have made it through too.

We then instantly corrected the disorientation in our senses and delivered the best blow with everything we had in our hands, including the Sword God Transformation, Potential Release, and Evil Crusher.

Our attack was slightly off to the right of our aim, but that could not be helped.

「Haaa!」

『Rhaa!』

The tremendous torrent of power that rushed through my sword body was unleashed on the Great Magic Beast.

But before I could even feel myself slicing through the beast, I deactivated my Potential Release and other strengthening skills at the same time as the slash and teleported us a little further away.

After all, if I didn't do that, we wouldn't be able to teleport in time.

However, a slight feeling of having sliced through something remained. That told me that our attack was successful.

『How was that?』

「...Nn」

Just before we collided with the Great Magic Beast, we teleported to the sky and saw a terrible sight.

『It was a success, huh... Sierra too』

「Nn」

There were two huge wounds on the Great Magic Beast. The two cuts ran vertically parallel to each other.

I could feel that the presence I felt from the Great Magic Beast had dropped a few notches. It seemed that our attack had definitely inflicted significant damage to it.

One was caused by our slashes. And the other one was——.

「Sierra」

In the distance, we could see that Sierra was frozen in place with his magic sword, Zelos Reed, raised in the air.

Anyway, it seemed that the other wound was definitely caused by Sierra's slash.

『It looks like Sierra's attack was almost as powerful as our best attack...』

「Nn」

It was hard to believe. But I could tell it was his attack because the wounds were lined up like this. The width and depth of the wounds were almost the same in both wounds.

『But our attacks were made of the Divine Attribute, and the wound should heal more slowly!』

That was what I thought, however...

「Obeeeey meee...」

「Its regeneration didn't start at all」

『Not on the other wounds too, huh?』

It seemed that the Evil Spirit had invaded the wound and prevented it from regenerating.

I didn't expect him to be able to deliver an attack of almost equal power...

As I looked at Sierra with a confused look, I saw him collapse on the spot while his whole body was covered with a black Evil Spirit.

Sierra's condition was pretty dangerous, wasn't it? Zelos Reed then ran to him in panic and held him in his arms. He seemed to be unconscious.

Zelos Reed himself was in tatters from continuously receiving the rays of the Great Magic Beast, but Sierra's attack's backlash must have been even more severe.

Well, it didn't mean that I had the time to worry about others either.

「...Muh」

『Fran, are you okay?』

「...The backlash is just a little more severe...」

『I see... Actually, I felt the same too...』

「Nn...」

Without our Levitation skills, we would have fallen into the lake long ago. That was how bad the backlash was. Even with Life Magic and Divine Power Manipulation, we were in this kind of state.

The thought of not having those skills made me break out in a cold sweat.

「Master can't recover yet?」

『Yeah, I've used the Divine Attributes on top of Potential Release after all. My durability value hasn't recovered at all...』

I had less than 100 durability values left. I really would be a piece of junk for a while.

I think I'd spent about 5,000 magic stones worth to use the Potential Release this time. Well, I didn't regret it though, because it seemed to have helped us to connect with the other side.

「Urushi」

Urushi ran up to us while dragging his paw limply.

Among us, Urushi was the one in the best condition with only a broken paw.

「I'll heal you now」

「Woof」

『Urushi, I'm counting on you for the time being』

Both Fran and I were extremely slow to recover from our injuries. In our current state, we couldn't even fight properly.

「Woof!」

「We're counting on you」

『For now, let's see how's Sierra and the others going』

「No, you need to get out of here right now...」

『Rhyn?』

Where was she? I could only hear her voice... I couldn't even tell where she was with my newly acquired Spirit Detection skill.

「I just can't maintain my form anymore. But somehow, I managed to deliver my voice to you...」

「Is it because of connecting this side to that side?」

「There are many other reasons too, but... It was the price I had to pay for seeing too far into the future... Rather than that, you guys need to get away from here...」

I didn't know what was going on, but I didn't feel comfortable letting the struggling Rhyn talk anymore.

Even in such a condition, the fact that she went to the trouble of telling us this indicated that we really needed to get away from here.

「Urushi」

「Woof!」

We decided to get away from here without even checking what was going on.

Note: My editor got involved in a car accident and was unable to do his part until next week, this chapter was the last one he had edited so you'll need to be patient until he recovers.

Chapter 645

Really sorry for the long delay, but (I hope) we're back on schedule
now!

I instructed Urushi to get away from the Great Magic Beast. And immediately after, the Great Magic Beast released a tremendous amount of magic power from its body.

「 「 「Grrrhaaaah!」 」 」

All the mouths screamed wildly and twisted their huge bodies as if they were in pain.

「Kyain!」 (Sfx dog's whimper)

『Guh!』

Being exposed to the wave of magic power that the Great Magic Beast released from its entire body, Urushi shrieked and pushed his magic barrier to its full strength.

Having exhausted our powers, Fran and I were unable to do anything, we had to rely on Urushi for the time being.

「Urushi, do your best...」

『Do your best, Urushi!』

「Grrrrr!」

Urushi made his barrier even thicker as he held his ground.

「Grrrr...」

At the same time, we could see tens of thousands of tentacles being produced from the body of the Great Magic Beast, that twisted and writhed around chaotically.

From time to time, its tentacles would even hit our barrier, but Urushi gritted his teeth and tried to withstand it.

But rather than being on a rampage, the Great Magic Beast seemed to be in pain and was struggling to overcome it.

「 「 「Aghaaaaah!」 」 」

『...Is it because Rhyn has been separated from it?』

The Great Magic Beast's rampage has become even wilder than before. The wounds we had inflicted were still there, but they had become relatively small because of the swelling of the Great Magic Beast's body.

I couldn't find Rhyn anywhere, but if she had been separated from it, then it was no wonder that the Great Magic Beast's power had suddenly increased.

She was the one who had sealed and weakened the power of the Great Magic Beast after all.

「 「 「Ugrooaah! 」 」 」

『W-wha!?!』

The wave of magic power subsided, but now the swelling of the Great Magic Beast's body began to accelerate. However, there seemed to be something odd with it.

I heard a sound that was similar to flesh being torn apart, and along with it, I saw that the body of the Great Magic Beast was tearing itself apart. A large amount of reddish-black liquid then overflowed from the torn places on its body and started spreading all around. Was it its blood?

It was clearly suffering from the damage. However, the tears were quickly regenerating and new ones were being created. During that process, the Great Magic Beast's body continued to swell.

It seemed that it was trying to force its way out of the seal, wasn't it? Until now, the Great Magic Beast had been trying to get out of the weakened seal little by little and escape without forcing it.

However, the situation had undergone a sudden change. As a result of the disappearance of Rhyn and the fact that she was the reason it was weakened, the Great Magic Beast seemed to have prioritized escaping from the seal as its top priority. This explained its strange behavior.

《Yes. I have the same opinion》

『Isn't this dangerous then?』

This thing was only at the size of its arm right now. The five of us won't be able to defeat it even after putting all our might into our attacks when it has fully resurrected.

What if it were to be fully resurrected, albeit somewhat weakened?

We'd need the power of Weena Rhyn's Ougi to put a stop at it as soon as possible. She should have already started preparing for it.

(TLN: Ougi, secret technique a.k.a Ultimate or Super in game terms)

『But I wouldn't be surprised if Weena Rhyn's attack might even get us involved in it as well!』

「Woof!」

I didn't know what Fran thought of Weena Rhyn, but my opinion of that woman had been pretty low.

On the other hand, though, my opinion of Rhyn, who I had been somewhat distrustful of, has gone through the roof.

I think I'm a bit of a simple-minded person.

However, there was a figure blocking Urushi's path as he tried to escape. It was obviously trying to block our way.

The shadow called out to us with an easy-going attitude that seemed to be out of place under such circumstances.

「Hello, Fran-san! Would you mind lending me that sword for a moment?」

『As I thought, he wasn't dead that time!』

「...Zelyse」

The person who was there was a handsome young man with a grin on his face as he pointed his rainbow-colored magic sword Zelyse to us.

「The man who spoke to me at that time. That's the incarnation of the sword or something, right?」

「Fufu. If you don't want to tell me, that's fine. I'm sure I can figure it out by taking that sword apart」

Fran let out a chilling killing intent at him after hearing his words, but she doesn't try to slash me at him. After all, we were too battered to do anything serious now.

Besides, Zelyse wasn't alone this time.

Next to him, a magician in a black robe floated silently.

But the fact that I could only feel a faint magic power from it was kinda unsettling.

From inside the jet-black robe, the empty eye sockets of a skull stared at us.

The skull's face didn't seem to be a mask. But belong to a real undead. The quality of its magic power was clearly different from that of a human.

Moreover, it doesn't seem to be a normal undead either.

The two holes in the skull looked as if they were filled with bottomless darkness. There was a strange sense of dread as if something sinister was about to overflow out of the darkness and swallow us whole.

Fran felt a shiver run down her spine. Just like me, she must have sensed something.

The lack of familiarity and the viciousness I felt just by looking at it told me that it must be a strong undead.

What I couldn't understand was that he was undead, but he had the skill and reason to conceal his power himself.

「Kukaka——」

The creepy undead laughed in a shrill voice.

「Kukakakakaka——! I never thought I'd see you in a place like this!」

What did it mean?

That statement now. It was as if it knew Fran...

Of course, there was no way Fran could remember what I couldn't. She tilted her head in confusion.

「Who?」

「It's no wonder you don't know. Even I don't actually know you myself!」

Did it know Fran from someone else then?

I appraised the undead in front of me for the time being. However, for the first time in a long time, my appraisal was working well and showed me all of its status and skills. In the past, even though I had the Heavenly Eye, my appraisals couldn't get through at all because they were either super high ranking beings, clothed in evil spirits, or were spirits.

『Fran! This undead is strong!』

(Really strong?)

『Yeah. It has a threat level of B or higher on its own. Moreover, it's a necromancer on par with Jean!』

In terms of overall threat level, it could have been an A. It was not as strong as the Lich we fought on the Floating Island, but it's certainly stronger than the Legendary Skeleton under his command.

「Are you Zelyse's subordinate?」

「You think I work for this guy? What kind of nonsense is that? I am the commander of the Black Skeleton Army! I'm only lending him my strength this time because of the Duke's insistence!」

「The Black Skeleton Army?」

「That's right. The most powerful army ever created in the Kingdom of Raidos! A name that will even replace the Red Knights and become a legend!」

「And you're the commander of that army?」

「Yes. I am Nameless, the King of the Dead! Remember me! No, you're going to die here though. So how can you possibly remember that?」

「Muh」

Luckily, this guy was as stupid as Zelyse. Without needing to be provoked, it leaked a lot of information itself.

「Is The Black Skeleton Army a force of undead?」

「That's right! The mightiest army of the mightiest undead created by my secret arts! I'll have that damned necromancer bled to death in our next battle!」

In other words, the Wight King and the other undead we've encountered were created by this undead using its Underworld Magic? But considering its magic and skill set, it may not be impossible.

What it meant by 'that damned necromancer' must have been Jean. Well, he was like a natural enemy to the Kingdom of Raidos, so it was only natural for them to take measures against him.

In fact, it had the strength to be on even ground with him.

「Kukakaka! If you surrender right now, I'll kill you in an instant so that you don't suffer, and then I'll make you one of my minions——well, that's what I'd say if you were an ordinary person though...」

The Demi Lich released a tremendous killing intent that even made Fran brace herself. It wasn't just killing intent. It was a mixture of anger, hatred, and resentment that made Fran's skin crawl.

It was said that a ghost was born out of resentment and harboring hatred for the living. But this seems to be more than just that. Obviously, it has its thoughts about Fran.

「You're the only one I'm going to kill here. I somehow feel obliged to do so...」

「That being is screaming inside of me」

「The grudge of the Emperor of the Dead——the grudge of the Lich which has become a part of me is screaming at me to kill you! You will return the favor you owed to him on the floating island!」

The Demi Lich——Nameless, covered its white skull with its right hand, which looked like a withered branch as if to grasp it.

It is a gesture that made it look like a grieving tragic hero, but that didn't seem to be the reason. Rather, it seemed to be an act of suppressing the rage that could explode at any moment.

As proof of this, all kinds of negative emotions seemed to be leaking out of the hollow eyes that peeped out from between its thin fingers.

「Lich? Do you mean the Lich from that time?」

「Kukakaka! I'm talking about the dungeon master who perished on the Floating Island, the one who was originally an experimental subject for the Kingdom of Raidos!」

Oi oi, Seriously? I did think of some connection between the Lich and Demi Lich, as it was related to the Kingdom of Raidos. But I never thought that Lich actually has a direct connection with the Raidos Kingdom!

「I am grateful to you. Thanks to you, I was able to recover the fragment of the Lich's hatred!」

If you ask me, I think they might actually look alike. Well, I guess it's only natural that they look alike since they are both skeletons.

However, the atmosphere they wore and the way they spoke were also very similar.

「I was created by taking in the fragment of that Lich's hatred that was recovered from the ruins of the Floating Island! The faint remnants of that Lich's memory tell me that you are my enemy!」

I see. If this undead inherited the memory and hatred of that Lich, it would certainly have a motive to resent Fran.

「That's why! You'll die here!」

The Demi Lich who shouted so came charging at us with great speed.

「Woof!」

「Guh! Don't run away!」

『Let's leave this place quickly!』

「Woof!」

「Hey, Wait a minute!」

Nameless seemed to be strong in melee combat, but it was more suited to be a commander. And as expected, it could not compete with Urushi in a chase and win.

However, there were two opponents this time. Zelyse blocked Urushi's path as he tried to escape. Even if his combat power was not as strong as Nameless', this guy is much more dangerous than Nameless in that we would never know what he would do next.

「Urushi, do your best!」

「Woof!」

「Kukakakaka! Eat this!」

「Hey hey hey!」

Nameless struck at us while flying at high speed, and Zelyse released his magic as if he were trying to intercept us.

「Kukakakaka!」

「Grrrrr!」

Great job, Urushi! He was able to catch Nameless' fist with his paw. He also used his fangs to make up for the lack of moves and managed to strike at it. With the sound of our blows reverberating through the air, we entered a momentary stalemate.

But this seemed to be what they were waiting for. While we were being held back by Nameless, Zelyse's magic attacked us. A huge black vortex swallowed Nameless and us, and the scenery in our vision changed completely.

「Woof?」

「Eh?」

『W-what is this!?!』

It was probably some kind of Dimension Gate, a way to connect space to space. Although being engulfed by it, the vortex itself was not dangerous, but the reaction of my detection has become dull.

Well, now that Fran and I are pretty weakened if Urushi couldn't detect things, there was no way we could.

However, where the hole was connected to was the most dangerous place around the lake.

In front of us, the body of the Great Magic Beast appeared. I could see the wriggling tentacles up close. The place where we were teleported was right in front of the Great Magic Beast.

The tentacles reacted to us and attacked. Could it be that they were planning to let the Great Magic Beast get rid of us!?

「Ahahaha! Sure, I'm interested in that sword, but I'm more interested in getting rid of it! It was my natural enemy after all!」

「Ugh!」

Fran glared at Zelyse, but he soon disappeared from our sight. Countless tentacles had begun to cover the surrounding of Urushi's barrier.

「Kukakaka! Just get swallowed by the great magic beast like that!」

Chapter 647

Edited by Phantom0408

We're in deep trouble.

Right now, we are about to be entangled and swallowed by the tentacles of the Great Magic Beast.

Urushi's barrier was still protecting us, but it would reach its limit in less than ten seconds. I could feel the magic of the barrier fading rapidly.

But that didn't mean we couldn't escape. We could use teleport to get out of here.

The only problem was that it would exhaust my magic power for real. After that, we would be completely dependent on Urushi.

『Urushi, can you do something for me?』

(Woof!)

Urushi nodded energetically at my words. I guess he knew what he had to do.

『Alright, let's do——No, wait!』

I just noticed that the magic around me had become strange. A strange magic power had suddenly covered our surroundings. It didn't seem to be coming from Zelyse, Nameless, or even the Great Magic Beast.

There was no sign of hostility, rather, it was giving off a sense of security, as if it were trying to protect us.

And then the wall of tentacles that had been swallowing us began to come off as if it were going to vanish.

With a dull sound as if something was hitting us at high speed, our field of vision became clear.

『What in the world has happened...?』

「Get out of here, quickly」

『Rhyn?』

Out of nowhere, I heard Rhyn's voice. It wasn't a voice that was sent directly into our minds like telepathy, but it was as if Rhyn had whispered directly into our ears.

But when I looked around, Rhyn was nowhere to be found.

『I could feel her presence, though...』

I could feel Rhyn's presence, albeit faintly. I guess it was thanks to my Spirit Detection skill.

「In a few minutes, Weena Rhyn will release her attack」

『She's going to use her trump card, huh?』

「I'm not sure if I can help you guys anymore... But, do your best to get away from here...」

Rhyn muttered bitterly as her voice began to become inaudible. The subtle hints that I had sensed from the surrounding area also seemed to have gone away.

But now was not the time to worry about Rhyn.

『Urushi! Let's go!』

「Woof!」

Judging from the hint of impatience in Rhyn's voice, it seemed that we didn't have much time anymore.

「Kukakaka! I don't know what you've done to get out of there, but I won't let you get away from here!」

Nameless, who was supposed to be entangled in the tentacles with us, had already escaped from the restraint and was waiting for Urushi.

Well, it was not going to let itself get caught up with its comrades' technique after all!

「Rhaaa!」

「Grrrr...」

Whenever Nameless thrust its left and right fists in succession, a shockwave was generated and struck Urushi. In addition, the shockwaves were released over a wide area, making it impossible for Urushi to escape.

There was almost no gap left for us to escape.

Besides, the apparent escape route was clearly a trap. Zelyse must be waiting for us at the end of it.

I guess they intended to drive Urushi into it and kill us, like a trap for hunting animals.

However, Urushi immediately saw through their aim.

「Woooof!」

「What! You're trying to get away from there!?!」

Urushi dared to rush into the thickest part of the barrage of the undead's attack and forced his way through using his dark magic and barriers to block out the shockwave.

He broke through the shockwave released by the Fist Saint Technique head-on. But he was not unscathed.

Urushi's whole body was covered in wounds and blood was gushing out of his body.

I guess the parts of the barrier used to protect himself were not strong enough because he made the parts to protect Fran and me on his back thicker.

However, Urushi didn't seem to care about the damage he had suffered and continued to push forward.

「I'm not letting you go I said!」

Zelyse, who had teleported in front of us, unleashed his attack. His tone was as easy-going as ever, but the technique he unleashed was nothing short of fierce.

It must be a technique that he had originally prepared to kill us in their trap. The amount of magic power contained in it was enough to make me shudder.

The power of each shot probably surpassed that of the Fist Saint technique that Nameless had just unleashed.

This was bad.

After all, his attack had a Space-Time Attribute in it. There was no way to escape even with Dimension Shift. And since it covered a wide area, it would be difficult to avoid.

I guess we would just have to withstand it by putting a barrier at full power. But just as I was thinking about it, I saw Zelyse had started to concentrate his magic power to release a second wave.

Don't tell me he could fire consecutive shots? No, it seemed it was only possible if Zelyse and the magic sword Zelyse took turns firing! This was exactly what made an Intelligence Weapon so annoying!

But that didn't stop Urushi.

『Urushi! What are you...!?』

「Wrrrooof!」

While keeping a keen eye on the wall of magic bullets, he collided with it head-on.

Clank clank clank!

With a high-pitched sound as if metal was crushing against metal, Urushi's barrier that was covering our surroundings was bombarded with magic bullets. I could feel his barrier becoming weaker with each impact.

But that was not the only problem.

「Urushi!」

『Put up a barrier for yourself!』

「Woof!」

Urushi had put up only minimal barriers for himself. He seemed to be deploying barriers concentrating on the front to protect his head...

He did not receive any direct hits. However, the bullets that snatched the flank of his body scraped off Urushi's flesh, and a large amount of blood spurted out from the wound.

Still, that didn't stop Urushi from pushing forward.

He escaped the barrage with a large amount of red blood spraying from his body.

「Unbelievable!」

Zelyse seemed to be really surprised by this. His eyes were wide open as he shouted so.

Chapter 648

Edited by Phantom0408

Seeing that Urushi had forcefully broken through his barrage of magic bullets, Zelyse shouted in surprise.

But that did not seem to stop him from moving.

Zelyse quickly raised his magic sword and tried to release the second barrage. He also took out a large magic stone from his pocket and grinned.

Judging from the enormous amount of magic power contained within it and my danger detection skills that started to ring like crazy, it must have been some really powerful magic stone weapon.

Their plan must be to use the magic bullets to hinder Urushi's movement and stop him with the magic stone weapon.

But they'd underestimated Urushi too much, hadn't they? Urushi was not a mere decoration here with us. He was our reliable partner who had reached a new level of evolution.

Urushi suddenly accelerated.

Yes, he had been pretending to be running at his full speed, but in fact, he was still holding back all this time. This was not because he was slacking, but rather out of consideration for Fran on his back.

However, thanks to this, he had been able to outsmart Zelyse. He showed an irritated look at Urushi, who was rapidly advancing at a speed beyond his imagination.

Fran looked in pain at the sudden acceleration, but she didn't make a complaint. Urushi noticed that too, but he did not slow down.

That was also because of Zelyse's words.

「I'm not done yet—!」

He then swung his Magic Sword Zelyse horizontally and scattered magic bullets to us. The power of the bullets was weaker than before due to insufficient buildup, but the bullets were released in greater concentrations.

I could see that Zelyse's expression had regained a little of its composure.

The power of his attack was certainly powerful. A direct hit from it would probably kill even a magic beast with a threat level of C.

But did he really think he could defeat Urushi with just that? He had grown stronger through his training after all.

「Woof!」

Urushi then launched his own secret move.

Dark Magic Lv7, Dark Embrace. Essentially, it was a technique to increase one's defense and physical strength by covering one's entire body with darkness.

However, as a result of his training, Urushi had succeeded in modifying this technique in his own way.

The jet-black darkness produced covered only Urushi's head. By doing that, only the power of his fangs was strengthened. At the same time, I noticed that he had also activated his Dimensional Fangs.

If the Giant Wolf, Urushi were to seriously bite with all his might, even an orichalcon could be crushed like a candy ball. It was a super-powerful blow that combined the Dark and Space-Time Attributes.

It was not a technique that he and Fran had combined, but a technique that he created to finish off an enemy by himself. This was Urushi's surefire attack.

Amanda, who named this technique 『World Breaker Fang』 said that even she would not be able to avoid a fatal wound if she were hit directly by it.

「Grooaah!」

「Ghaaaaah!」

With his fangs deflecting the space-time magic bullets released by Zelyse, Urushi returned to his original size and bit into Zelyse's body.

I could see Urushi's fangs, which had become as big as a log stake, were crushing the lower half of Zelyse's body.

「Ghuh... I never heard this wolf could do something like this...」

Zelyse muttered to himself as he floated in the air with only the upper half of his body remaining.

Well, maybe Zelyse had gotten information about Urushi from his other self who had become a magic sword. Or, if he knew that Urushi was the Darkness Wolf, he could have predicted his evolutionary path.

Even though the evolutionary path of the Darkness Wolf had excellent leadership and magic power, they did not have a great ability for direct attack. The small-sized Urushi would have looked like a Dark Knight Wolf or even a Gehenna Wolf at a first glance after all.

As a result, Zelyse and Nameless must have misjudged Urushi's fighting strength.

Although he looked pretty bad, Zelyse's vitality was not yet exhausted. In fact, I could see the signs of regeneration about to begin.

「Hm? I wonder why my regeneration is quite slow... Good grief... What in the hell is that wolf...?」

I couldn't feel any sense of panic in Zelyse's eyes, rather he seemed to be curious about something. What an abnormal guy to not be shaken in his current situation.

No, it seemed that he was confident that he could escape from this. After all, as long as he had his Magic Sword Zelyse, he could use a variety of its abilities. He then put away the magic stone weapon and held up the Magic Sword Zelyse.

It was certain that Zelyse was badly injured and stuck in a situation where he could not move. It was our chance to defeat him, but...

「Grrr...」

Urushi was still unable to move because of the backlash from his powerful move. Fran and I didn't have enough strength left to unleash an attack that could defeat Zelyse either.

「Aah, well, it seems that is all from me for today——」

Shit! He was gonna run!

「——Hmm?」

What happened? Zelyse must have tried to activate his Teleportation skill, but nothing seemed to have happened? Had it failed to activate? But when I was thinking about that, I noticed that there was a slight presence of a Spirit around Zelyse.

Was it Rhyn's doing!? After all, as a Spirit of Time and Water, Rhyn should be able to block others from teleporting.

Then, for the first time, I saw a hint of impatience on Zelyse's face.

「Shit... what a troublesome... Ghaah! T-this is!?!」

「Hmm」

It was Fran. She whipped her heavily exhausted body to the very limit and unleashed a magic bullet. The power was at its weakest, it might not even kill a goblin.

However, it seemed that she was able to at least break Zelyse's stance. Fran then directed her eyes at me.

Very well, I'll push myself too!

『Rhaa!』

「Tsk!」

What I activated was Telekinesis. I could only activate it for a moment. However, with the loss of his lower body and the loss of his sense of balance, Zelyse was unable to resist the force that was suddenly delivered from an outside source.

I pushed Zelyse downward as far as I could.

That was all there was to it, but——.

「Eh?」

Countless tentacles then tangled around Zelyse's body.

Chapter 649

Edited by Phantom0408

「Eh?」

Countless tentacles then tangled around Zelyse's body.

The tentacles that Rhyn had blown off had grown back.

Of course, Zelyse and Nameless had been evading it all this time as well. However, I pushed Zelyse down to the tentacles that were aiming for Urushi.

I don't expect this to take him down, but it will buy us enough time to escape.

「Tsk!」

Zelyse twisted his body in an attempt to shake off the tentacles that were wrapping around his body. He must have thought that he could escape from it, but it didn't seem to be happening.

Zelyse held on in the air, trying not to get dragged down. He seemed to have redirected his magic from regeneration to it as well and used his magic to repel the tentacles that are crawling around him.

He couldn't seem to get permeable instantly in that state.

This was a chance to get rid of him, but...

「Muh...」

「Grrr...」

Urushi was the only one left with the strength to attack. His wounds were also getting better after Fran and I sprinkled as many potions as we could on him.

However, Urushi must unleash his magic from a distance to leave some energy to escape.

We couldn't force Urushi to push himself now that he was exhausted from unleashing his secret move before.

「Ghaah! Shit shit shit—!」

Well, Urushi's magic must have been quite a nuisance for him. But we couldn't stay here any longer.

「Kukakakaka! You look like a fool! Zelyse!」

「Just help me already!」

「Kukakaka!」

We ran out of time. Nameless has reached here.

Even Urushi, as expected, would not be able to defeat Nameless while carrying and protecting Fran and me on his back.

We should escape while they're off guard. Urushi knew this and was slowly retreating.

However, it was just right after that.

An unbelievable scene unfolded before us.

「Kukakakaka! You want my help that badly?」

「Ghah!?!」

「...Ha, hahaha. It seems you can still make a joke at a time like this...」

Instead of helping Zelyse, Nameless suddenly grabbed Zelyse by the neck while giving him a deafening loud laugh as it applied more power into its hand.

Zelyse responded with a pained look on his face, but he was still showing an attitude as if he still had some room for leeway...

「Hmm? I'm not joking though, Zelyse」

「Ghuh...!」

A dirty-looking aura, like a black sludge on a puddle, then overflowed from Nameless' arms.

Just looking at it made me feel an uncomfortable sensation in the depths of my mind.

I think I've seen this somewhere before... Aah! I've seen it before on the floating island! It resembles the hatred that overflowed from that Lich!

However, this one is several levels more terrifying.

The hatred then crawled around Zelyse's body and gradually covered him.

「Sh,—it, ...?」

Zelyse raises his Magic Sword, Zelyse. However, the sword did not respond at all. It was as if it had become a mere sword.

「Eh...?」

「Kukakaka! Kukakakakaka! That's too bad! He doesn't want to help you」

「That's ridiculous...」

「Let's just soak you up with hatred and make you my servant... Hmm? Really? So, you're saying you can't forgive him for his very existence?」

「With whom did you talking to...!?」

「Kukakaka, with whom, you ask? With your other self of course!」

At Nameless' words, Zelyse looked down at the sword in his hand. It was right after that.

「Well, whatever. I just have to retrieve that sword」

Nameless took the magic sword from Zelyse. However, the sword was not resisting it at all. If it was an Intelligence Weapon, it should even be able to attack on its own...

However, there was no sign of the sword rejecting Nameless.

「Even the sword finds you annoying! Kukakaka! You have a look on your face that says you don't know why!」

「...W-why!? I thought we were supposed to understand each other...」

「You should have understood what it's like to lose a human body, don't you? For the sword Zelyse to be the only one, your existence must be like an eyesore for him」

「...Haha, I see. Becoming a sword must have made him feel like a different being after all...」

「I don't dislike your eagerness for curiosity, but... To achieve my goal, your existence is still an eyesore. You shall die for us」

Crack!

When Nameless put more strength into his hand, Zelyse's neck was crushed with extreme ease, and his head fell.

「Farewell, you mad alchemist」

When Nameless let go of its hand, Zelyse's body fell toward the Great Magic Beast. It seemed that he was not dead yet, but he was indeed unable to move.

And just like that, he was captured by the tentacles. While being entangled and compressed by the tremendous force, Zelyse was swallowed into the Great Magic Beast.

The sound of crushing flesh and bone sounded as if the Great Magic Beast was chewing its food.

I couldn't feel any hint of Zelyse or even the slightest hint of his life force anymore.

Was he... dead? That resilient Zelyse was...?

But we couldn't even afford to get confused here.

「Woof!」

Urushi let out a warning at us.

『Kuh! Terrifying magic power was swelling around where Weena Rhyn is! It's coming!』

We left the scene as fast as we could before Nameless came to us.

Right after we left, a huge water sphere appeared over the head of the Great Magic Beast.

The diameter is probably over 100 meters.

「Amazing」

『Yeah. It was almost unbelievable, what an incredible Divine Power』

「Woof...」

I wasn't talking about the enormous amount of magic power contained in it.

But the water sphere was emitting a strong Divine Power that covered the surroundings. I could feel that the entire water sphere's atmosphere was similar to mine when I was using the Sword God Transformation.

Could it be that all that water has the Divine attribute imbued in it?

I was probably lucky that my sensing skills were dull because of pushing myself too hard.

If my sensing skills were still at their normal state, I might have panicked because of the sheer intensity of the presence and the vast amount of information I might have received from it.

In fact, Urushi had become frightened of it. All the hairs on his body were standing on end, and his ears were laying down.

「Woof...」

Urushi continued to run with an anxious look on his face. Fran was shaken up and down on his back because of this, but Urushi didn't slow down.

I guess after witnessing that Divine Power, he didn't feel safe no matter how far away we had gone. That was also for Fran's sake too.

I was glad that she activated it after we had gotten some distance.

No, could it be that she had been waiting for us to leave? Well, Weena Rhyn was not necessarily a bad person just because she was a little crazy.

As we watched the sphere of Divine Water, it started to undergo a significant shape change.

It began to stretch wide to cover the entire surface of the Great Magic Beast.

Then it turned into countless small water spheres. Well, even though they were small, I think each one of them was big enough to swallow Fran.

But it was just right after I had that thought.

Swoop!

With a heavy and loud bursting sound, a deep gash was drilled into the body of the Great Magic Beast. The gash seemed to run in a straight line from top to bottom.

The water sphere that was shot out at super high speed easily pierced the body of the Great Magic Beast. It was so fast that even we were only able to catch a glimpse of its shadow.

From then on, the scene that unfolded in front of us was so unreal that I couldn't believe it was happening.

Swoop swoop swoop——!

The sound of a series of bursts echoed through the air, and the body of the Great Magic Beast was rapidly being whittled away.

The water sphere was shot out at a great speed and continued to pierce the flesh of the Great Magic Beast.

The water sphere that pierced through the body of the Great Magic Beast naturally crashed into the lake. Each time it did, a column of water nearly fifty meters high rose, and the sight of it did not even elicit a laugh.

After all, the Great Magic Beast had been attacked by over a thousand shots of such water arrows.

And yet, the huge tsunami that was generated was quickly quelled over in an unnaturally short distance. I wondered if Weena Rhyn was able to control it.

I couldn't imagine what kind of techniques or skills would allow her to do something like that, but I'm pretty sure that was one of Weena Rhyn's secret techniques.

More than half of the Great Magic Beast's body was already gone, and more water spheres kept shooting out at it.

When I thought that the Divine water was not ceasing at all, I saw that a pillar of water from the lake was soaring up, breaking apart in the air and creating more water spheres. Moreover, I could feel Divine Power in those water spheres as well. Could it be that all of it was imbued with Divine attributes too?

The new water sphere ascended to the sky in a straight line, and it looked as if we were watching rain footage in reverse. And after reaching a certain height, the water spheres began to fall as if pulled by gravity and poured down on the Great Magic Beast.

As long as that cycle kept repeating itself, the attacks on the Great Magic Beast would never stop. Well, as long as Weena Rhyn's magic power remains, that is.

But could she really defeat it with just that?

After all, no matter how much it was attacked and its body was whittled down, it could still regenerate.

The Great Magic Beast seemed to have decided to stop its swelling too.

It must be less taxing to concentrate its power into a small body to protect itself than to maintain a huge body.

Weena Rhyn continued to shoot water spheres, with each shot having destructive power that rivaled our Heaven Judgement, without pause like a machine gun. And then, there was the Great Magic Beast that continued to use powerful barriers and instantaneous regeneration at the same time.

I couldn't even imagine how much magic power was consumed in just these few tens of seconds.

I couldn't even imagine doing a fraction of what they did.

All we could do is watch this myth-class battle. I was stunned, Urushi was terrified, And Fran was somewhat frustrated from looking at it.

『Fran, what's wrong?』

(Weena Rhyn and the Great Magic Beast are both amazing)

『This was the battle between those who are at the top of the world after all...』

(But still, it's frustrating)

『...Is that so?』

(Nn. One day, I have to defeat a Great Magic Beast like that myself. I can't say that it's impossible for me...)

She never thought that she would see this kind of battle and immediately feel frustrated...

Was she not afraid of it? No, that doesn't seem to be the case. Anyone who didn't feel fear after seeing that must be crazy.

Rather, she must have used her feeling of frustration to motivate herself and overcome her fear.

As expected of Fran. I couldn't stand idly by either! That's right, one day we'll break the curse of the Black Cat kin.

In other words, we would have to defeat an enemy as powerful as that Great Magic Beast by ourselves.

「Woof!」

Before I knew it, Urushi was no longer frightened. I guess he must have felt the same way too. He was looking back with a face full of energy, ready to witness that battle with his own eyes.

『You're right. we can't say that was impossible to us』

「Woof woof!」

「Nn...!」

Chapter 651

Edited by Phantom0408

When we had managed to reach a place where we thought was a safe area, a change in the battle between Weena Rhyn and the Great Magic Beast occurred.

「It stopped?」

「Woof?」

The barrage of water bullets that Weena Rhyn had been unleashing stopped unexpectedly.

『Could it be that Weena Rhyn has run out of magic power?』

That was a lot of attacks after all. I'm sure that even a High Elves would suffer from its tremendous magic power consumption.

It was quite possible that she would run out of strength before she could defeat the Great Magic Beast.

The body of the Great Magic Beast was slowly starting to regenerate. Well, it looks slow because of its immense size, but in reality, it is probably quite fast.

『Doesn't the damage from the Divine Attribute even matter to it!?』

Wasn't this quite bad? It seems that it was better to have Urushi move on to escape even more...

「Master, that is...」

『Eh?』

As I was wondering what to do, Fran suddenly pointed her finger at the lake. When I looked in the direction of her finger, I found that a strange phenomenon had begun to occur.

「A string?」

「Woof?」

『Surely, it looks like a string, but...』

As Fran said, I could see the water in the lake transforming into long, thin strings. It looked as if an invisible hand was twisting the strings out of the water.

The string stretching out from the surface of the lake then increased in number at a tremendous speed. In a matter of seconds, countless strings covering the entire surface of the lake had been created.

Those strings ascended to the sky again like the water sphere from earlier.

The number of them was probably more than one or two thousand now. In fact, it seemed to be well over tens of thousands.

「Is that Weena Rhyn's doing too?」

『I guess so. I can feel the Divine Attribute from every water string after all』

That's right. I could feel the presence of a strong divine attribute in those strings. It only meant that Weena Rhyn's secret technique wasn't over yet.

It seemed that she simply changed the way she attacked the great monsters.

「Grrr!」

『You want to move...?』

「Woof!」

Urushi seemed to have sensed the strange flow of magic power. He then put up a barrier around Fran and began to run as fast as he could again.

Immediately afterward, the strings wriggled in unison and rushed toward the Great Magic Beast's body.

『Amazing—...』

「Nn」

「Woof」

The three of us watched in amazement.

A single string was very thin. The only reason we recognized it as a string in the first place was that it was so thin. Being entangled in a single string would not affect the Great Magic Beast.

But what if there were a thousand of them? What if there were tens of thousands of them? What if there was more than that?

The answer was right there in front of us.

The body of the Great Magic Beast covered with long, thin strings would make anyone wonder if its body color was white.

Gradually, the entire body of the Great Magic Beast was covered tightly by the water strings and restrained.

But of course, Weena Rhyn wasn't aiming to just stop the movement of the Great Magic Beast.

The surface of the lake where the strings were stretched out, began to swell over a wide area, and the movement of the strings became more and more violent.

「The Great Magic Beast suddenly getting bigger than before?」

『Now that you mention it... But rather than getting bigger——』

「It's coming out of the seal?」

『Yes, that's what it looks like!』

I wondered if the Great Magic Beast was trying to break the seal and get out... But it seems that wasn't quite right. If anything, it looked more like it was being forcibly dragged out of it.

The Great Magic Beast's scream then reverberated through the air. Yes, it was clearly a scream.

「Ghrroaaaaah!」

The body of the Great Magic Beast then dragged out of the seal at once. It looked like a large amount of red and black jelly strips were being pushed out of a narrow hole.

Well, even though the hole was narrow, it was probably several dozen meters in diameter.

It seemed that its body strength was extremely weak because it was forcibly dragged out of the seal before it managed to fully resurrect. The lump of flesh that overflowed onto the surface of the lake could be seen melting and crumbling at the mere touch of the water that was infused with the Divine Attribute.

The lump of flesh that we had attacked earlier had already lost its original form. It seemed that the strings were not just simple strings, but also had an offensive power.

It seemed to serve the purpose of damaging the area it touched and inhibiting its regeneration.

The strings of water that attacked the Great Magic Beast continued to increase in number. That is to say, the surface of the lake within a radius of about 500 meters was probably almost under Weena Rhyn's control.

Now, there's no way the Great Magic Beast could escape.

「Whrooaah...!」

The roar that the Great Magic Beast let out sounded like the cry of a tormented sinner. After that roar, we couldn't hear a thing from the Great Magic Beast ever again.

Its entire body had already crumbled into a million pieces, and not a single mouth was left.

It was the end of a Great Magic Beast that seemed to boast infinite vitality.

The strings that had enveloped the Great Magic Beast like a giant cocoon slowly unraveled. And when all the strings returned to the lake, nothing was left there.

There is no trace of the Great Magic Beast left behind.

The surface of the lake, which had been raging so wildly, quickly calmed down and became so calm that make us wonder if the battle we had seen was just an illusion.

『Is it... over?』

「Woof?」

No matter how hard I searched our surroundings, there was no sign of the Great Magic Beast's remains. The only residue of the battle was the slightest hint of Divine Presence emitted by the surface of the water. That was all.

The end of such a wild and massive myth-class fierce battle was surprisingly quiet.

Chapter 652

Urushi ran across the surprisingly calm lake.

『There's no sign of the Great Magic Beast left...』

「Nn」

『And since when did the Vivian Guardians disappear?』

「Woof」

Until now, the Vivian Guardians should have attacked us in this area, but there was no sign of them.

I think it had something to do with the demise of the Great Magic Beast, but I didn't know for sure.

We then hurried to the person who knew the details of the situation.

「Weena Rhyn, she's there」

「Woof!」

『So she's safe? Well, it's not like she was gonna let herself get killed by using that technique 』

I could see the white stage where Weena Rhyn and the others had been performing their ritual. It did not appear to have collapsed or been destroyed in the battle that had just taken place.

But what about Weena Rhyn and Romio? Were they safe?

As we got even closer, I could feel the presence of Weena Rhyn and the others. Weena Rhyn, Romio, Sierra, and Zelos Reed. They were all there.

However, being alive was not the same as being fine. As we arrived at the stage, we were reminded of this fact.

Romio was still unconscious, but there were no problems with his vitals or breathing, he was just unconscious. The fact that Sierra and Zelos Reed were not panicking suggested that there was nothing to worry about. He should wake up soon enough.

Sierra and Zelos Reed were in tatters. Their bleeding seemed to have stopped, but their vitality still hadn't recovered. Just like us, they seemed to have lost their regenerative power as a backlash from pushing themselves too hard.

But both of them were conscious, and as long as they stayed put, they shouldn't get any worse. They were now drinking potions and were resting their bodies.

However, Weena Rhyn's condition didn't seem to be fine at all.

『For real...?』

「Weena Rhyn... You okay...?」

「Fufu... I'd like to say that I'm fine, but, it seems I'm not」

Weena Rhyn smiles wryly while looking powerless.

Half of Weena Rhyn's body was covered with something black, like the embodiment of the darkness of the night. It was the same with her right eye, part of her right ear, her right arm, and her right shoulder.

It was neither magical nor miasma. I couldn't sense any magic or presence from that black thing. In fact, I couldn't even detect the presence of Weena Rhyn's body which should have been inside it.

No. Was there even a body in it? I thought the black stuff was covering it, but it seemed like her body itself had been transformed.

I couldn't even imagine what had happened to it.

「What happened?」

「It's kinda hard to explain, but... I guess this is the price of borrowing in advance」

「Yes. I borrowed some power from another me in the future」

Borrowing from the future? I'm not sure I understood the concept. Both Fran and Urushi were tilting their heads.

「You know I have a contract with Rhyn, don't you?」

「Nn」

「Rhyn's attributes are Time and Water」

「I know that too」

「My skill, the 『Divine Water Creation』, is the result of a combination of Weena's ability as a Water Magic-user and Rhyn's power as a Spirit of Water. It is a power that was created by evolving the Holy Water Creation skill that I could originally use」

「I see」

So, the power that Weena originally possessed was enhanced by her fusion with Rhyn.

「Apart from that, another force has a strong influence on Rhyn. It is called borrowing in advance. It's a Space-time ability that allows the user to use magic power from the user's other self from the future」

「You borrow magic from your future self? So that's what borrowing in advance is?」

「Something like that. It's an ability to secure a huge amount of magic power for a moment at the price of being unable to use any magic for a few days. You can think of it that way」

「So the backlash of using that move is that black part on your body?」

「That's half correct」

Well, she said that the cost of borrowing power in advance was the inability to use any magic for a few days. So, I didn't think it was the reason why a part of her body turned black like this.

「In the first place, my secret technique was neither borrowing power from my future self nor the Divine Water Creation」

「Then, what?」

Fran casually asked back. I wondered if she was willing to tell us about her secret technique, but to my surprise, Weena Rhyn was quite willing to tell us about it without hiding anything.

「The secret technique of the High Elves is the ability to become a demigod. The effect is simple. It increases my status and strengthens my skills. Well, the percentage of that is ridiculously high though. Especially in the skills' case, you can even say that the transformation causes it to evolve into a higher-level skill while in that state」

「Did you use the Divine Water Creation and that Borrowing In Advance ability after you become a Demigod?」

「That's right. And this body is the result of me using my enhanced strengthening from becoming a Demigod to its limit——」

She said that the Borrowing In Advance ability that she used in her demigod state could draw something other than magic power. But she said she didn't even know what it was.

「You don't know?」

「Yes. I borrowed something from my future self that I didn't understand, and somehow it gave me tremendous power. That's how it works」

「You're not afraid?」

「Of course I'm afraid, you know? However, I will gain tremendous power even more than I would gain by the demigod transformation during that time. Even so, it was almost a gamble on whether I could finish off the Great Magic Beast or not. So, I couldn't help but use it」

The originally monstrous High Elf was super-strengthened by the Demigod transformation and then further strengthened by the Borrowing Power In Advance from her future self in the demigod transformation state.

It seemed that if she activated the combo of Divine Water Creation and Aquarius in this state, she could imbue any water within a 500-meter radius with the Divine Attribute and then manipulate it at will.

「Amazing...」

「...Well, I wonder? But when you look at my current state, it's not alright, right?」

「So, the parts of your body turned black because of you becoming a demigod?」

「Yeah. When this happens, I can't feel or move them anymore. I can't see out of my right eye, and I can't hear out of my right ear」

Weena Rhyn then tried to move her arm, but the black arm didn't move at all.

「Can you use Heal on it?」

「It'll return to normal in a few years. After all, I've been through this before」

Years!? Well, considering that tremendous power, it's rather not that costly, is it? She's a long-living High Elf too after all... But even if she was a long-lived being, a few years was still a lot of time.

「Well, I don't know exactly how long it will take this time, because I've never used it this close to the limit before」

「You used it to its limit?」

「Yeah. I would have been dead if I activated that demigod transformation for another ten seconds」

「Eh?」

「If it's just my arms and a part of my face, I'll be fine as long as I rest because my regeneration will eventually help me recover. However, if this black part reaches my heart, my heart will naturally stop beating. If my heart or brain stops functioning, there's nothing I can do」

Weena Rhyn shrugged her shoulders as she said that. Well, the only thing that moved was her left shoulder though.

「That being said, if you and Sierra hadn't been chipping away at its power before, I would have lost my life before I could take it down. You have my thanks」

「...Nn」

Fran nodded, with a complicated look on her face.

After seeing the battle between Weena Rhyn and the Great Magic Beast, I guess she would feel that her help was a small thing.

But it didn't look like Weena Rhyn was lying. In other words, she was really telling the truth.

But still, the price of Weena Rhyn using it was high. “If only I were stronger...” That must be what Fran was thinking. I understood how she felt. That was because I felt the same way too.

Oh, and I still hadn't heard the important part.

「Has the Great Magic Beast completely exterminated?」

Chapter 653

Weena Rhyn assured us that the Great Magic Beast had been exterminated. She must be very convinced that she could say that with such certainty.

It looked like we really didn't have to worry anymore.

If that was the case, I guess we better ask her something that had been bothering us.

「Rhyn, where's she?」

「Woof?」

Yes, it was about Rhyn's safety.

It seemed that she had pushed herself too hard and was exhausted. Moreover, in order to save us, she had pushed herself to the very limits.

I haven't felt her presence since then. My spirit detection couldn't catch the presence of a spirit either.

I wonder whether her presence was just too weak to be detected by my spirit detection or whether she has used up all of her power and disappeared?

But if Rhyn were to disappear because she saved us, Weena Rhyn would be even madder than before. If that's the case, I think it's the former...

「I'll call her now」

Thank goodness, it seems that she hadn't disappeared after all.

Weena Rhyn then closed her working left eye and concentrated. Immediately after that, a magic circle was drawn on the ground a few meters in front of her and a white figure emerged from it as if it were floating in the air.

Blonde hair, odd eyes, elf ears. It's definitely Rhyn.

However, her appearance was like that of a ghost as we could see the other side through her body.

It may not be strange since she was a spirit, but her presence itself is clearly less than before.

「Thank you. Thanks to you, there were no casualties this time...」

It was very quiet and hard to hear, but I could recognize that it was definitely Rhyn's voice.

「You okay?」

「Yeah...」

She didn't seem to be doing very well, but Rhyn nodded with a big smile on her face. Rhyn must have paid a steep price but she seemed to be satisfied with the result.

However, Weena Rhyn had a bitter look on her face as if she had chewed a bitter bug.

「Rhyn. Why did you push yourself too hard!? I know you did something to help Fran and the others when they launched their attack, but...」

「...I've been through a lot」

「And you can't tell me?」

「Because it's not over yet...」

I guess Weena Rhyn was referring to that mysterious time when Rhyn connected this side to that side and allowed us to speak to the delinquent Fran and that stupid me.

Apparently, she hadn't told Weena Rhyn the details either. Rhyn's exhaustion was so obvious that even we could see it. There was no way Weena Rhyn wouldn't have noticed.

But what did she mean when she said it was not over yet?

The connection had been broken, right?

Was she talking about Fran on the other side not being saved or something?

「Weena Rhyn, I can't go back to being me if things continue like this. You know that, right...?」

「No problem. All I have to do is give back Rhyn's power that is inside of me」

「You can't! You won't be able to withstand it. It'll take a lot of strength to separate us after all」

「I know that. But if that means I can get Rhyn back, I don't need my life」

「That's why I said you can't!」

Rhyn, who looked sad, shook her head at Weena Rhyn, who also looked sad.

That was a very crazy thing to say. We were able to defeat the giant monster without anyone losing their lives. But we wouldn't have a happy ending?

「...Honestly, I'm pretty exhausted right now. So much so that if things continued like this, I might just disappear」

「But that's not gonna happen if I return her power」

「You'll die if you do that. You're not in good shape, remember? You'll only waste your life force if you tried to separate my power from yours」

Rhyn may disappear in her current state. The only way to prevent that from happening was to separate Rhyn's power that was fused with Weena Rhyn and return it to her.

But it seemed that it was gonna take a lot of strength for Weena Rhyn to separate it from her, and it seems that the current Weena Rhyn wouldn't be able to withstand it.

This meant that only one of them, Rhyn or Weena Rhyn, could be saved.

「That's, terrible」

「Woof!」

Fran had a look of astonishment on her face that only we could understand.

「If only we'd been able to whittle down the Great Magic Beast a little more...」

「...I'm so sorry」

Before I knew it, Sierra had approached us. Using the magic sword Zelos Reed as a walking cane, he managed to walk.

He must have come to the same conclusion as Fran after hearing their conversation. He turned his head down in frustration.

However, Sierra's face was not as ghastly as it had been in the past.

Perhaps it was because they had witnessed Zelyse's death before. Their main goal was to take revenge on Zelyse and rescue Romio and Zelos Reed after all.

The whereabouts of the magic sword Zelyse were unknown, but the human Zelyse had certainly perished, while Romio and Zelos Reed had survived.

With most of their goals accomplished, much, if not all, of the grief Sierra had been feeling was probably gone.

「No, it's too early to apologize... Fran, I am going need you guys' help」

「You guys? You mean, Sierra and me?」

「No... I mean Fran and her sword. Did you guys manage to get the power to cut spirits?」

I wasn't sure what she meant when she said the power to cut spirits, but I had an idea of what it was.

『You mean the Spirit's Hand skill?』

「That's right」

「What about it?」

「With that power, you can break the ties between Weena and Me. Once the ties are broken, our power will naturally separate itself. By using that, Weena won't have to use much of her strength」

「Will it save the both of you?」

「Yes. I know this is going to be a burden for you guys, but I'm begging you. Please, please save us」

Chapter 654

TENKEN 654 How To Properly Use the Spirit Detection

『We can help both Rhyn and Weena Rhyn if we use the Spirit's hand?』

「Yes」

『How exactly do we do that?』

The Spirit's Hand is a new skill that I just learned a while ago. To be honest, I don't even know how to use it since I haven't used it.

Is it a kind of offensive skill? Besides, if it's something that would put a burden on us, it must be a skill that requires a lot of magic power.

But if we can save Rhyn and Weena Rhyn with it, then it's definitely worth the effort.

「How do we use it?」

「Use the Spirit's Hand to break the ties between Weena and me. Then Weena and Rhyn will be separated from each other on their own」

「Ties?」

「The ties that define Weena and Rhyn as one being. The very cause that has made Weena and Rhyn into Weena Rhyn」

Hearing that, Fran tilted her head.

We can't see that ties at all. No matter how much I searched for some kind of magic power between them, I can't find anything. I wonder how should we cut something that we can't even see...

「Where're that ties?」

「It will not be visible to the eye. But if you have the skill called the Spirit Detection, you will be able to feel it」

『I see』

Spirit Detection, huh... It seems that it was not a kind of magical ties but something similar to spirit.

(Master?)

『Yeah, I know』

Then I concentrated my Spirit Detection to find it.

As I searched for the presence within our surroundings, I was able to detect the faint presence of the spirit Rhyn.

But I have no idea where the ties she told me about is.

『That ties are between Rhyn and Weena Rhyn, right?』

(Yes, that's right)

Rhyn nodded at my question. It seems that those ties were really there between them...

『...Hmm』

But unfortunately, I couldn't detect anything.

Isn't this better if Rhyn could tell us what to do and activate the Spirit's Hand at her instruction?

As a spirit herself, she should be able to tell us where to cut with the Spirit's Hand.

But Rhyn shook her head.

(Under normal circumstances, that would be fine, I suppose)

『Under normal circumstances?』

(The Spirit's Hand is a skill that requires a lot of power to use. Moreover, there would be a lot of resistance to cut off the ties between Weena and me. In Sword-san's current state, he'll definitely reach his limit halfway through)

In other words, my magic power won't be able to last long when using it.

Now that I'm exhausted, my magic power would definitely run out halfway through.

『I understand』

So, in the end, we should do our best to detect it with my Spirit Detection.

I decided to deactivate all my skills and concentrate entirely on Spirit Detection. All the presences of my surroundings then disappeared, and I was completely immersed in a world of nothingness, seeking only the presence of their ties.

First of all, I could feel that Rhyn's presence was much stronger than before.

For the first time, I felt that I was able to properly feel the presence of a spirit.

So, this is what a spirit is, huh?

The moment I felt that, there seemed to be something between Rhyn and Weena Rhyn.

Could it be, that is the ties?

I followed the slight feeling of discomfort and focused even more on my senses.

My sharpened senses definitely caught something that was there.

Simply put, it feels like a tangled, thick string. A single thick string that was stretched out from each other, tangling and knotting in a complicated way in its middle.

The knot looked as if a young child had randomly twisted it many times, tied it into a tight knot, and then further messed up the string all over the place.

In particular, the shape of the string that was stretching out from Weena Rhyn's side seems to be so distorted. It was as if the string extending from Weena Rhyn was trying to swallow the string on its own.

『I see it! So, this is what she means with ties?』

《Spirit Detection is reacting to it. The information provided by Rhyn also indicates that there's a 96% possibility that this is the key to their connection》

『So she wants me to cut this thing with the Spirit's Hand?』

It's an ability I've never used before, will I be able to pull it off?

But to my surprise, Announcer-san has different opinion on it.

《Currently, the individual named Master's magic power is not enough to fully activate the Spirit's Hand》

『You think it'll consume that much magic?』

《Yes. Even though it's a unique skill, it's one of the top skills that use a lot of magic》

Well, that's a problem.

『We also don't even have a way to restore my magic power right now...』

We have used up all of the magic stones and potions we have. The only way left to restore my magic is to use Magic Steal, but the only people around were Weena Rhyn, Rhyn, and Sierra, who were as worn out as we were. If we stole their magic power now, they might lose their life.

The only vigorous ones among us would be Urushi and Zelos Reed.

No, if I can get these two to supply me with magic power, can I manage it?

『What do you think, Announcer-san?』

《Yes. Sufficient magic power can be secured that way》

『Alright!』

With this, I think I have a chance to save Weena Rhyn and Rhyn.

Chapter 655

TENKEN 655 Sympathy

Among us, Urushi and Zelos Reed are in relatively decent condition. No, I don't mean that they are in a good condition, just that they are not in a state where they are going to die.

Still, they're the only ones who can afford to supply me with magic power.

Now we just need to figure out how to get them to supply me with magic. Should I take it away with Magic Steal? But in Zelos Reed's case, what lies within him is his evil spirit.

Even if I were to absorb it, I don't think I could convert it into magic power.

But come to think of it, I just acquired the Evil Spirit Control skill a while ago. If I were to use that, wouldn't I be able to convert evil spirit into magic power?

However, that would require Zelos Reed's cooperation. Then I explained this to Fran for her to get Zelos Reed's cooperation.

「Oi」

Hey, Fran! I know you didn't like him, but could you talk to him a little more politely?

「What is it?」

Zelos Reed, however, responded to Fran's harsh words with a sincere one. His tone was not polite, but it seems that he was willing to listen to Fran's words.

「I don't have enough power to help Rhyn and Weena Rhyn. Give me yours」

「All right, take as much as you want」

Zelos Reed then promptly nodded his head. Perhaps he had planned to nod no matter what she said from the beginning.

That's how quick it was.

But there are also those who are not happy with it.

「Wait, would it be dangerous for unc——Zelos Reed-san? Besides, it should be difficult for a normal human to control the evil spirit」

As Sierra said so, he turned his worried gaze to Zelos Reed. Well, for Sierra, saving Zelos Reed is his main goal. So, I guess it can't be helped.

I would definitely be worried if Fran were to offer her magic power to someone I didn't fully trust after all.

「This sword has the ability to control it」

「...I knew it wasn't just a normal sword, but is that sword really had that kind of ability?」

「Nn」

Sierra just can't accept it. But I can't just tell him about me either, so why don't we force things a bit here?

「Sierra... is that what should I call you? Don't worry, I'll be fine」

「Besides, I've already entrusted my life to Fran. I don't care what happens to me」

Zelos Reed then tells Sierra, who rolled his eyes in surprise, about his promise to Fran.

In exchange for Fran taking Romio to Barbra's orphanage later on, she can do whatever she wants with Zelos Reed's life. However, only after the contract between Romio and Zelos Reed has been cancelled.

The contract between Romio and Zelos Reed has already been cancelled by Weena Rhyn. Then it means that his life now belongs to Fran.

Zelos Reed doesn't seem to care how he gonna be treated because his life now belongs to Fran. But still, he wished that Sierra wouldn't resent Fran if he were to die because of this.

But Zelos Reed's inability to read people's emotions has turned out to be a completely bad thing. I don't know much about this man, but there is no way he is good at proper human interaction by any stretch of the imagination.

Of course, there was no way that Sierra could be reassured by such a story.

「No way...」

Sierra then glared at Fran.

Well, I'm sure Sierra also know that Fran has a grudge against Zelos Reed after all.

If that was the case, there's no way she would be concerned about Zelos Reed's life. In other words, he must have thought that there was a good chance that she would absorb all the evil spirit and magic power from Zelos Reed to kill him.

If I were in his shoes, I'd definitely be skeptical too.

Fran then approached Sierra. She held me up so that he could see me better.

(Master, can I tell him?)

『...You want to tell him about me being an intelligence weapon?』

(Nn)

『I'm not sure that's going to convince Sierra right now though...』

(Don't worry. He'll understand when he gets to know Master)

(Nn. I'm sure it'll be fine)

『Well, I guess it'll be fine if Fran says so...』

Does she gonna say it'll be okay because I would be the one to control the skills instead of her? Even so, I don't think it gonna clear up Sierra's doubts...

But I think it's fine to tell them about me. Sierra was also a wielder of an intelligence weapon after all. So, I don't think he gonna blabber out our secret.

「...What?」

Sierra gave Fran a suspicious look as she showed her sword to him and fell silent. But Fran didn't care and opened her mouth again.

「This sword's name is Master」

「Master?」

「Nn. Master, an intelligence weapon」

「What...!?!」

Sierra's face turned into an expression of surprise. He may be putting on a tough face, but he's still a kid. His poker face tends to crumble from time to time.

『Yo, my name is Master. I'm Fran's sword and guardian. Nice to meet you』

「Nn. The Spirit's Hand will be used by Master」

『We won't take revenge on Zelos Reed for now. Rhyn and Weena Rhyn are our top priorities right now. Besides, Romio would be sad if we do that, right?』

I'll just tell him how I honestly feel for now. I thought it was better for me to be honest here instead of lying.

Then Sierra's expression changed to one of surprise. After a moment of confusion, a strangely happy expression appeared on his face.

「I-is that so!? So, it was an intelligence weapon, huh...」

「Nn」

「...」

Sierra then falls silent for a moment. He is probably talking to the magic sword, Zelos Reed.

「Alright. I'll trust you for now」

「Thanks」

I wonder why... I just greet him a little and now he suddenly believed me?

(He's a fellow wielder of an intelligence weapon after all, so I knew he'd understand if we properly explain things to him)

I thought that was a silly reason, but maybe it really is. He had been sent here from a different time, and the only person he could ask for advice or rely on was the magic sword Zelos Reed. For Sierra, this must be the first time he has met someone like him.

In addition, they were both children who were in a very similar situation. It was no wonder that Fran and Sierra felt sympathy for each other.

Chapter 656

TENKEN 656 Power, Replenished!

Now that Sierra was no longer opposed to this, we could peacefully ask Zelos Reed to supply me with power.

Since they already knew about our secret, I decided to give them direct instruction.

『Zelos Reed. I'm going to need your help now. I need you to stay put and not resist』

「...Understood」

Zelos Reed nodded in hesitation, seemingly unsure of what kind of face to make. It seems that he is still uncomfortable with talking to a sword.

As everyone watches in silence, I activated my Evil Spirit Control.

I see, it was certainly a skill to Control the Evil Spirits. I was able to control the little bit of evil that was leaking out of the Zelos Reed at my will.

The next step is to control the evil spirit within Zelos Reed.

『Here I go』

「Okay」

Then I extended the target of the Evil Spirit Control to the evil spirit within Zelos Reed.

Zelos Reed's expression did not change during that process. I guess it was because he has readied himself for anything that would be done to him.

But even in such a state, an evil person is still an evil person. Evil spirits were flowing and swirling within him.

So, this is the evil spirit of a high-ranking evil person, huh?

The Evil Spirit Control allowed me to feel the evil in more detail than ever, but it was so overwhelming that it gave me chills.

Nevertheless, I will use my Evil Spirit Control to increase my interference with the evil spirit within Zelos Reed.

And to my surprise, it was going surprisingly well. Well, maybe it was also because I was good at magic control.

But it seems that it was also thanks to the fact that I didn't have a physical body, so I don't have to bear the burden of pain and fatigue. I was also used to manipulate magic to do anything, so I was more used to this kind of skill than most people.

I could tell that the evil spirit within Zelos Reed's body was starting to follow my will slightly. Then, a little by little, it was pulled away from Zelos Reed and began to flow towards me.

『Alright, just keep going like that...』

「Muh」

Zelos Reed twitched lightly. It seems that even he can feel that his own evil spirit is being manipulated from the outside.

But as I thought, there would be some resistance too.

Zelos Reed may have completely submitted himself to me, but that doesn't mean that I can perfectly control his evil spirits.

It's probably because it's an evil spirit under the control of another. Especially when controlling the evil spirits of high-ranking evil people like Zelos Reed, the difficulty ought to be high.

On the other hand, if it was just on the level of a goblin or an orc, I think I could suck out their evil spirits more easily. I should give it a try next time.

Still, I continued to use my skills with determination, and little by little, I could see evil spirit continued to flow out of Zelos Reed and flowing into me.

『Now all I have to do is convert this evil spirit into magic power, huh?』

I haven't tried it yet, but it looked like I could use my Evil Spirit Control skill to convert evil spirit and turn this power into magic power.

However, Announcer-san has different opinion on it.

《Due to the effect of the Evil Spirit Control skill, it is possible to handle evil spirits as it is》

『Eh? Does that mean I can use both magic power and evil spirits?』

《Correct. Although it is less efficient than magic power, the power gained by using evil spirits as it is would be greater than the loss caused by converting it》

But is that okay? No matter how potent this skill is, using evil spirits as it is was a bit...

However, will the current me be able to stand it?

『Is it okay if I let evil spirits pass through me?』

《According to my calculations, there is no problem if it is temporary. In addition, with the assistance of the individual named Announcer-san, it is possible to temporally minimize the effect of using the evil spirit》

『Ooh! Is that so!? As expected of Announcer-san!』

《The influence of evil spirits will be channeled to less influential areas within the individual named Master to protect his core》

That means spreading the damage from the evil spirit to less important places, right? Besides, the less damage in one place, the faster the recovery will be.

『Announcer-san! I'm counting on you!』

《Yes. Leave it to me》

All right, now it's up to Zelos Reed's physical condition. I'll absorb his evil spirit little by little.

『Okay, next is Urushi』

「Woof」

『I know this gonna be pretty harsh for you, but just hang in there』

「Woof!」

『That's a good answer』

I used my Simultaneous Calculation skill to use magic power absorption in succession. In Urushi's case, thanks to the fact that he has a magical connection with me, I was able to absorb his magic power quite smoothly.

《12% remaining to fill the required magic power》

「Kuh...」

『Just a little more, hang in there!』

「Grr...」

《The required magic power has been secured》

『Good!』

The moment I stopped the magic absorption, Urushi fell to the ground without a word. He seemed to be conscious, but he was too tired to even speak.

His regeneration has stopped, and I could see that he had started to bleed again.

But it's not the time to feel sorry for him.

『You've endured well, Urushi! Thanks to you, I've regained much of my magic power!』

「Uuf...」

I'll use my telekinesis to pet him as much as I can later.

《The absorption of evil spirits is complete》

『Alright!』

Well then, let's do this!

Then I once again sensed the ties between Rhyn and Weena Rhyn, and aimed my next move to it.

『Spirit's Hand, activate!』

Chapter 657

TENKEN 657 The Spirit's Hand

The Spirit's Hand, unlike its name, was not in the form of a hand. It was more like manipulating a lump of power that has no shape at all.

But I was not confused by it.

After all, the Spirit's Hand were almost similar to telekinesis in its use. I think I can manage this.

I've been able to maintain my spirit detection perfectly. Apparently, once I succeeded in detecting the spirits, I became able to recognize them more easily.

It's like I've found the right wavelength. I can now see the ties with just a light concentration.

I moved the Spirit's Hand and touched the ties a little. Indeed, it seemed that I could touch it. It doesn't react at all to a light touch, but what would happen if I were to put more strength into the Spirit's Hand? Will I be able to pull it off?

『You sure you want me to cut this?』

「Yes, we're counting on you」

『Alright!』

I poured my power into the Spirit's Hand and tried to cut the ties between Weena Rhyn and Rhyn, but...

『Tsk!』

It did not work at all. I couldn't even scratch it. Moreover, I could see that the magic power I had gotten from Urushi was diminishing at an alarming rate.

『So this is what Announcer-san was worried about!』

「Do your best!」

「Please, please save Rhyn...」

Weena Rhyn, who had been silent all this time, opened her mouth.

I guess she stayed silent all this time as not to disturb our concentration. But it seems that she can't hold herself back anymore.

『If it comes to this, I'll give it everything I've got!』

I don't think I can afford to take a wait-and-see approach now.

So, I focused my last remaining power on the Spirit's Hand and kneaded Evil Spirit together with it at the same time.

『Guh...』

This is bad.

The moment I kneaded the Evil Spirit, a chill ran down my spine. It's just the sensation though, I don't have a spine after all.

My spirit was shaken, and I felt a creepy, unpleasant sensation within me.

But actually, I've felt this a few times before.

When I am on the verge of breaking from overusing my powers, or when I cannibalized the Fanatics. In such critical situations, this chill would hit me every time.

In other words, this is still dangerous for me.

『Is it because of the Evil Spirit...?』

《Recalculate the efficiency of dispersing damage caused by Evil Spirits will further reduce the effects of the Evil Spirits》

『Is that possible?』

《Yes. The individual named Master should concentrate on using his skill》

Just right after Announcer-san said so, the chill that I had been feeling suddenly eased.

『Good job!』

The moment the burden was lifted, I put all the strength I had into the Spirit's Hand.

『Haaah!』

Alright! The ties that hadn't scratched at all earlier is now being bent by the Spirit's Hand!

The ties had no substance, so it made no particular sound when it was being hit by me. However, I thought I could hear the sound of cracking and creaking from it.

Using the image of a wrung-out rag, I grabbed the ties at the edge and twist it up.

Then, at the moment I put even more effort into it.

As if all the hard work I had done earlier had been a lie, the ties shattered easily. No, maybe that was just my own image of the power that had lost its substance and scattered as fine particles.

The interfering power of my Spirit's Hand must have exceeded the strength of the ties.

『Whohooo! How was that, Rhyn, Weena Rhyn!?!』

I immediately checked the status of Rhyn and Weena Rhyn.

Huh?

Both Rhyn and Weena Rhyn remain silent. They are standing there with straight faces.

C-could it be, it didn't work? But the ties were certainly destroyed, right?

『H-hey, you two?!』

Just as I was about to call out to them again.

「...It's gone」

「...You're right」

Said Rhyn and Weena Rhyn to each other.

A short word murmurs. But it must have been filled with all their feelings.

Happiness, loneliness, solitude, freedom, sorrow, hope. Thousands of years of feelings that only Rhyn and Weena Rhyn can understand that we can't fully comprehend.

Then tears quietly trailed down Weena Rhyn's cheeks. The sight of the beautiful High Elf quietly weeping held a sense of mystery and serenity.

But we didn't have time to admire it.

A tremendous amount of magic power had begun to be released from Weena Rhyn's body.

It was a magic that was similar to Weena Rhyn's magic, but not exactly the same. And it was certainly not under Weena Rhyn's control.

Normally, magic power that is simply released would dissipate into the air. However, this magic was different.

「Rhyn... I'll give it back」

「Yes. Thank you, Weena」

I could see that a huge amount of magic power was being sucked into Rhyn.

Chapter 658

TENKEN 658 Rhyn's Resurrection

The flow of magic from Weena Rhyn to Rhyn had stopped, but there was no visible change in Weena Rhyn and Rhyn.

However, if I were to search deeper, there's definitely a change.

The changes in their presence were so drastic that it seemed as if they were different people. It was not that their presences had become stronger or weaker, but the wavelength of their presences itself had changed.

It seems that with the ties between them was broken means that Rhyn's existence in Weena and Rhyn has been separated and Rhyn's power has been returned to Rhyn.

In this case, it's understandable that the presence of Weena Rhyn would change, but why would Rhyn's presence undergo a change as well?

Or was it natural that changes would happen when Rhyn returns to her original state?

However, it seemed that Weena Rhyn was too worn out to stand. Immediately after, she collapsed on the spot.

「Weena Rhyn? Are you okay?」

「I'm not Weena Rhyn anymore. I'm just Weena now...」

Weena Rhyn——No, Weena loses her consciousness when she says so.

『Oops!』

I was almost run out of power, but I activated my telekinesis to kill the momentum of Weena's fall slightly, and then Fran catches her falling body.

「Weena?」

Even when Fran shook her lightly, she showed no signs of waking up. She must be extremely exhausted from everything.

『Her vitality has diminished considerably...』

「Let her take some rest for now」

「Nn. Okay」

Following Rhyn's words, Fran gently laid Weena down.

「She'll be fine?」

「She'll wake up after a while. Her powers will be greatly reduced though...」

I guess at least she's not going to die.

Unlike Weena, Rhyn was filled with great vigor. She had regained her strength and seemed to be completely out of danger.

「...Thank you. It's all thanks to you guys that Weena could be saved」

Said Rhyn while bowed to us.

「Of course, you guys had saved me too...」

『Hey, Rhyn, how much do you know?』

I decided to take this opportunity to ask her something that had been bothering me for a long time.

『Rhyn said that she couldn't see the future... But still, you must have working on a lot of things to change the future, right?』

When I made contact with the other Fran, I'm pretty sure that Rhyn must be assisting.

If Rhyn hadn't told Announcer-san, I wouldn't have used my Potential Release. Then I wouldn't have met the other Fran and Me, and I wouldn't have gotten some new skill. And Weena and Rhyn would not have been saved.

In the first place, if the other Rhyn hadn't sent Sierra, Zelos Reed, and Zelyse to this timeline, I could have turned into a mere sword.

I don't believe that all of this is just a coincidence. I just couldn't figure out how much of it was a coincidence and how much of it was in Rhyn's hands. I couldn't figure it out.

No, I wouldn't complaints if it was all in the palms of her hands. After all, it had saved our life. Rather, I would be grateful. However, I was just a little bit curious.

「...I, who am not a God, cannot see into the future. I've told you this before, haven't I?」

『Yeah』

"Who am not a God" she said? but the Goddess of Chaos has told me that even a God cannot see into the future.

Considering that, a perfect prediction of the future would be impossible.

『But you do have the kind of power that makes you choose the better options, don't you?』

「It's not that big of a deal. I just know how my actions affect me. It's a hunch, if you say」

It seems that the immediate future of a few seconds can be predicted by that intuition.

However, if she wanted to explore farther ahead, she would have to use tremendous power. She said that if she were to try to perceive years ahead, Rhyn herself might disappear.

This is just a guess on my part, but I wonder if Rhyn is unconsciously performing high-level operations. What if Rhyn is using her abilities as a spirit of time to instantly simulate various possibilities and unconsciously foreseeing the future, and the results are appearing as intuition?

That's because the more distant the future she predicts, the more exhausted she becomes. The more information she has to process, the more she has to process. My simultaneous computing skills are similar to that, so I know exactly how it feels.

「But I'm sure that this intuition has helped me in many ways... Well, you see, it all started with an encounter」

Rhyn muttered to herself and looked at Sierra and the others.

「One day, a tremendous evil spirit appeared on the shore of the lake. Naturally, I went to check on the source. There, I found a boy and a sword that emitted strong evil spirit」

No doubt about it. It must be Sierra and his magic sword, Zelos Reed. It seemed that Rhyn was already aware of their presence when they appeared at this time.

「You may not be able to see the future, but you can easily see the past. After all, it's only a matter of reading what has already happened」

To us, seeing into the future and seeing into the past seems to be equally difficult, but to Rhyn, seeing into the past seems to be a very simple act.

As a result, she encounters a lot of bewildering facts.

「No matter how you look at it, the boy and the sword were living in the future」

Rhyn's vision of Sierra and the others' past gave her a lot of information.

「And I received a silent message from myself. That this boy is the beginning of hope for us all」

Chapter 659

TENKEN 659 The future in Rhyn's grasp.

「Did you know Sierra and the others when they first came here?」

「Yes, of course」

They probably had no idea that they had been noticed that long ago. Sierra's eyes widened in surprise.

「And when I found them, I tried to contact them to see into their past」

「Eh?」

Sierra raises a dumb voice and had a confused look on his face.

Most likely, he had no memory of Rhyn.

「At first, I hid myself as a spirit, so they wouldn't have noticed me. And after that, it was just a matter of changing my appearance and greeted him」

It's only recently that I've been able to detect spirits. It's still not perfect. If the spirit I was talking to consciously erased their presence, I might not be able to tell even now.

Sierra and Zelos Reed must not have noticed Rhyn either.

It was the Rhyn of that timeline who had first decided to gamble on this plan—or rather, on the slightest possibility of salvation. Her intuition must have whispered to her that contact with Sierra and Fran from the other timeline might help her avoid ruin.

Rhyn sent Sierra, Zelos Reed and Zelyse from one place to the other to make the faint hope a reality.

And the Rhyn in this timeline took over that hope by making contact with Sierra.

「There is no such thing as an ending where no one is unhappy, neither here nor there. There is no such thing. But what if we could reach such a future? Don't you think it's worth risking everything I have?」

Rhyn said that she was determined. She was determined that she would save everyone.

「Things have only recently started to move though」

Zelyse's whereabouts were unknown, and there was no telling where Fran and the others were. In the end, she had no choice but to wait for the time to come while assisting Sierra from the shadows.

「We were being helped without our knowing...?」

Sierra muttered in astonishment.

I could care less about the process, as long as I avoided the destruction that was to come for Fran. Even if the whole thing was set up by Rhyn. Fran would not be convinced. After all the fierce battles and adventures she had been through, she might not have been able to do it all by herself.

It was the same fact that could shake Sierra's self-confidence that he had built up over the years after all.

「Just so you know, my help is minimal. I've only directly interfered with him three times in the past. First, when I led a Guild member to his weakened body. The other time when he was surrounded by dangerous magical beasts, I helped him escape by distracting them just a little bit. And the other time, when he almost died from an illness, I used my healing power to restore his strength. That's about it, isn't it?」

Whether it's insignificant or not, Rhyn didn't seem to give him an upper hand in any way.

「...I see」

Sierra seemed satisfied. It was probably because Rhyn's help was less frequent than he had imagined.

Well, I guess by saying that she hasn't helped him directly means that she has helped him indirectly many times. I'll keep my mouth shut because it might complicate things.

「When Zelyse showed up and started to make a move in the dark, things finally began to move」

Rhyn said that she opened a stall in order to get in touch with Fran. She said she wanted to talk to Fran and get to know her.

The reason for this is that Rhyn's influence can only target those who are close to her. To put it simply, the closer you are to Rhyn, the easier it is for Rhyn's influence to work.

For this reason, Rhyn decided to have a chat with Fran and form a strong connection with her.

「? Rhyn had a chat with me?」

「Well, in my case, I barely know anyone but Weena Rhyn. But even that was enough for me」

In other words, because Rhyn is a loner, even a small conversation with her would qualify anyone as her friend?

But I guess that contact was still meaningful for us.

「It was really hard after that. Sierra, Fran, Romio, Weena, and Zelyse. I had to keep an eye on everyone's behavior as much as possible and move around to avoid the worst developments...」

It is difficult for Rhyn to handle everyone directly. In the first place, she can't wield so much power due to the fact that she is using her power to choose the future.

Therefore, only when the worst comes to the worst does she make a slight alteration to the flow of history. The result of this lonely struggle is the history we have today.

For that matter, she was concerned about the fact that she had left Zelyse unattended, but after thinking about it, Zelyse's behavior wasn't necessarily the worst thing for Rhyn. On the contrary, an incompletely resurrected great magic beast might provide an opportunity to be exploited.

The worst thing for Rhyn is not the resurrection of the great magic beast, but the death of Weena Rhyn and the transformation of her personality due to her lack of mental stability.

Considering the fact that even Weena Rhyn's life would be in danger if the great magic beast were to be fully resurrected, it might have even been a blessing if Zelyse was able to resurrect the great magic beast incompletely.

「I never thought I'd be able to achieve such great results」

「Is it for the best?」

『Both Weena and Rhyn are looking very worn out... Weena also says that she won't be able to regain her powers back for years, but it must be the same for Rhyn, right?』

Rhyn's weariness was more than just a temporary loss of power. No matter how I looked at her, she had become a lower grade spirit.

She used to be classified as a high-level spirit, but now she was only at the level of medium-level spirit.

「No, I'm fine. The great magic beast has gone, we managed to separate me and Weena without losing our lives. What's more could I ask for?」

「Romio, Sierra, and Zelos Reed were safe, and neither Fran nor Swordsan had gone out of control. The only thing I was worried about was Zelyse losing his life, which had a positive effect on us over there. The country did not fall, and the damage to the people was minimal. It would be greed to want more than that」

Rhyn must have excluded the option of everyone being safe from the beginning. She must have thought that it would be better if some of us survived than if everyone including herself died and the great magic beast was left on the loose.

『Surely, after dealing with such a monster, it would be too greedy to ask for more...』

Chapter 660

TENKEN 660 Side Fran? 3

「Master」

『...Fran. I... All this time...』

I could hear Master's frayed voice. But I was so happy to hear his voice that I cried.

Because this voice was definitely Master's voice——Master's voice from when we first met.

When I hear his voice, I feel brave. I'm no longer afraid to call him my Master.

「Master. Lend me your strength」

『...My strength...?』

「I need Master's help to defeat the great magic beast. Help me as Master, not as a mere sword. Please」

『Are you crying...?』

「I'm crying from happiness. Don't worry about it」

After we get out from here, we'll be facing the great magic beast.

It's very intimidating. Can I really win? I feel a little uneasy. But if my Master lends me his strength, I'm sure I can win.

「Master. What I needed is Master」

『You're right... I am your Master after all...』

「Master?」

『Aah, that's right! I am Master. I'm Fran's Master...!』

Suddenly, Master's tone changed.

Very rough. It's like he's angry.

But I was not afraid at all. On the contrary, it made me happy. Because that voice was no longer the voice of the sword. It was the voice of Master with a proper heart, just like in the past.

「Can you go? Master」

『Aa... Aaah! I can go! Let's go! Wherever you want to go! I'll put all my heart into it!』

「Nn!」

『I'll apologize later. For now, let's just blow that thing up!』

「Nn! Okay!」

I wonder why. I myself was not really sure about it either, but I felt like I could do something amazing. I can beat any enemy now.

The big monster is no match for me now. Because I have Master now.

「Let's get serious!」

I'm really going to settle this. I'm not going to leave anything behind. I will use the strongest skill I had.

「O raging power of the divine beast that lies in my blood. Awaken! Divine Beast!」

Black lightning enveloped my entire body, and I could feel my hair grow a little longer.

But that's about the extent of the change in appearance. It's a little too bad though. With a name like "Divine Beast", I wish my whole body would be more fluffy.

But this skill is very strong. It's about five times as strong as Brilliant Lightning Rush. Maybe.

「Master. Are you ready?」

『Of course. Full throttle. Don't hold back on me. And it seems Announcer-san is back too』

《Leave the control of your skills to me. If it's dangerous, I can force it to end》

『That's what she says』

「...Okay」

Master and Announcer-san, both of them are very reliable.

「Okay then... Let's go!」

『Ou!』

「Aaaaa! Divine Sword Release!」

『Ooooooooooooo——』

...

『Fran... We did it...』

「Nn... But, I made a hole in the lake...」

『Aah—... I wonder will there be ecological problems in the future...?』

「Still, it's much better than a great magic beast on the loose」

「Rhyn, so you're safe?」

We were resting our weary bodies on a small mountain near the lake when Rhyn came up to us.

I thought something bad had happened to her because she suddenly disappeared after she lost her connection with the other side. I thought she might have died, so I'm glad she's okay.

「I just used a little too much power...」

「Is it because of our fault? Because you let me talk to the Masters over there?」

「Not only that... The fact that I sent Romio and the others to that timeline and doing many others things exhausted a lot of my power... But I'm fine now」

Rhyn's figure is getting fainter. I can feel very little of her energy. Is she really okay?

「...Don't push yourself too hard」

「I know」

「I wonder what happened to us over there...?」

Was it because I felt relieved after defeating the great magic beast? Suddenly, I wondered about us over there. It was thanks to that me and Master that Master was able to come back from just being a mere sword.

「Would Rhyn know?」

「I'm sorry. The connection's already been severed」

「I see. Too bad」

I wish we could have talked some more.

But it's okay.

Because they left me so many things.

「Master. I pushed myself pretty hard. Are you okay?」

『Aah. I'm fine. My strength's all gone, but I'm feeling pretty good』

Master says so and laughs.

He doesn't have a face, but I can tell. Master is definitely smiling like he used to.

「Nn」

『...I'm sorry, Fran. I was out of my mind』

「No. As long as you're back to normal, that's all that matters」

『...I see』

「Nn!」

Master's gentle voice. Tears well up in my eyes again.

I can see that Master is blaming himself. But that's also because Master was able to return to normal. he can be happy, he can be angry, he can do all these things because he has feelings.

And I'm so happy about that.

《Warning. There are signs of change in the individual named Master's name》

『Eh? The name is... Does that mean my name is going to change? Eh? Why?』

《Yes. The change already completed. It has returned to its previous name. With the change of individual named Master, the Divine Sword Release skill has disappeared from individual named Fran》

『Wait, what do you mean? Wow, seriously, my name is back to Master! Does this mean that I'm no longer a Divine Sword?』

《Yes. With the change of Master, it was stripped of its name as a Divine Sword and lost its authority》

I don't really understand, but it seems that my master is no longer a divine sword. But I wonder why? Could it be because I got his heart back? Can't he become a divine sword if he has a heart? No. Maybe it's the other way around. Maybe he lost his heart because he became a divine sword.

If that's the case, he doesn't have to be a divine sword. In fact, I don't want a divine sword. I want Master.

『I-I'm sorry Fran. I don't know why I'm not the divine sword anymore!』

「Nn」

『Eeh? Why are you smiling?』

「No problem. Master is Master. I don't care if he's a divine sword or not」

As long as Master is there, that's all that matters. And Announcer-san will be there too after all.

「...If only Urushi were here, we'd be perfect」

『...You're right』

That was the only disappointment. But then, the Announcer-san told us a surprise.

《It is not impossible to resummon the individual named Urushi》

『Eh? What do you mean?』

《The magic stone of the individual named Urushi has been assimilated into the individual named Master. By using this bond, it is possible to attempt to summon him again》

「What should we do?」

《To re-summon from a magic stone, you must use the Divine Beast Summoning Technique. To learn this, you must reach the maximum level of the summoning technique and be recognized by the god of magic》

「The God of Magic... What can I do to get their approval?」

《There is a lack of information. It is recommended that you first raise your summoning skills to the maximum level, followed by getting information on the God of Magic》

「I see... Master」

『Yeah, I think we know what our next objective is』

「Nn!」

Our adventure continues. A lively, fun adventure.

Chapter 661

TENKEN 661 What Happened After

It had already been ten days since the great magic beast was defeated.

Weena Rhyn—or Weena's handling of the aftermath is now complete. Although the feudal lords and adventurer's guilds in the area are the ones who actually take action, Weena was the one who gave the various instructions.

Many were astonished to see her changed appearance, but her influence seemed to be much the same.

It may be because her power is not yet known to have been greatly weakened, but it is probably due to her past record.

Also, the fact that she had defeated that great magic beast that was visible from the town seemed to have helped increase her influence even more.

The adventurers, for example, looked at her like she was a hero. They were in complete obedience to her instructions.

When she had finished giving some instructions, she handed over the work to the government officials who had been dispatched, and Weena returned to the academy.

The officials really wanted her to stay, but they couldn't force her to stay. In the end, they had no choice but to let Weena go.

We were also able to return to the academy with Weena after completing a few quests for reconstruction.

The academy was also in an uproar over Weena's appearance, but as expected, things seemed to have calmed down after two days. Normally, the students don't have much contact with Weena Rhyn, and when it's explained to them that there's no problem, they probably think that there's really no problem at all.

The teachers still can't seem to get used to it, but I guess they'll have to learn to accept it over time.

Well, it doesn't matter to us who will be leaving the academy soon.

「So, you're sure you want us to keep Zelos Reed?」

「Nn」

Now we were discussing with Weena and the others about the treatment of Zelos Reed and Romio.

This had been bothering me as well.

She made a promise that she'd get his life for something, but I don't think Fran would kill Zelos Reed now.

Fran feels a strong emotional attachment to Romio and Sierra. She found out that there was some similarity between them and herself. It may not be friendship, but she felt some kind of sympathy for them.

If she were to kill Zelos Reed, she would certainly be resented by Romio and Sierra, and they would be her enemy. Even Fran would not like that.

Of course, it doesn't mean that her hatred for Zelos Reed has disappeared, but if she was asked to kill him, I don't think she would.

The fact that Kiara herself has told us that avenging her is pointless is probably a big factor. I hate to say it, but we already have an excuse to get away with it without killing Zelos Reed.

And Fran's decision was to leave Romio and Zelos Reed in Weena's care.

When we thought about Romio's sake, it was not a bad idea.

Romio's wish is not to be in a privileged environment or under the protection of a gentle guardian, but to be with Zelos Reed.

However, Zelos Reed is being hunted as a criminal. There are few places where he can walk around with his head held high. And the academy, with its self-governing rights, was one of those few places.

Also, with Weena and Rhyn's power weakened, the academy is without any exceptional strength. Zelos Reed's power will be needed by the academy.

It was a decision that would allow us to trade favors with Romio, Zelos Reed, Weena, Sierra, all of them. Well, I don't think Fran would think that far ahead though.

Rather, it was as if she had been wondering what to do, and then pushed it to Weena. Perhaps she had been thinking so much that she had lost her sense.

Sierra and the magic sword Zelos Reed had disappeared when we noticed them.

In their case, there was no reason for them to stay here. They weren't committing any crimes, and they weren't being commissioned by the academy. Their status in this world was that of mere adventurers.

However, he was probably still concerned about the treatment of Romio and Zelos Reed. But once he had seen it, he had no more business here anymore.

I don't know where he went, but I think he went after the magic sword Zelyse. Zelyse from this timeline is dead, but the real revenge for Sierra and the others is the magic sword Zelyse.

I didn't know what happened to Nameless in the end. Weena also said that she didn't know about those little things, and it was very likely that they had escaped.

All that remains is for us to figure out our future.

Fran's role as an instructor has ended. In the past, she was forced to become an instructor in order to deceive the spirits of the academy who were about to turn against her. No, Fran doesn't mind about it, because she came to the academy to become an instructor.

By saving Weena and the others, she was officially recognized as having served as an instructor. It seemed that even if she quit her position as an instructor, she would no longer be attacked by the guardian spirits.

I wondered if the contract would be okay with Weena becoming weaker, but she said there would be no change to the contract that was already signed. In other words, the academy's defense will continue to be ironclad. Even Rhyn is going to be a part of it.

「You saved my life this time. Thank you」

Weena bows her head deeply.

Her tone has not changed at all from when she was still Weena Rhyn. However, there is clearly a change inside.

The instability that I had felt before was gone, and I could listen to her with some peace of mind, as if she was mentally stable now that she was no longer two souls in one body.

I think she's back to being the real Weena.

「It's just that I'm struggling to find the right rewards」

「Not money?」

「I'll give you money, of course. But I'm not going to just say thank you after all the help I've received. I'm going to pay you what you deserve」

「Oo~」

Fran's eyes light up at Weena's words. It's a reward that a very important person like her would say is worthy. It seems to be quite promising. I think Fran understands that.

「What'll you give me?」

「For the time being, let's start with the reward I promised you first」

「Promised?」

「Yeah, you remember that, don't you, Sword-san?」

『Oh, you mean that. Of course』

「I see」

Fran seemed to remember too. Well, how could I forget.

「I'll give you information on intelligence weapons that didn't go crazy」

Chapter 662

TENKEN 662 What Her Name Is

Weena has encountered many Intelligence Weapons.

I really wanted to know about the intelligence weapon that does not go crazy, which was extremely rare among intelligence weapons.

We were supposed to tell her about the lake's anomalies once we found out what caused it... But instead of finding out what caused it, we've helped her to make the source disappear.

It seems that she treated it as a kind of solution and said she would give us the information.

「I don't know if she still exists or not though...」

「She?」

『It was a woman?』

We let out a yelp of surprise.

It's not that all of the intelligence weapons must be a man, but every intelligence I know so far has always been a man.

It was the same for me, the magic sword Zelyse, the magic sword Zelos Reed, and the Divine Sword Fanatics, our base personalities were that of a man. It seems that because of this, I unconsciously thought that the all intelligence weapon was a man.

Announcer-san's base personality was that of a woman, but she's not a former human being.

『I see, a woman, huh?』

Well, if the soul inside is originally human, then of course it has a gender.

However, it's true to say that swords don't have gender, but the gender of the soul inside is still important. If I were to take a bath with a woman, it would be a problem, right? I'm sure people would be offended.

In Fran's case, she's a child and I'm her guardian, so it's still okay. But I can't deny that it's a little hard to go into the bathroom with other women.

「Can I continue?」

『Oops, sorry. I'm just a little surprised. Please continue』

「Sorry」

「The place where I met her was the cursed continent of Gordisia」

『The continent that was destroyed by Trismegistus, huh...?』

The continent was destroyed by the worst magic beast that could have destroyed the world. It was said that the continent is now being protected by a huge barrier to hold back the magic beast. Knights and adventurers dispatched from all over the world are said to be fighting against the magic beast.

Certainly, it might be a fitting place for an Intelligence Weapon to exist.

『But Weena Rhyn met this intelligence weapon and its wielder over a thousand years ago, right?』

「Yeah」

So, it's highly likely that the wielder has changed.

『It seems unlikely that they're still in Gordisia, right...?』

「Nn...」

「No, you don't have to worry about that, I'm more worried that she's been destroyed」

「??」

『What do you mean?』

「Her wielder is still alive after all」

『Huh? For real?』

It's been a thousand years, right? Well, it's not that it means that there is no being that can live that long. Weena and the others High Elves are the proof of it.

『Could it be, the wielder of this Intelligence Weapon is a High Elves?』

When I asked her that, Weena shook her head. It seems that this person is not a High Elves.

『Then, what kind of person her wielder is?』

「Her wielder is the immortal sinner. His name is Trismegistus」

「Eh?」

『Err?』

Fran shouted in surprise. That's how shocked she must have been at the sudden mention of the name.

He is, after all, a very famous person who is described in fairy tales and is also the worst sinner in history.

「Trismegistus...」

『Wasn't he the King of the Dragonmen who was forced to fight the magic beast for eternity?』

「That's right」

But then I remembered.

『A while back, I remember Frederick mentioning that Trismegistus had an Intelligence Sword』

Velmeria, the half-dragonmen girl who was controlled by Fanatics and gone out of control. Her guardian is a man who was also a half-dragonmen.

He seemed to be a native of the continent of Gordisia and seemed to know a lot of things.

He had apparently disappeared after the incident in Royal Capital, and had leaked such a story after he had learned of Fanatics' existence.

So the intelligence weapon in the two stories was the same existence, huh?

「Her name is Juanaverta」

『Juanaverta...』

So that's the name of the intelligence weapon that hasn't gone crazy.

「Yes. The Dragonmen King's second-in-command and his partner. A cold-blooded witch. Savage swordsman. Shadow of the Golden King. A high-ranking magician of many titles, an elf who volunteered to become an Intelligence Weapon. That's who she is」

『A former elf?』

So, maybe that's why Weena and the others know her.

『Now that I've heard about her, I wonder would it be difficult to talk to her peacefully?』

「I guess so. She wasn't the easiest person to deal with after all」

She was apparently Trismegistus' second-in-command, a woman who made it her life's mission to assist him.

「But I was still wondering is Trismegistus a kind of supremacist?」

『...It's not like she was crazy before she became a sword, right?』

Like, she was crazy from the start, so she won't get any crazier when she becomes a sword?

「Well, at least I don't think she has gone crazy, though she might have been a lunatic. But the fact that she has been able to maintain her spirit unchanged for more than a thousand years since she became a sword is a certainty」

『Well, that's reassuring』

Seeing my other self from the other timeline turned into a mere sword made me think of that again.

「The continent of Gordisia, huh...」

Chapter 663

TENKEN 663 The Value of a Heavenly Dragon

「That's it for the information about Intelligence Weapon. Then... Is there anything else you want? If not, I'll increase the money reward」

「Muh... Master?」

『Wait a second...』

We don't really need money. We already have the highest quality armor, the kind that ordinary adventurers spend the most money on.

Moreover, it automatically repairs itself, so it doesn't cost any money to maintain.

I'm proud of myself, but a better sword than mine is not something one can buy with money, and Fran's armor is made by a divine level blacksmith.

It could probably be a national treasure in some countries.

We've already received a large sum of money as a reward for this time. Even if we replenish the high-quality potions and other items we used up this time, we'll still have more than 10 million goldes left over.

We didn't need more money right now.

Besides, we're dealing with High Elves who have lived a long time. Moreover, she's a powerful person. It would definitely be more profitable to ask for a reward that cannot be obtained with money.

That is, items or information that one might not be able to obtain even with a lot of money.

『We don't need money! I'd rather have some items or information that might be useful』

「Hmm... Even if you say so...」

「If there's one reward Fran would probably be happy with, it would be access to the Heavenly Dragon's lair」

「The Heavenly Dragon's lair? You mean that floating island?」

「Yeah. And how about a ride to get you there?」

It was a grade S magical area, a place where the Heavenly Dragons, a magic beast with a threat level of A, lives.

『Even if we get permission to enter, we're not going in there alone, okay? It's too dangerous after all』

「Eh~」

Fran makes a dissatisfied voice at my words, but I can't give in here.

『Don't "eh" me. You shouldn't do this all the time something like this happen!』

「Well, you're right. If I were in perfect condition, I could help you, but right now, I think I can't」

Weena cowers her left shoulder and sighs. Indeed, it is a place I would love to visit if we were escorted by a High Elf.

After all, the materials from Heavenly Dragon are of the highest rank. The whip that Amanda, the A-ranked adventurer used as her partner was also a weapon made from the materials of the Heavenly Dragon.

It was broken in the martial arts tournament, but it seems that there is no better whip available yet. I guess that's how rare and powerful the whip is.

With the materials from the Heavenly Dragons, it might have been possible to further strengthen Fran's armor.

But it's too dangerous. The opponent might be stronger than us even in a one-on-one battle. If there were more than one of them, we would never win.

I've heard that most adventurers bring back a little bit of the material in a stealthy way, but...

『I don't think a single scale is going to be much of an enhancement』

「Muh... Too bad, I wanted to give it to Amanda as a present though」

『A present for Amanda?』

「Nn. It gonna be the material for her whip」

What a surprise!

I thought she was just interested in the Heavenly Dragons' lair! I never thought she gonna give a present to Amanda...

I'm happy to see how much Fran has grown!

If that's the case, I'd like to help out too, but...

『Hey, Weena. What kind of material from a Heavenly Dragon do we need to make a whip?』

「A whip? Then you'll probably need its beard. You'll also need its magic stones, scales, and hair」

『I see』

Well, it was unlikely that we could get enough materials for a whip if we just snuck in and took a few things. Amanda would have been delighted to receive a few scales, but we wanted to give her something that could be used already.

「But well, the material of a Heavenly Dragon is actually available in the treasury of our academy」

『For real?』

「Yeah. I needed a few materials from it, so I hunted one down」

She said that in order to cure the king's illness at that time, she needed a medicine made from a Heavenly Dragon's internal organs.

As a result, the scales, beards, and magic stones that are not used in the medicine manufacturing process remain stored in the treasury until now.

Normally, anyone would use it to make armor, but as a High Elf, Weena Rhyn doesn't need armor, and as the academy is running smoothly, there is no need to sell it.

As a result, even Weena had almost forgotten about it.

「Then, I want that!」

「Hmm... Is Amanda would the one who will be using the whip?」

「Nn」

「If that's the case, then it'll break again if it's done half-heartedly. I'll give you its beard, hair, magic stone, and of course, its eyeball and bone too——」

Weena suddenly went silent. A spirit came, didn't it? It seems that Weena has called them. I can feel their presence, but as expected, I can't tell what kind of exchange they're having.

Then Weena opened her mouth with a difficult look on her face.

「As for me, I'd be happy to give you a set of Heavenly Dragon's materials. I'd even give you the whole body. But it seems I can't do that this time」

The fact that it is stored in the academy's treasury means that the academy has jurisdiction over it. In other words, it is under the supervision of the guardian spirits.

It seems that even if she is the Director of the academy, Weena cannot freely do as she pleases. It is in the form of payment for our works this time, but——.

「There's a cap on the amount of rewards that can be given」

This time, the reward for Fran was the highest reward set by the academy. Even so, it is said that the upper limit is 20 million goldes. No matter how much work she did, the spirits would not allow her to go beyond that.

In other words, the value of the Heavenly Dragon's material is probably well over 20 million goldes.

「If I had kept it in my possession, it wouldn't have been a problem」

『Then, why don't you ask them to use all the rewards you are supposed to give us this time in the form of the Heavenly Dragon's materials? I don't need the money. I'd rather pay for it』

The reward for us comes from the academy, with Weena adding some extra from her own pocket. The total amount is 40 million goldes.

That's 20 million from the academy. 20 million from Weena. Then why don't we use the 20 million goldes from Weena to the academy to buy the Heavenly Dragon's materials?

「Still... I just wished that I had a little more savings... I can only afford to give you about 10 million more」

Weena is a high elf who has lived for thousands of years. However, she was surprisingly not that wealthy. To the average person, she was a millionaire, but as a fortune for someone as powerful as she was, it was far less than one would imagine. However, there was a reason for that.

She didn't need a lot of money to live in the academy, and she didn't like to live a glamorous life. She is not a collector of any kind, nor does she have any hobbies to accumulate money. Besides, when the time comes, she can do everything by herself.

To put it bluntly, she didn't need money. That's why she didn't actively work for money and spent her days in a simple life.

Even so, the reward given to us this time, 20 million goldes, was the result of her saving up the reward paid to the Director every year. Although she said that she could give us another 10 million, it would still not be enough to buy the Heavenly Dragon's material.

『Then why don't you just ask them to sell the beard or the magic stone?』

「That's fine, but... I'm sure you'll get much higher performance out of buying a set of top quality dungeon materials rather than making them out of half-assed materials, right?」

「Muh...」

After all, it's not that easy. But as we were pondering over this, Weena suddenly opened her mouth.

「I have a solution for you. Why don't you take one of the requests from the academy?」

Chapter 664

TENKEN 664 The Commitment for Gordisia

「I have a solution for you. Why don't you take one of the requests from the academy?」

「Request?」

『Depends on the details』

Apparently, the value of a set of Heavenly Dragon's materials is well over 50 million goldes. I wonder what kind of request that could cover the shortage?

It must not be an easy request.

「You two, do you know what the Commitment for Gordisia is?」

『No, I don't know. I understand that it must have something to do with Gordisia, but...』

「Well, to put it simply, it's a treaty imposed on each country to deploy troops and aid to the continent of Gordisia」

In the continent of Gordisia, the fight against the Abyss Eaters, the abominable magic beast created by Trismegistus is still ongoing.

Well, I've only heard about it through rumor, so I don't really know what kind of fight it is.

Countries all over the world were providing various kinds of assistance to the fight. Some countries dispatched troops, some provided supplies, and some were in charge of transportation. Each country is doing what it can do to help.

This assistance is called 『The Commitment for Gordisia』 and is said to be mandatory for all countries of the world. There are various penalties for abandoning this duty, and in the worst cases, it can even lead to war with neighboring countries.

In fact, there was an incident in which a country that ignored its Commitment to Gordisia and attacked a neighboring country that was sending troops to Gordisia was later destroyed by the allied forces of neighboring countries.

The Commitment for Gordisia is necessary in order to protect the world. Therefore, the sanctions are said to be quite severe so that the perception that it is okay to ignore them does not arise.

Since even the Kingdom of Raidos has never neglected to provide their assistance to the continent of Gordisia, it can be said that its compelling power is rather great.

「The Kingdom of Belios usually provides financial aid and ships for transportation. We also dispatch some hired adventurers. In some cases, I'll even travel there myself. But...」

『It is gonna be hard to give them financial aid or sending troops this time, huh? Weena still can't go there with her current condition too...』

「That's right. We'll be the ones to take care of it this year or next. But this incident has caused a ridiculous amount of damage to us」

「This year or next year?」

『Well, that's certainly gonna be tough』

「I can handle the financial stuff. But our troops are other events...」

We will need as much labor as possible for the reconstruction. Besides, it would be unacceptable to send the dwindling number of adventurers out of the country.

But even if we wait until next year, we will not see a dramatic recovery.

「The government is allowed to reduce or delay its aids if there is a serious disaster or other event that reduces the country's strength. But we want to make that as a last resort」

By showing weakness to other countries, the influence of the Kingdom of Belios will be diminished.

It's a political thing that feels trivial to most of us, but I guess it's something that the higher-ups in the country can't ignore.

『So you're telling me that you want Fran to go to Gordisia as a representative of the Kingdom of Belios?』

「That's right. Well, you'll also be representing the Academy of Magic, so you'll be paid by both the academy and the state」

In other words, as a representative of the Academy of magic, I guess it means that we should cross over to the continent of Gordisia together with the other people sent from the Kingdom of Belios.

『Hmm. We did have a plan to go to Gordisia someday, but...』

The idea of carrying a whole country on our shoulders makes me nervous. I mean, I'm with Fran, remember? She doesn't have a problem in terms of her combat ability, but I can't promise that she won't ever cause problems there.

As her guardian, I was not a fan of leaving such important responsibilities in Fran's hands.

When I told her this, Weena shrugged lightly.

「Let me assure you, you don't have to take the formal parts there」

I imagined that we would be joining the troops, and that we would be on a strict battlefield where orders must be obeyed, but it seems that the place is much more lax.

However, it seems that each individual is allowed to act freely once they arrive in Gordisia. It also seems that all country does not have any control over that continent. Well, for small countries, they have no choice but to follow the orders of the big countries though.

「And I don't think anyone would dare to try to force an impossible task on a Representative for the Kingdom of Belios with my backing」

There is a special magic tool that allows people to track the results of their battles within the continent by registering on it when they enter the continent. If Fran fights against the Abyssal Eaters to some extent, it will be treated as if the Kingdom of Belios has fulfilled its duty.

「In other words, my request to you is to travel to the continent of Gordisia as an adventurer sent by the Kingdom of Belios, and then go on a moderate rampage there」

『I see... By the way, how strong the Abyss Eater is?』

I've heard that it can infinitely regenerate itself, but there's not much other information about it. From what I've heard from the ordinary soldiers fighting them, I'd say it doesn't seem like it has that much combat power, but...

「It's kind of hard to explain though——」

Weena then told us a brief description of it.

First of all, the Abyss Eater is said to look like a colorless, transparent slime. It is also said to look like a slime ghost.

Moreover, it is so huge that it covers the entire continent.

What's more, the inside of the dome-shaped barrier covering the whole continent of Gordisia is said to be filled with Abyss Eaters.

I imagined it as a place with a translucent dome with the Abyss Eaters tightly crammed inside. It seems to be just like that.

『Eh? But we have to get inside the barrier to fight, right?』

「Yeah」

『Wouldn't that mean we'd be stepping into the Abyss Eater's body? Isn't that dangerous? And what about the air?』

「Abyss Eaters are a half-spirit magic beast. You can't physically touch it. It's kinda similar to a spirit. The Abyss Eater itself is not harmful to us even if we are inside its body」

『But if that's the case, it doesn't sound like a dangerous magic beast, right?』

「That's not quite right. The Abyss Eater itself has no offensive power. It just simply stays there. But the magic beasts that the Abyss Eater create within its body are different. They attack, eat, and continuously send their power to the Abyss Eater」

『So it was the source of the endless flow of magic beasts, huh? In other words, the job is not to deal with the Abyss Eaters but to defeat the magic beasts that are constantly being created by it, huh?』

「That's right. The magic beasts that are created in Abyss Eater's body are actually its defensive mechanism. They're called with Kouma there, I want you to defeat as many of them there. Once you've managed to defeat a certain number of them, you're free to do whatever you want」

We were planning to go to the continent of Gordisia anyway, and if we went there, we would inevitably have to fight against those magic beasts. And I'm grateful if that's all it takes to complete the request.

「And the benefit of accepting this request isn't just the reward, you know?」

『What do you mean?』

「There are a lot of restrictions and quotas if you want to go to the continent of Gordisia as a regular traveler. But if you're going to Gordisia on my request, I'll prepare the groundwork for you, and you'll be able to enter smoothly. Moreover, you can act freely without having to worry about being forced to join another country or being interfered with. I guess you could call this an advantage, no?」

「Nn. It's good to be free」

『Well, you're right』

We were going there anyway, so we might as well take the request.

Chapter 665

TENKEN 665 Rhyn and the Academy

Weena suggested Fran to go to the continent of Gordisia, but Fran seemed to be troubled by something.

『Something bothering you?』

「Nn... The Kingdom of Raidos, is it okay to let them get away this time?」

『Well, that's certainly something to be concerned about, but... There's nothing we can do on our own against a big country, right?』

No adventurers are allowed to enter that country, and even if we did infiltrate, what would we do? Move around the large country in hiding, searching for Nameless and Zelyse wherever they might be?

If we're not careful, the whole country will turn against us, right?

It's just too reckless. Even if we were to look for Nameless there, we wouldn't even know where to go.

「As for the Kingdom of Raidos, I have contacted some countries and guilds about this incident. It's not too late to wait for their response. It's not like we want to destroy the Kingdom of Raidos immediately, right?」

「Nn」

「Eventually, they'll have to pay for what they've done. There will come a time when I will need your help. Until then, please be patient, okay?」

Weena had no mercy for anyone who messed with her. Even if she no longer had the power to punish them herself, she seemed to be planning to fight against the Kingdom of Raidos in some way.

「Okay」

For Fran, the Kingdom of Raidos is a detestable country that causes trouble all around her. But it wasn't so much that she hated it or wanted to destroy it.

At most, she wished she could see them suffer, maybe?

Well, for now, that is.

There is also information that they have collaborated with Zelyse to create Nameless and are targeting Jean. For Fran, some of the powerful people in the Kingdom of Raidos had become an opponent that had to be defeated.

However, Fran doesn't want to deal with it on her own either. If Weena is willing to make a move, she can wait for it.

「Then, I'd like to deliver a message to Jean」

「And about the demi-lich, Nameless, was it?」

「Nn」

「Leave that to me too. I'll pass on all the information from you to the guild」

「I leave it to you」

Weena is a very influential person in the adventurer's guild, so I think it's safe to leave it to her.

Then, as I was talking with Weena about the future, a new figure appeared in the room.

But we didn't hear the door being opened nor closed at all.

Suddenly, something appeared as if it were gushing out.

「Fran, let me thank you as well. Thanks to you, I've successfully become a guardian spirit」

「Rhyn」

It was Rhyn, she had signed a new contract as the Spirit of the Academy.

Even though she had regained her power that had been sealed within Weena Rhyn and the great magic beast, her physical body had already gone and now she exists as a spirit.

It was impossible for her to return as a High Elf.

Weena said she'll try to find a way to get her body back, but it was Rhyn herself who refused.

Rhyn became a spirit because she made a contract with the spirit of the lake, which was captured inside the great magic beast, and became one with it.

In other words, half of her body also belongs to the spirit of the lake. Spirits' way of thinking is completely different from people. Even if Rhyn is to get absorbed and become one with the magic beast, it doesn't mean that the spirit of the lake would be grieving over it.

However, Rhyn chose to stay by Weena's side as a spirit. She thought that it was the right thing to do.

『But why did you become the guardian spirit of the academy instead of making a contract with Weena?』

「That would create a hierarchical relationship between Weena and me, wouldn't it?」

『So even the Director of the academy and the guardian spirits have a hierarchical relationship, huh?』

「Not quite right, we're both equal under the rules that have been established」

「Were both equal. I suppose you could also say that we're tied to the academy」

As far as I know, this academy has the strictest law enforcement in this world. Perhaps Weena Rhyn made it so that the rules that the guardian spirits follow take precedence over her own will to prevent her from taking advantage of the spirits.

This way, even if someone other than her became the director of the academy in the future, it could prevent any tyranny. In a world where laws could be twisted at will depending on the mood of those in power, what a unique place this Academy is.

「To be honest, now that Rhyn is back, I'd be happy to step down from my position as director of the academy, but...」

「You can't. This place is where you have made my dream come true after all」

Rhyn disagrees with Weena's words. She dreams of being tied to the academy? What does she mean?

It seems that Fran doesn't understand about it either.

「Dream?」

「Yes. I've always dreamed of building an academy one day and being surrounded by children」

That reminds me, I remember Weena Rhyn said something like that before Rhyn was separated from her.

「Well, you see, Rhyn used to hold the title of Guardian of Children after all」

Guardian of Children!? Isn't that also the title held by the child-loving Amanda?

The fact that she had that means that she must really like children.

『But why would you chose to be the guardian spirit instead of being a teacher?』

「Well, albeit in a slightly different way, I can still watch over the children here. I'm content with it」

I wondered if she's really all right with that, but Rhyn's seemed to be content with it.

An elf and a guardian of children. She just looks like Amanda, isn't she? When I told her this, she was surprised to hear it.

Amanda was said to be a descendant of Weena Rhyn, or more accurately, a descendant of Rhyn. Apparently, one of the reasons why Amanda dislikes Weena Rhyn is because it looks as if Weena has captured Rhyn within her.

Well, I guess the main reason is that she acts like a child loving person as the director of the academy even though she doesn't really like children.

『Well, if Rhyn is happy, that's all that matters』

「Within the last few thousand years of my life, this is probably the most joyful time for me」

「Nn. That's all that matters」

Rhyn then showed a warm, human-like smile on her face, not the usual mysterious expression she used to have.

She smiled like a kind old school teacher, friendly like a saint and reassuring despite her young appearance.

I guess this is Rhyn's genuine smile.

If I'd had a teacher like her in my elementary school, maybe I would have liked the school more.

Chapter 666

TENKEN 666 Spirit Magic

In the end, we decided to accept Weena's suggestion. It was a deal that had more advantages than disadvantages after all.

We'll be leaving the day after tomorrow. However, we won't rush straight to the continent of Gordisia.

It seems that we have to go to the royal capital of this country with the request letter first. There, we would cross over to the continent of Gordisia together with the country's personnel

『I guess it's time for us to say goodbye to this inn』

「Woof」

「Nn」

Fran is eating her meal with a somber look on her face while looking at the huge tree that runs through the center of the inn. The meals were supposed to be delicious, but I wonder if there is something bothering her?

『Fran, are you not feeling well?』

(...The spirit, I didn't get to see it in the end)

『Aah, now that you mention it...』

She was unable to see the spirit that was said to dwell in the ancient tree after all. With my spirit detection skills, even I haven't been able to detect any sign of it.

But then Fran suddenly turned her gaze upward.

『Hmm?』

「Woof?」

「Master, it's here」

『Eh?』

I don't really get what Fran meant when she muttered that.

I didn't detect anything other than us here after all... Even Urushi doesn't seem to be able to detect anything.

However, Fran's eyes were firmly fixed on one point.

Fran continued to stare silently at the trunk of the giant tree for several seconds.

And right after that.

『!』

「I can see it」

『M-me too!』

「W-woof!」

Fran and Urushi had forgotten about eating and gaped with her mouth wide open.

「——」

What we saw there was a green squirrel floating fluidly in the air. On the outside, its appearance looked like that of a small animal, but inside, I could sense a much greater presence.

It's definitely the spirit of the ancient tree. At the very least, it must be a high-ranking spirit.

It may sound strange, but I couldn't sense anything when I couldn't see it, but as soon as I could see it, I immediately understood how great it was.

Besides, the fact that the spirit was able to completely fool my detection skills while I was right in front of it shows that it possesses a great deal of power.

「Hoho. I didn't expect Spirit-sama to show itself. It seems it has taken quite a liking to you」

「To me?」

「Yeah」

The old elf lady smiled as she was looking at Fran and the spirit. It seems that this spirit was really the spirit of the ancient tree.

「It seems that Spirit-sama wanted to say its thanks to you」

「Well, I wonder? But since you can see it now, why don't you ask it yourself」

「Nn. Okay」

「Good」

Fran nodded enthusiastically at the old lady's words. Then, she slowly approached the spirit of the ancient tree.

Fran and the spirit silently looked at each other for a while, and then nodded at each other for some reason.

『What happened?』

(?? You didn't hear us?)

『Eh?』

What does she mean? Have they had any conversations?

『You were talking with the spirit just now?』

(Nn, it says that it was grateful to us for saving Rhyn)

『Urushi?』

(Woof)

It seems that even Urushi didn't hear them either.

I see; maybe this is what's called compatibility. In spirit magic, compatibility with the spirit is more important than the skill level or its proficiency.

In some cases, even a novice who has just learned the spirit magic can make a contract with the Great Spirit if the Great Spirit likes them.

It seems that the spirit of the ancient tree and Fran have good compatibility with each other, but not with Urushi and me.

But come to think of it, could I even have compatibility with a spirit in the first place? I am a sword after all. There's a possibility that even a spirit couldn't notice me at all, right?

「Nn. I see」

「Hmm」

Fran, on the other hand, seemed to be able to converse with the spirit just fine.

『The spirit know Rhyn?』

(Nn. The spirit said that it was Rhyn's friend. It was happy to know that Rhyn has been freed from the great magic beast)

So, even spirits were interacting with each other, huh?

「Ah...」

『Ooh』

As I was thinking about that, the spirit's figure vanished. However, it seems that Fran can still sense the presence of the spirit and is now pursuing the place where the spirit seems to be with her eyes.

It seemed that the spirit had simply come to express its gratitude.

But for us, we gained something far greater than words.

《As a result of prolonged sighting of a high-ranking spirit, Fran has acquired spirit magic skill》

『Huh? What did you just say?』

《It looks like her talent has blossomed》

You're not joking, right!? I hurriedly checked Fran's status. Sure enough, she had acquired spirit magic. Certainly, due to the fierce battle the other day, both Fran and Urushi had risen by five levels.

But at that time, I was sure that she did not acquire any spirit magic.

Could it be that the spirit of the ancient tree dared to show up for this purpose? Anyway, I'm glad that Fran has gained a new skill.

『Fran, it seems that you've really acquired spirit magic』

「Really?」

『Yeah, how is it? Can you try to use it?』

「Nn...」

Fran looked excited and concentrated her mind. She already knew how to use magic very well. Even if it was a skill she had never seen before, it should be no problem.

That's what I thought, but she soon stopped her concentration. By looking at how her ears and tail were drooping limply, I could tell that it was not going well.

『Fran』

「It's no good」

『No good, huh? Is it that because you don't know how to use the skill?』

「I can use the skill just fine, but I don't know other spirits besides the tree spirit」

『You mean the ancient tree spirit we saw before? So, what are you trying to say is that you can't sense the presence of other spirits?』

「Nn. But I can't borrow the power of the tree spirits」

She could activate the spirit magic, but the spirit keeps rejecting her. They have good compatibility though...

It seemed that using spirit magic was more difficult than I had imagined.

Chapter 667

TENKEN 667 Farewell Party

The next day after Fran acquired spirit magic. She attended a special class at the academy in her school uniform for the last time.

「——That's what it's like. You get that?」

「Nn」

「But still, to be able to awaken your spirit magic in such a short time... As expected of the Black Lightning Princess」

The topic of today's class was about spirit magic. Since Fran was still considered a student of the academy until today, Weena helped her to master her newly acquired spirit magic.

Thanks to that, she was able to learn all she needs to know about spirit magic. Well, she must find a spirit that was compatible with her first though.

We also learned that the reason why Fran couldn't make a contract with the spirit of the ancient tree was because that spirit had a deep bond with the old elven lady and did not want to have another contractor. It seems that while some spirits can have multiple contractors, there are also some that prefer to stick with only one contractor.

Then after the class, there was a farewell party organized by the students for Fran. They ate together and said their goodbyes in the student cafeteria, which had improved remarkably under Fran's guidance.

「Thank you very much. I've learned a lot from you」

「Thanks for your help」

「Please come again」

They were scared of her at first, but now they have accepted her completely. Thanks to it, Fran was able to really feel like she was a part of the class, especially during the first few days after we returned from the lake.

「You are leaving soon, huh?」

「I thought we'd finally had another fellow beastman here...」

Inez, Horial, and the rest of the teachers also bid their farewells to us.

「The class that received your guidance has shown remarkable growth in their abilities. The students would surely be happy if you could continue to instruct them like before... But that's not good; we can't rely on you forever」

「Nn. Do your best」

Fran seemed happy when she was talking with Inez. I guess it's not only because she doesn't want to part with her, but also because she respects her as an instructor.

Surprisingly, Fran doesn't dislike working as an instructor here. Well, although she does like acting like an important person, she also finds it rewarding to know that her experience can help others.

I guess the praise from Inez, a real instructor, had given her some confidence too.

「Fran」

「Charon」

「Thank you for all your help」

Next was the blonde drill girl, Charon.

It started with an encounter at the adventurer's guild, but before she knows it, she had become a friend of hers.

Charon has a high opinion of Fran as an instructor who had taught her and her classmates a lot of combat techniques.

As she bowed her head, I could feel her deep gratitude and respect for Fran.

It was also the same for Fran. She was grateful for her and respected her.

Without her, Fran's school life would have been much different.

It would have taken her a long time to fit in with the other students, and she might not have been able to have as much fun as she had.

Fran understood that too. It was true that Fran was a better warrior. But as a person, Charon had more experience than Fran. That's how Fran felt.

「Likewise, thank you」

She bowed her head back to Charon.

「Thanks to Charon, I had a lot of fun here」

「Well, that's...」

Charon was surprised to hear such words from Fran.

Even I was surprised too.

Sensing my surprise, Fran tilted her head in confusion.

(What's wrong?)

『It's nothing, I just thought that Fran is talking a lot more than usual today』

(Is that so?)

『Yeah』

Apparently, Fran herself was unaware of it.

『But I think it's good to be honest about your feelings, right?』

You don't have to say everything, but you can at least say thanks.

Then, Fran nodded her head as if she had understood something.

(You may be right...)

『Ooh, you understand?』

(Nn. Maybe if the other Master and I from that side had talked more, they wouldn't have ended up like that)

『I see』

Our encounter with ourselves from the other timeline was really brief, but there was something about it that stayed with Fran. It was an eventful moment after all.

「Fran...」

Charon put her hand over her mouth as if she was trying to overcome her emotions.

「...Please come again, okay!?!...」

「Nn」

「E-excuse myself for a moment!」

Not wanting to be seen crying, Charon gets up from her seat. Her pride must have brought her to act like this, a lady to the core, huh? I don't hate that part of her.

「Fran-san, be careful on your way there」

「Nn. Thank you for your information too」

The last one to bid us farewell was Khanna. Her information about the Mesther Merchant Association had been really helpful.

「Not at all, I'd like to thank you as well」

「Thank you for protecting this country from the Kingdom of Raidos」

「I did it for myself though」

「Even so, it is a fact that many people were saved. If the situation had continued to develop into a larger scale, many people in both countries would have been in misfortune」

Khanna bowed her head again as she said that. How do I put this? She looked somewhat pained. She looked not as happy and relieved as Charon and the others, but somehow filled with sadness and loneliness.

I wonder why, I'm sure there must be some deeper reason... But before Fran could ask anything, Khanna walked away. She seemed to have some business to attend to, and she was unable to stop her.

『Well, we can ask her when she returns』

「Nn」

Afterwards, we enjoyed the rest of the day and the party continued. It was unusual for Fran to stay up so late at night. It must have been fun for her to be surrounded by so many kids of her age.

『Fran』

『That was fun』

「Nn! I had a lot of fun!」

Despite all the troubles, just being able to see the smile on Fran's face made the trip to the academy worth the while.

Chapter 668

TENKEN 668 Departing from Lady Blue

「Fran. I've been waiting for you」

「Sierra?」

As we went through the main gate to leave Lady Blue, a boy appeared in front of us. It was Sierra, the boy who we hadn't seen for the past few days.

He requested that we call him Sierra from now on, so neither Fran nor I would call him Romio.

「I thought I'd thank you again. Thanks for letting us off the hook」

Sierra then bowed his head as he said that.

When he revealed the identity of the magic sword Zelos Reed, Sierra promised Fran to let her do anything she wants to them once they had their revenge. (TLN: References ch 611)

That's the reason why Fran let them go.

She still holds a grudge against Zelos Reed, but she doesn't feel the same hatred with the Zelos Reed from the other timeline which is now in the form of a sword.

Rather, Fran feels sympathy for Sierra and does not want to fight him for the time being. She even decided to avoid a fight by telling them that the whole thing was not over yet as Zelyse from their timeline had escaped.

『Could it be, you have been waiting here to thank us?』

「I-it's not like that. Well, it's true that I'd like to thank you, but I also remembered something, so I thought I'd tell you about it」

『You remembered something?』

「Yeah, It's something from the other side」

From the other side? In other words, it must be something that happened in the other timeline.

「What is it?」

「I once heard Oji-chan saying something before he becomes a sword, he heard a talk about the Fran from the other side saying that Master was a divine sword」

『Huh? The other me on that timeline was a divine sword?』

「Yeah」

What does that mean? How could the other me on the other side be a divine sword?

『Not a discarded Divine Sword?』

「Yes. Oji-chan also mentioned that it could use the Divine Sword Release」

That's certainly not a word that would be used to describe a discarded divine sword. Obviously, it must be an active divine sword.

「Then, is it possible for Master to evolve into a divine sword?」

『As Fran says... Is that even possible?』

《Yes. It is possible. The gods are involved in the creation of the individual named Master. With Cherubim being the vessel and the Fenrir sealed within it, Master are fully capable of becoming a divine sword. However, the method is unknown due to the lack of information》

『Announcer-san, didn't you say that you exchanged some information with the Announcer-san from that timeline? Did you not get any information regarding this?』

《Yes. There's no information regarding how to turn Master to be a divine sword》

Now that's another mystery. I mean, they were able to exchange information about skills, so why wouldn't the other Announcer-san share some simple information with us? It should only take her a moment to tell us simple info like "The Master here has become a Divine Sword!" right?

『Or did you not even have time for that?』

《No. We had plenty of time to share information at that time》

Then why didn't she tell us? The fact that I might be able to become a divine sword is pretty important information, don't you think? Things were also different in here and there after all, so I don't think the other Announcer-san would be reluctant to give out some useful information.

『In that case—... did she intentionally choose not to tell us anything about me becoming a divine sword?』

《That's the most possible reason》

『In other words, the Announcer-san from that side has decided that it's better for me not to become a divine sword, huh...?』

《There is a high possibility that there will be some kind of price to pay for the individual named Master to gain power as a divine sword》

『The price for that must be really high, huh...』

The Announcer-san from the other side must be aware that we were fighting against the great magic beast at that time. So, if she chooses not to share us the information on how the other me became a divine sword, the price for it must be really high.

What if by becoming a divine sword changed me? The other me from that timeline had been reduced to being just a sword after all... It's possible that becoming a divine sword was the reason for that.

I do admire divine swords, but it seems that I should be cautious about this.

『Thanks for the info』

「Not at all, I'm glad I could be of some help」

『It should be useful for us』

We got the information that there was a possibility for me to become a divine sword, and a possibility that it would come with a steep price.

「What's Sierra going to do after this?」

「I'll continue to chase after the magic sword Zelyse. He's my mortal enemy after all」

「I see」

「What about you?」

「I received a request from Weena」

Fran and Sierra then exchanged information about each other's future actions.

In Sierra's case, he's going to see if there's a way to enter the Kingdom of Raidos legally. At the same time, he will gather information about the damage caused by the undead in the area.

After all, the current wielder of the magic sword Zelyse, Nameless the Demi Lich, called itself the leader of the Black Skeleton Corps belonging to the Kingdom of Raidos.

In other words, there is a high possibility that it is leading an undead army and is making moves in the dark in various places.

In Fran's case, her immediate destination is the royal capital of the Kingdom of Belios. It is likely that we will go directly to the continent of Gordisia from there.

So, while fulfilling Weena's request, we will also go to see Trismegistus.

Also, our long-term goal is to break the curse of the entire black cat kin. Well, this will take a really long time though.

「The curse of the black cat kin?」

「Yup」

It seems that Sierra doesn't know that information. Well, I guess that's what you'd get for not being interested in things in the world. Fran then gives him a brief explanation about the curse.

「So you're saying that the Black Cat kin must defeat the evil being with a threat level of S or higher?」

「It could also be the evil god's kindred」

「Either way, it's going to be a tough fight...」

「But I will definitely break the curse」

「Is that so...? I hope you can achieve your goal. I'm rooting for you too. If I ever find a strong black cat kin somewhere, I'll make sure to let you know」

「Please do. I'll help you find Zelyse too」

「Thanks」

With a final handshake, Sierra jumped on the horse that he had brought with him. It seemed to be a summoned animal. It was of a lower class, but it was a horse type. It looked like it could run pretty fast.

「Sierra, see you again」

「Yeah, see ya!」

Then, after watching Sierra leave, Fran jumped on Urushi's back. Her face was filled with motivation.

「We should go too」

「Woof!」

『Yeah, you're right』

「I can't lose to the Sierra」

『Me too, I'm not going to lose to another intelligence weapon!』

「Nn!」

Chapter 669

TENKEN 669 The Trip to The Royal Capital

We set out from Lady Blue and headed for the royal capital of the Kingdom of Belios.

Urushi briskly ran across the clear sky with only a few clouds in the sky with us on his back.

「Woof woof!」

「Urushi looks so happy」

『Does it feel good for being able to run as fast as you can?』

「Woof!」

Well, he belongs to the canine family after all; they like to run a lot.

We're currently traveling at a very high altitude. Although we're still below the clouds, we're still about 2000 meters away from the ground.

At this height, even if Urushi had returned to his original size and were running at full speed, no one would notice him from the ground.

「Woof woo~f!」

「Ooh—」

『Fran, don't lose your grip!』

It seems that the tension was getting too high, and Urushi's movements started to get more vigorous. He tried running at a higher altitude, changing his stride and jumping up and down, and so on.

「Woof woof woo-f!」

「Uooh—!」

『Wha- hey, we might fall!』

He even did a crazy trick where he spun around and ran in a spiral with Fran as the origin. It was as if we were riding on a roller coaster.

Fran cheerfully shouted, perhaps amused by the G-force that hit us from various directions. It was just like a real roller coaster.

But I'm still worried that Fran might fall if this continues.

『U-Urushi! You're getting too excited!』

「Woof...」

「It's over already?」

『And Fran, don't put such a face now!』

As we were making our way through the sky, we saw a strange light glittering in the sky.

「Woof?」

「Master, is that, a Heavenly Dragon?」

『Yeah, it seems so』

When I looked up, I saw that there was an island floating in the air. And as if it was sucking at the surface of the white clouds that surrounded the island, something long and thin was steadily moving in it.

It's definitely a Heavenly Dragon, a magic beast with a threat level of A. It was said that they're usually seen in the clouds, but they sometimes appear outside by chance.

「It's glowing」

『I wonder if it was due to the reflection of the sun's rays』

The Heavenly Dragons, which specializes in light magic, wears the light of magical power on its body. And not only that, it's probably reflecting the light of the sun that is pouring down on it.

We had been shown the Heavenly Dragons material from the magic academy's warehouse, but the scales of a living Heavenly Dragons had a completely different glow to them.

The scales of the Heavenly Dragons I saw in the warehouse had a dull gold color on them. My impression was that they looked just like King Ghi ○ rah's scales. However, they seemed to gain a mirror-like shine when they were infused with magic power.

(TLN: Ghidorah, the three-headed winged dragon in Godzilla)

The sight of the Heavenly Dragon shining in bright platinum ascending through the clouds is so beautiful that it makes me want to worship it.

I now understand the meaning of the saying that good fortune comes to those who can see it.

『Looks like something good is going to happen』

「Nn」

「Woof!」

The sight of the Heavenly Dragon flying gracefully in the sky made me feel as if it was blessing us on our journey.

***

Two days after we left Lady Blue.

We made stops at towns and villages along the way to buy local specialties, and continued our smooth journey to the east.

And without any problems, we arrived at the royal capital of the Kingdom of Belios.

『Uwaa~h, as expected of the royal capital of a major power. It's as big as the royal capital of the Kingdom of Kranzel』

「Nn. The walls are high and the road is wide」

「Woof」

I was surprised by how big Lady Blue was, but that was mostly because of the size of the academy. But here, the scale of the city was simply bigger.

「Let's go to the castle」

『Ou. Urushi, you shouldn't get big here, okay?』

「Woof」

We got lost in the Kingdom of Kranzel's royal capital, but I don't think such a thing is going to happen now. All we had to do was to walk almost in a straight line from the gate to reach the royal castle after all.

A huge castle could be seen at the end of the main street where carriages could be lined up to 20 rows abreast. They must have systematically built the royal capital.

『Now, let's go』

「Nn」

However, this wide road proved to be a problem for Fran.

「Mogu mogu」

「Momu momu」 *eating SFX

『Is it good?』

「Nn」

「Woof!」

Our customary shopping and eating begin. As usual, Fran and Urushi zigzagged down the street, hitting every single stall they saw.

This is the first time I've seen someone zigzagging along a road this wide.

It took us about 30 minutes to go 100 meters. It would have been better if we only had to go to one side of the street, but because both Fran and Urushi have good noses, they quickly discovered the stall on the other side.

「Over here, I smell something good」

「Woof!」

She must have spotted another stall on the opposite side of the street, she then ran off to weave her way through the crowds.

『How long will this take us to get to the royal castle...?』

《If we continue at this pace, it will take us an estimated 4 hours and 38 minutes to reach the royal castle》

So long! At this rate, it will be night before we can get there!

『Hey, we are still a long way from the royal castle... Why don't we finish our errands first?』

「...Nn」

「...Woof」

Kuh! Don't look at me with such sad eyes! But I can't let this get the better of me this time.

『Later! Once we've done our errands, I'll let you go as long as you want! So why don't we go to the castle now? Okay?』

「As long as I want... Okay, let's go to the castle」

Ah, I wonder was it a bad idea to promise her that...

Chapter 670

TENKEN 670 Brunnen

We made our way to the royal castle of the Kingdom of Belios; it was surprisingly easy to get ourselves in.

The letter of introduction that Weena had written for us proven to be incredibly useful. Furthermore, it seems that a detailed report of the incident at the lake had been submitted to the government before we arrived.

Naturally, there must have been some information about Fran's background in there. But when we arrived at the entrance of the royal castle, a simple inspection was all that was required to get us in.

And now, in a place that looks like a conference room in a corner of the royal castle, we are sitting face to face with an old man.

He is a thin, dark-skinned old man with an unusually stern expression on his face. His eyes that were staring straight at us through his long white hair were as sharp as that of an assassin's; it was almost as if he were glaring at us.

His torn right ear and the scars all over his body told me that this old man was no ordinary person.

If I had met him without knowing anything about him, I would have thought that he was a retired yakuza.

This old man's name is Brunnen. I heard that he was one of the admirals of the Kingdom of Belios. Knowing that, he certainly has the air of a valiant warrior. Well, he looks more like a pirate than an admiral though. But it seems that it was also because he can't afford to let himself be looked down upon by others.

He was apparently the one in charge of the troops heading to Gordisia.

「So you're willing to go to Gordisia as our hired adventurer?」

「Nn」

「I see! I'm grateful for that」

When Fran nodded, Brunnen looked delighted. After all, the impact of this incident was so great that the leaders of the kingdom were apparently quite worried about what to do with the Commitment for Gordisia.

And then came Fran, whom Weena Rhyn described as someone who has the capability on par of an A-ranked adventurer. She's like a godsend for the country.

「We'd love to hire you」

「Nn. So, when do we leave?」

Fran asks Brunnen in a very excited voice. But in response, Brunnen's expression darkens slightly.

「Ugh... Well, about that...」

「Aah—...」

Hmm? What's with the sudden change?

We've only known each other for about half an hour, but Brunnen is a very lively man. He doesn't seem like the kind of man who would be talking like this.

But after hearing more about it, I understood why.

「So, it's still two months before we leave?」

「Yes」

Originally, they had planned to leave at the end of the third month or at the beginning of the fourth month, that is, just about ten days away from now. But then comes the great magic beast uproar.

In addition to the delays in bringing in supplies and securing troops, they must also provide relief to the victims and rebuild the commercial fleet.

The Kingdom of Belios was forced to change its plans because of that.

「I see」

「I beg of you! I know I'm asking for the impossible, but could you please come back to the royal capital in two months?」

Two months is not a very long time for a country to wait. It's only a two-month postponement of departure. But for those who live for the moment like the adventurers, it gonna be a long waiting time.

Any normal adventurer would definitely say something like 「I haven't heard much detail yet, so I'll pretend that this request never existed」.

I think Brunnen knows that too.

But if we make a promise that we will definitely come back in two months here, they will have to pay a deposit to us for the time being. For an adventurer of Fran's class, it would be quite expensive.

Not only that, there's also the case of adventurers who don't like to be tied down so they turned down the request and left.

However, it would be difficult to force things on adventurers as powerful as Fran, and Fran, who was from another country, could not be expected to be loyal to the country.

So, in the end, the only thing Brunnen could do was to bow his head and ask sincerely.

『What should we do now?』

(I'm fine with it)

『Well, this is just a verbal promise, so there should be no penalty for breaking it』

Brunnen and Weena will hate us if we do that though.

In the first place, we are already planning to go to Gordisia. If that were the case, it would be better to have the backing of the country. Considering this, it was not a bad idea to accept the request while selling a favor to the Kingdom of Belios.

「Okay. I'll come back in two months」

「R-really!? I'm in your debt!」

「Nn」

「So, what's Fran-dono gonna do after this?」

Yes. That's also a problem for us.

We just wanted to cross over to the continent of Gordisia, so we had no specific plans in mind. However, Fran seemed to have a decent idea.

「Barbra! I want to go to Barbra's Cooking Contest!」

『Oh, I see. Come to think of it, now that we got some free time, shall we participate too?』

Two events will be held in the Kingdom of Kranzel. Barbra's cooking contest and Ulmut's martial arts tournament.

Fran had participated in both, but had given up on them for this year.

The reason is, we'd be late if we take part in the events, and Fran's curiosity about the unfamiliar continent was getting the better of her.

However, the trip to Gordisia was postponed, which conveniently gave us more time. This would be our chance to participate in the events in the Kingdom of Kranzel.

Hearing her words, Brunnen pondered something.

「I see... You'll be heading south then?... In that case, why don't you take on one of the country's requests as well?」

「Request?」

「Yes. I want you to ask a certain person to come with us to Gordisia. I'll write you a letter, and please give it to him」

Could it be someone from the Kingdom of Kranzel? Thinking of possible forces, I don't think Amanda is available. I don't think Jean will be able to join us either. So maybe, Forrund?

「I believe he is usually wandering around the small countries of the south, but I believe he has been invited to be the guest of honor at this year's Ulmut Martial Arts Tournament. Perhaps you can meet him there」

「Who is he?」

What came out of Brunnen's mouth in response to Fran's question was a name that I didn't expect to hear.

「The name of the person to whom I'm giving the letter is Dimitris. A well-known S ranked adventurer」

Chapter 671

TENKEN 671 Item Bag

Dimitris.

I've heard his name before. He is Colbert's master and the founder of the Dimitris martial arts. He is a warrior recognized by the gods and said to be one of the strongest fighters in the world.

The S ranked adventurer with "Immoveable" as his alias.

I heard that although he was quite old, he's still very active as an adventurer.

「You want me to go see Dimitris and give him the letter?」

「Correct. Will you accept it? 」

「Yup, I'm also interested with him too」

「Ooh! You have my thanks!」

「All I have to do is give him the letter, right?」

「We won't force him if he doesn't want to accept it」

The other party was a high-ranking adventurer. It was more likely for him to listen to a peer like Fran.

「He's not a bad guy, but he's kind of difficult to deal with...」

That makes me a little worried when you say something like that though...

「So, I'm really glad that you're willing to take it!」

The overjoyed Brunnen then pulled out a bag. It was a plain leather bag, except for the coat of arms of the Kingdom of Belios on it. But upon looking at it, one could see that it was filled with a kind of magical power.

「An Item bag?」

「The letter to Dimitris-dono was in it. Ah, wait, don't carelessly open it」

Brunnen hurriedly stopped Fran from taking a peek inside.

「Let me tell you this first; the letter is considered a classified document, and this bag could tell if anyone other than Dimitris-dono opens it」

「It can do that?」

「Yes. Our chief magician is an excellent one after all. He's especially good with item bags and space-time magic」

「Hmm~」

Fran responded nonchalantly because her magic and skills were all she needed, but considering that this chief magician was a normal person, he must be a prized asset for the kingdom. Perhaps he could even create a long-distance teleporter.

Brunnen was apparently annoyed by Fran's disinterested response. He then began to boast about their magic tool technician.

But then, one particular topic suddenly caught Fran attention. Well, me too.

「Research to open an item bag?」

「Yeah. An item bag can not be opened if the person who are registered to it died. We're not at the practical stage yet though」

He was glad that Fran showed a reaction and explained the groundbreaking nature of this research.

He explained that if this works, it will make it much easier for the military to manage supplies.

It seemed that nowadays, ordinary food is managed in item bags that do not have to be registered, while valuable supplies such as medicines and money to be used in the field are placed in item bags with registered owners.

This is meant to prevent corruption and theft, but it also has a disadvantage. If all the registered owners die, the items inside can no longer be retrieved.

He said that in the past, some armies have collapsed because assassins killed their item bags owners and their food and medicine became unusable.

Well, if you can do a lot of damage to the enemy's supplies just by killing a few people, there's no reason not to do something like that.

That is why they set a high number of registered owners in case something goes wrong, but that also has a disadvantage. As the number of registered owners increases, so does the probability of people with bad intentions getting mixed in.

But what if the item bags could be opened without the registered owners? There would be no need to worry about that kind of problem.

「But, wouldn't that render the registration itself be meaningless?」

That's right. As Fran said, if such a technology is developed, the registration itself will be meaningless in the first place.

「Well, that's the problem too」

Brunnen seems to understand that as well. He groans with a difficult look on his face.

However, since this research itself is being conducted everywhere, their country cannot afford to be the only one to miss out. If the research is going to be completed someday, it would be advantageous for them to be the first to get their hands on it.

「Anyway, you don't have to worry so much about it now. After all, nobody has ever opened the littlest item bag yet. It would be better to pay a high-ranking contract magician a lot of money to open it for us」

「A high-ranking contract magician can open an item bag?」

「Well, to a point. They say it also depends on the rank of the bag and how big it is... I've heard that arcane magic, which precedes contract magic, has a technique that is related to it. Do you happen to have an item bag that you can't open?」

「Nn」

Fran then took out several item bags. Some were obtained from the hideouts of human traffickers, some from goblins, and many others.

「The registration of these bags must be done by contract magic. So, if you're a good magician who can overwrite it, you can deactivate it. Well, I only know of one, and that fellow is currently missing」

「I see...」

Well, I actually can open it if I want. All I have to do is raise the level of my contract magic and get the arcane magic. However, I'm not going to spend my precious points just to open an item bag that we don't even know what's inside.

We'll need to find someone or a magic beast that can use the magic. Well, I never give much thought to it, so I don't really care whether we'll find them or not.

「The request is only to deliver the letter to Dimitrius, right?」

「Yes, that's all. We'll be counting on you」

「Nn」

Dimitris the Immovable. I wonder what kind of old man will he be? I'm looking forward to it. Well, I'm also worried though. After all, high-ranking adventurers are always full of weirdos.

What about Fran, you ask? How in the world you'd thought that Fran belongs to those weirdos!? Don't you see how pretty and lovely she is!?

「Master, what's wrong?」

『No, it's nothing. I was just thinking about something』

「Dimitris the Immovable. This gonna be fun」

『You thought so?』

「Nn. I want to fight him」

Well, it'd be hard for me to defend her if you're asking me whether she's a person with common sense or not though.

Chapter 672

TENKEN 672 The Power of Appetite

After leaving the royal capital of the Kingdom of Belios, we returned to the Kingdom of Kranzel a few days later.

It took us a few days to finish the confirmation of the request from the Kingdom of Belios and do some shopping in the royal capital.

Thanks to that, we were able to replenish some of the potions we had run out of and stock up on ingredients. I will be able to make a lot of Mapo Curry which Fran likes later.

Spending some time touring the capital was worth it.

Well, what took most of the time was Fran and Urushi's buying and eating though. We probably visited most of the famous stores in between the shopping sprees.

『It's been a while since we've been to the Kingdom of Kranzel』

「Nn」

『Even though we just crossed the border, I feel strangely nostalgic』

Maybe it's because this place is where I first come to my senses in this world. This country has somewhat become a special space for me as well.

But Fran pays no heed about my sentiment and climbs up on Urushi's back and pointed her hand to the south.

「Urushi, quick! We don't have much time」

「Woof!」

At Fran's words, Urushi start to run at full speed.

Not only Fran, but also Urushi has a serious expression on his face. They're somewhat seemed to be in a hurry.

As if to express their impatience, Fran and Urushi continued on their nonstop march. They didn't take a break even when they normally would have, but instead, they kept going in a straight line while using magic to recover their strength.

They even ate while running. When Urushi gets tired, Fran will keep running on her feet.

We're currently on our way to Alessa

Since we're nearby, we should say hello to Klimut and Amanda.

But our true destination is Barbra.

If we hurried, we could make it in time for the cooking contest. I don't think we would be in time to participate, but since Fran and Urushi's goal was the food stall, we should be able to make it in time during the festival.

That's the reason why they are so determined to push themselves to the limit.

「Even if I break my leg, I'll make it to the stall!」

「Woof」

***

Five hours later.

「Are you leaving already?」

「Nn」

「Amanda will be back in half a month, you know?」

「We'll be late if we wait that long for her」

「You were in the middle of a request, huh? It can't be helped then」

We arrived safely in Alessa, and after making a quick round of greetings to Donadrond and others who had helped us before, we exchanged information with Klimut at the Adventurer's Guild.

Amanda seemed to have left Alessa to scout the northern border in the meantime.

It seems that the vicious magic power released by the great magic beast had reached many places, and could even be observed in the Kingdom of Kranzel. As a result, many adventurers were asked to scout the border.

The information we gave them about the great magic beast incident was very much appreciated. Oh, I'm not telling them anything that needs to be kept secret, okay?

On the other hand, we managed to get some information about spirit magic and Dimitris from Klimut. There wasn't any new information about spirit magic, but we did hear a lot of interesting things about Dimitris.

There was the story of how he single-handedly quelled a goblin stampede, and the story of how he rammed into an enemy castle in a war and took the king's head by himself. There's also a story about how he defended a bridge against an invading army for three days and three nights by standing in the middle of the bridge alone, which gave him the nickname "Immovable".

He's not doing anything flashy these days, but he is said to be still in training and hunts magic beasts in various places.

We heard a lot of interesting information, and even if it was only for a short time, I'm glad we came back to this town.

「I'll be going then」

「Haa~h... I can imagine Amanda complaining when she finds out that I'm the only one who met Fran...」

I felt sorry for Klimut. But we'll have him to give our regards to Amanda.

『We're getting close to Barbra, it seems. That was quick』

「Nn. We've done our best」

「Woof!」

Thanks to the two's obsession for food, we managed to traverse the Kingdom of Kranzel surprisingly quickly.

Even though we had to avoid the town and snake our way through as Urushi running by the town might alarm them, it took us four days to reach Barbra from the northern border.

How terrifying their appetite power is!

I didn't expect that we could traverse the rugged mountainous region in the center of the country in just one day.

There was probably a range of mountains higher and steeper than Mt. Fuji, and possibly even higher than the Himalayas maybe?

But Fran defied the cold and low oxygen by using Aerial Jump to climb up cliffs, crawl out of crevasses, and traverse the mountain range in a straight line.

Even when it was snowing so hard that she couldn't use her Aerial Jump, she didn't take a break and tried to climb up the mountain while putting up barriers. I felt a chill just by looking at her revealing outfit.

If I were to compare her to the people of Earth, it makes me once again realize how strong the people in this world are.

We also encountered some rather strong magic beasts, but they could not stop Fran and Urushi's momentum. In fact, they were still able to enjoy a short break and a delicious meal.

I also get a little carried away because of this snowy mountain and made a lot of other new dishes.

The one that was particularly well-liked was the smoothie made from snow strawberries and glaciers found on this snowy mountain. They looked so delighted when they drunk the snow strawberry smoothie inside a simple snow hut that I build and was heated by magic.

It's been a while since they've eaten that much of anything other than curry, isn't it? We even stopped for a few hours to pick up a bunch of snow strawberries. We also have a lot of glaciers in storage so we can make smoothies whenever we want.

Other than that, I also managed to get a few new skills.

They are snow-running, snow-diving, and snow-swimming. All of them are skills that assist the user in their activities in the snow. Although they can only be used in limited places, they are skills that should be useful in times of need.

My favorite skill is the Snow-Swimming. I can swim in the snow as if I were underwater. When Fran does this, her body would get cold quickly, but it was nothing for me, I'm not a living being after all.

『When we get into Barbra, should we head to the cooking guild first?』

「Nn!」

Chapter 673

TENKEN 673 Curry Soup

「Little girl. Welcome back」

「Nn. I'm back」

Fran was facing an old man at the cooking guild.

He is the food critic who helped us last year. I don't really like his vibe that makes me remind of Kaibara-sensei though. (1)

Well, it seems that it was only me who thought of him as someone who had taken care of us while Fran perceived him as a rival.

I could tell that by the expression on her face as she faced the man with a scowl.

I'm sure they have acknowledged each other in their own way at the last cooking contest though... Well, it can't be helped since they are not the type that will act all familiar with each other.

The old man's name is Mecham. He is a bigwig in the cooking guild. (2)

「Then, what's your answer to the proposal I made the other day? You have given it some thought, haven't you?」

「Nn. I'll set up my stall too」

「Would you go with curry again this year?」

「Nn!」

「Hohou! How interesting. A year has passed since then, and the number of restaurants serving curry dishes has exploded here in Barbra. The advantage of being a rarity has already faded, you know?」

「Fufun. Master's curry is not just any curry, so it's no problem」

「Well, I'll be looking forward to it then」

「I'll make sure everyone recognizes that curry is the best food in the world in this year's cooking contest!」

Actually, we had arrived in Barbra yesterday, but the cooking contest had already started.

I didn't think we would be able to participate in the contest in time, so after showing up at the cooking guild, we had planned to devote ourselves to buying food and studying cooking, but――.

The stall we set up last year, the Black Tail Stall, has become a legend as the original curry food stall, and it seems that the contest organizer has been flooded with inquiries about whether we would be participating in the contest this year.

What would happen if they found that Fran was just playing around buying and eating without setting her stall? I could foresee that the cooking guild would be blamed for that.

Hence, the cooking guild begged Fran to help them.

"Just for a day! Can you please set up the Black Tail Stall for one day?" he begged.

Fran thought that her buying and eating spree was important, but she also thought it was important to spread curry cuisine to the world. Since they only asked her to open the stall for a day, she decided to accept their request.

「Then we'll set up the place the day before the final. We could also provide you with staff and supplies」

「Okay」

And just like that, we got involved in the cooking contest again this year, though, not as a contestant...

「Master, what kind of curry should we serve?」

『Umm, let's see...』

It had to be curry. Fran and the customers were expecting it, and there was no reason to go for something else.

But if possible, I wanted to make it different from last year. Curry bread would be fine, but would curry rice work for this year?

「Last year's curry rice was no good」

『That's last year. But maybe we could use it this year』

Last year was a struggle for us. There were a lot of things to worry about, like profitability and sales volume. But this year was different.

We won't be related to the main contest, our stall would be a sort of exhibition this year, so we don't have to worry about the profitability.

「I see」

『In other words, we don't even have to worry about the cost or anything! Even a super luxurious curry is allowed!』

Rather, a dish with a special appeal that is hardly profitable will be more appreciated.

「Let's make something awesome then!」

『Something awesome, huh?...』

「We'll use the best meat to make the best curry. Let's make the kind of curry that will make everyone want to eat nothing but curry!」

How frightening. But that might be good too.

Since the end of last year, we have accumulated a great amount of magic beast's meat from the Plains of the Demon Wolf. We probably even have enough meat for 10,000 servings by using the low-ranked magic beast's meat alone.

I've always felt reluctant to throw away something edible, so I've been kind of hoarding it, but I never thought it would come in handy here!

Our main problem is rice. I wonder can we prepare a lot of it now?

We should ask the cooking guild and go with curry rice if we can get rice.

That's what I thought, but...

『I never thought there'd be so little rice...』

「Nn」

We searched all over Barbra for rice, but found very little. Not that there was no rice at all, but there was a lot of old rice, and to be honest, it did not suit our needs.

Originally, the largest importer of rice was the Kingdom of Belios. The Kingdom of Belios, which has abundant water and is slightly colder than the Kingdom of Kranzel, is said to have been a major rice producing area. Their climate is probably similar to the Tohoku region in Japan.

This month, however, the supply of rice from there has dropped drastically. This was probably due to the disturbance caused by the great magic beast.

The Kingdom of Belios had their own way of storing the rice they harvested, from which they exported a little each month.

This would allow them to provide high-quality products, and in the event of any domestic incidents, they could cancel exports and secure food.

And then there was the big incident last month, which led to a decrease in the exports volume.

『We have no choice. Let's think of an alternative』

But I don't want to make the same curry bread as last year. It's too boring.

「Would using roux no good?」

『Roux, huh?... Wait, maybe we could make it into soup?』

Let's make it a curry soup. If we make it filling and satisfying, we should be able to make it work! I think we could use more meat too.

「Meat-filled curry soup」

「Woof!」

Drool began to flow from the corners of Fran and Urushi's mouths. It seems they couldn't contain themselves anymore just by imagining it.

Now that I have the approval of the curry-loving duo, let's try this.

Chapter 674

TENKEN 674 Side: A Certain Group of Three

「Big sis, is that Barbra?」

「Yeah, it seems so. There aren't many places with a port of that size. I'm sure of it」

「We're finally here! Uwa~h, I never thought the boat trips would be so boring」

「Wasn't it you who gets excited at it in the beginning? Biscot」

「Don't you come up on deck too, Clicker? It was quite exciting at first, but it got boring after seeing the same scenery for so long... Don't you think so, big sis Sibylla?」

「It wasn't that boring, I guess. The sea magic beasts were pretty tough too」

「Ah, it was stupid of me to ask big sis who's happy as long as she could have a fight」

「Hmm?」

「I-it's nothing! But if we were just going to enter the Kingdom of Kranzel, wouldn't it have been fine if we stopped by the port town of Dahz first? We don't need to come all the way to a town this far south, right...?」

「We can't. The border is heavily guarded at the moment. Besides, we don't want to cause any trouble」

「Can't we just break through them?」

「How stupid. Good grief, this is exactly why you are such a Biscot」

「D-don't use my name to represent stupidity!」

「Listen, unlike back in our country, there would be no supplies or reinforcements out there, right? We have nowhere to run if they come after us. And if we cause a scene, we might find ourselves stuck sooner or later」

「Is that so?」

「It is. In the first place, we don't even know what they're capable of」

「You mean their strength? What's the big deal about those guys?」

「Hey, Biscot」

「! W-what is it, big sis?」

「It's not necessarily a bad thing to look down on people from other countries. It's practically a habit in our country. It won't change anytime soon. But don't underestimate the capabilities of people you've never seen before. Are you going to do the same thing as those idiots at the top?」

「I-I'm sorry」

「That's what we're going to find out, remember? The truth whether those outside of our country really are a small fry or not」

「Yeah」

「The demon knights of the Kingdom of Filias are said to be around too」

「Haa~h, they're really a pain in the ass. I understand, we shouldn't move too recklessly」

「It's good that you understand. Capta—... No, Sibylla-sama, there's several methods to measure the strength of those outside of our contry」

「Hee? What kind of method is it? The only thing I can think of is something related to fighting」

「Please refrain from doing that when we got there. We are supposed to be traveling mercenaries. I've asked the Morley Trading Company, a subsidiary of my family, to guarantee our identities. So if we were to do something wrong, the trust of that trading company, which has spent a long time building up its credibility in the Kingdom of Kranzel, would be lost at once. It would be a great loss for our country if we lose this trading company」

「Well, that's true. It can be used in a variety of ways, such as to acquire foreign currency, gather information, and in cases like ours, to infiltrate」

「You seem to be aware of that. However, Morley Trading Company is probably less loyal to the country than we are, since they are more active outside. Worst case scenario, they might even ditch us」

「Oi oi, Clicker. Is it safe to rely on those guys then?」

「We should be fine as long as we don't do anything that could put them at a disadvantage. Besides, with the strength of this ship, the three of us can easily overpower them」

「Well, you might be right...」

「Just follow our instructions, you're stupid after all」

「Kuh!」

「Biscot, be quiet」

「Yes...」

「So, you said there are several methods to determine how good an adventurer is, right?」

「Yes. First of all, the conventional method is to submit a request. If we can get them to escort us, we can see them at work up close. Well, there's a problem with this method though」

「If the other party was skilled enough, they might be able to see through our real prowess. There is a high possibility that they will have doubts about why we asked for an escort when we're strong enough to defend ourselves」

「I see」

「Although it's a bit of a roundabout method, we can check the quality of the magic beast's meat and medicinal herbs sold in towns. There is also the method of checking the quality of their armor. We can't directly check their capabilities this way, but we can at least use it as a rough indicator of their overall strength. Fortunately, we are heading to Barbra, a city with a large population. It's a good place to investigate」

「I get the gist of it, but I'd rather not have to do the investigation myself」

「Me too. It'd be easier to just attack the adventurers there」

「I've told you we shouldn't do something like that, right!? Well, I don't believe that Sibylla-sama and stupid Biscot can do it anyway. I'm just proposing the method」

「If I don't have to do the tedious investigation, I'm fine with being stupid」

「Leave the investigation to me」

「We'll leave it to you. So, Clicker, anything else? From the way you're talking, you've got other proposals, don't you?」

「The next one is the direct method. In a little while, there's going to be a martial arts tournament in a city called Ulmut」

「A martial arts tournament? Hohou. That sounds like fun! There'll be some strong fighters, right?」

「I've heard that many famous adventurers will be competing in the tournament, so we could get a good idea of their abilities by watching their fights」

「Watching their fights? So we're just going to watch and not compete?」

「Give me a break, will you? We'll be in trouble if they find out who we are. We must refrain from doing anything too conspicuous」

「Tch...」

「Don't "tch" me! Anyway, unlike us, Sibylla-sama will certainly stand out. If you were to participate in the tournament, they would definitely look into your background. So as to not attract too much attention, you mustn't win the tournament... But you hate to lose on purpose, right?」

「Haa~h... I guess I'll have to be content with watching it this time」

「Please do so」

「That means we can rest a little in Barbra before going to Ulmut to watch the martial arts tournament, right?」

「The two of you can think of it that way. I'll take care of the various arrangements」

「Okay. We'll leave it to you」

「Hehe. So we're staying in Barbra for a while? I hope they have some good liquor」

「I hope they can keep us from getting bored」

「...Please don't cause any trouble while we're there, okay?」

TLN: It's all dialogue XD

Chapter 675

TENKEN 675 Making Curry with Io-san

「Umm, is this how the vegetables should be cooked?」

「Mogu mogu」 (munching sfx)

「...How is it?」

「Nn. It's perfect」

「That's good to hear」

We were now in the cooking area in the basement of the cooking guild. As one would expect from the headquarters of a guild based in a major city, the cooking area was nothing short of gorgeous.

This is the first time I've seen a metal sink in this world. They have also installed magic tools on their stove and oven, and it seemed to be made with efficiency in mind.

At first glance, this place might look like the kitchen of a luxurious hotel on Earth.

Fran and one of the female cooks are standing side by side in such a kitchen, tasting the curry soup.

「Io, amazing」

「Not at all, Fran's master is more amazing! I am nothing compared to the person who came up with this amazing dish...!」

The girl with Fran is said to be a natural-born genius cook. The unreliable but kind sister to everyone, Io.

We went to the orphanage to say hello to Io the day before, and that's when we heard that they wouldn't be having a stall at the contest this year.

Until last year's contest, she had to open a stall to earn money to run the orphanage. But now that they are under Amanda's patronage, their financial difficulties have been resolved.

In addition, the number of children has doubled over the last year, making it difficult for her to find time to prepare for the contest.

Because of this, she had no intention of participating in the contest this year.

「I'd like to open the stall if I could. It's important to interact with the local people after all」

Hearing that, we asked Io if she could help us with our stall.

With this, she can work at the stall for a day and show her face to the local residents. She will also be well compensated.

On the other hand, we'll be getting the best helpers. She knows a lot of people and is a good cook. We couldn't ask for a better person.

This is truly a win-win situation.

Well, there was also the selfishness of me wanting to see her cook though.

The level of my cooking skill is higher than hers, but that doesn't mean I can make the more delicious food.

Just like with Fran's swordsmanship skill, she instantly got it after raising my skill level all at once. Compared to those who had honed their skills on their own, I realized that we had been neglecting the basics of cooking.

There were also many areas where I lacked in application. I'm good at recreating Earth's cuisine and improving it to make it more delicious, but...

When it comes to dishes that originally existed in this world, I can recreate them, but I can hardly do a good job of preparing them.

It's not that it was bad, and Fran is happy enough with it. But it was nothing compared to the food cooked by Io and Fermus at the dragon restaurant.

And that's why we're here with Io today. I thought that if I could see her cooking process, I might be able to grasp something.

Well, all I've learned is that I just have to be diligent. I can't imitate a genius after all.

Knock knock.

Just then, a knock sounded at the entrance of the kitchen.

As our work was a trial production of a new product, it was off-limits to everyone except those involved. However, it seemed that we had a visitor.

「Who?」

「This voice, It's Fran, huh? It's me, Colbert. I heard you were in Barbra!」

The one who came was Colbert. He was a B-ranked adventurer and a skilled fighter. He was also a former disciple of Dimitris, whom we had to meet.

He was excommunicated for getting serious against Fran in a martial arts tournament, but...

(Can he be here?)

『Well, I don't mind. He may have lost his skills when he was excommunicated, but that doesn't mean he's lost his memories of Dimitris. We might find some useful information from him』

It's not that I want to know Dimitris' weaknesses or how he fights. What I want to know is his favorite food, his favorite color, or any other information that I can use to make friendly contact with him.

「It's been a while, Fran」

「Nn」

「It seems, you've gotten bigger too」

Colbert looked strangely excited as he came in. And for some reason, he grasps Fran's hand tightly with tears in the corners of his eyes.

Oi oi, what is he doing? Isn't he getting overfamiliar with Fran!? I mean, his hand! He's squeezing too hard! C-could it be that he has fallen for Fran!? Well, that's not surprising since Fran is super cute, not... I won't let him! I won't let someone who's weaker than Fran to take care of her! Go get stronger than Fran first and come back again!

「I may not be able to replace your master, but you can count on me for anything while you're in town!」

「Curry Master, your disciple has grown up well!」

Aah—, I know where this is going. It seems like he's still under the impression that I'm dead and he's going to watch over Fran in my stead. He's the type of guy who often goes around making assumptions, and I guess he got excited all by himself when he saw Fran.

「Master is still alive」

「Yeah, you're right」

It was rare to see Fran's dumbfounded face.

『Should I show myself to clear up the misunderstanding?』

(...Not now)

『Eh? You sure?』

(Nn. If Master shows up now, we won't be able to get any information out of him)

『Aah—, that may be true』

I'm sure Colbert will be happy to see me. But he would be too happy, and his excitement could prevent us from getting some information out of him.

『Let's leave it for a little later then』

(Nn)

Chapter 676

TENKEN 676 A Miscellaneous Staff and Three Meals a Day

Colbert looked surprised when we invited him into the kitchen.

「Isn't it Io-dono from the orphanage? Why are you here?」

「You two know each other?」

「Umm, who might you be?」

Colbert seems to know Io-san, but Io-san doesn't know Colbert. She tilted her head with a troubled look.

「Oops, my apologies. Your soup is famous here in Barbra, and of course, I buy your stuff every year!」

「Eh? Umm, err, thanks, I guess?」

I see. If Colbert likes cooking and respects the cooks, of course, he'd know Io-san.

「Aah, my name is Colbert, and I'm a B ranked adventurer」

「Eeeeh? B-B ranked?」

Voiced Io in surprise when she heard Colbert's self-introduction. It even sounded like a scream.

Our senses were a bit off, but a rank B adventurer must be something of a big deal to the average person. They're not heroes and were also treated differently than nobles, but they're considered to be of a higher status.

It was understandable that she would be surprised when he suddenly introduced himself like that.

「A-aah, but, this Fran here is also a B ranked adventurer, you know?」

「Ueeeh?」

Come to think of it; she previously told her that she was a D ranker, isn't it? She hasn't told her anything about her rank-up.

「F-Fran-san...?」

「Nn. It's true」

「Haeee!?!」

Io raised her voice in response to Fran's nod.

「But, before... Eeh?」

「Never mind that」

「She's right. Besides, I think you're quite awesome yourself, aren't you?」

「Ueh? N-not at all...」

Io-san was frightened when Colbert bowed his head. She's probably confused by the fear of a B ranked adventurer.

「No no no, even I was just——」

「No no no,——」

They continued to bow their heads to each other one after another.

『We cannot progress at this rate』

「Nn. Hey, why'd you come here, Colbert? Is it just to see me?」

「I thought I'd help out this time too. What do you say? I'll do anything!」

He looked like he was expecting her to let him help us as he said that. I had seen this expression before. It was the same expression Fran had when she begged for a curry. Well, he's not cute at all though.

Maybe he's after the meal. It was the same with last year cooking contest.

「...I can let you help」

「Really!?!」

「Nn. I need a miscellaneous staff」

「I'm fine by that!」

Fran also knows that Colbert's goal is not money, which is why she'd have him do the miscellaneous task.

「Eh? Eeeh?」

Io is confused again. Well, it's strange no matter what you think. Hiring a B-ranked adventurer for miscellaneous tasks is unthinkable under normal circumstances. It would be a waste of a high-ranking adventurer's talent.

However, Fran and Colbert's conversations continue.

「Your reward would be three meals a day」

「Hurray! I'll do it! Fran's a hell of a cook after all! I'm looking forward to it」

「Nn. I'm currently preparing for a new dish」

「F-for real!?!」

「So, work hard to get your reward」

「Ou!」

「E-Eeeh?」

Io, who was a person with common sense except for her insane cooking skills, was so confused that she'd answer all of our questions with just a "yes."

「Are you okay?」

「Y-yes」

「You should take a break if you're tired」

「Understood. I-I'm going to take a short break」

Io-san then walked out of the kitchen with a staggering gait. She must be tired of being surprised.

After seeing her off, Fran opens her mouth again.

「I have a question」

「What is it? You can ask me anything you want!」

「I want you to tell me about Dimitris」

Colbert became somewhat tense when Fran mentioned his master's name.

「Are you interested in him?」

「I have to see Dimitrius for a job」

「Hohou. So, in other words, you want to know where he is? I don't really know where he is but I guess you should start from Ulmut」

The A-ranked adventurer Dimitris is invited as a guest every year to the martial arts tournament in Ulmut.

But Dimitris had some business to attend to and was unable to come to Ulmut last year, so the Beast King was invited as the guest of honor instead.

It was apparently during the period when he had to visit the Kingdom of Kranzel.

「I think that the reason why the Beast King lent out his magic tools to run the tournament was probably out of rivalry with Master Dimitris」

「Are the two of them on bad terms?」

「That's not it. It's just that he was invited in his place and felt he couldn't afford to lose face without doing anything. He's an adventurer and a king after all」

So, as a result of competing with Dimitrius, a fellow S-ranked adventurer, he provided the magic tool used in the quarterfinals, the Cradle of Time.

Well, he seemed to like to be flashy, and as royalty, I guess appearances are also important.

「I already know he's coming to Ulmut」

「Then, what do you want to know?」

「Like what he likes」

「Aah, that kind of thing, huh..」

「And what kind of person he is」

We don't want to make a poor impression on Dimitris. This was because we didn't want to offend Rank S, and we really wanted to get some useful information to accomplish this request.

「Hmm, you see... The simplest way to describe my master is...」

「The simplest way?」

「Strict, stern, and eccentric. That's what kind of person he is」

That doesn't sound like an easy guy to get along, huh...

Chapter 677

TENKEN 677 The One Named Dimitris

When we asked Colbert about Dimitris, the words that came out of him were strict, stern, and eccentric.

Words that worry me a little.

「...Was he a bad person?」

「Buhahaha! He's scary indeed, but he's not a bad person. He's merciless to his disciples, but the people revere him like a hero」

Fran doesn't seem to be able to picture it very well. She is making a difficult face and is tilting her head.

「What can I say is that he's tough on people who make fighting their livelihood. He must have used himself as his standard. He'd even say something like 『Is that all you can do! You'd die? There's no way I'll let you die yet! If you were really dying, you wouldn't be able to speak!』」

Uwaah—. That's pretty tough. It sounds like the Marine corps. But if that's all he does, he won't be adored by many disciples, right?

Though Colbert had a wry smile on his face, I could see the respect he had for Demetrius in every word he said. Even though he was excommunicated, his respect for his master remained unchanged.

「But he's a person that won't abandon someone in need nor take compensation from the poor. He'd say that it was only for his training. But that's how he saved the village I grew up in」

So, what he's saying is that he's been wandering around the continent of Gilberd, helping people in need for free? That would certainly be considered heroic.

But is that okay?

Dimitris was an S-ranked adventurer. In other words, he is at the top of all adventurers.

If such a person were to help people for free, wouldn't the other adventurers have nothing to do?

Let's say the village that was saved for free by Dimitris next hires a D-ranked adventurer. Would they be comfortable with it then? They're going to have to pay tens of thousands of gold to an adventurer who is far less skilled and weaker than Dimitris. It should be a fair reward, but it's not surprising that people would complain.

Besides, isn't this a matter that should be addressed to the faces of the knights and soldiers?

「Is it okay for him to do that?」

「What do you mean?」

「If he won't accept payment, the other adventurers will be in trouble」

「Ah—, you mean that huh?」

Fran voiced her concerns before I could say anything to her. In Fran's case, she's the type of person who believes that compensation is a justified form of appreciation.

However, Fran could also understand the act of helping a person she liked for free. In the Black Cat Kin's village and elsewhere, she was treated with great respect, but she didn't get any reward.

I guess that's why it bothered her even more.

「In master Dimitris' case, you see. Originally, he became an adventurer because it was convenient for his training. And when he became an A-ranked adventurer, he easily attempted to quit」

「Because it became too much of a trouble, he said. The recruitment of nobles and the guild's meddling. Then there was the issue of the request fee. For Master, belonging to the guild must have been a hindrance. But the guild held him back from that」

Well, of course, everyone would hold them back if an A-ranked adventurer ever said that he was quitting.

At that time, Dimitris had put forward three conditions for him to stay on as an adventurer.

When accepting unexpected requests, Dimitris may decide the fee for the request. The adventurer's guild will cooperate in the training of Dimitris's apprentices. And unrestricted access to magical areas.

And the Adventurer's Guild accepted all of those conditions. Apparently, even back then it was said that he would eventually rise to rank S, and they wanted to keep Dimitris in the guild at all costs.

There were some problems at first, but now that the story has become well known in the small southern group of countries where Dimitris is active, no major problems have occurred since then.

「It seems that the other adventurers have had a lot to say to him, but he's stubborn as hell. He's also a bit of a hothead. I even heard that he punched them in the face to shut them up」

He's adding that he's a stubborn and a hotheaded person now...

I'm sure he's not a bad person, but I just can't get a good impression of him.

「How can I get closer to him? And what's his favorite food?」

「I don't know what his favorite food is... He's a person whose daily life is like a training session, so he puts more importance on nutrition than taste in his meals. All he eats is just salads with medicinal herbs; he even goes as far as to take a medicinal herbs bath. To be honest, the only reason I got interested in cooking was because I was sick of such bad food」

「So it's impossible to get close to him with delicious food?」

「Well, unless you have a dish that is rich in nutrients and makes one stronger after eating it」

「Hmm」

A dish that makes one stronger? No, if there was such a thing, I'd feed it to Fran myself. But maybe it's possible to provide food that is nutritionally balanced and tastes good. It doesn't sound promising though.

「Then, what're his hobbies?」

「It's training. Well, Master Dimitris would never admit it. Training is life, and life is training. That's what he says all the time. I don't think he's interested in anything else. A thing that might interest him would be fighting a strong opponent, I guess?」

The type that is only interested in improving themselves, huh. This one seems troublesome.

Colbert may feel offended, but my impression of him right now is that of Ashwrath, who is caring for others.

「It might be a good idea to challenge him to a mock battle, you know?」

「Yeah. He's having a hard time finding people to have mock battles with these days. I'm sure he'll be happy to accept. Of course, if they're too weak, he'll just ignore you, but Fran will be fine」

「Hmm」

「However, you're going to deal with one of the strongest human beings in the world. Are you prepared for that? You won't be back scratch-free, you know?」

「Fufun, just like I wanted」

Aah—, this is bad. Fran's berserker switch has gone on! I can't help but notice the battle-crazed smile on her face.

She would never stop even if I stopped her. After all, it was a mock battle with an S-ranked adventurer. It was like a platinum ticket for Fran. (1)

Still, we have to make sure we nail this.

『Fran, don't push yourself too hard, okay?』

(Nn, I understand)

That's not the face of someone who understands though!

I wonder if Dimitris is actually a person who is fond of his grandchildren or something and gets charmed from the moment he meets Fran who's around the same age.

==TLN==

(1) Platinum Ticket is similar to an SSR gacha ticket (or golden ticket).

Chapter 678

TENKEN 678 The Girl and a Woman

「Here you go! This is the original curry soup!」

「Meat-filled curry soup! 200 Goldes per bowl!」

「It's delicious!」

At the last day of the cooking contest. There was a tremendous line in front of the Black Tail stall.

There are probably more than 300 people lined up right now.

『I'm surprised it's selling at this price』

(It was delicious after all!)

200 Goldes for a bowl of soup is a very expensive price. It was the price of a night's stay at a cheap inn. Io-san's soup is usually sold at 10 Goldes, but we sold our's at 20 times her price.

It is still not very profitable even at this price though. After all, we had used all the spices and ingredients we needed through the cooking guild. We also spent a lot of money just making the prototypes.

Using magical vegetables and ingredients that are usually only known through books as knowledge, the result was a price of 200 Goldes per bowl.

I had a lot of magic beast's meat in my storage, so the meat part was practically free. If we had to purchase the magic beast's meat as well, we might have to set a price of 300 Goldes per bowl.

I hoped that it would still sell well, but it actually turned out to be a bigger success than I had imagined.

A sign that says "The Original Curry Stall", the massive advertising by the cooking guild, Io's reputation, and the merchant's and adventurer's network.

All of these factors combined to create a crowd that far exceeded our expectations. The line was so long that we had to immediately hire more sales staff and increase the number of cash registers.

And yet, the line was still this long.

「Uu~, the line won't end...」

「It's even worse than last time」

「Uu~, Black Lightning Princess tricked me」

Don't you talk bad about her, Lydia! If anything, you're the ones who jumped at the offer of free meals as payment, remember!?

I didn't lie or force her to be our salesperson. I just didn't tell her that the payment would be given after the work was done. But that was just common sense, right? Why should I pay for someone who hasn't even worked yet?

By the way, what we are serving at our stall this time is a curry soup with vegetables and chunky meat. It is served in a thick paper cup with a piece of bread on top as a lid.

This way, the curry won't spill and the bread can be sold along with it.

We offer three levels of spiciness: normal, spicy, and dragon spicy. All of them are highly recommended by Fran and Urushi, and are excellent soup curries.

The dragon spicy was popular among the adventurers. Just like last year, there is also a rumor going around the adventurer that they should be ashamed if they can't handle this level of spiciness.

I thought it was Colbert's doing again this year, but it seemed that he didn't spread such rumors this time. It seemed that the adventurers who had eaten the dragon spicy curry last year had come up with the idea on their own.

This kind of thing is not going to take root in Barbra like a tradition, is it?

To adventurers who don't like spicy food, I'm sorry.

According to Fran, who has been to almost all the stalls in the past few days, there are only a few curry dishes that could be our rival. The only one that is evenly matched is the curry dragon soup that Fermus serves.

Since Fran says they're evenly matched, I guess they really are. Not bad, Fermus! It seems you've already mastered the art of mixing spices.

Or rather, I'm practically losing, isn't it? I have no restrictions, and I'm the original. Fermus, on the other hand, is pursuing profits for his food stall, and in just one year, he has created a soup that is on par with mine.

Kuh! Well played, Fermus! It looks like I have to keep working hard for Fran's sake!

As I was thinking about this, I suddenly felt Fran's presence waver. It wasn't that she was flustered, but she was a little surprised, and perhaps a little wary.

Her center of gravity changed by just a few millimetres. It seemed that her body had unintentionally tried to shift into a battle-ready position.

But I suppose that was not surprising.

「Hee~. So, this is what they call curry? It sure smells good, what do you think, sis?」

「Yeah, it looks delicious」

The duo who were receiving the curry now. She reacted to the disturbing presence that the red-haired woman in particular was giving off.

If we were to pass each other on the street, we might have thought she was trying to pick a fight with us. That's what I felt from noticing the aggressive air from her.

The three adventurers who were manning the sales counter have given up on her completely.

The woman gazed at the three members of the Scarlet Maidens as if she was trying to put a value on them. She shifted her gaze to Lydia, Maia, and Judith, and quickly lost interest in them.

She then looked at Fran next.

Uwaah—, what's with this woman. She reminded me of the first time we met the Beast King for a moment. The intimidation in the woman's eyes was so fierce. I would even call it ferocious.

She must be considerably strong. If it had only been a resemblance in presence, she reminded me of Mea.

But the fact that I subconsciously remembered the Beast King meant that I sensed a great deal of danger from this woman.

Fran stares back at the woman in reply to her gaze.

It's not that they are slamming each other with intimidation. But the problem was that the atmosphere of check and balance created by the two, who were both trying to put a value on each other, was intimidating enough for the average person.

It was probably only for a moment that the two of them made eye contact. But a strange commotion immediately rises. Some of the customers rushed to the counter for no apparent reason, while others suddenly felt a chill and raised their voices. But I guess they can't help but unwittingly open their mouths and make some kind of noise.

I don't think most of them knew what had happened, but their instincts told them that this place was dangerous.

The adventurers, who are one of the few people who understand the situation, are the opposite. They can only remain silent in the face of Fran and the woman's strength.

It was only for those few seconds that something strange happened.

The woman then took the curry and walked away from the stall. Both Fran and the woman just casually checked each other out like Yankees checking each other with guns as they passed each other.

In the first place, if the two had really tried to intimidate each other, there would have been a panic here.

『...What's with that woman? Is she an adventurer?』

(She's strong)

『Well, yeah』

Maybe I should ask someone for information about her later. I'm pretty sure she's a famous adventurer.

Chapter 679

TENKEN 679 The Woman's Identity

「Good job for today」

「Iyaah~, that's really been a busy day」

「I'm so tired...」

After the cooking contest was over, we were now in a standing dinner party hosted by the cooking guild.

The party was more like a gathering hosted by the cooks and merchants though. There were a few noblemen in the crowd, and it seems that they could enjoy themselves and chat with the cook. They probably wouldn't attend such a rude gathering if they weren't such people after all.

Fran and the others are still going to eat a huge amount of food even though they just ate their payment. Fran, Colbert, Lydia, Maia, and Judith all had several large plates of food in front of them.

It was said that famous chefs have prepared the dishes for the event and they all seemed to be delicious.

Fran asked me to do the same, so I'm serving a dish that I made too. It looks like it's already been completely taken care of, but what I cooked was a grilled fish sprinkled with curry powder. I tried to create a fish curry like appearance.

Few cooks were even having a heated discussion in front of my dishes.

Well, it seems that the next time we come here they will have more curry dishes with seafood.

「Fran-san, it's been a while」

「Fermus」

「Your cooking this time was also wonderful」

「Yours too, it was delicious」

The man who came to greet us was Fermus of the Dragon Restaurant. He looks as young as ever.

He may be many times older than Fran, but to her, he is like a skilled, strong, and kind grandpa who can make delicious food. The conversation between Fran and Fermus goes suitably lively.

It's amazing that Fermus is able to have a good conversation, even if it's with the quiet Fran.

「Fermus-san, congratulations on your victory」

「It was all thanks to this new dish called curry」

Colbert then joined us and we started talking about today's stalls.

「Were you recruited by a nobleman to become their cook?」

「Hahaha! I don't have any plans for that at the moment. I like to serve a lot of people, and I know I'll be doing something other than cooking there」

「I see, Fermus-san surely will be more active in the battlefield if you work there」

Many of the cooks participating in this contest are said to dream of winning and becoming a nobleman's servant, but Fermus apparently turned them all down.

After all, the nobleman would rather have Fermus do something other than cooking rather than keeping him around in their kitchen. This is the reason why he is so insistent on being a city cook.

In the first place, honor and wealth are probably not worth much to Fermus now.

「By the way, there was a woman who looked pretty strong, how was that one?」

「The woman with red hair」

「Yeah, that one. It was the first time in a long time that I didn't want to fight someone who gave off the vibe of a strong person. It might have been since the time I met Fran」

「She was strong」

「Yeah, without a doubt」

Fran and Fermus seemed to be agreeing on this.

「I didn't get to see her as I was away for a break though」

「She is a tall woman with red hair tied in zanbara. Her clothes were kinda unusual. She also stared at me with her reddish-brown eyes」

(TLN: Zanbara, dishevelled hair that is too short to be tied up in a top knot)

You remember that much? As expected of Fermus, all I could remember was her strength and red hair.

「It might be easier to describe her as a yakuza rather than a wild person. The kind of person who is able to tame their inner savagery with instinct and intelligence」

That may be true. That woman's attitude was definitely on purpose.

It wasn't that she got excited at the sight of a strong opponent and became hostile, but that she had been giving off a disturbing vibe from the start to see how we would react. I don't know why, but she might have been judging Fran.

There was a whiff of a battle junkie in the air too, but maybe she just wanted to know what Fran was capable of. Even so, she backed off surprisingly easily in the end, which is different from a mere battle junkie.

「The man I met with was quite something too」

「...There's someone like that?」

Well, Fran was focused on the woman at that moment. And the other one was certainly less conspicuous than the red-haired woman.

「Yeah. A brawny man with blond hair tied back in a bun, about a head taller than the woman. He had good muscle mass. He doesn't wear much but that was definitely the body of a warrior」

「Hee~」

「I wonder if I could call it a grin, but he was smiling out of the corner of his mouth the whole time. He seemed to be the type of guy that would be popular with ladies」

「He's strong?」

「To a certain extent. Not as much as the woman though. However, his expression didn't change at all even after being exposed to the presence of that woman, he seems to be a rather daring one. I guess he will be a troublesome opponent if it turns into a fight」

「Hohou~」

Fran was also interested in the man after hearing Fermus' evaluation. She crossed her arms and started to grumble, trying to remember the man somehow.

However, it seems that nothing came up in her mind.

She's the type that could even forget someone whom she had talked with a few times before after all, I don't think there is any way she can remember this one guy.

(Master, you remember?)

『Yeah, I remember what he looked like too. I'll tell you the next time we saw him』

(Nn, please)

Still, it seems that neither Fermus nor Colbert know the identity of that woman.

「Colbert, you don't know this man?」

「Yeah. I didn't pay much attention to him, but he's got a pretty distinguished look, doesn't he? I don't remember any adventurers that looked like him from around here」

If Colbert doesn't know, then he's probably not an adventurer who is active in Barbra.

「She's probably not an adventurer from this town either. After all, how could such a skilled woman not become the talk of the town yet, right?」

「I see」

「Well, it's that time of year, so maybe they're adventurers from abroad. After all, the route from Barbra to Ulmut was the most popular route for people from abroad」

Tourists who come to Barbra may also want to see the famous Ulmut martial arts tournament. On the other hand, the participants of the tournament often stop by Barbra while they were in Kranzel.

「It's not uncommon for foreign adventurers to want to associate with renowned adventurers too」

「Is that so?」

「Now that you mention it...」

Well, it's an adventurer we're talking about, they're known to have a lot of trouble makers.

「Besides, it's only natural that they would come to see Fran and me, the previous year's finalists, right?」

「Nn. Certainly」

Does this mean that woman is going to take in this year's martial arts tournament? It looks like a strong opponent has appeared.

TENKEN 680 Side: A Certain Group of Three 2

「Geez! Sibylla-sama! I've told you not to make a scene, haven't I!?!」

「Iyaah~ I didn't expect it to cause such a commotion」

「This is not our country! We're now in a peaceful country, some of the people here have never even fought a magic beast before!」

「Huh? Really?」

「They don't have the same type of training against magic beast as our country after all. What do you think would happen if Sibylla-sama used her intimidation in such a place...」

「Hmm? I'm not intimidating them or anything though, right, Biscot?」

「Yes! You just had a little standoff with the girl from the stall」

「...Why did things become like this when I took my eyes off you for a moment...」

「By the way, you said you were going to check something out, didn't you? What were you doing?」

「A famous adventurer was having a meal with me, so I made some quick contact with him」

「Hee~? What's he like?」

「He's the Iron Claw Colbert, a B ranked adventurer. I just greeted him and had a quick chat with him」

「So, what's your impression of him?」

「He's a very sociable and honest person. I think he was a desirable person to make a request to」

「Adventurers are greedy, untrustworthy, coward, stupid and weak, was it?」

「No matter how many times I hear it, that was just a terrible propaganda. If all of that was true, then why is the Kingdom of Kranzel, which has so many adventurers, flourishing to this extent? I'd like to show this city to the foolish higher-ups who can't tell the difference between fantasy and reality」

「The size of the market and the abundance of goods available surpass even that of the capital of our country. The food at those stalls is as good as the food of our nobles. It seems that the adventurers work a great part in this. I'd like to tell those fools who say that adventurers they've never seen are no big deal to get a grip on reality!」

「But the problem is, most of the people in our country have never seen an active adventurer before. It's no wonder they'd believe what they're told by the government, right?」

「Yes. That was an unusually sharp thing for Biscot to say」

「Hey, what was that for...」

「It also seems that not only the people, but also a growing number of knights and soldiers are believing the propaganda」

「We are the finest and the most powerful, and we deserve to rule the continent. Other inferior nations that rely on barbaric fools like adventurers should follow our lead, huh? Kukuku, was it the Southern Duke who said that? That loser pig sure talks a lot」

「But it must be hard to even doubt it when they've been taught that since birth, the propaganda was promoted about 20 years ago to recruit soldiers and has spread throughout the south after all」

「The story goes that this accelerated the tendency to look down on the Kingdom of Kranzel, and the Southern Duke became unable to control his army well because of that... Well, he got what he deserved」

「However, if the Southern Duke were to start a war with only his momentum, there is no telling how much damage it would cause to our country. We need to assess the power of the adventurers during this visit」

「But you know what? Wouldn't it be their worst nightmare if we were to abandon――」

「Biscot!」

「Y-yes」

「Tell me what we stand for」

「Y-yes! The symbol of the red sword must be wielded only to protect the people! No one can harm it, no one will be harmed by it, for it is the evil and the wicked that we will destroy!」

「That's right. Our job is to protect our people from magic beasts and bandits. We don't want to get involved in something as trivial as an invasion. Of course, it would be a different story if Kranzel or Belios were to invade. Don't misunderstand that part」

「Yes! My apologies!」

「The only exception would be the dispatch to Gordisia」

「The Sixth Order's movements seemed to be a little suspicious too. There is a possibility that they are cooperating with the Southern Duke」

「Tsk! Those bastards! They've been crushed once and they still haven't learned their lesson?」

「It looks like their commander has been replaced since the previous one was defeated by Sibylla-sama」

「Well, we don't have many achievements there yet, so we tend to get underestimated, and in the first place, the southern territory is our main battlefield after all. Can't they just refuse the Southern Duke's request?」

「I don't know what to do if the Red Knight Order were to be driven by the personal greed of those in power. How deplorable!」

「The Sixth Order——the current Order of the Crimson Flame has been hit hard by that necromancer. In order to redeem their honor, they seem to have a strong desire to make a move」

「Aside from my house, I wonder if the other houses are okay? Perhaps we might even need to rein in once and for all」

「The Red Banner and the Scarlet Eye will not be a problem. The Red Rain's headship has just been taken over by its successor, but seems to be stable. The Bloody Knights are still the same, and they don't seem to be willing to venture out of the country」

「So, the only problem is that Crimson Flame brat, huh? Well, I'll just crush him when the time comes」

「Their new commander seemed to be weaker than Sibylla-sama」

「It's a pity. Their previous commander had a rotten personality, but his fighting skills were top-notch」

「It's not every day Sibylla-sama can find someone who can compete with her after all」

「That said, I'd love to say that I'm looking forward to this trip, but... The adventurer you came in contact with, how was his skill?」

「From what I can tell, he was a very skilled man. I don't know if I can beat him for sure」

「Really? For someone like Clicker to say that much of him...」

「Yes. Biscot might be able to defeat him, but it won't be an easy fight」

「Hou? Well, that's quite something, isn't it? And he was just a B ranked adventurers, right?」

「Yes. I haven't made contact with any of them, but there are A ranker and S ranker on top of that」

「I was told that there is a lot of A ranker and former A ranker roaming around in Kranzel... Oh right, the beastman girl from the stall! What about that one?」

「Big sis sure is having fun, huh? I didn't expect the girl who was selling food at the stall to be so strong. To be honest, I would have preferred if she hadn't made a face」

「Kukuku. That one was a real deal; I'd love to have a match with her」

「Even Sibylla-sama talk that much of her, huh...?」

「At least it'll be more fun than dealing with that Crimson Flame's brat. That's for sure. That's what they call an A ranked adventurer, isn't it?」

「I see, that makes sense. I've heard that adventurers are all about capability. That B ranker is one of the few people I've met since entering this country who seems to be stronger than me」

「Yup yup, what do you think, Clicker?」

「...Unfortunately, you're wrong. The young beastman girl in that stall would be the adventurer known as the Black Lightning Princess. It is said that she is strong, but she's still a B ranker」

「...Even with all that strength, she's still a B ranker?」

「Judging from what Biscot and Sibylla-sama say, she must be stronger than that Colbert guy. But she's really just a B ranker」

「F-for real... Hah! Then, what about the old man from before!? What about him!?!」

「That soup shop owner huh? That one looked strong enough to make me shiver. In terms of power, the Black Lightning Princess is the stronger one. But in terms of sheer creepiness, it was the old man from the soup shop」

「Soup shop... they called that shop the Dragon Restaurant, wasn't it?」

「Yes, it has such a name!」

「Whether it's a lie or not, they said they were using a dragon for ingredients」

「Then it must be the store's owner, Fermus the Dragon Hunter. He's a former A ranked adventurer」

「He's a, former?」

「Yes」

「Umm, let's see, doesn't that mean an active A ranked adventurers were stronger than the Black Lightning Princess or the Dragon Hunter? Seriously...!?!」

「Kukuku! This is making me even more excited to see more and more A ranked adventurers」

「I-I'm starting to get a little intimidated. I mean, far from being an inferior country, they're country of monsters」

「I beg of you! Please don't cause a scene here!」

「I know I know」

「Haa-h... I wonder whether we can safely return to our country in one piece...」

Chapter 681

TENKEN 681 Fran's Apology

『We finally arrived!』

「Nn」

『Glad we made it in time』

「Thanks to Urushi too」

「Woof!」

Two weeks has passed since the cooking contest in Barbra, and we had arrived safely in Ulmut. Well, a lot has happened in the past two weeks too.

First we were asked by Gamudo, the Guild master of Barbra, to go to Crystal Cage. A magical area near Barbra where we first saw Forrund during last year's contest.

We were asked to procure magic beasts' meat because there was a shortage of meat after the cooking contest.

We could have refused, but Fran was more than willing to take it. After all, a magical area was an attractive thing for her.

Moreover, her battle-crazed spirit seemed to have been ignited by her encounter with the mysterious red-haired woman during the cooking contest.

The hunt went well and we had gotten ourselves a good amount of magic beasts' meat, but... we somehow got a little too deep into the woods and ended up having a tough fight with a pack of Thunderbirds, the most powerful magic beasts in Crystal Cage.

Thunderbirds are a magic beast with a threat level of B that could move at a speed that was on par with Fran. Well, I don't think they could surpass Fran in her Brilliant Lightning Rush state though.

We were also lucky that our opponent's strongest attack is based on the thunderbolt attribute. Fran would get a thunderbolt nullification effect during her Brilliant Lightning Rush state after all. And by also using my physical attack nullification at the same time, we were left unscathed after being hit by their strongest attack.

Well, that quickly deplete my magic power in a blink though, so we decided to escape in the end. I wanted to at least bring one back if possible, but I couldn't let Fran take on five of them at the same time.

Without Urushi's support, who had acted as a decoy despite being badly injured, Fran would not have been able to escape with her life.

As expected of a magic beast with a threat level of B. I think we should be able to handle up to two of them though.

And it's not like we didn't get anything out of that encounter, okay? I managed to pluck up a good amount of Thunderbirds' feather with my telekinesis after all. Fran wasn't interested in it at all because she couldn't eat it, but we were able to sell it to Gamudo at a high price.

Not only that it can be used to make armor, but it can also be used to make bedding or a super luxurious item. Well, it certainly sounds amazing, but as expected, I can't fathom why royalty or nobles would pay a million goldes for it...

After that, we were planning to leave for Ulmut right away, but we had a little problem there and had to stay for a while.

At the time of the incident in Barbra last year, there were companies that wrongdoing was exposed and brought to a close thanks to Fran and the others.

They were owned by the second son of the feudal lord, the Tolmaio Trading Company, which was under Brooke influence, the man who was planning a coup d'etat, and the Ysra Trading Company, which was its dark side.

They were supposed to have been eradicated, but the surviving members of the company were still lurking in Barbra and had developed a grudge against Fran.

They even hired several assassins to target Fran.

Well, I killed the assassins instantly and managed to catch the one who ordered them.

Some of them tried to escape, but there was no escaping from Urushi's nose.

Thanks to that, we had to extend our stay for a few days due to the time taken for the interrogation. Well, I guess it was also our fault that we fought a little too flashy when we defeated the assassins.

In the end, we didn't leave Barbra until ten days later than we had originally planned.

There were various things that happened along the way, but let's leave it at that.

We have bigger problems than that right now.

「Glad you came, Fran-san, and, Master-kun」

「Nn」

『It's been a while』

Naturally, when we arrived in Ulmut, we had come to greet the guild master, Diaz.

We're not strangers, and Fran is already a B ranked adventurer. So, it's not strange for her to show her face to the guild master.

But I didn't really want to meet him this time if possible. Well, I didn't expect to be able to avoid Diaz after coming to Ulmut though.

「What's the matter? You look so strange. How unusual」

「I want to talk about Zelos Reed」

「...Hohou?」

That's right. There was no way we could keep Zelos Reed a secret from Diaz.

But for Fran, who had chosen to let Zelos Reed go after meeting him, this was a decision she had made. And she refused to give in.

The mere mention of his name quickly changed his atmosphere. It seems that Diaz still has not forgotten his grudge against Zelos Reed.

「I've found Zelos Reed」

「Is that so?」

「Nn. But then, I let him go」

「He—...?」

Diaz's smiling face now kinda scares me! I don't know how Fran manages to stay so composed!

He's smiling, but I can feel that inside, dark emotion must be swirling within him.

「Mind if I ask why'd do that?」

「Nn」

And then Fran told him the story of how we found Zelos Reed, almost killed him, and then let him go.

We're not going to tell him everything. After all, he'd go to look for him if we tell where Zelos Reed is. Besides, Weena Rhyn's condition is probably not something we should be talking about lightly.

「So, you borrowed his help for something big, then letting him go as to repay the debt? Or was it because of his ties with this Romio kid?」

「...Not quite right, but something like that」

In the first place, Fran doesn't completely know what she's feeling either.

「Fumu... So? You want me to let Zelos Reed out of my mind too?」

Diaz stared at Fran with emotionless eyes as he says that. It's not that he's glaring at her, but the pressure is tremendous.

A pressure that is like telling us that there was no room for lies or deceit.

However, the next words that came out of Fran's mouth were something that neither I nor Diaz expected.

「Why?」

「Eh? Didn't you come here to tell me to let Zelos Reed out of my mind?」

「It's not」

Fran denied Diaz's words. I thought she was trying to convince him to forgive Zelos Reed, but it seemed that I was mistaken.

「It was my decision to let Zelos Reed go. It had nothing to do with Diaz」

「...Hmm?」

「Of course, I want Diaz to give up on wanting to kill Zelos Reed. But Diaz's feelings are Diaz's」

『This could make a conflict between the two of you, you know? Are you sure about this?』

「I'm not really sure, but I don't have a choice. It doesn't mean that what Zelos Reed has done is gone too」

Having said that much, Fran now looked at Diaz.

「I can't stop Diaz for wanting to go after him, but——」

「Diaz can't stop me from trying to protect Zelos Reed and his companion too」

「Fran-kun...」

「Sorry」

Fran then sincerely bowed her head to Diaz as he was about to say something. She must have been prepared to be called a traitor by Diaz.

But this time it was Fran's turn to be surprised.

「...No need to be sorry」

Fran tilted her head at Diaz, who say that with a strangely calm expression.

「In the first place, Kiara is not the kind of person who'd ask me to do anything stupid like avenging her death. In fact, you should've been mad at me for trying to ignore it」

「Diaz...」

「Still, I need to sort out my mind a little. I'm sorry, but can you leave for today?」

「Nn...」

「...I'm sorry」

Chapter 682

TENKEN 682 Rumina and Aurel

As soon as we split up with Diaz, we went to the dungeon. We had come to the dungeon to report to Rumina about Zelos Reed too

She wasn't showing as much anger as Diaz, but I wonder how could she not be concerned?

However, there was one miscalculation, or rather, one thing that I had not calculated.

「Aurel, why are you here?」

「Oi oi, is that how you greet people?」

「You're alone?」

「I'm still an evolved and former adventurer, you know? In the current dungeon, where the difficulty level has been lowered, I won't have any difficulty going in alone」

Certainly, Aurel has his strong body. In this dungeon, where Rumina has been weakened because of pushing herself too hard to evolve Fran, I think he should be fine soloing this dungeon on his own.

We've explained things to Diaz, so this might be a good chance to be able to explain things to Aurel and Rumina at the same time, saving us the trouble.

Fran then tells Aurel and Rumina the same explanation that she gave to Diaz before.

I was worried about how they would react, but after listening, both Aurel and Rumina showed a gentle expressions on their faces.

「I see... But that's okay, I guess. Fran still has a bright future ahead of her. We can't forget our past experiences, but we don't have to be bound by them」

「I agree」

「Kiara will probably be happier if you grow up healthy too」

Rumina smiled when she said that, but then sighed with a difficult look on her face.

「But then again, Diaz is still a kid, isn't he? He hasn't changed much」

「?? Diaz is a grandpa」

「Listen Fran. A man is still a kid at heart, no matter how old he gets」

Rumina gives her a faraway look as she says that. She seems to have had a bitter experience in the past.

「Men, you know, no matter how old they get, their mind will never age beyond that of a kid. Yes, no matter how long they live! You'd better remember that」

「Nn」

Hey, stop it! Can you not tell anything weird to Fran!? I'm aware that I'm not exactly a good adult, so it's hard for me to deny her words with something like "That's not true" or anything.

At the same time, Rumina's lecture on men continued.

「At first glance, some of them may look more mature than others. But that's just because they've learned to put on an appearance, and in the end, they're all the same. In fact, they are even worse because they are indulging themselves in the idea of being mature」

「Is that so?」

「E-even If you were to ask me...」

Aurel slurred his words with a pathetic face. He perhaps had some idea of what Rumina had said.

This is bad, there's not a man here who can deny Rumina's words! Oh, right, Fermus! Where's Fermus—!?

「This guy here was just a kid who grew up to be a big shot!」

「I just can't say a thing when Rumina-sama says so...」

「Well, this guy is better than the others though. It was because he understood that he's still a kid」

「Iyaah~」

「That's not a compliment! Just beware of men who say they're not a kid, okay? That kind of man is usually the worst. They don't really understand themselves at all. They are nothing but kids who think they are more mature than others, don't you think?」

W-well, isn't that too much of a rant? But people who look at others and say, "That guy's childish," or "I'm not like that childish person," are certainly not of high mental age.

Still, I feel like it would be better to say that kind of person as one that doesn't really have the ability to understand themselves though.

「Oh well, I'll talk to Diaz later. Anyway, Fran. You've come to Ulmut for another martial arts tournament, haven't you?」

「That's half of it. The other half is that I'm here to find Dimitris」

「Hou? You're looking for Dimitris the Immovable?」

「Nn. Because of a request. Know anything?」

「Hmm. He has come to this place in the past. At that time, even though I knew he wouldn't hurt me, I felt a terrible fear from him」

Rumina is pretty strong. She's weakened now, but she must have been strong enough to be called a strong person before. That would have been stronger than the current Fran, wouldn't it?

She wasn't a Black Heavenly Tiger, but she had achieved evolution, had studied for hundreds of years, and had the power of a Dungeon Master.

There are not many opponents that Rumina would feel fear of. It's no surprise, but it seems that S rankers are indeed exceptional.

「Dimitris should be staying at the lord's mansion during the tournament. If it's you, I'm sure you can get in touch with him」

「The lord?」

「You don't remember him? You should've met at the awards ceremony though」

Ulmut's feudal lord was a very plain old man, and we've only met him once after all. It was no wonder that Fran had forgotten him.

「Poor guy...」

Aurel shrugged with a wry smile as he realized that Fran had already completely forgotten about him. He must have known that by her gesture. It seemed that Ulmut's feudal lord and Aurel had a reasonably close relationship.

「You're close with him?」

「We're not on bad terms at the very least. Well, I think he's doing a good job as the lord of this town full of adventurers, and we were also peers at the royal palace. He's almost like an advisor to me」

「I see」

While many nobles act arrogantly toward adventurers or want to interfere with guilds, Ulmut's feudal lords are said to be very tolerant. It is even said that he is quite skilled in handling the adventurers.

This is mainly because he knows that without the help of adventurers, Ulmut would not be able to maintain its development.

Doesn't this mean that he knows exactly what he's doing and is able to see what's going on around him? I only had the impression that he was a simple man, but he might actually be a capable fellow.

「That's because he's such a lord. I doubt he'd say no if it was a request from you, a high-ranking adventurer and tournament winner」

「When will Dimitris come?」

「As usual, a few days before the start of the tournament. I don't think he's here yet」

We've already taken lodgings with the intention of participating in the martial arts tournament anyway, so we'll just have to wait for him. We should recognize him as soon as someone as famous as him enters the town too.

『Until then, should we accept some quest?』

「Nn」

I don't think he could hear me, but Aurel then mentioned his request to Fran.

「Oh, right. I've got a request for the young miss. You mind accepting it?」

「What request?」

「It's an escort mission for my granddaughter」

「Escort mission?」

Chapter 683

TENKEN 683 Katley

「It's almost our turn」

「Don't let your guard down」

「Yes!」

The day after we explained things to Diaz and Rumina.

We're now waiting in line to one of the dungeons in Ulmut. We're not going to the eastern dungeon where Rumina's living space is, but the western dungeon for beginners.

It was originally at a level that could be explored by even a fledgling adventurer, but now that it has been weakened, it's even less of a threat now.

So much so that even ordinary people, beginners, and children are allowed to enter as long as they have a weapon.

The Adventurer's Guild of Ulmut has been preparing this dungeon as a place to train beginners over the past year too.

Now that the word has gotten out, people who don't even look like adventurers are lining up in front of the dungeon.

In the midst of them, Fran and a girl younger than her are waiting in line together. She is a beautiful girl with twin-tailed silver hair.

「Fran-oneesama, are you sure that I only need a sword for my equipment?」

「Nn. Katley is still small, so heavy armor would be more of a hindrance for her. Besides, you should be better at dodging in fights like this」

「I-I see」

「If it's just a torn arm, I can heal it with my magic. So it's no problem」

「I see——eEeh?」

「Let's go」

「Eh? Eeh?」

It was only a few minutes ago that we met her in a courtyard inside Aurel's mansion.

「This is my granddaughter. Come on, say hello」

「Yes! My name is Katley Aurel!」

「Nn. I'm Fran, an adventurer」

「It's an honor to meet you! Fran-oneesama!」

「Onesama?」

「Y-yes. Is it no good?」

「...I don't really mind」

「Thank you very much!」

When we visited Aurel's mansion, we were immediately introduced to a girl from the White Dog tribe. What a surprise, so Aurel really has a granddaughter, huh?

She is a beautiful girl who looks nothing like Aurel. Her slightly sullen eyes give me the impression that she is a timid person. Is she really Aurel's granddaughter? The resemblance is so faint that it makes me wonder.

She is ten years old this year, a little younger than Fran.

「Do I just have to take this girl to the dungeon?」

「Ou. That's right」

Yesterday, Aurel had asked her to take his granddaughter to a dungeon and let her fight some magic beast.

Apparently, his granddaughter has been longing to become an adventurer, and has recently begun to learn sword fighting in earnest. But Aurel's son and daughter-in-law think that their daughter is unsuited to be an adventurer because she has always had a timid personality.

However, Aurel's own belief is that what's important for an adventurer is motivation and caution. With that in mind, a timid personality is not necessarily unsuitable for an adventurer.

All that was left was motivation, and from Aurel's point of view, his granddaughter seemed to be motivated enough for this.

So, apparently, Aurel decided to show her granddaughter some reality by throwing her into a simple dungeon and have her fight some magic beast for now.

If she gets tired of it and gives up on being an adventurer, she can go to a school for girls as originally planned. If she still wants to be an adventurer even after the horrible experience in the dungeon, then Aurel will personally train her.

That's what he thought.

「You're not going to make her give up on this, are you?」

The request must be a NG from Fran's point of view. But Aurel then nodded in response to Fran's question.

(TLN: NG, No-Good, a Japanese-made english term meaning the opposite of okay)

「Of course. I only wanted to show her the reality of being an adventurer. Well, it's too early to decide whether or not to give up on one's dream at the age of ten, but she's still my granddaughter」

「Is there something about being Aurel's granddaughter?」

「Even though I look like this, I still have a lot of money. There might be some people who were aiming for it out there」

Aurel is a successful businessman who started his own trading company. His son and daughter-in-law have taken over the business, and the granddaughter who asks Fran to escort her was their child.

What would happen if the only daughter of a prosperous trading company showed up as a fledgling adventurer? She would surely become a valuable prey for kidnappers.

「It's hard to expect a 10-year-old to be ready for that」

「She didn't have any interest in being an adventurer before?」

「Yeah, I've had her train a little for self-defense, but she's far from ready」

「Why is she suddenly wanting to become an adventurer?」

Being an adventurer is the best thing for Fran, but it's not common sense for everyone. That's why she wondered.

Then Aurel shrugged his shoulders with a wry smile.

「...Well, a girl her age has a lot going on in her mind. She heard about the exploits of a certain famous adventurer and then longed to become one」

Fran doesn't seem to understand, but it seems that Aurel's granddaughter has been inspired to become an adventurer by Fran.

When she heard that there's a beastman girl not much older than her played an active role in various things as an adventurer, it's no wonder that she can't help but admire her.

「Well, anyway, I'd really like you to accept this request, how about it? I could do this myself but I would end up spoiling her. There'd be no point in doing this then, right?」

Though he said that, he probably really wanted to let his granddaughter meet Fran, whom she admired. So, even if this would make her give up on being an adventurer, this should be a great memorable experience for her.

「Would you take it?」

(Master? Should we take it?)

『Well, it's up to Fran. It's not the kind of request that will hold us up for a long time anyway』

「Nn. Okay, I'll take it」

「Ooh! That's great!」

After such an exchange, the next morning Fran came to pick up the girl who was the subject of the request.

「Take care of Katley for me, young miss. I'll have no say in the matter from here on out, so you can do anything to her in any way you like」

「Okay」

「I-I'll be in your care!」

Katley gulped down her throat with a blue face when she heard the exchange between the two, she must have been a little frightened.

She's timid indeed. Her status was quite low too. Her level was 10, and her various skills were appropriate for her level.

As she was originally a student, her skill set was heavily weighted towards academics. Arithmetic, business administration, and so on... I'd say that it was a rather suitable skill set for her to succeed the trading company.

On the other hand, she only had three skills for combat and exploration. Swordsmanship: Lv1, Quick Movement: Lv1, and Keen Smelling Sense: Lv1, that's all.

Fran looked at her and must have sensed how weak she was in an instant. She also asks me about her skill set then frowns when I tell her my opinion.

「First of all, you don't need that armor. Take it off」

「Eh? Eeh?」

When she was suddenly asked to take off the armor that was supposed to protect her life, Katley turned to Aurel as if to ask for help. But there was no help coming for her.

「I've got some work to do, so I'll be taking my leave. See ya」

「Nn. Katley, take it off now」

「Y-yes!」

TENKEN 684 Adventurer's Rules

Fran came to the west dungeon of Ulmut with Katley, and promptly put her through the ordeal.

「You go first」

「Eh?」

「You won't learn anything about the dungeon if you stay behind. So, you go first」

「B-but what about traps and magic beasts...?」

「They're not a big deal here. So it's fine」

Maybe, Katley was planning to let Fran take the lead and follow her like an observer.

But Fran had no intention of making it easy for her. Rather, the purpose of this request was to show her the reality of being an adventurer. So, she wanted her to actually experience things.

Before entering the dungeon, she has told Katley that 「If it's just a torn arm, I can heal it with my magic. So it's no problem」. And that was not a joke, Fran was very serious about it.

In fact, she even thought that getting some injury would make her feel like being an actual adventurer.

Fran is just like a spartan trainer, isn't she?

Well, she might look like a spartan to others, but from Fran's point of view, if Katley really wants to be an adventurer, she should be able to handle this much.

People are beings that think based on their standards.

Fran was a battle junkie who is willing to get hurt or go through a lot of hardship to become stronger, but Katley was just a young lady who had been focused on her studies until recently. The contrast between the two was beyond anyone could imagine.

At any rate, I'll at least make sure she doesn't die.

「Let's move」

「Y-yes!」

Prompted by Fran's words, Katley began to advance through the dungeon.

Her steps were surprisingly steady. Curiosity and excitement seemed to have prevailed over her fear.

She walked through the seemingly empty passage while looking around incessantly. It seems that besides her interest in the dungeon, she probably intends to look for traps.

Well, that was all for nothing though.

Clack!

「Ah!」

She accidentally triggered a trap under her feet. It wasn't much of a trap, however.

She activated a trap that uses strong winds to slam pebbles to her feet. It wasn't the kind of tricky trap that harass and tire people, but a childish trick to make the beginner aware of the traps around them. As expected of a dungeon designed to teach.

「Uu~」

「Don't stop. Keep moving」

「Y-yes」

Katley, who had stopped and was rubbing her feet, started walking again with a slightly frightened expression returning to her face. It seems that she remembered once again that she was in a dungeon.

Her dog's ears, which were originally droopy, seemed to have drooped even more. Her tail, which had been wagging, had lost all of its energy. What an easy to read girl.

The way she moved was slower this time. It was as if the energetic steps she had a while ago had been a lie.

She proceeded at a very slow pace, wary of traps that she couldn't even see through. So slow that even the other adventurers who came from behind kept overtaking us.

「...So slow, go faster」

「Uu... Yes—」

Katley's eyes welled up as Fran urged her to hurry. Even though she is frightened, she doesn't talk back to Fran. I wonder if this is another effect of her admiration for Fran.

After that, Katley made her way through the dungeon, getting caught in traps, finding them and avoiding them.

Well, we're only about halfway through the first floor though. If this were in a game, I'd say that we're still at the beginning of the tutorial.

Katley seemed to have exhausted herself quite a bit. Even though she's just a small young lady, she is still a beastman and had received some training. She shouldn't get exhausted by this distance under normal circumstances.

However, the unfamiliar environment, the need to be wary of traps and the fear of magic beasts. These factors seemed to have caught up with her mind and quickly tire her.

「Hafu-...」

Even so, Katley continues to walk without complaint and seemed to have no intention of giving up on being an adventurer. She seems to understand that anyone who gives up over something like this won't fit to be an adventurer.

「Let's take a break here」

Fran decided to take a short break at a place where the passage was wide enough for multiple adventurers to pass.

As the two sat down alongside each other, Katley began to ask a number of questions to Fran.

Fran can't talk about what she can't openly talk about, but she could tell her about our adventures. Though it was a bloody and horrific story, the light of admiration that shines from Katley's eyes only increases in intensity.

As she had no experience in combat, she could not imagine the harshness of adventure and battle, only the thoughts of how cool and amazing it was could come to her mind.

And when she asked about her recent encounter with magic beast, Fran told her about her struggle with the Thunderbirds she encountered in Crystal Cage.

Until now, Fran stories had been about how she managed to defeat formidable magic beasts. So, Katley was surprised to hear that Fran escaped from them.

「E-even onee-sama can't defeat that magic beast called Thunderbird?」

「I could have defeated them if I used my strongest move」

「Then why did you run away?」

「I could end up in a bigger mess if I were to use my strongest move. I'd normally go all out, but when adventurers are on a request, completing it should be our top priority. Remember that」

「You can get a lot of materials if you defeat them though...」

「Nn. I could have leveled up too. But what if I meet a strong enemy after that? I can't be sure there won't be any. So, there's no point in wearing myself out unnecessarily」

It's as Fran says. We could have won against those Thunderbirds if she were to use the Sword God Transformation or Potential Release.

But doing so would surely wear us out. After all, our strongest move has a terrible backlash that could render us incapable of fighting properly for a while, and if things didn't go smoothly, we might not be able to participate in this year's martial arts tournament because of it.

From Fran's point of view, wearing oneself out in unnecessary battles during a request is not what a full-fledged adventurer is supposed to do.

「Be more cautious and always play it safe during a request. If you were to fail, you could get people in trouble」

「I-I see」

Fran prioritized making sure that the request was accomplished over her desire to level up.

But I never thought that this very Fran would tell a younger girl about the importance of being cautious. Somehow, I was very impressed.

Chapter 685

TENKEN 685 Katley's Doing Her Best

Having been taught the importance of caution by Fran, Katley seemed to have regained her courage and resumed her journey through the dungeon.

She pays more attention to her surroundings now.

However, the threats in the dungeon were not something that could be avoided with a little effort from an amateur. She has been caught in a trap multiple times already.

Still, without any complaints, she wiped the sweat from her forehead and proceeded without a word. But then, a new threat appeared in front of her.

「T-that is!?!」

「Nn, a magic beast. The Stealth Rabbit」

「So that's, a magic beast...」

Stealth Rabbit was a small fry magic beast with a threat level of G. And speaking on how much of a small fry it is, it is the weakest magic beast we know.

They're good at digging holes and hiding, but in a dungeon of stones like this, they were just a stupid-looking rabbit that moves like a turtle.

Forget magic beast, it probably would even be defeated by a mere wild dog. But that's why they're suitable for the first floor of the dungeon for newbies.

There should be no adventurer that would lose against it. The sole reason they're here is to get newbies used to defeating magic beasts after all.

「Take it down with your sword」

She was probably glad that the time she had spent being harassed by traps was over, and that things were now unfolding like what an adventurer is supposed to do. Katley then draw her sword with a cheerful voice and aimed at the Stealth Rabbit.

「Haa!」

「Pikyii—!」

「I-I did it!」

She may be a young lady, but she is still an inhabitant of this world and an aspiring adventurer. She had successfully defeated the magic beast without uttering any naive words such as "I can't attack rabbit-san" or "I'm afraid of blood".

「Nn. Good job」

Fran nodded in satisfaction.

It was a slash that stuck to the basics, I can't tell if she has talent or not at this stage yet, but I don't think she has no talent at all.

Afterwards, Katley dismantles the rabbit under Fran's direction and puts the meat and magic stones in her backpack. It seems Fran doesn't want to spoil her by using her dimensional storage.

Katley is smiling brightly as she puts her backpack which has gained some weight back on. I guess she feels like she has accomplished something after dismantling the magic beast she killed herself.

But like I said before, this is still at the tutorial level. The main part of an adventure is not as simple as this.

「That's all for the first floor, let's continue」

「Y-yes」

「Let's hurry. I'll give you a piggyback」

「Eh?」

Fran bent down and turned her back to Katley. But Katley froze, unable to move because of her confusion.

「Katley?」

「B-but...」

「Hmm」

Fran seemed to have given up on the idea of carrying her on her back because Katley won't move at all.

「Kyaa!」

「Careful not to bite your tongue」

Fran takes Katley by the arm and runs off without waiting for her to say a thing.

「Kyaaa!」

「It's still safe around here, but you might attract magic beasts once we got to the next floor. You'd better not scream」

Ooh, she immediately kept her mouth shut. She listened to Fran's words... or should I say, she doesn't want to make it looks that wanting to be an adventurer is just a half-hearted resolve.

Fran continues to run while teaching Katley about traps.

She sometimes moves three-dimensionally, kicking walls and ceilings to avoid traps, and does not stop at all while finishing off magic beasts with her kicks.

「...E-ah!」

It seemed that Katley had lost her composure due to the rapidly changing scenery and the constant pressure from all directions.

She shrieked as she looked around with her whirling eyes.

「...Fueh—」

Her mouth eventually dropped open halfway and she had a dumbfounded expression on her face. She didn't seem to have passed out, but she must have lost her train of thought.

And half an hour later.

Fran had stepped through the second and third floors and had reached the entrance to the fourth floor.

The mid-level floor of this dungeon started at the fourth floor. To go any further, it is recommended that everyone be an F ranker or higher, or be accompanied by an E ranker.

Unlike the first three floors, which were like attractions for beginners, this was a true training ground. An amateur could potentially lose their life if they were not careful.

The most common cause of that is the magic beast in front of Fran and Katley now.

「I-Isn't that...」

「Nn. Lesser Ogre」

A reddish-brown skinned beast wearing only a loincloth and carrying a thin wooden stick. It is no taller than 150 centimeters. And as its name implies, it was a subspecies of ogre that looked like a skinnier, smaller version of an ogre.

Rumina had originally wanted to place a goblin that was adjusted to be weaker than the original. However, the Goddess of Chaos seemed to have done something to her, and she needed greater power to create evil people in the dungeon.

It seems that her plan to create a large number of low-level goblins and fast-track the development of the Black Cat kin failed even before it was done.

So instead of goblins, Rumina placed the weakest Lesser Ogre in her dungeon. Still, its combat power is on par with goblins.

It took a position in the middle of the passage and stared at us.

「Gugyah!」

「Hii!」

Katley let out a shriek briefly when she heard the Lesser Ogre's voice.

It certainly must be quite scary for a child. They are not that different in size, but they have a vicious look on their faces. Moreover, they are armed with weapons and have a strong hostility towards us.

Even a Japanese Macaque can inflict serious injuries on people. If it were a larger lethal ogre, the danger would be far greater than that of a monkey.

(TLN: Also known as the snow monkey, the one you'd see bathing in open-air hot springs)

Fran had always been ready to kill magic beasts from the start. As a result, I assumed that it was a normal thing, but it seemed that no matter how harsh this world is, a normal child would probably react the way Katley did.

「That thing is weak」

「I-is that so?」

「Nn. Even beginners should be able to defeat it. So go for it」

「Eh?」

「It's okay, I can always heal you as long as you don't die」

「Eh? Eeh—!?!」

「Gugyagyah!」

While they were talking, the Lesser Ogre had identified Fran and Katley as its prey. It seemed that it failed to sense Fran's strength because it was just a small fry.

From its point of view, the two must looked like a delicious easy prey.

「It's coming」

「Gyagyahah!」

「Kyaaa!」

Chapter 686

TENKEN 686 Interferer

「Gyagyahah!」

The moment Fran steps back, the Lesser Ogre jumps at Katley.

As it was just a small fry as a practice opponent for beginners, its movements were sluggish and not very nimble.

It has no weapon skills, and its wooden stick is not that dangerous of a weapon.

But it could still inflict a painful blow and break one's bones if it were to hit a bad place. It could also cause a concussion if it were to hit one's head.

You can imagine it as an elementary school boy wielding a wooden stick, maybe?

It was an enemy that could be defeated by the Fran now with just the tip of her finger, but a normal adult with proper armor should be able to handle it with ease.

However, it must look like a terrifying magic beast to Katley. She must be terrified not only by the look, but also by the clear hostility being directed at her.

Frightened by the Lesser Ogre, Katley swung the sword in her hand as hard as she could without using any swords skill.

「Yhaa!」

「Gyii!」

Because of her longer reach, Katley's sword reached the opponent first. It only grazed its skin slightly, but the Lesser Ogre screeched and retreated.

「Gigigyah!」

It rubbed its wound with its hand and licked the blood off its finger, which made it realize once again that it had been injured. The Lesser Ogre then started to irritably hit the ground with the stick in its hand.

「Uuh...」

「Gigyih...」

Katley is frightened by its presence, but at the same time, the Lesser Ogre also seemed to be wary of her sword.

A strange tension developed between the two, and a stalemate occurred for a few seconds.

Fran won't be helping her this time, she'll just watch and let Katley overcome the situation.

But then, there was an unexpected turn of events that we didn't see coming.

A red light flew from the other side of the passage, obliterating the Lesser Ogre's head and defeated it.

It was obviously not a stray bullet, but a shot aimed at the Lesser Ogre. Of course, both Fran and I knew that there were other adventurers at the end of the passage.

But I didn't expect them to intervene with us. Could they be the bandit adventurers that Aurel had been worried about?

「Katley, get behind me」

「Y-yes」

Fran and I both lightly braced ourselves as we watched for any sign of them coming towards us.

(Master, this presence....)

『Yeah. It's the red-haired woman from back then』

As we had expected, the one who appeared from the other side was the one who had caused a bit of a stir when she confronted Fran at Barbra cooking contest.

「Yo, is everything good there?」

「Hmm...」

「Oya? Isn't that kid... the one from that stall?」

「Sis, it's the Black Lightning Princess」

「Oh, the B ranked adventurer, right?」

I don't think she wouldn't have noticed Fran's presence, but she looks seriously surprised. Could it be that she knew that there was someone strong but didn't realize it was Fran?

Is there any adventurer who has the strength of this woman's level, yet has poor detecting skills?

The man with her didn't know it was Fran either. He looked surprised when he saw her face.

I appraised them and found that their names were Sibylla and Biscot. But I don't know if that's their true name or not.

They were definitely falsifying their identity; both of them had garbled characters in some parts of their abilities, and their status and skill levels were clearly too low. It's hard to believe that two people with such ability would be together at the same time, so it must be the effect of some kind of magic item.

It only means that they have the contacts to be able to get that kind of thing.

「...Why did you interfere?」

「Huh?」

Fran asks in a rather angry voice to the woman. It's probably because she can't read the other party's intentions.

「The kid looked like she was in trouble, so I saved her. Why don't you go in and help her before?」

「We're in training now」

「Training...? With that level of ability, she is probably still in the basic training stage, right? It's too early for her to go into actual combat」

「That's not for you to decide」

「Huh? First of all, why do you have to stare at me like that? I saved her, remember?」

「This is none of your business」

It's a complete breach of the adventurer's code, but Sibylla doesn't seem to know what's even wrong. She twisted her neck in confusion.

「Aah! S-sis Sibylla!」

「What's the matter, Biscot?」

「Now that I remember, I thought we were supposed to always ask for approval before helping other adventurers in the dungeon...」

「Is that so?」

「Yeah, I remember Clicker saying something like that」

These two are definitely not an adventurer... Are they mercenaries or knights in disguise? It might not look like it, but I guess they were just trying to help Katley.

「Even so, isn't it too early for her to be in here? She's just too weak. You must've brought her here by force, look, she's completely terrified」

「...S-she didn't force me to come here...」

She must have been a little offended to be called weak. Katley turned to Sibylla while hiding behind Fran's back.

「Huh? Really?」

「Nn」

「It's the truth...」

Though Fran did drag her here, Katley has agreed in advance to enter the dungeon. Even Fran would not take her into the dungeon if she did not want to.

Well, I don't think there's any aspiring adventurer who doesn't want to go into a dungeon though.

Katley has made up her mind to enter the dungeon and follows Fran.

「I didn't intend to offend you, but... please go back home for today. You should work on your swordsmanship and put on some better armor before you come back. You're still young, you still have lots of time」

Sibylla speaks in a gentle voice as if she's trying to convince her.

Her act would have been complimented by the general public if it had been done outside the dungeon. But in a dungeon where there were only adventurers and aspiring adventurers, that was a complete crap.

In the first place, although she doesn't even know Katley's circumstances, she speaks so superiorly and disregards her resolve. Katley also knows it better than anyone else that she's weak and feels frustrated at it.

She was angry at herself, who deserved to be called weak, and Sibylla, who disregarded her resolve.

「...Katley...」

「Y-yes. What is it, onesama?」

「What should we do?」

「Eh?」

「Go back home?」

Fran didn't offer any words of comfort to Katley, who clenched her fists and looked down. On the contrary, she asked her if she wanted to leave. It was as if she wanted to tell her to give up.

It must be a kind, yet harsh words for Katley, whose heart was about to break. I would not be surprised if her heart had completely broken and she'd nod at Fran's words.

But Katley shook her head and looked up. She somehow looked better than before.

「...I'm not going home yet. I came here on my own volition, so I will also leave on my own volition. I don't know if I could become an adventurer or will I ever give up on it, however... That's for me to decide!」

「Nn」

Seeing Katley like this, Fran nodded in satisfaction.

Chapter 687

TENKEN 687 What it Mean to be an Adventurer

「She wants to be an adventurer...? How can someone with that level of ability become an adventurer? Moreover, isn't she still too young for it?」

「I-I will become one! Besides, everyone is a beginner at first!」

Katley heard Sibylla's muttering and retorted. It seems that she felt ridiculed by her saying that there was no way someone like her could be an adventurer.

However, I don't think that Sibylla's murmur had anything about ridiculing her. I think she was simply expressing her doubts about whether there were any restrictions based on ability or age.

「Will the guild approve though?」

「? They will. Adventurers are the very definition of freedom. Everyone is free to become one or quit at any time」

Well, some guild masters, like Klimut, would try to keep the kids from registering as authorized adventurers and train them as apprentices though.

It sure brings back the memories of our test with Donadrond. But that was a very special case.

「Hee—? But, for example, the kid there, if she becomes an adventurer, will she be useful? How can she protect people or kill magic beasts if the most she can do is collecting herbs?」

「Ugh...」

Katley groaned. But I guess she can't say anything back because it was a fact. Though she did not mean to defend Katley, Fran spoke back in her place.

「But what's wrong with that?」

「We don't need such a useless adventurer, do we?」

Sibylla speaks harshly but doesn't seem to have any ill intentions. But Fran retorts further.

「?? I don't get it. It's not whether we need an adventurer or not. It's whether or not someone wants to be an adventurer. It's not about other people」

「Are you okay with that? With all that strength, you don't think anything of it when you see weak adventurers? Don't you think they're a hindrance?」

「Not really. After all, people are people. Didn't you just say that we don't need useless adventurers?」

「Yeah」

「But I don't understand what you mean by that. Being an adventurer isn't really about helping people」

「Hah? What's their job then?」

「To go on an adventure. That's why we're called adventurers」

Fran seemed a little irritated, it seemed that she didn't like Sibylla's remarks.

The way Sibylla says "adventurers are supposed to help people," "If an adventurer is not useful, they're not needed," must be what makes Fran feel like that.

Sibylla herself may not be aware of it, but she is talking about adventurers as if she's superior to them. I guess you could say that she unconsciously looks down on adventurers.

Fran doesn't like it. To most people, an adventurer is a lowly, bottom-tier job, but to Fran, it's a career she's always dreamed of.

「Being an adventure as a job... Is such a job even necessary?」

「Like I said before. Whether we're useful to the kind of you or not is irrelevant. Adventurers are free. We just do what we want to do」

She's using "omae" to call her just now!! It seems that she is getting even more irritated. Little by little, her words began to show how irritated she is.

(TLN: Omae, お前, considered as a disrespectful/rude pronoun to call someone)

「So you're saying, you won't fight to protect the people?」

「Adventurers are free. Those who want to fight for others will fight. Otherwise, they won't」

「Even though they had the power to do so?」

「Nn. Adventurers might take it on as a job. But being an adventurer is not about helping people」

Well, even though she says this, if there is someone in danger in front of her, she will probably go in and help them somehow.

But I guess that's just Fran's idea of the ideal adventurer. A hard worker, an individualist, a person who is free to make decisions based on preference rather than on whether something is right or wrong. A free and unbounded people.

Because of her race and the time she spent as a slave, Fran does not like to be bound or ordered around by others. Freedom is, in a sense, the most important thing for Fran, and it is the very thing she cannot allow to be violated.

And the image of the adventurer that Fran describes is the embodiment of that freedom.

On the other hand, despite her unreliable demeanor, Sibylla seems to take it for granted that we should stand in front of the weak and help them... Or rather, she must think that it's the duty of the strong. I think this is quite a rare way of thinking in this world.

But that is why she cannot readily understand Fran's points. And likewise, Fran cannot readily understand Sibylla's point either. Their principles are too different from each other.

As the two continued their arguments, I remembered that we had talked about this same thing in the past somewhere.

On our way from the Kingdom of Kranzel to the Kingdom of Belios. We met a girl named Dianne, a self-proclaimed knight who served as Khanna's squire and escort.

The two reacted as if they had never seen an adventurer before, and spoke with a surprisingly distorted impression of adventurers.

「So you're saying that you adventurers wield power only for your personal interests?」

「Yes」

Fran nodded casually at Sibylla's words.

Well, to put it bluntly, that's what happens most of the time. Not all adventurers are good person after all.

However, some of these interests are useful to others. Some of them, like Amanda, are working hard for her interest—or rather, her goal to help children in need.

But to begin with, I think it's rather difficult to think of adventurers as a whole.

Adventurers, like Fran and Amanda, are all people with their own ideas and ambitions. Ten people, ten colors. There are as many goals, desires, and opinions as there are adventurers, and it's hard to describe them with just one word.

(TLN: Ten peoples, ten colors, 十人十色, everyone has their own interests and ideas)

Even the words "an adventurer's job is to go on an adventure" that Fran said are just Fran's ideal of an adventurer.

「Putting one's own desires over helping those in need... Is that what adventurers are all about?」

Fran's presence changed at Sibylla's words. A slight hint of hostility begins to mix with her anger.

This isn't good. If Fran and Sibylla were to fight here, the damage to the surrounding area would be enormous. A hint of killing intent has already begun swirling between them.

But it was the flushed, trembling Katley who broke the ice. It wasn't that she wasn't feeling fear. But her anger seemed to outweigh her fear.

「Why are you...! Arbitrarily asking such questions! Arbitrarily pushing your ideal! Can you not arbitrarily crush my dream!? Who are you!? Where did you even come from!?!」

「Eh? No, I...」

「You can't answer that?」

「Aah— well... It's not like we were hiding our identity or anything...」

「You can't even tell your identity? How suspicious. Who in the world are you!?!」

「S-suspicious? W-well you see...」

「Isn't that right!? You went into a dungeon but doesn't even know the adventurers' code! Such a weird person is nothing short of suspicious!」

「...A-ah, well...」

It's a breach of the adventurers' code to ask someone's identity out of the blue, but Sibylla doesn't seem to know that. She flinched at Katley's angry look.

Look who's just like the big sister now, so she can be like this too, huh.

「Besides, Fran-oneesama has saved many people! In the Beastman Country, she once fought for three days and three nights alone against a pack of more than 100,000 magic beasts to help her fellow Black Cat people to escape!」

Huh? Isn't that story getting a little exaggerated?

「When there was a dungeon stampede near Alessa, she single-handedly took on the dungeon boss to save the other fledgling adventurers, and successfully saved the lives of many adventurers!」

Our fight against the demon somehow has become such a moving tale!?

Katley then continued her splendidly exaggerated story about Fran's deed.

It seems that the story gets even more exaggerated from each pass. As a result, the image of Fran that was imprinted on Katley's mind was that she's a strong, kind-hearted, solo black cat adventurer.

「And there's still more to come from Fran-oneesama!」

Chapter 688

TENKEN 688 Sibylla and her Companion's Identity

「And there's still more to come from Fran-oneesama!」

Katley, whose strange switch seemed to have been turned on, speaks further to Sibylla.

「She also played a major role in the royal capital! Together with her comrades, they exposed the conspiracy of the treacherous Kingdom of Raidos there!」

「T-treacherous?」

「Yes! The worst country that has always been plotting to harm our country with its despicable schemes!」

「T-the worst...」

I don't know why, but Sibylla's face tensed from hearing that.

「Did you know that the Kingdom of Raidos built an experimental facility on a floating island and repeatedly conducted terrible human experiments? But I guess the Kingdom of Raidos has been punished by heaven. The floating island has been turned into a dungeon somehow! Fran-oneesama with a fellow adventurer Jean was the one who conquered the floating island dungeon, and freed the miserable spirits!」

「Jean? You mean the Mass Murderer?」

「You know him, don't you? He's a great person who has defeated the ruthless and heartless Kingdom of Raidos many times over!」

「This time it's ruthless and heartless...」

Katley seemed to hate the Kingdom of Raidos quite much, isn't she? There's a lot of bad words coming out of her mouth. Well, someone from the Kingdom of Kranzel would probably feel more or less the same way, but I think she has gone a little too far.

I wonder did Aurel, his son, and daughter-in-law educate her that way?

「Just how many people do you think have suffered because of that country...?」

「T-There are...?」

「Yes! My uncle also lost his life in the incident caused by the conspiracy of the Kingdom of Raidos. He used to play with me when I was little... How unforgivable!」

「...Y-you're right」

「It really is the worst country in the world」

So, one of her relatives died because of the incident caused by the conspiracy of the Kingdom of Raidos, huh? If that's the case, it's understandable that she holds a grudge towards them.

Sibylla raised a small, theatrical laugh, when she heard the Kingdom of Raidos' deeds.

And Biscot, who had been listening in silence until now, somehow showed a stronger reaction than Sibylla.

「R-Raidos is not such a country! It was the greatest country!」

His face turned red as he shouted so.

「...Why are you defending that country?」

Katley's words are surely a natural response for a person from the Kingdom of Kranzel. It was just a straightforward and without sarcasm response.

Biscot on the other hand, from being stared at with her pure eyes, clammed up and unable to speak further.

「Eh? W-well, that was just...」

「Biscot, silence. You see, we've met some people from the Kingdom of Raidos because of our work. We talked to them and they didn't seem like a bad guy」

「...I think we don't have much contact with that country though. Just what kind of business is it that you have to meet with people from the Kingdom of Raidos?」

「W-well, that's what you call trade secrets. And young missy, you can't just lump the people of the Kingdom of Raidos into one, there are also good people, you know?」

「You, who lumped adventurers in the same category, are saying that? There are certainly adventurers who committed crimes, but there are also amazing adventurers like Fran-oneesama」

「W-well...」

Just like the time we met Dianne in the past, I wondered who these two were.

From their behaviour, I'm certain they're not an adventurer.

A mercenary maybe? They certainly share the same hostility toward adventurers, but they shouldn't be too ignorant about adventurers if that were the case.

And rather than Sibylla and Dianne being unfamiliar with adventurers, it was as if seeing one was a rare thing for them.

They may think that they managed to hide it, but they know too little about adventurers. It seemed to me that they even lacked some common sense here.

It would be understandable if they were just a child. But it should be impossible for someone like Sibylla to never had contact with an adventurer before.

That was unless, they were born and raised in a land where there were no adventurers at all. There was no other explanation for this.

So what kind of land is it? A land where there are no adventurers at all, or rather, a land where adventurers are looked down upon and considered enemies.

The only thing I could think of was a major country in the north, the Kingdom of Raidos,

If so, that would also explain Biscot's attitude.

But it raised another question, why would someone from the Kingdom of Raidos be in a place like this?... I know that it's only natural that agents and spies are sent between enemy countries, and there are probably those who have infiltrated Raidos from Kranzel too.

But to be honest, I don't think Sibylla and Biscot are spies. They should be at knights or soldiers in terms of ability, and I don't think they are suited for covert action to begin with.

There is no such thing as a spy who has such a strong presence and is so conspicuous. It would be more understandable if it were said that she was just a tomboy young lady from the Kingdom of Raidos.

Well then, what do we do now?

I feel that we might be able to find out who they are if we were to question them now. But the other side is someone from an enemy country that goes on undercover.

If they thought their true identity had been discovered, they would certainly try to silence us. It would certainly be difficult to deal with both Sibylla and Biscot while protecting Katley.

Besides, even if we were able to get away from this now, there was a possibility that Katley would be targeted in the future. So, the best thing to do would be to pretend not to notice and let this slide for now.

「...S-Sis. Any more of this and we're screwed!」

The other side seemed to be ready to leave as well, so let's just let the water pass the flood gate already.

「...Katley, let's go」

「Eh? Are you sure?」

「Anymore of this is a waste of time」

「If oneesama says so, okay...」

I instructed Fran to give them a way. Then, taking advantage of this, the two ran away from Fran and Katley.

「N-now, if you'd excuse us!」

「Nn」

「F-farewell!」

『Urushi, follow them』

(Woof!)

『Aside from the two, they might have other allies with better detection abilities. So, let's be careful』

It's hard to believe that those two alone managed to travel this far without their identities being discovered, so I'm sure they have more allies here.

『We're counting on you』

(Woof!)

Now, all we have to do is report to Diaz. Well, it might get a little awkward, but he's not the kind of guy who brings his personal feelings into his work——or was it?

W-well, if he won't listen, we'll just turn to Aurel and Elsa.

Chapter 689

TENKEN 689 Katley's Changes

Ten minutes after the Sibylla and Biscot left.

「Haah!」

「Gshaah!」

Katley's sword cracked the Lesser Ogre's head open and took its life.

The Lesser Ogre died with various things dripping from its head. It's a pretty gruesome sight, but Katley is smiling.

「I did it!」

「Nn」

She was so scared of the Lesser Ogre a while ago, but she's ready to go at it from the start now.

It seemed that she had been agitated by all the things Sibylla had said to her. Also, after experiencing Sibylla's intimidation, she didn't seem to care much about the Lesser Ogre's power now.

As a result, she was able to grow rapidly by defeating Lesser Ogres.

The other thing that seemed to have a lot to do with it was her high level of trust in Fran.

It seemed that from telling Sibylla about Fran's exploits, she remembered that Fran was indeed a great adventurer. And she must have suggested to herself that if Fran said it was okay, then she should be okay.

Oh, Fran also tried to correct her about the super amazing story about her. But that didn't go well.

「But still, I wonder what those people were! They're so suspicious! Should I report them to Grandfather or Uncle Diaz when I get back?」

「I'll do it」

「That was of course! If oneesama was the one to tell them, I'm sure they'll believe it! Aah! But what if they've already run away?」

「Urushi is still following them」

「I-I see! As expected of Fran-oneesama」

The conversation between the two continued like this the whole time.

There was hardly any conversation between the two at first, but Katley suddenly became much more expressive. This seemed to be the result of the tension that had been relieved by her ranting to Sibylla.

I thought she might have been pretending all this time, but that doesn't seem to be the case. She's certainly a timid and reserved kid. She's the usually quiet type, but when it comes to her favorite things, she won't stop rambling about it.

And now that she's with her very special person, Fran. It's no wonder she'd be like this.

That's why Fran couldn't really handle her at all. She had tried her best to clear Katley's misunderstanding, however——

「To not brag about her achievements, oneesama is so humble!」

Well, it looks like it'd be hard to clear the misunderstanding.

I thought we could convince her that the story has been exaggerated. But Fran gained a new reputation as a humble person instead.

She looks at Fran with a great deal of respect. If it were me, I'd definitely say something like, "Don't stare at me with those sparkling eyes! I'm gonna melt!" But Fran doesn't seem to mind.

We ended up spending the next hour or so defeating magic beasts and experiencing the thrill of opening treasure chests before turning back to the surface.

「We're done, let's back to the surface」

「I-I see... Thank you very much! I've learned so much today!」

「Nn. But it's too early to thank me. We haven't made it back in one piece」

「I-I see! So, there's still adventure until we made it to the surface too!」

「Nn」

Besides, we're not going back immediately.

「Let's take one last break. You shouldn't push yourself too hard」

「Y-you're right! If we're tired, we might be caught off guard」

「I agree」

Katley looks really happy that Fran agrees with her. Her tail is waving merrily. Looking at her reminded me of Urushi.

「Let's have our dinner here」

「Dinner?」

「Nn. Take out the meat in your bag」

「Y-yes」

Eating in dungeons or in the wild is also one of the most exciting parts of the adventure. But depending on the people, it can be a time for fun or a time of torment.

It's not always a fun time for most fledgling adventurers. After all, if they can't catch anything, they'll often just make off dried meat.

We let Katley roast the rabbit meat she got from the upper floors by herself. But since there was no salt and the meat was handled poorly, it must have been dry and not very tasty.

Still, Katley seemed to be pleased with it. She was surprisingly tough, isn't she? Well, it must have been new for her to cook and eat her own prey that she had hunted herself.

And so, after having Katley enjoy the beginner's dungeon to the fullest, we left the dungeon and returned to Aurel's mansion.

「Oh, you're back!」

「Grandfather! Are you done with your work?」

「Yup」

It was Aurel himself who greeted us.

Well, what can I say, he was probably worried about his granddaughter. He put a smile on his face, which resembled that of a yakuza boss, and patted Katley's head as she ran over to him.

「How was it? You didn't get badly injured, did you?」

Aurel should've known how the dungeons for beginners are built. He must have known that if she were to get caught in a trap, she should be able to escape with just some scratch in there.

But I guess he's more concerned about whether or not she got badly hurt in battle.

「She defeated 3 Lesser Ogres and didn't get hurt」

「Hou? Even in her first fight?」

「Umm... There's something I need say about that」

「Looks like something has happened, huh?」

「Katley did her best. I can guarantee you of that. It's just that we met some suspicious people in there」

「Suspicious people?」

As expected, there's no way we could say in front of Katley that Sibylla and her companion might be spies for the Kingdom of Raidos.

Fran's quick glance at Katley should have given him an idea. Aurel then asked to change the places and left Katley to the maid.

「So, what happened?」

「We met some people who might be from the Kingdom of Raidos」

「What!? Raidos you said?」

「Nn」

「But you don't have any clear evidence, do you?」

「Yes. But they were really suspicious people」

Chapter 690

TENKEN 690 Side: A Certain Group of Three 3

「Sibylla-sama... Didn't I ask you not to cause any trouble?」

「Well, sorry」

「I heard from Biscot that you get into some quarrels in the dungeon, and to top it off, you even had an argument with the Black Thunder Princess!」

「But Sis and I didn't lay our hands on them, you know?」

「That was of course! If you had done that we'd be hunted down by now!」

「Y-yeah」

「Uhh...」

「Sibylla-sama? What's the matter? Are you even sorry for what you've done?」

「What do you even think of me!... W-well, nothing in particular. I'm just thinking about our country's reputation」

「Oh, Biscot said that there's a kid that says bad things about our country?」

「The kid says our country was ruthless, heartless, and——」

「The worst of the worst」

「Yeah, that one. The one who keeps messing with the Kingdom of Kranzel is just the Southern and Eastern Duke, isn't it? But thanks to them, they think our country is just like them」

「Because of the way our country was established, each of the five regions, east, west, north, south and center, has its own uniqueness... We may tend to think that what each region is doing is the responsibility of the people of that region and has nothing to do with the other region. We were not that interested in what the other dukes were doing abroad too」

「But it doesn't seem to matter to the people of Kranzel. They will think that what the Southern and Eastern Dukes are doing is the will of the entire Kingdom of Raidos」

「And the result is the reputation of being the worst country in the world」

「Yeah」

「But is the girl's story for real? I knew that the Southern and Eastern Dukes were hostile to Kranzel, but...」

「Well... I'm quite sure they really did that though」

「A conspiracy, huh...? The Southern and Eastern Dukes does smell fishy. They certainly had hard feelings towards Kranzel, so it wouldn't be surprising if they were doing something to Kranzel」

「What about the Western Duke, Clicker? Your parents' house is over there, have you heard anything about the Eastern Duke?」

「Well... I don't know. It's not without possibility, but he won't do anything that is not in his interest. Besides, it would be difficult for him to conspire against Kranzel while dealing with the Kingdom of Phillias and the Sea Kingdom of Sydran at the same time」

「I guess so. We're talking about that greedy Duke after all...」

「What about the North? To be honest, I don't know much about that region」

「It's the place with the strongest sense of independence in our country after all. The Northern Knights could take care most of the problems in its territory, so the Red Knights will hardly be needed. But the north is out of this I think」

「Well, yeah. The Northern Duke has a warrior's temperament, he doesn't like to do things the complicated way. If there is a hostile party, he will raise an army and fight them head-on」

「I see」

「What about the capital? Is it even possible that we're not hearing anything about it?」

「Yeah... What's happening, Clicker?」

「If he's really up to something, wouldn't the Prime Minister have brought some information to us as well?」

「I see. And I don't think the current royal palace has that much power」

「Therefore, I guess it's the pigs in the south and the lunatics in the east who are doing all these things」

「I agree. Well, let's discuss how to deal with the dukes when we get back to our country. However, I asked you to keep quiet today, didn't I? Why did you go to the dungeon?」

「W-well, how to put it, Sis said we should go check the dungeon...」

「Sibylla-sama?」

「I just thought it would be a good idea to see what an adventurer is capable of. I heard there's a dungeon that you can enter even if you're not an adventurer」

「There was nothing to be gained by going there, was there? I heard that it was just a dungeon full of beginners」

「It's not like that. I just thought that if we didn't know more about adventurers, our country might get hurt at some point in the future」

「Well, thanks for your concern. However, I think we should end our investigation in this town. I will make arrangements to leave the city as soon as possible. Is that all right with you?」

「No, not yet」

「Why is it? There's a good chance that Sibylla-sama and Biscot had already been eyed by the adventurers of this town, you know?」

「You think they are watching us?」

「I haven't confirmed it, but there's a hint that they're watching us. It seems they're using a magic beast to keep an eye on us... I didn't know what kind of magic beast it is, but the only thing I know is that it's most likely using dark attribute magic to conceal itself」

「Oi oi, for the captain of the scout unit, Clicker, to cannot detect it... Is there someone who can employ such a magic beast in this town?」

「They should be an adventurer. I hadn't gathered much information about the dungeon, but I had experienced their diversity and uniqueness. I also learned that to truly understand them, you can't just look at them from their surfaces」

「B-but until now—」

「This is the order from the leader of the Red Sword Knights. We will remain in this town and continue our investigation on the adventurers. Our true identity hasn't been completely exposed yet. I'm sure we can work something out」

「Work something out? This is too dangerous. What will we do if our true identities are exposed?」

「We'll force our way through when it comes to that point」

「Haah-, as I thought... Then, let's prepare for the worst」

「Sorry about that」

「So, when you say investigation, what exactly are you planning to do? You must have come up with something, right?」

「Of course, the best way to understand someone is to fight them」

「We'll be on the wanted list if you do that, you know?」

「We won't. There'll be a place where you can legally fight adventurers soon, right?」

「A-are you planning to participate in a martial arts tournament by any chance? I've already told you that it's dangerous though」

「It's not every day you get the chance to go up against a high-ranking adventurer. It's decided. Biscot will enter the tournament with me, and Clicker will support us」

「Huh?」

「Understood」

「Are you sure? This is a mission where the future of the Kingdom of Raidos is at stake, remember?」

「Is an adventurer really that much of a thing?」

「I don't know. That's why we have to know them」

「...What about the red seal?」

「We're not going to use it in the tournament. If we show it to them, they'll know who we are. I've used it before to stop Kranzel's counter-invasion. But we might have to use it to escape, so just be prepared」

「I understand」

「Sis. Are you serious that I'm going to participate too?」

「Yeah. Neither of us knew what they really are. The Kingdom of Raidos has distorted our view on them too much after all」

「D-distorted...」

「Patriotism is not the same as blindly looking down on an enemy country. Well, I was just saying it out loud, but I wasn't really practicing it either...」

「Sis...」

「This is not about winning or losing. We're going to fight like hell to understand what adventurers are. Okay?」

「Got it」

「What about the one who has been keeping its eyes on us?」

「Can you get rid of it?」

「If only getting rid of it, but... It might be difficult to even catch it」

「Let's leave it then. They'll send someone else to watch us anyway. They won't know that we're aware of the surveillance by doing so」

「I understand」

「Well, it looks like we're still on track to fulfill our original mission from the Prime Minister」

「Confirming the whereabouts and abilities of the S-Ranked adventurer, was it?」

「Yeah. A while ago, I was informed that someone from the Southern Duke's men had confirmed it... They should be here to watch the martial arts tournament」

「It seems that the adventurer is not the same as the one reported by the Southern Duke's men, but there's no doubt that an S-Ranked adventurer is coming」

「All right then. We'll see what they're capable of, and if we can, we'll measure their loyalty to Kranzel. It would be nice if we could go at them, but just being able to observe them up close will be enough for now」

Chapter 691

TENKEN 691 The Surveillance Continues

After dropping Katley off at the mansion, we came to the Adventurer's Guild. Naturally, we wanted to report about Sibylla and her companion.

The adventurers were noisy when we entered the guild.

Well, Fran is like a celebrity in this city after all.

The adventurers don't take the bard's stories as seriously as Katley does, and many of them remember her performance in last year's martial arts tournament.

In fact, when we walked around the town and other places, Fran was sometimes looked at with admiration even by those who were not a beastman.

「Ara? If it isn't Fran-chan!」

「Elsa」

The person who greeted Fran was Elsa, a B-Ranked adventurer.

「Long time no see!」

「Nn. It's been a while」

She's as fierce as ever. I thought I'd gotten used to her from the last martial arts tournament, but I'm still amazed when I see her after a long time.

A muscular afro onee-san comes up to Fran with her ballerina-like footwork. Contrary to my desire to run away, Fran greets her with a smile.

「Are you going to participate in the tournament again this year?」

「Of course」

「That's great to hear! After all, it's unlikely that last year's first and second place winners will be able to compete this year」

「Is that so?」

Elsa's words were met with a disappointed response from Fran.

「Well, they're an adventurer, they can't help but give priority to requests... So, I'm glad Fran came」

Amanda has to keep a check on the Kingdom of Raidos, and Forrund is still in the Royal Capital, or maybe they were carrying out some kind of request against Raidos?

Could this be our chance to win first place? Fran will be disappointed, but our main rival has decreased in numbers.

This year, the Beast Kings wouldn't be here, and the A-Ranked adventurers who fought so hard last year might not participate. Then, it was unlikely that there would be anyone stronger than Fran.

As for potential rivals, would it be Colbert and Fermus? They are definitely strong opponents, but Fran has already defeated them. A year has passed since then, and Frans has grown even more, so there is a good chance that she will be able to beat them this time too.

Well, I don't know if Fermus is going to participate or not though. I believe last year he said that he had no choice but to participate because Diaz asked him to.

Also, the strongest ones we've encountered since coming to this city would be Diaz and Sibylla. However, Diaz is a guild master and Sibylla is (presumably) a spy for Raidos.

「What do you want with the guild today? Or did you come just to see me?」

「It's not」

「I-I see...」

「I have something to report to Diaz. I was going to go see Elsa later」

「Ara! I see!」

Fran has become a bad girl! She's now capable of using an advanced technique of dropping then raising one's mood. Well, Elsa is wriggling her body with a look of delight on her face though.

「Guild master is upstairs. But he's been acting weird since yesterday」

Well, I'm pretty sure this is our fault.

「...Was he angry?」

Fran asked fearfully, but Elsa shook her head with a wry smile.

「I don't think he's angry. It's just that he's kind of absent-minded. He hasn't gotten any work done at all. And yet, he's been wandering around his room making strange growling noises like a caged animal」

「I see」

He certainly didn't seem to be angry, but it was clear that he had something on his mind.

「Could it be, guild master's weird behavior has something to do with Fran-chan?」

「Nn」

「I See... Well, let me ask him if he'll meet you for now」

「I'm counting on you」

「Don't worry, I'll do anything if it's for Fran-chan! Anything! Even if guild master says no, I'll definitely bring him to meet you!」

「Don't force Diaz if he doesn't want to」

「Ara? You sure?」

「Nn」

A few minutes then passed after the exchange.

We're now walking on the stairs to Diaz's room. I thought he'd refuse to meet us, but to my surprise, he casually invited us.

When Fran entered the room, she was greeted by Diaz, who had a somewhat distressed expression on his face.

He used to be an old man who looked young and stylish for his age, but now he looks older than his age. He seemed to be very tired after just a single night.

「Can I really see you?」

「I'm just a little lost, but I hear you have something to report to me?」

「Nn」

「If this is a continuation of yesterday's story, I'd say that I need more time... But this time is just a report, isn't it? It means that you have something completely different to report, don't you?」

The guild master could not ignore the report from the high-ranking adventurer it seemed.

I think I need to apologize for thinking that he's the type to bring his personal feelings into work. Well, he certainly do his job well, but he did bring his personal feelings into works though.

「Shall I leave?」

「It's fine」

After hearing the report, the hand that Diaz will move will probably be Elsa. If so, it would be better for her to listen too, so that we would not have to do it twice.

「Yesterday, I met a suspicious people in the west dungeon」

「Suspicious people? How suspicious are they?」

「Nn——」

Fran then tells them everything we know about Sibylla and her companion.

The fact that we first met them in Barbra but now they're in Ulmut. The matter about how they're too ignorant about adventurers even though they looked like very skilled adventurers. And how unsettled they were at the mention of the Kingdom of Raidos's deed.

「...They could be a spy for the Kingdom of Raidos」

「I see... This is certainly a vexing situation. Fran, are you aware of their whereabouts?」

「They're staying at the inn near the town entrance」

Urushi has come back to report once we had left the dungeon.

「I see. I'll have someone check them out as soon as possible」

「Urushi is still watching them now. If they tried to escape, he should notify us」

「Much appreciated」

「Are we gonna catch them?」

「Hmm... That may be difficult. We'll easily catch them if they're just a small fry, but from your story, they must be quite strong, right?」

「Nn」

「...I also don't want to mess with them and cause damage to the town. Besides, now is not the right time. If something happens now, it might affect the martial arts tournament, right? For the prestige of the guild, we want to prevent that from happening」

「So what are we gonna do? Just keep an eye on them?」

「Well, yes, for now. We'll capture them after the tournament. Until then, we'll only keep an eye on them. You'll be helping us too, right?」

「Nn. Of course」

Fran nodded enthusiastically at Diaz's words. After all, this might be a chance to fight Sibylla and her companion. There was no way Fran would refuse.

Chapter 692

TENKEN 692 Making a Bet with Diaz

Fran had been busy since the day after accomplishing the request to take Katley to the dungeon.

As a famous person, she has received many invitations and requests.

Even though the guild would have to turn down any contact from nobles, there were some requests that could not be refused and some that Fran would want to accept.

The request that she couldn't refuse was the invitation from Elsa. It was not an invitation for a meal or a chat, but an inquiry about the effect of her serum.

Cosmetic products and fashion are things that Fran is not interested in at all. She even thought that it was a hassle to apply it to her skin at night for some reason. Though we got it for free from Elsa, she only uses it because I was so insistent on her applying it.

Well, there was no way this Fran could give a decent answer though. The only thing that would come out of her mouth was 「I don't know」 or 「It's troublesome」, and Elsa couldn't help but laugh.

Previously, she has also given her serum for free to some female students at the academy of magic. She apologized to Elsa, but she just laughed and forgave her. She was rather pleased to hear that they were so popular.

Moreover, she gave her another large amount of serum when we parted, she was seriously too nice to her.

She must think that she didn't hate it as much as she said she did, because she used it so much that it was all gone. It pains me that it's like we're deceiving Elsa though...

I think I could let Elsa know about me, but I don't think this is the right time.

Fran thanked her with a wry expression on her face as she accepted the serum.

Well, Fran refused it at first, but Elsa looked so sad that she felt compelled to accept it. To be able to make this Fran feel guilty, what a fearsome person.

I hope I can repay her someday.

And the request that Fran was happy with was the request for tasting new dishes that had been sent out by chefs and restaurants.

Riding the wave of the curry boom that had come to Ulmut in full force, many chefs were experimenting with curry dishes and trying to perfect them. They were probably preparing for the martial arts tournament.

Curry dishes were already well known when we were here before, but an unprecedented boom happened this time. It seems like all the restaurants are serving curry dishes now.

Then Fran, the disciple of the curry master who created curry, appeared.

It seems that along with the craze for curry, the information about Fran was also passed on to the chefs in Ulmut, and a number of requests for tastings were made to Fran.

There was only one at the beginning. But as a result of the chef's tearful improvements in response to Fran's harsh opinions, their curry dish became significantly more delicious.

The word spread quickly, and a large number of tasting requests were sent out to Fran.

Eat curry, give a few opinions, and get paid good money. It's the best request an adventurer could ask for.

Moreover, as a B-ranked adventurer, the people who wanted to make requests to Fran were all from famous restaurants that made a good amount of money. Since they were all competent cooks, there were very few bad dishes.

Well, there were some dishes that were a bit too challenging for Fran's taste though.

However, it was not without its problems.

The chefs had started to secretly call Fran as the 「Curry Princess」 or 「Spice Princess」. It seems that her nickname has become the Black Lightning Princess of the Disciple of the Curry Master now...

What I was afraid of was that Fran might like that alias. What would happen if she started calling herself the Curry Princess when she had such a cool alias as Black Lightning Princess?

I have to prevent that from happening.

The cooks seemed to understand that this nickname was not preferred by adventurers, and fortunately, they did not call her that to her face.

From time to time, there are those who almost call her Curry Princess by accident, but when that happen, I used telekinesis to physically cover their mouths.

Well, I know it sounds a bit harsh when I put it like that, but all I've done was just shut their mouth with my telekinesis and temporarily prevent them from talking, okay?

That's how hard I worked for the past few days.

And now, there was a messenger from the adventurer's guild at the inn where we were staying. They told us that Diaz wants to talk to us.

『I wonder what he's going to talk about?』

「Nn」

Would it be about Sibylla, who are suspected as spies for the Kingdom of Raidos?

The guild had asked the adventurers not to make any direct contact with them so as not to provoke them. Therefore, we have not approached Sibylla and her companion at all. We just left the monitoring to Urushi.

If so, they must have made some kind of move then.

Or has Dimitris arrived in Ulmut? We had asked him to introduce us after all.

He seems to be a rather difficult person to deal with, but with an introduction from the guild master, maybe he'll at least listen to us. Well, maybe, that is.

But to my surprise, what Diaz want to talk about were something about neither of those things.

「I need to talk about Zelos Reed」

「...Okay」

Fran's expression tightens in front of Diaz's serious face. Now, what kind of talk will it be?

It was impossible to tell what he'd say from Diaz's expressionless face.

「...Fran, in our conversation the other day, you said that you had Zelos Reed life in your hands, right?」

「Nn」

I think what Diaz is referring to is when Zelos Reed gives his life to her in exchange for her to take Romio to Barbra's orphanage when he dies. Such is her promise with him.

But to be honest, I don't think it would be a fair deal to take his life when Zelos Reed is not dead and Romio and he are being sheltered by the academy of magic.

Fran too, would not be as unreasonable to use that promise to ask for anything from Zelos Reed now. However, such a promise was certainly made between Fran and Zelos Reed.

I'm also sure that Fran had explained to Diaz how she let Zelos Reed go and told him of her promise. Fran may not have been aware of her own feelings, but she knew that Zelos Reed life was in her hands, so she would not do anything unnecessary.

But Diaz was certainly aware of his feelings. I'm sure that's why Diaz mentioned it to us.

「Let's make a bet. I'll give up on the idea of getting my revenge if you win. I can't erase this grudge, but I'll carry it with me to my grave. I'll never touch Zelos Reed. In exchange, if I win, you will tell me where Zelos Reed is. What do you say?」

Diaz was smiling as he said so, but to me, it seemed like an expression of anguish. I don't know why I felt that way myself...

「...What's the detail of the bet」

「How about Fran and I fight in the upcoming martial arts tournament, and the winner wins the bet?」

「Diaz is participating?」

「I mean, there's nothing in the rules that says a guild master can't participate, right?」

『But we don't know if Diaz and Fran will be matched up against each other for sure, do we?』

Or would the guild master's authority allow for such a thing? That's what I thought, but it turned out to be wrong.

「I can't do anything about it, because the order of the matches is decided randomly in the final round. So, if one of us loses in the middle of the tournament and the matchup itself doesn't happen, you win the bet, deal?」

「You sure?」

「Yeah. When that happens, I will just give up and think that it is destined to happen」

It's a very favorable bet for us. Is that how confident he is? Or does he already know that he's going to lose? I don't know which.

If Diaz was serious about finding Zelos Reed, it actually wouldn't be difficult for him to find Zelos Reed. If he searched the Adventurer's Guild's record, he could easily find out where Fran had travelled.

Instead of doing that, why bother making a bet with us...?

『What if we don't accept that bet?』

「If that's the case, I'll go find Zelos Reed on my own」

「...Okay, I'll accept that bet」

『Fran, are you sure?』

「Nn. I know how Diaz feels. It must be tough to be stuck in such a state」

Fran showed an expression that looked somewhat concerned for Diaz. Diaz then bowed deeply to Fran.

「Thanks. I appreciate it」

Diaz's face looked somewhat relieved as he smiled at us.

Dimitris

Translated by Tods

Edited by NotEdited

Just a few days before the martial arts tournament was to be held.

We were now in the Adventurer's Guild. This time, our purpose was not to see Diaz nor the strangely tired-looking Colbert that stood beside the couch, but the slender old man sitting on it.

「Well done for coming here」

Though he said that, there was not even a hint of affectionate expression on his face. He was just simply looking at Fran with a sharp stare.

Appearance-wise, he looked like a skinny old man with a slightly scary face.

I guess it must be because he has slant eyes in the first place, so just by being narrowed, it made him look as if he were staring at us.

His hair had turned white with age, but was still very lush. His hair, which could have been a bob if unraveled, was gathered into a short topknot at the back of his head. He had a magnificent mustache and beard, which gave the appearance of a hermit.

Well, his presence was so tremendous that one would hardly think of him as a hermit though.

Since he was sitting, I couldn't exactly tell how tall he was, but I'd say he was a little over 170cm tall.

His skin, which had lost much of its moisture due to old age and had begun to wrinkle, looked like the surface skin of a tree.

However, I could see that there were well-developed muscles underneath that skin. His muscles were similar to that of an athlete. I could tell that he was still continuing his training.

He was wearing a loose-fitting robe that looked like a kimono with black embroidery on a purple base. Even through such a robe, I could clearly see the strength of his body.

Then Colbert steps forward and opens his mouth.

「Master——」

「I'm not your Master anymore」

「...Dimitris-sama, Hilt-ojousan, this girl is Fran, the girl who defeated me」

「Umu」

「Hmph」

Well, you've guessed it right. The old man in front of us was the S-Ranked adventurer, Dimitris the Immovable.

Just by observing the current exchange, I can understand that he's not a straightforward person.

And there was another woman with a serious face that seemed to be acting as a guard standing on the other side of the couch from Colbert.

Colbert called her "Ojousan", didn't he? I wonder what kind of relationship they had. She looked quite strong too, on par with Colbert perhaps. She's been looking at Fran with an evaluating eye for a while now.

Well, Dimitris is our priority right now.

「I'm Fran, a B-ranked adventurer. Nice to meet you」

Said Fran while bowing her head slightly.

Fran greeted him with an unusually formal greeting. It may have been because the other party was related to the request, but she probably understood the strength of the other party just by facing him.

I could tell by the tone of her voice that she was being respectful.

The old man then gave a silent nod to Fran.

「I'm Dimitris, an S-Ranked adventurer」

At first glance, the old man sitting on the couch with his arms crossed seemed to be full of openings. But Fran knew that if she were to attack, she would surely be met with a painful counterattack.

He showed such a strong presence that could make us clearly understand that.

It was probably on purpose. It seemed that he was trying to prevent unnecessary conflicts by showing his strength to a degree that could be clearly understood by those who were capable of fighting.

He wouldn't take his opponent so seriously if they were so weak that they cannot sense such presence because he can simply kill dozens of them in an instant if they try to mess with him.

From what I've heard, Dimitris is also a bit of a battle junkie. So, he probably would be more than happy to take care of those who still tried to mess with him.

I was wondering what kind of eccentric old man he would be after hearing so much about him from Colbert, but he is somewhat better than I imagined. I was somewhat expecting that he would attack us upon our meeting.

But I was not expecting him to agree to meet us so easily in the first place.

However, while Dimitris was not as aggressive as I thought he would be, Hilt was glaring at us for some reason.

Well, rather than glaring at us, it's more like she's in a bad mood and had no choice but to glare at us... Anyway, the atmosphere was not so friendly right now.

Fran also unconsciously turned her gaze from Dimitris to Hilt.

「My name is Hiltoria. Dimitris-style master and an A-Ranked adventurer」

I knew she was strong, but who could guess that she's an A ranker!? She must be one of Dimitris' direct disciples then. It must also mean that she had passed the ordeal that Colbert was undergoing.

「I'm also the legitimate granddaughter and the heir of grandfather Dimitris. Nice to meet you」

Though Hilt said “Nice to meet you”, her face didn't seem to mean it at all.

She was a tall, beautiful woman with dark green hair pulled up in a side pony. She was dressed in the same purple base color as Dimitris, but her's were smaller and clearly showed the lines of her body.

Her top was a tube top with short sleeves that exposed her belly button. Her bottom is a kind of pants that looks somewhere between spats and shorts. And the protective gear to protect her legs looks like knee-high socks.

At first glance, all of them seemed to be made of thin cloth armor, but in reality, they were high-end armor made of magic beast material. The reason for their small size was probably because they were designed for ease of movement.

It's obvious that she's a fighter. I don't even need to appraise her to know that. And it's not because I observed her center of gravity or the way she move or anything.

But the knuckle duster in her hands was glinting with a swarthy light. It probably used to be silver in color, but now it had turned reddish-black. It must have been used for so many years that the blood could not be removed anymore. That showed how much she uses that knuckle duster as her main weapon.

Fran and Hilt then stared at each other. It looks like this is not going to end peacefully.

Hilt and Colbert

Translated by Tods

Edited by NotEdited

Hilt, who had been staring at Fran for a few seconds, then muttered something in a small voice.

「...I see」

I wonder what she means by that? Fran tilted her head in confusion for not understanding the meaning of her words.

「I see, it's no wonder Colbert lost to her. I wonder how can she be this strong at this young age...」

So that's what she wants to say, huh? Hilt and Colbert, who obviously had a relation with Dimitris, must have been an acquaintance before. Maybe they were fellow students or something. If that's the case, then Fran was the one who caused her friend to be excommunicated.

So, I suppose, it was not surprising that she'll be somewhat thinking ill of Fran because of that. It's not something that she could simply ignore after all.

I also somewhat understood the meaning of her stare before. Even though she knew in her rational mind that Fran was not at fault, she must have mixed feelings when she saw her in front of her.

「You're friends with Colbert?」

「Rather than a friend... that Colbert there is my ex-fiance. Well, the talk got dropped when he was excommunicated though」

「Ojousan. I was just one of the fiance candidates」

There seemed to be several potential fiances for her, and the one who seemed to be the most suitable is going to officially become Hilt's groom.

And as the heir to the Dimitris-Style school, the groom must be a suitable man to assist her. Naturally, the excommunicated Colbert was eliminated as a candidate.

「Besides, Charlie, the last candidate left, is a stronger and better man than I am. He's also close to your age, I think he'll be a good match for you」

「You think so? Well, you might be right」

From their exchange, they may have not been as simple as just friends, aren't they?

When Colbert replied in a light tone, Hilt responded in the same light tone and shrugged her shoulders. However, her expression was clearly dejected.

Could it be, Hilt has a feeling for Colbert...? Is Colbert unaware of this?

Now that I think of it, Colbert was being somewhat nicer to Io-san lately...

「Is Hilt going to participate in the martial arts tournament to avenge Colbert?」

「I have no interest in being a spectacle」

「...I see」

I was relieved to know that Hilt is not going to participate, but Fran seemed to be somewhat disappointed, Hilt looks strong after all.

But rather than that, our priority is Dimitris now.

『Fran, don't forget why we came here』

「Nn...」

My words must have reminded her of the request. Fran then turned to Dimitris.

「This man tells me that you want to see me, but what do you want?」

「Nn. This is from the Kingdom of Belios」

「Hou?」

She took out the leather bag we had been keeping to give to Dimitris and put it on the table.

「They said they wanted to hire you as one of the adventurers they were sending to Gordisia. There should be a letter in it」

「Fumu, I see」

Dimitris then opens the bag and takes out an envelope, which he opens on the spot. Dimitris nodded several times as he looked at the letter that was inside it.

Now, the request is fulfilled. The rest of the story is up to the Kingdom of Belios' letter and Dimitris.

Unlike my prior expectations, we were able to accomplish the request quite easily.

But things don't seem to simply end here.

「So, will you take on their request?」

Fran asked so to Dimitris. Actually, the Kingdom of Belios has offered to pay us a bonus if she could convince Dimitris.

「Well, it's going to be a boring job without Weena Rhyn. I think I might refuse」

「Can you please do something about it」

「Fumu...」

Demetrius pondered a little at Fran's rather blunt words.

He then glanced at his granddaughter, Hilt.

「...Then how about this? Black Thunder Princess, you're going to participate in the martial arts tournament, aren't you?」

「Nn, of course」

「Then, I will go to Belios if you can defeat Hilt in this martial arts tournament. What do you think?」

「That's exactly what I want!」

The old man makes an interesting proposal without even putting a smile on his face. Of course, Fran is motivated about this. But rather than being motivated by the bonus she'll receive, she seemed to be motivated for getting a chance to have a match with Hilt.

However, in contrast to Fran, Hilt seemed to be a bit confused.

「Wha, grandfather?」

「And Hilt. If you defeat the Black Thunder Princess, I will retire and give up my position as the head of the school」

「That's—...!」

「Hmm. I had a wife and a child. I'm not made of wood and stone, you know? Did you think I never think of them?」

「...So, in other words, if I become the head of the family, I can freely choose my groom?」

「As the head of the family, you can do whatever you want. Don't worry about this old grandpa. You may close the dojo too if you wish」

「I understand. Though I say I don't like to be a spectacle, with that much reward, there's no way I'd refuse」

This time it wasn't just a staring contest between Fran and Hilt.

They are throwing their fighting spirit at each other.

I could hear a commotion downstairs. The adventurers in the guild must have sensed the sudden burst of hostility.

「Grandfather, what would happen if one of us got defeated before we even meet」

「In that case, the one with the higher ranking wins」

「Understood」

「Nn」

Neither of them asked what would happen if they lost the first match and the standings were the same. I guess they are planning to win the tournament in the first place. They probably didn't think that they would be the first to lose.

But still, I wonder why there is always an unexpected situation like this in every martial arts tournament. The last time we made a bet with the Beast King, but this time we made bet with Diaz and Dimitris.

「U-umm...」

The only one who looked like he was in trouble is Colbert. I feel sorry for him. I'm afraid his future may depend on Fran's victory.

Chapter 695

Nilfe

Translated by Tods

Edited by NotEdited

The martial arts tournament has finally begun. However, Fran is in the seeded bracket this time, so she won't be participating in the qualifying round.

Well, Fran said she wanted to participate in the qualifier, but as expected, Diaz and the others won't let her. They asked her to be patient for the sake of the other participants in the qualifying round, so she gave up this time.

『Fran, over there』

「? The seats are over there」

『Fran may cause a commotion if she were to sit on the regular seats. I'm sure the special seats for officials won't draw that much attention, so let's watch from there』

「Okay」

Today, we came to watch the qualifying round. I don't know if there will be any strong opponents, but we simply have nothing else to do for today.

Holding the food from the stall in both hands, she walked towards the special seats. On the way, we spotted a familiar face.

Fran then calls out to the girls walking in front of her.

「Katley」

「Onesama!」

It was Katley, the aspiring adventurer who adored Fran. She was walking in the same direction, accompanied by a man who seemed to be their escort.

「Did onesama also come to watch the martial arts tournament?」

「Nn, you too?」

Katley looked happy, but beside her was a little girl who looked up at Fran anxiously. She squeezed Katley's hand and gripped her skirt with her other hand.

「Who?」

「Her name is Nilfe. She's Dimitris-sama's granddaughter」

「I-I'm Nilfe...」

Nilfe muttered his name in a very low voice.

Dimitris' granddaughter? So, she's Hilt's sister? Her green hair certainly looks like hers. But I didn't feel the same presence as hers. She seems to be a shy and weak girl. Other than the color of her hair, she had nothing in common with Hilt.

「And that's Michael-san. He's Nilfe's bodyguard」

「Nice to meet you」

A bald, fine-looking macho man standing behind Katley and Nilfe bowed his head lightly. He's got a pretty good face. He seems to be Dimitris' disciple.

「Grandfather asked me to show her around. He said if I was going to be an adventurer, I had to be able to escort her」

For Aurel to leave the role of guiding Nilfe around to Katley, he seems to have fully approved of Katley becoming an adventurer. Well, getting to know someone of her age is certainly a good experience too, I guess. But Fran seemed to be bothered by Kaley's words.

「I see. If that's the case, your current introduction is no good」

「Eh?」

「Even if it's not a formal request, if you've accepted the job as an adventurer, you shouldn't give out any information about your client or escort. Even to acquaintances」

It seems that Fran's mentoring has not ended with the completion of the previous request. Well, she's her first kouhai (junior) after all, she's willing to give her an advice or two.

Katley, whose carelessness was pointed out by Fran, immediately realized her mistake.

「...You're right... I'm sorry Nilfe」

She bowed deeply to Nilfe, with the look of a newbie adventurer who screwed up a request.

I think it's not something that she should be so upset about, but Katley seemed to have taken it very seriously. The other reason was probably because of her respect for Fran.

「Nilfe is the granddaughter of a famous person. The more reason you should be careful」

「You're certainly right...」

「U-umm, I don't really mind...」

Nilfe shakes her head in frustration as Katley apologizes. She looks young, but she seems to have understood what we were saying.

「Did you come here to see the qualifying round?」

「Y-yes..」

Fran was not asking Katley this time, but Nilfe. It seems that she could tell that Katley adored Fran and was interested in her.

「Let's go together then」

「Yes...」

As we walked, Katley talked to Nilfe about Fran.

She's telling the overly exaggerated story of Fran again though. It's a little better now that Fran had corrected her a little, but it's still a bit exaggerated.

Fran is so indifferent about it that she hardly ever comments on it.

Nilfe's expression changed as she listened to Katley's passionate talk about Fran. She clearly has developed some respect for Fran.

Katley's story sounds like something that comes out of fiction no matter how much I think about it, however...

「T-that's amazing」

Nilfe, who trusts Katley, doesn't seem to think that her words are a lie or an exaggeration. Well, she's still young after all.

Her small body trembled as she listened excitedly to Katley's story.

「That's so cool」

「Right? Fran-oneesama is amazing」

「Yes」

The gleam in her eyes is exactly the same as that of Katley looking at Fran. This could be the birth of a new child who respects Fran.

Even after arriving at the special seat, Katley's praise of Fran didn't stop. Maybe in Nilfe's mind now, Fran is as big a hero as Dimitris.

「What have you been up to lately?」

「I'm training every day to become an adventurer. The rest of the time, I do chores in the city」

I heard that in Ulmut, there are jobs that one can take as an apprentice even if they are not registered as an adventurer. I guess it's just something for newbies. And because of the martial arts tournament, there are plenty of chores that need to be done, so there are a lot of jobs posted around this time of year.

This apprenticeship was not only a great way to earn money, but also a way to hear various rumors, which Katley seemed to enjoy very much.

Especially at this time of year when rumors from all over the country are flying around.

「I heard that the appearance rate of undead is increasing around Ulmut」

「The reason is still unknown. However, since many travelers are coming here at this time of the year, many of them die around Ulmut. The merchant who told me the story said that the corpses of such unfortunate travelers might turn into undead」

「I see」

「Also, there are a lot of mercenaries coming in as guards for those travelers, so there have been more fights recently」

「Between adventurers and mercenaries?」

「It's also happening among the mercenaries. There are also more pickpockets and swindlers, so grandfather is busy all the time」

The festive atmosphere must have attracted bad people as well.

The Qualifying Round

Translated by Tods

Edited by NotEdited

The first round of the qualifying round of the martial arts tournament was a battle royal this year as well.

Each round consists of five or six participants, and the one who survives moves on to the next round. It's exactly the same as last year.

The fights between the small fry were boring, but there were also some talented people in the mix. Other matches in which people we knew were participating were also worth watching in their own right.

The Scarlet Maidens, a party of three girls who worked for us at Barbra, participate this year too.

They've improved their abilities quite a bit since last year. They must have trained hard.

They were still unable to advance past this year's qualifying round though.

Well, the girls are the type that put more emphasis on coordination than individual combat power after all. Moreover, they are a party that excels at fighting in dungeons and outdoors.

But before that, Maia, the thief, and Lydia, the sorceress, were not suited for a martial arts tournament. In the end, as the most skilled, they were all targeted by the other participant, and they ended up losing.

As for Judith, their leader and a swordswoman, she had a bad opponent.

She fought against one of Dimitris' disciples. Even though he was still a disciple in training, he was probably equivalent to a C-Ranked adventurer in terms of ability.

It seems that he is one of the people that are under Hilt's supervision.

Colbert told us about the Dimitris school, and it seems that it is mostly Hilt's role to instruct the disciples.

It also seemed that Dimitris has always been putting his own training first, and is not that concerned about preserving the Dimitris style that he created.

Still, he has disciples and dojos all over the country because there is no end to the number of people who want to become his disciple.

At first, the adventurers who admired Dimitris were simply learning the basics of fighting in between their activities.

Before long, Dimitris himself became somewhat interested in raising disciples, and the number of disciples in his school increased, until it became a large dojo with more than a hundred disciples in total.

That certainly sounds like a lot of disciples for someone who was just starting out, but I also heard that his training was extremely strict and many were quitting because of it.

Well, with his status as an S-Ranked adventurer, it wasn't hard for him to eventually get thousands of disciples.

If the disciples were able to continue their training without failing and become top disciples, they would be allowed to be trained by Dimitris in person. However, it is also said that many of the disciples are disheartened by his insane Spartan training.

In such an environment, Colbert and Hilt were among those who remained.

And even though Colbert was quite capable, he was treated as just a top disciple, not a master.

Hilt and the other masters who had passed the ordeal must be highly capable.

It is even said that there have only been three masters since the ordeal to become a master was introduced.

Well, the ordeal was to become an A-Ranked adventurer while sealing their own abilities after all. I doubt many of them will be able to achieve that.

「Onesama, do you know the person who just lost?」

「Nn. She's an adventurer from Barbra」

Fran also seemed to be rooting for Judith. When she lost, she unconsciously uttered an 「Ah—」, and Katley didn't miss it.

「Is that so? That's too bad」

「...I'm sorry」

「Why would Nilfe apologize?」

「Because her opponent is grandfather's disciple...」

Nilfe bowed her head, looking like she was about to cry, but Fran stopped her.

「Nilfe has nothing to do with this. It is their problem alone」

「Is that, so?」

「Nn」

「...Thank you very much」

「?」

Seemed relieved, Nilfe smiled at her. Fran didn't quite understand, but it seemed that she had been through a lot.

Just being the lineage of a famous person must have attracted a lot of attention and unreasonable complaints.

It's not surprising that a person like Dimitris, who doesn't bother to conceal his lack of respect for others, would be resented by many people. That resentment has been turned to her simply because she is his granddaughter. The fact that she immediately expressed her apologies just now suggests that she must have gone through a lot of hardship.

「Milady」

「Thank you, Michael」

Michael gently offers a handkerchief to the teary-eyed Nilfe. How dependable of you, Michael!

However, Fran is wary of Michael. She noticed that he has been glancing at us on occasion. He's probably just holding a grudge about Colbert, just like Hilt.

I didn't feel any strong hostility, but he had been watching us with a watchful eye. It was an eye looking for weaknesses and gaps. We can't afford to let our guard down in this situation.

「Ah! Oneesama! That person was one of the participants in the main competition last year, wasn't she!？」

「Nn. Charlotte」

Charlotte seemed to be participating in the tournament this year as well. Her rank as an adventurer is the same as Judith and her party member. but her fighting style is more suitable for martial arts competitions compared to Lydia and Maia. I'm sure she'll make it to the top again this year.

Even now, on top of the arena, no one could catch her dancing movements and she kept defeating them one after another. Moreover, when I appraised her, I found that she was much stronger than last year.

In addition to the fact that her level has increased, her job has also changed. Last year, she was a Combat Dancer, but now she is a Combat Fighter. Her unique skill set includes the Dance of Trance, and she has even acquired another special skill.

Last year, she lost because of her lack of offensive power against Elsa. It seemed that she had taken measures to counter that this year.

Anyway, should we go comfort the Scarlet Maiden for now? They seemed to be very confident this year and cried a bit after losing.

I also want to greet Charlotte too.

Well then, let's see what kind of contestants we'll meet this year, shall we?

Chapter 697

The Qualifying Round

Translated by Tods

Edited by NotEdited

The day after we watched the qualifying round.

『The matchups have been announced, and well... It looks like we matched up against someone we know right from the start』

(...Who?)

『Well, I knew you wouldn't remember』

We couldn't wait for the news to reach the inn, so we came to check the matchup table posted in front of the arena.

The names of the 64 participants in the main round are written on this board. The table is divided into four blocks with 16 names each that will compete to get into the semifinal, and Fran's name is written at the very top of the first block.

That is because we are placed under the "Seed-A". It seems that this place was given to us because we placed third last year.

Directly across our block, at "Seed-B", Diaz's name was written under it. Under our block, at "Seed-C", Hilt's name was there. And next to it, the "Seed-D", there's Fermus.

This seeding is not based on adventurer's rank or prestige, but the previous year's rank seemed to have the highest priority. This meant that Fran, a B-ranked adventurer, was ranked above Diaz, Hilt, and other A-Ranked adventurers.

It sure feels good to be in Seed-A.

Fran seemed to feel the same way, looking at the tournament table with a shine in her eyes.

(Master, my name is first on the table!)

『Yeah, this is going to attract a lot of attention. We can't afford to show them a bad fight』

(Nn! Let's do our best)

If all goes well, we'll meet Diaz in the semifinal and Hilt or Fermus in the final.

『Your first match will be against Dufour』

(...Who?)

『The one you trained in Barbra at Gamudo's request, remember?』

Fran seems to have forgotten that he was one of the fledgling adventurers she met at the adventurer's guild in Barbra. At Gamudo's request, she broke their noses when they were getting too overconfident.

Riddick, Naria, and Miguel formed a party and joined us in escorting a ship to the Beastman Kingdom and even trained them on the ship.

She seemed to remember the three whom she had trained pretty well, but as for the others, her memory about them was quite limited.

『Hey, he was the strongest of all the novices back then, the phantom swordsman』

(...Oh, there's someone like that too, maybe?)

Even after I told her the details of his characteristics, she could only recall him vaguely. Well, even if he was a little strong, he was still at the level of a novice.

I hope she'll remember you this time, Dufour-kun!

『After that, our next most likely matchup is——』

(Mordred)

Fran muttered in a cheerful tone.

She seemed to remember this one.

He is also a B-ranked adventurer who was with us when we escorted a ship to the Beastman Kingdom.

He was the type of adventurer who excelled in more than just simple combat. Of course, his fighting skills were also top-notch. He was a master of spears and Molten Iron magic, and he used them skillfully.

『So Mordred's first-round opponent was Naria, huh』

(Naria!)

Naria, as I mentioned earlier, was the novice adventurer that Fran had trained for a short time. She was supposed to be a bow user, but to my surprise, she made it through the qualifying round.

I don't think she was strong enough to beat Mordred after only one year though. Mordred would surely advance to the second round.

『If so, I wonder who will advance to the third round...』

「Hmm」

I don't see another familiar name on the same block... Oh, there's another!

『This Biscot, wasn't he the guy who was with Sibylla?』

It seems Fran didn't remember him. But, now that I take a closer look, Sibylla's name is on this block too!

I never thought that Sibylla and her companions, the (Suspected) spies of Raidos, would participate in the martial arts tournament. Are they not actually spies? Or do they just not give a damn about this?

Moreover, Sibylla and Biscot's names are so close. Wouldn't it be bad for them to face each other?

『If I were to assume that Sibylla is going to win, we'll be facing her in the quarterfinals』

(Nn. I'm looking forward to it)

As we were checking the tournament table, the people around us suddenly made a noise. It was the same reaction as when Fran appeared here.

Did some famous adventurer happen to show up?

As we waited, a man came up to the tournament table. Well, no wonder they were surprised when they saw this guy.

The man's head looked like that of an insect. It was as if a praying mantis head, which was as big as a human head, was mounted on top of a human body.

With just one look at him, surely no one will ever forget his appearance.

He seemed to be strong too. His movements were flawless, showing that he was a high-ranking warrior. He was probably on par with Colbert at the very least.

「Hmm... My name—...」

I had imagined a voice that sounded more gritty, but his voice sounded surprisingly normal and human.

No, his voice would rather be in the cool category. His voice is exactly like that of a handsome voice actor.

The way he muffled the sound of his footsteps, the way he paid attention to his surrounding, made me think that he was a first-rate warrior. He doesn't seem to be carrying any weapons, is he using his bare hands? Or could he transform his arm into a scythe or something?

Anyway, it seems that there will be a competent participant that Fran will be a little excited about.

「Who is that guy?」

「There aren't any half-insect kin adventurers in this town, are there?」

「He's someone from outside then? He looks strong」

「You think so?」

「Yeah, he has pretty good movement」

It seemed that the adventurers around did not know this man. He's probably from another city or country then.

Chapter 698

As we watched the mantis man checking the tournament table, his head suddenly turned to us.

The sight of him turning his head was quite horrifying.

I readied myself to activate telekinesis at any time. But what the mantis man said next was something that I didn't expect.

「Could it be, you're the Black Heavenly Tiger, Fran?」

「Nn」

「Oh! I knew it, my friends in the royal capital said that they were indebted to you」

The royal capital? Half-insect kin in the royal capital means——

『He's Eliante's acquaintance?』

Eliante was the guild master of the adventurer's guild in the royal capital of the Kingdom of Kranzel, she was a half-insect spider kin. She was also acquainted with the members of the Antennae and Shells, a mercenary group that she used to belong to.

This mercenary group is an unusual group of mercenaries made up entirely of half-insect kin.

「...You're, Eliante's acquaintance?」

「That's right!」

The mantis man let out a happy voice when Fran mentioned Eliante's name. Well, I can't really read the expression on this guy's face though, I can only guess from his voice.

「It's a pleasure to meet you. I am the leader of the mercenary group called 『Antennae and Shells』 ; my name is Neidhart」

Neidhart bows politely. Despite his mantis-like appearance, he is quite refined.

「You're the leader?」

「Yes. Well, there were no other members who would do it, and they just forced me to become the leader」

Even though he said that, I could sense a kind of presence in Neidhart that was befitting of someone who stood above others.

It may have been his own humble way of saying it, or the fact that the other members of the group were not good at leading, but even without that, Neidhart looked very suitable as the leader of the group.

「I'd heard you're a lovely young lady, but you were even more lovely than the rumors said」

「Excuse me. That was rude of me」

Even though it is an impolite line, it doesn't feel unpleasant at all. I guess it's because his attitude is that of a gentleman.

「Thank you for helping my friends. Please let me know if you ever need any help. Never leave a friend behind, always return the favor. That's our principle」

What a nice guy! He's so nice in both personality and manners!

「They helped me a lot too. We're even」

「Please don't say that, I heard you've saved my friends' very life. I really do feel grateful, so please don't hesitate to ask if you need our help」

「Okay」

「That said, I won't go easy on you if we were to meet in the tournament, okay?」

「Just as I hoped」

Fran smiled at Neidhart's words. She seemed to get a kick out of imagining how strong Neidhart was.

He's in the same block with Fermus and Elsa. So, in order to meet Fran, he would have to make it to the final and defeat them first.

「...Is everyone else here?」

「Robin and the others are still in the royal capital helping Eliante. It's about time for us to move on to the next battleground though」

「Isn't Neidhart the leader?」

「Oh, are you wondering why I'm the only one here?」

「Nn」

「Well, I'm here to recruit new members」

It seems that Neidhart's goal is to draw attention to himself by participating in the tournament and attract the interest of the half-insect kin to join his mercenary group.

His mercenary group consists of only half-insect kin. It's not that it was exclusive to half-insect kin only, but their purpose is to help each other by gathering together with other half-insect kin, who are often looked at as odd in society.

They are treated less favorably if their characteristics were a lot different from that of humans. There is half-insect kin who have been persecuted and have developed a strong fear of other species because of their strong insect-like characteristics.

For such people, a mercenary group of only half-insect kin could be a safe haven.

That's the reason why they prefer to not welcome other races such as humans, elves, dwarves, etc. into the group, and stick with a group of only half-insect kin.

However, there is not many half-insect kin who have strong traits of their roots. Even if they wanted to increase their numbers, they were not able to find good people.

「That's why I've been searching for talent in various places. I think it's a good idea to participate in this tournament, because if I do well, I'll catch the attention of a lot of half-insect kin」

Neidhart's participation in this martial arts tournament would certainly be a hot topic. If the story of their mercenary group were to spread along with it, there would surely be people who wanted to join the group.

「I see」

「Fran-dono too, if you meet any half-insect kin on your travels, please advertise us」

「Okay. If you ever meet any black cat kin, I'd like you to tell them about our evolution too」

「Very well then, let's help each other」

Neidhart should know quite a bit about the black cat people. That's why, he should know about their evolution conditions.

This is probably because such information can be used as a weapon for a mercenary group.

「Oh, right, one piece of advice」

「It seems that there are people who were investigating you. I don't know who they are, but I'm guessing they're not adventurers」

「Are they gathering information for the tournament？」

「It may be, but at this time of the year, a lot of people enter this town. As a famous person, you might have created resentment without knowing it, so you'd better be careful」

「I understand. Thank you for telling me」

「Not at all. Very well then, let's meet again sometime」

「Nn」

After giving a bow, Neidhart left the scene.

『People who were investigating Fran, huh』

(Enemy?)

『I don't know. It's also possible that they're just looking for information on famous adventurers』

Urushi is still away for surveillance. It looks like we'll need to be more careful from now on.

Chapter 699

『Fran, how's your condition?』

「Nn, all good」

『Good. How about you, Urushi?』

「Woof!」

Urushi replied with a cheerful voice from within the shadows.

Urushi has returned to us today. Now that Sibylla and her companion were also participating in the tournament, it become easier to monitor them. The adventurer's guild must have decided to relieve Urushi from his post as his master was also participating.

Fran nodded at my words with her usual expression. She seems to be somewhat excited, but not as excited as I think she would be.

But, well, I think she should be able to remain calm and fully demonstrate her abilities in this state.

Her bearing did not change as she walked through the corridor and was showered with loud cheers from the large crowds.

It seems she had gotten used to the cheers after last year's experience.

As expected of Fran, she is so dependable.

In contrast to Fran, the young man standing on the other side of the arena looked somewhat flustered.

「C-calm down, me...」

It was the Phantom Swordsman, Dufour. He'll be Fran's opponent in the first round of the martial arts tournament.

His job is still that of a phantom swordsman, but he looked much more skilled than the last time we saw him. His status and skills have become more developed too.

However, I guess he is not used to fighting in front of a large crowd. He was clearly a bit intimidated under the gaze of more than ten thousand people.

But with Fran in his sights, he seemed to have flipped a switch.

The face of the young man who had been looking around at the crowd with an uneasy look changed into that of a warrior. Well, he still looks a little pale though.

「S-so you've come!」

His voice is so hoarse. Maybe it wasn't the crowd that made him pale, but his fear of Fran?

Come to think of it, the last time we saw him, Fran gave him a pretty bad experience. Maybe he was remembering that time. And now, the very same person was his first opponent.

No wonder he was so frightened.

「It's certainly been a while, isn't it!? T-today won't be like last time!」

『Fran, just reply with a nod for now』

「Nn」

It would be a pity if Fran were to reply with a "Who?" when Dufour is courageously putting up a brave front after all.

『Now, here we go! It's that time of year again! The Ulmut Martial Arts Tournament! Starting with the first round, here come the seeded participants!』

It's been a year since I've heard this kind of commentary. He spoke as fast as ever, introducing the participants to the audience without pausing.

『Last year, she beat all the other strong competitors and came in an impressive third place! The incredible beastman girl who set the record for the youngest winner! She's not a dark horse this year, she's the number one seed and the favorite to win! The Black Lightning Princess, Fraaan!』

Immediately after the introduction, an explosion of cheers rained down on Fran. It was as if an idol or the like had just appeared on the stage, and the cheers were even mixed with shrill voices.

It seemed that Fran was much more well known and popular than I had imagined.

Well, it has only been a year since last year's martial arts tournament in which Fran performed well. I'm sure many people still remember Fran.

The cheers showed support and encouragement for the participants.

『I can't wait to see what kind of amazing fights we'll see this year!』

Fran stood calmly as she was used to, but Dufour was visibly dismayed. He seemed to have remembered that he was being watched by a lot of people.

『On the other side, making his first appearance in the main tournament this year! The D-Ranked adventurer, Dufour! He may be young, but don't underestimate him! He's a formidable participant who made it through the preliminary round unscathed with his skillful swordsmanship!』

The audience roared at the commentary. However, the cheers were far less than at Fran's, as a clear indication of the popularity of the two.

The spectators are being too obvious! It's good manners to applaud for both sides, you know!?

But it seems that DuFour is so nervous that he is completely unaware of such things. With a slightly awkward movement, he draws his sword and readied it.

Well, it was his first time in this tournament. It also seems that the crowd were much bigger than he had expected. And his opponent was the terrifying Black Lightning Princess. I have to admit that I felt sorry for him.

Even so, I appreciate the fact that he doesn't lose his will to fight. Well, Fran doesn't seem to be aware of it at all though.

「I-it's nothing!」

「Mmm」

Fran, which has no word called "nervous" in her dictionary, couldn't understand why his movement was bad.

Fran followed Dufour's lead and drew me out. Seeing this, his eyes twitched slightly. He's clearly afraid of me.

The calm face of Fran and the pale face of Dufour face each other in the center of the arena. Just from the contrast between them, it is easy to see who has the upper hand.

And then, it's finally time for the battle to begin.

『Well then——Let's begin!』

「Ooohh!」

Immediately after the signal was given, Dufour rushed in at once. What he unleashed was a horizontal strike with all his might. And as expected, he hid the blade with his skill, the phantom sword.

He wanted to strike before Fran did. But his opponent was simply too skilled. Fran could see the invisible trajectory of the sword by the sound, and she bent down to pass under it.

「Impossible——gha!」

Fran's fist went straight into his belly, and digs into his guts. With that one shot, Dufour's legs lost their footing and his body collapsed.

「You've grown a lot. But you're not close enough to get to me yet」

「...Damn, it...」

「Your opponent could read your movements if you don't mask your gaze. Also, there's still problem with your movement too」

「...」

It seemed that seeing his phantom sword had finally reminded her of Dufour.

But I don't think Dufour is listening. Because he's already completely unconscious.

『What a stunning performance! It's all over in just five seconds! Many of you seemed to have missed it! Well, it looks like we'll have to keep our eyes on the Black Lighting Princess this year too!』

Chapter 700

『We won the first round!』

「Nn!」

After winning against Dufour, Fran went straight to the spectator seats.

The fight was over in an instant, but Fran looked satisfied. Though the same happens in last year's tournament too, I guess winning is always a happy thing.

『Let's celebrate our first-round victory. We're going to have a big party tonight!』

「Curry?」

『Ou. Let's also add menchi katsu (ground meat cutlet) and an extra-large fried egg』

「Tonkatsu (pork cutlet) too!」

『All right. I'll put a pile of tonkatsu too』

「Ooh!」

「Woof woof!」

At Fran's feet, Urushi pokes his head out of the shadows to show that he's there too. It is like having a wolf's head between Fran's legs.

『I'll make plenty for you too, so just keep your head down!』

「Woof」

As we walked, I saw a man standing across the corridor, a disheveled man in his forties.

Immediately after seeing Fran, he opens his mouth and speaks in an arrogant tone.

「You're, the Black Lightning Princess?」

「Nn」

「Hmph. You really are a child, aren't you——」

Fran nodded in response to the man's question, but walked straight past him without stopping at all. For some reason, the man seemed to have assumed that Fran would stop, and he called out to her in a panic.

「W-wait!」

「I won't, the next match is starting」

Well, the next match between Mordred and Naria was the match to decide who would be our next opponent after all. She really wanted to watch the match to get some information about them.

Of course, there was no time to talk to a suspicious person who would not even identify himself.

Fran would have been distracted by him if he had been a strong person. But the man was just a small fry with little fighting ability.

I've appraised him, and he's quite weak. He has some fighting skills, but his status was so low.

But he has a type of skills for threats and negotiation, so he is probably good at intimidating others with words and negotiating in a threatening manner.

Well, that kind of skill won't work on Fran though.

「Hey, wait! I am——」

The man was about to say something, but Fran accelerated quickly and left him behind. She didn't slow down at all as she kicked the wall at the turn, slipped past the surprised passersby, and arrived at the special viewing area in no time.

『Fran, you've gone too far』

『Ha~h. Anyway, what was that guy doing back there?』

I think he was intentionally waiting for Fran. Was he a messenger from somewhere?

「Doesn't matter. More importantly, the match」

『Can't be helped then』

We can't pretend that we didn't ignore him, but his attitude and timing was quite bad. Well, we'll just say that if someone were to complain.

『The match is starting』

「Nn. Just in time」

When Fran appeared, the people in the special viewing area made a slight noise. This was supposed to be the officials' seats, but it seemed that many of them had never seen Fran up close before.

However, no one was trying to force Fran to talk to them. I guess they know their manners.

On the contrary, people even try to give up their seats for her.

「You can sit here. You want to see your opponent, don't you?」

「You sure?」

「Ah, well, My daughter is a fan of yours. She'll be jealous when I tell her I gave up my seat for you」

「Thanks」

It seems the bard's influence was evident even in this place.

We took him up on his offer and sat down, just in time. On the field below, Mordred was just about to make his move.

His opponent was Naria, a girl who uses a bow. She fires her bow in rapid succession while retreating from Mordred, who is approaching at high speed.

The fact that she had gained rapid-fire skill, which she did not have before, showed that she had improved her bow skills a lot.

The bow, which is powerful enough to instantly kill a goblin, accurately struck Mordred in the face.

She was already holding several arrows in her hand as she pulled the string, and then fired them at high speed. Moreover, the aura arrows created by the archery technique are attacked with a slightly different trajectory from the main body of the arrow.

This rapid-fire and archery skills must have helped her get through the battle royal in the preliminary round.

Fran nodded admiringly as she watched Naria, who had been her student for a short time, grow.

「Naria is doing her best」

『Yeah』

She must have continued her painstaking training after arriving in the beastman country. The results are clearly evident.

But even so, she could not reach Mordred.

「Spear Technique · Spiral Guard」

「Wha! You can do that!?!」

He spun his spear around in his hand and flicked all the arrows away without any difficulty. In addition, he immediately approached Naria without delay. She was already at Mordred's range.

Naria and Mordred, they had been together on the ship to the beastman kingdom, and he was a famous B-Ranked adventurer to begin with.

She knows that she was no match for him in close combat.

But Naria stepped in from where she was. She made it look like she was going to retreat even further, but instead, she leaned forward and lunged at Mordred as if she were going to attack.

「Haaa!」

「Hou!?!」

She threw her bow at Mordred and stopped his spear movement.

Mordred seemed to have been caught off-guard as well. Naria had stepped over the distance that is generally considered to be the range of a spear, and had entered within his bosom.

She held a dagger in her hand. She must have continued to train the dagger as Fran had instructed her on the ship.

「Haaa!」

Naria's dagger was thrust into Mordred's stomach. The blade is buried in Mordred, all the way to the base—or so it seems.

But Naria looks vexed.

「Molten Iron Magic....」

Mordred had used his molten iron magic to melt the blade of Naria's dagger.

「That was a good fight」

「Guh...」

Mordred then struck his spear on Naria's head, and reaped her consciousness.

『As I expected, Mordred would be our next opponent』

「Nn. He's skillful」

『Yeah, I didn't even realize when he chanted his molten iron spell』

He must have been chanting molten iron magic beforehand in preparation for close combat. His caution and his ability to hide his chanting from the others. And the skill to delay the magic even during a fierce battle.

Skillful is exactly the right word to describe this guy.

Chapter 701

「It was a good fight」

「Sensei! You're here?」

「Nn」

After witnessing Mordred's victory, Fran went straight to the waiting room where Naria was waiting.

I think it's not usually this easy to get this kind of information, but when Fran asked the officials, they promptly told her where Naria is. The promptness of their response made me worry that their information management might be a little too sloppy.

Well, I guess it's because Fran is a celebrity. This would be impossible on earth, but here, depending on one's rank, popularity, and status, even black can become white.

Well, at the very least, we have no plan to abuse this privilege.

Familiar faces were gathered in Naria's waiting room.

Miguel, the great sword user, and Riddick, the spear user, who had received Fran's training on the ship with Naria, are comforting Naria. They apparently lost in the preliminary round.

「The main battle was just like a monster's den...」

「The tournament is a place where skilled people from all over the country gather after all. In addition to the famous ones, there are also those unknown strong participants」

「The female swordsman who beat me was just like that. She was sleeping outside the venue when I first saw her. With her conspicuous red hair, I can't believe she's a nobody...」

The three of them slumped their shoulders while letting out a sigh. But, a female swordsman with conspicuous red hair, huh?

「What was the name of the one who defeated Miguel?」

「Eh? Umm, I can't quite remember. What I remember is that she's a red-haired swordsman with an oddly imposing air about her」

It's probably Sibylla. So, her choice of weapon is a sword, huh?

Fran likes to fight strong opponents, but she tends to get more fired up when she is up against a swordsman, which is just like her. She was probably thrilled to find out that Sibylla's weapon of choice was a sword.

In fact, a faint smile has appeared on her face.

「Okay, I'm going back to the spectator area」

「Ah, Thank you for coming!」

「Nn. What are you guys going to do now?」

「I think I'll be joining with Dufour and the others and go to the dungeon... I'll have to train more for next year's tournament」

「Nn. Do your best」

Naria was depressed, but she doesn't seem to be discouraged.

I think she realizes that, even if only for a moment, her strategy worked against someone stronger than her like Mordred. Even from my point of view, it was a good fight.

For instance, what if her dagger was a magic sword? It might have withstood Mordred's molten iron magic. If that had happened, the battle would have been prolonged a little longer.

Or at the very least, it would have given her time to pull out of the bad situation.

To the ordinary observer, it may only add a few more seconds for her to lose. It would look like a lower-ranked person struggling in vain.

But it's a great chance for Naria. What if she had grown more and gotten some sort of special move? Those few seconds could make a big difference in determining the outcome of the battle.

I'm sure it made her realize that her training was not in vain.

When I looked at her face as we left, I saw that she was already smiling. It looked just like Fran's face when she said she wanted to train.

『Do your best』

『Ah, it's nothing. I just thought that Fran's students would work harder next time』

「Nn. Naria's doing her best. She'll do better next time」

『Yeah』

When we were about to return to the spectator area, we saw a familiar man approaching us with an angry look on his face.

「Oi! You!」

He approaches us with an angry voice and an annoyed look on his face. Well, it was the ill-mannered fat guy from earlier.

「How rude of you to ignore me! But in the first place, there is no way that this kid is strong. I knew I couldn't rely on those adventurers' gossip!」

「Well, whatever. You shall rejoice!」

「The king of my country is going to make you a knight and use you! It is unheard of for an adventurer to become a knight of our glorious country!」

Is this a solicitation from some country? Well, I don't know if I can call this a solicitation though. After all, I don't think they really want Fran to be a knight, and this guy is just deliberately trying to be rude and piss us off.

I wonder what's his reason for doing this.

「But since we're going to make a knight out of a mere adventurer, we'll have to give you a test! First, we'll have you complete a mission from us, and if you succeed, we'll make you a knight of our country, and then——」

「I decline. I don't have any intention of becoming a knight」

「W-what? Did I hear you wrong? Oi, I'm offering to make you a knight, you know? You should be grateful and kneel before me!」

「Are you stupid? Becoming a knight of a country with people like you? I'd rather die」

「F-for a mere beastman adventurer like you to say that...!」

This guy... I don't know what he's after, but he's made an enemy of Fran in an instant. Fran, who had been mocked for her identity as an adventurer and a beastman at the same time, glared at the man with an angry expression.

Then the man who had been hit by the unrestrained anger fell into panic.

He seemed to be the type of person who talks more when he feels fear. I guess this is what they mean with "the weaker the dog, the more it barks".

He began to scream in an unpleasant voice, wetting his pants and the floor with his leak.

「W-wh-what's with that attitude of yours! I am a member of the royal family of the glorious Kingdom of Shallus! I am Viscount Emmert! You animal! You've been acting all high and mighty for a while now! Get down! Get down on your knees and lick my feet or I'll kill you! I'll definitely kill you!」

『Let's shut him up for now』

「Nn」

I used wind magic to block out the sound. He seems to have lost his composure, so I don't think he will run away.

The only problem is, there's no lie in his words... So, it looks like he really is a viscount of the Kingdom of Shallus.

While I was wondering what to do with this leaking Viscount, I saw a figure running from across the hallway, he looked to be in his thirties. And when he saw Viscount Emmert, he had a desperate look on his face.

「V-Viscount Emmert...!」

Damn, he's with one of his men? We're in a lot of trouble for making a scene here... I braced myself with caution, but what he did next was something that I didn't expect.

「B-Black Lighting Princess-sama!? We're really sorry!」

The man, who seemed to be one of the Viscount's men, quickly got down on his knees in front of Fran.

Chapter 702

「We're really sorry!」

The man who seemed to be a nobleman, rubbed his head on the floor and begged for forgiveness next to Viscount Emmert, who had lashed out at Fran and leaked his pants at the mere intimidation

「My name is Lerian Chart. I am a Count of the Kingdom of Shallus!」

『So he really is a nobleman... However, the Kingdom of Shallus?』

《It is a small country located on the coast of the southern part of the Kingdom of Kranzel. It produces several kinds of ore, but most of it is exported to other countries and used to import food》

Ooh, as expected of Announcer-san!

『So, it's a typical weak country with low national power huh?』

《Yes. Due to the small amount of flat land and the damage caused by salt, the country's self-sufficiency in food is low and food imports are putting a lot of pressure on their national budget》

Well, their ore was inedible after all. It seems that food-producing countries are taking advantage of this too.

『Do you think he may be plotting something?』

《Not enough information to answer that》

While I was exchanging information with Announcer-san, Count Chart continued to apologize, or should I say, making excuses.

「I apologize for the rudeness of this dimwit from my country. I don't know what he had said, but my country has nothing to do with what this man said! It's all just his nonsense and his own responsibility!」

『Uwaah... He ditched Emmert in one breath』

「What does this man have to do with your country?」

「H-he is not a man who should have the authority to be in a place like this. Even in my country, he is considered to be a scum, or should I say, trash...」

「Then, how can someone like him become a messenger?」

「W-well... It might be because of a slight blunder on His Majesty the new King's part... After all, this me doesn't need an adjutant like him either...」

In other words, he's not usually the kind of man to be given such important positions, but for some reason, this time he was given the role of a messenger to Fran? Did he bribe the king or something?

He did mention a new king before, so there's a possibility that it was because their country's policy has suddenly changed.

Count Chart must have known how stupid Emmert was. That must be the reason why he decided to put all the blame on the Viscount for causing problems outside the country.

Or perhaps, the reason why a piece of shit like Emmert is kept alive is to make him a sort of sacrifice to put the blame on when something goes wrong.

After all, this guy is clearly lusting over something. Maybe they deliberately let him do this to make it easier to push the blame on him.

He can't pretend that his remarks didn't happen, but he can at least save his neck by putting all the blame on Emmert.

But I guess, he never expected the situation to go out of control like this.

「He said he was going to make me a knight. He even claimed that it was the word of the King」

「I-it must be a figure of speech」

「It is true that our king has taken an interest in you! And I'm sure he wants to make you a knight! But I was going to give up if you refused, and I have no intention of forcing you to be a knight!」

The last part, the part where he said that he would give up if Fran refused was a lie. But he's not lying about the part where he said that they won't force Fran to be a knight.

Originally, he must have planned to contact us again and again to have further discussions.

But it seems that Viscount Emmert, who was still sitting on his leak, got ahead of him and ruined it.

It seems they're not plotting on some conspiracies or something and this was just a forceful solicitation...

This is exactly when we have to use "that".

『Fran, show them "that"』

("That"?)

『I mean the medal we got from the Beastman Country』

(Ooh, I see)

We've been told that we can use this medal in this kind of situation. This is exactly when we have to make full use of it!

Fran then took out a golden medal from her dimensional storage and held it up high just like when lord Mito's escort shows up his family emblem.

(TLN: Ref. Mito Komon, see TLN in ch593 for more detail)

I even give Fran a line to say.

「Can't you see this medal!?!」

「T-that's...」

Umu, I'm satisfied.

Nevertheless, it seemed that Count Chart knew about the Golden Beast Fang Medal. The moment he saw the medal, he looked even paler than before.

「You know what's this?」

「Y-yes—!」

He was already on his knees, so he couldn't lower his head any further, but he was still desperately rubbing his head on the floor.

But isn't he overreacting? It's not like we're some sort of important figure in the Beastman Country...

Well, for a weak country like their, a large country like the Beastman country is not something to be made enemy of. Besides, they've just made a blunder. No matter what we say, he's still trying to get down on his knees.

This should be enough to scare them off.

「Can I go now?」

「Yes! We're really sorry for the trouble we've caused!」

Count Chart stayed in a kneeling position until the end, and then he sent Fran off. I also lifted the wind barrier to silence Viscount Emmert from earlier, and an ugly scream could be heard along the hallway, but I'm sure Count Chart would do something about him. Or rather, he should!

『Well, they won't be coming back with this』

「Nn」

『We should report this to the adventurer's guild though. I'm sure they'll do something to prevent something like this』

After all, for someone as popular as Fran, this kind of thing might continue to happen in the future...

It has been a bit of a mess, but we made it back to our seats in time for the match we wanted to see.

『Next up is the match between Biscot and Dimitris' disciple. And there's Sibylla match today too』

「Nn. I'm looking forward to it」

Chapter 703

The man who was with Sibylla, Biscot, was also quite a warrior himself.

From his tall, heavily muscled body, he must be quite a power fighter.

I appraised Biscot, which had appeared in the arena. However, the appraisal did not work properly. It seemed that he was still using a device to disguise his true status.

「That's quite a large shield」

『Is he a shield user? I can sense a lot of magic power from it』

「Nn. It looks sturdy too」

Biscot's most conspicuous equipment is his tower shield. It was so huge that it could completely hide his huge body if he bent down slightly. It was probably quite thick as well.

His weapon was a long-handled sledgehammer. At the end of the nearly two-meter long handle is a huge iron head that looks like it weighs hundreds of pounds.

Protection with a shield and a killing blow with a hammer. In a sense, it's the basic equipment for a shield user. Well, both the shield and the hammer are of a non-standard size though.

No ordinary person would even be able to lift either of them. The strength of his muscles must have been tremendous, because he could carry such heavy equipment with one hand.

I think, only high ranked adventurers should be able to achieve the same feat.

His equipment would certainly be useful against magic beast, but would it be effective against human? Human opponents are nimble and much quicker after all.

『We'll see how he handles this』

『On the other hand, Dimitris' disciple is... he's only wearing a hand armor?』

「He looks strong」

『Well, he's someone that had Dimitris' approval to participate after all』

His name was Zelt, a young man with short black hair and a stern face. To be frank, he looks like a gorilla.

That said, I'm sure he's strong. I also heard that he has mastered the Dimitris style up to the sixth stage.

Well then, I wonder what kind of battle we'll see. They bowed gracefully to each other, and the match began.

Fran and I were both excited to see it, and the match was as intense and fast-paced as we had anticipated.

Zelt was the one who make the first move.

「Here I come, Shield user-dono!」

「So fast!」

Just as we had predicted, Zelt used his agility to his advantage and toyed with Biscot. He ducked into a blind spot and tried to break Biscot's stance with a swift move.

However, Biscot's defense was more solid than I had imagined. He could turn around incredibly quickly and block all of Zelt's attacks with his shield. Even so, I think he had been hit a few times too, but his stance did not waver at all.

On the contrary, Zelt soon showed signs of change. The frequency of his attacks had dropped slightly. And when I paid closer attention, I saw that bright red liquid was flowing down from the gap of his hand armor.

It seems that Biscot was not only blocking him, but also dealing damage to his fist by lightly hitting it with his shield. It seems that the damage was done to the extent that the inside of his hand armor was damaged.

Zelt's expression twisted in frustration. I think it's because almost all of his attacks had been seen through. Moreover, it was through a shield.

This was more of a power difference than I thought. In the end, Biscot's well-aimed counterattack on Zelt, who had little room to attack, ended the match in an anticlimactic ending.

It was a big comeback from what seemed to be a one-sided victory for Zelt in the first minutes. Witnessing this, the crowd cheered loudly.

『That solid defense is really troublesome』

「Nn!」

Fran is looking at Biscot with a motivated face. I think she's imagining how she would fight against an opponent like him.

After that, we waited for Sibylla's turn, but it didn't give us any useful information at all because she defeated her opponent in an instant.

『At least we have confirmed that she uses a sword』

「And she's a speed-focused fighter」

『You're right, she's only wearing light armor and no shield after all』

Let's look forward to the next match. It's Sibylla Vs. Colbert next. Whoever wins, this will definitely be a good fight.

After that, we headed to the adventurer's guild. We were going to report about the messenger from the Kingdom of Shallus.

Diaz and Elsa didn't seem to be around, so Fran explained to the receptionist. But to our surprise, we got a surprising response about the matter.

「It's Kingdom of Shallus again, huh...?」

「Again?」

「Yes. Actually, the people from the Kingdom of Shallus have been causing problems for quite a while now」

What a surprise, it seems that the other top participants have been contacted by people from the Kingdom of Shallus as well. They seem to be recruiting famous participants without any proper procedures.

The receptionist then sighed with a tired look on her face.

「They've been causing a lot of problems for several people now...」

「Why don't we just decline the Kingdom of Shallus?」

「It's no use. It's not like what they're doing is illegal. Every country has been recruiting strong adventurers to their country after all」

It seems that, at best, they could only tell them not to bother the tournament's participants.

「Still, they're a bit weird, aren't they?」

「Weird?」

「Yes. Their messengers' attitude was so bad that I can't help but think that they don't want to succeed in recruiting the participants」

It seems that Viscount Emmert is not a special case, but all the messengers of the Kingdom of Shallus are like that. And when the adventurer gets angry, the next person or his cohorts will get down on their knees and apologize exaggeratedly.

Having a nobleman from another country to get down on their knees, the adventurers would certainly find it difficult to remain angry any longer. Moreover, their ridiculous appearance would certainly make anyone feel bad.

In the end, the talks ended in a stalemate, and the adventurers were left in anger.

「In the first place, the caliber of the people who claim to be messengers of the country is too low. How can it be that all the people officially sent by a country are idiots, right?」

「So, they are not actually from the Kingdom of Shallus?」

Are they trying to ruin their reputation by pretending to be their messengers? However, when I checked them with my lie detection skill before, I was able to confirm that they are really the messengers of the Kingdom of Shallus.

「...Is this some kind of conspiracy?」

「We don't know. We don't see their point in doing this either, but... This matter has been overwhelming us. We also have to increase the number of security personnel. It would become a big mess if the participants attacked the nobles after all... Fran-sama too, please ignore them if they tried to contact you again」

The Kingdom of Shallus, I wonder what they're after?

NOTE:

Really sorry for the delay. My editor has been very slow, he's only done 5 tenken chapters in this 3 months in fact (ch 682-ch 686), that's why I decided to simply publish it unedited. What my editor edit was usually about grammatical error, bad wording, or inconsistency. So, what's your opinion after reading these 16 unedited chapters?

This chapter also marks my 300th translated tenken chapters!
